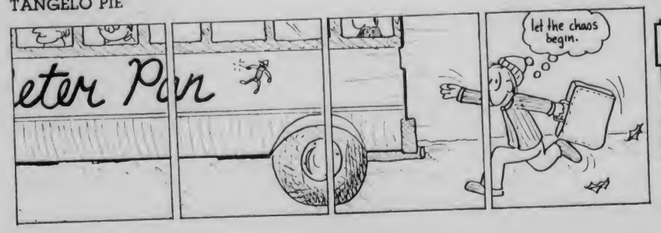
HEY, I COULDN'T BE HAPPIER TO BE HUH?- YOU BRAVE MEN AND GALS. TODAY. I'M SERIOUS ABOUT THAT!
I KNOW A LOT OF YOU WOULD RATHER BE HOME WITH YOUR LOVED ONES RIGHT NOW. SO, LET'S REVIEW THESE GOOD, GOOD REASONS WHY WE'RE HERE IN THE GULF...
IF EVERYONE COULD WHIP OUT THEIR "WHY WE ARE HERE" WALLET CARDS, AND READ SILENTLY WHILE I READ ALOUD...
"IF HISTORY TEACHES US ANYTHING..."
"IF HISTORY TEACHES US ANYTHING..."
"RENT TWO VIDEOS, GET ONE FREE..."

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

LIVE FOR THE MOMENT" IS MY MOTTO
YOU NEVER KNOW HOW LONG YOU'VE GOT! YOU COULD STEP INTO THE ROAD TOMORROW AND -WHAM!- YOU GET HIT BY A CEMENT TRUCK! THEN YOU'D BE SORRY YOU PUT OFF YOUR PLEASURES!
THAT'S WHY I SAY "LIVE FOR THE MOMENT." WHAT'S YOUR MOTTO?
"LOOK DOWN THE ROAD."

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

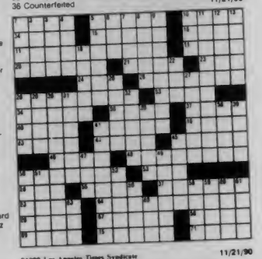
ACROSS
1 Get out of town
5 Elephant of children's books
10 "— for All Seasons"
14 "— Lang Syne"
15 Create joy
16 Hawaiian city
17 Nitpick
19 Picnic pests
20 Grow molars
21 Fabricates
23 Fair grade
24 Cigar end
26 Robin Hood and William Tell
28 Loosen up
33 Panorama
34 Sandpipers' kin
35 Spouse
37 Turnpike
40 Cruising
41 Type sizes
42 Therefore
43 Make a — try
44 Exude
45 Stretch out
46 Swiss artist
48 Gets out more soap
50 Becomes more flexible
53 Code signal
54 Negative joiner
55 Meets
57 Tail
62 Shopping list notation
64 Kid around
66 Sycophant
67 From head —
68 Actress Nazimova
69 Remnants
70 Use a credit card
71 Erect

DOWN
1 Author Howard
2 Actress Velez
3 Fashion magazine
4 Do a publishing job
5 Command
6 — mode
7 Judge's determination
8 Open entryways
9 Military standbys
10 Gotcha!
11 Beat around the bush
12 Take up a hem
13 Roman and pug. e.g.
18 "—: Entertainment"
22 Biol. for one
25 Comic Morris
27 "And — lies a tale"
28 Actress Hagen et al.
29 Treetop sight
30 Have lunch together
31 Incompetent
32 More pleasant
36 Counterfeited
38 Writer James
39 Puts on
41 Foretells
45 "— Song in My Heart"
47 USNA grad.
49 Took a chance
50 Join
51 — your life!
52 Razor sharpener
56 Cloy
58 Gaping
59 Parcel out
60 Sooner St.
61 Tear's mate
63 Med. personnel
65 — brio

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	O	M	E		L	O	C	H		C	A	P	E
O	P	A	L		O	B	O	E		A	B	O	R	T
C	O	O	K	B	O	O	K	S		B	R	O	I	L
O	R	A		I	S	L	E		C	O	O	L	E	R
O	T	I	O	S	E			H	O	A	R
N	O	S	T	O	N	E		M	I	S	O	O	N	E
			I	N	S	U	L	A	T	E		O	E	R
A	L	I	P	S			L	E	T		S	M	O	G
M	O	O		S	W	E	E	T	E	S	T
B	O	O	S	T	E	R		E	M	M	A	S	S	E
		H	E	R	O			C	A	N	T	O	R
M	A	P	L	E	S		T	O	O	L		O	C	A
A	N	O	D	E			G	O	O	D	L	O	O	K
S	N	O	O	T			D	O	Z	E		O	G	E
O	H	M	S				S	K	Y	S		P	E	T

11/21/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/21/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Pizza Deli ham on rye	Cheese spinach strudel Breaded veal pattie
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Mushroom Pizza Bean burgers	Cheese spinach strudel Eggplant cutlet

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21- April 19): This can be a satisfying and orderly sort of day. There is a tremendous response to your efforts; projects begin and end smoothly. Get better organized. Avoid staying out too late tonight.

TAURUS (April 20- May 20): Rapid results will follow if you apply maximum effort today. Financial considerations may be more important to you than sentimentality. Give your loved ones the attention they deserve.

GEMINI (May 21- June 20): You seem quite capable of watching out for your own interests once you have been alerted to any dangers. Be creative. Entertain friends in the comfort and security of your own home.

CANCER (June 21- July 22): Business progress may be a bit slow. Persevere! Someone who appears detached may actually be quite interested. Secrecy is essential if you are to clinch a major contract.

LEO (July 23- Aug. 22): Contact people who work behind the scenes. Making overdue changes will benefit your career. Seek important financial information. Romance flourishes in an atmosphere of mutual trust.

VIRGO (Aug. 23- Sept. 22): Greater self-discipline is essential for you to feel in charge of your life and relationships. Retreat from the social scene for a while and make plans for the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23- Oct. 22): Today may bring an end to the isolation you have felt lately. Socialize more. A letter or phone call from an old pal renews your friendship with excellent results for both of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23- Nov. 21): A message from an older person will brighten your morning. Give as well as receive. Challenge yourself to do more than you have been doing. Singles should have a great time this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22- Dec. 21): Get in touch with a good friend and discuss old times. Your health should be a top priority. Watch your diet and get more exercise. Children may need special attention tonight. Heed your instincts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22- Jan. 19): You can have the career you want, but first you must educate yourself in a new area. Night school or weekend classes may be the best answer. You are lucky in love!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20- Feb. 18): You will have no one to blame but yourself if your plans go awry today. Get better organized and set some new priorities. A financial windfall increases your fiscal security.

PISCES (Feb. 19- March 20): Investing more time and energy in household matters will pay big dividends. You will enjoy having company over. Set aside any worries about romance. Become a comparison shopper if looking for a new car.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Rick Seto
Copy Editor.....Tamir Lipton
Layout Technician.....Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician.....Jeff Holland
Production Supervisor.....Terry Starmer
Typesetter.....Kim Frisino
Production.....Tracey Richman, Steve Paris, Mark Sturm, Jen Fatkin, Sam Silverstein

■ Williams

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 4

trumpet kicked the collective Marsalis Brothers butts. I can't believe he's not better known, but time will prove just. Williams was also hot. He played probably everything he could, considering it was his fifth gig in 24 hours. He told the audience he felt great and he sounded it. He also said he enjoyed the enthusiasm of the audience (who were very vocal during the performance), as he mentioned that he liked to play aggressive, and he certainly did that.

Williams never played brushes during the whole set and I could see why some would be disappointed, but it was worth it. Williams is on the edge of percussion constantly, the way Cecil Taylor is on the edge of piano playing (if not well past it at times). It's experimental, while at the same time, heavily rooted in the "classic" style through which Williams got his schooling. The group is tight, to say the least and it was an evening of great music. I hope you didn't miss it.

■ food drive

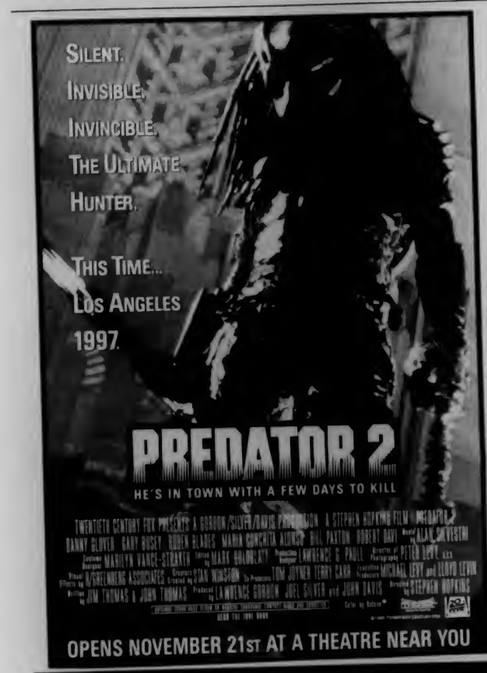
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

where it was then either personally delivered or picked up. Packages were also made for the Amherst Survival Center and Rosemary's Place and leftover bags were kept for emergency purposes.

Sister Millie Marengo, S.S.J., part of the Newman Center staff who helped, said she was delighted with the leadership, the volunteer response and the large contributions which made for one of the most accomplished Thanksgiving drives the center has ever sponsored.

"The gratitude for this worthy cause extended through the whole community," Sister Millie said, "and shows how people believe in being sensitive to the needs of others."



Women's Issues Editor Needed

—Writing experience preferred
—Applications accepted until 11-21-90

Ask for the Managing Editor

113 Campus Center

Associate News Editor Needed

—News writing experience preferred
—Applications accepted until 11-21-90

Ask for the News Editor

113 Campus Center

The Collegian is a M/F EOE

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 133. MON., THURS. 8:30-3:30 FRI. 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ADVERTISE!!
IF YOU HAVE A BUSINESS CARD and you want a cheap way to advertise your small business, call the Collegian. It's perfect for student organizations and entrepreneurs as well. Runs every Monday. Cost: $20.
Call the Collegian at 545-3500.

ACTIVITIES
SINGLE parents treat yourself, take care of yourself this new year! Study Discussion Support Cooperative now forming! Childcare too! Call 253-2424.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR!
Don't miss it!
Feb 14 1991

ANNOUNCEMENTS
FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM
$1000 in just one week
Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $1000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50.

OPEN THE DOOR
to an exciting and challenging career.
Let CIGNA Corporation show you how as we discuss Actuarial career opportunities.
To learn more about this challenging field plan to attend a meeting at which actuaries will discuss career opportunities at CIGNA. Members of all classes are welcome. Limited summer intern and full-time positions in both Connecticut and Philadelphia are available. Pizza & refreshments will be served. Dress is casual!
Date: November 28, 1990
Time: 7:00-9:00PM
Place: Mather Career Center

PVOC OIL COOP Purchase home heating oil at reduced cost per gallon. COD or automatic delivery required at OCHO or Call 545-0865 for more information!

RESEARCHER SEEKS to interview adult children of a parent with schizophrenia or other serious mental illness. Confidentiality assured. Call Bonnie Dunn (413)253-7915.

THINK SPRING 1991!
Spring Break Travel Fair
Buy your Spring Break package Feb. 14 - 1991!

AUTO FOR SALE
1983 AUDI 4000 5spd sunrf 60000mi on 2nd engine $1950. Call 256-0171.

1984 TOYOTA CAMRY, 87000 miles, 4 door, 5 speed, AC, AM/FM cassette, new muffler/tires, reliable, good condition, $3500. Call 546-6671/546-7384 leave message.

DAYTONA BEACH
SPRING BREAK TO DAYTONA
Travel with Yankee Lime Tours via deluxe motorcoach with on campus pick up and drop-off.
* First class hotel accomodations
* Transportation also available to Disney, Epcot, MGM Studios, Wet 'N Wild
* $259.00 (QUAD OCC) March 15-24
* For more info contact Scott or Jim 256-0079

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL . . .
RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime.

FOR RENT
APARTMENT AT COLONIAL VILLAGE
$480 avail 12 1st '90 call 253-5036

BEDROOM Sunderland Center. Busline quiet spacious $700 549-0733

ROOM IN FAMILY HOME, in Florence. No smoke/pets. $200/month. Call 586-7766 after 3:30PM.

FOR SALE
FUTON SALE
Queens size futons
6" cotton - $92
8" cotton/foam - $122
Limited time only
Metawampe Furniture
256-0648

SKIS. Three pairs blizzard thermos with excellent bindings-like new. 548-9430.

FOUND
EARRING: mumly black enamel w/colored flowers. Also little metal balls. Call 584-2975, ask for Tom.

FOUND KEY in parking lot behind Tobin on Mon. Nov. 19th. To claim, call Cheryl at 665-3536.

HELP WANTED
WANTED: Entrepreneurs looking to make $10,000 next summer operating their own franchises of college pro painters information session. Wednesday, November 28th at 4PM in the Campus Center room 801. Call 1-800-346-4649 for more info.

INSTRUCTION
EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool.
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August.
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department.
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401.

PERSONALS
APO PLEDGE COLLEAGUES: I never did a with shrubs before! You were all great!!!! Get psyched with Icam!!!!
The Raker

A Swimmer
I'll need a cooloff
after my workout!
Let's take the dive.
Number 40

DAVID A What did you do with the pizza?

GINA FRYLING OF AXO Happy B Day! Enjoy your new friendship! Love, you little sis, Adrienne

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JOHN
I love you
Love Judy

HAPPY THANKSGIVING MOM & DAD
Chow down and party! Love your awesome son Price

HEY C.E. GEEK
Yeah that's you Sarah!
Happy Birthday
Another C.E. GEEK

LADD
Season's over! Time on your hands?
Colorado

MAUREEN
Let me count the ways
Thanks for the great year
Happy 1 Year
I love Craig

PETE
I've always known you're a magical elf.

TO THE THREE GUYS in the blue Pontiac
(We're not sure if it was a pontiac) who gave three girls a ride into town, here is your net email. Also thank again for the ride.

ZEPH PARMENTER
Happy 20th Birthday!
From your favorite
New Hampshirite

PROFESSIONAL DJ'S
LAZER TECH AUDIO available for your dance, prom party, or house party. Great rates. great DJ's. Call 323-7801 soon.

ROOMMATES WANTED
FEMALE NONSMOKER wanted to share room 549-0038 for December 1.

FEMALE ROOMMATE WANTED for Jan 1st. $187.50 heat included. Call Leah or Anne 549-4759.

SERVICES
HAVE YOU BEEN RIPPED OFF by a retailer? Contact the Legal Services Center regarding your rights as a consumer. 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010.

PROFESSIONAL PAPERS, INC.
Computerized research library! All subjects! Levels & topics. Call 4 research info kit. Your Annex 1 (800) 447-2431. 10833 Wilshire Blvd. Dept. 1-701 W. Los Angeles, CA 90025.

T SHIRTS
CUSTOM SCREEN PRINTED
T Shirts, Sweats, Boxers, Here, Mugs, etc. Low prices. High quality.
Fast Service!
Call Collect
(413)569-1158

TRAVEL
LOS ANGELES ROUNDTRIP $300 or BO Dec 24-Jan 24. 549-0839 Yoni.

2 RT. TIX FOR MEXICO for sale. Leave NYC Jan 4 arrive Cancun stay 1 week. $850 or best offer. Call 367-2797.

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA! CANCUN FROM $439!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE! $$$. YOU TRAVEL! WITH THE BEST! 1-800-426-7710.

TYPING
NEXT DAY TYPING/WORD PROCESSING 323-4579.

TYPING/WORD PROCESSING Services 665-8710.

WORDPROCESSING. REPORTS. Resumes, Theses, Graphics. Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 298-1786.

WANTED
ALL MAJORS! Earn credit this spring! Design implement group child/arm for one evening per week. Several openings. Amherst Centre. Call 253-2424.

SPORTS

Playoffs beckon UMass to William and Mary

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The offensive line is athletic, deep, and has been playing together for nearly two full seasons. The defense is ranked in the top five nationally. The quarterback and running backs fit an option attack that emphasizes quick thinking and quicker feet.

But perhaps the most important thing the University of Massachusetts football team will bring into Saturday's playoff game at William and Mary is experience.

Collegian file photo
Freshman quarterback Dave McGovern

Several key members of this squad were on the team that lost to Eastern Kentucky 28-17 the last time UMass went to the playoffs, in 1988.

"Last time it was more like a mystery," junior safety Vaughn Williams said. "We weren't sure. It felt different, intensity-wise. This time people know what we're capable of, and what to expect."

Senior split end Ron Blauvelt said, "We didn't have as much depth as Eastern Kentucky and that really hurt us. This is a deeper team."

"I think we were happy to be in the playoffs," senior center Jay Gabbe said. "I think this year we won't be satisfied just being there, the way things have been going."

And where the Mintumen (8-1-1) are youngest — quarterback Dave McGovern and tailbacks Eric Thimas and John Johnson are all true freshmen — they have also been solid.

Johnson, who was named Yankee Conference Rookie-of-the-Year yesterday, has rushed for 709 yards and six touchdowns in nine games since filling in for injured senior Jerome Bledsoe. Thimas racked up 135 yards and two touchdowns in Johnson's place two weeks ago at Richmond.

McGovern inherited the quarterback spot from Tom Fasano at Richmond, and has steadily grown into the job since. "I feel more comfortable with each week of practice," McGovern said. "I felt more comfortable from the first half to the second half last week."

"I think we've been a Cinderella team in some ways," coach Jim Reid said. "We've had a lot of injuries and we haven't lost any ground."

The Minutemen, however, are coming off their first loss of the season, a 36-18 beating at New Hampshire in which the Cinderellas "turned into pumpkins pretty quick," Reid said.

The loss cost UMass an undefeated record and also the services of linebacker Bobby Burke, who fractured an ankle in the first half and will not play Saturday. Freshman Gregg Mattern will replace Burke.

William and Mary (9-2) has the best offense in Division I-AA, averaging just less than 500 yards a game. Senior quarterback Chris Hakel, flanker Mark Compher, and running backs Robert Green and Tyrone Shelton are keys on offense. Both Green and Shelton have rushed for more than 1,000 yards.

UMass and William and Mary have never met, but against common opponents this season they are both 4-0. Saturday's winner will face the Central Florida-Youngstown State victor Saturday, December 1.

Game notes: The game will be broadcast on WMUA 91.1 FM and WTTT 1430 AM. Kickoff is 12:30 p.m. . . . A Friday afternoon team outing to historic Williamsburg is a possibility. "These people have already shown me more hospitality then Eastern Kentucky ever did," Reid said.

Collegian file photo
The offensive line: Jay Gabbe (65), Al Pogarian (59), Paul Mayberry (76) and Rich Cavanaugh (78).

Coach, twelve Minutemen honored by Yankee Conference

Collegian file photo
Yankee Conference Coach-of-the-Year Jim Reid

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The Yankee Conference decorated several members of the University of Massachusetts football team, including the entire offensive line, with postseason honors yesterday.

Sophomore quarterback Gary Wilkos was named Co-Offensive Player-of-the-Year, sharing the award with Boston University quarterback Stan Greene. Wilkos rushed for 526 yards and passed for 733 and four touchdowns before being injured in the sixth game of the season.

Coach Jim Reid was named Yankee Conference Coach-of-the-Year. It was the second time in Reid's five-year career as head coach that he has won the award. Reid's career record is 32-21-2.

Freshman tailback John Johnson was the Yankee Conference Rookie-of-the-Year. Johnson has rushed for 709 yards and six touchdowns in nine games.

Named first-team All-Yankee Conference were senior guard Tony Giudice, senior center Jay Gabbe, junior tackle Rich Kane, junior linebacker Matt Tulley, junior tackle Rich Cavanaugh, junior tackle Kai Dietiker, sophomore tight end Ron Villone and sophomore linebacker Mario Perry.

Named to the All-Yankee Conference second team were senior guard Paul Mayberry, junior safety Vaughn Williams and Johnson.

Collegian file photo
Yankee Conference Co-Offensive Player-of-the-Year Gary Wilkos

Clemens fined for bumping umpire

By HOWARD ULMAN
AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Roger Clemens was suspended for the first five games of next season and fined $10,000 Tuesday for behavior which led to the Boston pitcher's ejection from the last game of the American League playoffs.

The penalty announced by AL president Bobby Brown will force the Red Sox star to miss one start. It comes a week after he earned a $125,000 bonus provided in his contract for finishing second in the AL Cy Young Award voting.

Although Clemens can appeal, Red Sox general manager Lou Gorman said, "Dr. Brown's statement and subsequent fine and suspension of Roger Clemens speaks for itself. Although we are not in agreement with the severity of the league's action, we are satisfied that the issue has been addressed."

Clemens was ejected by plate umpire Terry Cooney in the second inning of Oakland's 3-1 victory that completed the A's four-game sweep Oct. 10.

In his announcement, Brown cited Clemens for making "... significant physical contact with an umpire (Jim Evans), for threatening umpire Cooney, for verbally abusing umpire Cooney with personal obscenities and for not leaving the dugout immediately after the ejection."

Clemens was not immediately available for comment.

Last season, Clemens led the league for the second time in earned run average with a 1.93 mark. He was 21-6, the second winningest season of his career.

He finished second to Oakland's Bob Welch in the Cy Young balloting. Clemens won the award in 1986 and 1987 and was most valuable player in 1987.

Although Boston surprised preseason predictors by winning the AL East, the season ended on a sour note for the team and its star pitcher.

The altercation occurred after Clemens walked Willie Randolph, giving the A's, who led 1-0, runners on first and third. Cooney and Clemens got into a shouting match, and Clemens, trying to get closer to Cooney, bumped Evans.

Cooney said he told Clemens, "I hope you're not shaking your head at me. He said, 'if you want to talk to me, take your mask off.' By me not removing my mask and not getting into a verbal thing with him, that was my way of warning him."

Travel Information

Through the kindness extended by U.S. Express, a 45-seat bus will be made available to all UMass football fans interested in busing it down to Williamsburg to watch the Minutemen compete in the first round of the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs.

The bus will leave Boyden at noon on Friday and return Sunday afternoon. The trip will cost $145, including bus fare, two nights of hotel accomodations and two breakfasts. It will not include the $10 fee required for the game ticket. Tickets can be purchased at the ticket office (545-0810).

In order to reserve your spot on the 'Victory Bus,' please call the Collegian at 545-3500 during business hours. Leave your name, telephone number and hours you can be reached at that number. You will be notified as to whether or not there are enough interested to make the trip. Deadline is 4 p.m. today.

WEATHER	ARTS	SPORTS
Sunshine today with a high of 50. Chilly tonight, low near freezing. Sunny Tuesday.	Roald Dahl, author of Charlie and the Chocolate Factory died Friday. Obituary Pg. 7.	William and Mary bounces UMass from the Division I-AA playoffs. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 55

Collegian photo by Aaron Webster
Pete Verdone of the newly founded UMass Skate Club pays his dues at the Fine Arts Center.

Bush administration pushes for UN use-of-force resolution

By LAURA KING
The Associated Press

The Bush administration braced for a showdown in the U.N. Security Council over the use of force in the Persian Gulf, and Iraq threatened yesterday to rain missiles on Saudi Arabia if U.S. troops try to drive its armies out of Kuwait.

The Baghdad government also said it was mobilizing tens of thousands of farmers for military service, even though it is struggling to increase food production to offset the effects of U.N. sanctions imposed after the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Iraqi authorities, meanwhile, were taking steps to make sure any shortages caused by the sanctions are felt in Kuwait, which Iraq calls its 19th province. The official Iraqi News Agency said food rationing would begin soon in the conquered emirate.

Also yesterday, Kuwait's government-in-exile, citing reports from escapees, said Kuwaiti resistance fighters had recently wounded the Iraqi-appointed governor of Kuwait. The report could not be independently confirmed, but Iraq did announce the appointment of a new governor earlier this month, without saying why the former one was being replaced.

Iraq continued its piecemeal release of foreign hostages, but no Americans were among those freed yesterday. More than 100 German hostages arrived home after nearly four months of captivity, and 10 Greek nationals landed in Jordan. Iraqi officials also said 70 Italians would be freed Tuesday.

Dozens of former government leaders and other dignitaries have traveled to Baghdad to try to win the release of captive foreigners, even though such private trips are discouraged by the U.S. government.

The latest such visitor was boxing legend Mohammad Ali, who met with Hussein on Sunday at the presidential palace. An Ali associate, Arthur Morrison, said the former world heavyweight champion was on a "goodwill mission" and hoped to free some Americans.

Morrison spoke to reporters on behalf of Ali, who is suffering from Parkinson's disease and cannot speak.

Meanwhile, time was running out on efforts by the Bush administration to garner support in the U.N. Security Council for a resolution authorizing the use of force to end the Iraqi occupation of Kuwait if peaceful efforts fail.

The Washington Post yesterday quoted diplomatic sources as saying a draft version of the resolution tries to get around some member nations' reservations about resorting to force by using such phrases as "all necessary means."

Although it is still scrambling to build support for the measure, the United States is seeking a vote this week because its one-month presidency of the Security Council ends Friday. Taking over is the Red Sea state of Yemen, which has supported Iraq in the past.

Residence hall alarm system delayed

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

A new alarm system for the residence halls that has been plagued with technical problems will not be in service until the beginning of next semester, according to Assistant Director of Housing John Findley.

Findley, who is officially responsible for the installation and maintenance of the security system, said although the new locks are already installed in all of the side doors to the residence halls, some of the lock cores in the L-shaped door piece are malfunctioning. This could create problems with the alarms, which are attached to the cores on the door piece.

He said because of the exacting nature of the repair work, it will not be completed until the very end of this semester.

"It makes sense to wait until February [to turn the system on]," Findley said. The system was scheduled to start after Thanksgiving break.

While Findley would not say which halls had the lock problems, he did say there were "enough [locks needing repair] so we're concerned and want them checked."

He also said since the manufacturer, Sargent Manufacturing Company, had not sold the system before, the glitches were not unexpected by his staff or the company.

"The combination of locks and the alarm is not a package that they sold before," Findley said. "They will work with us to solve the problems."

The new system is the latest attempt to increase security in the residence halls. A similar system, known as "locknetics," was used briefly last semester in Orchard Hill residential area.

The system is designed to give a high-pitched alarm when any of the peripheral doors of a residence hall, locked 24 hours a day, is opened or propped open. According to Carol Radzik, director of student security, this will help security receptionists and supervisors keep intruders out of the dorms.

"By filtering people to the main door, they won't be harassed by unwanted people trying to get in," Radzik said. She added that students will also be safer by going to the main entrances because of the access to a help phone and a receptionist for assistance.

Radzik also said she hopes the system will be effective in making the campus safer for students.

Balanced budget tops Legislature's list

By DANIEL BEEGAN
The Associated Press

The lame-duck 1990 Massachusetts Legislature reopens for business Monday with the quest for a balanced budget and a stabilized economy still the major items on the minds of members.

Unlike some post-election sessions in flush economic times, leaders and rank-and-file legislators alike predict there won't be the traditional push for money for pet projects, new initiatives and new public jobs.

House Majority Leader Charles Flaherty (D-Cambridge), the man expected to take over as House speaker in January, and outgoing Speaker George Keverian (D-Everett), have said they hope the session will be a short one, focusing only on essential items and adjourning quickly.

The outgoing Legislature includes 57 members, one of whom is Keverian, who will not be returning in January. That's more than a quarter of the 200-member Legislature.

In the 160-member House, 43 lawmakers are not returning, 25 of whom did not seek reelection and 18 who failed to win back their seats. Fourteen of the 40 senators won't be back for the 1991 session, half by choice and half because the voters turned them down.

The House and Senate have not met formally since late July, although there have been perfunctory sessions to deal with non-controversial bills.

Two of the major items that may come before the post-election session are the same issues that dominated the entire 1990 session, the budget and the taxes.

Gov. Dukakis proposed a supplemental budget last week that he said would not create or add to any deficit. Gov.-elect William F. Weld has urged the Legislature to repeal an extension of the 5 percent sales tax to business services. That new tax is scheduled to take effect Dec. 1.

Flaherty and Senate President William Bulger have offered to postpone the tax until after the new Legislature and Weld take office Jan. 3, but have been reluctant to endorse repeal until Weld specifies how he would make up the money.

Weld has estimated repeal would cost the state $71 million this fiscal year, but the Revenue Department's estimate is more than double that figure.

With studies showing the state could again be heading for a half billion dollar deficit, some legislators say they are reluctant to repeal the tax outright, despite its administrative headaches and almost unanimous opposition to it from businesses.

Walesa leads presidential election

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Lech Walesa, who united Poles in their struggle against communism, led in Poland's first popular presidential election Sunday but appeared headed for a runoff, according to state TV exit polls.

The Solidarity chief had 41 percent of the vote, a 2-to-1 lead over Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki and political unknown Stanislaw Tyminski, according to the polls. The polls indicated Mazowiecki and Tyminski each had 20.5 percent of the vote, far ahead of the remaining three candidates.

It was a stunning setback for Mazowiechi, a former Walesa ally who instituted unpopular economic austerity measures after taking Poland's first postwar non-communist government.

Pollsters questioned every 20th voter at 404 polling places around the country, or up to 15,00 people. The results were issued on nationwide television minutes after the polls closed at 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EST).

The poll indicated the farmers, who represented 40 percent of Polish society, deserted Mazowiecki en masse.

Only 4 percent of the farm vote went to the prime minister, according to the poll. Farmers have been angry at the abolition of guaranteed prices for their produce under the government's shock economic reform plan.

If no one wind 5- percent of the vote, a runoff must be held between the top

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

For Your Information

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 26

Dinner — Discovery of Puerto Rico Dinner, sponsored by AHORA, Southside Room, 6 p.m.- 10 p.m., free.

Lecture — "The Homoeroticism and Homophobia in Batman," a work-in-progress presentation by Sasha Torres, Mendenhall Fellow in English at Smith. Sponsored by the Project on Women and Social Change. This will be held at 4:15 Seelye Hall 11, Smith College.

Lecture — "Media and Political Struggle in South Africa," by Keyan Gray Tomaselli, Director of Center for Culture and Media Study, University of Natal, Durban, South Africa, and senior Fulbright Scholar, African Studies Center, Michigan State University. Part of the Africa Today Lecture Series, sponsored by the departments of religion and Afro-American studies, and the Fulbright Scholars Program. This will be held in the Neilson Library Browsing Room , Smith College, at 7 p.m.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27

Memorial — Jean Grossholtz, professor of Political Science at Mount Holyoke and long-time feminist will speak at this year's Harvey Milk Memorial Day. The topic of her talk will be "Lesbian and Gay Liberation: Keeping Harvey's Legacy Alive." She will speak in Campus Center 101 at 8 p.m.

Mini-Mall — Hillel will sponsor a mini-mall in the Student Union Ballroom from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Lecture — Dr. Haki Madhubuti will speak on "Black Men: Obsolete, Single and Dangerous," Campus Center 163C, 7:30-11p.m. Sponsored by BMCP.

Reading — "Beira Women: Tales form the Beira Hills," a reading by Smith scholar Edite Pedrosa, of her collection of stories and tales about women in a central Portuguese village. The author will read from this work-in-progress that she is developing as part of a Smith Scholars Project under the direction of Peter I. Rose and George Carey. The reading will be held at 7 p.m. in Hatfield Hall 17, Smith College.

Lecture — Lee Edwards, professor of English and Women's Studies at UMass, will speak on "Schizotexts and Pathograms — Psychotic Narratives as Autobiography and Fiction" at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. The lecture is open to the public.

WEDNESDAY, NOVMBER 28

Meeting — Spirituality group, a gathering to share and discuss questions and experiences of the spiritual quest. Open to people of all faiths. It will be held at 7 a.m. at the Helen Hills Chapel, Northampton.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29

Musical — "Sweet Charity," sponsored by Music Theater Guild, Bowker Auditorium, showtime: 8 p.m., $3 students/$5 general public.

Workshop — There will be a women's outreach program titled "Raising Bi-racial Children in America" at 7 p.m. in Campus Center 902.

Colloquium — "Sensitivity to Sexist Humor," by Diedrick Snoek will be held at 4:15 p.m. in Burton Hall 213, Smith College.

Lecture — "Shifting Alliances and Allegiances: The Politics of State, Party, and Ethnicity on Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast," by Judy Butler will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Seelye Hall 10, Smith College.

Theater — The Tempest by William Shakespeare, directed by John Hellweg, for reservations, call 585-3220. Monday to Friday 1-4 p.m. Admission is $4 general public, $2 students/senior citizens.

Lizottes Tobacco Shop
76 Main St.
Northampton, MA
Tel. 584-2812
COMPLETE LINE OF IMPORTED AND CLOVE CIGARETTES

The Business Card BONANZA

Always in Bloom
220 North Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-5545
Full Service Florist
• Unique Flowers, Gifts and Plants
• FTD Wire Service
• Daily Deliveries
Debbie Boyce, owner

LOCAL

Homosexual GIs depart in hiding

Editor's note: The names of the people in this article have been changed to protect their identities

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

In addition to changing their everyday clothes to fatigues, lesbians, bisexuals and gay men in the military also must change their normal sexual preference to heterosexual.

As the number of U.S. troops grow in the Persian Gulf, so do the number of service women and men who signed up to serve in the military, but are homosexual.

"I never thought I would have to go," said Jim, a 24-year-old University of Massachusetts senior communications major.

Jim said he signed up for the National Guard reserves to help pay for college, even though he is gay. He said he is set to leave for Saudi Arabia this week.

Currently, military policy states that homosexuals are not allowed to serve in any branch of the armed forces.

"I'm not going to say I'm gay now to get out of going, I'm as scared as anyone else would be," he said.

He said he is most afraid not of going to war with Iraq, but of fellow guardsmen finding out he is gay.

"I've heard stories about what happens when they find out you're gay, I don't mean being thrown out, I've heard about rapes, beatings — very scary," he said.

Another distressing factor in going away will be what he can talk about, and who he can talk to.

"I can't talk about anything, all the guys [in my unit] ask me if I've got a girlfriend and my past relationships," he said. "So far I've been able to keep my sexuality a secret, but I don't know how much longer I'll be able to."

Karen, who is also in the National Guard and serves in Jim's unit is going to Saudi Arabia this week as well. Karen is a lesbian who signed up to help her income three years ago after losing her job.

"I know that it will be rough, but I'm not backing out. The worse thing about it will be pretending I'm someone that I'm not," she said.

Karen said, unlike Jim, she knows several lesbians in the National Guard, but will still have to leave her lifestyle behind.

"It will be quite a change from what I'm used to, I'm usually very open about my sexuality, that is going to have to change now," she said.

Karen said she thinks the chance that she may be a victim of violence is equally as high as it is for Jim.

"There is a misconception that lesbianism is more accepted than homosexuality, but it's just as bad for us," she said.

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

Iben Brain, a junior Art major, checks the crowded ride board in the Student Union last week.

Prof: Choose a nursing home with care

By MIKE LINSKEY
Collegain Correspondent

Nursing home customers, burdered with the guilt of putting their loved ones into homes, often forget to ask important questions regarding the health care offered, according to a University of Massachusetts public health professor.

Seth B. Goldsmith, author of Choosing a Nursing Home, said there is often a tendency to be intimidated and not ask tough questions because customers are afraid to be rejected in their quest to get a loved one into a home.

"My book is to help them take off the dunce caps and make better decisions with crucial information," he said.

According to Goldsmith, the most important thing in a nursing home is nursing, and helping patients through the day with a positive attitude.

"You cannot substitute machines for personal experience," he said.

Goldsmith advocates not-for-profit homes as a "better deal" for both residents and customers.

"For-profit homes tend to run closer to required staffing ratios because they're trying to make a profit," he said.

Not-for-profit homes are not as concerned with keeping the staff-to-patient ratio down, and consequently they have many volunteers and more staff and provide more therapies and activities.

Goldsmith also emphasized the importance of keeping patients mentally active. "You need physical, occupational and even music therapy — things so that patients don't get lost," he said.

"You need a home that's active in terms of making sure that people are stimulated," he said.

"The right kind of management — with the right kind of attitude — is crucial. My book helps people get closer to what they want," he said.

The perfect nursing home, according to Goldsmith, would need to have "the right mission: to be there to provide care to the elderly and not to make a profit," he said.

"It has to be properly staffed," he said. "It needs to have a full-time medical director, a good physical facility, and space for different activites."

"It needs to have a range of activities, more stimulating than bingo," he added.

Photo by Aaron Webster

The french fry-shaped sculpture is still precariously perched at the Fine Arts Center.

A new worry for schools

Universities losing middle class students

WILLIAMSTOWN (AP) — Fewer middle income students are enrolling at elite private and public universities, a new study found. And it is a trend that alarms some in higher education.

"People have been very worried about what's going on with middle income students," said Morton Schapiro, a Williams College economics professor and principal author of the study.

"The answer is that we lose more students than everybody else, with the exception of public universities. And that is a real worry," he said.

While the middle class overall shrank 5 percent from 1982 to 1989, middle income enrollment dropped 9 percent at private elite schools and 10 percent at prestigious public universities, sometimes referred to as "public ivies," Schapiro said.

The study was the first step in examining whether high-priced schools are becoming "refuges for the wealthy and the poor," said Larry Litten, director of research at the Consortium on Financing Higher Education, a group of 32 of some of the country's most selective institutions. COFHE commissioned the study.

Litten and Schipiro said the study didn't find the problem of "middle-income melt" to be as severe as had been previously speculated. And they said the fact that the drop occurred at public and private schools indicates price wasn't the only factor in the decline.

"I think that some of it is the price differential, some of it is a misperception about the availability of [financial] aid and your guess is as good as mine about what else is going on," Schipiro said.

"Unless it is a coincidence that the same thing is happening at the University of Texas as at Yale it really kind of pokes holes in any kind of simple explanation," he said.

Nationally, colleges and universities are looking at a base of students that is declining on all fronts, said Frank Burtnett, executive director of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors.

"What colleges are looking at is a sort of survival strategy. We're in a period in which the number of 18-year-olds who are passing through the schools is on a downswing," he said. "Any change in the enrollment patterns of any population are going to be of considerable concern to colleges and universities."

What middle-income students appear to be choosing in growing numbers are community colleges and four year state colleges

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

Bruegger's Bagel Bakery

Come in from the cold
and warm up with a Bagel Sandwich
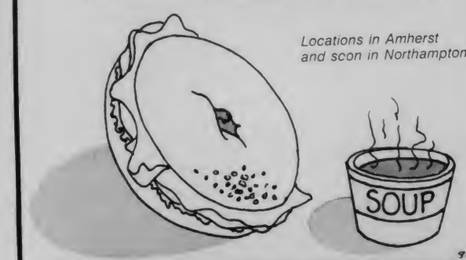
and our
Homemade Soup of the Day



Locations in Amherst and scon in Northampton

Need cash? Own any gold?
CASH FOR GOLD
Progressive Gold Recycling
256-0842
Highest offers in the state!

Auto Glass Center
American & Foreign
• SAME DAY SERVICE
• BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
• WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd
Nort., Amherst, MA.
549-2880
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

FOR $20, WE'LL LET YOU HANG OUT IN THE QUAD.
$20 MID-WEEK LIFT TICKET.*
Why hang out between the student union and the library, when you can be letting it all hang out at Mount Snow, Vermont on any one of our 84 trails.
To hang out even longer, join SnowBreak '91, Jan. 7-11 and 14-18—a week of parties, games, parties, parties and skiing!
For a taped ski report, call (802) 464-2151. For more information, call (802) 464-8501.
Mount Snow.
When It Comes To Big Mountain Skiing, No One Else Is Close.

December Grads

Think About
What You're Doing.

You've got a lot of critical decisions ahead of you. Since you'll be spending a good portion of your life at work, shouldn't your career be an accurate reflection of who you are, and what's important to you?

If you value a healthy environment, good nutrition, mutual respect, and individuality, you should consider a retail management career with us, no matter what your major.

We're Bread & Circus, New England's largest wholefood supermarket chain. But don't let the word, "supermarket" throw you. We're nothing like a traditional supermarket. We carry only whole foods of the highest quality. And we're uncompromisingly committed to creating a healthier, more sound world.

That's why we offer some of the finest retail management careers to be found anywhere... as well as the perfect opportunity to align your values with your ambitions.

Bread & Circus
COMPREHENSIVE MANAGEMENT TRAINING PROGRAM BEGINS IN JANUARY.
FIND OUT MORE!

ON-CAMPUS INFORMATION SESSION
Monday, November 26
7 - 9pm
Mather Career Center
Room 101A
Please bring your resume.
Refreshments will be served.

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS
Tuesday, November 27
We're looking forward to meeting you.
*Spring Grads are welcome to attend Monday's Information Session.

Bread & Circus
WHOLE FOOD SUPERMARKETS
The Food. The Whole Food. and Nothing But The Food
Committed To Equal Opportunity Employment.

mace
Largest Line of Pepper Products

Carry Mace®
Wherever You Go...
JUST IN CASE.
Buy Only At
AMHERST DROP ZONE
ARMY-NAVY STORE
103 N. Pleasant St. Amherst
256-0039
377 Russell St. Hadley
585-5800
Mon-Sat 10-6 Sun 12-5
NIGHTS IN HADLEY til 9:30
F.I.D. Required

NEW SPECIALS!
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY
2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1	SUPER PRINTS .37 SAVE .13 per print	2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THURSDAY	FRIDAY	EVERYDAY SPECIAL
2nd SET OF PRINTS FOR PREV. .10 PER PRINT	REPRINT DAY 3.5 x 5 .30 ea. 5x7 .99 ea. 8x10 3.50 ea.	2nd SET OF PRINTS REGULAR 18 ea. SUPER 28 ea.

FILM IN BY 10:00 a.m.
PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 p.m.
The Foto Factory
224 1/2 FEDERAL STREET GREENFIELD
257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
62 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Remembering our soldiers

Since time immemorial, man has sought to better his stature and position at the expense of another. Charles Darwin coined a term that describes this, "survival of the fittest." A prime example of it is Saddam Hussein who stepped on and obliterated a next door neighbor for his vile and maniacal self, at the expense of innocuous Kuwaitis. These people are still the subjects of Hussein's indiscriminate and horrid ego trip.

I do not want to illuminate the reasons as to why Hussein initiated this vulgar act of violence. Nor do I want to kick around ideas on what course of action the United States should pursue. There is already ample discussion on both these points. Instead, I would like to share with you my feelings on, what is in my opinion, a more sobering point.

Bob Freeman

The number of Americans on Saudi Arabian sand will continue growing until the estimated 400,000-plus are in place or shooting starts. I believe all of us are not focusing enough on the most important fact of all this — the human aspect — the loneliness, the homesickness, the fear that grips our people there. In other times, laying your life on the line for your fellow countryman would have been the mark of a hero, of someone who would be revered.

Vietnam veterans were spat on and insulted. Fighting for their country became a criminal offense in the eyes of many. I was not old enough when it happened to remember, but just imagining this fills me with indescribable anger and sorrow. I fear that same frame of mind is unfolding once more and may erupt again in the face of our people as it did in Vietnam.

Envisioning this occurring to Americans coming back from the sands of some God-forsaken land is what spurred me to make a plea to everyone. I have been hard-pressed to find a person who does not know anyone in Saudi Arabia or on their way. Those who face the teeth and rage of the Iraqi devils are our people. Every night, it is not just mothers and fathers who go to sleep wondering if they will ever be able to kiss their daughter or son again.

It is young children who weep for their mother or father. It is wives who fear that they will never again be able to hold their husband's hand and vice-versa. It is a sister thinking she may have hugged her brother for the last time. Whether right or wrong, they are ready to die for all of us back here in America. No matter what side of the fence one stands on, we must all support our troops and keep their spirits high.

I will never be able to know the misery and torment family members and servicemen are going through. Whether you believe in their mission or not, the least we can do is support them in small, personal ways. We must never for a second forget they are human beings.

Please just take five minutes a week and write them a letter or mail them a magazine or send them a care package. This will show them we all really care and our thoughts are with them. Let them know they will not be spit on when they come back but treated with the respect and dignity they deserve. Let the politicians do the debating, for that is why we elected them. That way we may be more free to show our brothers and sisters in Saudi Arabia that we are grateful to them. They need our backing desperately. God bless them.

Bob Freeman is a UMass student

The practice of destructive 'rights'

I have a question concerning Meredith O'Brien's November 20 editorial, "The womb police and women's rights." Does she mean to say that the decision to knowingly take drugs while pregnant is a matter of individual judgement, a personal choice that no one else should have a hand in?

I've never heard anything so malignly selfish and ignorant! It is not a personal judgement that a mother's drug habit can cause birth defects, impaired motor ability and mental retardation in a child — it's a proven fact.

When a women decides to take drugs during pregnancy, it leaves the boundaries of poor judgement and impracticality and borders on willful sudism, an act of debilitating malice against a helpless person.

Although I find abortion personally repulsive, I support a women's right to seek one and would rather see that happen than to see a child's life destroyed before it even starts.

Certainly I agree that Mr. Tague's solution of prosecuting these women as drug dealers is a bit extreme, but something in the way of rehabilitation should be done. If we prosecute people for child abuse after the child is born, why not for this much more subtle and destructive form of abuse?

I have always supported the rights of women, pregnant or otherwise, and always will, as a part of my belief in human rights. But when people exercise their "rights" in a way so destructive and so plainly stupid, the line must be drawn.

Bradley P. Heintz
Amherst

Discrimination and a game of football

Affirmative Action. Discriminatory? Unfair? Not needed? Maybe yes, maybe no, but do people really know what it is? The goal of the Affirmative Action program is to provide a more diverse job environment where there has historically been an homogeneous atmosphere. In short, Affirmative Action widens the doorway of the workplace to allow minorities and women an entrance.

Adam Stein

Does it place unqualified people into positions for which they are not suited? No. The Affirmative Action applicant always meets the minimum level of qualifications required for the job. Using the UMass Affirmative Action policy as an example, the process begins even before the employer reviews any applicants for the open position, as first there must be an Affirmative Action Search. The Search ensures that the employer makes a concerted effort to increase the diversity of the applicants. Assuming that GPA is the only difference between the resumes of two candidates, an African-American with a 3.5 GPA may get the position over a White applicant with a 3.8 GPA. However, one must note that the differences between these candidates are between two qualified people.

Some may ask, "Is it fair that people are not considered for a job solely based on their merits?" At this point, it is premature to answer this as one cannot look at each job hiring situation separately. Instead, one must see the reality of job opportunity in an historical perspective.

An analogy published in the New York Times a couple of years ago compared the need for Affirmative Action with an unfair football game. In this analogy, there were two teams, a White one and a Black one. The White team knew about the game in advance and had been practicing together during the previous off season. The Black team were not so privileged as to receive this information and thus only had a month to prepare for the game. The White team had the home turf advantage, had the best coach in the country, and had paid off the referees to throw the game. By the fourth quarter the score was 48 to 7. There is four minutes left in play. Suddenly the quarterback of the White team calls a time out and halts the game. He claims that all of this is wrong and that now the game should be played fairly. The White coach agrees and pulls the corrupt referees off the field and replaces them with unbiased ones.

If we were to look at the game without considering what had occurred before the unbiased refs came into the picture, everything seems fair. There are two teams equal in number, each have a coach, and both are playing under the same unbiased rules. However, in all this "fairness", how is the Black team ever going to catch up?

Slavery ended only five generations ago. Many people's grandparents, after "emancipation", were stuck share cropping. Share cropping was an American feudal system where ex-slaves were kept on the plantation trying to pay off the debts they had incurred from the plantation owner. The share croppers weekly pay never met their weekly needs which were bought at the plantation store's exorbitant prices. Credit was given along with outrageous interest, and thus people were stuck working on the plantation in a never ending struggle to resolve their debt and their freedom.

Other people's grandparents migrated North in the hopes of reaping the benefits of the industrial boom. However, they too came upon a dead end as prejudicial hiring practices kept them out of the high wage jobs, thus ensuring a low wage subsistence living. In the southern United States, it wasn't until the 1950s that the front seats of a bus were available to an African-American. Legislation-sponsored segregated schools ended a mere 35 years ago. Poll taxes aimed at discouraging African-American voting ended just 26 years ago. It wasn't until the 1960s and the Civil Rights Act that discrimination was finally acknowledged as illegal. So now are we to assume that everything is equal?

The reality is that schools are still segregated and unequal, and job discrimination still exists against women and people of darker skin complexions. The history of the African-American community still places them yards behind the rest of society, thus, how is the African-American and other non-majority communities ever going to catch up?

Adam Stein is a Collegian columnist

What should the role of student government be? What are the most important tasks facing student leadership? How should they be handled? This Thursday, Nov. 29, we will run two editorial pages devoted to these issues. Have a thought on the matter? Submit it to the Collegian office by Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Blame it on the rain — or the packaging

So, Milli Vanilli is a crock. Big deal. I've never been too fond of the guys, ever since I heard "Girl, You Know It's True" five times during the course of one particularly bumpy four-hour bus ride last fall.

But even leaving aside my own personal tastes, this week's scandal of the decade should come as no great surprise to anybody. It's really just the logical end of a series of developments popular music has undergone in the past 10 years or so.

The growth of MTV has led to a sort of warped idea of what music is about. If you spend any time hanging out by Taco Bell at the mall, you can overhear countless 14-year-olds asking each other questions like "Have you seen the new Cinderella song?"

Seen a song? I mean, this is cool. I'm a strong supporter of all sorts of sensory confusion. But the implications of all this are pretty frightening.

Basically, for anyone who hasn't heard this latest revelation, what we've learned is that Milli Vanilli's hits were actually created by their producer. This makes sense, since the kind of music they epitomize tends to reduce music to the level of a neatly-packaged product.

And, we're the consumers, greedily chugging down whatever waste the music factories decide to spill our way.

If we accept the recording industry's idea of music as something to be bought and sold, and it stands to reason that they're going to associate the merchandise with the people who are most likely to increase sales.

Apparently, Milli Vanilli had the trendy visual style to fit the bill. The effect is that they're basically acting not as artists or entertainers, but as trademarks with dreadlocks.

Milli Vanilli have suffered the disgrace of a revoked Grammy. But anybody knows that the Grammy awards have little to do with real music anyway. To the pay-per-view hordes who bought their albums, it probably won't make any difference. They're probably the same people who fill up stadiums for the rare privilege of watching Madonna lip synch half a mile away.

And on the way home, they probably will grab some nachos at the mall.

John Purin
Northampton

■ Polish election

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

two vote-getters Dec. 9.

At Mazowiechi headquarters in Warsaw, a spokeswoman said Walesa seemed far ahead in several areas around the country but that supporters were not discouraged.

If no one gets 50 percent of the vote, a runoff will be held Dec. 9.

Walesa himself expressed optimism after voting in Gdansk with his wife, Danuta, and his 18-year-old son, Slawek.

"I voted for the candidate who is supposed to win," he said, smiling.

Mazoweicki walked to the polling station in his central Warsaw neighborhood, accompanied by his daughter-in-law wheeling his 4-month-old granddaughter in a stroller.

"I am happy it stopped raining. Otherwise the turnout would have been much worse," the prime minister said, the East bloc's first non-communist head of government.

Tyminiski had been considered a dark-horse candidate. An emigre businessman, he returned to Poland this fall after 21 years in Canada and Peru.

■ enrollment

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

that tend to be closer to home and are far cheaper than the nation's leading public and private universities, the study showed.

Four-year public colleges dropped only 4 percentage points and community colleges dropped 3 percent, which compares favorably to the overall population percentage drop of 5 percent, Schapiro said.

Ernst Benjamin, general secretary of the American Association of University Professors, said tuition increases across the board have pushed the population, "down the pecking ladder."

While public schools are much cheaper than the $20,000-plus charged at schools such as Harvard and Yale, they too have seen increases. For instance, tuition, room and board at the University of Massachusetts has risen from $4,622 in 1987 to $7,053 this year.

"What happens then is that people who would have gone, say, to Harvard, go to the University of Michigan and the people who would have gone to Michigan are going to Western Michigan," said Benjamin, who faults a decline in public and private funding of higher education for the downshift.

One problem the study uncovered was that many middle-income families go by the "sticker price" of an education, not realizing that financial aid may be available, Schapiro said.

THINK
SPRING BREAK
VACATION
—FROM HARTFORD—
MAR 16-BAHAMAS FROM $549.00
MAR 16- CANCUN FROM$499.00
MAR 16- MAZATLAN FROM $649.00

CALL 586-8953
OTHER CHARTER DESTINATIONS AVAILABLE FROM BOSTON
YOUR PARTNERS IN TRAVEL
MAPLEWOOD SHOPS-NORTHAMPTON, MA 01060
"CHOOSE THE PROFESSIONALS"

LSAT
GMAT
MCAT
GRE

Test Your Best!
Winter Study Classes
Forming Now.
Scholarships Available
for financial aid students

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

MAKE UP YOUR OWN MIND.
AMIGA.

MEET THE FUTURE OF CREATIVE THINKING.

Amiga doesn't just improve your work. It improves your thinking. Just working hard isn't enough anymore. Creative thinking is what sets winners apart.

The Amiga computer was designed precisely with that thought in mind. It handles routine tasks, like letters and spreadsheets, so you'll have more time to explore your creative and inventive sides.

Whatever you can imagine, Amiga has the power to produce. Easily.

Its built-in technology is a major advancement in a computer of this size and price range.

With a mouse and simple icons, Amiga combines a full color display, full stereo sound, graphics, 3-D animation, video capability and text as no other computer can.

It has the power to run software sophisticated enough to manipulate vast amounts of data, as well as the creative genius to create the complete score for an orchestral composition.

We deliver today, what others promise tomorrow.

Amiga was designed to keep up with you, from school work demands through career needs.

You'll find standard what other people make optional. As well as sophisticated technology that doesn't exist on comparably powered and priced computers.

Creative educational discounts make Amiga an easy decision.

The Amiga Education Purchase Program for college and university students, faculty and administrators, offers a wide range of fully loaded, specially bundled hardware systems, with a complete system starting under $700.* All include a one year limited warranty and AmigaVision.™

The best way to make up your own mind is to try Amiga.

Stop by your Campus Authorized Amiga Dealer and get your hands on the future of computing.

Sure, your people buy what's standard. But we think you can make up your own mind, and choose your own best course for the future. After all, isn't that what college is all about?

AMIGA
THE COMPUTER FOR THE CREATIVE MIND
(Commodore)

Validata
Mountain Farms Mall
Store 36
Hadley, MA 01035
(413) 459-1017

$2.00 OFF
ANY LARGE PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

PIZZA Bruno's SUBS
SALADS 583 MAIN ST. AMHERST LASAGNA
WE DELIVER QUALITY
call us at 256-0222
and WE'LL BRING LUNCH to YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!
Limited Area
FREE DELIVERY
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m.

$1.00 OFF
ANY MEDIUM PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

HOURS: SUN THURS 7am-3pm
FRI SAT 2am-3pm/10pm-3am
Homemade Soups, Muffins, Desserts
Specials
Take Out Welcome
Daily Specials Offered
MYERS EATERY NORTHAMPTON
88 Pleasant St.
584-4145

ARTS & LIVING

British author Roald Dahl dies at age 74

OXFORD, England (AP) — Roald Dahl, the British author of macabre short stories and of children's tales such as Charlie and the Chocolate Factory died Friday in an Oxford hospital. He was 74.

Mr. Dahl wrote nine books of short stories, including Kiss Kiss, three novels, 19 children's books and numerous screenplays and scripts for television. Last year, his total paperback sales in Britain topped 2.3 million copies.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory was adapted for film as "Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory." He also wrote the screenplay for the film "Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang."

"Roald Dahl's contribution to the children's book world is immeasurable," said a spokesman for publishers Puffin and Penguin. "He and his books are held in the deepest affection by families all over the world."

Mr. Dahl said the key to his children's tales was that he entered a conspiracy with children against adults.

'It's the path to their affections," he said in an interview earlier this year with The Independent newspaper. "It may be simplistic but it is the way. Parents and schoolteachers are the enemy.

"The adult is the enemy of the child because of the awful process of civilizing this thing that when it is born is an animal with no manners, no moral sense at all."

Mr. Dahl was also known for his macabre short stories. One critic with the Times Literary Supplement said Mr. Dahl "knows how to steer an unwavering course along the hairline where the gruesome and the comic meet and mingle."

"He thinks of a story as a staircase up which the reader is to be lured and finally coaxed into taking that confident last step which, breathtakingly and deliciously, isn't there," the critic wrote.

"I never knew him, but I was a great admirer of his," said Theodor Geisel, whose pen name is Dr. Seuss, in a telephone interview from his California home. "He wrote excellent children's books and I was very interested in his short stories for adults."

Mr. Dahl provoked controversy in February 1989 when he wrote a letter to The Times of London describing Salman Rushdie, author of The Satanic Verses as a "dangerous opportunist."

Two weeks earlier, Rushdie had gone into hiding under police protection because Iran's spiritual leader, Ayatollah Ruholiah Khomeini, had said Rushdie deserved to die for blasphemy.

"Clearly he [Rushdie] has a profound knowledge of the Moslem religion and its people, and he must have been totally aware of the deep and violent feelings he book would stir up among devout Moslems," Mr. Dahl wrote.

"This kind of sensationalism does indeed get an indifferent book on the top of the bestseller list . . . but to my mind it is a cheap way of doing it."

Mr. Dahl worked for a number of children's charities and recently donated the manuscript and copyright of his story "The Vicar of Nibbleswicke" to the British Dyslexia Institute.

Mr. Dahl leaves one son and four daughters by his marriage to actress Patricia Neal. They were divorced in 1983 and he married Felicity Ann Crosland.

Wallis' new book explores the philosophy of Christianity

By JAY ALLAIN
Collegian Correspondent

The Rise of Christian Conscience
Jim Wallis
Harper and Row

Although the Judeo-Christian underpinnings of Western civilization are generally assumed, it is unclear what role religion must assume in an increasingly secularized society. Organized religion itself has attempted to respond to the mercurial changes of the late-20th century, although there is little official consensus regarding the nature of that response. The massive exodus from orthodox Christianity that began in the 60s has heightened the debate.

Into this philosophical maelstrom comes The Rise of Christian Conscience by Jim Wallis. For those who are turned off by the sterile platitudes of much modern religion but are reluctant to cast faith into "the ash heap of history," this book is for you. Especially if you don't mind getting your Bible banged up. What makes this book so unusual is that many of the 29 articles are written by well-known activists who are writing from the crucible of contemporary struggle.

For example, South African resistance leader, Allan Boesak, recalling Dr. King's famous letter from prison, writes an essay here entitled, "Let Us Believe: Jesus' Presence in a Prison Cell."

The reflection begins with the courageous anti-apartheid activist being most candid. "The first two weeks of imprisonment," he writes, "I could bear, even the silence, even not being able to speak with anyone, not being able to open my heart, not being able to share my feelings, my fears, my anxieties, or my longings." Immediately one knows this is no usual sort of faith.

REVIEW

In a separate essay, an inner-city minister, Gordon Cosby, explores the problem of evil — not as an abstract theological construct — but an ongoing nemesis in his work.

In the essay, "Spiritually and Community: Reflections on Evil and Grace," a fascinating dialogue between Reverend Cosby and Jim Wallis, Cosby cites the daily battle he must face. "Look at how it [evil] works in our communities," he writes, "in how we set the limits as to how much we are going to give of ourselves, or in how our darkness is triggered and can use our energy up in working through crises that come up again and again."

Such frankness reveals that being religious is not restricted to soaring leaps into the beatific realm and and union with the Divine. Belief also entails psychologically wrenching encounters with death, despair, degradation. But in this book subtitled, The Emergence of a Dramatic Renewal Movement in Today's Church, innocuous catechism becomes catalyst, piety becomes praxis. God is no longer dead.

In short, The Rise of Christian Conscience should not be read as much as contemplated. Even the staunchest secular humanist cannot fail to be moved by the reflections of human beings empowered by the promptings of the Spirit. When one grows tired or weary, here one encounters the resilient faith of those who have pushed on beyond their weariness and fatigue. While realists may mock their passion for social justice and peace, the idealist in us soars.

All that awaits is a world crying for redemption. The Judeo-Christian ethic as exemplified here, is finally, gloriously part of the solution.

Collegian photo by Dondi Abrara

A mobile made by Marla Sweeny, a BDIC senior, hangs in the window of her Northampton apartment.

A Christmas Present
from
The BodyShops!
KENNEDY 12 / JOHN ADAMS 19
& TOTMAN GYM
Sign up for Spring Semester
for only
$45.00
(A 10% SAVINGS!)
and receive a
Free Intersession Membership
(A $15.00 VALUE!!)
Come get Nautilus® Hydrafitness®
NordicTrack® Stairclimbers
Treadmills, Bikes, &
Unlimited Aerobics Classes
for less than $3.00/week!!
Sign Up Today
at any BODY SHOP Location!!
(OFFER EXPIRES 12/14/90)

MICHAEL'S
Billard Room and Sports Bar
Featuring Tonight:
Buffalo Bills at Houston
• Five 9ft championship tables
• You favorite sporting events on large screen TV's
• $1.00 drafts in cold mugs
• 25 cent hot dogs*
• Appetizer menu
• 18 & over welcome to play pool
• $1.25 Rolling Rock Bottles
• Tues & Wed free pool for players over 21 before 10:00 pm
Amherst's Newest & most exciting Billard Room and Sports Bar
Formerly Changes Nightclub 256-8284
Open Mon-Tues 5pm-1am Wed-Sat 12pm-1am
Proper I.D. Required
Proper ID required
MICHAEL'S
Rt. 9, Amherst
(Next to Human Garden Rest.)
Proper ID required

Espresso Coffee Brewer
35mm Camera Tripod
Garment
Slide Viewer
Child Educational Center

DON'T STAY HOME

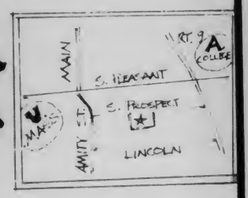
London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C R	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue
Council Travel

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY

53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385

Shop Registration # RS1212



- Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty
- State of art equipment for precision frame and unibody straightening (+ or - ½ mm)
- Over 90 years staff experience
- Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
- Advanced European Technology Painting and Refinishing Systems

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

SALE

MUNCHY SALE

59c Sweet Life Water 1 Gallon	Duncan Hines Cookies $1.29 12 oz
Chef Boyardee 99c Spaghetti Mini Ravioli Lasagna Befaroni Canneloni 15 oz reg $1.27	$1.99 Rice Krispies 10 oz
59c Marcal Paper Towels	Candy Sale Check Munchy Stores for Details
Pepperidge Farm Muffins $1.99 Asst Varieties	Film Developing Sale 12 exp $2.19 24 exp $4.29 Disc $3.19 36 exp $6.39 Single Print

Sale Prices valid Through 12/1/90

JAPAN EXCHANGE AND TEACHING PROGRAM (JET)

Is this you?

- expecting your bachelor's degree by May 1991?
- interested in working in international relations or teaching English in Japan for one year after graduation?

The JET program offers a salary, round trip airfare, housing location assistance and an orientation. Meet JET representatives, learn the details of the program, and get ready for the December 20 application deadline at a special Information Session. . .

WEDNESDAY
NOVEMBER 28
7:00 PM
MATHER CAREER CENTER

THE MATHER CAREER CENTER
Career Planning and Placement • Cooperative Education • Internships
Fraternity/Sorority Park - on the Orchard Hill bus route. (413)545-2224.
Where Careers Take Off!

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

Luckily, Eddie had stumbled upon a rare variety of deadly nightshade, the amicable Atropa belladonna congenialocus. (Later that same day, however, he blundered into some poison oak — a flat-out intolerant species.)

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

The Names We Give Boys
This is Sex our new dog
The Names We Give Themselves
I am known as Destroyer of Cats and Devourer of Chickens
I am Corporate Executive who owns 85 Acres of Prime Real Estate in Los Angeles, Sweepwater Barker of Forest Animals and Master of Down and Feather Rugs!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Wild party
5 Rascal
10 Taj Mahal site
14 Opening of a sort
15 Step of the desert
16 Ambush
17 So be it!
18 Stadium
19 Coop residents
20 Meadow
21 War god
22 Fashion
24 Endeavored
26 Recur persistently
27 Recompense
29 Prohibited
32 Yellow
33 Crowd number
34 Hurry
35 "I cannot tell
36 Plank
37 Verdi opera
38 Welcoming item
39 Cestode
40 Enroll
41 Star shaped
43 Main road: Var. one
44 Mansion
45 Scatter
46 Have be merciful
48 Makes fare
49 Success
52 Fail
53 Gladden
55 Roman statesman
56 Soap ingredient
57 Redbreast
58 Felled
59 Dispatch
60 Sane
61 Mexican money

DOWN
1 Orthodox bethstowe
2 Eternal city
3 Bird of the Florida Keys
4 Desire
5 Anagram for sacred
6 Was concerned
7 Iowa college town
8 People
9 Appeased
10 Greek goddess of wisdom
11 Moby Dick
12 Race
13 Church recess
21 Yorkshire river
23 Reign
25 Unusual
26 Harlem
27 Oath
28 Glory
29 Chicago airport
30 Duck
31 Darling
33 Cake
36 Braggarts
37 Stake
39 Disparaging remark
40 Sins
42 In the money
43 Be present at 45 Silk fabric
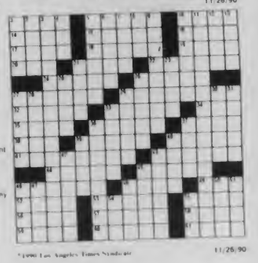
46 Woe is me!
47 Hubert
48 Forbidden
50 Inflammation Suffix
51 Fuss
54 Card game
55 TV's Buck

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

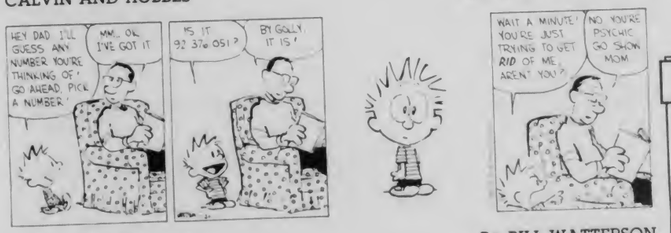
A	L	E	G		P	U	L	S	E		S	O	L	I
R	U	D	E		A	R	I	A	S		K	O	S
F	L	O	R	I	D	I	A	N	S		A	L	D	O
S	U	M	M	E	R	S		Q	U	E	T	R	A	I N
			A	R	I	E		Z	E	N	I	T	H
L	O	O	N	S		P	E	R		L	E	O	S
A	I	R	Y		A	S	A		D	U	D	M	A	N
I	L	E		A	X		L	A	L	A		A	D	O
R	E	G	A	L	E		O	U	T		S	N	I	T
	H	O	M	E		H	U	G		A	T	S	E	A
		M	E	R	V	E	S		O	L	I
S	K	I	R	T	S		T	E	A	C	H	E	S
A	L	A	I		N	E	B	R	A	S	K	A	N	S
B	A	N	C		T	Y	S	O	N		E	D	I	T
A	N	S	A		S	E	A	T	S		R	A	D	S

11/26/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/25/90

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



HEY DAD, I'LL GUESS ANY NUMBER YOU'RE THINKING OF. GO AHEAD, PICK A NUMBER.
MM... OK, I'VE GOT IT
IS IT 92,376,051?
BY GOLLY, IT IS!
WAIT A MINUTE! YOU'RE JUST TRYING TO GET RID OF ME, AREN'T YOU?
NO, YOU'RE PSYCHIC! GO SHOW MOM.

MENU

Sorry, menu not available today

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

DO YOU THINK TIGERS GO TO THE SAME HEAVEN THAT PEOPLE GO TO?
I MEAN, IN HEAVEN, EVERYONE IS SUPPOSED TO BE HAPPY RIGHT? BUT PEOPLE WOULDN'T BE HAPPY IF THEY WERE ALWAYS IN DANGER OF BEING EATEN BY TIGERS!
ON THE OTHER HAND, HEAVEN WOULDN'T BE VERY NICE WITHOUT TIGERS. EITHER I WOULDN'T BE HAPPY IF THERE WEREN'T ANY TIGERS OR I'D MISS THEM.
MAYBE TIGERS JUST DON'T EAT PEOPLE IN HEAVEN.
BUT THEN WE WOULDN'T BE HAPPY.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Important negotiations should be finalized today. Be alert to opportunities that increase your chances for business success. Your dedication to friends and family pays off.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to work harmoniously with those around you and everyone will profit. The financial picture is changing. You will soon see the light at the end of the tunnel. Travel is favored.
GEMINI (May 21-June 21) A mystifying situation continues to puzzle you. Improve your image by being more outgoing and cooperative. Share your knowledge with those less experienced. Avoid jumping to conclusions.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Intriguing developments occur at work. Walls through any new doors that open to you — a raise or promotion is possible. Greater tact is required when dealing with your romantic partner.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Pool your resources with your co-workers to improve the bottom line. Gifts and lessons have special significance now. You are interested in romance but lack the initiative to pursue it.
VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 22) Think things through and make your own decisions. Family members want to help but do not know what you expect of them. Love conquers all. Do not let outsiders influence you too much.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Let your coworkers know exactly how they can contribute to the overall success of a business you head to become organized when events move slower than you hoped. Stay on your toes.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Work goes well. Use any delays to your advantage. A good day to shop for household items. Bargains abound. Allow plenty of time if preparing a special family dinner. Mate appreciates your efforts.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Think about your priorities. You have a need for regular periods of solitude, which mate may not understand. Refuse to be pushed into making a hasty decision. Share your thoughts.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Independence is the key to business success today. Waiting for other people to act is foolish. Everything will run more smoothly if you become better organized.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Making detailed plans for the weeks ahead brings peace of mind. You feel that you have the answer to a young person's problem. Spend the evening with lighthearted friends.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) There is no sense in fretting over petty delays. Maintain a positive attitude. Business associates may act in a way that complicates your life. Unscramble the confusion.

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

HI, SHARON. IT'S BOOPSIE. SIT IN?
OH, HI, HON! I'M AFRAID YOU JUST MISSED HIM. HE'S ON HIS WAY HOME.
CAN YOU PATCH ME THROUGH TO THE CAR?
SORRY, HON. HE'S TIED UP ON HIS GROUP THERAPY CONFERENCE CALL.
HIS WHAT?
NO, MY MOTHER! I SAID MY MOTHER HATED ME! WE'RE LOSING THE CONNECTION AGAIN...

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor ..... Sam Aluminumstein
Copy Editor ..... Preston P. Foreplay
Anally retentive Layout Tech ..... Rick Seto
Photo Technician ..... Kimble in the Thimble
Production Supervisor ..... The Rickster
Typesetter ..... Quimble in the Thimble
Production Goddesses ..... Jennifer Arnold
Tania Ivany, K.A

The group that brought to you
SCHOOLHOUSE ROCK &
A CHORUS LINE
NOW PRESENTS

Sweet Charity

NOVEMBER 29, 30, & DECEMBER 1, 1990
at 8:00 pm in
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Tickets available NOW at the FAC Box Office
545-2511.

STUDENTS...

From Grammar to Graduate School

• GET BETTER GRADES • PASS EXAMS
With Hypnosis

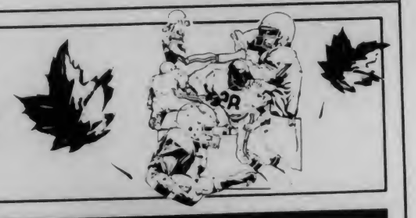
• Study without distractions
• Set your concentration

99% Success Rate

• Stop exam anxiety
• Recall what you study

CALL 737-5434 FOR MORE INFORMATION
CLAIRE E. TATRO
New England Ethical Hypnosis Institute
51 park Ave. 737-5434 West Springfield

UNIVERSITY STORE
ELECTRONICS DEPARTMENT
FALL SPORTS PACKAGE



Private listening music

Enjoy digital stereo anywhere with a portable CD Player. Listen with headphones, or connect to a pair of portable stereo amplified speakers, for great sound.

29.95

15.95

#42-5017 #40-1267 #33-2003

Package Price $205.85
Regular Price $245.85

Save $40 159.95 Reg. 199.95

AM/FM Stereo Headset Radio
STEREO-MATE* By Realistic

Lightweight for fun on-the-run

Now Only 21.95
Reg. 39.95

Just slip 'em on, tune 'em in and turn it up! FM-AFC for drift-free reception. Foam-padded headband and earcups. #12-125 Batteries extra Great for Joggers!

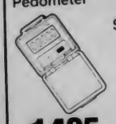
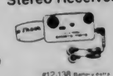
Pedometer



14.95

Makes it easy to monitor your exercise as you train your way to fitness! Extra large display shows steps taken. Wrist battery #63-831

Headband FM Stereo Receiver



#12-138 Batteries extra

24.95

Audibly indicates start, stop, lap and reset. Times to 9 hours, 59 minutes, 59 and 99/100 seconds. With battery, neck cord #63-5010

Professional LCD Quartz Stopwatch

Sale!

14.95

Reg. 19.95

Portable Stereo Cassette Player

Only 33.95

Sound entertainment for people on the go! Stylish player with FM stereo LED and separate left/right volume controls. Belt clip. #14-1072 Batteries, headphones extra

Add a pair of low cost ultralight stereo "earbuds." Rest in ears, weighs just 0.6 oz. # 33-977.

15.95

Voice-Actuated Micro Recorder
Micro-16
By Realistic

33.88

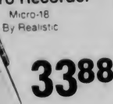
Hands-free recording! Auto-level. Two speeds. #14-1042
Batteries extra

BikeMate Bicycle Computer

24.95

Does more than track your mileage. It's a speedometer, clock, stopwatch and much more. #63-644

AM/FM Stereo Portable Radio
By Realistic®



29.95

You won't find a better portable for the money! Twin 3" speakers, balance control, switchable FM-AFC. Headphone jack. #12-722 Batteries extra

Handy Miniature Travel Alarm
By Micronta†

11.95

Quartz-controlled analog timekeeper has luminous hour and minute hands, sweep second hand. Only 2¼ x 2¼ x 1⅛". With carry pouch. #63-716
Battery extra

OPEN
M — F 9—5 LOCATED IN THE CAMPUS CENTER
SAT 10—3

UNIVERSITY STORE

■ football

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

entered the game as the top-rated offense in Division I-AA, finished with exactly 500 yards total offense.

"Hakel was as on as I've ever seen him. He was sharp," coach Jimmye Laycock said.

Game Notes: Thimas sprained an ankle and McGovern left the game in the fourth quarter with a sore right wrist, and was headed for x-rays. Otherwise, the Minutemen finished injury-free, much to Reid's relief. "Eastern Kentucky [UMass' last playoff appearance in 1988] ruined our 1989 season. We got four guys hurt and we never got them back," Reid said...If there can be such a thing as a Colonial football stadium, Zable Stadium is it. More than 7,000 fans paid their way into the brick and bluegrass arena Saturday.

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS JUICE LABEL?

IF SO, THEN ASK FOR IT IN THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Tea with Company values your opinion

RÉSUMÉS
CopyCat Print Shop
• Great Service • Great Prices
228 Triangle St./Amherst 549-3840

Interviews will be given by Captain Powell Wednesday, December 5th.
Sign up for interviews in the Career Center or call 1-800-255-USMC.

GOLD RING SALE
SAVE UP TO $100!

$100 off 18K, $50 off 14K, $25 off 10K

Order your college ring NOW.
JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RINGS

Dates: November 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, Deposit required: $25.00
at the University Store, Mon-Fri
Meet with your Jostens representative for full details
See our complete ring selection on display in your college bookstore

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE--CC 113 MON--THURS 8:30-3:30 FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ADVERTISE!!

IF YOU HAVE A BUSINESS CARD and you want a cheap way to advertise your small business, call the Collegian. It's perfect for student organizations and entrepreneurs as well. Runs every Monday. Cost: $20. Call the Collegian at 545-3500

ACTIVITIES

25 + CLUB Social/General Meeting Thursday, 7PM, 11/29. Discuss activities, socialize. Info call Randy 546-2183 $1 contribution requested

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING Tonight 7:00PM 801CC More info call Alex 6-5993 Mandatory meeting for Harvard Topic: Iraqi Hostages

MORTAR BOARD General meeting tomorrow night (Tues. Nov 27) at 7:00 in room 108 SBA. All are urged to attend

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR! Don't miss it! Feb 14 1991

WE CAN SHOW YOU a good time! The UMass music theatre guild presents Sweet Charity November 29, 30 and December 1 8PM in Bowker Auditorium

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week. Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

OPEN THE DOOR to an exciting and challenging career. Let CIGNA Corporation show you how as we discuss Actuarial career opportunities To learn more about this challenging field, plan to attend a meeting at which actuaries will discuss career opportunities at CIGNA. Members of all classes are welcome. Limited summer intern and full-time positions in both Connecticut and Philadelphia are available. Pizza & refreshments will be served. Dress is casual
Date: November 26, 1990
Time: 7:00-9:00PM
Place: Mather Career Center

RESEARCHER SEEKS to interview adult children of a parent with schizophrenia or other serious mental illness. Confidentiality assured. Call Bonnie Dunn (413)253-7915

YO! THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS are going to vote tonight on our spring show. Come and vote, everyone's welcome. Starts at 7PM

AUTO FOR SALE

1984 TOYOTA CAMRY, 87000 miles, 4 door, 5 speed, AC, AM/FM cassette, new muffler/tires, reliable, good condition, $3500. Call 546-8821/546-7384, leave message

ENTERING MARINE CORPS- joining desert shield/ Must sell 84 Chev Cavalier Red Auto AM/FM good condition $1500/best/ Mike @ 7296

PURCHASING A USED CAR? Having your car repaired? Do you know your rights? Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995

ENTERTAINMENT

COME ON DOWN to Monolith for some ranked monoskiing with Pieke and Mapplethorpe. See leaping Lloyd Thorstad for details.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM IN PRESIDENTIAL available 22 Dec Call 549-5977

2 BEDROOM N. AMHERST apt available Jan 1st to May option to renew lease Free heat 549-0383 Call now!

APARTMENT AT COLONIAL VILLAGE $400 avail 12 1st 90 call 253-5236

BEDROOM Sunderland Center Busline quiet spacious $200 549-0733.

FOR RENT across from Putters Pond Amherst 2 bdrm 450 + elec 549-7564

GREAT SINGLE ROOM in Amherst available Jan-May, on bus route $275

NORTHAMPTON CENTER 1 bedroom apartment must rent. On main St. High ceiling and windows with southern exposure Wooden floors Comfortable for couple Please call 586-2986 and leave message

ONE BEDROOM APT Amherst center/ Quiet 256-1681 Matt/Kathleen Available Jan 1

ROOM IN FAMILY HOME, in Florence No smoking/pets $200/month Call 586-7766 after 3:30PM

SINGLE ROOM IN APARTMENT Center of Northampton 2 minutes to bus $185 Available Jan 1 Call Lisa 585-8745

SINGLE ROOM IN HOUSE. $148/month & on bus rt Call 253-9651

FOUND

BIKE between Brandywine and Pulton apartment complexes Found weekend of Nov 9 Call 549-0796 to identify EARRING- mainly black enamel w/colored flowers. Also little metal balls Call 584-2925, ask for Tom

FOUND KEY in parking lot behind Tobin on Mon Nov 19th. To claim, call Cheryl at 665-3536

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext B281

EARN MONEY AT HOME with your personal computer. Over a dozen proven money making methods to get you started now! Amazing recorded message. Call 24hrs 612-220-3078 Ext A01

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9618.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach-It

WANTED: Entrepreneurs looking to make $10,000 next summer operating their own franchises of college pro painters information session Wednesday, November 28th at 4PM in the Campus Center- room 801 Call 1-800-346-4649 for more info

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS!

DO YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about your rights? Do you think your civil rights have been violated? Find out! Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center 545-1995

LOST

GOLD HOOP EARRING
Between Melville/Coolidge
Thursday Nov 8
Call 6-3755 $Reward

MY WHITE SILK SCARF on Campus 11/15 between SBA and Marcus. If found please call 6-0439

WATCH, red band, on golf field. If found please call 546-4645

PERSONALS

AMY HAPPY 18!
You found a way to my heart
Thanks for everything
You are a totally excellent babe
Partyon, Esse,
PS Thanks Guido

A Swimmer:
I'd need a cutoff after my workout.
Let's take the Dive
Number 40

CMM
How do I love thee
Let me count the ways
Happy 1yr I Love You!
MMR

DD- An acct 221 Brunette who was in the SOM library on Thurs 11/8 by the copier wants to know was it me?

GINA FRYLING OF AXO Happy B Day! Enjoy your new freedom! Love, you little sis Adrienne

HAPPY 20 BIRTHDAY!! Keep your chin up and keep laughing! Love you lots! Kim

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TONI
Sorry I was such a jerk
Pisces

 MICHELLE V ******
Hey, it's sis welcome to the PIG family. Hope we can make the end of the semester even better than the first part Congrats!
Love, Your Big Sis

LOLLIPOP
We knew you were good but not that good
T W B & J P

T.W.B.,
Our expectations were definately met (You've fully earned your goddess title.)
J.P. & Lollipop

J.P.,
Oooh baby, only if you would accent it with tight jeans
Lollipop & T.W.B.

MICHELLE MORRISON!
Happy Birthday, Goofy
I know it's late, but what did you expect
Love, Pat

WENDY
Por fin 21! Feliz cumpleanos y dia del pavo. New orleans suena bien, pero mejor suena Montreal. Despues del pavo nos vamos de Barra en Barra
Love, your favorite roomie
Nadie

ROOMMATES WANTED

2 ROOMS FOR RENT in house. Take over first week in Jan. 262/month plus utilities. On bus route. Large room may be used as double (rent negot) Call 256-8979

FEMALE NONSMOKER wanted to share room 549-0038 for December !

FEMALE ROOMMATE WANTED for Jan 1st - $187.50 heat included. Call Leah or Anne 549-4259

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

LEGAL QUESTIONS? The Legal Services Center offers free legal assistance to fee-paying students. Contact us at 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-5010

PROFESSIONAL PAPERS, INC.
Computerized research library! All subjects, levels & topics. Call 4 research info. MC/Visa Amex 1-800-447-2431 10835 Santa Monica Blvd. (-201) W. Los Angeles, CA 90025

TRAVEL

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $489!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30! TRAVEL WITH THE BEST! 1-800-426-7710

TYPING

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORD PROCESSING 323-4579

TYPING/WORD PROCESSING Service 665-8770

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS, Resumes, Theses. Graphics. Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

SPORTS

William and Mary finishes Minutemen

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — For nine weeks the University of Massachusetts football team marched the length of its schedule without a loss.

Then, on the goal line of the season, the drive stalled.

The Minutemen (8-2-1) were denied an undefeated record by New Hampshire 36-18 last week, and knocked out of the Division I-AA playoffs in the first round Saturday by William and Mary, 38-0.

"I definitely have positive thoughts looking back on this season. We were Yankee Conference champions - nobody did better in the Yankee Conference then us," junior safety Vaughn Williams said after Saturday's game. "But we felt we were good, and just to go in the first round really hurts."

Coach Jim Reid said "it hurts real bad right now, as it should if you're a competitor. You have to take some time before it starts to dawn on you what you accomplished. . . I was disappointed because I didn't think they were 38 points better than us.

"I told the team after the game that I pray nobody ever forgets the hard work and the pain and the toughness and the preparation and the commitment it took to get us here, to the dance...The only thing lousy about the playoffs is that of 16 teams, 15 of them end the season with a loss."

The Tribe (10-2) will play at Central Florida Saturday in the Championship's second round.

As the end of the season went for UMass, so did Saturday's game. Twice in the first half the Tribe stuffed the Minutemen on the goal line.

UMass' second drive of the game was a 17-play, 65-yard, eight-minute beauty. Freshman quarterback Dave McGovern shed a blitz to convert a third-and-six pass to Ron Blauvelt near midfield, and fullback David Mitchell twice churned for first downs on third-and-short.

But in four shots at the end zone from the William and Mary 1, UMass came up empty. John Johnson rushed for four yards, Mitchell was hit for no gain on consecutive plays, and Marco Gabrielli's 14-yard field goal try was blocked by Rich Allaway.

After William and Mary reserve tailback Alan Williams (3 TDs rushing and 1 receiving) high-stepped into the end zone from 7 yards out to put the Tribe up 7-0 early in the second quarter, UMass bounced right back.

The Minutemen rode freshman tailback Eric Thimas (17 carries, 64 yards) for half of a 66-yard drive to the William and Mary 6-yard line. On fourth-and-one from the 6, however, Mitchell was stopped again, this time by junior tackle Mark Tyler (11 tackles).

On the next play from scrimmage, William and Mary quarterback Chris Hakel (20 of 27, 311 yards and 1 TD) hit flanker Mark Compher for 72 demoralizing yards along the left sideline, to the UMass 22. Williams danced in from 3 yards out three plays later to give the Tribe a 14-0 lead.

"That was a giant momentum builder from the standpoint of the William and Mary defense," Reid said. "They came up with big plays defensively that kept us out of the end zone and didn't give us an opportunity to gain any momentum."

"That's been happening to us all year. All week in meetings we talked about finishing drives," Thimas said. "It really discouraged us a lot. If we could have kept ourselves in the game with the first two drives, it would have been a game all the way to the end."

A late field goal sent the Tribe to the locker room at halftime up 17-0, from which point, in Reid's words, "the roof caved in...their skill took over and we just couldn't run with them."

William and Mary blew UMass out in the second half, scoring on drives of 89, 50, and 68 yards. The Tribe, which

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

This is the year for McCusker to shine

Senior forward ready to assume responsibilities as captain

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

There's no doubting it — this is the year for Keyburn McCusker to come to the forefront and lead the University of Massacusetts women's basketball team.

She is her team's leading returnee in most statistical catagories, including points per game (10.8), rebounds (6.6) and free throw percentage (.734). She is team captain and lone senior on a team comprised mostly of underclassmen.

"This is Keyburn's year to shine," said third-year coach Kathy Hewelt. "I think this year you'll she'll be seeing her do things she hasn't done for us."

McCusker, a 6-foot-2 center from Pittsfield, is enthused about leading the Minutewomen on and off the floor of Curry Hiks Cage.

"My role this year is that of a go-to person, which I like better," she said with a smile. "I'd like to see us win some games and get our younger players off on the right foot."

In her first three years at UMass, McCusker has seen time in every game and started all but three game since her sophomore year.

Yet McCusker was never the team's focal point on offense because she had teammates like Helen Freemen, Sue Sarafini and Michele Pytko who combined for 953 points last year — half of UMass' total. The 6-foot-4 Freeman led the team in nearly every area last year, partially by design, McCusker explained.

"In our 'high-low' offense, I was in the high post and Helen was in the low post. It was my job to get her the ball."

McCusker has now taken Freemen's place in the low post, a role she hasn't seen regularly since leading Pittsfield High to a 21-2, state runner-up season her senior year.

As evidenced in UMass' exhibition game against Ruzomborek (from Chechoslovakia), she can burn defenses with a variety of low-post scoring moves. She scored 18 of her game-high 22 points in the second half, either driving to the basket or hitting short jumpers.

With the loss of Freeman, Sarafini, Pytko and Lisa Hair to graduation, McCusker has aquired the leadership role as well.

"She's a true captain, a real leader on and off the court," said sophomore forward Lisa Ireland.

"Keyburn's a natural-born leader, someone that we look to," added junior guard Tricia Riley.

Keyburn McCusker

That exhibition game demonstrated just how intent McCusker is on being a leader for UMass. In the first half, the Minutewomen looked nervous and a bit rusty.

"At halftime Coach told me, 'Keyburn you're trying too hard. You're posting up too hard.' I'd never been told that I was trying too hard before," McCusker explained. "She told me to just relax."

As a sports management major, McCusker holds a 3.0 grade point average and is happy with what UMass has done for her.

"I was recruited by every state university in New England, by Syracuse and James Madison," she recalled. "I love it here. I couldn't picture me anywhere else."

McCusker was named to the Atlantic 10 All-Rookie team her freshman year. Her career high include 23 points against St Joe's last year and 13 rebounds versus Vermont her sophomore year.

As the focal point in UMass' half-court offense and the team's leading returning rebounder, McCusker's career numbers are likely to improve. As the season opened, she had 801 career points, putting the 1,000 career point mark within reach. Last year she scored 313 points, second only to Freeman.

McCusker, too, has goals for the season.

"I'd like to see us play with composure and win some games," she said. "It's gonna be tough. Being smaller than other teams could be a big problem, but what we do have to do is play bigger than we are. If we concentrate, play good defense and box out well, we'll be able to stay with the rest of the league."

Vermont, 82-61

Vermont (82)
Turnbull 7-6-20; Niebling 7-1-15; Marsland 4-3-11; Marra 1-0-2; Kelsen 8-0-16; Desmaris 0-2-2; McCarthy 3-0-6; Conry 2-0-4; Blue 1-2-4; Wright 0-2-2. Totals 33-16-82.
Massachusetts (61)
McCusker 5-6-16; Hessel 4-4-14; Muza 1-1-10; Nevarez 2-0-4; Schusler 0-2-2; Kristofik 2-3-7; Riley 2-1-5; Moran 2-6-10; Ireland 0-0-0; Valentine 0-0-0. Totals 18-23-61.
Halftime Vermont, 48-34
Fouled out Kristofik
Three-point goals Massachusetts: Hessel(2).

UNLV players don signature attitude

Some people never learn.

Nevada-Las Vegas' Stacey Augmon and Larry Johnson graced the cover of Sports Illustrated last week donning designer clothes and looking rather dapper. However, there seems to be a fly somewhere in that Rebel-ious ointment. The photographer and stylist for the cover were identified. So were Hugo Boss, Gucci, Emporio Armani and Anne Klein — the designers-manufacturers who clothe these impressive athletes.

I'll be the first to agree that Italian suits are far superior to American, but they do tend to be a bit more pricey. Far be it from me to assume that college athletes can't afford designer clothes but it does make you wonder where the money's coming from.

It's an NCAA violation for any active college athlete to endorse a product — go figure.

Unfortunately, for the basketball purist, college hoop has become a seller's market. Coaches sell their programs to recruits, schools sell airtime to radio and TV, athletes sell their souls to boosters in return for coke, sex, a car. . . .

Adrienne Matt

The surprising thing about Augmon and Johnson is that they stayed at violation-ridden UNLV even after the NCAA decided to ban the Rebels from postseason play this season, rendering them ineligible to defend their own title.

They call it loyalty. I call it foolish. They could be in the NBA where the real money is, or should I say the 'cleaner' money.

Perhaps Johnson and Augmon fear leaving Nevada. Their endorsements would become legal and they would have to pay taxes for what they recieve from the likes of Ralph Lauren, Geoffrey Beene and Hart, Schaffner & Marx. Afterall, the pay in the NBA may not be as handsome.

After the July decision, the NCAA Infractions Committee was charmed by head coach Jerry Tarkanian's plea bargain attempt. He would relenquish his courtside seat if only his Rebels were allowed to play without him. The crocodile tears were pouring, can I tell you?

Augmon said, "Coach don't coach, I don't play."

He was Prop. 48 when he arrived at Vegas in '86 — I'll leave his academics at that. Career-wise, Augmon was played sparingly by Olympic coach John Thompson. He returned from Seoul sans bronze medal.

"The medal? I just misplaced it, that's all."

Something else he misplaced was his attitude. Last month UNLV student Angela Dortch alleged he slapped and choked her and filed a battery complaint against him. In court she told those present he said, "You know who I am? I own this town. I can kill you and get away with it."

He ended up with a 90-day cooling off period, which ends in January. My guess is that the judge holds season tickets and antes-up for a pool every week.

Augmon was also involved in a few grazings with point-shavings involving Loyola-Marymount and Ball State. He was also one of eight team members who sat out for a one-game suspension to pay his dues for leaving unpaid 'extras' bills at several hotels.

And the smut keeps rearing up.

Last year the Las Vegas Review-Journal published an article detailing the vehicles driven by UNLV players. Augmon drove a 1988 Ford Mustang GT, Johnson a 1989 Nissan 300ZX.

And we thought they'd go to Italy to play, how silly of us. Actually, following the NCAA's decision, pro teams in Italy and Spain offered them millions.

Must have been that loyalty thing again.

However, Johnson didn't show any loyalty to his home state. Poor reading skills and low (as well as questionable) SAT scores prompted him to attended a junior college in Odessa before attending UNLV. Odessa is that area of Texas where nothing but high school football matters. It's a pretty sick township, a pretty sick concept when you consider some of these high school athletes get more preferential treatment than most college athletes.

Anyway, it's a wonder he came out of that vacuum alive. The Dallas public school system is vacuous enough, but to try to get a higher education in Texas is like pulling teeth.

I guess I just can't get over the fact that these good-looking, well-groomed guys are college athletes. Perhaps I'm being an idealistic fool in believing there is such a creature as a student-athlete. I just hope someone beside Reggie Ho can convince me.

By the way, if anyone knows where this guy disappeared to, let me know. I'd like to hear a success-after-college-athletics story.

Adrienne Matt is a Collegian staff member

BASKETBALL PREVIEW 1990 1991

Men's hoop faces high expectations

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

First things first: The University of Massachusetts basketball team will kick off its season tonight at Big Ten Purdue at 8 p.m. The game will be broadcast on WMUA 91.1 FM.

Never mind that the Boilermakers graduated three starters, including Big Ten Player-of-the-Year Steve Scheffler, from last year's NCAA team, said UMass coach John Calipari.

"Still, it's Purdue. It's probably a way of getting smashed, going out and getting our heads knocked off, and finding out where we are. But I'd rather do that than what we did against Lowell last year, where we came in thinking we were 25-win team and we got smacked."

The Boilermakers are showing signs of being beatable, however. Guard Woody Austin and forward Chuckie White are coach Gene Keady's two returning starters, and in Saturday's season opener Purdue was upended by Stetson 58-56 on a last-second three-pointer.

The game will be a homecoming for sophomore Tony Barbee, who played at North Central (Ind.) high school, 45 minutes from Mackey Arena in West Lafayette.

Win or lose tonight, the Mintutemen face the 1990-91 season with everyone but guard Cary Herer back from last year's 17-14, NIT team and hopes are high. Real high.

The Sporting News pegged UMass to finish third in the Atlantic 10. Street and Smith's and Basketball Digest predict a second place finish. Basketball Weekly magazine picks the Minutemen to finish second in the A-10 behind Temple, land the No. 12 seed in the NCAAs and play Southern Mississippi in the West Regional.

"People forget," Calipari said holding up a stack of magazines. "We finished sixth last year...The coaches picked us fifth, the crazy people picked us second. If we did finish second we'd be overachieving. We're probably the most overrated team in the country."

There have been some glitches. Recruits Mike Williams, Ted Cottrel and Jerome Johnson were sidelined by academics over the summer. Injuries to first team All-Atlantic 10 selection Jim McCoy (virus), A-10 All-Freshmen teammates Harper Williams (knee) and Tony Barbee (hip and foot) and guard Anton Brown (back) have pressed the assistant coaches onto the floor in practice this fall.

McCoy, who was fed intraveneously at his lowest point less than a month ago, has ruturned but can play full speed for only 20-25 minutes a game, according to Calipari.

Otherwise, the UMass team that won five straight at the end of last season before falling to Temple 53-51 in the Atlantic 10 Championship game and Maryland 91-81 in the NIT, is back.

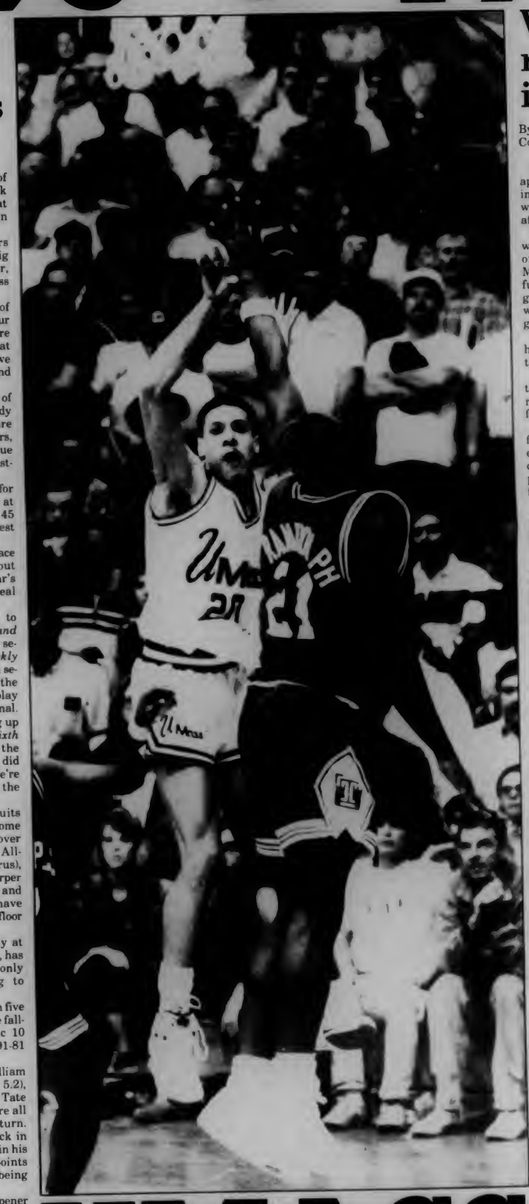
McCoy (20.7 ppg, 3.3 rpg), leaper William Herndon (15.5, 7.5), Williams (8.7, 5.2), Barbee (11.4, 4.9), and seniors John Tate (5.2, 5.4) and Rafer Giles (7.8, 1.3) were all key contributors last year, and all return.

Brown, a junior point guard, is back in several. Brown started at point guard in his freshman year and averaged 12.9 points and 3.7 points a game on his way to being an A-10 All-Freshman Team pick.

A fractured kneecap in last year's opener sidelined Brown until late in the season, however. And when he did return, the extra pounds he added while on crutches hurt him.

Brown is in solid 6-foot-2, 175-pound

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4



UMASS

Women's roundball in transition

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

Transition. In everyday terms, this word applies to a change in place or state of being. In basketball language, transition is what happens when a team scores quickly after regaining possesion of the ball.

For the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team, both meanings of the word transition apply. The Minutewomen have undergone a major infusion of new players, replacing four graduated starters with a seven freshmen, whom coach Kathy Hewelt called "a very good recruiting class."

Transition is also the style of play Hewelt hopes to see from her young team. She said they will press and run.

The Minutewomen are short compared to the rest of the Atlantic 10 Conference, prompting Hewelt to adopt a pressure defense, fast-break offense game plan.

"We'll pick up full-court and play some full-court man-to-man [defense]," explained Hewelt. "Our full-court game will be crucial — if we let many teams set up and pick us apart, we could create some grief for ourselves."

These changes come after a 5-24 overall, 1-17 A-10 1989-90 season in which, junior guard Tricia Riley described as, 'a bad year from the beginning.'

UMass lost both Riley and sophomore Jenny Moran to injury for most of the season. Seven losses were decided by six points or less. At one point, the Minutewomen had lost nine straight games. By season's end, only seven players remained on a squad decimated by injury.

Hewelt is hoping for better days this season.

"We're being realistic," she said. "Our goal is to get out of the bottom of the conference and into the middle of the pack. It's a realistic, positive, reachable goal."

Senior center Keyburn McCusker is the team's leading returnee in scoring and rebounding, and the only senior on the squad. Hewelt said this is Keyburn's year to shine. "I think you'll see her do things she hasn't done this year."

McCusker, at 6-foot-2 the team's tallest player, will serve as team captain as well as the main threat in UMass' half-court offense.

Complementing McCusker in the front-court are sophomores Kim Kristofik, Lisa Ireland and junior Jenny Moran. Kristofik, who saw the most playing time of the three last season, will be counted on to contribute both inside and outside from her small forward position this season. The 6-foot-1 Morris, a New York native, said that Hewelt would like to see her hit her outside jumpers, look for people inside, and hustle on defense.

Ireland, a 5-foot-10 power forward, played in 21 games last year. While Ireland expresed concern about facing taller opposition, she was also pragmatic about it.

"I've always been small for my position," she said. "It will be a challenge, but if we use our quickness and ball movement, it shouldn't be a problem."

Moran, who was out most of last year with a bad foot, is happy to return. She appeared in 22 games as a fresh man, scoring 55 points and hauling down 40 rebounds in limited time.

"It's nice to put the uniform on again," said Moran, who will swing between forward and guard this season.

The big question in the backcourt is 'When will Tricia Riley be back?' Riley, who was hurt most of last year, is still recovering from her injury. Hewelt indicated that Riley would play "ten to

CONTINUED ON PAGE

Rutgers and Penn State the teams to beat in women's hoop

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

Rutgers and Penn State, Penn State and Rutgers. Who will finish first?

Will the defending champion Lady Lions (25-7 last year) fend off the Lady Knights (20-10), or will Rutgers soar to the top and recapture the formula that earned them two straight Atlantic 10 championships from 1986-1988?

PENN STATE (No. 18 in the Associated Press top 25 pre-season poll) returns all five starters from last year's championship team.

Junior forward and All-Conference performer Susan Robinson the team's leading scorer (19.8 points per game) and rebounder (9.4) heads a tough Lady Lion team blessed with speed, talent and experience.

Shooting guard Tanya Garner (14.7) and center Kathy Phillips (10.4 ppg, 6.8 rebounds per game) complement Robinson extremely well. Garner provides the Lady Lions with a much-needed outside scorer, and Phillips is a hard worker in the paint.

Penn State's experience makes them the early favorite to win the A-10 over Rutgers.

"Our goal is to continue the excellence at Penn State, and to win the title again," said Penn State coach Rene Portland.

RUTGERS (No. 20) returns 10 players, four of which were starters from last year's NCAA Tournament Team.

Senior Vicky Picott who averaged 17 points per game last season, and junior Tanya Hansen (14.5 ppg) are the catalysts of a strong Rutgers club.

Add returning starters LaTonya Johnson and Lynn Ust, and throw in 5-foot-10 freshman Makeda Green (34.2 ppg, 15 rpg) and the Lady Knights could emerge as the team to beat in the A-10 before too long.

ST. JOSEPH'S suffered the greatest loss of all the A-10 teams due to the graduation of the Player-of-the-Year in the A-10, Dale Hodges. Hodges' 27.6 ppg and 12 rpg will be missed.

How the Hawks react to Hodges departure will be interesting to see. Seniors Wendy Brink (7.9 ppg) and Rita Balaban (5.8 ppg) will be asked to shoulder a heavy load.

Help may come from several of the six newcomers, mainly freshman center Val Johnson (21 ppg, 12 rpg) and forward Audrey Codner (18 ppg, 15 rpg).

With Hodges, the Hawks were 24-7, without her, 16 wins may be asking for too much.

"Traditionally we've had finesse, now we need to put those big bodies to some use," said St. Joseph's coach Jim Foster.

WEST VIRGINIA may be the surprise team in the A-10 this year. The Mountaineers return four starters including junior forward Donna Abbott, the team's leading scorer (17.3 ppg) and rebounder (9.6 rpg).

First team All-Conference selection Rosemary Kosiorek (15.1 ppg) provides West Virginia with the leadership at point guard necessary to compete for an A-10 championship.

If the addition of red-shirt freshman Selese Neal (30 ppg, 16 rpg in high school) turns out to be what the Mountaineers expect, West Virginia could be a sleeper to catch Penn State and Rutgers.

"This is gonna be a fun year, an exciting year, the returning players are strong, and the sophomores are looking better," said West Virginia coach Kittie Blakemore.

The TEMPLE Owls have earned the respect of the coaches throughout the A-10. The Owls were 16-15 last year, but lost Kelly Lane and Rhonda Bates (a combined 33 points per game) to graduation.

Senior Kelly Wickes (10.1 ppg) is the only Owl returning who averaged double-figures in points. How far Temple goes will depend on who of the returning 12 players step forward, since the Owls have no newcomers.

GEORGE WASHINGTON also lost its top scorer Karin Vadelund (17.2 ppg) to graduation. However, the Colonials return four starters which include Jennifer Shasky, last year's A-10 Rookie-of-the-Year. Shasky shot better than 40 percent from three-point range.

Jackie Nikzad, a transfer from Santa Monica College who netted 17 points and grabbed eight rebounds per game, should help the Colonials to fill the shoes of Vadelund.

"This year we have new players and a lot of depth," said George Washington coach Joe McKeown. "We want to take it to the next level this year."

RHODE ISLAND lost four players to graduation from its 4-24 squad from a year ago, but none of which were starters.

Junior guard Mary Malone led the team in scoring (13.3 ppg). The Rams strength lies in their balanced scoring attack which features four starters who each averaged between eight and nine points per game.

Susan Robinson

"We don't want to be twice as good as last year, we want to be ten times as good," said Rhode Island coach Linda Ziemke.

ST. BONAVENTURE is loaded with potential, thanks to the return of Sue Shay (18.6 ppg, 9.6 rpg), Roni Hergenroeder (11.7 ppg) and Beth Gromlowicz (11 ppg).

The Lady Bonnies are hoping to improve on their disappointing 12-16 finish of a year ago, something that should not be too difficult looking at some of the competition in this league.

MASSACHUSETTS lost four of its five starters from a year ago, something that could be a good omen looking at UMass' 1988-89, 5-24 record.

The Minutewomen are in the midst of a major transition period. Keyburn McCusker (10.8 ppg, 6.6 rpg) is the team's best player, but she will need help from her teammates if the Minutewomen hope to avoid the A-10 cellar.

DUQUESNE, 6-22 last season, also hopes to avoid the basement, but they too are in the process of rebuilding their program. Coach Renee Devarney has added speed, talent and depth to her young squad.

The Duchesses have nine newcomers to their program, the most notable of which is Maude Searcy who averaged 36 points per game last season. Freshman Kris Sebastian (33.4) should also provide immediate help.

ATLANTIC 10 NOTES: For the first time, the A-10 will have a women's game televised on ESPN. The game between St. Joseph's and Rutgers will be played on Monday, Feb. 25, to be broadcast Wednesday, Feb. 27 at 1:30 p.m.

Sue Shay | Kelly Wickes | Rosemary Kosiorek | Vicki Picott

New
The 1991 MCAT
Be Prepared.
Kaplan Is.

Free
Information
Seminar

Date: November 28
Time: 7:00 pm

For more information
or to RSVP:
Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center
358 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
549-5780

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

湘園
PANDA EAST
CHINESE
RESTAURANT
We bring Chinatown to you
Open Hours: Mon-Thurs. 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri. & Sat. 11:30am-11:00pm
Sunday 2:00pm-10:00pm
Lunch Hours: Mon.-Sat. 11:30am-3:00pm
103 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-8923 (413) 256-8924

DELANO'S
57 North Pleasant Street 253-5141
Proper Identification a Must
Good Luck
UMASS Basketball!
Come celebrate with us
after the game...
Beer of the Month
Becks $1.75
Drink of the Week
Tanqueray Gin and Tonic $1.75

Everyone's chasing Temple, but the Owls are stacked

From the four Atlantic 10 teams that played in postseason tournaments last year — Temple, Rutgers, Penn State and Massachusetts — 18 of 20 starters return. Overall 40 of 50 starters in the conference are back. Could there be any better sign that, despite the coming defection of Penn State to the Big Ten, the Atlantic 10 is in good shape?

Well, how about this: 12 Atlantic 10 games will be on national TV this winter, including seven on ESPN and one each on ABC, NBC and CBS.

In the predicted order of finish voted by the league coaches and media, here's a quick look around...

TEMPLE: What were those of us who tuned into last week's Temple-Iowa Big Apple NIT game on national TV supposed to think?

Owl center Donald Hodge, slimmed down at 235 pounds, scored at will before fouling out. Guard Vic Carstarphen shot brilliantly from three-point land and danced alone through Iowa's dreaded press for several easy baskets. Sinewy forward Mark Strickland spent much of the night on the floor after loose balls. . . And Mark Macon was invisible. Final: 73-71 Iowa.

Temple has won the Atlantic 10 five times and appeared in seven NCAA tournaments under John Chaney. From last year's 20-10 team, the Owls return five starters: All-America candidate Macon (21.9 ppg, 6.0 rebounds), seven-foot Hodge (15.1, 8.2), Strickland, Michael Harden and Mik Kilgore. Two newcomers will contribute immediately: Carstarphen, a sophomore guard who sat out last season after transferring to Temple from Cinncinnati, and beefy freshman Jonathan Haynes.

But, as Iowa proved, Temple is not invincible. Macon's shooting percentage has slipped steadily, from 45 to 39 percent, since his sensational freshman year. Team chemistry is also a factor: Carstarphen will likely play Harden out of his starting job by Christmas, a fact that Harden, a senior, sounded unwilling to face in preseason.

"I don't feel any pressure," Harden said. "I've been there for a while, so there are things that are coming to me. Coach [Chaney] knows where I stand."

But we're nitpicking. Temple is loaded as ever, slimmed down here and bulked up there as needed, and is the team to beat.

Mark Macon

RUTGERS: Though the Scarlet Knights come closest to Temple in terms of raw talent, chemistry dominates any discussion of Rutgers' potential this season. At 18-17, the Scarlet Knights slipped from the NCAAs to the NIT last season — Bob Wenzel's second as head coach — and team karma was a big reason.

"We're a more cohesive group, we're friends," said senior forward Keith Hughes, Rutgers' best returning player at 18.5 points and 8.2 rebounds a game. "The chemistry is starting to click earlier than last year."

Wenzel takes a different approach: "Chemistry is sort of a catch-all phrase that doesn't really have a lot of meaning."

Now that Hughes and fellow Syracuse transfer Earl Duncan (13.8 ppg, 3.7 assists per game) have settled in, Rutgers will again have to adjust to some new faces, including 6-foot-9 Virginia transfer Brent Dabbs and Tom Savage, a 6-foot-5 forward who tore up the A-10 tournament in 1989 but missed most of last season due to academics.

WEST VIRGINIA: The Mountaineers are going with a major youth movement earlier than expected. Two of four starters scheduled to return from last year's 16-12 team are gone; junior guard Tracy Shelton has a broken bone in his non-shooting hand that has yet to heal, and center Junior Robinson has been sidelined by academics. Chris Robinson and Charles Becton return.

But the youth is good. Six newcomers will play for coach Gale Catlett, including two former West Virginia high school Players of the Year; guard Mike Boyd and forward P.G. Green. The other rookies in the Mountaineers' stable, Marsalis Baley, Lawrence Pollard, Ricky Robinson and Phil Wilson, are athletic (Baley was a 15th round draft pick of the Houston Astros), and Catlett has promised to adapt.

"We're going to put a little pressure on people, and push the ball up the floor after made baskets. We're not a big, strong club, so we're going to use our athletes more and see if we can't get a few easier shots than setting up and trying to pound the ball inside," Catlett said.

A key could be Brooks, who has battled to lose weight since coming to West Virginia from Oak Hill (Va.) Academy as one of the most sought-after high schoolers in the nation.

PENN STATE: The realignment chaos that has jilted several conferences in the country hit the Atlantic 10 last season in the form of Penn State. This is the final year in the A-10 for the Nittany Lions, who will spend a couple seasons in limbo before joining the Big Ten in 1993.

How will the off-court adjustments affect Penn State? If last season is any hint, their farewell may not be so fond.

"Last year the Big 10 announcement came out right in the middle of December, and we hit a little bit of a dip," coach Bruce Parkhill said. "We lost four out of six in that stretch...it's been a distraction for me."

Penn State, however, has the personnel to go out with a bang. Gone from last year's 25-9, NIT Final Four club is first team All-Atlantic 10 selection Ed Fogell. But four starters return, including the league's best returning backcourt in seniors Freddie Barnes and Monroe Brown. Penn State is 41-15 since Barnes and Brown started together in the ninth game of their freshman season.

Senior James Barnes (11.5 ppg, 6.7 rebounds) and A-10 Freshman of the Year DeRon Hayes (9.6, 5.2) are the other two returning starters from last year.

MASSACHUSETTS: See accompanying preview

GEORGE WASHINGTON: First-year coach Mike Jarvis is a winner. At Boston University he compiled a 101-51 record and took the Terriers to two NCAA tournaments in five years. As coach of Harvard's freshman team he was 30-2 in two seasons. At Cambridge Ringe and Latin, Jarvis was 143-21 in six seasons (though Pat Ewing and Rumeal Robinson do share some of the credit there).

At GW, however, Jarvis is going to have to be patient. Jarvis is hoarding his scholarships for next year — he recruited just one freshman and will have five spots to offer — and has spent the meantime coaching defense and, in his words, "reprogramming" the Colonials to his steady style.

Guard Ellis Mckennie (16.3 ppg), and forwards Glen Sitney (12.9, 5.9 rebounds) and Sonni Holland (11.4, 5.0) are the Colonial's best returning players from last year's 14-17 team.

RHODE ISLAND: Life after 1989-90 Player of the Year Kenny Green will be a little easier thanks to Eric Leslie, the top returning scorer in the league. But not much.

Green was a ferocious rebounder, shot blocker and team leader. "We're going to have to make up for Kenny's intimidation in the middle," third-year coach Al Skinner said. "We don't have another shot blocker like that."

Leslie scored 23 points per game on a 15-13 team last year, and will be joined in the backcourt by flashy point guard Carlos Easterling. Junior guard Frenchy Tomlin is back from knee surgery.

DUQUESNE: As an assistant coach at Seton Hall, John Carroll recruited the Pirates to within one game of a national championship. With the arrival of freshmen Efrem Whitehead and Ganon Baker, Carroll has shown he intends to do the same at Duquesne. Carroll's recruiting class was ranked in the top 20 nationally by many.

Gone from last year's 7-22 team is the league's leading scorer, Mark Stevenson (27.2 ppg), but seniors Clayton Adams and Tony Petrarca return in the backcourt. Adams, who dished out 5.6 assists a game last year, played well on A-10 Jones Cup team that toured Taiwan this summer and is being pushed by Whitehead and Baker in practice this preseason, Carroll said.

ST. JOSEPH'S: The other new coach in the league beside Jarvis is John Griffin, who was a vice president of Paine Weber Co.

Freshman Rap Curry brings a big reputation from Penn Wood (Pa.) High School, but will not be "a quick fix," Griffin said. "We're looking to move up incrimentally and that will take some time."

ST. BONAVENTURE: Coach Tom Chapman is another A-10 coach who can point to the future with some confidence. The Bonnies were 8-20 last season, but the arrival of 6-foot-4, 205 pound guard Garland Mance from Detroit's high-powered Southwestern high school gives Chapman a chance of lifting his program out of the A-10 cellar soon.

-SAM SILVERSTEIN

CAFE DICARLO
The Ultimate In Casual Dining
Open Daily @ 11:30 a.m.
71 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
253-9300

Angelo's Barber Shop
Be sure to visit us at our NEW LOCATION:
20 Hampton Ave.
(behind Sylvester's, opposite WHMP)
DOWNTOWN NORTHAMPTON•584-9728
Ladie's and Men's REDKEN products. Mention this ad for a 20 percent DISCOUNT on these fine products!
(offer through end of December)

LOTS for LITTLES
TOYS·RECORDS·TAPES
Plus new and recycled
CHILDREN'S CLOTHING
Consignments
Sale · Nov 28-Dec 4 · 15% off games, dolls, books, & more!

Barsie's
GO UMASS HOOP
ROLLING ROCK $1.25
VODKA COLLINS $1.25
Plus other chalkboard specials
Check Out Bruins and Celtics Games Here!
FREE MUNCHIES

■ women's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

twelve minutes a game, hopefully," an assesment Riley agreed with.

"I still have a long way to go," said the 5-foot-4 junior from Altoona, Pa., who averaged 6.9 points and 3.8 assists per game her sophomore year. "If I can play minimal time, it's more than I thought I could."

"[Riley is] a quick, solid point guard," Hewelt said. "That's an element we missed last year that we can look forward to having back this season."

But until Riley is back full-strength, the backcourt remains among the youngest in the Atlantic-10. And with Patty Robak leaving the team this year, the early season at guard for the Minutewomen will be a trial-by-fire for freshmen Jessica Schusler, Shawna Pemberton, Cherie Muza, Trish Hessel, Maleeka Valentine and Jessica Richard.

"Schusler and Muza are the freshmen most likely to fill in at guard," Hewelt said. "Schusler is quick and flashy, while Muza is slower and steady. Both should play a great deal this year."

Gloria Nevarez, a sophomore guard/forward, should also see playing time in the backcourt this season, after seeing limited time last year.

UMass' lack of height and lack of depth made the switch to a transition game a necessity for the Minutewomen, according to Hewelt.

"Once we get past Keyburn, we have difficulty matching up with taller teams like Penn State. Instead of trying to match those teams, we're going to press and run. If I can avoid it, we won't play half-court at all this year."

The Minutewomen start this season with non-conference games against local opposition before heading into a rugged A-10 schedule in the new year. Also, UMass will join Princeton, Canisius and Delaware in the Princeton Tourney Dec. 7 and 8. Hewelt named Penn State and Rutgers as the teams to beat in the A-10, with St. Joseph's, West Virginia, Temple and George Washington not far behind. The Minutewomen were picked to finish ninth in a poll of A-10 coaches, but Hewelt said she thinks they will finish in a different position.

"Our young players are going to have to play a major role," Riley said, summizing UMass' prospects for the season. "We have to be scrappier and more intense than any other team we play."

"It's not going to be just one person," she added. "It's going to take everyone on this team right away."

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
1990-91 WOMEN'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE
(Times Subject to Change)

Nov.	25	Vermont	4:00 p.m.
Dec.	1	NEW HAMPSHIRE	2:00 p.m.
	5	BOSTON UNIVERSITY	7:30 p.m.
	7	Princeton Tournament	6:00/8:00
	8	(Princeton, Canisius, Delaware)
	12	Hartford	7:30 p.m.
	14	HARVARD	7:30 p.m.
Jan.	3	RUTGERS*	7:30 p.m.
	5	GEORGE WASHINGTON*	6:45 p.m.
	10	Duquesne*	7:00 p.m.
	12	West Virginia*	1:45 p.m.
	14	Dartmouth	7:00 p.m.
	17	PENN STATE*	7:30 p.m.
	19	ST. BONAVENTURE*	2:00 p.m.
	22	St. Joseph's*	6:05 p.m.
	24	Temple*	5:15 p.m.
	29	ST. JOSEPH'S*	7:30 p.m.
	31	George Washington*	7:30 p.m.
Feb.	2	Rutgers*	2:00 p.m.
	7	WEST VIRGINIA*	7:30 p.m.
	9	DUQUESNE*	2:00 p.m.
	14	St. Bonaventure*	7:00 p.m.
	16	Penn State*	2:00 p.m.
	19	Rhode Island*	7:30 p.m.
	23	TEMPLE*	2:00 p.m.
Mar.	2	RHODE ISLAND*	2:00 p.m.
	4-9	A-10 Tournament

* Atlantic 10 Conference Game
= HOME GAMES IN CAPS

■ men's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

shape this fall, and will be key. Brown has some shoes to fill in terms of leadership and passing the ball (in his place, Herer led the league with 7.7 assists a game), but he is a better shooter than Herer and as a result the Minutemen have more options on offense with him at the controls, Calipari said.

"Cary ran our club. He knew when to grab people, and when to encourage them. But he had trouble shooting the ball.

"But you've got to play Anton. We're a different team; we should score some points because of him. He's back to his freshman year as far as the things he can do. He's got to defend, distribute, and if they don't play, you score 30."

Behind Brown at point guard is freshman Chris Robinson, who is a bold passer but can be Hereresque at times shooting the ball. Tony Barbee has also spent some practice time at the point position.

McCoy, the first UMass player since Julius Erving to average 20 points a game, will play off-guard, with Giles ready off the bench.

In the frontcourt, Williams, Herndon and Tate will be bolstered by the arrival of 7-foot-2 freshman Jeff Meyer, the first seven-footer in school history, and 6-foot-10 sophomore Kennard Robinson, who sat out last season due to Prop. 48.

The Minutemen are youngest where they are tallest, but the size will help against the Temples and Penn States of the world: Meyer, Robinson, and the rest of UMass' big men practice shooting over a mop wrapped in athletic tape with Temple center Donald Hodge's name on it.

"They're going to get the opportunity to play," Calipari said of Meyer and Robinson. "But if I'm playing a big guy it's because he can defend and rebound. They are not going to score 30 points a game."

The BU game at the Cage on Feb. 2 will be broadcast nationally on ESPN, with tipoff at midnight.

Lowell will return to the Cage next week, though Calipari said he hoped to avoid scheduling any Division 2 teams after last year's disasterous one-point loss. When a scheduling conflict with Northeastern left a hole, however, Calipari called Lowell because "at least I know the guys will be up for the game."

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
1990-91 MEN'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE
(Times Subject To Change)

Nov.	26	Purdue	8:00 p.m.
	28	MARATHON OIL	7:30 p.m.
Dec.	1	St. Joseph's*	1:35 p.m.
	4	New Hampshire	7:30 p.m.
	6	LOWELL	7:30 p.m.
	8	GEORGE WASHINGTON*	7:30 p.m.
	11	RUTGERS*	7:30 p.m.
		ABDOW'S HOLIDAY CLASSIC
	28	Springfield, MA	6:30 p.m.
	29	(Boston College, Northwestern, Dartmouth)	8:30 p.m.
Jan.	3	Penn State*	7:30 p.m.
	5	ST. BONAVENTURE* (A-10 TV)	4:00 p.m.
	7	ST. JOSEPH'S*	4:00 p.m.
	10	DUQUESNE*	7:30 p.m.
	12	St. Bonaventure*	7:30 p.m.
	15	Xavier	8:05 p.m.
	21	Vermont	7:30 p.m.
	24	Temple*	7:30 p.m.
	26	George Washington*	7:30 p.m.
	28	HOLY CROSS	7:30 p.m.
Feb.	1	RHODE ISLAND*	7:30 p.m.
	2	BOSTON UNIVERSITY(ESPN)	12:00 mid
	6	WEST VIRGINIA	7:30 p.m.
	9	Duquesne*	7:35 p.m.
	12	West Virginia*	7:30 p.m.
	16	PENN STATE*	7:00 p.m.
	21	TEMPLE*	7:30 p.m.
	24	Rutgers*(A-10 TV)	4:00 p.m.
	27	Rhode Island*	7:30 p.m.
Mar.	2-7	Atlantic 10 Tournament

*Atlantic 10 Conference Game
HOME GAMES IN CAPS

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS

2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route

CALL 665-2203

HADLEY PUB
"SOMETHING IS ALWAYS HAPPENING AT THE"

GOOD LUCK UMASS BASKETBALL!

Monday Nov 26
Pool Tournament and Monday Night Football

Tuesday Nov 27
All You Can Eat Pasta
$1 w/ Student ID 5:30pm-7

Wednesday Nov 28
Party with JUST GEORGE CELEBRATED COMEDY

Thursday Nov 29
Party With UMASS's Own
ONE-EYED JAKE

Friday Nov 30
LIVE SQUAD

Saturday Dec 1
THIRD FLOOR
Drink Special—$1.05 Bud Bottles

PINOCCHIO'S RISTORANTE ITALIANO

VOTED BEST ITALIAN RESTAURANT 1990

UMASS's Biggest Fan—Pinocchio's!
BEST in the Valley AGAIN in 1990

Some of our Specialties:
- Pheasant All' Arancia
- Veal Giorgio
- Risotto Pescatore with Black Truffle
- Chicken Verdicchio
- Tortelloni with Porcini Mushroom

HOLIDAY PARTIES
- Open for luncheon Private parties During the Season 11/19—12/21 Call for reservations

This season:
Party Trays available*
Gift Certificates available*

1177 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 549-3669
Open 7 days — Dinner 5-10 Visa Mastercard Accepted

Good luck UMass!
Have a great season!

Especially for You
Haircare & Beauty Boutique

specializing in Afro-American Hair Care and Beauty Products

206 Russell St., Rt. 9
Hadley; 586-6622

Free Delivery within 5 College Area

WEATHER | THIRD WORLD | ARTS

Today will be partly cloudy. High temperatures will be 52 to 57 degrees.

Who is Saddam Hussein? Images rarely seen in local print media. Page 3.

Bombs away! Parachuting elf suffers bumps and bruises after car crash. Page 4.

TUESDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 56

Gulf crisis hits UMass

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

As an increasing number of student reservists prepare for active duty in the Persian Gulf, student and local protest over U.S. involvement in the Middle East is also building ranks.

Eight or nine University of Massachusetts undergraduate students who are in the National Guard or in the Army reserves have already been sent for active duty in Saudi Arabia, according to the Dean of Students Office.

Some five students have been put on alert for the 972nd Military Police Company of the National Guard. These students must prepare themselves for the upcoming call to duty.

In protest of the increasing deployment of troops to Saudi Arabia, the American Friends Service Committee has organized a nonviolent vigil, march and blockade of Westover Air Force Base for next Saturday.

Frances Crowe, a leader of the AFSC, said the protestors intend to close off both gates at the base as a "symbolic protest."

A similar action at the air force base in Chicopee last Tuesday resulted in the arrests of 20 protestors who successfully barricaded the gates for a few minutes.

"We want our country to negotiate and to rely on the United Nations embargo," she said. "If 100,000 people are killed in this military war, then we will have more problems to negotiate."

In addition, some 35 students fell to their "deaths" on the Student Union steps last Tuesday to protest the U.S. role in the Gulf.

A University Press Office spokeperson said the number of students being called up for duty in Saudi Arabia is changing daily.

About 200 undergraduate students are part of the National Guard and about 60 undergraduates are Army reservists.

Iraq: U.N. was blackmailed by U.S.

Saddam tells relatives some hostages are allowed to leave

By JOCELYN NOVECK
The Associated Press

Iraq yesterday accused the United States of using blackmail to win U.N. backing for a military strike to free Kuwait, and Saddam Hussein met relatives of some American hostages and told them their loved ones were free to go.

Baghdad Radio, which reported on the meeting between Hussein and the Americans, did not say how many hostages would be allowed to leave. The report did not name the hostages or their relatives.

However, Dennis Trundy of Brockton, Mass., said Hussein promised to free his brother-in-law, John Stevenson. Trundy's wife and her two other brothers are in Baghdad and called with the news.

"She and her two brothers met with Saddam Hussein sometime this morning and he said 'sure, take him,'" Trundy said.

Also yesterday, oil prices — which have fluctuated wildly since Iraq seized the oil-rich emirate — rose about $2 a barrel on the futures market, as traders speculated the United Nations was about to authorize the use of force against Iraq.

By late morning, light sweet crude was up $2.05 to $33.95 on contracts for delivery in January. Contracts for delivery in later months were sharply higher.

The Soviet Union, meanwhile, which has advised patience in dealing with Iraq, today threatened to take a "tougher attitude" because Hussein failed to allow 1,000 Soviets to leave in November.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesperson Vitaly Churkin spoke at a news briefing that coincided with a four hour meeting in Moscow between Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze and the Iraqi foreign minister.

Churkin said Iraq allowed 350 Soviets to depart this month, adding:

"If Iraq does not immediately remove obstacles and allow our citizens to leave, this will complicate the present situation even further and force us to take a tougher attitude."

In other developments:

- The Iraqi parliament voted to free the 58 Swedes remaining in Iraq, the Swedish Embassy in Baghdad reported. The vote requires approval from Hussein, the embassy said. Iraq freed more than 100 Germans and 10 Greeks on Sunday. Iraqi officials said 70 Italian hostages would be allowed to leave Tuesday.
- Hussein warned that if the U.S.-led force attacks, he will unleash his missiles on Saudi Arabia and other Persian Gulf Arab states.
- Iraqi authorities took steps Sunday to make sure any shortages caused by a U.N.-mandated trade embargo are felt in Kuwait. The official Iraqi News Agency said food rationing would begin soon in the oil-rich emirate.

Amherst Selectboard bans parking on Hobart Lane to improve public safety

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Town Selectboard voted last night to ban parking on both sides of Hobart Lane, citing excessive weekend parking as a public safety hazard.

Signs prohibiting parking will be installed as soon as possible by the Amherst Department of Public Works. Warnings will be issued to violators for one week, followed by a week of ticketing. After that, cars parked illegally will be towed, according to Amherst Police Captain Charles Scherpa.

The ban comes in response to complaints by some residents who said that excessive parking during weekend parties blocked the street, making it impossible for emergency vehicles to pass through as well as inconveniencing residential traffic.

"If I had to take one of my children to Health Services, there would be an incredibly long delay. We are permanent residents and we are investing in it. We are willing to give up our [parking] rights," said Marcia Howard, a permanent resident of Hobart Lane.

Gerald Mcousland, a graduate student, opposed the ban saying it denied them the right to have guests park in the street and would not solve the underlying party problem on Hobart Lane.

"There is no threat to the students' lifestyle by the parking ban," he said. "If they were threatened, they'd be [at the meeting]."

Scherpa said in other areas in town where parking is prohibited, police have usually allowed residents who call ahead of time to have guests park on one side of the street. He added the ban would allow police to act before there was a problem.

In other business, the Selectboard decided to discuss revising the town election schedule next week and to resolve it by Dec. 17. Currently the schedule only allows student candidates five days to campaign after returning to college in the spring.

Campus to remember Milk

By ALI WOOLWICH
Collegian Staff

Students, faculty and staff will come together tonight at the University of Masachusetts to celebrate the life and remember the death of Harvey Milk, a leader in the modern Gay Rights Movement.

Harvey Milk Memorial Day is an annual event held in honor of activist Harvey Milk, the first openly gay person elected to a political office. Milk was assasinated in 1978 in San Francisco.

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance will sponsor a rally and vigil on the South Side Steps of the Student Union at 5 p.m. After the rally, the candlelight vigil will proceed from the steps to the Campus Pond to commemorate Milk and to honor the courage of students at UMass who have suffered homophobic harassment and violence.

Speakers at the rally will include: Warren Blumenfeld, author of Looking at Gay and Lesbian Life and Boston area Gay activist and educator; Felice Yeskel, coordinator of the University of Massachusetts Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns, and a speaker from the Fenway Gay Anti-Violence Task Force in Boston. The Program for GLB Concerns will sponsor a talk by Jean Grossholtz, professor of political science at Mount Holyoke College and feminist activist, at 8 p.m. in Campus Center room 101. The topic of her talk will be "Lesbian and Gay Liberation: Keeping Harvey's Legacy Alive."

All events are free and open to the general public.

Collegian Photo by Jeff Holland

Incoming freshman Kristin Adam studies the course guide outside Hasbrouck Laboratory.

The group that brought to you
SCHOOLHOUSE ROCK &
A CHORUS LINE
NOW PRESENTS

Sweet Charity

NOVEMBER 29, 30, & DECEMBER 1, 1990
at 8:00 pm in
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Tickets available NOW at the FAC Box Office
545-2511.

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS

2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route

CALL 665-2203

TEACH IN PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

Providence School Department
Recruiter on Campus
Thursday, November 29, 1990
Urban School District
Multi-Cultural Multi-Lingual
School Environment
Great Salary and Benefits

Providence Schools
OUR SCHOOLS. OUR FUTURE.

Minorities Encouraged to Apply at Mather Career Center

SPRING BREAK 91'

ORGANIZE A SMALL GROUP AND TRAVEL FREE !

BAHAMAS/
CANCUN
FROM $299

COMPLETE PACKAGE INCLUDES:
- Round trip air to Nassau, Paradise Island or Cancun, Mexico
- Roundtrip transfers from airport to hotel
- 7 Nights hotel accommodations
- Welcome rum cocktail party at hotel
- Parties, Parties!
- Optional rum Presidente or Tequila Cancuno party
- 3 hour cruise with unlimited rum punch and on board entertainment (Nassau-Paradise Island)
- 2 beach parties (one with free lunch) music and dancing. Theasta
- Exclusive admission to the Disco, Xanadoo Coliseum, and Carnaval Hotels (Nassau)
- College week programs by the Bahamas Travel Office
- On location professional tour escort

WEEKLY DEPARTURES

1(800)BEACH IT

RESERVE BY JANUARY 1st AND SAVE $30.00

The University of Massachusetts
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER PRESENTS

MESSIAH

A PLAY BY MARTIN SHERMAN

November 29-December 1 and December 5-8
RAND THEATER • 8:00 p.m.

Set in 17th-century Poland, rumors of the coming of the Messiah bring vast changes to a small village and to Rachel, a young Jewish woman questioning her faith.

Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

R.A. RECRUITMENT DAY

Wednesday, November 28th
Lincoln Campus Center

2:30 p.m. CC 903 Information Session about the
Resident Assistant Selection Process
1991-1992

Information Table
on the Concourse
8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

ACCEPT
THE CHALLENGE!

*TONITE*TONITE*TONITE*

PAWSS

THE FIVE COLLEGE PROGRAM IN PEACE & WORLD SECURITY STUDIES

Presents:

PEACEMAKING IN A DIVIDED WORLD:
The Role of U.N. Peacekeeping Forces

A Talk By

BRIAN URQUHART
The Ford Foundation

Tuesday, November 27th, 7:30 pm

Main Lecture Hall, Franklin Patterson Hall

Hampshire College

This event is free and open to the public. For more information call PAWSS at 549-4600,ext.519.

THIRD WORLD AFFAIRS

Patterns of History Reflected in a Leader's Life

The writing is on the wall. A million soldiers massed on the border of Kuwait. This Thursday the Bush-Baker duo will coax the Gang of Five in the U.N. Security Council to condone "any means necessary" to eject Iraq from Kuwait. Sources at our neighboring Westover Air Base allege that C5-A transport planes departed for Saudi Arabia last week with 100,000 body bags and gallons of blood plasma on board.

It is a grand sight — the United States goes to war.

And all because of one man. No, not a man, your media tells you. A monster, a demon, a chemical killer, a raving Arab fanatic with a doomsday weapon. A man despised by his own people who would tear him to shreds if possible. The Killer of Kurds, the Butcher of Baghdad.

What could be more noble than a war to rid the earth of this scourge? This will be a battle straight out of a Hollywood Western. The Evil Apache Chief attacks peaceful Native Americans that have accepted the patronage of the European settler. The audience shudders, only to applaud when the cavalry come storming over the horizon, bugles blowing. Relief, and time for popcorn.

Why is it that the rationale does not seem coherent, even here in the heart of the Empire? Is it because U.S. citizens fear the bloodshed more than the barbarism of this insolent Arab? Or is this fear compounded by grave doubts about the moral legitimacy of the Grand Enterprise?

Permit a voyage into insanity. After all, even during the Inquisition in Spain, there were unfortunate philosophers and scientists who dared to assert that the planets revolved around the Sun. Similarly, some unfortunate wretches question the Americo-centric assertion that Saddam Hussein has given Iraq nothing but tyranny and depravation.

On the 22nd of April, 1937, the recently widowed Mrs. Sabhah Al-Musallat gave birth to a son in her brother's mud house in the little town of Tikrit, lying on the banks of the Tigris.

The child, named Saddam (or "the uncompromising"), spent the first 10 years of his life moving back and forth between the house of his paternal uncle al-Haj Ibrahim Hassan (who married his mother) and his maternal uncle al-Haj Khairallah Talfah.

Saddam soon ran away to Khairallah Talfah's home where his desire to be a student met with encouragement.

Khairallah Talfah had a profound impact on his nephew. He was an Army Officer who participated in a revolt against British hegemony in 1941, led by a man called Rashid Ali. The British smashed the coup and consigned Talfah to five years in prison.

Saddam learned of imperialism and British colonialism from his uncle. His mother reminded him of the death of her grandfather and two of her uncles while battling marauding Turkish officers. Themes of resistance, sacrifice, nationalism and historical continuity were shaped in his mind at an early age.

By 1957 Saddam had left secondary school to join the secular, nationalist Ba'ath Socialist Party. These were heady days in the South. Nasser invoked Arab nationalism while the guns of liberation echoed in Algeria and Vietnam.

The pro-Western monarchy in Iraq was deposed by a military coup. The new leader, General Qasim partially nationalized Iraqi oil, and challenged the legitimacy of Kuwait. However, Qasim aligned himself with the pro-Moscow Iraqi Communist Party. The cadres of the ICP massacred Arab nationalists in Mosul and Kirkuk, and were perceived to be drawing Iraq into a Soviet orbit.

It was now that Saddam Hussein commenced his meteoric rise. In October 1959, Qasim's limousine rolled into Baghdad's Rashid Street to meet a hail of bullets from Saddam's machine gun. Qasim was injured, but survived. Saddam was shot in the leg and went underground. He forced one of his compatriots to remove the bullet from his leg with a razor blade and no sedatives.

Saddam fled to Cairo, where Nasser personally extended patronage to the young revolutionary. He completed secondary school in Cairo, and excelled at chess and street-politics.

In 1963 the Ba'ath movement mounted a coup. Saddam returned to Iraq, and married his childhood companion, Sajida. The party lacked a mass-base and was deposed by General Arif.

The Ba'ath cadres were hunted down and tortured. Saddam went underground, moving from house to house, planning a coup. He was finally arrested, and brutally interrogated. However, Saddam would not terrogated. However, Saddam would not speak, and soon made a daring escape.

By 1968 the Ba'ath party had built a sizeable cadre base, organized itself into a cellular structure, and seized power in a coup led by Al-Bakr and Saddam.

The Ba'ath leadership was seasoned in an atmosphere of coups, underground organization and continuous fear of subversion. The party was hard to infiltrate and ruthless towards dissent.

Communists and fundamentalists were repressed with an iron fist.

The major events of the 1970s in Iraq included an Iranian and U.S-backed insurrection by Kurdish rebels, which ended when Saddam negotiated a pragmatic peace-settlement with the Shah, terminating Iranian backing for the Kurds. The Ba'ath party also completely seized all Iraqi oil from Western interests in 1972.

By 1979, Saddam Hussein replaced the ailing Abu-Bakr as President of Iraq. The Ba'ath had made formidable strides in redistributing wealth in Iraq, and improving peoples' lives.

A dramatic land reform act broke the power of feudal landlords, slums were rebuilt, and a prosperous middle class emerged. Oil wealth fueled a host of development projects and primary school enrollment doubled. Secular laws permitted women to enjoy relative emancipation.

But war soon erupted again. Saddam Hussein had expelled Ayatollah Khomeini from Iraq in 1978, fearing the resurgence of Shia fundamentalism. The Ayatollah swore revenge, and rode into power as the Iranian revolution deposed the Shah.

Saddam feared the new Islamic Republic and in a catastrophic miscalculation attacked Iran. The war ended in 1988 after almost a million youths died. Even at the height of the war, Saddam continued lavish development projects and insulated large segments of his society from the ravages of war.

The rest is well-known.

But let us wrest ourselves away from this irrational barrage of propaganda. After all, war is the grand arbiter of history.

Saddam Hussein may not survive the months to come. But one suspects that there are those that will remember him as a leader of a type little understood in the North — the Latin American word caudillo comes to mind. A strongman, ruthless and shrewd. But a popular strongman, a patriot and a nation-builder.

The dogs of war rarely reflect on the patterns of history. One can only hope that this will not be a Red Christmas for the Arab people. Perhaps diplomacy is not an unacceptable choice.

Pratip Dastidar is Collegian Staff.

Slander and Intimidation at UMass

"I dislike the coercive methods of Zionists who in this country have not hesitated to use economic means to silence persons who have different views. I object to the attempts at character assassination of those who do not agree with them." Arthur Hays Sulzberger (1946, publisher of the New York Times).

Since its beginnings, the Zionist movement in the United States has sought to use tactics such as the ones described by Sulzberger in 1946 to silence its critics and critics of the state of Israel. For decades, real debate on the issue of Palestine was virtually non-existent in the U.S., so these weapons were only needed on occasion and for the few brave dissenters (many of them Jewish).

In the last decade, for a variety of reasons, the near-universal acceptance of Zionist mythology on Palestine has begun to waver. Naturally, we have also witnessed the concomitant increase in the uses of economic coercion and personal slander such as the terms "anti-Semite" and "self-hating Jew."

Sadly, this semester the UMass campus has been far from unsullied by these grotesque intimidation tactics in an effort to stifle the growing questioning of the Zionist Myth. Threats of economic coercion have been made against this newspaper, and several persons have been accused, unjustly and outrageously, of anti-Semitism, including a distinguished faculty member and a leading student journalist. One of the many Jewish critics of Israel on campus has recently written of the appalling accusations made against him of treachery and self-hatred. The epithet "anti-Semite," when applied to critics of Israel or Zionism, rests on a fundamental misrepresentation: that Judaism and Zionism are equivalent. Nothing could be further from the truth. Judaism is a religion, a tremendous cultural heritage, and the very identity of a great people. Judaism and the Jewish people are to be accorded the full respect and admiration of all others.

Zionism is a political ideology and ought to be fully debated as such, without the threat of unwarranted slander. The fact that many of Zionism's most intractable critics in the West have been Jewish is a fair indication of the total invalidity of this sordid equation; it is an outrage. When we criticize the policies of the state of Israel we are not criticizing anyone's ethnicity, religion, or culture, although we may well be criticizing their political ideology, which is certainly fair game.

The repeated and indiscriminate use of the slur "anti-Semite" suggests that it has great value for the Zionists. It is a shocking charge, for which no evidence is needed to raise suspicion and get it disseminated, which is highly damaging, and which is difficult to disprove. Against the faint-hearted and the weak-kneed it sometimes works.

While no one on this campus has, as far as I am aware, criticized in print Jewish culture or religion, or Jews as a group (unlike Palestinians who have been described as a "mass," as opposed to a "people"), still the accusations fly like confetti. The disgraceful tactics that extreme Zionists have employed when faced with unanswerable and fully justified criticism, i.e. economic boycott and slander, are now emerging on this very campus. Because they are so utterly unacceptable and groundless they have not succeeded and they will not. I, for one, am unimpressed.

In their futile and pathetic attempt to stifle free expression and debate, these thought police are diminishing the value of the term "anti-Semite" and throwing the credibility of those who raise the issue legitimately into doubt. Since we all know that anti-Semitism is very real and that it is hardly unknown in America, what will real anti-Semites be called when they resurface, as they are bound to?

There is a technical term for what the extreme Zionists are doing; it is called "crying wolf." It is outrageous, ineffectual and unwise.

Hussein Ibish is a UMass student.

Hussein Ibish

Lexicon of common usage

This page has been criticized for being too serious. The Third World Affairs Desk humbly atones for this sin with a small offering of satire.

Given the stunning metamorphosis of the once-squalid world of international relations into the glorious New World Order, a golden age of collective security, peace and justice, old terminologies fall by the wayside. The great moral victory of the West, under the visionary leadership of Ronald ("the genius") Reagan, over the evil empire and its Red Tsars, has laid the groundwork for this earthly paradise, the onset of which we herald with this modest new political lexicon.

The World: Europe, Japan and North America.

Worse than Hitler: Any Third World opponent of U.S. hegemony.

New World Order: Latest stage of colonialism.

Collective Security: U.S. hegemony.

The United Nations: Britain, United States, Soviet Union, France, and China.

Debt Crisis: Mugging and looting most of the planet, then forcing the victims to pay for the crime. Environmental Consciousness: Preventing the aforementioned victims from building factories to meet debt payments (after using these very factories to grow fat and pollute the planet).

Soviet Union: Collapsing, decadent remains of the Tsarist-Bolshevik Colonial Empire.

Perestroika: Complete economic and social collapse of the Soviet Union.

Our way of life: Gasoline at $1.25 per gallon.

Regional Hegemon: Emerging national entity that is not acceptable to the World.

Moderate Arab Nations: A bunch of Mid-East ruling cliques (crooks?) united in the pursuit of opportunism and the dollar.

Article 51 U.N clause regarding external help for self-defense: License for the United States to attack anyone, anywhere, anytime.

Prudentls Recreating: Sentencing hundreds of thousands of people to gruesome deaths over a round of golf in Kennebunkport.

Anti-Semite: Critic of Israeli state policy.

Self-hating Jew: Jewish critic of Israeli state policy.

Inadvertent Anti-Semitism: The mere mention of Israel in a less than adulatory context.

Verbal Terrorism: Pro-Palestinian statements by anyone who even remotely resembles an Arab.

Legitimate Government of Kuwait: Coterie of descendants of British collaborators, elected by 10,000 males, each of whom enjoys a family, 2.2 maid servants, a BMW and the blood of thousands of your teenagers.

Taif-Sheraton: A swanky 5-star hotel in Saudi-Arabia where the aforementioned coterie camp out.

Somewhere in the Saudi desert: Sand-smitten, scorpion-ridden, camouflaged tent where U.S. teenagers camp out.

Constructive Engagement: Arcane and tiresome theory constructed to protect South African Whites from effective sanctions while legitimizing their use against aforementioned regional hegemons.

Our Most Consistent Ally: Rabid, imperious, haughty British ex-Prime Minister, most at home on Halloween night.

Who allowed these guys to print this garbage?: Commonly heard critique of the lexicon and the budding lexicographers.

[to be continued . . .]

Submitted by the Third World Affairs Desk

TWA Staff

ARTS & LIVING

Two new offerings

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Behavior
Pet Shop Boys
EMI

Bona Drag
Morrissey
Sire

The Pet Shop Boys have returned to the dance floor after a two year hiatus, but is the dance floor ready for their return?

The first single, "So Hard" is a return to the Boy's familiar techno-dance style, with a pounding, driving back beat, while Neil Tennant wails "If you give up your affairs forever, I will give up mine."

Unfortunately, Tennant's weak voice shows no signs of improvement on this latest effort, and to make matters worse, his voice is showcased more on this album than previous records.

Other than the first single, the album is more mellow and "adult contemporary" than anything the Pet Shop Boys have done before.

Songs like "Being Boring" and "My October Symphony" show the Boys at their melancholy worst, drowning in depression and swirling synthesizers.

In the past, the best Pet Shop Boy's records contrast Chris Lowe's pounding, dramatic synthesizers against Tennant's dull wail. This time the music suits Tennant's voice, and the album comes across as dull and unimpressive.

If depressing is what you're looking for — look no further. The Master of Misery, The Demon of Depression — Morrissey has returned.

Bona Drag, his first "new" album in two years, is a collection of singles and B-sides he has released since his last album, Viva Hate, with a new single, "Picadilly Place."

Highlighting the collection are brilliant gems like "Last of the Famous International Playboys," and "Interesting Drug," both released last year.

In his musical development since leaving the Smiths, Morrissey has proven himself a worthy contender solo as well. He takes a variety of social ills in his music, all of which come out with stellar results.

The hauntingly beautiful "November Spawned a Monster" touchingly and painfully looks at the problems of the handicapped while the international hit "Interesting Drug" deals with the fur industry.

The two stand-out tracks on the album "Ouija Board, Ouija Board" and "Hairdresser on Fire" make up for the rare few tracks that fizzle out.

Photo courtesy EMI

Neil Tennant (left) and Chris Lowe (right) of the Pet Shop Boys

Republicans file bill to prevent pre-recorded concert tours

BOSTON (AP) — Two Republicans filed a bill Monday to prevent singing groups like the pop duo Milli Vanilli from giving the audience nothing but lip service.

"If you pay 'real' money for a concert, you ought to get 'real' live music in return," said Rep. Kevin Poirier, (R-N. Attleboro.)

The bill would require promoters to disclose whether any part of a performance consists of pre-recorded vocals. Ticket agents would also be required to notify concert-goers of plans for the headline performer to use pre-recorded vocals. Under the bill, ticket agents could be fined up to $5,000 and promoters up to $50,000 for violations.

"Hopefully, the Milli Vanilli bill will keep other pretenders from mouthing it in Massachusetts," Poirier said.

Rep. William Vernon, (R-Mansfield), whose House district hosts the Great Woods Performing Arts Center, also said he favors the legislation.

"It's time to stop the phoney road shows," Vernon said. "We should make sure that fans get what they're paying for when they go to a concert."

Fabrice Moran and Rob Pilatus recently lost a Grammy award after revealing that they did not sing their own vocals. The long-haired Milli Vanilli team had won best new artist honors in February.

Their album sold seven million copies.

Similiar legislation has been offered in New York and New Jersey, before the revelation that Moran and Pilatus were miming their act.

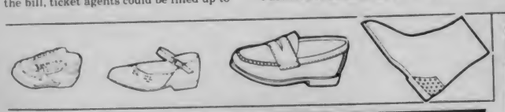
No action was taken on the legislation in either state. New York's bill would have gone further than the proposed legislation in Massachusetts and New Jersey, requiring disclosures in advertisements.

Carl Freed, executive director of the North American Concert Promoters Association, said lip-syncing has become more prevalent in live acts because performers are expected to do complicated dance routines.

"That makes it more difficult for them to perform live," Freed said.

Instead of forcing promoters and ticket sellers to disclose lip-syncing, Freed said the artists should tell their fans what they do in their performance.

"We don't know that it's lip-syncing until they're on stage," Freed said.



A Christmas Present
from
The BodyShops!
KENNEDY 12 / JOHN ADAMS 19
& TOTMAN GYM
Sign up for Spring Semester
for only
$45.00
(A 10% SAVINGS!)
and receive a
Free Intersession Membership
(A $15.00 VALUE!!)
Come get Nautilus® Hydrafitness®
NordicTrack® Stairclimbers
Treadmills, Bikes, &
Unlimited Aerobics Classes
for less than $3.00/week!!
Sign Up Today
at any BODY SHOP Location!!
(OFFER EXPIRES 12/14/90)

ARE YOU PREGNANT
& IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
Same Day Results
Services that are
Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
an alternative to abortion

Moving Off-Campus?
Check out
CLIFFSIDE APARTMENTS
Affordable, Quiet & Convenient
1 & 2 Bedrooms
from $400/month
ALL UTILITIES INCLUDED
5 miles to UMASS
On Sunderland Bus Route
Pool, Tennis & More
Furnished Apartments also available
Ask about our free rent special
248 Amherst Rd (Rt 116)
Sunderland 665-3958

Flying Christmas elf collides with car

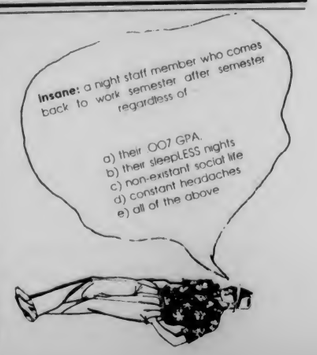
QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — A parachutist dressed as a Christmas elf lost control and landed on a moving car on Saturday in front of thousands of spectators at a Christmas festival.

Robert G. Humphrey of Holbrook was carried by a wind squall from his intended target, Faxon Field, and landed on a moving car nearby.

More than 1,000 spectators were gathered to watch the annual Christmas parachute jump, sponsored by the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee.

Police said Humphrey was falling at about 30 miles an hour when he hit the car and bounced into the street.

Humphrey was taken to Quincy Hospital with a broken knee, a broken leg and bruises. He was resting comfortably Sunday, hospital officials said.



Insane: a night staff member who comes back to work semester after semester regardless of
a) their 007 GPA
b) their sleepLESS nights
c) non-existant social life
d) constant headaches
e) all of the above

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Black Santa brings insight

There he was, sitting amidst the other Santa Claus figurines. He looked "jolly and plump," just like all of the other dolls. But he stood out.

He was Black. A Black Santa Claus.

Meredith O'Brien

I had always envisioned the mythical St. Nick to look just like he does in all of those whimsical Christmas specials — White. I never really thought of Santa Claus looking any differently.

I just took it for granted, like assuming that Rudolph's nose is red, that candy canes are always red and white striped and that those annoying elves are short and obnoxious.

(Much like most people assuming Christ was White.)

But there he was, looking like any other happy old Santa, with his list of good little boys and girls and a bagful of toys spilling out onto the floor. I could not take my eyes off of him. He was, unfortunately, unique.

I should not have made such a big deal about it. I wished it had simply been run-of-the-mill to see all different types of Santas. But it wasn't.

Why was this the first time I had ever seen a Black Santa Claus? Was it because everyone in the American culture just assumed he was White, or was it that retailers are too closed-minded to ever think of creating a Black Santa Claus?

Even in the popular myths and fairy tales many of us were brought up with, almost all of the characters are White — Johnny Appleseed, Goldilocks, Cinderella, even the color of the Easter bunny is traditionally white.

What do young Black children think when they see a lily-White Santa? Do they assume that's just the way the story goes, that Santa is White? Does it bother them, or their parents? Or are they simply used to being Black in a society that only shows the White point of view?

After I thought about it for a while, I realized that the rarity of finding that Black Santa Claus was a reflection of what we see all around us.

Just watching television for an hour or so — and I'm not talking about when the Cosby show is on — you can really see how images of White people and White concerns are repeated over and over again.

Very few, if any, commercials include Black people or Black families. Almost every television show, except for a small handful — Cosby, A Different World, Living Color, Family Matters, Arsenio Hall — is predominantly about concerns of White people, starring White actors and actresses.

Flipping through the newspapers and magazines you will most likely see photos of young, Black men in handcuffs being hauled off to jail, arrested on drug charges. Rarely do you see prominent, positive stories about a Black person or group (excluding popular sports figures and the few Black superstars). You hardly ever see a happy feature photo of anyone Black, or anyone non-White for that matter.

It is a White society. That is constantly proven in even the smallest little example of the lone Black Santa Claus doll. He sat there, all alone, surrounded by his more popular White counterparts.

But I liked that Santa Claus. He had character.

He wasn't like all of the others.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

Anti-porn zealots miss the mark

I certainly deserve the cold, hateful glares I get from demonstrating groups of feminists. After all, I have male sex organs and my mind is obviously ruled by them. My girlfriend, on the other hand, wears fishnets instead of the radical's uniform, and is, therefore, just as surely a slave.

Though suburban rednecks in pickup trucks and jock wannabees in bitchin' Camaros confidently assert as they drive by that I am a "punk faggot", or in some cases of extreme false identity, a "dyke." If their vision is sufficiently impaired, it seems that the warriors for womyn's [sic] rights have me pegged as one of the infamous Nazi Youth we hear so much about but see so little of.

Matt Heffernan

This, they yell and scream and spray paint upon the only alternative record and video stores in Northampton, proclaiming for all to hear "We know what you do to women!"

So far as we can tell, this was all about the "pornography killing women" witch hunt.

It's true that the stores in question sell many types of material, from the classics in film and music, to LPs made by the likes of G.G. Allen, or films produced by John Waters. Some of these artists promote ideas that do degrade women (and men, by the way), but they are the only places in the area that stock decent selections of the arts that are not the exploitive pop fluff which you will find at, say, the mall or certain big chain outlets.

So I say to our social activists, wouldn't the mall, — patriarchal consumerist repression on parade — be a better target for civil disobedience? Have ye not the guts?

Or is your crusade against material you don't like limited to small business without private security and expensive lawyers?

I agree that much of the material we are bombarded with develops an unhealthy view of gender roles and sex. However, it is us, being subjected to the saturation of exploitive, heterosexist propaganda (so prevalent as to be invisible), that makes our society so repressive and maladjusted. A rapist is not someone who picks up a hardcore porno magazine or slasher movie and becomes instantaneously corrupted.

The real problem with the male view of pornography is that he does not laugh out loud upon seeing the ridiculous interpretation of sexual activity that is taken so seriously.

Yes, it is true that the corporate bloc has indoctrinated this country with constant sexual imagery and association. However, it is only the repression of this sexual energy that gives the advertisement its power. The high pressure sales of sex are almost counterbalanced by the taboos, insecurity, fear, and conformity of proclivities that are just as deliberately forced upon us.

Why else would it be so necessary for people to release sexual tension by buying things? How else could it be possibly profitable to use sex to sell toothpaste?

What we do need is for the people who supposedly stand for liberation to help Jesse Helms give more illicit appeal to something people shouldn't need to look at anyway. There is nowhere to safely draw the line with regard to censorship. One stupid slasher movie legislated off the shelves, and next thing you know, any non-religious or non-purely decorative art will be illegal.

Pornography does not mathematically "equal" violence against women. People letting the president of NBC define their view of sex results in all manners of societal dysfunction.

The only solution I can see, that preserves the First Amendment, is to use creativity instead of cheap slogans and blackballing. We need to open up sex for intelligent and honest discussion in order for it to be understood, instead of merely trying to hide it and pretending there isn't a problem.

Why not compete with the media monopoly and underground snuff films?

Instead of sounding like McCarthy and saying "That's bad. Burn that!," produce or support the manufacturing of material, (even erotica) that promotes what you think projects a healthy sexual image.

Instead of fighting to choke off our free speech, including you own, why not give people a chance to learn something? Being called "Femi-Nazis" by those inclined to support you is obviously not going to improve your image, nor bring you closer to achieving your goal.

Matt Heffernan is a UMass student

A big gray mess

History seems to be rewritten or forgotten at will by those in power. Rather than using the past as a reference tool for learning to avoid certain situations, instead, "the past" becomes a euphemism for a forged historical justification for choosing to act in a certain way in the present. Considerations for the future generally play little in this process, except in terms of desiring short-term gains.

Saddam Hussein has been styled as a "Hitler" by the Bush administration for annexing Kuwait. Never mind that Kuwait was a part of historical Iraq before British colonization. Never mind that the United States "annexed" Texas and conducted a civil war to "re-annex" the South. The United States did not become involved in World War II until the Japanese attacked the Pearl Harbor.

It was not Hitler's "annexations" per se that made him evil. Nor was it Hitler's "evil" that caused an American entrance into the war. We entered the war when we perceived a direct threat to our national security — we were attacked by the Japanese. Their navy was taking over the Pacific. Also, on the western front, economic relations with Europe were being thrown into a turmoil.

Actually, Hitler become much more "evil" after the war — when the truth about the Jews and the Slavic prisoners of war became known and dramatized. So far we don't know much about Hussein except that he made the decision to annex Kuwait.

Lots of countries annex adjacent countries. Especially adjacent countries to which they have some sort of historical claim. Turkey invaded Cyprus, China moved into Tibet and so on. So why is Hussein being called a Hitler? Why is Bush making this really faulted historical analogy? Because he needs public opinion on his side to justify his decision to protect the interests of the U.S. oil industry. And apparently, he realizes the plain simple truth is not enough to get the American people to buy it. So, under the guise of "history" Bush is trying to whip up sentiment against Iraq's Hussein.

I'm sure if we could see an accurate history of some of Bush's past actions, there would be plenty of things that would cause us some moral unease. But I wouldn't say understand that this is a war about oil. Pure and simple. It is not a black and white situation with two clear sides — Good vs. Evil. It's one big gray mess.

We need to ask ourselves if we think it is legitimate to send young men over to die for our economic interest in oil. That's the honest question. And while we're at it we might want to think about why, days after Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, Bush lobbyists killed a Senate bill that would have nearly doubled the fuel efficiently of domestic automobiles and eliminated American dependence on foreign oil by the year 2000.

For me — this war is about profits of a few rich men who own oil refineries and who, incidentally, helped Bush get elected. I think it's a shameful situation and I hope we do not allow ourselves to be duped by Bush's use of false historical analogies. I support a peaceful solution to the Middle East crisis.

Trystan Skeigh is a Collegian staff member

Is student government doing its job? What is its job? How can it be done better? These issues effect our community every day.

On Thursday, November 29, the Ed/Op department will publish some of the community's views in a two page, extra-special, no-holds-barred bonanza. We need your input! This is a topic that effects everyone.

Write a column (about 65 lines) or a letter (less than 50 lines) and get it into the Ed/Op mailbox by Tues. night or Weds. morning. The Collegian office is in the Campus Center basement. We value your opinion!

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

Feb. 22, 1952: Veterinarians attempt the first skunk de-scenting operation.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

"Well, I guess I'll have the ham and eggs."

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

OKAY, LET'S GO TO WILLARD! NOW, WILLARD! HOW HOT IS IT, GUY?
HOT ENOUGH, BRIGHT A
HERE IN D.C. IT'S 105°! IN MY SHACK. PERFECT WEATHER FOR A SONG FROM THE FIRST CAV MEN'S CHORUS!
BUT FIRST, LET'S SEND BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO A GORGEOUS GREAT-GRANDMOTHER WHO'S 100 YEARS OLD TODAY!
LOOK AT THIS LOVELY LADY

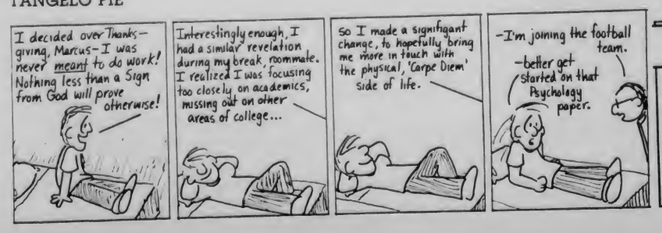
DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

DOC, I FINALLY GOT IN TOUCH WITH MY FEELINGS ABOUT THE TRI-STAR DEAL.
I WASN'T BEING TRUE TO MY PRINCIPLES, WHICH WERE TELLING ME THAT A 6% NET PROFIT POSITION WASN'T WORTH GETTING INTO BED WITH THAT SLIME BALL FOR.
BUT THEN I GOT STRESSED OUT OVER IT. I MEAN, WAS I REALLY BEING PRINCIPLED OR WAS I JUST GREEDY?
GOOD QUESTION, SID.
WHAT DO YOU THINK, GROUP?
GREED?! PRINCIPLED! CAN WE TALK ABOUT ME NOW?

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

A LOT OF PEOPLE DON'T HAVE PRINCIPLES. BUT I DO. I'M A HIGHLY PRINCIPLED PERSON.
I LIVE ACCORDING TO ONE PRINCIPLE, AND I NEVER DEVIATE FROM IT.
WHAT'S YOUR PRINCIPLE?
LOOK OUT FOR NUMBER ONE.

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN



I decided over Thanksgiving, Marcus—I was never meant to do work! Nothing less than a Sign from God will prove otherwise!
Interestingly enough, I had a similar revelation during my break, roommate. I realized I was focusing too closely on academics, missing out on other areas of college...
So I made a significant change, to hopefully bring me more in touch with the physical, 'Carpe Diem' side of life.
—I'm joining the football team.
—better get started on that Psychology paper.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

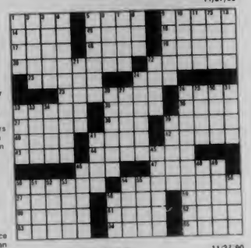
ACROSS
1 Throat of a bird
5 Cougar
9 Slippers
14 Anthropologist Claude — Strauss
15 At a distance
16 Flat-out
17 Novelist Kingsley —
18 Word with bound or bottom
19 River to the Bay of Biscay
20 Hodgepodge
22 Mexican beach resort
23 Dalhed
24 Vaudeville's Eddie
25 Go to the mat with
26 Symbol on a staff
32 Pastoral people of Kenya
35 Sudan's neighbor
36 Exceptional
37 Haiti, to Ahab
38 — about that!
39 New Zealand birds
40 Adam's third son
41 Seeing red
42 Credit
43 Low card
44 "— child is fair of face"
46 High mountain pass
47 Oxford cinchers
50 Evasive action
54 Decorative trim
57 Slip
58 Somewhat, in music
59 Fairy-tale character
60 Charter-ris hero, with "The"
61 Token taker
62 Shot on the ice
63 Early American home
64 Circus cover
65 Fall mo.

DOWN
1 Quahog
2 Send
3 Dispatch boat
4 Irresolute
5 March
6 Vehicles for ETs?
7 Aircraft speed measure
8 Flood refuge
9 Asian peninsula
10 Informed
11 Secular
12 Beige
13 Noticed
21 Excellence
22 Dorm resident
24 Imperfect
26 Sheridan's "The — for Scandal"
27 Rose feature
28 Intersect
29 Rules
30 Pennsylvania port
31 Ending with slug or song
32 Marina sight
33 Declare
34 Surfeit
39 Portable boat
41 Atmospheric pollution
45 Author of "Little Women"
46 — blanche
48 Symbolic bird
49 Particle
50 Relish
51 Dies —
52 Enthrall
53 Tract
54 Function
55 Sacred article
56 Withheld
58 Attention-getter

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

O	R	D	E	R	■	S	C	A	M	P	■	A	G	R	A
P	O	R	E	■	C	A	M	E	L	■	T	R	A	P	■
A	M	E	N	■	A	R	E	N	A	■	H	E	N	S	■
L	E	A	■	A	R	E	S	■	G	R	E	A	T	I	E
■	■	T	R	I	E	D	■	H	A	U	N	T	■	■	■
R	E	W	A	R	D	■	O	U	T	L	A	W	E	D	■
O	C	H	R	E	■	T	H	R	E	E	■	W	H	I	E
A	L	I	E	■	O	A	R	■	A	L	I	D	A	■	■
M	A	L	■	S	O	R	R	Y	■	E	N	T	E	R	■
S	T	E	L	L	A	R	■	A	R	T	E	R	Y	■	■
■	■	■	S	H	O	U	S	E	■	S	E	W	■	■	■
A	H	E	A	R	T	■	T	A	T	S	■	H	I	T	■
L	A	R	D	■	E	L	A	T	E	■	C	A	T	O	■
A	L	O	E	■	R	O	B	I	N	■	O	L	I	D	■
S	E	N	D	■	S	O	U	N	D	■	P	E	S	O	■

11/27/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/27/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Seafood Primavera Chicken Cutlet	Grilled Cheese Roast Beef
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Tofu Primavera Chicken Cutlet	Grilled Cheese Humus Veggie Pocket

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Unexpected developments make you see a relationship in a new light. Maintain your self-control. Check sale merchandise carefully. Marital ties deepen when you become more considerate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Constant fretting reveals a lack of self-confidence. You do not have to worry about being left out in the cold. Loyal allies will aid your cause. In-depth studies are in; superficial surveys are out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Allow your creative urges free expression. Married couples and business partners should guard against outside interference. Adopt a "put your cards on the table" policy in romance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A job efficiently performed could come to the attention of those who hand out promotions. Take special pains to avoid any pitfalls a predecessor fell into. Offer to assist a talented colleague.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Many hands help you do an outstanding job today. You risk making careless errors when you attempt to do everything by yourself. Learn to trust others. Delegate routine chores.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You must be sure of your information today. Verify something unusual that you read or hear to make certain you have not been misinformed. Do not rush to judgement in family affairs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Give more thought to your financial prospects. You need to enhance your natural talents. Put more effort into a key relationship; romance will flourish. Trust your intuition when making commitments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Do not expect too much too soon at work. It may take you a while to find your bearings. Stick with a job that pays good wages. Community service is the key to personal fulfillment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) The prospect of pleasures to come has you floating on air. Put your plans into action. Shady business dealings and tricky legal maneuvers are best avoided. Choose trustworthy allies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You are fairly certain of the amount of work you must do now. Roll up your sleeves and dig in! Group enterprises can be surprisingly lucrative. Find out more about a special project.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Make your intentions known to close associates. You are now certain in which direction you must chart your course. A dream may prove prophetic. Get together with old friends later in the week.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Work is the best antidote for those feeling at loose ends. Take steps to regulate your spending. Keep abreast of new developments in your field so that you can compete more effectively.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Sarah DeMaster
Copy Editor.....Kendra Pratt
Layout Technician.....Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician.....Jeff Holland
Production Supervisor.....Nicole Dumas
Typesetter.....Sue Kent
Production.....Billy Connor, Danielle Dowling, Maggie Trudell

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MEMPHIS BELLE
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:00
Student Discount w/I.D

PROTECT YOUR EYES
COMPLETE OPTOMETRY EXAM same day discounted fee
University Health Services
EYE CARE PROGRAM
Convenient Hours and Convenient on-campus location.
For appointments or questions call 549-2671

$2 off
per hour
Mac Rental
$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh* computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 12/31/90.
Open 24 Hours*
253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street
(across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon
kinko's
the copy center

1ST ANNUAL Talent Search
1990-1991 Showcase
9:00 P.M.
Tuesday, Nov. 27th
CASH PRIZES
$1.00 Cover
Friday, Nov. 30th 3-6 pm
Tim Boudreau and Friends
Acoustic Guitar & Vocals
FOREVER MORE
ALL ORIGINAL ROCK & ROLL
THURS. NOV 29th • 9 PM
BONGOS TO CIRCUS
Wednesday
Nov. 28th at 9 pm
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

New
The 1991 MCAT
Be Prepared.
Kaplan Is.
Free
Information
Seminar
Date: November 28
Time: 7:00 pm
For more information
or to RSVP:
Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center
358 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
549-5780
STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
79 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

DON'T STAY HOME
Roundtrip from NEW YORK (JFK)
London $412
Paris 480
San Jose C.R. 390
Bangkok 959
Hong Kong 879
Tokyo 759
Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT! Free student travel catalogue.
Council Travel

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE • CC 113 MON.-THURS. @ 10:30 OR 2:30 • DEADLINE 3 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ADVERTISE!!

IF YOU HAVE A BUSINESS CARD and you want a cheap way to advertise your small business, call the Collegian. It's perfect for student organizations and entrepreneurs as well. Runs every Monday. Cost: $20. Call the Collegian at 545-3500.

ACTIVITIES

25 + CLUB Social/General Meeting Thursday, 7PM, 11/29. Discuss activities, socialize. Into call Randy, 546-2183. $1 contribution requested. At Chabad House.

COME MAKE YOUR OWN SUNDAE at Hillel's study break in Dukes room SUB. Tues. Nov. 27 at 9PM. FREE!

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR! Don't miss it! Feb. 14 1991

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents. Rates 549-0733.

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week. Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50.

OPEN THE DOOR to an exciting and challenging career. Let CIGNA Corporation show you how as we discuss Actuarial career opportunities. To learn more about this challenging field plan to attend a meeting at which actuaries will discuss career opportunities at CIGNA. Members of all classes are welcome. Limited summer intern and full-time positions in both Connecticut and Philadelphia are available. Pizza & refreshments will be served. Dress is casual! Date: November 28, 1990 Time: 7:00-9:00PM Place: Mather Career Center

YO! THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS are going to vote tonight on our spring show. Come and vote everyone's welcome. Starts at 7PM.

AUTO FOR SALE

ENTERING MARINE CORPS- joining desert shield. Must sell '84 Chev Cavalier Red, Auto, AM/FM, good condition $1500/best. Mike 6-7296.

PURCHASING A USED CAR? Having your car repaired? Do you know your rights? Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime.

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM IN PRESIDENTIAL available 22 Dec. Call 549-5977.

2 BEDROOM N. AMHERST apt available Jan 1st to May option to renew lease. Free heat 549-0383. Call now!

GREAT SINGLE ROOM in Amherst available Jan May, on bus route $275.

ONE BEDROOM APT Amherst center! Quiet 256-1681 Matt/Kathleen. Available Jan 1.

ROOM IN FAMILY HOME, in Florence. No smoking/pets. $700/month. Call 586-7766 after 3:30PM.

SINGLE ROOM IN APARTMENT Center of Northampton. 2 minutes to bus. $185. Available Jan 1. Call Lisa 585-8745.

SINGLE ROOM IN HOUSE. $148/month & on bus rt. Call 253-9651.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNHOUSE Apt. available beginning January 1. Located on bus route. $725.00 a month. We'll buy you a keg. Call 549-1292.

FOR SALE

" FUTONS "
" at the mini-mall "
" November 27-30 "
" UMass Student Union "
" Lowest prices guaranteed "
" Buy now or reserve "
" for next semester "
" Metawampe Furniture "
" 256-0646 "

FOUND

A SET OF KEYS with Corona key holder. Found between village pk. and career ctr. If yours call Roy 549-4049.

GIFTS

HOLIDAY SHOPPING in one shot at the UMass mini-mall! Nov. 27-30 in the Student Union Ballroom. Lots of great items for the right price.

HELP WANTED

AMUSEMENT parks, holiday resorts Disneyland, 6 flags, are hiring. Great fun and get paid too! Reserve position by calling 1-805-682-7555 ext. K-1370.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll free 1-800-395-3283.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext B281.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-800-687-6000 Ext. K-9618.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach-1!

WANTED- Entrepreneurs looking to make $10,000 next summer operating their own franchisers of college pro painters information session Wednesday, November 28th at 4PM in the Campus Center room 801. Call 1-800-346-4649 for more info.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING 2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool. 2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August. Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department. Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS!

DO YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about your rights? Do you think your civil rights have been violated? Find out! Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

LOST

GOLD ROPE BRACELET lost. Sentimental value. Reward if found. Please call 546-7167.

PEARL NECLACE. 11/19 Herter or FAC? Please, please call 256-0004. Thank you!

MY WHITE SILK SCARF on Campus 11/15 between SBA and Marcus. If found please call 6-0439.

PERSONALS

APO PLEDGES- 4 days till the cabin weekend & initiation. Remember to dress warm. It can get pretty cold up there. Get psyched! Your P.Trainer.

BRANDYWINE HICK. Wanna go to NE semi-formal Nov 30. From the Brook Hick.

JONES. How many Big Mac's did you eat that day? Mac baby!

JUDY You are my light, my life, my love. Thank you for the best birthday ever! Tequeros! Juan

MELISSA, Thanks for being the best big sister I love you! Bonnie

RACHEL HOPKINS is twenty years old. Happy Birthday. Love Alan.

SCOTT- 220 Greenough. Happy Birthday (it's almost december!) M.

TO THE BEST DZ big sisters at S. East! St. you're the best! Love your little sisters.

TO THE CUTE GIRL with the distungly white sneakers in the Campus Center! Let's go to dinner!! From the white sneaker guy. Respond here!

RIDE WANTED

RIDE NEEDED FRI 11/30 to St. Lawrence Univ. Syracuse or anywhere in between. Please call Lisa 253-7317.

ROOMMATES WANTED

2 ROOMS FOR RENT in house. Take over first week in Jan. 262/room plus utilities. On bus route. Large room may be used as double (rent negs). Call 256-8979.

FEMALE NONSMOKER wanted to share room 549-0038 for December 1.

FEMALE ROOMMATE WANTED for Jan 1st. $187.50 heat included. Call Leah or Anne 549-4258.

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT? Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010.

PROFESSIONAL PAPERS, INC Computerized research library! All subjects, levels & topics. Call 4 research info. MC-Visa-Amex 1-800-447-2431. 10835 Santa Monica Blvd. (-201) W. Los Angeles, CA 90025.

SUBLET

I WANT TO SUBLET your room for January. Call Michele 546-0096.

NEED A ROOM FOR INTERSESSION? Single available in North Amherst House at bus stop. Call Sue 549-6446.

TRAVEL

CHRISTMAS, SPRING BREAK, SUMMER TRAVEL FREE. Air couriers needed. Cruiseship jobs. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. F 1426.

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30. TRAVEL WITH THE BEST! 1-800-426-7710.

TYPING

TYPING/WORD PROCESSING Service 665-8770.

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS. Resumes. Theses. Graphics. Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786.

SPORTS

Vermont catapults over Minutewomen in opener, 82-61

Hoopsters out-distanced by first-half, all UVM players scored

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

The Lady Catamounts of Vermont jumped out to an early 15-8 lead in the first four minutes and never looked back, mauling the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team 82-61 Sunday afternoon in Burlington, Vt.

The Lady Catamounts, led by a 20-point, 17-rebound performance from center Sheri Turnbull, out-rebounded UMass 47-28, including a 20-6 margin on the offensive boards and a 21-13 advantage in steals. All of Vermont's players broke into the scoring column. UMass' Keyburn McCusker had 16 points and 10 boards, now 0-1.

"We got easy shots. We just couldn't convert," explained UMass coach Kathy Hewelt of the Minutewomen's 37.5 game shooting percentage. "Ninety-five percent of our shots were 15 feet and in."

UVM's pressure defense forced 27 turnovers, encouraging easy baskets, according to Hewelt.

While UMass' full-court press forced 24 turnovers, UVM guards Missy Kelsen and Sue Marsland were particularly effective in the half-court game.

"They were good shooters, and when they drove on us, our help-side defense was a step late," Hewelt said. Kelsen finished with 16 points, while Marsland added 11.

Vermont, leading 48-34 at halftime, kept right on attacking in the second while UMass shot a scant 23.8 percent (5-21), effectively ending the game.

"We did well what I expected we'd do well, and didn't do what I expected we wouldn't," added Hewelt. "We had problems handling the ball, we didn't knock down open jumpers, and we're not committed enough in our rebounding."

What UMass did well, said Hewelt, was play solid defense and keep their intensity all game long.

"I liked the way we played," she said. "It was much better than anything we did last year."

Hewelt was particularly impressed with the play of guards Trish Hessel and Gloria Nevarez. Hewelt noted that Hessel only turned the ball over twice in 31 minutes of playing time, and played intelligently. Hessel scored 14 points, including two three-point field goals.

Nevarez worked well for UMass in 24 minutes of playing time, acording to Hewelt.

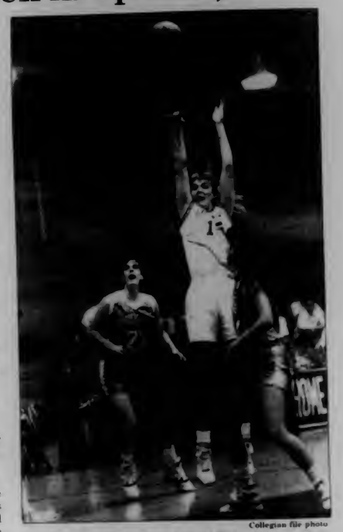
"She played tough defense and forced some turnovers," she said. "That's what it's going to take for us."

Turnbull, a freshman making her first varsity start, played a big game for the Lady Catamounts. She went 7-for-11 from the field and 6-for-8 from the free throw line, and snagged as many offensive rebounds (6) as UMass did all game.

"She had good positioning on her rebounds," Hewelt noted. "She played a smart game."

UMass' frontcourt didn't fare as well. Though McCusker led the team in scoring and rebounding, and hit six of eight foul shots, she went 5-for-17 from the field in what Hewelt said was an uncharacteristic performance.

"It seemed like Keyburn was trying to hard," she said. "Her shot selection was good but, at the same time, she struggled." Meanwhile, UMass' Kim Kristofik was saddled with foul trouble early on, and eventually fouled out, playing only 21 minutes. She finished with seven points, while Jenny Moran scored 10, going a perfect six of six from the foul line.



Collegian file photo

Keyburn McCusker (5-17 6-8) lead a meager UMass offense against UVM with 16 points.

NFL newsflash: Winners do lose

'IT AIN'T OVER 'TILL MILLI VANILLI 'SINGS' — banner hung at Milwaukee County Stadium during Green Bay-Tampa Bay game

Ay Carumba! The battle of the unbeatens that was supposed to occur next Monday night will now be, the battle of the-close-but-whoops-sorry-NOT's. The NY Giants fell to the Eagles from Philly and the dream team from San Fran lost to the, no, this can't be, the Rams? Yes it's true. There is no reason to get upset though, these teams are still 10-1 and the upcoming game on the 3rd of December will still prove to be pretty darn sick. Who do you take? Keeping in mind that the game will be in the Bay Area, the cash has to go with the 49ers. But, the Giants are my favorite team in the NFC. They may be old, but they aren't dead yet. My money is on the Jints (and I am willing to give points).

Dave Szpila

The Giants and the 49ers were not the only division leaders to take a beating this past weekend. The now 9-2 Chicago Bears took a pounding from the 5-6 Minnesota Vikings 41-13. The Vikings scored on their first six possessions of the game giving them a 34-3 halftime edge. There is an even bigger story than this though. Herschel Walker picked up 176 all-purpose yards including a 64-yard kickoff return. It is about time there, Herschel. Those Valium seem to be finally wearing off.

Another runner who was awakened from a deep slumber was Eric Dickerson. The veteran back rushed for 143 yards on 22 carries against what seems to be his favorite team to run against, the Bengals. Last year, Dickerson piled up 153 yards against Cincinnati. Eric's performance moved him into fifth on the all-time TD list with 83. Now, if he can get some blocking every week like he did this past Sunday, maybe he can start gaining some serious yards again.

The Steelers moved into a tie for first in the AFC Central division with a 24-7 V over the tail-spinning Jets. Bubby Brister threw a couple more interceptions but, hey, they won. The win gave Joe Walton a bit of a boost as well, showing that the offense that wasn't good enough for New York to use, was good enough to beat them. I am going to take some personal time here to offer a prayer for my favorite team: 'Please God, just get the Steelers to the playoffs.' Thanks for hearing with me on that one.

Hey, Tommy Hodson finally got the starting job for the Patriots. The rookie QB threw for a pair of TD's, ran for 25 yds, and had none of his 29 passes picked off. Just think what this kid could do if he had an offensive line! Depending on how this Christmas is to the shaving industry, maybe Quick Vic Kiam can pick up a few nasty guards for next season.

Well, I am running out of space here so — segue nothing, I am going to have to switch from the NFL to the NBA.

The Portland Trailblazers are now an impressive 11-0 after beating the Spurs 117-103 Sunday night in Portland. The Celtics are on the move, up to a 10-2 start, the Lakers are still wondering why the hell they got rid of Orlando Woolridge and Sacramento (1-10) is planning to play the Patriots in some sort of crazed benefit game to be held in somebody's BASEMENT. Adios all.

Dave Szpila is a Collegian staff member

Purdue boils men's hoop, 64-53

By ADRIENNE MATT
Collegian Staff
and The Associated Press

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Strategic and patient offense was nowhere to be found in the frontcourt of the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team last night as they dropped their season-opener to the Purdue Boilermakers 64-53.

In over 20 seasons, Purdue has never lost a home-opener, and UMass let that streak to continue in the Mackey Arena.

Fueled by their loss to Stetson (58-56) on a last-second three-pointer Saturday, the Boilermakers lit the burners in the second half of the game. A significant match for Purdue was Jimmy Oliver who scored seven of his 10 points during the decisive second-half rally.

Topping all scorers with 21 points, Minuteman William Herndon made all eight of his field goals and all five of his free throws.

Two of Herndon's free throws gave UMass its last lead at 14-11 with 11:33 left in the first half. Purdue scored the next six points on a slam and a rebound basket by Cornelius McNary and a short jumper from Woody Austin.

The Minutemen never came closer than 10 the rest of the game.

It became a typical question-answer type style of play and UMass did not have all the answers. Harper Williams was shut down often, underneath the net and passing in the key. Ineffective rebounding (Purdue 39, UMass 26) hurt the Minutemen tremendously, and the Boilermakers were ever-eager to capitalize.

With Purdue up 24-20 at the half, the tit-for-tat net swishing began but Purdue always remained in control.

Harper Williams hit two free throws that allowed the visiting Minutemen to pull within five points, 40-35, with 9:14 left in the game. The high-intensity, low-scoring game encouraged Boilermaker fans to repeat a rapid wave. The electrified audience prompted Purdue to respond. They exploded for 11 of the next 15 points, including a three-pointer and two other baskets by Oliver, to make it 51-39 with 4:32 left.

Oliver dragged Tony Barbee's game through the mud, Barbee getting off only six points. Stifled and aggravated, Barbee fouled out with five minutes remaining.

Purdue steared clear of foul trouble, committing only 13 to UMass' 21. Within seven to 12 points of each other, UMass as well as Purdue pitched time against each other and stalled with frequent second-half timeouts.

A last-ditch effort on a trey from Rafer Giles narrowed the gap to the 64-53 final. Anton Brown also completed a three-point goal but again Purdue conquered them in sheer numbers. Austin completed 3-of-4 as Oliver netted 2-of-7.

Assists were the more closely matched of all stats, Massachusetts with 14, and Purdue with 11. Brown led UMass in assists with nine.

Intermittantly coming off the bench, UMass' Jim McCoy scored 12 minutes into the second half, totalling four points, completing just 2-of-13. Williams was successful only on the free throw line completing 6-of-7. John Tate also netted six in 3-of-4 attempts.

UMass' Midwest newcomer Jeff Meyer and still-recouperating Kennard Robinson also saw some court time.

Collegian file photo

William Herdon (8-8 5-5 21) was the only statistically-correct Minuteman on the court at Mackey Arena in Indiana last night.

Purdue, 64-53

Purdue (64)
White 1-4 1-4 3, Oliver 7-15 2-2 18, McNary 3-7 6-7 12, Austin 5-11 0-0 13, Painter 1-2 0-0 2, Stanback 4-4 0-0 8, Barrett 0-0 2-2 2, Clyburn 0-2 2-2 2, Schoettelkotte 0-1 0-0 0. Totals 22-52 15-22 64.
Massachusetts (53)
Barbee 3-6 8-1 6, Herndon 8-8 5-5 21, Tate 3-4 0-0 6, Brown 2-6 0-0 5, McCoy 2-13 0-0 4, Robinson 0-0 0-0 0, Giles 2-10 0-0 5, Anderson 0-0 0-0 0, Williams 0-4 6-7 6, Meyer 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 20-51 11-13 53.
Halftime Purdue 24, Massachusetts 20. Three-point goals Purdue 5-14 (Oliver 2-7, Austin 3-4, Mount 0-2, Trice 0-1), Massachusetts 2-7 (Barbee 0-1, Brown 1-1, Giles 1-5). Fouled out Barbee. Rebounds Purdue 39 (Stanback 8), Massachusetts 26 (Tate 7). Assists Purdue 11 (Painter 8), Massachusetts 14 (Brown 9). Total fouls Purdue 13, Massachusetts 21.
A-814,123

WEATHER

No chapstick needed today! It will be partly sunny with temps in the upper 60s.

NEWS

UM administrators plan to spare untenured faculty from layoffs. Page 3.

SPORTS

Patriot team, players fined $73,300 for sexual harassment of a sports writer. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY NOVEMBER 28, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C THE LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 57

A 'Major' victory in England

Compiled from AP wire reports

LONDON — Treasury Chief John Major yesterday became the youngest person to be elected England's prime minister since the 19th century after his two opponents conceded the race to succeed former Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

Major finished ahead of two rivals but fell short of the necessary majority, winning 185 votes, two less than the simple majority required for election.

Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine had 131 votes and Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd had 56 votes.

Heseltine immediately announced that he would vote for Major on Thursday and Hurd also conceded that Major would win the race.

Major moved up quickly in a five-day campaign for the leadership after Thatcher announced last Thurs-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

AP photo

Prime Minister-elect John Major

Litigation proposition put off

Duffey calls proposal 'premature,' says it needs to be mulled

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Calling a proposal to reinstate litigation rights to Legal Services "premature," President-Chancellor Joseph Duffey last week removed the proposal from the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees' agenda for their Dec. 5 meeting.

Duffey, in a memorandum sent to the trustees last week, said the proposal needs more review from the University legal counsel before the trustees should make any decision. His memorandum outlined the agendas for both committee meetings and the general meeting next month.

"While I believe that it is appropriate that this matter be placed on the agenda for discussion and hope that the trustees can endorse the overall concept proposed, trustee action on the recommendations necessary to implement the entire proposal would be premature at this time," Duffey said.

However, the proposal to reinstate litigation is on the agenda for both the Academic and Student Affairs committee meeting and the Executive committee meeting on Dec. 4.

The proposal could be placed back on the main agenda if either committee votes to do so.

The proposal was drafted earlier this month by the Dispute Resolution committee, which is composed of student leaders and administrators. The stated goal of the proposal is "to achieve a more effective and efficient system for resolving the array of on and off campus conflicts that students encounter."

The alternative dispute resolution techniques mentioned in the proposal include mediation, negotiation, arbitration and the use of an ombudsperson.

The Dispute Resolution committee recommended in the proposal that the trustees take the following actions:

- Endorse the concept of a comprehensive system for the dispute resolution on the Amherst campus
- Rescind the August 31, 1987 trustee vote which withdrew the authority of Legal Services to represent students
- Authorize the staff of Legal Services to represent students in court and before administrative boards in landlord/tenant, consumer and civil rights matters except actions against the University and its staff, any municipality, or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts
- Establish a Legal Services Board which represents the various organizations on campus to develop a problem solving system.

Student Trustee Angus McQuilken said students have been sending at least 40 letters which urge support of the proposal to 15 of the trustees this week.

Black community urged to come together

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

Black men and women should put aside personal gains to help the Black community move forward as a culture when they graduate from college, according to a Black author and publisher.

"Nothing is wrong with ambition, as long as ambition is seen in the context of our culture," Haki R. Madhubuti said last night in a lecture at the University of Massachusetts. The lecture was sponsored by the Black Mass Communications Project.

Madhubuti said in order for Black culture to survive, there must be a sense of community, which is constantly denied to Blacks by Whites.

He said that in Chicago, where he runs the Third World Press, he found while Blacks were told to "rise up" over their culture, the same was not told to the large Jewish and Polish communities there.

"Other ethnic groups have connections," Madhubuti said. "We have been disconnected — disoriented. And all of a sudden we are the racists?"

He also said the Civil Rights movement of the 1960s was an important time for Blacks because it brought them together.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Dr. Haki R. Madhubuti

UMass holds candlelight vigil in memory of Harvey Milk

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Over 50 people participated in a candlelight vigil last night at the University of Massachusetts in memory of Harvey Milk, gay activist and city supervisor of San Francisco who was assassinated 12 years ago.

See Related Story Page 3

Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance spokesperson Amy Lesen welcomed the crowd gathered on the Student Union steps while fondly remembering Milk's accomplishments.

"We're here to honor, commemorate and celebrate a very wonderful man tonight," Leson said. "Harvey Milk is a symbol of what we, as lesbian, gay, and bisexual people can do and what we can become."

Felice Yeskel, director for the UMass Program for Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Concerns, said in 1978 she "lived across the bay" from San Francisco while working with Milk and others to oppose a piece of legislation to ban gays from teaching.

She described Milk as being one of the earliest gay individuals who "decided to stand out . . . before it was fashionable, before it was safe."

Yeskel said Milk stressed the importance for gay people of coming out and living their lives openly and honestly.

"Society acts to stifle us, every time we speak up, we are carrying on Harvey's struggle," she said. "[He encouraged us] to be honest, to be who we are, openly, courageously . . . that is what Harvey would have wanted."

Michelle Murphy, who works as an advocate for the Fenway Community Health Center, gave an in-depth analysis of homophobia and the increased incidence of gaybashing, examining legal definitions of harassment.

"If someone attacks you and uses any kind of slur indicating homophobia as the reason this can add up to 10 years to the assault sentence," she said.

Murphy discussed societal attitudes and solutions to gaybashing, telling the crowd to, "always prosecute and document" homophobic incidents.

Documenting the incidents increases the volumne of records which can be used to justify a gay rights law, Murphy explained.

And prosecution is a way of combating the increase of incidents, she said.

Warren Blumenfield, author of Looking at Gay and Lesbian Life and a member of the Boston Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Speaker's Bureau, stressed gaybashing is a growing problem as he listed many its many different forms.

The good news, he said, is that, "Lesbians, gays and bisexuals are coming out in greater numbers than ever before."

"As a marginalized group we are forcing society to take note of us," Blumenfield said. "Each time Harvey Milk spoke to a crowd he urged everyone to come out loudly and often . . . if we all did this, he said we would change the world."

After the speakers concluded, the group walked around the campus pond carrying candles to the site of a gaybashing incident that occurred in September, Lesen said.

For Your Information

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28

Meeting — Spirituality group will meet to share and discuss questions and experiences of the spiritual quest. Open to people of all faiths. It will be held at 7 a.m. at the Helen Hills Chapel, Northampton.

Slide Show — UMass CASA is sponsoring "The Unarmed Struggle: A Slide Show On Popular Organizations in El Salvador" by visiting scholar Robert Kirchner in CC 805-809 at 7 p.m. Stop by 423A Student Union for information. Following the slide show is a CASA meeting to which all are welcome.

Lecture — "Male Sexuality: Behaviors, Feelings, Fantasies and Orientations— Exposing the Myths" will be given by Charlie Kreiner, internationally and nationally known leader in the men's movement, at 7:30 - 10 p.m. at Hampshire College in Franklin Patterson Hall's Main Lecture Hall. This event is open to men and women. Sponsored by the Hampshire Men's Resource Center. For more information call Brian Oliver at 549-4600 extension 298.

Senate Meeting — Sponsored by Senate Operations, CC 163C, 7 p.m. - 12 a.m.

Film — A Fish Called Wanda will be held at 10 p.m. in the Davis Center Ballroom at Smith College. The film is sponsored by the Recreation Council.

Lecture — "Steroid Hormone Action in the Brain: New and Old Perspectives" by Jeffery D. Blaustein to be held at the UMass Morrill Science Center room 203 at 4 p.m.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29

Musical — The musical "Sweet Charity," sponsored by Music Theater Guild, will be playing at the Bowker Auditorium, showtime: 8 p.m., $3 students/$5 general public.

Workshop — There will be a women's outreach program titled "Raising Bi-racial Children in America" at 7 p.m. in Campus Center 902.

Cologuium — "Sensitivity to Sexist Humor," by Diedrick Snoek will be held at 4:15 p.m. in Burton Hall 213, Smith College.

Lecture — "Shifting Alliances and Allegiances: The Politics of State, Party, and Ethnicity on Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast," by Judy Butler will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Seelye Hall 10, Smith College.

Theater — The Tempest by William Shakespeare, directed by John Hellweg. For reservations, call 585-3220, Monday to Friday 1-4 p.m. Admission is $4 general public, $2 students/senior citizens.

Information Session — Any students wishing to apply for exchange during the 1990-1991 school year are highly encouraged to attend an information session to obtain the application and relevant information. The session will include a brief film presentation, an introduction by the coordinator, and a question and answer period and will be held 4-5 p.m. at the Campus Center room 904.

Art Auction — An Art Auction featuring the work of faculty, graduate and undergraduate students in the Art Department at UMass will be held in the Cape Cod Loung. Viewing the work will begin at 2 p.m., the auction will be at 4 p.m. All proceeds go to the Graduate Art Students Association, and will be used to bring noted artists to give public talks on campus.

Theatre — The University of Massachusetts Department of Theatre will present Messiah, a play by Martin Sherman, Nov. 29-Dec. 1 and Dec. 5-8 at 8 p.m. in the Rand Theatre. Tickets are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511. Admission is $5 for the general public and $3 for students and senior citizens. Advance reservations are recommended.

Discussion — "Voice of a Black Panther Woman", on women in the Black Panther Party and the Human Rights Struggles of the 1960s and 70s with Malika Adams, former member of the Black Panther Party, poet, lecturer at City College-CUNY, presently researching roles of women in the BPP and the party's community programs, 5 p.m. at the Malcolm X Center.

Lecture — "Saddam Hussein, The United States, Israel and The Question Of Palestine" by Rabbab Hadi, 8 p.m. at the Campus Center room 168. Sponsored by the Palestine Solidarity Committee and Solidarity.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30

Open House — The Amherst Historical Society will be having an Open House Party to celebrate the holidays at the Strong House Museum, next door to the Jones Library, from 4:30-7 p.m.

Parade — Join the UMass Minutemen Marching Band in the Celebration Of Lights. Depart from Haigus Mall at 4:50 p.m.

■ author

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I think the 60s put us on the right track of our agenda," Madhubuti said. Since the 60s, however, Madhubuti said, there has been a "war" between White and Black men which has weakened Black strength.

"The internal direction of Black men is destroyed by the war with White men," he said.

He said White American men, like President Bush, have created more racial division by sending Black men and women to war in the Persian Gulf against other persons of color.

The appointment of General Colin Powell, who is Black, to head the Joint Chiefs of Staff, justifies this plan, Madhubuti said.

Madhubuti said that he placed his focus on the oppression of Black men in his book, Black Men: Obsolete, Single, Dangerous?, rather than on both Black men and women, because "men run the world . . . Black men are the first victims."

He said White men oppress Black men because they are more threatened by Black men than by either White or Black women.

Madhubuti said, however, the fact that Black men have faced the worst oppression from Whites does not permit Black men to oppress Black women.

"Anytime you hold one-half of your people down," Madhubuti said, "you're just begging to be second-rate." He added that Black women are as important as Black men in maintaining the community.

Madhubuti has written five other books, including Killing Memory, Seeking Ancestors and Earthquakes and Sun Rise Missions, and is a co-founder of Third World Press, an independent Black publishing house. He is also the director of the Institute of Positive Education, a Third World cultural center.

CLAMS! CLAMS! CLAMS!
CLAMS! CLAMS! CLAMS!
CLAMS! CLAMS! CLAMS!

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MEMPHIS BELLE
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:00
Student Discount w/I.D

classé café
Breakfast
Scrambled Veggie & a Blueberry Muffin
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2231

EDUCATIONAL PRICING!

Available at:
UNIVERSITY STORE

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

LOCAL

United Nations emphasizes force in Gulf crisis

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke
Brian Urquart

By MARC ELLIOTT
Collegian Correspondent

The United Nations Security Council and the United States started on the right track with their treatment of the Persian Gulf crisis with sanctions, but have now chosen to emphasize force as a way to get Iraq out of Kuwait, according to a former United Nations official.

"I think the Security Council, led by the United States, started off on exactly the right track last August," Brian Urquhart, a Ford Foundation Scholar and former United Nations official said in a lecture last night at Hampshire College.

"[The Security Council] decided on very tough sanctions and everybody agreed that the sanctions would take six months to a year to begin to take effect and that this was the right way to go about it," Urquhart said. "Then force was deployed, quite rightly again, in Saudi Arabia because it did seem at one point there was a considerable threat from Iraq toward Saudi Arabia."

Urquhart said the emphasis has now moved from one of economic sanctions to a "massive build-up in Saudi Arabia."

Urquart added that the Persian Gulf crisis and the ending of the Cold War shocked the international world and showed some promise for peace in the future, as well as some of the problems with the international system as it is.

"The crisis over the capture of Kuwait by Iraq and the end of the Cold War are both events that have administered a very powerful shock to the international system," said Urquhart. "The end of the Cold War opened up certain possibilities. We have removed, at long last, that long winter which has beset the international world since 1946."

"The Gulf crisis," Urquhart continued, "is a rather negative shock and shows exactly how difficult it is to make the international system work and how easy it is for a determined and ruthless opponent to block an agreement or a decision even if all the other countries of the world are behind it."

Urquhart said the resolution of the Gulf crisis would be a great display of the world's capacity to foster peace.

"I think the most important question, in the long run of the Gulf crisis, is whether we have the stamina and the determination and the patience actually to make peace work," said Urquhart. "I don't mean just avoiding war. I mean all the basic things you have to do to make the world a more desirable place to live in."

Urquhart started his career with the U.N. in 1946 as personal assistant to the first secretary general and was involved in peacekeeping operations in Cyprus, Kashmir, and the Middle East.

The lecture, entitled "Peacemaking in a Divided World: The Role of U.N. Peacekeeping Forces," was sponsored by the Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies (PAWSS).

Untenured faculty spared

Money saved by not filling vacant positions

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts administrators announced yesterday that untenured faculty whose jobs were slated for elimination as part of a proposal to cope with recent budget cuts will not be layed off.

Administrators decided more money would be saved by not filling vacant faculty positions rather than eliminating the 19.5 positions which cost the University $924,000.

University Spokesperson Karin Sherbin said the Massachusetts Society of Professors, the faculty union, is still working with the administration to find alternative ways to cut spending.

Sherbin said a decision regarding the furloughs could be made as early as this week.

In October, administrators proposed faculty and staff go on five-day voluntary furloughs to save the University money.

John Cole, president of the MSP, said the administration's original plan of letting go untenured faculty was not the best way to save the University money.

"It was a rather silly move, the plan doesn't save the University any money now, it only will save the University a few million dollars a couple of years down the road," he said.

Cole added that the union is presently negotiating with the administration on a new plan and should have the results of the negotiating by next week.

The eliminations of four programs — staff development and organizational development in the School of Education, professional preparation in Physical Education, and community health education in the School of Public Health — are still under review by administrators.

The nine departments slated for reduction which have retained their untenured faculty include entomology, German, Italian, plant pathology, resource economics, Slavic languages.

Also, in the School of Education, research and evaluation, cultural and curriculum reform, and educational policy and administration will also retain untenured faculty.

The administration has been forced to make cuts in order to keep within the $16.6 million for this fiscal year.

The salaries of vacated positions will no longer go to departmental budgets and instead will help meet the needs of the total University budget.

Collegian Staff member Chris Muther contributed to this article.

Prof: Milk revolutionized social movements

By ALI WOOLWICH
Collegian Staff

Mount Holyoke Professor and feminist activist Jean Grossholtz last night told a small audience gathered in the Campus Center to honor Harvey Milk Memorial Day that "liberalism has a way of killing social change movements."

Grossholtz, in her talk entitled, "Lesbian and Gay Liberation: Keeping Harvey's Legacy Alive," spoke about what it was like in the 60s and 70s when no one said the words "gay" or "lesbian" out loud, when there were no openly lesbian faculty at Mount Holyoke, when Harvey Milk spoke out for the rights of all.

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland
Jean Grossholtz

She warned her audience of being lulled into the liberal thinking that purports that "we [gay men, lesbians, bisexuals] are just like everyone else." Liberalism tries to assimilate everyone into one great melting pot and deny the difference and uniqueness of gay people, said Grossholtz.

"In this racist, woman-hating, homophobic, classist society we shouldn't just take what they will give us individually, we should demand justice for all," said Grossholtz.

She cited examples of how liberalism can make activists shortsighted or selfish by: modeling gay commitment ceremonies after the model of heterosexual marriage, which she said have historically oppressed women and children, in order to gain mainstream social acceptance; getting partners included on health and life insurance policies for those who can afford it, instead of working to make health care accessible to everyone and encouraging lesbians to stay home and raise their own children and view that as their way of creating social change while in reality cutting them off from working with others.

In this current time when anti-racial discrimination legislation and abortion legislation are falling by the wayside, Grossholtz said we cannot grow complacent just because we have a little something.

"To be different is to be revolutionary — Harvey Milk knew that, and we must continue his legacy," said Grossholtz.

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland
Amerin Falk and Troy Cascia

Psychotic autobiography deserves more attention

By TAMARA SILBERMAN
Collegian Staff

The psychotic autobiography deserves as much attention as a regular biography, a University of Massachusetts English and Women's Studies professor who teaches classes on a variety of different psychological problems told a crowd of more than 100 people to Memorial Hall last night.

Prof. Lee Edwards, who teaches about different mental disorders through literature, said some students drop out of her classes halfway through the semester because they find the portrayed madness very disturbing, while others have trouble recognizing the madness in different literary works.

She said it took her "a long time" to explain that "madness is very concrete" to her students.

With madness, she said, the "ability to understand proverbs is annihillated."

"Analysts must not metamorphasize hallucinations," Edwards said, "even though it is possible to rationalize madness."

Hallucinations are "failed metaphors coterminus with physical reality," she continued.

If one reads Kafka's Metamorphasis and Castle as the authors's literary experience instead of political or existential allegories they are much more unsettling, Edwards said. If they are read as allegories, they don't instill the power and fear that was intended, she said.

While saying her interest in mental disorders is "not clinical," Edwards said it does not matter if a patient is diagnosed as schizophrenic, psychotic or manic-depressive. "The important part," Edwards said, "is the common ties that cut across different mental states."

Edwards has published numerous books, including Psyche as Hero: Female Heroism and Fictional Form. She has co-edited two books with Arlyn Diamond and is currently head of the Women's Studies Department.

Her lecture, entitled "On Schizotexts and Pathograms — Psychotic Narratives as Autobiography and Fiction," was the fourth of lectures in the Five College 25th Anniversary Lecture series.

ARTS & SCIENCE MAJORS

Co-op positions available
- excellent salary
- for students graduating May 1991 or later
- in fields competitive for permanent jobs

AETNA INSURANCE
Staff Training, Curriculum Development, Market Research, Writing, Publishing, Editing, Employee Relations

TRAVELERS INSURANCE
Speech Writing, Writing, Publishing, Public Relations, Graphic & Print Design

BOSTON GLOBE
Arts & Leisure, Newsroom, Health & Science, Sports, others...

IBM
Personnel, Staff Training, Recruitment

BOSTON CO. AMERICAN EXPRESS SHAREHOLDERS
Business Related Positions

Experience...don't leave school without it!
Contact Field Experience at 545-6265

THE MATHER CAREER CENTER
Career Planning and Placement • Cooperative Education • Internships
Fraternity/Sorority Park - on the Orchard Hill bus route. (413)545-2224.
Where Careers Take Off!

R.A. RECRUITMENT DAY

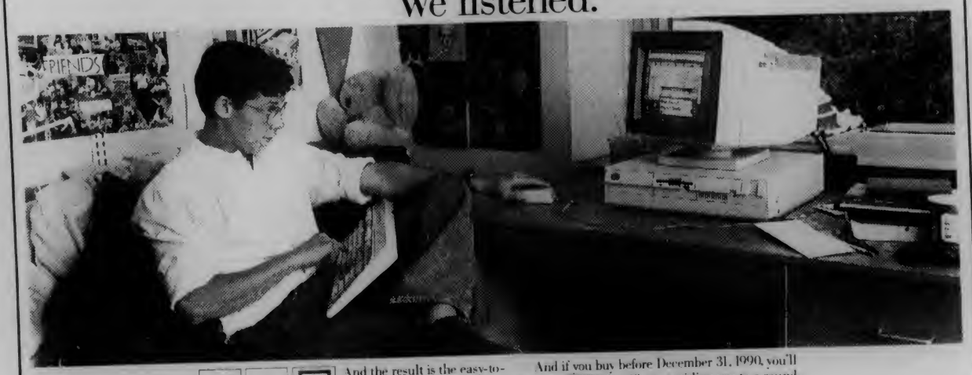
Wednesday, November 28th
Lincoln Campus Center

2:30 p.m. CC 903 Information Session about the Resident Assistant Selection Process 1991-1992

Information Table on the Concourse 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE!

You told us keep it simple and make it easy. We listened.



And the result is the easy-to-use IBM Personal System/2. With its preloaded software, including Microsoft Windows™ 3.0, just turn on the PS/2 and you're ready to go. Watch your ideas quickly come to life in papers, graphics, lab reports and even spreadsheets.

Plus, you can easily work on more than one project at a time. Simply click your mouse to choose from a variety of programs. And our special student price makes it easier to own.*

And if you buy before December 31, 1990, you'll receive a TWA® Certificate entitling you to a round-trip ticket for $149/$249. Plus a free TWA Getaway® Student Discount Card application. You'll also get a great low price on the PRODIGY® service.

It was easy making the IBM PS/2 easy to use. You told us how and we listened.

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

Located in the Campus Center

*This offer is available only to qualified students, faculty, staff and institutions that purchase IBM Selected Academic Solutions through participating campus locations. Orders are subject to availability. Prices are subject to change and IBM may withdraw the offer at any time without written notice. Valid for any TWA destination in the continental U.S. or Puerto Rico. You must travel September 16, 1990, through December 19, 1991, at the following round trip fares: $149.00 round trip for travel from September 16, 1990, through June 14, 1991, and September 16, 1991, through December 19, 1991; $249.00 round trip for travel June 15, 1991, through September 15, 1991. Seats are limited. Fare is non-refundable. 14 day advance purchase. Blackout dates and certain other restrictions apply. Complete details will be shown on certificate. Applicants for TWA's Getaway Student Discount Card must be full time students between the ages of 16–26. IBM Personal System/2 and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation. Microsoft is a registered trademark of Microsoft Corporation. TWA is a registered service mark of Trans World Airlines, Inc. ©1990 IBM Corporation. All rights reserved. Various marks and trademarks of Prodigy services, jointly a partnership of IBM and Sears. Windows is a trademark of Microsoft Corporation. IBM Corporation 1990.

IBM

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writers or cartoonists. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Chester Weinerman 1944-1990

On Monday, this newspaper lost a friend and mentor. Chester Weinerman, our former editor-in-chief in 1967-68, died in Boston after a two-year battle with AIDS. Along with his family and friends, we mourn his loss. We also celebrate his life. We do so daily, in the pages of the Collegian.

In 1967, the campus was in the midst of its boom years. Buildings sprung up almost overnight. The student body grew ten-fold in a decade. Chet Weinerman found irony in this, and his column, "Sam Spark Speaks," provided some of the best satire the campus has ever seen.

He also saw opportunity in the growth of the campus, and with a hard working staff, transformed the Collegian from a struggling thrice-weekly into what it is today — the largest college daily in New England.

Chet Weinerman left us a legacy. To a large degree we owe the opportunity to practice our craft to the efforts he expended 22 years ago. After his graduation from law school, Chet served as our lawyer, and never sent us a bill. He read the paper regularly and did not hesitate to call with advice or praise.

He served as president of the Collegian Alumni Association and his friends have honored him with a scholarship fund in his name. He never got the chance to meet the first recipient. But we had a chance, at the Collegian reunion in 1986, to be inspired by Chet as he spoke about his fears that newspapers were slipping into comfortable and dangerous patterns of "business as usual journalism."

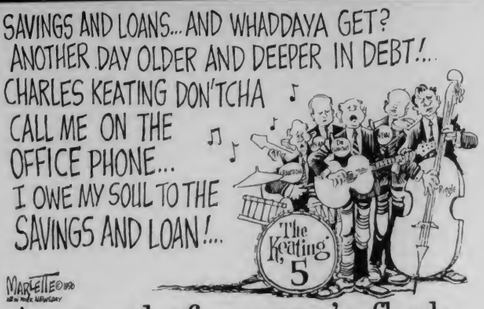
His words ring true today, and reflect a sensitivity and fighting spirit on which we all should reflect. He said:

"We must demand more of ourselves, each of us, to restore some balance, to give both sides of the story and not just the right and center right. It will not start at the top with the Globe, or Bryant Gumble, or with the Times. It has got to begin with a renewed sense of injustice that seems to have somehow drained from us in the last 10 years.

"It may begin with the young, and with the older, who have the ability to rediscover why journalism drew them in in the first place," he continued. "It can start with the Collegian . . . Remember collectively our idealism — what we did here, and what we were here. It is ours, if not to seize, at least to impact. For ink and moral goodness flows through the veins of the Collegian family."

Our family mourns his passing.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority of the board of editors.



SAVINGS AND LOANS... AND WHADDAYA GET?
ANOTHER DAY OLDER AND DEEPER IN DEBT!...
CHARLES KEATING DON'TCHA
CALL ME ON THE OFFICE PHONE...
I OWE MY SOUL TO THE SAVINGS AND LOAN!...
The Keating 5
MARTELLE '90

A pound of women's flesh

Why have I bothered going to college?

For the price of some self-respect, women can get the jobs that pay us the most. It's not civil engineering. It's not rocket technology. It's not movie-directing or newspaper publishing. These are in the sacred realms of men. No, what I'm talking about is for every red-blooded woman on the face of the Earth.

Pamela McCarthy

Pornography, prostitution, and stripping. Those are the jobs women make the most money at.

It's pretty sad. But when I say that, or that these things get me angry, I'm labeled as a "frigid," "uptight" censoring "dyke." (I don't even have to advocate censorship — and I don't — to get accused of promoting it.) What's my problem, after all? Don't I like sex?

There is a difference between sex and slavery.

Perhaps if we had magazines such as High Society, Penthouse, and Hustler for women, there wouldn't be so much anger and resentment. But women aren't supposed to like looking at men (unless you count Playgirl, a magazine that's tame even compared to it's male-oriented counterpart Playboy.)

We must not ever be the aggressor. We must not ever admit to liking sex. We must never be active in any way — unless, of course, it's to please a man.

Women who pose for these magazines, who walk the streets, and who strip for money, are not doing it because they love sex. It's slavery, pure and simple. It's domination. In a popular pose, women are on their knees or tied up. Women are at the mercy of the men they service, and it's men who set the agenda and the tone for all of this so-called erotica. The porn industry is far from equal. It's geared for men and men only.

The excuse we always hear about this is that women don't like such things. How would any of us know? We've been raised to not like it. It's not for us anyway. We are also not included in this dubious industry — we are only tools.

What the men in this industry call erotic is downright terrifying to me. Bondage, rape, and brutality doesn't get me in the mood, guys. I don't like pain, fear, or humiliation and I don't care how many psuedo-liberal men say I'm abnormal or frigid because of that. I guess I should get some counseling, or be force fed Debbie Does Dallas or Deep Throat in order to overcome my problem.

Whenever I walk into a newsstand, I see plenty of porn magazines of women for men. The few that feature men are either lame or geared for gay men. Men can admit they have hormones, we are labeled with the smear of mental illness (nymphomania) if we do the same.

Of course, we all know the reason why the porn industry is not geared for women. We have no voice and no power in this society. You can't tell me we do when a woman in Boston is beaten, stabbed, raped and bludgeoned, and the reaction to this crime is lukewarm at best. Why shouldn't it be? We've been told how it's our function to serve as a punching-bag, an arm-piece and a slave for men. But never, ever, are we told we are human.

Women who speak out against this are told they have a problem. We are promoting censorship (even if we never, ever try to block any sale of any of this garbage). We have a closet desire to be men (don't flatter yourselves, fellas.)

Degradation and humiliation never gave me a thrill. Bondage and brutality are painful, not erotic. Thank God, many men act like human beings. If they were all like the Porn Kings of the world, most of today's women probably would be frigid.

Pamela McCarthy is a Collegian columnist

University furlough plan will hit women harder

Fur-lough (fur-lo) n. a leave of absence; a vacation, especially one granted to enlisted personnel of the armed forces.
— American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language

The University administration is considering the implementation of involuntary "furloughs" across the board for all but grant-funded employees, and touts the idea as "equitable," presumably because everyone would be deprived of the same number of working days. We would like to bring to the attention of administration that, in actual fact, this "solution" is anything but equitable for many employees at this institution.

For one thing, it does not take into consideration the inequitable financial impact on women. Most females employed at the University fall into the lower salary scales as compared to male employees. Of these, a significant number are single-parent heads of households. As such, for many women and their families, one payless "furlough" day counts as two payless days compared with two-parent families where both parents have incomes. Since such women are taking home less pay anyway, because of the lower salary scales, the "furlough" further results in a much more drastic financial loss than it does for the average male employee. Multiply this by five, which is the proposed number of "furlough" days to take care of FY91 only, and you have women being impacted vastly more severely than men on this campus.

In these times where there have been no cost of living increases, but instead increases in the costs to many employees of health and dental insurance as well as other negative changes in financial stability, it is clear that quality of life under the "furlough" plan would disproportionately affect women, particularly those who are single-parent heads of households.

Statistically in Massachusetts, as well as federally, there is an increase in the "feminization of poverty." Currently, more than 65 percent of households below the poverty line are headed by women and over 75 percent of the poor are women. We, therefore, urge that the university administration drop the "furlough" idea altogether or significantly change it to reflect women's reality, with those earning lower salaries and supporting their families single-handedly being adequately protected. At least in the military you get a real vacation for your furlough, without loss of pay or imminent catastrophic family hardship.

Carol Wallace
Director, Everywoman's Center

Making UMass a better place

Earlier this semester, two homophobic incidents occurred on our campus.

Acts of violence, harassment and intolerance like these or of any kind are not acceptable here. Each member of our campus community must be able to live, work and study here without fear of violent or oppressive behavior.

We will seek to punish persons identified as performing or inciting violent or harassing acts through both the court system and the campus judicial system, as appropriate.

At a time when stress is high and morale low because of the uncertain fiscal health of the University, we must all work harder together to build a community which recognizes and respects the freedom and dignity of every human being.

I urge your active support and assistance in making this campus a better place.

Dennis L. Madson
Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

The Ed/Op page(s) of the* Collegian *exist to provide an opportunity for members of the community to voice their concerns and perspectives on the issues they hold important. Such forums are rare and can facilitate vital dialogue and exchange of ideas. But, these pages are only as relevent and powerful as the community makes them.

We all have opinions and concerns. The trick is taking the time to write them down. Letters to the editor should be less than 50 lines and columns between 5 and 75 lines. Put typed letters and columns in the Ed/Op mailbox in the* Collegian *office in the Campus Center basement. 21,000 readers are waiting to hear what you have to say — don't let them down.

Holiday Feast!
$6.99
Supremes!
We'll deliver medium Supreme pizzas for just $6.99 each!
Not valid with any other offer (including $4 pizza deal). Limit 5 per order.
We deliver Eureeka's Castle™ Puppets! There's Batly,™ Eureeka™ and Magellan.™ Collect all three! While supplies last.

Get 1, 2, 3 or 4 Medium Cheese Pizzas for just $4.00 Each dc-11/28/90
When You Buy One Medium Cheese Pizza for Just $6.49

FREE 2-Liter of Pepsi-Cola With any Medium Pizza Purchase at regular menu price dc-11/28/90

$3.00 Off Any Large Pizza $2.00 Off Any Medium Pizza dc-11/28/90

One Large Cheese Pizza for $7.99 Get a Second for Just $5.00 More dc-11/28/90

We Now Deliver To University of Massachusetts and Amherst College

Call for Free, Fast Delivery:

253-3443
318 College Street
AMHERST

ARTS & LIVING

Jacob's Ladder: Merely a ghastly image

By GEORGE LENTZ
Collegian Staff

Adrian Lyne's Jacob's Ladder has essentially one thing going for it: at times its images can scare the hell out of you.

Other than that, the film has very little to offer. The story, written by Ghost screenwriter Bruce Joel Rubin, concerns Jacob Singer (Tim Robbins), a young Vietnam vet whose grip on reality is threatened by hellish hallucinations that may be the result of a military experiment performed on his platoon. As Jacob begins to probe deeper into the mystery, his ability to properly discern reality from nightmare splinters as the two spheres become one. But what sounds like a compelling horror/suspense thriller is actually nothing more than a pseudo-intellectual allegory about the fear of death and the acceptance of fate. This is Ghost with more of the demons and less of the Righteous Brothers.

One of the reasons why Jacob's Ladder is such an incomprehensible, unsatisfying mess is Lyne's use of Rubin's story as a context for a series of disconnected images. The film lacks clarity and cohesiveness because Lyne is essentially trying to get some surrealist mileage out of a standard Hollywood narrative.

Every time he reaches for a level of abstraction with his composition, the film takes a wrong turn, jolting itself out of its narrative framework and into the land of music video aesthetics. The sad thing is, I think Lyne has the right idea with regards to the material. He's looking into the subtext of Rubin's script and trying to drag up all of its visceral elements as a means of tapping into our deepest emotions; but his surrealist tendencies are repressed by Rubin's narrative format.

THE SCREENING ROOM

The over-arching problem with Jacob's Ladder is the totality of its construction; but if taken on an individual level — viewing the film as a series of distilled images — Jacob's Ladder does manage to provide some genuine chills. The key to enjoying this film (and I'm reaching here) is to completely surrender yourself to the expectation of being entertained (the conflict between Rubin and Lyne's visions makes figuring the whole thing out more trouble than its worth).

If taken purely for its imagery, Jacob's Ladder can be a very disturbing experience. Lyne's most accomplished work within this film is his visualization of Jacob's hallucinations. Inspired by the work of artist Francis Bacon, Lyne creates spectral images of pure chaos, the most talked about and most frightening of which is the recurring motif of a faceless head, shot in close up as it whirs and vibrates in a violent spasm.

Through his careful manipulation of camera angle and rapid editing, Lyne's images flash upon the screen in short, brief jolts. He provides us with just a glimpse of the ghastly chalk-white faces, leaving the rest for our imagination. This is where the horror comes from! I have to give Lyne credit here — this film can be damn scary at times. Unfortunately, a few good jolts don't make a good movie. The choice is yours.

Photo courtesy Tri-Star

Michael (Matt Craven, right), who may have the explanation for the strange things that have been happening to Jacob (Tim Robbins, left), drags him away from an explosion in Jacob's Ladder.

This season's flock of Xmas shoppers are 'just looking'

By JOYCE M. ROSENBERG
Associated Press

The Christmas season began favorably for some retailers but poorly for others as consumers shopped cautiously over the Thanksgiving weekend.

The big retailers — even those reporting good business for the first three days of the season — still face a rocky road to Christmas amid the uncertain outlook for consumer spending.

Dayton Hudson Corp. was among the retailers pleased by its results. "We're very encouraged by the start of the season," spokeswoman Ann Barkelew said Sunday.

Ms. Barkelew said sales at the company's department stores — Dayton's, Hudson's and Marshall Field's — were about even with 1989's pace, while sales at the company's Target discount chain and Mervyn's apparel stores, "are off to a great start."

But the nation's largest retailer, Sears, Roebuck and Co., had a disappointing weekend. Matthew Howard, Sears' senior vice president for marketing, said Sunday that sales were "somewhat below our expectations."

"Consumers appear to be in more of a shopping mood than a buying mood now and they appear to be somewhat hesitant to make long-term commitments for big-ticket items," Howard said in a statement.

The weakening economy and the Middle East crisis — which sent oil prices sharply higher in recent months — have forced many consumers to cut back on spending. Shoppers interviewed around the country at the start of the weekend said they don't have as much money available for gifts this year.

Retailers reported that most buying this weekend was very traditional — and conservative — gifts such as sweaters, pocktbooks, ties and watches. Merchandise that was marked "on sale" also sold well.

Retailers went into the weekend, considered the traditional start of the Christmas shopping season, with lowered expectations as they watched their sales stall in recent months. Store owners generally make half their annual earnings from the Christmas season.

Business picked up for some stores, including the 40 Bon Marche department stores in the Northwest. This weekend's sales were "better than what we've been running" before Thanksgiving, said John Buller, senior vice president for marketing.

It's too early to tell how well the season will pan out. If the consumers follow recent years, shopping will fall off after the Thanksgiving weekend and gradually build to the last 10 days of the season.

Many retailers are pinning their hopes on those last 10 days. Howard noted that Christams, falling on Tuesday this year, follows a three-day weekend.

"As a result, consumers, may be delaying their purchases," he said.

Michael Gregory shines

Michael Gregory Band
Sheehan's Cafe
Monday, Nov. 26

Living in the area of our beautiful Pioneer Valley, lives one of the most original and intelligent songwriters of the African American rock'R and B genre that now is exploding in magnitude. Amazing guitarists like Vernon Reid, of Living Color don't even come close to what Michael Gregory and his band do to please an audience.

The crowd at Sheehan's was awed last night, as it has been every other Monday night in November, with Gregory's semi-blues crafted, yet hard driving, and of course, brilliantly crafted music.

Gregory hasn't been gaining the status he deserves due to the lack of his definitive "catagorization." Black stations have denied him air-play because his LPs are "too non-urban contemporary" for their supposed "standards," which rises the need for Black rock to be awarded a higher priority status on Black radio stations.

Subsequently, major stations on the upper end of the dial won't touch his material because it isn't the type of Blacksploitive lowest-common denominator crap that they advocate our Black youth to listen to. Which brings up the issue once again, "What is the message being conveyed?"

However, Gregory continues to top the charts in Europe. His latest platter, The Way We Used to Do has sold thousands of copies in France, Switzerland and Germany.

Despite the fact his undeserved lack of raging popularity in the States has confined him (somewhat) to playing small gigs, he'll be playing frequently in the upcoming months, and his compositions are sure to appease those with a flavor for a more colorful display of traditional rock.

– SAAD HOPKINS

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

ACUPUNCTURE & HERBS
• Womens Systems
• Fertility
• Young adolescence
• Family treatment
Amherst Fields appointment 256-0306

classé café
Lunch
Hot Homemade Soups
Hummus Salad
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

TWISTERS TAVERN
TONITE
Reggae Nite
Thurs. 29
Stuart James Band
" I saw Elvis on my beer label last night"
Fri. 30
Fabulous Homeowners
"responsible rock'n'roll by guys your own age"
Sat. 31
Free Press
"irresponsible, political rock'n'roll"
DINNER SPECIALS NIGHTLY!
FRIDAY LUNCH SPECIALS!
AVAILABLE FOR PRIVATE PARTIES!
Drink Specials
Miller Lite Bottles $1.50
Hopfenperle Bier $1.25
Vodka Tonics $1.50
HAPPY HOUR
4 - 6 MON - FRI
.99 .99 .99 .99 .99 .99 .99
SHRIMP Peel n' eat .99
Anchor Wings 1/2 order .99
NACHOS Cheddar &salsa .99
QUESADILLA Flour tortilla grilled with cheese and salsa .99
30 Boltwood Walk–Amherst, MA

Student accused of rape

Compiled by Collegian Staff Reports

NORTHAMPTON — A Northeastern University student was released on his own recognizance Monday after pleading innocent to a grand jury indictment charging him with rape and indecent assault and battery against a University of Massachusetts student.

Michael T. Peluso, 21, of Westboro, was ordered to stay away from the UMass student on Monday.

At the arraignment Monday in Hampshire County Superior Court, there was no request for bail, but District Attorney William Larkin asked that Peluso be ordered to have no direct or indirect contact with the alleged victim.

According to police, Peluso is accused of returning to a house where he had attended a party earlier that night and sexually assaulting the woman who lived there on Oct. 13.

Peluso was arrested at Northeastern University four days after the incident and returned to Amherst. He was arraigned in Northampton District Court and was freed on $5000 bail.

A pre-trial conference has been set for Dec. 20.

Several thefts reported

LARCENY

- A Furculo Hall staff member reported the theft of a video cassette recorder Monday. The estimated value was $650.
- A women reported that her wallet containing $23 in cash and other contents were stolen Monday from her book bag in the Lederle Graduate Research Tower. The estimated total value was $43.
- A women in Lederle reported Monday finding the contents of her wallet in the ladies room with the wallet missing. The estimated value is $25.
- A man reported Monday that his car parked in Lot 11 was broken into during the long weekend. The passenger door was broken, the ignition damaged and the car battery taken. The estimated damage was $295.

—PRESTON P. FORMAN

State cuts $13.4 Million

BOSTON (AP) — A bill slashing state spending by $13.4 million and giving the Supreme Court chief justice far greater authority to manage the state court system was approved yesterday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Legislators also set the stage for a possible vote to delay the new state sales tax that is scheduled to take effect on Saturday.

Ways and Means Committee Chairman Richard Voke, D-Chelsea, said the Paul Liacos and Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, were needed to allow the court system to cope with budget cuts.

"We believe this gives the SJC every economic consideration they have looked for," Voke said of the court changes. SJC is the abbreviation for Supreme Judicial Court, the formal title of the state's highest appellate court.

But the committee's action on the court provisions took some lawmakers by surprise and drew an immediate negative response from others. The measure could reach the House floor on Wednesday.

"This isn't something we should be doing in a lame-duck session," Judiciary Committee House Chairman Salvatore DiMasi, D-Boston, said.

DiMasi said the changes in court administration should be debated by the new Legislature that convenes in January and that even key judges acknowledged that the measure needs some fine tuning before it becomes law.

A report by the Ways and Means Committee, the bill would give Liacos and his successors the right to close courts, reassign judges and other court personnel except clerks and transfer money from one court district to another.

Money was not the only force behind the court overhaul bill.

A Boston Globe investigation earlier this year reported on tax work habits and apparent political influence in some courts. The court changes would give the chief justice clearer authority to deal with those issues.

UK election

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

day that she would resign rather than continue a leadership fight against Heseltine.

By the weekend, opinion polls showed Major was nearly as highly regarded by the public as was Heseltine, who has been prominent for a decade.

Major attracted support from prominent figures on the right wing of the Conservative Party, though his friends insisted Major's own views were more liberal than many supposed.

Major, 47, became a banker and Conservative Party activist, and was elected to Parliament in the first Thatcher victory of 1979. He was appointed to a junior ministerial post in 1985, then to the No. 2 position of the Treasury in 1987.

He emerged as a possible heir-apparent when Thatcher appointed him foreign secretary in July 1989, and then chancellor of the exchequer three months later.

He inherits a party and a government that have been torn by controversy over European policy and local taxes, and depressed after months lagging behind the opposition Labor Party in opinion polls.

Order your college ring NOW.
JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™
Dates: November 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, Deposit required: $25.00
at the University Store, Mon-Fri
Meet with your Jostens representative for full details.
See our complete ring selection on display in your college bookstore.

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trips from NY, starting at

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C R	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID.
EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue
Council Travel
212-661-1450

classé café
Dinner
Monster Burgers
Veggie Burgers
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS JUICE LABEL?
IF SO, THEN ASK FOR IT IN THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Tea with Company values your opinion

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY
53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385
- Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
- Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

The group that brought to you
SCHOOLHOUSE ROCK &
A CHORUS LINE
NOW PRESENTS
Sweet Charity
NOVEMBER 29, 30, & DECEMBER 1, 1990
at 8:00 pm in
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Tickets available NOW at the FAC Box Office
545-2511.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

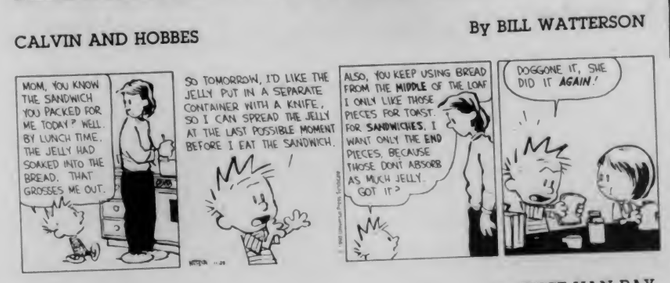
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

"Good heavens — just look at you! You've been down at the Fergusons' porch light, haven't you?"

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

HEY, WHAT'S THE DEAL, DOC? I DON'T SEEM TO BE GETTING MUCH SYMPATHY OVER MY DEAL FALLING THROUGH AT TRI-STAR!
WELL, SID, MAYBE THAT'S BECAUSE NOBODY IN THE GROUP CAN REALLY RELATE TO YOUR NEGATIVE EXPERIENCE THERE...
IT COULD BE NOBODY ELSE HAS EVER HAD A PROJECT IN DEVELOPMENT AT TRI-STAR
THAT'S TRUE! I HAVEN'T
YEAH, WELL I ALSO JUST GOT BURNED AT FOX!
YO! ME TOO! HEY, IS ANYONE BUT ME NAKED?

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



MOM, YOU KNOW THE SANDWICH YOU PACKED FOR ME TODAY? WELL, BY LUNCH TIME, THE JELLY HAD SOAKED INTO THE BREAD. THAT GROSSES ME OUT.
SO TOMORROW, I'D LIKE THE JELLY PUT IN A SEPARATE CONTAINER WITH A KNIFE, SO I CAN SPREAD THE JELLY AT THE LAST POSSIBLE MOMENT BEFORE I EAT THE SANDWICH.
ALSO, YOU KEEP USING BREAD FROM THE MIDDLE OF THE LOAF. I ONLY LIKE THOSE PIECES FOR TOAST. FOR SANDWICHES, I WANT ONLY THE END PIECES, BECAUSE THOSE DON'T ABSORB AS MUCH JELLY. GOT IT?
DOGGONE IT, SHE DID IT AGAIN!

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

And for this play, you throw a—
—Special Agent Marcus, reporting for duty.
Who are you?
Your new player. Or rather, your new secret weapon.
...known to send entire teams screaming for their mothers: Height— 5'9". Weight— 144. Strength— Legendary.
Testosterone level?
Boiling over.
You're in.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Raced
5 New York town on Great South Bay
10 Convened
13 Jason's ship
14 Gets close to 15 Punjab princess
16 She gives money for a molar 18 Wife of Geraint
19 Oriental
20 Livestock
22 Guido's high noses
23 Greek island, aka Santorini
24 One who makes sparks fly
27 Urgent
30 "Cakes and — Maugham
31 Fossil Comb. form
33 Room, in a maison
34 Short snorts
36 Wild dog of India
38 Lao's hideaway
39 Dobos or Sacher
41 "There is many — twixt..."
43 Alien transport?
44 Pittsburgh team
45 Like Africa's veld
48 — of the crop
49 Containing sulfur
50 Eleve's notebook
52 "Hope springs — Poco
56 Inland sea of Asia
57 New Year's eve visitor
60 First-prize color
61 Avoid looking at reality
62 Privy to
63 Chip off the old block
64 Compare to
65 Small change

DOWN
1 Granny
2 Indonesian craft
3 Some are inflated
4 Sign on the line
5 Part of the invisible spectrum
6 Connery and Penn
7 Chou En-—
8 Like some verbs: Abbr.
9 Beg course on human behavior
10 Christmas visitor
11 Indigo
12 Partner of time
15 Second last
17 Keller or Hayes
21 River dams
23 Danish gnome
24 Desires
25 Part TSE
26 "Finian's Rainbow" role
27 Intersect
28 Arabic letters
29 Baby — WC Fields's nemesis
32 Flock of finches
35 Unoriginal
37 Baker's dozen plus five
40 Waiting for the Robert —
42 Busybody
45 What gossips get with an 47 Of a blood vessel
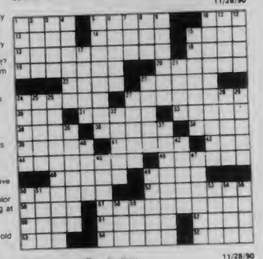
49 Timer
50 Taxis
51 A Guthrie
53 — days wonder
54 Chief god of Thebes
55 Fast season
58 Black cuckoo
59 For shame!

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	R	A	W	P	U	M	A	M	U	L	E	S
L	E	V	I	A	F	A	R	A	P	I	A	E
A	M	I	S	R	O	C	K	A	L	O	I	R	E
M	I	S	H	M	A	S	H	C	A	N	O	N
T	O	Y	E	D		F	O	O
				W	R	E	S	T	L	E	C	L	E	F
M	A	S	A	I		C	H	A	D		R	A	R	E
A	V	A	S	T		H	O	W		I	W	I	S
S	E	T	H		S	O	R	E		A	S	S	E	T
T	R	E	Y		M	O	N	D	A	Y	S
				C	O	L			L	A	C	E	S
Z	I	G	Z	A	G		R	I	C	K	R	A	C	K
E	R	R	O	R		P	O	C	O		O	G	R	E
S	A	I	N	T		S	L	O	T		S	L	A	P
T	E	P	E	E		T	E	N	T		S	E	P	T

11/28/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/28/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Hamburger on a Roll Clam Roll	Stir Fry Chicken Pineapple Ham Steak
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Oatburgers Clam Roll	Stir Fry Chicken Tofu Pattie

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19) Transactions with public institutions are favored. Your determination moves your career forward in a positive way. Encouraging words could make a tremendous difference now.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) Although your energy level may be low this morning, your vitality will return by afternoon. Don't be cautious about revealing personal matters to gossipy associates. A relationship will definitely have to end its been too long.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) Seek the support of influential individuals. A sacrifice won't pay off if you can't avoid emotional entanglements. Swear off secrecy and game-playing. Partner doesn't deserve honest answers.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22) Do not begrudge others their time in the spotlight. Early morning proves most advantageous where sex is concerned. Stick to your schedule to avoid missing appointments.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) Be assertive in pursuing your career goals. Your ideas will be sought by higher-ups. Speak up! Your chances to advance professionally will be greatly limited if you have no opinion to offer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) Concentrate on the task at hand and stop worrying about trivial criticisms. Going along with a co-worker's mood will let you accomplish more. Develop your pessimistic side. Success beckons!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22) Today's focus is on your relationships. New social and business alliances are favorable influences. With your eyes for quality, finding bargains is a cinch. Be aware of a loved one's body language; they might want more.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) Your self-esteem may act somewhat reserved today. Chances are this has nothing to do with you. Check out the legal aspects of a special project to prevent embarrassment later on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) Work activities that offer personal satisfaction deserve top priority. Welcome a chance to move ahead with a pet project. Family may not applaud your romantic choice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) A bad day for handling financial transactions. Exercise caution if buying or selling property. Organize your workspace better and productivity will rise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) Set promises in writing doing so will save you both time and money. A romantic relationship perks up tonight. Defer to another person's wishes this evening and you will win new friends.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20) Show more initiative at work today. Zero in on the easiest tasks first. People may be discussing you behind your back (that means you Sam). Do not be concerned their comments are complimentary.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor.....Tamir Lipton
Layout Technician.....Terry Starmer
Photo Technician.....K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor.....Terry Starmer
Typesetter.....Beth Clark
Production.....Tracey Richman, Steve Paris, Mark Sturm, Jen Fatkin, Preston P. Forman

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS

2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route

CALL 665-2203

D.P. DOUGH

DELIVERS CALZONES

$1.00 OFF
2 CALZONES
exp 1/21/91 • one coupon per 2 Calzones • Delivery Only

DOUGH HOTLINE : 256-1616

DELIVERY HOURS:
M–F 4:00–2:00 A.M.
SAT. 11:30–2:00 A.M.
SUN. 11:30–1:00 A.M.

ONE MILLION OF THE BEST MINDS IN AMERICA HAVE ALREADY CHOSEN THE BEST RETIREMENT PROGRAM.

TIAA-CREF.

TIAA-CREF is building a sound financial future for more than 1,000,000 people in the education and research communities. And over 200,000 retirees are now enjoying the benefits of their TIAA-CREF annuities.

We currently offer you Supplemental Retirement Annuities (SRAs) and are working with sponsors of legislation that would allow the Board of Regents to establish an Optional Retirement Plan (ORP) in Massachusetts. ORP-type plans are currently offered at public institutions of higher education in 41 of the 50 states.

SOLID PERFORMANCE AND TIMELY INNOVATION

Whether you are just starting your career or you are nearing retirement we can help you prepare for the future. Since 1918, we've been dedicated to making sure that people in education and research can count on a comfortable retirement.

We pioneered the portable pension. We invented the variable annuity. In 1988, we created the CREF Money Market Account to give you more flexibility. And in March of this year, we introduced two new accounts, the CREF Bond Market Account and the CREF Social Choice Account, to let you shape and diversify your retirement investments even further.

At TIAA-CREF, we believe that steady incremental growth over the long term is the best way to build retirement income. This investment philosophy has worked well for over seventy years, and has provided retirement income for hundreds of thousands of people like you.

THE KEYS TO RETIREMENT INVESTING

Security, growth, and diversity are the keys to sound retirement investing: security, so the resources are sure to be there when it's time to retire; growth, so you'll have the income you need for the kind of retirement you want; and diversity to help protect you against volatility and to let you benefit from the strengths of several types of investments.

TIAA AND CREF—A SMART COMBINATION

TIAA's traditional annuity provides maximum safety, guaranteeing your principal and a specified interest rate. It also gives you the opportunity for growth through dividends—which we've declared every year for 41 years. In fact, TIAA's net earned rate has beaten the industry average for every one of those years.[1]

With CREF's variable annuity, you can choose from four different investment accounts, all managed by experts who understand the long-term strategies essential to sound retirement planning.

THE FIRST CHOICE IN EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

The TIAA-CREF retirement system is specifically designed for people in education and research. You may move from one institution to another many times in your career, so your annuities move with you to any of over 4,200 institutions with TIAA-CREF retirement plans. You need financial security, so the system provides retirement income you cannot outlive. Plus, the TIAA-CREF system offers:

Performance: The CREF Stock Account outperformed the mutual fund industry averages for the last one-, five-, and ten-year periods. The CREF Money Market Account has shown excellent returns since its inception, outperforming the industry average since May of 1988.[2]

Responsiveness: Our experienced counselors are ready to answer your questions. Call our toll free numbers for performance figures or information about your personal annuity accumulations.

Strength: Your future is protected by the largest private retirement system in the world. We have done so well, for so many, for so long, that we currently manage over $80 billion in assets.

For further information contact:
TIAA-CREF
100 Oliver Street, Suite 3200
Boston, MA 02110
1 800 842-2004

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠

1 American Council of Life Insurance 2 Sources: Lipper Analytical Services, Inc. Mutual Fund Performance Analyses Reports, Growth Funds Index and General Equity Funds Average, ending 6/30/90; Donoghue's Money Fund Averages/All Taxable

For complete information, including charges and expenses, call 1 800 842-2733 ext. 5509 for a prospectus. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money.

$2 off
per hour
Mac Rental

$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh* computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 12/31/90.

Open 24 Hours*
253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street
(across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon.

kinko's
the copy center

WINTER INTERSESSION 1991

January 2 - 18, 1991
Weekdays 9:00 am - 12 noon
Earn transfer credits towards your degree.

While other people are wasting their holiday break this winter worrying about their future, you can be doing something positive about yours.

For the first time, the University of Lowell is offering an intensive, 3-week Winter Intersession. Choose from a range of credit and non-credit courses that can accelerate your degree program, or prepare you for the highly competitive marketplace.

Credit courses: Arts and Sciences, Engineering Technology, Computers, Management, Music.

Non-credit courses: Workshops in career development, job search techniques, self-assessment and Lotus 1-2-3.

Cost: An affordable $85.00 per credit.

Call 934-2480 for a Winter Intersession Bulletin and registration form; or fill out the coupon below. University of Lowell, Division of Continuing Education, Winter Intersession, One University Avenue, Lowell, MA 01854

University of Lowell
Continuing Education

Name
Address
City State Zip
Phone ( )
College

This University of Lowell is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Title IX University.

Do something great for yourself, and still have plenty of time left for fun!

PROSPECTIVE SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS...
Are You Dedicated? Motivated?
Ambitious? Hard-Working?
Responsible? Organized?

Are You Interested in Sales?

If you answered YES to the above questions The Collegian has a job for you
Applications for

Advertising Account Executive

are now being accepted. APPLY NOW. Come to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center (Rm. 113—Lower Level) and pick up an application
DEADLINE: TUES., DEC. 4
The Collegian is an E/O/E

■ football

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

of the four to receiver, where seniors Ron Blauvelt and Mike Tobin will leave a hole.

The graduation of four members of the offensive line — center Jay Gabbe, tackle Al Pogarian, and guards Paul Mayberry and Tony Giudice — could mean a switch for some underclassmen on defense, too.

Tackle Steve Brothers and safety Pat Doran are the lone seniors graduating from the second-ranked defense in the nation. Linebackers Matt Tulley, Mario Perry, Greg Mattern, Scott Assencoa and Bobby Burke all return, as will Matt Rajotte, Don Caparotti, and Allen and Vaughn Williams from the defensive backfield

RÉSUMÉS
CopyCat Print Shop
• Great Service • Great Prices
228 Triangle St./Amherst 549-3840

B G F

PROFESSIONAL TYPING

Word Processing:
Dissertations
Cases
Papers

Affordable
Dependable
Mac/LP
On-Campus

Nancy
584-7934

TEACH IN PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

Providence School Department
Recruiter on Campus
Thursday, November 29, 1990
Urban School District
Multi-Cultural Multi-Lingual
School Environment
Great Salary and Benefits

Providence Schools
OUR SCHOOLS OUR FUTURE

Minorities Encouraged to Apply at Mather Career Center

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-5:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ADVERTISE!!

IF YOU HAVE A BUSINESS CARD and you want a cheap way to advertise your small business, call the Collegian. It's perfect for student organizations and entrepreneurs as well. Runs every Monday. Cost: $20. Call the Collegian at 545-3500.

ACTIVITIES

25+ CLUB Social/General Meeting Thursday, 7PM, 11/29. Discuss activities, socialize. Info call Randy, 546-2183. $1 contribution requested. At Chabad House.

FBI JOBS IN ACCOUNTING Thursday Nov 29 7:00 CC 804-805 speaker Bob Gardner sponsored by the Accounting Association

JOIN THE BEST PARTY ON CAMPUS. The UMass Republican Club. Meeting today 7:00PM CC901. New members welcome.

LIKE VIDEO? UVC-Union Video Center. Check us out. SUB behind the Hatch. Great hands on experience!

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR! Don't miss it! Feb. 14 1991

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

COME TO SWEETS N MORE in Field House. Bring this ad and get two chocolate chip cookies for only 50¢!

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week. Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50.

FLASH! WMUA Newsmeeting today 5:00 or 7:00 in Newsroom.

"SWEET CHARITY" Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 8PM in Bowker Auditorium. Tickets available at the FAC Box Office.

AUTO FOR SALE

1993 THUNDERBIRD Heritage Edition loaded. Excellent Condition. 5.0EFI. $2700. 256-8251 Dolan.

ENTERING MARINE CORPS- joining dessert shield. Must sell '84 Chev Cavalier. Red, Auto., AM/FM, good condition. $1500/best. Mike 6-7296.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL.

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime.

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APT in town $500/mo Jan 1. Flexible lease 253-2562.

1 BEDROOM IN PRESIDENTIAL available 27 Dec. Call 549-5977.

2 BEDROOM N. AMHERST apt available Jan 1st to May option to renew lease
Free heat 549-0383
Call now!

ATTENTION SKIERS! Walk to Canon Mt. sleeps 4- kitchenette hot tub- pool avail. by day or by wk. $550/wk or 85/day. Call Anne 546-1993.

BEAUTIFUL TWO BEDROOM Apartment, half mile to campus! 549-5914.

CONDO IN BELCHERTOWN/AMHERST 2 bdrm 475 call 253-2352.

GREAT SINGLE ROOM in Amherst available Jan-May, on bus route $275. 256-8319.

I NEED YOU...to take over lease. Single room in Amherst Apt. Bus line. 250/mo utilities incl. Call Chris 253-9708.

ONE BEDROOM APT Amherst center! Quiet 256-1681 Matt/Kathleen. Available Jan 1.

ROOM IN FAMILY HOME, in Florence. No smoking/pets. $200/month. Call 586-7766 after 3:30PM.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two bdr apt in Colonial Village starting Jan 1. Leave message 253-2432. First month rent free.

SINGLE BEDROOM in beautiful ranch style house 250 + 2 miles from campus. Ask for Bruce 549-6951 evenings.

SINGLE ROOM in 3 bdr Puffton. Cheap rent 180.00 includes utilities. Looking for responsible non-smoker. Available for Jan 1. Call 549-4509.

TAKE OVER LEASE in Brandywine Apt. One rm available. Need 2 people 185 incl. everything! Call Sean 549-6971.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNHOUSE Apt available beginning January 1. Located on bus route. $725.00 a month. We'll buy you a keg. Call 549-1292.

FOR SALE

COMIC BOOKS 4 sale. cheap. Call Paul 253-5066.

 FUTONS ***
* at the mini-mall *
* November 27-30 *
* UMass Student Union *
* Lowest prices guaranteed *
* Buy now or reserve *
* for next semester *
* Metawampe Furniture *
* 256-0646 *

JB PLAYER GUITAR Neck thru body, locking nut, w/tremolo $150 or b/o. Mike 6-0272.

MAPLE TABLE & FOUR CHAIRS $150. Good condition. 665-8765 after 6:00.

ROUNDTRIP TICKET Providence to West Palm Florida 12/22-1/6. $300 or b/o. Call 549-8047.

SKIS, BOOTS, POLES, like new- call Mike after 6PM 256-6104.

SKIS AND SKIWEAR. Brand new Descente racing pants $99 B.O., and Descente parka $750 B.O. Also new padded sweater $99 B.O. Rossignol skis $50. Call 546-3501.

FOUND

A SET OF KEYS with Corona key holder. Found between village ph and career ctr. If yours call Roy 549-4049.

GOLD BRACELET found outside Tobin Hall on Nov. 20. Call to identify. Jason 6-6458.

GOLD FRAMED BI-FOCAL GLASSES in light brown case outside of Prince House. Call to claim 546-2535.

GIFTS

HOLIDAY SHOPPING in one shot at the UMass mini mall. Nov. 27-30 in the Student Union Ballroom. Lots of great items for the right price.

GREG SUKIENNIK-SPORTSGEEK

YEAH, the Collegian does bring people together- like us. Obsessions are unhealthy, so just relax. I'm not going to rush off on you. I love you. Kathy

HELP WANTED

THE COLLEGIAN is seeking a responsible sophmore or junior Business Major to fill the position of Subscriptions Manager for the spring semester. All encouraged to apply. Applications available at 113 Campus Center. Apply no later than 12/7.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9616.

PART-TIME WORD PROCESSOR You will produce and edit memoranda, proposals and graphic productions of presentations and marketing materials. Requires typing skills of at least 80 wpm. At least (1) year of wordperfect as well as knowledge of msdos. Other word processing and publishing software knowledge desirable. For consideration please resume to: Chan Computer Corporation, 441 West Street, Amherst, Ma 01002.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach-It.

WANTED- Entrepreneurs looking to make $10,000 next summer operating their own franchisees of college pro painters information session. Wednesday, November 20th at 4PM in the Campus Center- room 801. Call 1-800-346-4649 for more info.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING 2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool. 2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August. Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department. Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS!

DO YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about your rights? Do you think your civil rights have been violated? Find out! Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

LOST

PEARL NECLACE 11/19 Herter or FAC? Please, please call 256-0004. Thank you!

MY WHITE SILK SCARF on Campus 11/15 between SBA and Marcus. If found please call 6-0439.

PERSONALS

ACCT 221 BRUNETTE COULD BE. We spoke briefly. You questioned me about checking out reserve material. And yes you were near the copier. Now your smile's still with me. DD

BETH H. HAPPY BIRTHDAY from the Grayson Field Staff and good luck in the real world.

TO: C
Yes, it's possible
But I may know now
I'll keep you posted
From: D

TO ONE OF RUSS'S BOYS
You steamed up the windows at Boyden against B.C. You looked hot!
Kat

RIDE WANTED

RIDE NEEDED FRI 11/30 to St. Lawrence Univ, Syracuse or anywhere in between. Please call Lisa 253-7317.

ROOMMATES WANTED

FEMALE NONSMOKER wanted to share room 549-0038 for December !

FEMALE ROOMMATE NEEDED to share quiet 1 bdrm apt in Sunderland. On bus rte. 665-1170.

FEMALE ROOMMATE WANTED for Jan 1st. $187.50 heat included. Call Leah or Anne 549-4259.

FEMALE TO SBLT SINGLE in 5 bdrm house. Great loc $240 mo & util. 253-5474.

MALE NONSMOKER to share large room Squira Vl. Call 665-2428 $150.

ROOM FOR RENT IN PUFFTON Apt. for January. 211.50 & utilities. 549-5303 or 546-1577 A.S.A.P.

SHARE LARGE ROOM in Presidential Apartments. Rent $155. Available Christmas. 549-4800.

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT? Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6015.

PROFESSIONAL PAPERS, INC. Computerized research library! All subjects, levels & topics. Call 4 research info, MC-Visa-Amex: 1-800-447-2431, 10835 Santa Monica Blvd. (-201) W. Los Angeles, CA 90025.

SUBLET

I NEED A PLACE to live during Wintersession. Please call 546-0233.

I WANT TO SUBLET your room for January. Call Michele 546-0096.

NEED A ROOM FOR INTERSESSION? Single available in North Amherst House at bus stop. Call Sue 549-6448.

SUBLET a convenient, Townhouse Apt. For next semester with 2 girls. Call 549-8001 and come meet us!

TRAVEL

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI WEEK $189 for 5 day lift ticket, 5 nights lodging (mountainside condo), 5 days intercollegiate activities, sponsored by Labatt's & Mt. Sutton, Canada, group leader discounts. Jan 6-11 or Jan 13-18. Call Ski Travel Unlimited 1-800-999-SKI9.

NEW YEARS EVE IN MONTREAL! 3 days for $119. Call Paula 546-1944. Deadline: Friday.

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30. TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710.

TYPING

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive, quick and accurate. campus pickup & delivery. Call Lisa 256-8695.

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS Resumes, Theses, Graphics, Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786.

SPORTS

For UMass football, a season at the top

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Coach Jim Reid knew he had a good football team when he held practice at 5:30 a.m. five times this spring, and none of his players were late.

"I set three alarms, myself," Reid said "It showed a knowledge on their part that they could be good if they worked hard. This team had a special work ethic, and they were fun. Anytime you've got that you've got a chance."

The sting of Saturday's season-ending 38-0 playoff loss at William and Mary has faded some, Reid said, leaving behind a pile of accomplishment fo him and the University of Massachusetts football team to think about this winter.

The Minutemen (8-2-1) won more regular-season games than any football team in school history and captured their third Yankee Conference title in five years (their first outright YanCon crown since 1978).

And they beat Delaware, something no other UMass team had done in 14 meetings between the two school dating back to 1958. "That was an albatross around my neck for 10 years," said Reid, who was an assistant coach at UMass before being named head coach in 1986.

Last week, 12 players and Reid were decorated with postseason honors by the Yankee Conference. Reid was named Coach of the Year, sophomore quarterback Gary Wilkos won Co-Offensive Player of the year honors, and freshman tailback John Johnson was awarded Rookie of the Year.

Wilkos is a question mark for next season after fracturing a vertebra at the base of his neck at Delaware. Three quarterbacks that played in his place, junior Paul Tornatore, sophomore Tom Fasano and freshman Dave McGovern, will return.

"We have no idea about Wilkos," Reid said. "We're assuming he'll never play football again and if we get him back, then that's a plus."

Reid also has some decisions to make at tailback, where senior Jerome Bledsoe will return from a medical redshirt season to join Johnson, freshman Eric Thimas and redshirt freshman Demetrius Owens on the depth chart.

Reid said he is considering moving one

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Collegian photo by Tom Burke

Junior tackle Rich Kane (50) tied linebacker Mario Perry for the team lead in sacks this season with eight. Both return next year for the Minutemen.

Collegian file photo

Yankee Conference Co-Offensive player of the Year Gary Wilkos' status is undecided for next season.

Olson verdict: Patriots team, players fined total of $73,300

Mowatt, Perryman, Timpson fined, Kiam issued strong letter

AP photo

Lisa Olson

By Barry Wilner
AP Sports Writer

Two New England Patriots players and a former team member were fined a total of $20,500 and the team was fined $25,800 yesterday by the NFL for involvement in the alleged sexual harassment of a female reporter.

Zeke Mowatt was given a $12,500 fine, while Micheal Timpson and Robert Perryman were each fined $5,000.

In addition to the team fine, the Patriots were ordered to pay $25,000 for instructional materials on responsible dealings with the media.

No suspensions were given in the incident, which involved Lisa Olson of the Boston Herald.

The fine, levied by NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, came after special counsel Phillip Heymann of the Harvard Law School submitted a 68-page report on the incident.

Tagliabue concluded that "a serious incident occurred on Sept. 17 while Lisa Olson of the Boston Herald was interviewing cornerback Maurice Hurst in the Patriot's locker room. The incident involved misconduct of certain Patriots players that was degrading to Olson.

"Professor Heymann's report is thorough and balanced," Tagliabue said. "It treats the entire episode on a factual basis, not with speculation, rumor or rhetoric."

Mowatt and Timpson are still with the Patriots, but Perryman was released on Nov. 6 and now plays for the Dallas Cowboys.

Tagliabue called the players' actions and statements "completely uncalled for and improper. Mowatt's conduct involved both verbal and demonstrative actions. Timpson and Perryman encouraged the misconduct."

Tagliabue also concluded, based on Heymann's report, that the team's management failed to comply with NFL policy on equal media access "in that the club did not adequately supervise its players, did investigate and resolve a serious incident of misconduct in the club's locker room and appeared to condone the misconduct of the Patriot's players."

"In a letter to Patriots owner Victor Kiam," Tagliabue reiterated "my strong belief that the Patriot's organization and its players have learned a hard lesson from this episode and that everyone involved will best be served if this controversy now comes to an end without further recriminations."

Men's hoop hosts Marathon Oil

The madness returns to the Cage tonight

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team steps back into its exhibition schedule tonight against Marathon Oil. Tip-off is 7:30 p.m.

The Minutemen opened their regular season with a loss Monday night at Purdue. Tonight's scrimmage was scheduled after the season opener by the Atlantic 10, according to UMass assistant coach John Robik.

"We'd have liked to play before, just to get another game under our belts for Purdue," Robik said. "But it's still a plus for us. We're going to be able to play a lot of people and see what we can do."

Coach John Calipari said he will play his starting five for half of tonight's scrimmage and use the rest of the game to give reserves Kennard Robinson, Jeff Meyer, and Chris Robinson a look.

Marathon Oil is a touring club of former college players, including Mike Born of Iowa State, Jeff Timberlake of Boston University, Earl Kelley from Connecticut, Sherman Williams from Indiana State, and Mike Bell of Oklahoma. The team plays more than 40 games against college teams each fall and has played nearly every day since mid-October, Robik said.

Last winter the Minutemen posted a 30-point win against Marathon Oil.

Saturday in Philadelphia, the Minutemen will play the first game of their Atlantic 10 schedule against St. Joseph's.

Photo by Richard DuCree

Kennard Robinson and the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team will scrimmage Marathon Oil tonight at the Cage (7:30 p.m.).

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY THURSDAY NOVEMBER 29, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 58

WEATHER	LOCAL	THIS WEEKEND
What goes up must come down. Temperatures in the 30s today.	Study shows one of every 500 college students has the AIDS virus. Page 3.	The passion of Sarafina! will come to Bowker Auditorium this Saturday and Sunday.

Students prepare for call to Gulf duty

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Matthew Heam, a 20-year-old University of Massachusetts junior in the National Guard, is prepared for the phone call which will send him to Saudi Arabia in the next two months.

Heam, an undergraduate in the School of Management, said there has been speculation in his company, Company C2-104, that more students will be called up by January.

History major Thomas Rudman, also a UMass junior, has already been called up and is prepared to leave anytime soon. He said he is unable to reveal where he will go or what will be his exact day of departure.

He has been in the Marine reserves for the past two and one-half years and is from Belmont, Mass.

"I'm all set to go," Rudman said. "My family all know. It's kind of hard — I've been engaged since the summer so there's a lot to leave behind."

Rudman said the University and his professors have made it easier for him to leave by giving him all of his grades in advance.

So far, out of 200 students in the National Guard and some 60 in the army reserves, at least 11 men and women have already been sent to the Middle East and the numbers are changing daily, according to the University Press Office.

Heam said if he were called up, he would not be sent directly to Saudi Arabia, but to a desert combat training camp in the United States or in Europe.

Both Rudman and Heam said they support the present U.S. policy in the Persian Gulf.

"I couldn't say that anyone really wants to go, but I'll go to protect U.S. interests," Heam said. "It's for a good cause."

Rudman said he "had no problem with going," but the timing of the phone call which told him to get his things in order really surprised him.

"I thought I would be called up in September, but I wasn't," he said. "After that I thought I wouldn't be called so I was surprised."

Heam said he was physically ready to report for duty and has had substantial training. However, he said he is unsure whether he could handle actual warfare mentally.

"I feel like I'm ready, but if I saw my buddy next to me get shot, then I don't know what I'd do," he said.

At the present moment, about 330,000 U.S. troops are in Saudi Arabia and the Bush administration is sending another 200,000 troops to the Middle East.

Collegian photo by Richard Ducree

LOOKING AHEAD — Raina Flowers walks down Park Avenue recently in New York City.

U.N. to vote on ultimatum

SAUDI ARABIA (AP) — Today the United Nations votes on a U.S.-sponsored resolution demanding Iraq withdraw from Kuwait by Jan. 15 or face possible attack, while a leading Congressman said yesterday he opposes using force against Iraq now.

According to the resolution, Iraq will have until Jan. 15 to withdraw its troops from Kuwait before facing the prospect of military action. Soviet and U.S. diplomats fixed the deadline in the last 24 hours, Western diplomats said on condition of anonymity.

The resolution authorizes "all necessary means" to get Iraq out of Kuwait after that date.

But Iraq yesterday called for dialogue. Iraq's deputy prime minister, Taha Yassin Ramadan, said Bush "is leading the entire world to a ruinous war" and "has no other choice but to come to his senses and initiate a dialogue."

Ramadan indicated, however, Iraq had not softened its position on Kuwait, saying it was intent on ousting "aggressors and traitors" from Arab land.

In Baghdad, meanwhile, Iraq's deputy foreign minister yesterday urged President Bush to open talks on restoring peace in the Persian Gulf, although he did not offer concessions regarding Kuwait.

Another Iraqi official denied yesterday that Baghdad was preventing Soviets from leaving the country. On Monday, the Soviet Foreign Ministry accused Baghdad of breaking a promise to allow Soviets in Iraq to leave and threatened a "tougher attitude" if they were not granted freedom.

Students see hope at jail

Programs provide help for drug addicts

By SARAH DEMASTER
Collegian Staff

"Smitty," as he calls himself, has a new outlook on life.

Addicted to drugs and alcohol since he was a teenager, Smitty has been attending Narcotics and Alcoholics Anonymous for the past three months.

"Like [NAA's slogan], I finally got tired of being sick and tired," he said of his decision to enter the group. Now, Smitty is modeling and studying to be a hairdresser.

Smitty is one of the success stories which students from University of Massachusetts Professor Peter Parker's sociology class, "Drugs and Society," discovered yesterday during a visit to the Hampden County Jail in Springfield.

Nine students accompanied trip leader Roy Eddington on a tour of the jail and its pre-release center. Students then spoke with members at a noontime meeting of NAA at a Springfield church.

Eddington, a former drug addict who spent 11 months at the jail, is an employee of the Veteran's Assistance and Counseling Service at UMass. He speaks in high school and college classrooms about drug use and stereotypes surrounding inmates.

Sheriff Michael Ash, who became director of the 103-year old jail in 1975, said his administration has tried to move away from "warehousing" inmates, but provides rehabilitation instead.

The prison has a number of programs, including general education equivalency tests, welding, printing, manufacturing, and ward processing, directed at teaching vocational skills and responsibility. The jail also holds Alcoholics Anonymous meetings to help drug addicts recover.

While the facility is designed for 312 inmates, it holds 450 men, who average 18 years old. Most are incarcerated for drug trafficking, and they serve a maximum term of two and one-half years. While 10 percent have serious mental disorders, about 80 percent are successfully rehabilitated, and the remaining 10 percent return on second or more offences.

The 21-day pre-release program is located near the jail. About 52 people reside at the facility, while about 20 live at home and participate in the day-reporting program.

Inmates who have six months or less remaining to serve may apply for the day-reporting program, in which they live at home, hold jobs, and are monitored by control officers.

Terry Vecchio, the program's director, said, "We give people the information and the tools to stay away from drugs."

Several of the NAA members have served jail terms. Before touring the jail, Amy Hodgkins, a UMass senior and communications major, said her course has made her more open-minded about drug users. After meeting David, an NAA member, she said, "I wanted to tell him . . . he's a lot more secure than people I know who have never tried drugs."

Speaker tells of inequality and suffering in El Salvador

Collegian photo by Alexandra Rizzo

Robert Kirchner

By LEAH ARINIELLO
Collegian Staff

More often than not the El Salvadorean armed forces are interested in the wealthy, according to Robert Kirchner, a visiting scholar who spoke at Campus Center last night.

Kirchner was involved with a family from El Salvador in Washington D.C. One member was returning to retrieve a child, so he decided to go with him.

"I hooked up with a delegation and saw more things than I would if I was a tourist," Kirchner said.

The few 'opulent' houses are hidden behind high walls, Kirchner said. "Factories have neatly trimmed and well watered lawns with hundreds of gardeners."

The slide show he presented showed how the majority live.

"Seventy percent live in shacks," he said.

Houses constructed of cardboard, roads like riverbeds, and malnourished children unable to attend school because they couldn't afford a piece of paper, filled the slide show. "It's puzzling they could persecute their own people," Kirchner said.

Kirchner spoke with a hotel clerk who used to be in the army. He was 13 when the government came into his school and took him.

"They were threatened with death if they didn't shoot," he said.

"The village begged me to tell fellow Americans to stop sending bombs and tanks to the Salvadorean Army."

Moving Off-Campus?

Check out

CLIFFSIDE APARTMENTS

Affordable, Quiet & Convenient
1 & 2 Bedrooms
from $400/month
ALL UTILITIES INCLUDED
5 miles to UMASS
On Sunderland Bus Route
Pool, Tennis & More
Furnished Apartments also available

Ask about our free rent special

248 Amherst Rd (Rt 116)
Sunderland 665-3958

DON'T STAY HOME

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT! Free student travel catalogue.

Council Travel

ARE YOU PREGNANT
& IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
Same Day Results
Services that are
Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful.
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
an alternative to abortion.

Need cash? Own any gold?
CASH FOR GOLD
Progressive Gold Recycling
256-0842
Highest offers in the state!

Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Forum

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Forum comes out every Thursday.

Future Disc Jockeys become host for WMUA Gay Issues show for the Spring Semester. For more info call Ali: 546-5025.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29 Diversity Group is having a video night showing "Tongues Untied," and "Dona Herlinda and Her Son" at 7 p.m. Space is limited — call Joe at 584-0224 before 5 p.m. for more info. LBG people of color are welcome.

LBGA Political Committee mtg. Student Union 413B, 6:15 p.m.

Film co-sponsored by the LBGA and the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns. "Lianna," Campus Center 803, 7 p.m.

RAP Bisexual issues. SU 413B, 7:30 p.m.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30 Day long Colloquium "The Many Faces of AIDS," the third annual UMass AIDS Colloquium, in observance of World AIDS Day, Dec. 1. Speakers, presentations, and exhibits 10 a.m. to 2:45 p.m., in CC 904. LBGA Coffee Social CC check schedule by the elevators for room number, 3 to 6 p.m.

Dance sponsored by the Amherst College FLBGA. Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom, free, 9 p.m.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1 DANCE-O-RAMA the LBGA finishes another bodacious semester. 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., $3 donation.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 3 Diversity Group last meeting of the semester. ALANA students welcome. CC check schedule for room number, 7 p.m.

Bisexual Group at Hampshire College meets in "The Closet," 7:30 p.m., all are welcome.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4 LBGA Meeting come get on our new mailing list for the spring. SU 413B, 6:15 p.m.

Women come to the LBWU. The Women's Weekend trip in December still has a few spaces left; get details about the traditional End Of The Semester Potluck.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5 Rap new topic every week, sponsored by the LBG Counseling Collective. SU 413B, 8 p.m.

One of Milli Vanilli duo arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rob Pilatus, one-half of the fallen lip-syncing pop duo Milli Vanilli, was arrested in connection with sexual battery, police said.

Pilatus, 26, was arrested early this week at his home, said police spokesperson Maureen Dambach.

Police said the alleged victim was a 25-year-old woman but gave no other details. Sexual battery is defined as touching "an intimate part of another person while that person is unlawfully restrained."

Pilatus was freed from jail on $10,000 bail, and also paid $485 for outstanding traffic violations, police said.

Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413 253 2563

ZANNA

THE PERFECT PARTY MIX.

Silks, Taffetas and Velvets.

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11am 7 days a Week
Kitchen open 'til midnight
Game Room with 2 pool tables

Tonight 10c Beer Steamed Baby Franks
9:00p.m. — 12:00 a.m.

Drink of the Week
Bourbon and Ginger Ale $1.75

Beer of the Month
Labatt's $1.75

Food Giveaways
Mon. 10 cent Mozzarella Sticks 9pm-12am
Tues. 10 cent Buffalo Wings 9pm-12am
Wed. 25cent Pizza Slices and 99 cent Nachos 9pm-12am
Thurs 10 cent Beer Steamed Baby Franks 9pm-12am
Sunday 10 cent Potato Skins 9pm-12am
WE ACCEPT MC-VISA-AMEX

Don't Miss This!
Last Two Days
LEATHER GOODS
SAVE! 50–70% OFF!
BOOK BAGS • TRAVEL BAGS & TOTES
• BACK PACKS • HANDBAGS
• BRIEFCASES • WALLETS

Book Bags — SAVE 70%
Briefcases — SAVE 70%
Flight Bag — SAVE 70%

Thursday & Friday
HANDBAGS • WALLETS • PORTFOLIOS
SAVE 70%

Campus Center Concourse 10-4
Last Chance-
Shop Now for Holiday Gifts

Sponsored by UMASS Baseball

UNLESS YOU HELP.
Volunteer just 3 hours and you can help others this season.
CALL: 586-5243
THE SALVATION ARMY

JACKSON'S FLEA MARKET
EVERY SUNDAY
Indoors - 6:00 A.M. - 5:00 P.M.
Where THOUSANDS of people shop every Sunday for Antiques, New & Used items, Baseball Cards, Furniture, Crafts, etc. In fact "If you can't find it at Jackson's you probably don't need it."
MT. FARMS MALL RT.9 HADLEY, MA
Deal info. (413) 584-2300
(On Northampton Bus Route)
FREE ADMISSION•FREE PARKING•CATERED

LOCAL

Leaders stand firm on Legal Services fight

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

If the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees does not table the limited litigation proposal for Legal Services until the February meetings, student leaders say they will file a legislative bill for full litigation rights.

Angus McQuilken, student trustee, said yesterday that he will make a motion at the Dec. 4 Board of Trustees Committee on Student and Academic Affairs to table the trustees' final decision on the proposal until the Feb. 5 trustees meeting.

His motion will be "to endorse the 'Comprehensive Approach to Dispute Resolution Proposal' in concept, with final approval pending a vote at the February 1991 meeting of the Board of Trustees. Refinements will be pursued cooperatively between General Council William Searson, Trustee Lawrence DiCara and McQuilken."

"There are some specifics that need to be worked out between now and February," McQuilken said. "We're not going to give up five years of work for a two month delay."

President-Chancellor Duffey removed the proposal from the agenda of the Dec. 5 trustees meeting. Although he said he supported the proposal in concept, he felt the proposal was "premature" and needed further review by Searson and DiCara.

DiCara is a Boston attorney and Searson is the University Legal Council.

McQuilken said if the committee does not support his motion, he would submit the proposal as a late bill before the state House of Representatives and the state Senate. Any bill filed after Dec. 5 is considered late.

While the proposal before the trustees would restrict Legal Services from taking actions against the University and its staff, any municipalities or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the bill would ask for full litigation rights.

"If we have to bring these to the Senate and the House of Representatives, then we're going to ask for full litigation rights," McQuilken said.

McQuilken said some trustees objected to the provision which forbids Legal Services from taking action against a University employee "in the scope of their employment."

McQuilken said the "legalese" wording could be changed so that, for example, Legal Services could take action against a professor who is also a landlord as long as the action revolves around a landlord-tenant suit.

Some trustees also questioned how the proposal, to allow Legal Services to litigate in landlord-tenant, consumer and civil rights cases, would define "civil rights."

The trustees rescinded Legal Services right to litigate in August of 1987.

A committee of student leaders and administrators created the alternative dispute solving proposal earlier this month.

They proposed that a campuswide system of mediation, negotiation, arbitration, use of an ombudsperson and limited litigation rights be created for students' legal needs.

Study shows AIDS risk in colleges

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff
and the Associated Press

About one of every 500 U.S. college students is infected with the AIDS virus, and further spread of the deadly disease is likely on campuses unless students change their sexual habits, a recent study of 19 colleges and universities, including the University of Massachusetts, concluded.

Based on the new findings, the U.S. Center for Disease Control estimates that between 25,000 and 35,000 college students are infected with HIV, the AIDS virus.

Dr. David Kraft, executive director of University Health Services said he found the results "not surprising."

"Based on other studies that have been done in the military and the job core, they roughly came up with the same figure," Kraft said.

He said he hopes the results of the study will place increased pressure on colleges and universities to increase AIDS awareness.

"[Health Services is] very concerned about students' sexual attitudes and behaviors," he added.

Kraft said although the study was not a random sample of colleges and universities, he said he thinks the numbers are a good representation of the number of college students with AIDS.

"Risky behaviors are occurring, and now we know we have the infection. It is cause for concern and appropriate attention," said Dr. Helene D. Gayle, who directed the study at the CDC.

The study is the first nationwide attempt to judge the presence of HIV on college campuses. It shows that the virus is probably about as common on campuses as in the public at large.

However, the researchers cautioned that AIDS could still spread dramatically among college students, just as some other sexually transmitted diseases have done.

"I think probably the most important thing from this study is that it shows us the potential," said Dr. Richard P. Keeling of the American College Health Association, a co-author. "The combination potential for very serious disease tossed into campus behavior has the potential for very serious consequences in the future. It also shows us we have an opportunity to prevent that."

The study was based on random testing of blood samples drawn from 16,863 students at 19 schools, most of them large state universities. It found that two-tenths of 1 percent of the students were infected with the AIDS virus.

Among other results of the study, published in the New England Journal of Medicine:

- Overall, the survey found 30 AIDS-infected students. All but two of them were men.
- The infection rate was half of 1 percent for men and two-hundredths of 1 percent for women.
- Those ages 24 and older were seven times more likely than younger students to be infected.
- At 10 of the 19 campuses, the survey turned up no AIDS infections at all.

The researchers noted that the risk of AIDS for college students is far lower than among some other groups, such as male homosexuals and drug abusers. "The potential clearly exists, however, for the further spread of HIV infection in this population, and preventive measures are needed," they wrote.

Keeling said the study underscores the need to convince college students to use condoms, limit the number of their sexual partners and otherwise reduce their risk of becoming infected.

"Our concern is that now that we have documented the presence of HIV on college campuses," he said, "it is essentially a reservoir from which the virus can spread to other people if we do not succeed in changing behavior."

Keeling, who also runs the student health service at the University of Virginia, said students often feel AIDS is something that does not concern them. Other factors that may enhance the spread of the virus include widespread casual sex, poor skill at negotiating safe sex practices, and the frequent combination of sex and drinking, which makes people less cautious.

However, Ku participated in a recent study which found that condom use among teenagers has doubled during the past decade.

Dr. Weinstein of the University of Massachusetts Medical Center recommended more intensive programs by colleges to change students' behavior and attitudes toward sex, drugs and alcohol.

"We want to create a new milieu on campus, where safer sex is the 'in' thing, and it is unacceptable to be blitzed out of your mind," he said.

The study was based on testing of blood samples drawn for other purposes at student health centers. Although researchers promised not to reveal AIDS rates at individual campuses, Keeling said many schools refused to participate because they feared being labeled as "an AIDS college."

Collegian photo by Alexandra Horn

"Severed Mind," by John Fleming on display at the "Illuminating AIDS through Art" exhibit at the Franklin County Artspace in Greenfield.

Student activists plan to blockade Air Force base

By MARC ELLIOTT
Collegian Staff

A meeting of about 50 student activists to organize Five-College participation in a blockade of Westover Air Force Base and continued protest action against the U.S. military build-up in the Gulf was held this week at Hampshire College.

The meeting, sponsored by the People for a Socially Responsible University, was a planning session to aid the blockade, which the American Friends Service Committee has set for Saturday Dec. 1.

PSRU organizer Scott Hertzberg estimated about 500 people would participate. "It's going to be big," said Hertzberg.

The blockade of the Air Force Base is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

"People will be trying to shut down the base," said AFSC leader Frances Crowe. "They will be blocking the entrance-ways with their bodies."

Hertzberg recommended that those going to the event bring a form of identification and $25 in case of arrest.

Crowe said 20 people were arrested by the Chicopee Police for trespassing during the Oct. 20 of the base.

The event, with the theme "Support the Troops, Bring Them Home," is slated to begin at 1 p.m. at the Fairfield Mall in Chicopee with a march and a rally following at 1:30 p.m.

Professor Anne Fergeson of the University of Massachusetts Philosophy department, Arther Serota of the Springfield Learning Tree organization, and several Vietnam veterans are expected to speak at the rally.

Transportation to the blockade and rally will be provided from Haigis Mall at 10:45 a.m. Saturday morning. PSRU is scheduled to hold a training session for nonviolent action in the Butterfield main lounge tonight at 7 p.m.

Faculty to be spared cuts

Staff positions will be left unfilled instead

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

While University of Massachusetts administrators and the faculty union are still negotiating alternatives to a five-day furlough, other budget-cutting measures are saving faculty positions in nine departments, according to Provost Richard O'Brien.

Earlier this week, the Collegian reported that "administrators decided more money would be saved by not filling vacant faculty positions rather than eliminating the 19.5 positions."

"The original intent was to save nearly $1 million by not filling the positions," said O'Brien.

The colleges are absorbing the money from unfilled positions rather than laying off faculty, he said.

Of the nine departments mentioned in the previous article, only two, German and resource economics, had untenured faculty subject to layoffs, said O'Brien. The rest of the departments will leave vacancies unfilled to save money.

Meanwhile, O'Brien said the administration and the Massachusetts Society of Professors are continuing negotiations about alternatives to the proposed five-day furlough, and not other ways to reduce cuts at the University.

Although O'Brien could not comment on the negotiations due to an agreement between the administrators and the union, he did say a final decision was "anticipated by next week."

The administration has had to digest $16.6 million dollars in budget cuts this fiscal year, said O'Brien.

O'Brien also stressed the furlough proposal was for the immediate fiscal year, and not a long-term reduction.

He said the elimination of four programs is still being studied, and the administration has until "the end of December to take the next step," he said.

However, the University of Massachusetts has maintained a level of excellence in academic achievement said O'Brien.

"For a freshman, it is a little better because there are 15 percent fewer students, and it is easier to get into a course."

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Collegian Forum: Student Government

Towards a more perfect union: We need to restructure...

"What should the role of student government be?", you ask. Before I attempted to answer this question I went back to the stack of Collegians on my bedroom floor and began to thumb through them.

Where should I begin? Perhaps at the most obvious place — where Student Government is now. Let's be truthful. The major head lines regarding the two legislative bodies of university-wide student government (the Board of Governors and the Student Senate) were regarding the threatened impeachment of the SGA Treasurer and the BOG motion to remove its LBGA seats. And, this week members of the BOG are bringing a motion to evict the Collegian from its space in the Campus Center. What are we doing? We have turned against ourselves in student vs. student conflicts.

Student Government also works internally to amend amendments previously amended, for example to change Chapters 9 (or 5 or 8) again in order to improve our constitutions or by-laws. Two weeks ago the BOG spent all the whole night debating on a motion to have a voluntary pledge of allegiance at the beginning of every meeting. What are we doing here? We are trying (strange as it may sound) to improve the rules with which we govern ourselves.

What else are we doing? Well the Student Senate spends a large amount of time (as do many columnists on this editorial page) debating about the Student Activities Trust Fund — the trust fund into which goes many a Senate meeting arguing over $1000 here and $1000 there and debating as to whether they should abolish the Student Activities Office, the "watch dog" of the SATF (which, by the way, will exist whether they vote to abolish it or not).

But, lets dig a little deeper into the Collegian. Ah... yes perhaps a success story for student government. On Dec. 3 and 4, Student Government Association and Graduate Student Senate Officers will go to the Trustees with the up a budget advisory group of students to discuss alternatives if and when future cuts come.

Finally back to the original question, "What should The Role of Student Government be?" Student Government must avoid pitting students against students. Student Government's role must be to represent the students to the administration and faculty. That is where all of the decisions that effect student life are made. WAKE UP! The SATF is not the only trust fund made up of student money. There is a trust fund for each of the fees that we pay (athletic, health etc.) We must begin to ask questions about and become involved in the way ALL of our money is being spent. We must also become involved in the policy making and decision making on this campus. It should not be done by a lone officer of the SGA but by a Senate full of students willing to meet with administrators and faculty members, willing to take the time to follow an issue through, and willing to sit on University-wide committees and bring the students' agenda with them.

What keeps the Senate or the BOG from doing this kind of work on a large scale? I honestly believe that it's not the people in student government that are the problem, but the structure that they/we are working in. The Student Government should not be solely a legislative body (or bodies) but a unit of people working together to improve the quality of life on this campus. Restructuring is needed.

Natasha Diephuis is the president of the Student Government Association

Natasha Diephuis

"Dispute Resolution Proposal." This proposal was put together by a committee consisting of administrators, staff from offices all around campus and student leaders from the GSS and the SGA. All of the Legal Services Office's power to litigate on behalf of students was completely taken away in 1987 by the Trustees. An important part of this new proposal shows the need for a Legal Services Office that has the power to litigate in limited classes of cases. Here the student government leaders have worked to develop, (with the administration) a proposal that will truly help students.

Going further back you will find article after article about students protesting the cuts to the Everywoman's Center. I was, as Student Government President, one of those many. After numerous protests and media coverage the administration was forced to listen to and meet with the women protesting. Although it can't be called a success, as a result of these protests the administration set

...Because the government's officers are doing all the work

What is the role of student government?

Let me tell you what I think it should be and I hope that you'll tell me if I'm wrong. I think that every letter or editorial that has appeared in the Collegian regarding the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF) so far this semester has been mindless tripe.

I honestly don't think that there is any link between student empowerment and the SATF, other than our funding agencies such as the Legal Services Center and other RSOs that advocate on these issues.

I also couldn't care less about the controversy surrounding the Student Activities Office. I have worked with them countless times in the past, they have been very helpful, and I think they do their jobs well. I think the SATF should be a part of what we do, but should not consume us, as it has for so many years. I think that student government's primary focus should be advocacy on student issues, and this is what I have tried my hardest to do.

This past summer, the other officers of the student government and I sat down and decided what we should work on this semester. All of us agreed that our projects should be advocacy-based. We decided on the following: 1) Organize against Question 3; 2) Work to insure an autonomous student channel on the incoming residential cable TV system and 3) Work to restore to the Legal Services Center the authority to represent students in court.

Angus McQuilken

And here's what happened. We played an instrumental role in the defeat of Question 3. We secured an autonomous station for the Union Video Center (a student group) on the new cable system, and we are, by all appearances, about to regain litigation authority for the Legal Services Center in February.

So what is wrong with student government? It's not that we don't get anything done, we do. It's that, with the exception of a very few extremely motivated and competent senators, the officers are the only ones doing any work. We don't have a structure that allows for real student involvement or empowerment. So what do we do? We fight about money. How does our bickering about money contribute to student empowerment? It doesn't.

So what is the most important task facing student leadership? I would argue that it is to restructure this organization in such a way as to promote advocacy and student empowerment, through involving as many students as possible on campaigns to address the real issues of the day.

How should they be handled? In the most coordinated, organized and professional manner possible. Next semester, I intend to concentrate my efforts on lobbying like hell on Beacon Hill for more financial aid dollars and trying to create a student government that can join me.

When I ran for this office, I immediately recognized that no matter what I did, I was going to run into opposition and criticism. I can accept that, it's part of my job.

But, until I see an editorial in the Collegian from someone that I don't already know criticizing the job that I'm doing, I am going to assume that I'm doing my job right. If not, please tell me. I'm supposed to be your resource and I'm supposed to represent you.

Angus G. McQuilken is the Student Trustee

Crybaby, do-nothing critics don't help empower students

The detractors of student government have been rattling the bars of their play-pens in recent weeks. "WAAAH!" they cry, "Student government leaders are giving in to administration demands! BooHoo! They're giving away student money! Besides, they're no good, anyway ..."

Unfortunately, these self-appointed experts on the problems of student empowerment chose not to offer any of their wisdom to set the wheels of positive change in motion. Pending such an act of intellectual generosity, those of us in student government who are not so gifted as to be capable of breaking down complex problems into simplistic conflicts are forced to offer our ideas.

The suggestion that the current leadership of the SGA is not working hard for students is so ludicrous that it hardly deserves the comment.

Ken Parker

Let me just mention that of all the projects student government has worked on this year, 95 percent have been done by student leaders, Student Senate committees and individual senators. And, of that, the majority has been the work of the leadership.

But some of these detractors claim that although student government does some work, it is not in the interests of students. Of course, no one is so out of touch with reality as to argue that the restoration of the Legal Services Center's authority to represent students is not in the interest of students. Instead, they ignore all the positive things student government does, and focus on its weaknesses.

And student government does have weaknesses.

The structure of the SGA itself raises important questions about the purpose of the organization: Is the Undergraduate Student Senate a legislative body? If so, what is its area of authority to legislate? Is its jurisdiction restricted to the Student Activities Trust Fund?

What about the SGA President and Trustee: if they were truly an executive branch, then they would be required to follow the dictates of the Senate, but what if they disagree?

And how does the student judiciary fit in? And when, if ever, must the administration listen to what student government has to say? Is our input limited to the university-wide committees and the good graces of administrators or do we have other procedural representation? If not, how can we get it? Should we even try?

In an attempt to answer these and other questions about the role of student government, several members of the senate have initiated a motion that would lead to the rewriting of the SGA constitution. Whether the proposal passes, the will clearly exists within the Senate to restructure the SGA.

But the crybaby opponents of student government will argue that no change will be sufficient, that nothing can be done to improve student government.

And why will they say these things? Because they're lazy.

If they admit that changing student government will require hard work, they will be obligating themselves to do some of it, which is the last thing they want to do.

Those senators who yell and scream that money should be cut from programs they dislike are the last ones to offer their time and energy in investigating those programs.

Of course there are some members of the Senate who raise concerns about waste in the SGA budget, but guess what? Many of them are in the leadership, such as SGA Treasurer Karen Talbot who spends more time arguing with the administrators in the Student Activities Office than the entire lot of whiners combined.

The power of student government to fight for student rights and empowerment comes from the students of the University.

By harming the image of student government, its detractors are harming student empowerment. The only way to battle this degeneration and to fight for student rights is to become involved in the SGA.

If you care about the future of student power and governance at UMass, talk to your Senator, join a Senate committee (they have seats for non-senators), and then, when you've done some work for students and know what's going on, express your views to the campus.

Until you've spent some of your sweat and tears fighting for student empowerment, your opinion is not worth the paper it is printed on.

Ken Parker is a Student Senator

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Meredith O'Brien
Managing Editor — Sarah DeMaster
Editorial Editor — Jeremy Leveraon
News Editor — Chris Muther
Sports Editors — Adrienne Matt, Sam Silverstein
Arts Editors — Jody Gabin
Photography Editor — Richard DuCree
Black Affairs Editor — Dawn Pierce
Women's Issues Editors — Minu Sebastian
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor — Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Ali Woolwich
Business Manager — Susan George
Advertising Manager — David Melnick
Finance Manager — Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager — Jim Winterbottom
Subscription Manager — Susan Kent
Promotions Manager — Marc Pruskin
Production Manager — Terry Starmer
Day Graphics Ad Manager — Chrissy Girone

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Mnjerowski
Graphics — Rory Evans

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

Responsibility

Friends, undergraduates, students, lend me your ears. I come to bury student government, not to praise it.

The evil students do lives after them; the good goes with them when they graduate. So has it been with student government, and so the same issues come up year after year after year, and Dennis Madson knows it.

Student leaders have told us that student government was ineffective.

Al Arpad

AN INTERSESSION CAROL
DENNIS MA-ADSON
ZZZ- -MPF- SNORT! WHO'S THERE?
W-WHY IT'S DEAN FIELD!
I AM THE GHOST OF STUDENT GOVERNMENTS PAST! BECAUSE OF MY OPPOSITION TO STUDENT LEGAL SERVICES, I AM CONDEMNED TO BE AMHERST TOWN MODERATOR- FOREVER!
NO! NO, THAT'S TOO HORRIBLE!
DENNIS MA-ADSON!
ARPAD ©1990
W-WHO ARE YOU?
I AM THE GHOST OF STUDENT GOVERNMENTS PRESENT. I WANT LEGAL SERVICES, BUT WHATEVER YOU SAY IS O.K. WILL YOU WRITE ME A LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION?
ME TOO! —
ME TOO! —
NO! NO, GET AWAY!
PLEASE! I NEED IT TO GET INTO LAW SCHOOL!
PLEASE!
ME TOO! PLEASE!
AAGH! NOW WHO ARE YOU?
I AM THE GHOST OF STUDENT GOVERNMENTS YET TO COME.
I'M A VETERAN OF THE IRAQ WAR, AND NOW THAT I'M BACK IN SCHOOL, I WON'T TAKE YOUR PATRONIZING ATTITUDE ANY MORE.
BUT... BUT..
SORRY, DENNY, BUT YOU KNOW HOW IT IS... YOU'RE FIRED.
NO! AAGH! W-WAIT! IT WAS ALL A DREAM. I CAN CHANGE, I CAN... HMM... OH, NEVERMIND.

With deference to Trustee Angus Mcquilken, and the rest, (for Angus is a responsible student leader. So are they all responsible student leaders.) I can tell you student government is dead.

No one argues now that student government can control the Student Activities Trust Fund, and decide where to spend our money, for they tell us student government was ineffective, and they are right, because they are responsible student leaders.

Once the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy was nationally known, and maintained a focus on campus issues, though student leaders came and went. But now we know that student government was ineffective, and must be administered by those who know better, who are responsible; and indeed they are also responsible, these student leaders.

Here was SCERA; when comes such another?

Once the Trust Fund paid for Student Legal Services, all kinds of legal services, and sued the University, and won because the University was wrong. But, now we know that student government was ineffective, and under the new limited litigation proposal the Trust Fund will not support legal actions against the Commonwealth, because we have such responsible student leaders.

Legal actions against the Commonwealth include defending students who are arrested, or receive speeding tickets; and why should we defend these criminals, these speeders, just because they are students, and paid their share of the fees? The Trustees would object, and perhaps then they would not look responsible, our student leaders.

The Student Senate debates many silly questions, not least of which is who the leaders should be. But what good is democracy if student government is ineffective? And our student leaders say it is ineffective, and they should know, because they are responsible.

Our student leaders say too much energy is wasted on internal questions, budgets, and the rest. They hope to unite the student government behind a package of responsible reform; a whole, responsible package of those internal questions, centering around issues that arise year after year after year. And Dennis Madson knows it, and even the very limited litigation proposal is being stalled.

Once the word of student government might have stood against the Chancellor. Now nothing is left but a bloated administrative budget, and none so irresponsible to have it otherwise, for student government was said to be ineffective by our responsible student leaders.

Bear with me. My stomach has had enough of student government, and I must pause till it comes back to me.

Al Arpad is a Collegian cartoonist

The savior of student gov't

The Student Government Association is a huge organization, with many branches through which full-time, fee-paying undergraduates can get involved with campus issues. There is the Undergraduate Student Senate, comprised of more than 100 students from the residence halls, the Commuter area and the Greek area. In addition, there are seven area governments, with about 20 members in each government, for residents of the five residence areas, Commuters and members of Greek organizations. There are also House Councils for each of the dorms. If any organization has the potential to have an impact on campus life, it's the SGA.

Kathy LaMothe

Unfortunately, the student governance bodies (and in this case, I also include the undergraduate-run Board of Governors) are considered to be the biggest collective joke at the University. They are just not being taken seriously by anyone — not students, not administration. Attention, student senators, nobody likes the way you work.

The problem is with the meetings — BOG and Senate alike. Students propose motions which they know won't pass — or nobody will care if they pass — and eventually, other governors or senators start arguing about parliamentary procedure. How stupid. No wonder people want no part of it; no one understands why they should care.

For about a year, I was involved in the SGA — first in the Public Policy Committee and the short-lived Women's Caucus, then in the Senate as a representative of an area government. During that time, we were at our most effective when we united as activists for student concerns: the student strike, in its first few days, was successful when everyone in the senate stood behind the cause — fighting budget cuts — and together organized students to protest the cuts. While there were many factors which eventually ended the strike, it did not help matters that the Senate started bickering as usual.

The fight against Question Three was another success for SGA activism. Before student leaders, such as Student Trustee Angus McQuilken and SGA President Natasha Diephuis, got involved, passage of the CLT petition was almost certain. But they got organized and, with the help of students and other organizations across the state, the proposal failed by a large margin.

Unfortunately, other issues have been neglected in the seemingly constant bickering over the years. Take the Legal Services Office, now the Legal Services Center, which is now getting its share of SGA attention through the recent petition efforts to restore it. The office has been disempowered for several years, but this issue was all but ignored by student leaders. In the period immediately following LSO's loss of power, we probably could have gotten it back (and, therefore, been able to save our legal rights in the community) if we had fought for it. But no, the SGA was fighting with itself over co-presidents, and now it's an uphill battle for the students who are leading this fight.

There are many other issues that have been ignored in the inane bickering in the Senate. Suffice it to say, it is time that the entire SGA, including the area governments and house councils, work as the powerful organization that it could be and unite in working for student rights and saving the university from budgetary destruction. Activism is the only thing that will save student government.

Katherine T. Lamothe is a Collegian staff member

Needed: A student union

Unless you have been living under a rock since you first arrived on campus, you probably know that the graduate students here have been trying to organize a union since 1979. Last week they finally succeeded.

What you probably don't know though, is that long before Graduate Employee Organization, or any of the other unions on campus for that matter, began their long tedious struggles to gain recognition, the undergraduates had been at it for nearly five years.

Ted Chambers

In the early 70s a movement began on this campus that came to be known as "Student Unionization." Its purpose was to bring about an undergraduate student union similar to an employees' union, that could collectively bargain with the administration on issues like tuition and fee increases, curriculum requirements, housing contracts and the like. The premise of the student unionization was that as consumers, students had a right to participate as equal partners with the faculty, administration, and the Board of Trustees in the major policy decisions effecting them. After all, without students the University would not exist in the first place.

In the late 1970s the union movement co-opted the Student Government and rewrote its constitution so it could serve as a vehicle for unionization. The new constitution included the House Councils which were supposed to serve as advocating bodies for each individual dormitory, and it also created the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy.

After the new constitution was ratified, SCERA became the backbone of the SGA. Its purpose was to research and promote student unionization but it also acted as a watchdog of the administration and the Board of Trustees. Under the direction of the Student Government, SCERA researched important educational issues like tuition and fee increases, and financial aid and published their findings and suggestions.

But aside from providing substance and hard facts to Student Senators, SCERA served another very important purpose. It provided continuity to the union movement and the Student Government which were constantly being hurt by attrition. Inevitably students graduate, a fact that has kept us in a perpetual state of disenfranchisement for quite a few years.

One of the major problems with the Student Government today is that SCERA no longer exists. It was filibustered to death three years ago by some right wing members of the Student Senate who did not like it because of the advocacy work it did on behalf of historically oppressed peoples. Also, student senators no longer understand the SGA constitution or its purpose. Debate over student unionization ended long ago, but the structure still remains.

Since SCERA's elimination the SGA has existed in a vacuum. Student senators pay lip service to issues and fight like children because there is no longer any real work being done. It is hardly their fault, though, since they have inherited a problem that they did not create, and the administration will go to any length to insure that Student Government does not bring SCERA back.

Because they have nothing better to do, many people in the Student Government have begun to talk about rewriting the SGA constitution again. If they do, I hope they will keep one thing in mind. No SCERA, no union. No union, no power.

Ted Chambers is a UMass student

Allowing the theft of student rights

Every fee-paying student at UMass is getting ripped off in more ways than you think. Most people probably think that their $112.50 Student Activities Fee pays for student activities. However, this is not true.

The Student Government Association gives the Student Activities Office over a half million dollars each year. Ninety-three percent of that allocation is for the salaries of administrators who tell students what they can and cannot do with their own money. This is the antithesis of student empowerment.

It's not that the SGA consciously gives this money over to SAO: they just take it. The reason they get away with it is that for years the leadership of the SGA has allowed them to do so.

We must begin to assert ourselves and to improve our position vis-a-vis the administration. It's one thing to have our rights taken away, but it is another thing to simply give them away.

If "student government" is to have any meaning at the University, we must demonstrate that we have enough collective backbone to stand up to the administration and say "no" when they infringe upon our rights. However, we cannot begin to seriously do so until we take control of Student Government away from the administration and SAO and give it back to the students.

Kevin Newnan
SGA Senator

Have agreement, make progress

No matter what year it is, whose administration holds office, or at what level our budget stands, the role of student government at this school will always be to act as the voice of the student. If we agree upon that, then giving student government a defined purpose is so much easier.

My view of the SGA comes from one year as a senator from Cance. What I saw was too much infighting so that the body became introspective and lost respect among the general student body. We spent so much time that year trying to decide if the elected Student Presidents Rabinowitz and Silkoff were constitutional that we never accomplished anything. Which is more unconstitutional?

So if we allow the body that represents all undergraduate students to indeed represent all views, even the singular and secular, then we eliminate the failing of recent student governments.

In such a big place, student government can be most useful by not trying to be everything to everyone. UMass cannot be the ideal community. Most of us want to have four good years together.

Nick Nyhan
Amherst

STUDENTS...

From Grammar to Graduate School

• GET BETTER GRADES • PASS EXAMS With Hypnosis

• Study without distractions
• Set your concentration

99% Success Rate

• Stop exam anxiety
• Recall what you study

CALL 737-5434 FOR MORE INFORMATION
CLAIRE E. TATRO
New England Ethical Hypnosis Institute
51 park Ave. 737-5434 West Springfield

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS

2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route

CALL 665-2203

Tonight, Friday, and Saturday Only

The UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS

Sweet Charity

IN BOWKER AUDITORIUM at 8:00 pm.
Tickets on sale at the Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511 and at the door.

PROSPECTIVE SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS...
Are You Dedicated? Motivated?
Ambitious? Hard-Working?
Responsible? Organized?

Are You Interested in Sales?

If you answered YES to the above questions The Collegian has a job for you
Applications for

Advertising Account Executive

are now being accepted. APPLY NOW
Come to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center
(Rm 113 - Lower Level) and pick up an application
DEADLINE: TUES., DEC. 4
The Collegian is an E.O/E

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN NON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM Tel: 549-2692

Low Prices, Great Selection, Scott's of Course!

Cuervo Gold Tequila 750 ml $8.99

Schaefer Suitcase 24-12 oz cans $8.79+dep

Smirnoff Vodka 750ml $6.99

Knickerbocker 12-12 oz cans $3.99 plus dep

Michelob Reg, Light, Dry 6-12 oz bots $3.99 +dep

Jack Daniels 750 ml $9.99

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE
6 University Drive, Newmarket Center, Amherst
Diagonally Across from the UMass Stadium
Plenty of FREE Parking
Telecheck for your personal check

MEGABUCKS We Have It
We now have all Mass Lottery games!

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
Discount Discount
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Featuring BUSCH Beer
$8.99 COLD

Zarkoff Vodka 1.75 L $8.99

CHRISTMAS BEERS are in! Great Selection available...

Andre Champagne case 12 bots $33.00

Knickerbocker 12 pk cans $3.99

Taylor's Blush Champagne 3 bots $9.99 ; $30.00 cse 12 bots

(Canadian) Glacier Bay 12 pk bots $5.99

Many More In Store Specials
(especially on wines)

★ Delivery Available ★
All beers plus deposits

Join Us For The CELEBRATION OF LIGHTS

Friday, November 30, 5:15 pm on the Amherst Common
Tree Lighting Caroling Holiday Cheer

Featuring
UMASS Minuteman Marching Band
as it marches from the UMass campus up North Pleasant St. to the Amherst Common to be joined there by the Amherst Jr. High School Chorus encouraging all to join them in festive renditions of songs of the season

Brought to you with the help of:

1. Silverscape Designs
2. Sophia Bookshop
3. Mathews Shoes
4. Jeffery Amherst Bookshop
5. Atkins Farm
6. House of Walsh
7. Zamna
8. Berkshire Leather
9. Dimension Cable
10. Knowles Flowers
11. Le Boudoir
12. Lots for Littles
13. Compliments
14. Cowls Building Supply
15. Always in Bloom
16. Amherst Optical
17. Benetton
18. WRNX 100.9 FM
19. J. Rich
20. Amherst Bulletin

Amherst Optical Sigore · KNOWLES LOTS for LITTLES · ATKINS FRUIT BOWL · J-RICH · Jeffery Amherst Bookshop · Sophia bookshop · WRNX 100.9 FM · Berkshire Leather & Silver Outlet · House of Walsh · Compliments · benetton · silverscape designs · Mathews · Always in Bloom

Use this coupon anytime on Friday Nov. 30 and save $5

Take $5 Off any purchase over $25
Friday, November 30th
* Use this coupon all day Friday of the Amherst Festival Tree Lighting

MOVIE POSTER
LOBBY CARDS
MOVIE MEMORABILIA
Largest in Western Mass
THE GOOD OLD DAYS
40 Cottage Street
Easthampton, MA 527-3163
OPEN: Tuesday-Saturday 10-5

COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley

Corporate Discounts
Group of 10 employees $45
reservations only 585-8615
We'll Honor Your Company

COME EARLY FOR DINNER...
It's hard to laugh with a mouthful of food!

Special Event - 1 Night Only
THURSDAY NOV 29 - 8:30 PM
Exclusive Area Show
RABBI Stand Up Comic (Really)
BOB ALPER
From "AMERICA'S FUNNIEST PEOPLE"
Special Guests
IZZY GESELL · KEN DUBNER
STUDENTS $6 - PUBLIC $8
RESERVATIONS SUGGESTED

FRI & SAT NOV 23-24 - 8:30 PM
From N.J.
Things are not as they appear to be
KEVIN CALHOUN
ROY CHARETTE
KEN DUBNER
FRIDAY SPECIAL STUDENTS $5

All Comedy Info 585-8615
20% OFF DINNERS FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages - All Shows

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MEMPHIS BELLE
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:00
Student Discount w/I.D

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Monday-Thursday 5-8 p.m.
All you can eat
BUFFET $5.99
COMEDY RESERVATIONS
586-1202 585-8615
11:30-3 p.m. All You Can Eat
SUNDAY BRUNCH $6.99
Peking Garden
Route 9, Hadley

NEW SPECIALS!
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY
2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1	SUPER PRINTS .37 SAVE .13 per print	2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THURSDAY	FRIDAY	EVERYDAY SPECIAL
2nd SET OF PRINTS FOR ONLY .10 per print	REPRINT DAY 3 1/2X5 .30 ea. 5x7 .99 ea. 8x10 3.50 ea	2nd SET OF PRINTS REGULAR SUPER 19 ea. 39 ea.

FILM IN BY 10:00 a.m.
PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 p.m.
ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE UNTIL 3:00 p.m.
The Foto Factory
224 1/2 FEDERAL STREET GREENFIELD · 257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST · 82 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON

Spirit Haus Liquor Store

Hopfenperle Swiss Beer six pack $3.69

Natural Light 2/12 packs 12 oz cans $7.99

Milwaukee's Best 12 oz bar bottles $7.99

Captain Morgan 750 ml $7.49

Special case prices on Samuel Adams Winter Lager and Catamount Christmas Ale!

Kahlua Coffee Liquer 750 ml $11.99

New Amsterdam New York Ale six pack $4.69 case $17.99

Beck's Beer Light or Dark six pack $4.25

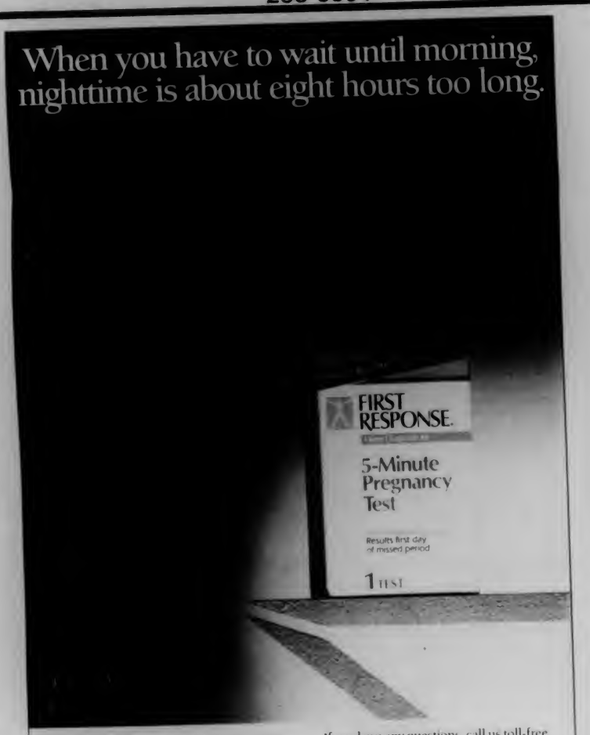
338 College St., Rt. 9, Amherst, 253-5384

When you have to wait until morning, nighttime is about eight hours too long.



You've missed your period. You're trying to sleep, but you can't stop thinking about it. You've got to know now.

So you use your FIRST RESPONSE® Pregnancy Test. Now you know. No more wondering. No more worrying.

With the FIRST RESPONSE® Pregnancy Test, you can find out if you're pregnant in five minutes any time of the day—even on the first day of your missed period. It's 99% accurate in laboratory testing and it's easy to use.

If you have any questions, call us toll-free at 1-800-367-6022.

FIRST RESPONSE.
Home Diagnostic Kits

We'll help put your mind at ease.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO LIVE AND WORK IN JAPAN!

THE 1991 JAPAN EXCHANGE & TEACHING (JET) PROGRAM

Positions Available For
- Assistant English Teachers
- Coordinators for Int'l Relations

Consulate General of Japan in Boston
For Further Information
Call (617) 973-9772

COME CLEAN WITH US

Campus Coin Op
107 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

SPEEDWASH
11 Pray St., Amherst
NOW OPEN 24 HOURS!

South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

The University of Massachusetts DEPARTMENT OF THEATER PRESENTS

MESSIAH

A PLAY BY MARTIN SHERMAN

November 29-December 1 and December 5-8
RAND THEATER • 8:00 p.m.

Set in 17th century [illegible] the coming of the Messiah brings [illegible] Rachel [illegible]

Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office 545-2511

SPECIAL
Tues.-Wed.-Thurs.-Fri. & all day Sunday
Two Dinners for $15
Steak & chicken combo
Two Dinners for $18
Shrimp & Scallop Combo
Both include soup, salad, vegetables, noodles, steamed rice, tea, & ice cream

Full Bar • Exotic Specialties

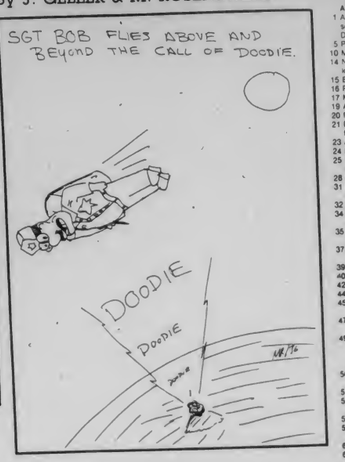
Goten OF JAPAN
Rt. 116, Sunderland 413-665-3628
Open Tues.-Sat. at 5pm, Sun at 2
Reservations welcomed

Reserve now for Christmas parties
Gift Certificates Available

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

"Hold still, Omar. ... Now look up. Yep. You've got something in your eye, all right — could be sand."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

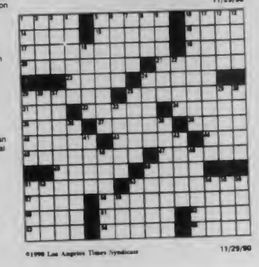
ACROSS
1 Ancient country south of the Dead Sea
5 Packed cotton
10 Merganser
14 Name of eight kings of Siam
15 Baker of music
16 Radial
17 Menu entree
19 Army division
20 Raved about
21 Beddie in a fairy tale
23 Author Bagnold
24 Male deer
25 Fat occurring in butter
28 "— the Apes"
31 Learning center in Columbus, O.
32 Bristles
34 Thick-set shrubs
35 What most spectacles have treat.
37 Proved to be trustworthy
39 Short fiber
40 Backs of necks
42 Stage direction
44 Snood, e.g.
45 Hollywood hopefuls
47 They heap haystacks
49 "The Woman — Gene Wilder film
50 Unit of loudness
51 Temper
53 Sea near Bermuda
57 Part of a clan
58 Popular meal starter
60 Ridicule
61 School, in St. Lo
62 Screen's Sommer
63 Sweetsop
64 Carried on
65 Wear out

DOWN
1 Irish
2 Break of day
3 Fail to mention
4 Flirtatious man
5 Nursery need
6 Paid up
7 Schubert song
8 Greek letter
9 Indian of the N Mississippi Valley
10 Caviar source
11 Ristorante appetizer
12 Goddess of discord
13 Prohibitionists' foes
18 "The — but a morning star" Thoreau
22 Group of workers
24 Weather word
25 Horn
26 Native of the Orient
27 Fall dessert treat
28 Aches
29 Willow twig
30 Materials for fedoras
33 General tendency
36 Movie-maker Mack's relations
38 Banished
41 Marsh bird
43 One of the Starrs
46 Ba in a turmoil
48 Hired
50 Elbe feeder
51 Movie canine
52 Amphibian
53 Atmospheric problem
54 Chorister's goal
55 — Schorer of the New York City Ballet
56 Frank
59 Wood sorrel

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

S	P	E	D		I	S	L	I	P		S	A	T
A	R	G	O		M	E	A	R	S		R	A	I	N
T	O	O	T	M	A	I	R	Y		E	N	I	D
E	A	S	T	E	R	N		C	A	T	T	L	E
		E	L	A	S		T	H	I	R	A
W	E	L	D	E	R		C	R	I	T	I	C	A	L
A	L	A		N	E	C	R	O		S	A	L	L	E
N	I	P	S		D	M	O	L	E		P	L	A	I	N
T	O	R	T	E		A	S	L	I	P		U	F	O
S	T	E	E	L	E	R	S		G	R	A	S	I	S	Y
		C	R	E	A	M		T	N	T	O
C	A	M	I	L	E	R		E	T	E	R	N	A	L
A	R	I	A	L		F	A	T	H	E	R	T	I	M	E
B	L	U	E		U	N	S	E	E		I	N	O	N
S	O	N		L	I	N	K	E	M		C	E	M	I

11/29/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/29/90

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

LOOK, EVERYBODY, I'M POURING MY HEART OUT HERE
I DIDN'T FEEL GOOD ABOUT THE PRIVATE PARTICIPATION ON THE TRI-STAR DEAL, SO I RESIGNED! WHAT'S WRONG WITH THAT?
WELL, SID, THAT'S AN INTERESTING QUESTION. LET'S PUT IT TO THE GROUP...
MARY, WHAT DO YOU THINK?
I'M NOT MARY TODAY. I'M OUT OF LYNDA'S QUARTERS
HEY, DOC, I GOTTA GO.

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

WAH, LOOK! YOU MADE YOUR BED WITHOUT EVEN BEING TOLD TO! THAT'S WONDERFUL, CALVIN!
GEE, YOUR MOM SURE IS NICE WHEN YOU HELP HER.
YEAH THAT'S THE REASON I USUALLY DON'T.
I LIKE MOM TO BE IMPRESSED WHEN I FULFILL THE LEAST OF MY OBLIGATIONS.

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

Okay Marcus— Now what is "the Minutemen's code word?
"HURT!"
And What's That Stand For?
'H' for Hostility!
'U' for Unconditional Surrender!
'R' for Rampage!
'T' for Triumph!
One question, sir. Is there any room for "Academics" in our code word?
'Don't think so. Only word I can get is "Arthu".
It was worth a try.

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

TERRY I WAS WORKING OUT ALL DAY. MY MUSCLES HURT.
I KID YOU NOT. I'M SORE FROM ALL THE HARD WORK OF PUMPING IRON!
TO TELL YOU THE TRUTH. I'M JUST PLAIN HOT!!
WHAT ARE YOU TRYING TO DO MAKE ME PUKE!!

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Pizza
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Pizza	Scrod Hungarian Noodle Bake

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Organize your schedule as far in advance as possible. A business or employment situation shows steady improvement. Make plans for future investments.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Have faith in your own abilities and you will enjoy a prosperous future. Keep spending within reason, and encourage your loved ones to follow your example. Actions still speak louder than words.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): People trust you and believe what you say. Do not let them down. Ask yourself if you are really on the right track or just following the path of least resistance.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Great tact is required when dealing with an overly emotional individual. Try to keep control of the situation so that it does not get out of hand and interfere with business.

LEO (July 23 - Aug 22): Keep all your business dealings above board. Otherwise, your plans may backfire. It is very important that you be on good terms with an influential associate.

VIRGO (Aug 23 - Sept 22): Listen carefully, especially when a loved one speaks. Use privileged information wisely. Travel, long-distance messages and your ability to overcome a language barrier are underscored today.

LIBRA (Sept 23 - Oct 22): Your relationships are in the spotlight. Emphasize your ability to get along with almost anyone. If you act in a mature manner, you will be treated with greater respect.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 - Nov 21): The first order of the day is to determine which way the wind is blowing. The next thing to do is to obtain an associate's enthusiastic support. Try your hand at creative writing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 - Dec 21): Your friends are your biggest boosters today! Be sure the information you have obtained is accurate before you make a final decision. Give your partner a well deserved pat on the back.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 - Jan 19): It can be risky to change methods without an expert's advice. Afternoon is the best time for business negotiations. Saying nothing could be as harmful as sounding overly vehement.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20 - Feb 18): Creative work will boost your spirits sky-high. Plan to spend part of the weekend doing household chores. You can be a pillar of strength to family members who lack your skills.

PISCES (Feb 19 - March 20): Anything you do to make the family more comfortable will contribute to family unity. Ask your loved ones for suggestions. Shoppers can find good bargains in their own neighborhoods.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Sarah DeMaster
Copy Editor.....Mike Webber
Layout Technician.....Mike Carvalho
Photo Technician.....Richard DuCree
Production Supervisors.....Mike Carvalho
Typesetter.....Danielle Dowling
Production.....Seth Kaye, Andre Busi, Mike Carvalho, Terry Starmer, Sharon Frost

Thai House

Thai Restaurant

Business Hours:
Mon.- Sat. 11:30 - 10:00 pm
Sun. 12 pm (noon) - 10:00 pm

430 Russell Street, Route 9
Hadley, Mass 01035

ONLY THAI RESTAURANT IN AMHERST

15% OFF with a student I.D. and this coupon on orders of a minimum of $10.00

VISA

Specials

'Lite' $11.99 cs 24-12 oz cans

Rolling Rock $10.99 24 12oz. bots

Keystone $4.99 12 pk cans

Busch $8.99 cs. 24-12oz. cans

Labatt's $6.99 cs 12 pk. bots

Miscellaneous Specials

Peachtree Schnapps	750 ml	$5.99
Emmetts Irish Cream	750 ml	$8.99
Popov Vodka	1.75L	$9.99
Kahlua	750ml	$11.99

FOUR SEASONS
Wines/Liquors
ROUTE 9, HADLEY • 584-8174
Between Burger King and Dunkin' Donuts

MANNHEIM STEAMROLLER
IN
"A FRESH AIRE CHRISTMAS 1990"

Fresh Aire

Nov. 30, 8 pm
with Orchestra New England
At The Paramount, Springfield
1700 Main St., Springfield, MA
Paramount Box Office (413) 734-5874, M-F 10-5, Sat. 12-5
TICKETRON and TICKETRON PHONE CHARGE (800) 382-8080
For Paramount Group Sales Information call (413) 567-1505

TEACH FOR AMERICA
application deadline for spring interviews

January 4, 1991

Teach For America is a national teacher corps of talented, dedicated individuals from all ethnic backgrounds and academic majors who commit two years to teach in urban and rural areas that have persistent teacher shortages.

Applications are available at the Mather Career Center for more information, contact Larisa Diephuis at 253-0407

SENIORS

MEET & INTERVIEW WITH

JP Morgan	3M	AT&T
Goldman, Sachs & Co.	Procter & Gamble	NCR
Salomon Brothers Inc	General Electric	GTE
Chemical Bank	Eastman Kodak	EDS
Andersen Consulting	Johnson & Johnson	US Sprint
Aetna Life & Casualty	General Foods	Exxon
The Travelers	The Boeing Co.	Mobil Oil
The Prudential	Ford Motor Co.	Eveready Battery

And 100 Other Outstanding Employers At Careers '91!

Careers '91 will give you the opportunity to meet and interview with some of the nation's top employers. Over 10,000 seniors have attended past conferences, with 51% receiving second interviews and almost 40% receiving at least one job offer AS A DIRECT RESULT OF THEIR CONFERENCE PARTICIPATION. You can meet and interview with employers who don't recruit at your school...or make an important second impression on those that you do interview with on campus. In either case, just one day at Careers '91 can enhance your choice of career options and significantly increase your chance of getting the job you want, with the employer you want.

ENGINEERING, COMPUTER SCIENCE, MATH, BUSINESS, PHYSICAL & BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES AND LIBERAL ARTS majors are being recruited. To be considered for a Careers '91 invitation, send an updated resume by December 20, 1990 to Careers '91, PO Box 1852, New Haven, CT 06508. (Indicate the conference(s) you'd like to attend). Your interests and credentials will be carefully reviewed by our experienced staff and compared to other seniors in your major discipline. Seniors whose qualifications and interests best match the requirements of participating Careers '91 employers will be invited to attend. There is ABSOLUTELY NO CHARGE to seniors who attend.

Careers '91 New York Meadowlands, NJ January 8 & 9, 1991

Careers '91 Atlanta Atlanta, GA January 22 & 23, 1991

Sports Notice

Intramurals The starting date for Holiday Basketball is Monday Dec. 3. Ice hockey and Basketball entry deadlines are also the 3rd. For more information call 545-0022.
Open tryouts Due to the warm weather, the University's varsity ski team will hold open tryouts Dec. 9, not Dec. 2 as previously published. A bus leaving for Berkshire East will depart Boyden at 8 a.m.
Clueless on the slopes? Vermont ski areas have joined to offer a free learn-to-ski program from Dec. 15 to 21. The offer includes a beginner's lift ticket, a lesson and rental equipment to all first-time skiers. The offer requires advance registration at the area where you plan to learn. For more information write Vermont Ski Areas Association, P.O. Box 368, Montpelier, VT 05601 or phone (802)223-2439.
Racquetball enthusiasts The Eastern Collegiate Racquetball Conference has just kicked off its eighth season of competition. The ECRC is comprised of 14 schools in five states. Schools compete from November through March for the ECRC titles of Men's Team Champions, Women's Team Champions and Combined Men and Women's Team Champions. Defending champs are Penn State Men, Army Women and Penn State Combined Teams.
For more information call Michael Vecchiarelli at 536-0189 or Robert Ansin at 546-6434

Great Holiday gift ideas begin at Liquors 44!!
BEER
WINE
LIQUORS
Prices do not include deposit
MILLER GENUINE DRAFT $10.99 - DEP case of 24 12 oz. loose cans
BECK'S BEER $15.99 - DEP case of 24/12 oz bottles
BOAGS & BOAGS LIGHT FROM TAZMANIA $4.29 - DEP 6 pack bottles
PIELS & PIELS LIGHT $7.49 - DEP case of 24 12 oz cans
NAPA RIDGE $3.29 750 ML WHITE ZINFANDEL
SUTTER HOME $3.99 750 ML CHARDONNAY
TAYLOR CALIFORNIA CELLARS $5.99 3L CHEVIN FRENCH COLOMBARD BURGUNDY ROSE CHABLIS RHINE WT GRENACHE BLUSH
ANDRE CHAMPAGNE $2.69 750 ML WHITE PINK COLD DUCK BRUT
COKE & DIET COKE $5.99 - DEP case of 24 12 oz cans
BACARDI $14.99 1.75 L SILVER RUM
THE FAMOUS GROUSE $24.99 1.75 L SCOTCH
GORDON'S VODKA $8.99 1.75 L SALE $10.99 MAIL-IN REBATE 1 AFTER REBATE
FLEISCHMANN'S GIN $7.49 1.75 L SALE $10.99 MAIL-IN REBATE 3 AFTER REBATE
JACK DANIEL'S $9.99 750 ML
not responsible for typographical errors
LIQUORS 44
HADLEY Campus Plaza/Route 9 253-9344
TWO LOCATIONS
HOLYOKE 30 Lincoln St. 534-4555
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
SALE PRICES THURS 11/29/90 THRU WED 12/5/90
TeleCheck

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE - 308 CC TO MON.-THURS. 8:30-4:30 FRI. 8:30-2:30 • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ADVERTISE!!

IF YOU HAVE A BUSINESS CARD and you want a cheap way to advertise your small business, call the Collegian. It's perfect for student organizations and entrepeneurs as well. Runs every Monday. Cost: $20.
Call the Collegian at 545-3500

ACTIVITIES

25 + CLUB Social/General Meeting Thursday 7PM, 1129. Discuss activities, socialize. Info call Randy 546-2183
$1 contribution requested. At Chabad House

DON'T MISS CROSSING DELANCEY!
A film starring Amy Irving! Rm. 905-09CC 7:30PM Thursday Nov. 29. It's free!

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR!
Don't miss it!
Feb. 14 1991

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM
$1000 in just one week
Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR
Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS is hiring qualified candidates for coordinator positions.
Pick up applications in 817CC
Due 12/7

AUDIO/STEREO/VIDEO

USED Stereo Components/ VCR's/ Color TV's. We buy, sell, and trade. Quality guaranteed, great prices! Call anytime for detailed list. 256-0941

AUTO FOR SALE

1983 THUNDERBIRD Heritage Edition loaded. Excellent Condition. 5.0EFI. $2700 256-8251 Dolan

1987 FORD ESCORT, 74K, Four Door, AC, Auto AM/FM, New Tires, Excellent Condition. $2900/bo Call 586-3727

1988 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles. Excellent Condition. 1 owner. AM FM Cassette Stereo. Recent complete tune up. $6700.00 or best offer. Call Bruce at 256-1215

ENTERTAINMENT

JOHN "THE BEAST" YOBST- How are your new dentures? Heather says "Buy my earrings or die!" Plake

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APT in town $500/mo Jan 1 Flexible lease 253-2632

2 BEDROOM N. AMHERST apt available Jan 1st to May option to renew lease
Free heat! 549-0383
Call now!

3 ROOMS in 5 bedroom house (1) available Jan., 2 available Feb / 21 + $225 549-6792

ATTENTION SKIERS!
Walk to Canon Mt.
sleeps 4, kitchenette
hot tub pool
avail. by day or for wk
$50/wk or 80/day
Call Anne 546-1993

BEAUTIFUL TWO BEDROOM Apartment half mile to campus! 549-5914

CONDO IN BELCHERTOWN/AMHERST
2 bdrm 475 call 253-2352

GREAT SINGLE ROOM in Amherst available Jan-May, on bus route. $275. 256-8319

I NEED YOU...to take over lease. Single room in Amherst Apt. Bus line. 250/mo utilities incl. Call Chris 253-9708

JANUARY SUBLET. Studio in Amherst $325. 549-3610

LARGE DOUBLE ROOM available in house in South Amherst starting Jan 1. 20ft. x 12ft. No lease no security deposit. Pay only May $185/person/month. Call 256-1118

ONE BEDROOM APT Amherst center! Quiet 256-1681 Matt/Kathleen Available Jan 1

ROOM AVAILABLE in beautiful Hadley house after Dec. 31. Call 549-4211 for details

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two bdr apt in Colonial Village starting Jan 1. Leave message 253-2432
First month rent free

SINGLE BEDROOM in beautiful ranch style house 250 + 2 miles from campus. Ask for Bruce 549-6951 evenings.

SINGLE IN PUFFTON 204/mo
Heat included 549-0748 545-4352
Available Dec. 23

SINGLE ROOM in 3 bd Puffton. Cheap rent 180.00 includes utilities. Looking for responsible non smoker. Available for Jan 1. Call 549-4509

TAKE OVER LEASE in Brandywine Apt

One rm available. Need 2 people. 185 incl everything. Call Sean 549-6921

TWO BEDROOM TOWNHOUSE Apt available beginning January 1. Located on bus route. $725.00 a month. We'll buy you a keg. Call 549-1292

FOR SALE

BEGINNERS SKI PACKAGE
$100
Denise 546-6432

COMIC BOOKS 4 sale. cheap
Call Paul 253-5066

" FUTONS "
" at the mini-mall "
" November 27-30 "
" UMass Student Union "
" Lowest prices guaranteed "
" Buy now or reserve "
" for next semester "
" Metawampe Furniture "
" 256-0646 "

MAPLE TABLE & FOUR CHAIRS
$150. Good condition
665-8765 after 8:00

ROUNDTRIP TICKET Providence to West Palm Florida 12/22-1/6 $300 or b/o Call 549-8047

SKIS, BOOTS, POLES, like new call Mike after 6PM 256-8104

SKIS AND SKIWEAR. Brand new Descente racing pants $99 B.O. and Descente parka $150 B.O. Also new padded sweater $99 $150 B.O. Rossignol skis $75. Call 546-3001

SKIS- GS 210CM ELAN RC, like new $95 or B.O. Call Mark 549-1471

ZENITH COMPUTER AND PRINTER. VGA Monitor. Call Danny 546-5374. Leave message $1,100

FOUND

GOLD BRACELET found outside Tobin Hall on Nov. 20. Call to identify. Jason 6-6458

GOLD FRAMED BI-FOCAL GLASSES in light brown case outside of Prince House Call to claim 546-2535

GIFTS

HOLIDAY SHOPPING in one shot at the UMass mini mall Nov 27-30 in the Student Union Ballroom. Lots of great items for the right price

HELP WANTED

THE COLLEGIAN is seeking a responsible sophmore or junior Business Major to fill the position of Subscriptions Manager for the spring semester. All encouraged to apply. Applications available at 113 Campus Center. Apply no later than 12/7

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately. No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll free 1-800-395-3283

AMUSEMENT Parks, Holiday Resorts, Disneyland, 6 Flags are hiring. Great fun and get paid too! Reserve position by calling 1-805-682-7555 Ext. H-1370

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9616

PART-TIME WORD PROCESSOR
You will produce and edit memoranda, proposals and graphic productions of presentations and marketing materials. Requires typing skills of at least 80 wpm. At least 1½ year of wordperfect as well as knowledge of msdos. Other word processing and publishing software knowledge desirable. For consideration please resume
Chan Computer Corporation
441 West Street
Amherst, Ma 01002

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach 4

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool.
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break and end of August.
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department.
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

LOST

BUTTON WATCH with denim strap on 11/9 between Hasbrouck to Washington. Finder please call 548-4379. Reward

GOLD MARTINI GLASS EARRING weekend before Halloween in Amherst. Will Reward! Please call 253-7962

PERSONALS

ANN
This is your personal. The past two months have been great. I look forward to many more.
Love always
Michael

ATTENTION MOORE!
Lori R. AKA Spanky, is on the loose! Just remember Lori, December is L me month at 25 Townhouse!
Peach & Todd

CAST AND CREW OF MESSIAH!!
MAZEL TOV!!!!
Let's put on a show for the myth the man the Messiah!
Love your M B1C

HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY!
Kimberly Clare
Love ya
Laura & Pam

HAPPY BIRTHDAY HEIDI MURPHY!
Want to be a butterfly?
How about a caterpillar?
If you have answered yes to either one of these questions the zone awaits you.
Mary Sharon Maria Andrea Tammy & Shelly

LENA - You are a good Happy Five Month Anniversary

LISA M.
Ever dance with the devil in the pale moonlight? How about the laundry room of Gorman? Your turn! AH

OSCAR THOMAS BERRY LINQUIST
You should see yourself as I do.
Carpe Diem! Break a leg and be the bravest individual. Keep the newly returned awesome attitude. Never settle for 2nd best. Smile.
Love, your best friend
Michael

TO BRIAN THE RA
Here's your personal!
Laura

WATCH OUT UMASS...Jeff Manning is the big 1-9!! (Should be interesting!)
Amy & the rest of you' fans at Tri-Sigma

RIDE WANTED

RIDE NEEDED FRI 11/30 to St. Lawrence Univ. Syracuse or anywhere in between. Please call Lisa 253-7317

ROOMMATES WANTED

2 ROOMS IN HOUSE available in Jan '262 plus utilities. Bus route. 256-8978

FEMALE NONSMOKER wanted to share room 549-0038 for December 1

FEMALE ROOMMATE NEEDED to share quiet 1 bdrm apt in Sunderland. On bus rte 665-1170

FEMALE ROOMMATE WANTED for Jan 1st. $187.50 heat included. Call Leah or Anne 549-4259

FEMALE TO SBLT SINGLE in 5 bdrm house. Great loc $240 mo & util 253-5474

MALE NONSMOKER to share large room Squire VI Call 665-2428 $150

ROOM FOR RENT IN PUFFTON Apt. for January 211.50 & utilities 549-5303 or 546 1577 A.S.A.P.

SHARE LARGE ROOM in Presidential Apartments. Rent $155. Available Christmas 549-4820

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, confidential counseling? Call 24 hrs free and confidential. Services also 3000 in Greenfield area 774-6011

SKI MT SNOW

$3.00 OFF LIFT TICKETS- Fill out form in Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

SUBLET

AMHERST CENTER
Room to sublet in January
Call 549-8377

I WANT TO SUBLET your room for January. Call Michele 546-0096

ROOM TO SUBLET in great house. Three minute walk to town, five minute walk to campus. On bus route. Call 549-6508

SUBLET a convenient Townhouse Apt. For next semester with 2 girls. Call 549 8001 and come meet us.

TRAVEL

CHRISTMAS, SPRING BREAK, SUMMER TRAVEL FREE. Air couriers needed and cruiseship jobs. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext F-1426

NEW YEARS EVE IN MONTREAL!
3 days for $119. Call Paula 546-1944
Deadline: Friday

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30! TRAVEL WITH THE BEST! 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers. Affordable, dependable. Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924

TYPING

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive, quick and accurate - campus pickup & delivery. Call Lisa 256-6996

WORDPROCESSING. REPORTS Resumes. Theses. Graphics. Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & util 549-4195

WANTED: A used Apple Mac computer with word program and printer. Will pay well. Call 546-1685 Trystan

SPORTS

Marathon Oil turns men's hoop to sludge, 105-81

By ADRIENNE MATT
Collegian Staff

The Minuteman Hoop Band was not the only thing missing from the Cage last night as Marathon Oil defeated the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team 105-81 in a scrimmage game.

"We have to play with passion and enthusiasm," said UMass coach John Calipari. "We saw none of that tonight.

"We've got some gaping holes to fill."

The caulking was needed way before the half. Marathon Oil came out strong and never looked back. They took the lead at six minutes into the game and gradually spread the point difference.

Tony Barbee initiated the scoring for UMass and finished well above the other Minutemen with 23 points. He went 8-15 on the floor and 7-8 at the foul line. But the evening's statistics were hollow for him, they didn't win.

"There was no energy or electricity," Barbee said. "We didn't play like a team."

"Their shooting was off," observed Marathon coach Glenn Sergent. "Plus they had some defensive breakdowns."

Marathon's Mike Born was unstoppable as he went 17-17, completing all five of his attempted treys and finishing with 46 points.

"Mike's a quick shooter," Sergent said. "[Earl] Kelley had 44 last night [against Rhode Island]. Sometimes some players are hotter than others."

Marathon's Kelley finished with 17 points, completing 9-of-12 field goals. However, Harper Williams racked up 18 points for UMass, going 100 percent at the foul line in four attempts.

The offense took no real initiative, enough needed to make a difference on the boards. The defense got sloppy and brought attention to unnecessary personal fouls.

With around nine minutes left in the first half, Calipari called his first timeout as the Minutemen were trailing 20-27. From there on out UMass played catch up with about a 10 point spread. The half ended with a score of 53-38, Marathon Oil.

In the first half alone UMass racked up 15 fouls, ending the game with 31. Freshman Jeff Meyer was the only player to foul out. He completed the game with four blocks but no points.

During an intense low-post shot attempt, Marathon was blocked by Meyer three consecutive times. The crowd was frenzied, the only emotion from the stands all evening.

Fouls and free throws proved to be a crucial part of the game, as Marathon racked up 32 points in 42 opportunities at the line. By comparison, UMass got only 22 chances at the line but capitalized by sinking 16.

UMass' free throw percentage accelerated in the second half, eight percent above Marathon's, while their field goal numbers dropped by 10 percent.

Marathon finished shooting 60 percent from the floor and 76 percent from the line. However, UMass ended the game with a field goal percentage of 46, 73 in free throws.

"We've got some problems to solve now," said Calipari. "There's just not enough pride or intensity."

Calipari substituted often, taking time to look at Meyer, Kennard Robinson and Chris Robinson. K. Robinson finished with two points and one foul, seeing 18 minutes. C. Robinson had two assists and four fouls in 10 minutes.

"They will have to play hard for him," Sergent said of Calipari. "He's got a good team here."

"We've been so beat up," Calipari said. "We're not ready to play."

Collegian photo by Tom Burke

Tony Barbee was UMass' bright spot, scoring-wise, as he netted 23 points in the Minutemen's scrimmage against Marathon Oil (105-81) last night.

Marathon Oil, 105-81

Marathon Oil (105)
Kelley 4-7 9-12 17, Timberlake 0-3 2-4 2, Born 17-17 7-8 46, Hill 5-12 2-2 14, Carr 2-3 6-9 10, Henry 0-8 3-4 3, Spurling 5-9 3-3 13. Totals 35-59 32-42 105.

Massachusetts (81)
Giles 2-6 0-0 5, Brown 1-2 0-0 2, C. Robinson 0-2 0-0 0, McCoy 3-11 2-2 8, Barbee 8-15 7-8 23, Anderson 0-1 2-2 2, Williams 7-12 4-4 18, Meyer 0-1 0-0 0, Herndon 2-11 0-0 14, Grodski 0-0 0-0 0, K. Robinson 1-6 0-0 2, Tate 3-8 1-2 7. Totals 32-88 16-22 81.

Halftime 53-38. Three-point goals Born 5, Hill 2, Giles. Fouled out Meyer. Rebounds Marathon Oil 58 (Henry 10), Massachusetts 34 (Williams 6). Assists Marathon Oil 20 (Timberlake 6), Massachusetts 28 (Brown 6). Total fouls Marathon Oil 19, Massachusetts 31. Technicals Henry, Massachusetts A 26.

Women's soccer players named All-Region

Four members of the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team were named to the NCAA All-Americans teams for New England. Three of Jim Rudy's crew were named first team and another to the second team.

Senior midfielder April Kater, who received the Herman Award, was named to the first team. She was All-New England as well as All-American last year. Kater finished this season by breaking the school's career points record with 91. She ended the season with six goals, four assists and 44 shots on goal.

Senior forward Sue Gaudette and sophomore defender Holly Helmuth were named first team this year as well as last. Gaudette finished the season with six goals, three assists and 40 shots on goal. Helmuth wrapped the season with 18 shots on goal, as well as a goal and assist.

Senior defender Kim Montgomery was named to the second team, her first collegiate honor. She assisted once in the season and started 16 games.

Connecticut, Hartford, Brown, Vermont, Yale, New Hampshire, Boston College, Dartmouth and Harvard also placed athletes on the All-New England first and second teams.

"When you see things like this," Rudy said, "it helps to mellow the disappointment [of the season and NCAA tournament bids]."

— ADRIENNE MATT

Indoor track takes on UConn in season-openers

• Women head to Brown for Invitational

By DAN WETZEL
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's indoor track team will kick off its season this Saturday at the Brown Invitational. UMass will be running a host of newcomers in the meet and only time will tell how they will perform, according to head coach Julie LaFreniere.

UMass will be lead by junior Lee Ann Ambrose, who is the defending New England Champion and school record holder in the 400-meter. Ambrose finished second in New England in the 200-meter and also holds that school record.

"[Ambrose] is one of the quality people we have returning this season," LaFreniere said. "She is so versatile that she can run any distance from the 55-meter to the 800-meter. This season we want to move her up to the 800 so she will double the 800 and the 55 this weekend."

Rounding out the 55-meter field for UMass will be freshmen Wendy Gillette, of New Jersey, and Tana Henderson, of New York. LaFreniere said she is hoping they step up to the challenge this weekend.

Henderson will also run in the 200-meter race along with converted soccer player, sophomore Leanne Swartz. Swartz, in her first collegiate meet, will also run in the 400-meter race on Saturday.

Lennic Johnson and Dana Smith will run the 500-meter for UMass this weekend.

Another important returner is sophomore Becky Johnson, who as a freshman broke the school record in the 1,000-meter. Johnson is coming off of a strong cross country season but, according to LaFreniere, is better on the track.

In the mile LaFreniere will look to senior Cathy Crocker and returning star Mo Meldrim to pick up where they left off last season. Also running the mile will be cross country MVP freshman Kelly Liljeblad.

The 3,000-meter is where UMass will have most experience with seniors Dana Goldfarb, Kathy Holt and Lynn Kiarchoff competing this weekend. Also running will be freshman Cate Dean.

In the field events LaFreniere will look to Diane Ozzolek and Samone Marisseau in the 20-pound weight. Marisseau will double up and throw the shotput.

Last but not least, in the pentathlon UMass will send out junior Sue MacFadyen.

"This is the first time Sue has competed in the pentathlon," LaFreniere said. "This being her first meet, I am not sure how well she will do, but she is very strong.

This weekend LaFreniere said she sees defending New England Champions, Connecticut, walking away with the meet.

"They are a very tough team," LaFreniere said."They have no glaring weaknesses at all."

UConn will be challenged by the host team Brown, who according to LaFreniere, is also very strong.

"We have a small team, but also a good one," LaFreniere said. "We are going to be hitting a lot of the invitationals. We are going to Harvard next week, Smith late in the season and we have to defend our Bates Invitational title in late January."

LaFreniere said that she had to drop three meets due to budget problems so the team will only compete in two traditional duel meets.

• Men see Rams, Huskies in New Haven

By KEITH BENNETT
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's indoor track team will open its season on Saturday in a tri-meet against Connecticut and Rhode Island at New Haven, Conn.

UConn is the defending New England champion and UMass coach Ken O'Brien expects his young team to be strongly challenged.

"This meet should give us a very accurate idea of where we stand," said O'Brien. "I think it will be an eye-opener for the younger kids and a real test for the older kids on the team."

O'Brien said that his team worked very hard throughout the fall in order to prepare for the up-coming season. If there is a concern for O'Brien as his team prepares to begin the season, it is his team's relative inexperience. The team returns only nine lettermen from last year.

"We lost a lot of athletes to graduation," said O'Brien. "I think that will take its toll this season.

"We do have a number of good kids coming back this year and some good freshmen who I hope will be able to compete on the collegiate level."

The top returning point scorers returning from last years squad are 400-meter runner Steve Brown and sprinter Kevin Walters.

O'Brien also expects strong performances this year from pentathletes Dave Borges and Brian Bednarek.

"Borges and Bednarek have the ability to score in several events for us in the dual meets as well as providing us with points in the pentathlon in the championship meets," said O'Brien.

Joe Kourafas and Eric Loomis will be competing in the jumping events which O'Brien said he views as one of the strongest events for the team this season.

Another area which O'Brien said he expects his team to be strong in this season are sprints. Joining Walters in these events are senior Mike Gray and sophomore Matt Rosenberg, who was a finalist in the dash at the New England Championships as a freshman last year.

Competing in the hurdles for UMass will be Jeff White, who was a New England finalist in the event last year, and freshman Paul Doyle.

In the 400-meter, O'Brien is banking on the experience of Brown as well as the talent of freshman Brian King.

If the team has a particular weak spot it is probably in the throwing events. Sophomore Luke Simpson should be the top performer in these events.

"Simpson will score for us in the dual meets and possibly in the conference meet, but he's still about a year away from qualifying for the New Englands," said O'Brien.

The middle-distance and distance events will be handled primarily by runners from the cross country team. Based on the performances of these runners during the cross country season, O'Brien feels that these events should be fairly strong.

"I think that the middle-distance and distance events will be solid," said O'Brien. "We may have some trouble in the championship meets in the middle-distance events but we will be stronger in the longer distances."

O'Brien said he hopes that some solid performances on Saturday and some hard work over the weeks following the meet will have his team ready by the time the season is in full swing in January.

THIS WEEKEND

S A R A F I N A !

South African musical examines children's struggle to end apartheid

By ALEX NGUYEN
Collegian Staff

This weekend, the Five College community will have the pleasure of experiencing Sarafina!, the exhilarating and moving South African musical which celebrates the spirit and passion of children's struggle to end apartheid.

For those who have little or no comprehension of the term apartheid, Sarafina! will be an education coming through theater entertainment. And for those who know about apartheid through American media and South African government propaganda, we can relearn the truth as revealed by the South African cast of Sarafina!

The musical Sarafina! is a memorial to the June 16, 1976 student uprising in the Black township of Soweto's Morris Isaacson School protesting of the government's decree of a national Afrikaans language for education rather than their native African languages.

Sarafina! takes place in a fictional Morris Iaasacson class and focuses on a student named Sarafina who inspires her classmates to struggle against the South African government.

Because of her political statements and actions, Sarafina is jailed but comes back even more determined. Sarafina and her classmates put on a play about the long-awaited day of South African political prisoner Nelson Mandela's release.

The musical was created and is directed by Mbongeni Ngema, a famous South African writer and musician. Ngema premiered Safafina! at the Market Theater in Johannesburg, South Africa in June of 1987 with an all South African cast between the ages of 15 and 25.

In September of that year, Lincoln Center in New York brought the entire cast of Sarafina! to the States and in January of 1988, Sarafina! moved to Broadway where it has been playing to standing ovations.

In 1988, Sarafina! earned five Tony Award nominations including Best Musical.

The music of Sarafina! was created by Hugh Masekela and Ngema and includes different musical styles such as jazz, rock, rhythm and blues and gospel.

Sarafina! is a must see for theater goers and people who want an honest representation of apartheid South Africa. Seeing this musical will finally make some sense of the Nelson Mandela's plea to the United States not to lift sanctions in order to help end apartheid.

Sarafina! will be performed at the Fine Arts Center on Saturday, Dec.1 at 8 p.m. and Sunday Dec. 2 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the Fine Arts Center Box Office for $29, $27 and $25. Special $6 tickets are available for children 16-and-under for the Sunday matinee only.

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

The Threepenny Opera, a film adaption directed by G.W. Pabst, is classic musical satire which chronicles the adventures of a gangster, his cohorts and enemies. It will be shown at Amherst College in Merrill II at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Art Auction, featuring the work of faculty, graduate and undergraduate students of the UMass Art Department, will be held at UMass in the Cape Cod Lounge of the Student Union Building. Viewing will begin at 2 p.m. The auction will take place at 4 p.m. All proceeds go to the Graduate Arts Students Association.

Art Show, featuring works by Dorrance Hill's sculpture class and jazz by the Fred clayton Ensemble, will take place at UMass in the lobby of Kennedy Tower from 4 p.m.-6 p.m.

Drawing From The Figure, a visual art exhibition, will hold an opening reception at UMass in the Wheeler Gallery from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. Admission is free. The exhibit will be on display at the gallery until December 13.

BFA Thesis Exhibiton, featuring computer graphics by Bart Popenoe and Alan Turransky, will hold an opening reception at UMass in the Student Union Art Gallery from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. The exhibition will be on display until December 5. Gallery hours are from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. on weekdays.

Dick Tracy, the mega-hyped film starring Warren Beatty and Madonna, will be shown at UMass in Mahar 108 at 6 p.m., 8 p.m., 10 p.m. and 12 a.m. Admission is $2 for the 6 p.m. showing and $2.50 for the other showings.

The Chieftains, a group who has broadened the popularity of traditional Irish music, will perform at UMass in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall at 8 p.m. Tickets are $27, $25 and $23.

Myrna Packer/Art Bridgeman will perform dynamic dance duets that embody humor, sensuality, intelligence and spontaneity at UMass in Hampden Theatre at 8 p.m. Admission is $5 for students and $7 for the general public.

Messiah, a play centering on a 17th century Polish woman who questions her Jewish faith amidst rumors of a coming Messiah, will be performed at UMass in the Rand Theatre at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday at the same time. Tickets are $3 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

Sweet Charity, the musical comedy by Neil Simon about a dance hall hostess, will be performed at UMass in Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m. with a repeat performances on Friday and Saturday at the same time. Tickets are $3 for students and $5 for the general public.

The Tempest, a William Shakespeare play depicting an early winter evening in which the bewitching Ariel, the God-like Prospero and peotic Caliban are caught in a storm of desire and revenge, will be performed at Smith College in the Mendenhall Center for the Performing Arts. The performance will begin at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday at the same time. Tickets are $2 for students and $4 for the general public.

O-Positive will play at Pearl Street in Northampton. The 18-and-over show starts at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $6 in advance.

Gruppa Yabloko, a Russian contemporary folk group featuring Marina Kapuro, will play at the Iron Horse in Northampton at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 in advance.

Forever More will play at UMass in the Hatch from 9 p.m.-midnite.

Da Camera Singers, an Amherst based chorus of 25 members, will perform choral works by Heinrich Schutz at the South Amherst Congregational Church, located on the common, at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free, but donations are suggested.

Bob Alper, a stand-up Rabbi, will cajole the patrons of Peking Garden Restaurant in Hadley. Show starts at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $6 for students and $8 for the general public.

One-Eyed Jake will play at the Hadley Pub.

FRIDAY

Floral Design Exhibit, which will display holiday floral decorations designed by Stockbridge and Plant and Soil Science Students, can be found at UMass in French Hall Room 105 from 11:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Frank Ozereko will display his ceramic pieces at UMass in the Herter Art Gallery until December 16. There will be an opening reception from 5 p.m-7 p.m. at the gallery.

20th Annual Madrigal Dinner, an evening of medieval holiday fare, pageantry and song, will be held at UMass in the Campus Center Auditorium. The doors of the Great Hall will open at 6 p.m. Guests will be requested to take their seats at 7 p.m. The event will be repeated on Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are $17 for students and $21 for the general public. For reservations call: 545-0418.

Musical Shabbat Service will be held at UMass in the Hillel House Lounge at 7 p.m. Admission is free.

This is Spinal Tap, the hilarious film directed by Rob Reiner that chronicles the misadventures of an aging British Heavy Metal band, will plow through you bean fields at Hampshire College in the Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Admission is $1.

Double Indemity, a film starring Barbara Stanwyck, Edward G. Robinson and Fred MacMurray of My Three Sons fame, will be shown at Mount Holyoke College in Gamble Auditorium at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Admission is $2.

Mystery Train will be shown at Amherst College in the Campus Center Theatre at 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. Admission is $1.50.

Motoko, a one woman mime/theatre performance with music by John Sprague, will be performed at the East Street Dance Studio in Hadley at 7:30 p.m. with a repeat performance on Saturday at the same time. For more information call: 536-4507.

Martin Espada and Sandra Maria Esteves, two highly praised Puerto Rican poets, will read their recent works at Mount Holyoke College in the New York Room of Mary Wooley Hall at 7:30 p.m. A reception and booksigning will follow immediately afterwards.

The Folger Consort will present a medieval Christmas concert at Amherst College in Buckley Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are $15 for orchestra seating and $12 for balcony seating. $13 and $10 for senior citizens and students.

Luther Guitar Jr. Johnson, who played with Muddy Waters for eight years, will play at the Iron Horse Music Hall in Northampton. Show starts 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $8 in advance.

Kevin Calhoun will tickle the funny bones of Peking Garden Restaurant patrons. Show starts at 8:30 p.m. with a repeat performance on Saturday at the same time.

Benefit Concert for Ras "Stone" Montgomery featuring the African and American Dance Theatre of New England, Perry Howarth and the Screamers and Tribal Etiket, will be performed at Hampshire College in the Red Barn at 9 p.m. Admission is $6-$10.

Trickster Visits the Rootabaga Country, an evening of folk and other tales with Rochelle Wildfong and special guest Len Cabral, will take place at the Northampton Center for the Arts at 8 p.m. Admission is $4 for senior citizens and $7 for the general public.

Rippopotamus, with special guests Who's Kiddin' Who, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton.

SATURDAY

Booksigning and Reception for children's book illustrators Dennis Nolan and Lauren Mills who will be signing copies of their latest books Dinosaur Dreams and Elphabet, will take place at The Odyssey Bookshop in South Hadley from 10:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m.

The Flecktones, a group offering a strange blend of Nashville Bluegrass, Euro-jazz and Parliament Funkadelic, will play at the Iron Horse in Northampton. there will be shows at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Tickets are $12.50 in advance.

Sarafina! will be performed at UMass in Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m. with a repeat performance on Sunday at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Talley's Folley will be performed at Amherst College in Fayerweather Studio at 8 p.m. with a repeat performance on Sunday at the same time. Admission is free, but reservations are necessary. To make reservations call: 542-2277.

Marvelous Morsels of Mozart, featuring selections from Abduction from the Seraglio, Marriage of Figaro, Don Giovanni, Cosi Fan Tutte, Die Zauberflote and Sinfonia Concertante as performed by the Five College Orchestra, will take place at Amherst College in Buckley Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

Noman/Moss Icon/Nation of Ulysses/Sleepyhead will play at Hampshire College in the Saga Dining Common at 9 p.m. Admission is $3 with Hampshire College I.D. and $4 without.

SUNDAY

University Opera Workshop, featuring A Hand of Bridge by Samuel Barber, Fables by Ned Rorem and Hin und Zuruck by Paul Hindemith, will take place at UMass in Benzanson Recital Hall at 2:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Portraits will be shown at Amherst College in Stirn Auditorium at 4 p.m. Admission is free.

Christmas Vespers, a festive potpourri of seasonal music, will be performed by the Smith College Glee Club and Smith Choirs Alpha and Omega in John M. Greene Hall at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Christmas Vespers will be performed by the Amherst College Choral Society in Johnson Chapel at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Frank Morgan Duo, featuring jazz saxophonist frank Morgan who play for Duke Ellington's band, will play at the Iron Horse Music Hall in Northampton. Show starts at 7 p.m. Tickets are $12.50 in advance.

University Chorale will usher in the winter season with its annual holiday concert at UMass in Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m. Admission is $3 for students and senior citizens and $6 for the general public.

Andy Stewart and Manus Lunny, a Celtic music duo, will perform at Amherst College in the Campus Center Frontroom at 8 p.m. Admission is $1 with Amherst college I.D. and $7 without.

The Black Crowes, with special guests The Four Horsemen and Burning Tree, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton. Show starts at 8 p.m.

Judgement Day, with special guests Maelstrom and Senseless Killing, will shred Katina's in Hadley with their thrash mental mayhem. All-ages show.

INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
Thursday and Friday-Student Night

BIRDIES & BOGEYS
Holyoke Mall-Lower Level
536-3765

Photo courtesy UMass Theatre Guild

Laura Marie Duncan plays Charity Hope Valentine and Thomas Matthew Berry plays Oscar Lindquist in the UMass Theatre Guild's production of Neil Simon's Sweet Charity.

A 'sweet,' energetic musical comedy

By LISA CURTIS
Collegian Correspondent

The UMass Theatre Guild, having recently completed the musical revue Schoolhouse Rock, will be presenting the Tony Award winning musical comedy Sweet Charity.

Based on a book by Neil Simon, Sweet Charity: The Story of a Girl Who Wanted to be Loved, centers itself on the life of Charity Hope Valentine, a dance hall hostess.

The character Charity is portrayed by Laura Marie Duncan. Duncan is a sophomore transfer student at the University of Massachusetts. Because the story focuses on Charity's escapades, "she carries on the show," Christianna Pearce, publicity coordinator, explained.

Sweet Charity, set in the Fan-Dango Ballroom in 1966, follows Charity through her adventures with hostesses and clients, including her current "true love," Oscar Lindquist.

Oscar is played by Thomas Matthew Berry, who has had experience in numerous shows. A senior, he has performed in the Guild's presentations of Godspell and A Chorus Line.

Other performers include sophomore Nicole Chiasson, as Nickie, and Smith College sophomore Catriona P.F. McCaleb, as Helene.

"There is a lot of movement in the show," Pearce explained with reference to the spectacular dance numbers included in the musical. The show's choreographer is Lisa Moskow.

"A lot of hard work and dedication was put into this production," Pearce said.

"If My Friends Could See Me Now" and "Big Spender" are just two of the familiar, energetic songs that make up Sweet Charity.

The vocal director for the Music Theatre Guild is Jen Welty. The music for Sweet Charity was written by Cy Coleman. The lyrics are by Dorothy Fields.

The Guild's presentation includes over 35 talented singers, dancers and actors from the Five College consortium. This is one of the largest casts the Guild has worked with in recent years.

The director is Joseph F. McClearn Jr. and the assistant director is Susan Chiasson. The producer is Kara M.E. Jenkins.

Last semester the Guild performed A Chorus Line.

"We have one mainstay a semester and one revue, like Schoolhouse Rock," Pearce said. "We returned to doing revues this year because there was an interest for it. It offers more opportunities for students to be involved."

The Music Theatre Guild opened in Bowker Auditorium in 1936. It is a student run organization with "room to help in every aspect," said Pearce. General meetings for those interested are held every other Wednesday.

Next semester the Guild plans to present Into the Woods as its main production. It is still accepting proposals for a revue.

Sweet Charity will be performed on Nov. 29, 30 and December 1 at 8 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium. Tickets are $3 for students and $5 for the general public.

DO PEOPLE THINK YOU'RE STRANGE? YOUR KIND SHALL TRIUMPH!
...THEN YOU MAY BE ON THE RIGHT TRACK!
ARE YOU ABNORMAL? YES!
THEN YOU ARE PROBABLY BETTER THAN MOST PEOPLE!

Main St RECORDS
SON OF Main St RECORDS
RECORDS • CASSETTES • COMPACT DISCS
IMPORTED, INDEPENDENT & DOMESTIC
MON - WED 9:30 - 6 SUN 12 - 5
THURS - SAT 9:30 - 9
213 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-5726
COLLECTABLES • USED MANUFACTURER'S OVER-STOCKS
MONDAY - SATURDAY 10 - 5:30
THURSDAYS 10 - 9 SUNDAY 12 - 5
21 STATE ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-1707

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
ADVOCATE ★BEST★ THE VALLEY READER'S POLL 1990 1ST PLACE
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style—especially for you!
• Ample Free Parking
• Major Credit Cards Accepted
• Full Liquor License
• Open 7 Days A Week
• Take-Out Service Available
• No MSG
585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

The World Ends Tomorrow and YOU MAY DIE!
(Well, no, probably not ... but whatever you do, you'll miss it!)

Pearl Street
this weekend..
O POSITIVE
Sun. Dec 2 8:00pm
RIPPOPOTAMUS
WHO'S KIDDIN' WHO
Mon. Dec 3 8:00pm
THE BLACK CROWES
Tue. Dec 4 8:00pm
BLUES TRAVELER
next week..
Thurs. Dec 6 9:00pm
UMass Graduates
BUFFALO TOM
Fri. Dec 7 8:00pm
BOBBY KING & TERRY EVANS
Sat. Dec 8 8:00pm
C.J. CHENIER & THE RED HOT LOUISIANA BAND advance tix available..
Every week from Wednesday thru Saturday dance at Pearl Street on the area's largest dance floor
Thurs. Dec 13 7:00pm
Hindu Love God
WARREN ZEVON
Fri. Dec 14 7:00pm
'TIL TUESDAY
413 584-7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

The Black Crowes blast out real rock and roll

By AMIE FINKELSTEIN
Collegian Staff

This is a personal testimony.

I didn't want it to be, but music is a personal thing. There's no two ways about it. What we like or dislike is a personal thing. What the music means to us is personal. Most importantly, why we choose to like the bands we do is strictly a personal matter.

I like the Black Crowes. They kick. They are the only new band to come out with something that sounds like pure rock and roll. It feels like rock and roll. Real guitar rock. Their debut album, Shake Your Money Maker, is the best release to hear this year. It hits home. It cuts like a razor blade.

Originally from Atlanta, where either Southern rock or alternative rock are the norms, the Crowes' harder attitude was shunned.

"We came off as arrogant because we love what we do," says lead vocalist, Chris Robinson. "Atlanta's my home and I love it, but we weren't going to pigeonhole ourselves to suit a few people."

They suit me. And Shake Your Money Maker, with back-lashing electric riffs, whether on a slower track like "Sister Luck," or on stompers like "Jealous Again" (their first single) is the most hard-rockin' compilation.

With five Atlanta boys, who came together three years ago, they give us an album full of what we know we want to hear. In 1988, the band decided to try a crunchy, two guitar attack.

That's what it is all about. Two guitars. "Thick and Thin," is all guitars, with a catchy vocal — but that guitar solo sound is reminiscent of "Johnny Be Good," in the days when Chuck Berry was King. Remember Chuck Berry?

The Crowes can get you in the gut too. "She Talks To Angels," an electrifying ballad, with lyrics to kill, has acoustic guitars and bluesy organ solos, all intertwined between the raspy, thick voice of Chris Robinson. He sings, "She'll tell you she's an orphan, after you meet her family." It's a song about this beautiful girl who's addicted, but what they're trying to say, is that at some point, everyone's addicted. The Crowes write songs about what life is about, put into a rock format and make a definite hit record.

"We just tell the truth," says Rich, lead guitarist, "not whether something is good or bad, right or wrong."

They gigged this past summer, opening for the almighty Aerosmith on the Pump tour, exposing them to rock audiences across the country. Now the Black Crowes, after selling tons of records in the past year and moving up the charts with their version of Otis Redding's funky "Hard to Handle," are headlining an American club tour, and still rockin', even after the long and hard Smith tour.

To the Crowes, rock and roll is what you live for.

"We're Black Crowes 24 hours a day," Chris says. "We want to bring back that excitement when a fan would be in the blood of it all, when you knew everything about a song like you knew your girlfriend. When you know that the guy who wrote it really felt that way."

No more "alternative rock" college music bull for this rock and roll chick. If the Crowes don't epitomize what rock and roll is, then I need new ears. See you Sunday.

The Black Crowes play Pearl Street Sunday night along with the Four Horsemen and Burning Tree. Doors open at 8 p.m.

Photo courtesy Def American

The Black Crowes play Pearl Street in Northampton Sunday night.

Photo courtesy ICM Artists

Paddy Maloney of the Chieftains.

Real Irish revelry

1990 will be remembered as a big year for Ireland. The republic held the presidency of the European community during the exciting months following the collapse of the Berlin Wall, and for the first time in history, the Irish national soccer team qualified for the World Cup tournament. The film My Left Foot brought back Oscars for two Irish actors. Most recently, Mary Robinson became the nation's first woman president. So what better way to approach year's end than with an evening of Irish music? Reknowned reelmasters the Chieftains will play just that tonight at the Fine Arts Center.

If your idea of Irish music is based upon sappy standards like "Danny Boy" or "The Unicorn Song," the Chieftains should provide you with a pleasant surprise. Traditional Irish music is a richly textured, frenetic improvisational sound. It is a sign of the Chieftain's great dynamic range that they have played with rock superstars such as Eric Clapton and Jerry Garcia, as well as with folk and classical musicians. Perhaps their most successful crossover was their brilliant 1988 album Irish Heartbeat, recorded with their compatriot, grumpy mystic genius Van Morrison.

The Chieftains are comprised of Matt Molloy on flute, fiddlers Martin Faye and Sean Keene and Derek Bell on harp. Kevin Conneff pumps out intricate rhythms on the bodhran, a small goatskin drum. Paddy Maloney rounds out the combo on the Uillean pipes, an instrument similar to the bagpipes, but played with the fingers and elbow, and having a mellower sound than their Caledonian cousins.

The revelry begins tonight at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the FAC Box Office for $23, $25 and $27. Half-price tickets are available for Five College students.

— JOHN PURIN

ARE WE CONTROLLED BY SECRET FORCES?

Make your reservation now and you could

WIN A FREE TRIP!!!
SPRING BREAK '91!
CANCUN · BAHAMAS · JAMAICA
SANTA'S SPRING BREAK SWEEPSTAKES
HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:
Simply mail your $75 deposit before December 31, 1990 and you will automatically be entered in our sweepstakes to win a FREE TRIP!! Also, by booking early, you'll save $30 per person! Space is limited, so don't wait!!
From Only: $399
TAKE A BREAK
CALL YOUR ON-CAMPUS REP TODAY!!!
Josh or Eligio 256-8266

Pearl Street
Psychedelic Blues
BLUES TRAVELER
Mar. Dec. 8:00pm
Advance Tickets available at Pearl St.
For the Record at Amherst Strawberries
Record Stores - Ticketron 800-382-8080
413 584 7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

Ski Killington
Intercollegiate Ski Fest
$269 SKI FEST PACKAGE
PER PERSON 3 OR MORE PER UNIT
DBL. OCC. RATE: $289 PER PERSON
DEC. 16 - 21, 1990
JAN. 1 - 6, 6 - 11, 13 - 18, 1991
Includes
▲ 5 days skiing
▲ 5 nights ski-home accommodations in Killington Village
▲ Daily on-mountain competitions
▲ Awards parties with great prizes
▲ Apres-ski and nighttime parties
▲ Ski racing clinics
▲ Vermont tax
Lower rates for groups of 20 or more. For information and brochure call
1-800-343-0762
Killington Rd., Killington, VT 05751 (802) 422-3101
THE VILLAGES AT KILLINGTON

LEGAL PROBLEMS?
Call the Legal Services Center of UMass!
HOUSING · FAMILY · STUDENT RIGHTS · CIVIL RIGHTS · WORKERS RIGHTS · CRIMINAL AND CONSUMER LAW ·
Call 545-1995
Legal Services Center

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 59

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1990

FEATURES
It's Chap-o-ma[illegible]. Keep the homefires burning, with temperatures in the 40s.

EDITORIAL
Bill Rosenblatt discusses the plight of the lip-syncing duo Milli Vanilli. Page 5

SPORTS
Check out the hoop action for both the men's and women's teams this weekend. Page 8.

Vet against occupation of Kuwait

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Vietnam veteran Tom Conroy believes UMass students should register as conscientious objectors rather than fight in a war against the Iraqis.

Conroy, currently a lecturer/doctoral candidate for the Communications Department at the University of Massachusetts, said that he served as a medic in Vietnam from 1970-1971. He describes his experience there as both "depressing and enlightening."

"While over there, I realized for the first time that we were an occupier rather than a liberator."

"As a result of our occupation the nationalist forces joined the communists and nobody really wanted us over there. In a sense we were victims of our own naivete," Conroy added.

If the U.S. armed forces remain in Saudi Arabia long enough, Conroy said, because of the severe culture clash, sooner or later the troops over there will also begin to feel like occupation forces. "This will have two effects," he explained, "first, it will demoralize the troops, and second, the host country will begin to seem more antagonistic."

War has an ugly side that many students don't hear enough about, according to Conroy. "There was a lot of insanity going on in Vietnam when I was over there," he said. "We had a very low morale — there was a well over 15 percent rate of heroin addiction among the troops. And there was a race war going on between the white and black soldiers."

"We were all questioning why we were there," Conroy continued, "there was a soldiers' revolt going on."

Conroy said he would strongly encourage all eligible students to register as conscientious objectors now, in case Bush reinstates the draft. "For those who are already registered they should start working to get their status changed right now," he stressed, "before you get called up."

Conroy's Vietnam experience has convinced him that war is rarely justified. "Participation in a war at almost any level results in a breakdown of a person's spirit. It affects a person's humanity," Conroy said. "If it is ever conceivably justifiable it would have to be for almost inconceivable reasons."

"If Kuwait becomes a sustained occupation like Vietnam," Conroy predicted, "I think we will see another large scale student revolt but it will be more cataclysmic than Vietnam. It will probably be a lot more violent — optimism is very low for a lot of young people — I think a lot of class and culture issues could come up in this one."

"Since it's supposed to be a new world order," Conroy commented, "it doesn't seem to make sense to me that we are nearly the only nation adamantly in favor of using force to support the restoration of a feudal regime."

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Tom Conroy

U.N. resolution passes

Security Council okays use of force after Jan. 15

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council, led by the United States, yesterday authorized military action to liberate Kuwait if Iraq does not withdraw its troops and release all hostages by Jan. 15.

The vote was 12-2, with an abstention by China. Cuba and Yemen voted "no."

Adoption of the resolution marked only the second time, during the Korean War, in the 45-year history of the United Nations that the council authorized the use of force to counter aggression.

In an extraordinary meeting of 13 foreign ministers, the council handed Iraqi President Saddam Hussein an ultimatum to vacate the small oil-rich sheikdom that his troops invaded Aug. 2, or risk military conflict with U.S.-led forces.

"Our aim today must be to convince Saddam Hussein that the just, humane demands of the Council and the international community cannot be ignored," said Secretary of State James A. Baker III, top representative for the United States as president of the council.

"If Iraq does not reverse its course peacefully, then other necessary measures, including the use of force, should be authorized," said Baker. "We must put the choice to Saddam Hussein in unmistakable terms."

"If any war is imposed upon us by the United States, this will be our destiny," said Iraqi Ambassador Abdul Amir al-Anbari. "Our people will not kneel, we will rise to this responsibility."

Said Kuwaiti Foreign Minister Sheikh Sabah al-Amad al-Jaber, "The intransigence of the Iraqi regime is pushing the region to a conflagration which we do not want, but which appears to be the only avenue to restore our rights."

Previewing the U.N. vote, President Bush said: "I think the main thing that I hope will come out of today's session of the United Nations is that we send perhaps the clearest signal of all to Saddam Hussein that the world is deadly serious about reversing this aggression and this economic oppression that he's wrought on many, many countries that can ill afford it."

"The council is but a willing tool in the hands of the American administration," al-Anbari said.

"Iraq calls for peace, it desires peace, not for us alone but for the entire Middle East region," he said. He linked Iraq's willingness to cooperate with a broader Mideast peace settlement that would include a homeland for Palestinians.

"This would be the most dangerous resolution ever passed by the Security Council," al-Anbari said before the meeting, "and a violation of the U.N. charter."

Iraq has said it would defy the resolution.

Women instrumental in Black activism

By AUDREY DEANNA LLOYD
Collegian Correspondent

Although the common image of the Black Panther Party has been one of violence and armed African-American men wearing black, a former female member of the party dispelled the notion that Black women did not take an active role in the movement.

Speaking last night at the Malcolm X Center, Malika Adams, said oppression of women was an issue that threatened to divide the unity of the party as a whole.

"The police treated us like dizzy little dames that were being led around by our men," she said. "They often told our mothers that their good little college girls were involved with common street niggers, who were shooting police and robbing banks." Adams explained that even the White community refused to take Black women's role in the party seriously. Officials could not believe that women were actually revolutionist.

Many men in the party expected the women to assume roles of that were restricted to typing, cooking and caring for the children while leadership roles were reserved for them.

White authorities also tried to use gender to separate the Black Panthers in their unified struggle, she said.

"Come on tell us, we know that Joe Blow is with someone. We know that you want equal rights for your people, but those men are not about that," Adam said trying to give the audience an example of the ploys that were used to destroy the party.

Although Black Panther women had to endure sexism within the party and their invisible role in mainstream America, their participation was instrumental in advocating for basic human needs, education and political involvement of African-Americans.

She said it was essential for woman to share an equal role in decisions which affected the party.

"Decisions were being made that could have jeopardized all of us," Adams said.

The women as individuals also had to take an active role in deciding their fate and the needs of their children, she added.

"Crucial moments where death became reality . . . we were looking down barrels of guns and the reality that we would probably spend life in prison was there. We had to use our wit, we had to utilize the gift of intuition that women often have and cleverness," Adams said.

Adams currently lives in New York City where she is a lecturer at City College and is currently researching the roles of women in the Black Panther Party and the party's community program.

Collegian photo by Richard DuCree

Dr. Malika Adams

N.H., Mass., relationship nurtured

BOSTON (AP) — New Hampshire Gov. Judd Gregg met Massachusetts Governor-elect William Weld on Thursday and said the meeting was "the beginning of a relationship that will benefit both states."

The two Republicans met for about an hour. Without being specific, Gregg said the meeting covered a variety of topic, but focused on economic development and the environment.

"In particular, we discussed the regional economy and joint steps that can be taken to promote our region during these challenging economic times," said Gregg, who won a second term in November.

Gregg, vice chairmen of the New England Governors Conference, is expected to be elected chairman at next week's meeting in Hartford, Conn.

Weld is replacing Democratic Gov. Michael Dukakis. During his first term, Gregg frequently criticized Massachusetts for its faltering economy and high taxes.

He also angered Dukakis by inviting Massachusetts companies to move to New Hampshire if they were unhappy where they were.

After the invitation, Dukakis told Gregg publicly to stay out of Massachusetts and worry about New Hampshire's economy.

Gregg spokesperson Brian Grip said that despite appearances, Gregg and Dukakis got along personally.

"Philosophically and ideologically, there couldn't have been two people farther apart," he said. "But at functions, they were always cordial."

However, Grip acknowledges Weld's governorship

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

IRELAND PUB TOURS
Spring Break
March 20-24
NEED A VACATION SPOT
Imagine cruising in a sun-warmed climate, 10,000 guys to choose from all in 1 location, endless days of rugged hills, beautiful ocean and quaint villages for 5 days for only $599
Choose to join us on one of our tours which includes
• Action-packed roundtrip flight from Boston
• Prime Cruise Hotels
• Transportation to/from guide throughout
• Sightseeing tours
• Breakfast and dinner
• Nightly entertainment and much more
FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CALL
Rosa or Bonnie
549-1258
adventura travel
233 N. Pleasant St. Amherst Carriage Shops

HOURS: SUN-THURS 7am-3pm
FRI-SAT 2am-3pm/10pm-3am
Homemade Soups, Muffins, Desserts Specials
Take-Out Welcome
Daily Specials Offered
MYERS EATERY NORTHAMPTON
88 Pleasant St.
584-4145

Styles By Deborah
The Spa For Hair & Skin Care
549-5610
65 University Drive • Amherst
$3.00 Off
Professional Consultation and Style Cut
(Regularly $16.00 to $18.00)
First time customers only Expires 12/15/90
$5.00 Off
Any Spiral Perm, Facial or Highlighting
First time customers only. Expires 12/30/90
FREE TANNING SESSION
With Any Salon Service And This Coupon Expires 12/30/90
$10 Off Tanning Pkg of 10 Expires 12/15/90

PLEASANT ST. THEATER
77 Pleasant St Northampton, MA 01060
Theater Office: 413 586-5828
"RECKLESSLY LUNATIC COMEDY." Kevin Maher VOGUE
"WILD AND WACKY." SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE
TUNE IN TOMORROW... Cinecom
PG-13
Weekdays at 7 and 9:10/Friday at 5, 7:10 and 9:20/Sat and Sun at 2:45, 5, 7:10, and 9:20 pm
• First Show Friday, Sat, and Sun is $3.50 •
Meher Baba Avatar of this Age
Rare film footage of the Avatar's life on Earth
Weekdays at 7:15 and 9/Fri at 5:10, 7:20, 9:00
Sat and Sun at 3:30, 5:10, 7:20, 9 pm

BETSEY JOHNSON.
25 CENTRAL
CLOTHES THAT FIT YOUR LIFE!
Thornes Marketplace 150 Main St., Northampton 586-8217

MAGIC LANTERN LADIES ONLY
All Male Review
Wed Night: Dec 5th
8pm-12am
FEATURING
The Dance Group
'BAD BOYS FROM BOSTON'
Starring:
★ Tony the Tiger
★ Adonis
★ Atilla
★ Nicko
•Students with college I.D. FREE ADMISSION
•Refreshments will be served
•Each lady will receive a gift
CALL FOR RESERVATIONS
283-9275
Take Rt 9 to Belchertown to Rt 181 to Rt 20 West-Palmer, MA

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS
2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route
CALL 665-2203

REMEMBER
Overnight Parking Snow Policy goes into effect
DECEMBER 11
Where you CANNOT park between 1 am & 7 am during snow season
Lot 25 (South of roadway to E lot)
Lot 26 (except by special permit only)
Lot 31
Lot 32 (east of Lincoln Ave only)
Lot 33
Lot 34
Lot 40
Lot 45
Lot 62
Lot 63
Lot 64
Lot 65
Lot 66
Lot 71
Any campus roadway (INCLUDING Southwest horseshoe)
Any parking meter
These lots have been marked with AMBER PLASTIC FLASHING LIGHTS. Overnight parking will be allowed unless measurable snowfal is predicted and the AMBER LIGHTS are FLASHING. This change is on an experimental basis. Your cooperation will be appreciated.
Campus Parking 545-0065

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
Over 100 courses!
Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session
Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)
Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building
Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!
Classes start January 3, 1991.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.
DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

LOCAL

Administration proposes furlough plan for December

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Although the administration of the University of Massachusetts is still negotiating a retrenchment plan with campus unions, a three-day furlough plan for Dec. 26, 27, and 28 was discussed at the Faculty Senate meeting last night.

The original administration preliminary retrenchment plan had called for a unpaid furlough for up to five days for approximately 5,200 state-funded employees to save the University $450,000.

University administrators devised the furlough as part of a cost reduction plan which includes a $400 student curriculum fee increase for next semester and proposed program reduction and elimination in order to meet a remaining loss of $10.6 million from state budget cuts.

Provost Richard O'Brien said the money which will not be generated by an up to five-day furlough can be balanced "by making additional cuts in administrative areas."

O'Brien said Dec. 26, 27 and 28 might be chosen as unpaid furlough days since the campus would not be operating at that time. He said it is possible the due date for faculty to turn in grades would be extended.

He said the administration could choose to close the campus during the academic year to be "nosy and public" about recent state budget cuts, but questioned how fair this would be to students.

"When we are upping student fees by $500, we shouldn't give them less education for it," O'Brien said.

In addition, the senate passed suggestions to present to the administration in order to save and generate funds on campus. The suggestions were devised by the ad hoc Budget Advisory Committee.

Some of the suggestions are the following.

- Assuring that salaries of administrators are reduced to faculty levels after such administrators have left their administrative positions.
- Facilitating transferral within the state's system of public higher education of faculty whose programs are being reduced or terminated.
- Raising parking violation fines to increase revenues for scholarship funds.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

NO MORE LEAVES – A skeletal tree stands alone in the twilight of nearby Hadley.

BOG debates over clause in handbook

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Staff

Governor Ted Maravelias brought up a motion last night at the BOG to remove the words "sexual orientation" from a requirement in the BOG service handbook.

The information pamphlet distributed by the Board containing job descriptions and services offered by the BOG. This was one of four requirements needed to be met before an RSO can obtain office space in the Campus Center.

After debate, it was decided the clause be removed because it was a restatement of University Affirmative Action policy.

"I think this is ridiculous," said Governor Laura Silver, an LBGA representative, "it is just done to antagonize us."

As the meeting drew to a close, Maravelias attempted to propose a new motion, the exact details of which were unclear. Governor Kelly Keeler said in a conversation after the meeting she believed the motion had to do with restucturing the board.

The shouting ensued when Gordon objected to the proposal and adjourned the meeting. She said the motion was submitted at an inappropriate time.

"There is going to be a motion next week to impeach you," Maravelias shouted to Gordon. "Adjourning the meeting was cowardly. That was the biggest mistake you ever made as chairperson."

Gordon, after an aborted attempt to talk with Maravelias, shouted "... you don't have the balls to bring your motion up during the meeting."

According to Keeler, Maravelias intentionally withheld his motion until several liberal governors had left, to ensure it passed were a vote taken.

In other BOG happenings:

- Vice Chairperson Ed Corrigan submitted a new motion that would give the Armed Forces access to the Campus Center for information distribution, meetings, and recruiting purposes.
- Governor Guy Glodis's motion to take the Collegian's office space away was tabled until next semester. Glodis said he needed time to comprise a report proving the newspaper has "neglected its obligation to the student body."

■ Weld

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

should help relations between the states.

I assume there will be a lot more room for agreement on various issues," he said.

Before Gregg, New Hampshire Gov. John Sununu, another Republican, also criticized Dukakis and the way Massachusetts was run.

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW
NEW RELEASES
584-9153
THE FABULOUS BAKER BOYS
KEVIN COSTNER
Jacob's Ladder
The Nutcracker Prince
Stephen King's MISERY
WHITE PALACE
MAPLE ST. 584-7550
PREDATOR 2
GHOST
ROCKY V
HOME ALONE
Three Men and a Little Lady
Walt Disney Pictures
THE RESCUERS DOWN UNDER
Special engagement no passes or coupons

20% OFF All Timberland Boots Dec 1-8, 1990
The best made boots on the face of the earth.
The world's finest silicone-impregnated leathers are sewn with nylon stitching and then directly attached to the midsole to bring you our Waterproof Insulated boot. The first – and still the best – waterproof boot on the face of the earth.
Timberland
Mathews SHOES
On the Village Green
39 SO. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST, MA 01002 (413) 256-6374

DON'T STAY HOME
Round trips from NY (approx.)
London $412
Paris 480
San Jose, C.R 390
Bangkok 959
Hong Kong 879
Tokyo 759
Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID.
EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue
Council Travel

HEY! ARE YOU...
— A Student Entrepreneur
— A Small Business
— A Student Organization
MAKE YOURSELF KNOWN!
Put a Business Card in
The Business Card Bonanza
featured Mondays in the Collegian
ONLY $20
costs less than an ad of the same size!

ARTS & LIVING

Frank Morgan: A Jazz Rip Van Winkle

By BILL ROSENBLATT
Collegian Staff

The current jazz scene's emphasis on more traditional styles has led to "bull markets" for three kinds of things: reissues of classic older material, new releases by neo-traditionalist "young lions," and new releases by the very few older musicians who are still with us. In many of these cases, the creative energy that was originally present in the music is locked forever in the past.

But what if you could go back in time and put some great 40s or 50s musician in suspended animation, and then resuscitate him in the present day — with all his original vitality and creative energy? That would indeed be a fantasy fulfilled for many of today's jazz fans.

Enter alto saxophonist Frank Morgan, who will be performing with pianist George Cables at the Iron Horse on Sunday at 7 p.m. Here is a guy who studied and hung out with Charlie Parker during the latter's couple of years in L.A. He was an integral part of the L.A. Central Avenue scene that served as a west-coast analog to New York's 52nd Street and belied the stereotyped notion of "west coast jazz" as stale and laid-back. Other habitues of Central Avenue included Dexter Gordon, Art Farmer, Art Tatum and Charles Mingus.

Like most of Parker's disciples, Morgan's emulation of the Master included shooting heroin. He became a junkie and ended up serving a long term in San Quentin that did not end until the 1980s. Luckily, he decided to start a new, clean life; he got his chops together and started performing again. By the late 80s, he had come to the attention of veteran producer Orrin Keepnews, on whose San Fransisco-based Contemporary label his "debut" album Bebop Lives! was recorded.

Valley Jazz

Morgan quickly became a publicist's dream — a jazz Rip van Winkle who came back on the scene during a time in which the style of music he represents is back in vogue. Accordingly, he was written up everywhere from the New York Times to People magazine, and was even a guest on The Today Show.

His recording output has also been prolific: he has released four albums within the last two years, including a Parker tribute (Yardbird Suite) and a reunion with Art Farmer and other mates from L.A. (Central Avenue Reunion). Keepnews and other producers put him in all-star contexts which have included Joe Henderson, Bobby Hutcherson, Ron Carter, Wynton Marsalis, and many others. His most recent release, Mood Indigo, contains several intimate duets with pianist Cables.

Now here's the punch line: Morgan is a fantastic alto saxophonist! Yes, smack has ruined the lives and playing abilities of many musicians, and very few have overcome its debilitating effects (Miles and Coltrane come to mind). But Frank Morgan is definitely a survivor. As Mood Indigo producer John Snyder pointed out, the romanticized "ex-con, drug-addicted jazz man . . . who kills himself for his art" is a false stereotype. Yet Morgan's long, intense life experiences — narcotic or otherwise — have definitely contributed to his fancy-free, surprise-filled, full-blooded style.

By the way: the choice release of the fall season is the last studio session of the recently-departed Art Blakey, One for All, on A & M's superb Modern Masters Jazz Series. The rich, seven-piece instrumentation features the same lineup with which Blakey appeared at the Iron Horse last spring. This is a great Blakey album in the classic mold, and it ranks with his best. The tight ensemble playing and tasteful programming are the mark of a master band leader, while trumpeter Brian Lynch and Australian tenor saxophonist Dale Barlow are the standout soloists. Forgive the pun, but on this one, Blakey goes out with a bang.

COUPON CLIPPER

AMHERST DROP ZONE
ARMY/NAVY STORE
25 percent off German Jack Boots
Rt. 9 Hadley (Next to McDonald's) 585-5800
At 103 N. PLeasant St. (Behind Bart's/Next to Panda East) 256-0039
EXPIRES 12-15-90

PIZZA 256-0222 Bruno's 363 MAIN ST AMHERST SUBS 256-0222
SALADS WE DELIVER QUALITY LASAGNA
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m. Call Us at 256-0222
FREE DELIVERY and We'll Bring Lunch to your home or office

COUPON
$1.50 OFF LARGE PIZZA
PIZZA LASAGNA SALADS SUBS
Bruno's WE DELIVER QUALITY
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m. FREE DELIVERY
Call Us at 256-0222 WE'LL BRING LUNCH TO YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!
ONE COUPON PER PIZZA

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
Featuring the latest works from Valley area artists.
Paintings Prints Wood Metal Jewelry Clothing Pottery Glass Sculpture Leather
REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
At the Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant Street
Downtown, Amherst • 549-7373
Hours: Sun., Mon., Tues. 12-5
Weds., Sat. 10 a.m.-6p.m.

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
15% OFF Everything
(except paintings)
Good thru 11/30-12/15

M—W 10-6; TH—F 10-9
Sat 9-5; Sun 12-5
GAIL PERRIER 529-9773
DO IT WITH PizAzz Pizazz Dancewear Red Rock Shops Southampton, MA
Dancewear, Aerobic Wear, Shoes and Accessories

M—W 10-6; TH—F 10-9
Sat 9-5; Sun 12-5
10% OFF All Merchandise Now thru 12/24
DO IT WITH PizAzz Pizazz Dancewear Red Rock Shops Southampton, MA
Lay Away for Christmas

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Milli Vanilli sing the blues

Bill Rosenblatt

Poor Milli Vanilli, becoming a laughingstock. Poor record companies, shocked and embarassed at this inexcusable breach of the public trust. Please, spare me. Anyone who expects the pop industry to reform itself as a result of the Milli Vanilli situation is bound to be disappointed. After all, the whole thing is but a symptom of the shameless opportunism that has dominated the industry for decades; the epidemic of hypocracy and hoof-in-mouth disease over this issue is just more of the same.

So, Rob and Fab didn't sing on their record. Big deal. The Monkees — the archetypical video band — didn't play their own instruments. Neither did the Partridge Family. Saturday morning cartoon bands, like the Archies and Josie and Pussycats, were mere animation. And, Milli Vanilli appears daily on MTV. What's the difference? Why should anyone expect more integrity from a Milli Vanilli than from the others? After all, in the words of Ian Shoals, they are all "legal fictions designed to sell records."

Sure, the parties involved have to go through the motions and issue press releases about how shocked they are. "We at Arista had no idea . . ." Right. "We were going to give the Grammy back anyway . . ." Yeah, and I'm Santa Claus. Forget it folks: any statement based on the premise that the pop industry has any scruples (or that the Grammy Awards are for artistry) is just plain flawed.

Rob and Fab claimed, at their press conference, that they had "made a deal with the devil." This, I believe. (Ever see the movie Phantom of the Paradise?) I'd be interested to know how much musicians and non-musicians alike were paid to keep their mouths shut, and what kind of threat hung over their heads if they talked. I'd also like to know how many other Milli Vanillis there have been who didn't happen to get caught.

So, now begins the cavalcade of ridiculousness. MCA Entertainment president Al Teller makes sure to point out in public how sleazy his competitors are. Several people, clearly prodded by their fee-hungry lawyers, are filing class-action lawsuits for deceptive advertising.

Most recent, and most insidious, is the reaction of a bunch of Republican politicians in Boston: They want to require promoters to state in advertisements if any part of a concert will be pre-recorded. "We want to make sure that consumers get what they pay for," they say. Oh, come one. Since when do Republicans call for regulations on business to protect consumers' rights? No, this is just another "moral" cheap shot in the Tipper Gore/PMRC vein: Notice that these politicians' primary targets are Black performers, rap artists, in particular.

The pop industry has been exploiting then gullibility of performers and the public alike for some time now; it would be ludicrous to expect anything different from them. The Milli Vanilli situation is nothing new or really controversial. Those of us who observe the music business know it for what it really is: Business as usual, which is what the industry will return to after the hulabaloo dies down; just business as usual.

Bill Rosenblatt is a Collegian staff member

If you want to know about Zionism, go ask a Zionist

Aaron Silverman

I ran into a friend of mine the other day, a Hampshire student, someone with whom I spent a year in Israel. We were discussing Zionism. It was a hard discussion for both of us. For her even more so, because she now keeps her Zionism a secret. She can't even tell people at Hampshire that she's been to Israel for fear of argument and hatred. People there just don't understand Israel or Zionism, she said, so how can I even dream of them understanding me?

Since coming to UMass, I've been told that because I am a Zionist who criticizes the government of Israel, I am a self-hating, anti-Semitic racist who misses Meir Kahane because his racism is really what I feel. According to some, my goal in life is the destruction of the Palestinian people, and the annexation of their land. I'm accused of running the U.S. government, trying to run the Collegian and assassinating the character of anyone who disagrees with me.

If anyone here has been the victim of character assassination, it's me, the Zionist. You probably won't believe me when I tell you that I'm not a racist. Or, that every Palestinian death pains and deeply disturbs me. Well, let me tell you something else you may not believe, let me tell you who I am.

I hold Zionism as a value. I believe there should exist a state of Israel, a Jewish state, a place where Jews can stop being afraid and start holding their heads up. All Jews are inherently Zionist because if you study their history, the Hebrew people have always been a national entity, whether or not they had a state.

If a Jew prays, she holds Zionist values when she asks God to help her return to Jerusalem. All Jews feel a connection to Israel, and some of us, when we go there, feel as a lesbian friend put it when she went to San Francisco, that it's ok to be who I am. I no longer need to struggle and compromise to be a Jew; I can just be.

There are those who would say Israel has no right to exist, that it is a textbook example of a racist, colonialist government occupying a native population's land. I've always wondered what defines a "right to exist" or a "right to national self-determination." As far as I can tell, it means two things. The first is a connection to a land. Both the Jews and the Palestinians have a love and tie to the land, to the soil of Israel and Palestine. The second is a belief in their own national existence. The Jews have proved this be staying together over two thousand years of hardship; the Palestinians, over the past one hundred. So we are left with a land of two peoples. If one denies either group's connection the the land, or right to exist, one immediately denies both. If Zionism is racism, the so is Palestinianism.

Traveling around Israel and Palestine I learned a lot. One of the most important was that neither group really wants to live with the other. Each would be happier if the other just went away. So Zionists want a Jewish state, Palestinianists want a Palestinian state, exclusively. There can be no such thing as a secular democratic state, because nobody there really wants it. And me? I support both.

What really amazes me is that no one believes me. No one listens when I keep saying that I don't think Palestinians are scum. Or when I'm feeling down because history played a cruel joke and gave the land to two peoples. People just call me a racist for using a colloquial expression or for trying to clear my name. And no one questions when others slander me, call me names and accuse me of hatred I don't possess.

Sitting in Earthfoods the other day, I overheard a conversation, "I'm glad there are no Zionists in my family." How do you think this makes me feel? I didn't choose to be Zionism, it chose me. Deep in my soul I am connected to Israel, and I can never change that. But that hardly makes me a racist. My father once told me that if I wanted to know about communism, I should ask a communist, or if I wanted to know about Christianity I should ask a Christian. So I ask you, if you want to know about Zionism, ask a Zionist. Don't ask or listen to those who hate me, and want to see me destroyed.

Aaron Silverman is a UMass student

Far from 'sexual entertainment,' porn okays violence and exploitation

I am writing in response to Matt Heffernan's editorial, "Anti-porn zealots miss the mark." (Nov. 27) I applaud Heffernan's accurate perception of society's pervasive "exploitative heterosexist propaganda," which is, in turn, internalized and, thus, normalized and seemingly non-existent. However, Heffernan's view of pornography is misguided. He describes pornography as a tool for releasing sexual tension. This simplistic view fails to see pornography as a manifestation of the ingrained prejudices society has against women.

The word pornography comes from the root word "porne" which means female sexual slavery. (This is distinguished from "erotica" which comes from the word "eros," meaning love and mutuality.) Pornography acts not merely as an unhealthy form of sexual dialogue, nor does it merely provide unhealthy sexual images. Pornography institutionalizes and eroticizes the treatment of women as less than human objects, who deserve and fantasize about being beaten, raped, and tortured.

Heffernan says that "pornography does not mathematically equal violence." Yet, in flipping through the pages of popular magazines such as Hustler and Penthouse, one finds evidence of dismemberment of women's bodies. Scenes depicting women being whipped, gagged, and beaten are common features in these modes of "sexual expression."

Heffernan says that "a rapist is not someone who picks up a hardcore porno magazine or a slasher movie and becomes instantaneously corrupted." Tremendous research, however, has proven that images depicted by pornography encourage and reinforce sexual violence against women.

Many people make a distinction between hard-core pornography, which is explicitly violent, and soft-porn, such as Playboy. While soft-porn avoids blatantly violent and aggressive images, it too has a penetrating effect on society. Women are presented in postures of sexual submission. Women's body parts, including, but not limited to vaginas, breasts and buttocks, are exhibited such that women are reduced to just those parts. Viewers are encouraged to regard these women as images to be looked at and judged according to the standard that society has so thoroughly imposed. The systematic objectification of women thus produces a numbing effect on its audience who no longer regard women as smart, thinking people. This has a direct effect on all women's lives and the way we are treated.

Pornography, whether violent or not, is not about "intelligent and honest" dialogue about sex, nor is it about promoting a 'healthy sexual image.' Pornography glamorizes female degradation and sexual violence. Pornography augments the normalization of regarding women as objects and reflects a society whose views justify the treatment of women as less than human.

Zohar Porat
Northampton

Got something to say? Dial-a-war

If you are concerned about the buildup of American troops in the Middle East, soon to equal the forces sent to Vietnam, you can make your opinion known in a simple way: call the White House Comment Line, (202)456-1111.

You are asked to offer a statement and you do not need to leave your name or address. The results of these calls are reported to the President daily.

This should cost you no more than 10 minutes of your time and 50 cents of your money.

Louise Minks
Leverett

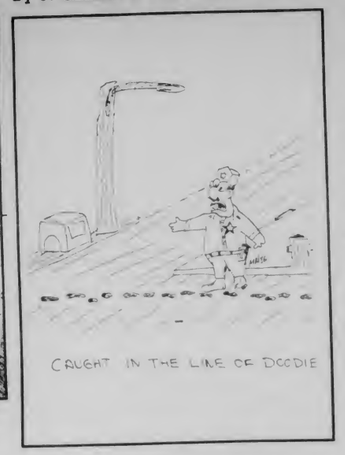
Want to have a meaningful existence here at UMass? Want to see your name in lights (or at least on the Editorial/Opinion page)? Well, here is the opportunity. Submissions are welcome from anyone in the Five College area.

To submit just drop your article in the Editorial mailbox in the Collegian newsroom in the Campus Center basement.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

Misunderstanding his employees' screams of "Simmons has lost his marbles," Mr. Wagner bursts from his office for the last time.

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

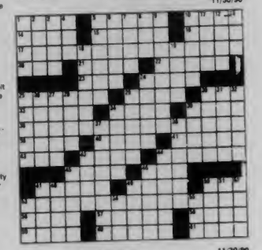
ACROSS
1 Strongbox
5 Necklace part
10 — fide
14 Hollywood's Shariff
15 High esteem
16 Odd's opposite
17 7/8 of a musical scale
20 Exist
21 Carney and Tatum
22 One side of a coin?
23 Secret agent
24 Never buy a pig in one!
25 Off course
29 Labyrinth
30 Chum
33 Proper
34 Spanish painter Joan
35 Sitarist Shankar
36 2/3 of a famous "flaer"
39 Otherwise
40 Illum. to Octavian
41 Indian, for one
42 Napoleon's marshal
43 Equitable
44 Tristram Shandy's creator
45 Sea eagles
48 Greek letter
47 Packing a Colt
49 Popular name in Oslo
50 Wager
53 3/7 of the "Deadly Sins"
56 Assistant
57 Pocahontas' husband
58 Celebes ox
59 Normandy city
60 — for dinner
61 Dispatched

DOWN
1 Soft drink
2 Cupid
3 Bill of —
4 Poet's before
5 Cheerful
6 Towering
7 Collections of anecdotes
8 Mayday!
9 Phylum of one-celled animals
10 Contradict
11 Elliptical
12 NJ NBA team
13 Black cuckoo
18 Fortress in Israel: siege site
66-73 AD
19 Triceps, for one
24 Social gathering
25 Colorado ski resort
26 Fence-crossing
27 Old World herb
28 Ceremony
29 Area or Ursa
30 Kitchen tool
31 Rested to birds
32 Climbing vine
34 He hit 61 in '61
35 Contest
37 Paradigm
38 Recurring art themes
43 No charge
44 Stock units
45 City in NW Germany
46 Musical symbols
47 Operatic solo
48 Carnival feature
49 Lear at
50 Kind of fine china
51 School on the Thames
52 "— Girl" Mario Thomas show
53 Campaign-fund source: Abbr
54 Conjunction
55 — Vegas

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

E	D	O	M		B	A	L
R	A	M	A		A	I	N	T	A		T	I	R	E
S	W	I	S	S	T	E	A	M		U	N	I	T
E	N	T	H	U	S	E	D		O	G	R	E	S	S
		E	N	I	D		S	T	A	G	E	S
C	A	P	R	I	N		P	L	A	N	E	T	O	F
O	S	U	S	E	T	A	E		D	O	R	S	E
R	I	M	S		T	R	I	E	D		N	O	I	L
N	A	P	E	S		E	N	T	E	R		N	E	T
U	N	K	N	O	W	N	S		P	I	L	E	R	S
			I	N	R	E	D		S	O	N	E
A	N	N	E	A	L		S	A	R	G	A	S	S	O
S	E	P	T		T	O	M	A	T	O	S	O	U	P
T	W	I	S	T		E	C	O	L	E		E	L	K
A	T	E	S		R	A	G	E	D		O	D	I	N

11/30/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/30/90

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

LOOK OUT THE WINDOW! IT'S SNOWING! THERE MUST BE ALMOST HALF AN INCH!
BY MORNING, I'LL BET THERE'S TONS OF SNOW! DO YOU THINK THE SCHOOLS WILL CLOSE?
WHAT? OH, YEAH? WELL, SAME TO YOU!!
I WONDER HOW A CRABBY GUY LIKE HIM GOT TO BE SUPERINTENDENT.

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

O.k. Men, tomorrow's the big game against the University of Hawaii Banana Daquiris, SO GET SOME REST!
Ready for the game, Marcus?
Completely. My perspective has finally adapted to the needs of the game.
While I regard my teammates with an almost brother-like kinship, I view opposing teams, like the Daquiris, as soulless insects worthy of immediate destruction.
Yeah. Neat, isn't it?
It helps me understand professors a little better.

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

I'LL TELL YOU ANOTHER THING THAT'S GOT ME BUMMED — THE CRISIS IN THE GULF!
HAS ANYONE GIVEN ANY THOUGHT TO WHAT HAPPENS IF IT TURNS IN TO A SHOOTING WAR? I MEAN, YOU CAN SAY GOODBYE TO YOUR CHEAP GASOLINE AND YOUR HIGH PERFORMANCE CARS!
A WAR IN THE MID-EAST MEANS ARDS TO OUR WAY OF LIFE AS WE KNOW IT. A WAR MEANS WE'LL ALL BE DRIVING DOMESTIC COMPACTS WITHIN A MONTH!
SID, IT ALSO MEANS PEOPLE WILL DIE.
EXACTLY! SOME OF THOSE CARS ARE DEATH-TRAPS!

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

LORI, ARE YOU EATING CHOCLATE CHIP COOKIES?
YES, PRICE
DID IT EVER TELL YOU HOW NICE YOU SMELL
NO.
LIKE A THOUSAND PEANUT BUTTER MILK SHAKES SPRINKLED WITH RELISH AND KETCHUP
GROSS! I CAN'T EAT ANOTHER BITE!!
FLATTERY GETS ME EVERYWHERE!!

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Tuna melt Tacos	Turkey divan Roast lamb
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Tuna melt Vegetable tacos	Turkey divan Colache

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19) Something you learn today you will use to your advantage later on. A close friend plays a crucial role in resolving a misunderstanding. Show your deep appreciation.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) Be careful not to tackle a project until all the materials you will need are at hand. Friends may offer to help. Heed your instincts. Go over your accounts and pay any overdue bills.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) Avoid discussing controversial subjects when your defenses are down. It is much better to compromise. Channel nervousness into your work or athletic games. A love relationship rebounds.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22) A highly productive day is in store. You can make big gains at your job by buckling down to work. A creative urge makes itself known. Plan a small party for your friends.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) Anything that genuinely captures your interest deserves a closer look. It may lead to new experiences. An ingenious investment plan could augment your savings. Go slow. Love is in bloom.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) "Doing what comes naturally" could upset the applecart. Do not let your emotions get the best of you. Spruce up your home with a few house plants or colorful posters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22) Certain friends are unmistakable. It necessary, chart a new course. Careful planning will be required before you can feel confident of success. Set aside time to relax at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) Improvements to your home or property may be seen as a good investment. A romance is in its prime. You feel lucky to be loved so much. Do nothing to rock the boat.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) You may feel pressured by younger people to following the emotional rather than practical line. Older and wiser heads counsel moderation. A romantic gesture pleases you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) Those who have self-confidence rarely dread what the future may hold. It is a good policy, nevertheless, to accumulate loyal allies. Some of your investment ideas are truly visionary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) Continue to display the leadership qualities that have so impressed your close associates. Only time will bring the results you desire. Your sense of humor wins raves at work.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20) Someone's unpredictable behavior may make it difficult for you to plan ahead. Extra caution is recommended in the work place. Put a long-term romantic partner on the back burner. Focus on those within your grasp.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Gayle Long
Copy Editor.....Jody Gabin
Layout Technician.....Doug Johnston
Photo Technician.....Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor.....Doug Johnston
Typesetter.....Kim Frisino
Production.....Jason Torla, Lynn Kilroy, Chris Demers

THE PUB
fun • food • spirits
Celebrate Our New Menu
Any Menu Nachos
$2.00
Friday and Saturday
8:00pm—10:00pm
Pitchers of Miller Lite
$4.50
MONDAY NIGHT
10' Video Screen
—49ers vs. Giants—
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT·AMHERST

TOWER Theaters
THE·VILLAGE·COMMONS
Across from Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Massachusetts 413/533-2663
"Audacious, A comedy with a toxic tinge." —Richard Corliss, TIME
"Ingeniously made, harrowing, gripping and highly amusing." —JOSEPH GELMIS, NEWSDAY
"Unrelenting, A spellbinder with tremendous excitement. Ron Silver is electrifying." —Hoyt Hilsman, MIDDLESEX NEWS
"A strong Oscar contender. Extremely fascinating." —Kathleen Carroll, NEW YORK DAILY NEWS
GLENN CLOSE · JEREMY IRONS
RON SILVER
REVERSAL of FORTUNE
Weekdays at 3, 7, and 9:10/Fri, Sat, and Sun at 2:45, 4:50, 7, and 9:15
THE CRITICS' CHOICE FOR 50 YEARS
1940 "As terrific as anything that has ever happened on a screen." —NEW YORK TIMES November 1940
1990 "More glorious than ever before. Walt Disney's masterpiece glows with a new radiance." —USA TODAY PREVIEWS, PBS, Michael Medved October 1990
Walt Disney's CLASSIC FANTASIA
G
Weekdays at 3, 6:30 and 8:50 pm/Friday, Sat, and Sun at 2, 4:20, 6:40, and 9 pm

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

COME CLEAN WITH US!
Campus Coin Op
107 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.
SPEEDWASH
11 Pray St., Amherst
NOW OPEN 24 HOURS!
South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

CLASSIFIEDS

ADVERTISE!!

IF YOU HAVE A BUSINESS CARD and you want a cheap way to advertise your small business, call the Collegian. It's perfect for student organizations an entrepreneurs as well. Runs every Monday. Cost: $20. Call the Collegian at 545-3500.

ACTIVITIES

PAGAN STUDENTS MEETING Sunday night 12/2, 7PM, workshop on reading Tarot Cards! All welcome! Check CC info desk for rm.

UMASS JUGGLING CLUB meets today (not yesterday) at three o'clock in CC168. If you can't juggle, you can't do anything.

UMASS TRIATHLON CLUB final meeting of semester, Tuesday, Dec 4 at 6:30 in Boyden 249. Constitution and spring plans to discussed. All are welcome. S-3324 for info.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week. Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold. Feb. 14th.

TONIGHT "SWEET CHARITY" 8PM in Bowker Auditorium. Also playing Saturday, same time, same place. Don't miss this Music Theatre Guild Production.

AUTO FOR SALE

1983 THUNDERBIRD Heritage Edition loaded. Excellent Condition. 5'OEFI. $2700 256-8251 Dolan

1987 FORD ESCORT, 74K, Four Door, AC, Auto, AM/FM, New Tires, Excellent Condition, $2900/bo. Call 586-3727

1988 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles. Excellent Condition. 1 owner. AM FM Cassette. Stereo. Recent complete tune up. $6700.00 or best offer. Call Bruce at 256-1215.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-OISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APT in town $500/mo Jan 1. Flexible lease 253-2552

2 BEDROOM APARTMENT- Very cool only $560.00/month or $140.00 for 4 people. Free heat and hot water. Come see it!! Call us after 5PM 253-0539 in South Amherst. Jan/June

2 BEDROOM N. AMHERST apt available Jan 1st to May option to renew lease Free heat 549-0383 Call now!

3 ROOMS in 5 bedroom house (1 available Jan., 2 available Feb.) 21 +, $225 549-6792

ATTENTION SKIERS! Wants to Canyon Mt. sleeps 4. kitchenette hot tub- poo avail. by day or for wk $550/wk or 85/day Call Anne 546-1093

CONDO IN BELCHERTOWN-AMHERST 2 bdrm 475 call 253-2352

GREAT SINGLE ROOM in Amherst available Jan-May. on bus route $275. 256-8319

HUGE APT available Jan 1. Aug 31 + 2 bdrm, on busline all new. Call now 548-6156

I NEED YOU... to take over lease. Single room in Amherst Apt. Bus line 250/mo utilities incl. Call Chris 253-9708

JANUARY SUBLET. Studio in Amherst $325. 549-3610

LARGE DOUBLE ROOM available in house in South Amherst starting Jan 1. 20h + 12ft. No lease no security deposit. Pay unit May $185/person/month. Call 256-1178.

ONE BEDROOM APT. Amherst center! Quiet 256-1611 Matt/Kathleen Available Jan 1

ROOM AVAILABLE in beautiful Hadley house after Dec 31. Call 549-4211 for details

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two bdr apt in Colonial Village starting Jan 1. Leave message 253-7432. First month rent free

SINGLE BEDROOM in beautiful ranch style house 250 + 2 miles from campus. Ass for Bruce 549-6951 evenings.

SINGLE ROOM in 3 bdr Puffton. Cheap rent 180.00 includes utilities. Looking for responsible non-smoker. Available for Jan 1. Call 549-4509

FOR SALE

BEGINNERS SKI PACKAGE $100 Donnie 546-8432

COMIC BOOKS 4 sale, cheap Call Paul 253-5066

 FUTONS ***
* at the mini-mall *
* November 27-30 *
* UMass Student Union *
* Lowest prices guaranteed *
* Buy now or reserve *
* for next semester *
* Metawppe Furniture *
* 256-0846 *

MAPLE TABLE & FOUR CHAIRS $150. Good condition 665-8765 after 5:00

ROUNDTRIP TICKET- Albany-Pittsburgh-Albany-12/21 $100 or bo. Ride to Albany negotiable Call 247-9258

ROUNDTRIP TIX Boston to Colorado 175-1/13-1/24. Must be female. Call 253-2967. Leave message

ROUNDTRIP TICKET Providence to West Palm Florida 12/22-1/6 $300 or b/o. Call 549-8047.

SHOGUN 12spd excellent condition 75 Deb. 253-2927.

SKIS, BOOTS, POLES, like new- call Mike after 6PM 256-6104.

SKIS AND SKIWEAR. Brand new Descente racing pants $99 B.O., and Descente parka $75 B.O. Also new padded sweater $99 B.O. Rossignol skis $75. Call 546-3501

VARIOUS SKIS for sale. Rossi's and Atomic $100-125 bindings inc. 549-5985

ZENITH COMPUTER AND PRINTER. VGA Monitor. Call Danny 546-5374. Leave message $1,100

FOUND

GOLD NECKLACE between Student Union & Tower 253-2167

GIFTS

HOLIDAY SHOPPING in one shot at the UMass mini mall. Nov. 27-30 in the Student Union Ballroom. Lots of great items for the right price.

HELP WANTED

THE COLLEGIAN is seeking a responsible sophomore or junior Business Major to fill the position of Subscriptions Manager for the spring semester. All encouraged to apply. Applications available at 113 Campus Center. Apply no later than 12/7.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9616.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach-it.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit easier and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

LOST

BUTTON WATCH with denim strap on 11/9 between Hasbrouck to Washington Finder please call 548-4379. Reward

GOLD MARTINI GLASS EARRING weekend before Halloween in Amherst! Will Reward! Please call 253-7962.

SMALL POCKET KNIFE. Very sentimental Call Erik 253-5443.

PERSONALS

AXO IS OFF TO EUROPE- J.P. A.C. M.W. C.F. A.R. Have a good time tonight! What do you guys want to do spring break? Love, JO

BILLY
You are,
you always will be my best friend
Happy 21st
Warm Fuzzies!
Gin

CINDY STEIN- Happy belated 21st Birthday! What are you doing at the same school as me? Well, I'm sure glad you're here! Love, M

DEAR COOKIE,
Happy 9 months! These have been the best 9 months of my life! Do you realize that this is the last anniversary that we'll both spend as UMass students? I'm so glad I can spend it with you, and I'll do everything I can to make it special. I hope that years form now, we will celebrate our 9 year anniversary! I know I want to!!
I Love You very, very, very much!
Love, Scott

DELTA ZETA proudly announces their incredible new sisters: Marcy Andrea Pam Lauren L. Susan Lauren G. Suzanne Tanya Melanie Jen Elena and Stacie
Congratulations. We love you!

GRANDMA SCHNOOKS
Happy 22!
We love you!
Guess who

HAPPY 21ST NANCY! ! Love You Mark

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Darlene!
We will have fun
Luv your roommate
Kristen

HARRY J
Happy Birthday. You are now legal
Love
Mom & Harold

HEY YOU SIGMA KAPPAS! Tonight's the night, so take out those sexy gowns and get ready to dance (and drink) the night away!!

HEY UMASS.
Congratulations! The "Personals" section this semester was the lamest thing in print since mankind learned to spell. I have more fun reading insurance claim forms. We have a lot of work to do next semester!
Keeping the Faith
The Phantom

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

HI!

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

JASON S
Good luck tomorrow!
I know you will do great!
Think Porsche! 14-3
The Dancing Chipmunk

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

 JEN CRAIG ***
Finally, you very own personal! Happy Birthday
Now read your horoscope-maybe there's a letter coming your way!
Love Carolyn

JENSUECRAIG!
Happy Birthday.
Love,
C.S.K

J.J.
And the countdown continues! Only 28 days left to Puerto Rico- and a whopping 212 days to go until our Florida "paradise" in Madeira Beach!!! Florida "paradise" in Madeira Beach!!! Psych! Looking forward to a great year!
Love
your roomie

JON, people, as a general rule, from me to you, have very few redeeming qualities.
-Steve

KATIE I am thinking of you today especially. In just a few short weeks we will be only a heartbeat away from each other quickly, quickly! ILY EINY-BUB.
Love,
your roomie

LUCIA BOOBOO.
Happy 3rd year Anniversary to you and TY. You both deserve the best. That's why you have each other. Also, congrats on Spain. What will I do without my best friend at UMass?
I Love You Babe
Julie

MANDY M
Be my "Unchained Melody" tonight
Love K's -Peace

MARISSA MATRONE-
Break a leg!
I miss you!
Love,
Julie G

MICHELLE- TRI-SIGMA- You're a great pledge! Keep up the good work! You're it! -Deba

TO THE SISTERS & PLEDGES of Tri-Sigma! Get ready for the best formal ever- tonite!

PAM
It took you two semesters to do it, but you made it. Congratulations on initiation. I know you will make DZ proud!
Love your big sis
Tracey

RACHEL HOPKINS OF TRI-SIGMA- Happy belated Birthday! Hope it was fun! Get psyched for tonite's formal!! Love you! sisters

RED HAPPY 21ST
Blah, Blah, Blah
The boys from 985

RUSS'S BOY
Where do you put those white foam things anyway? Need help?
Kai

SCOTT
Each day for 1 year, our love has grown our happiness together, we have shown cherished moments, endless nights, great memories too. All of these for many years I'll promise you.
Love always Katie
Happy Anniversary

STEVE, friends are forever, not Heathers Fall 1990 in full effect. Jonathan

SWEET CHARITY CAST AND CREW
Congratulations on a great opening night! Have a great show tonight and tomorrow night. "You're all pros-ticters busters" Break a leg! Smile
Love your membership coordinator
Michael

SWEET CHARITY CAST! You guys are awesome. Have fun tonite. Remember, no red rug. Thanks for a great semester!
Love, Kara

SUZANNE- Let me preface this with: I'm right. The song of the week is "One Day More". We made it. Don't forget brunch on Sunday. I Love You. Thanks for keeping me sane!!!
Love, KMEJ
PS- Pete wrote this for me.

TINA LEPERI
Connratulations on becoming national! Have an awesome time pledging and being a founding sister.
Love Sherri

TO LOUIE D
Thanx. I think you're really cute
A

WENDY MURPHY- Congradulations!!! You're our female little brother, and we wouldn't want another. Come this weekend we'll all hail. (Hope we don't end up in jail!)
Love Squirrel,
Your Big Brothers

RIDE WANTED

TWO WOMEN seek ride in general direction of Mexico (California is final) Leaving around Dec. 20. Will help with gas, driving. Katharina 546-7192.

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 OR 2 FEMALES
Non-Smoking
Sunderland, Bus route
Starting Jan '90
Call Sue
546-5445

1 OR 2 FEMALE, NONSMOKERS, wanted for master bedroom. $215/each. Heat & hot water, incluid at Mill Valley Estates. On bus route. Contact 546-1063 or 546-5168 leave message.

2 ROOMS IN HOUSE available in Jan. 262 plus utilities. Bus route. 256-8979

FEMALE NONSMOKER wanted to share room 549-0038 for December.!

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. $185 Jan sublet option 253-0409

FEMALE ROOMMATE NEEDED to share quiet 1 bdrm apt in Sunderland. On bus rte. 665-1170

FEMALE ROOMMATE WANTED for Jan 1st $187.50 heat included. Call Leah or Anne 549-6259

FEMALE TO SBLT SINGLE in 5 bdrm house. Lrreat loc $240 mo & util. 253-5474

ROOM FOR RENT IN PUFFTON Apt for January. 211.50 & utilities. 549-5303 or 546-1577 A.S.A.P.

SHARE LARGE ROOM in Presidential Apartments. Rent $155. Available Christmas. 549-4820

SINGLE ROOM in large house bordering campus $300 549-5985.

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 25 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010

SKI MT SNOW

$5.00 OFF LIFT TICKETS- Fill out form at Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

SUBLET

AMHERST CENTER
Room to sublet in January
Call 549-9377

ROOM TO SUBLET in a great house. Three minute walk to town. five minute walk to campus. On bus route. Call 549-8508.

SUBLET a convenient Townhouse Apt. For next semester with 2 girls. Call 549-8001 and come meet us!

TRAVEL

NEW YEARS EVE IN MONTREAL!
3 days for $119. Call Paula 546-1944. Deadline Friday.

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30! TRAVEL WITH THE BEST. 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING- Dissertations cases, papers. Affordable dependable MacLP on campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORDPROCESSING 323-4579

TYPING $1.50/page 545-0913 Anne

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive, quick and accurate- campus pickup & delivery. Call Lisa 256-6695.

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS Resumes, Theses, Graphics, Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1788.

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & util. 549-4195

SPORTS

Basketball teams strive to win home, away this weekend

Cagers hit Philly

By ADRIENNE MATT
Collegian Staff

The dark horse of the Atlantic 10 is looking brighter.

St. Joseph's men's basketball coach John Griffin took a four-year sabbatical from college hoop and as a result, the Hawks were seeded last in the A-10 preseason poll. But Griffin does not seem effected.

"Coming in as the dark horse is a blessing — almost a compliment," Griffin said. "It puts us in a position to win."

And winning is what they did Wednesday night against Drexel (107-96). However, the Hawks lost their season-opener to George Washington (84-74) and are now 1-1.

Griffin has inherited a program that has suffered 21 consecutive losing seasons. That's a tall order to turn around but they lost just one letterman and pure numbers may be their strength.

Junior forward Craig Amos has been touted as St. Joe's top returnee, averaging a team-high 16 points per game and 6.4 rebound last year. So far, he is shooting 53 percent and is perfect from the foul line.

Freshman guard Bernard Blunt has the most points (45), averaging 22.5 points per game and is shooting 81 percent from the foul line. The Syracuse-native averaged 31.3 points, the third-best average in New York history.

Junior guard Chris Gardler, however, is proving his court prowess. He has a team-high five steals, is shooting 50 percent from the floor, 60 percent from the three-point ring and 90 percent from the foul line.

"Individually, we're as good as they are, but collectively, we may not be," said UMass assistant coach Bill Bayno. "We need to come together and be better as a team.

"We were enthusiastic in practice [last night]. Right now, it's safe to say we should come out fired up."

Minutewomen prepare for UNH in home opener

By BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team learned from their season opener on Sunday that they must improve several facets of their game in order to be competitive this season. In their opening loss, UMass shot only 38 percent from the field, turned the ball over 27 times and were out-rebounded by 19.

The Minutewomen will try to improve in these areas as they take on New Hampshire in their home opener at 2 p.m. Saturday in Curry Hicks Cage.

The Wildcats have a very similar style of play to that of Vermont and the Minutewomen must show signs of improvement since in order to be victorious.

The Minutewomen attack UNH with the same strategy as they did against Vermont, pressure defense. However, this time they must execute it without breakdowns.

"Team defense is the key without a doubt," Hewelt said. "We need consistent play from the five people on the floor at that moment. If one or two people let you down and don't pressure the ball . . . UNH is a good enough, experienced team to find and exploit the weak spots."

As far as offense is concerned, UMass must improve their shooting. Because the Wildcats are a pressing team, the Minutewomen must avoid taking off-balance shots as they did against Vermont.

"We must deal with their press, keep our composure and look for a controlled offense," Hewelt said.

The Wildcats are coming off a "disappointing" loss to Brown on Wednesday said coach Kathy Sanborn. They also had shooting (46 percent) and rebounding problems (out-rebounded by 18).

However, the Wildcats have two key, proven players that allowed them to come back and score 46 points in the second half against Brown. Sophmore forward Laura Seiden at 6-foot-1 is averaging 22 points, six rebounds this season and 5-foot-6 senior guard Julie Donlon is averaging eight points and six assists.

Sanborn had no comment as far as their game plan against UMass but did say her team has had uncharacteristic problems against the press and team rebounding so far this season.

"UNH gives us a whale of a battle every time we play them," Hewelt said. "They are going to be a good test for us. We'll see how much we've learned since Vermont."

Collegian photo by Tom Burke

Sophomore forward Harper Williams taps the glass Wednesday night against Marathon Oil (105-81 L).

Swimmers hope to outlap Springfield

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team will travel south to face a Springfield College squad tomorrow in what figures to be just a warm-up for next week's showdown with Brown.

Collegian file photo

Coach Russ Yarworth and the men's swimming team face Springfield College this weekend, but their focus is on next weekend's meet against Brown.

However, coach Russ Yarworth isn't underestimating his opponent. He said Springfield used to be one of the best in New England, but can no longer match-up with his "well balanced group."

"I have them mentally prepared [for Springfield]," Yarworth said. "We don't anticipate any trouble. Springfield is not a strong team."

"We're doing things to prepare for Brown next week," Yarworth said. "We're starting to focus our attention now."

The stiffest competition tomorrow will most likely come from Brian Brochu (freestyle), and Tom Gresh, according to Yarworth. Gresh, a freshman, was once recruited by Yarworth.

"Brochu is a good sprinter and Gresh has already posted his best times in the individual medley and freestyle," Yarworth said. "They should give us some good competition, but nothing we can't handle."

Since Yarworth is not expecting any trouble tomorrow, he said he plans to be a little more flexible with his line-up. Sophomore Curt Sawin will get his first chance to swim the butterfly after recovering from a shoulder injury. Sawin had an acute case of tendinitis that kept him sidelined for three weeks, according to Yarworth.

Yarworth also plans on moving sprinters Aaron Osborne, Jim Gregg and Pete Hursty, who finished 1-2-3 in the 50-yard freestyle against Boston College, into the 500-yard freestlye, a distance event. The reason for the move, according to Yarworth, 'is just for fun. My money is on Hursty.'

In preparation for Brown, Yarworth will put Joe Morris and Greg Meymaris in the 1000-yard freestyle to create some flexibility.

According to Yarworth, this was supposed to be a rebuilding year, as UMass graduated 11 seniors. But after trouncing Boston College on Nov. 16, Yarworth has renewed confidence in his team's chances this season.

"We swam awesome against BC," he said. "I'm really pleased with what the kids did. I know we'll have a winning record, but what I care about is winning it all at the end."

If there is any weakness to this team, it is diving. UMass graduated two of its top divers last year. Yarworth said his divers this year are a young group but are working hard everyday.

Incidentally, sophomore diver Scott Reed's father coaches Brown.

Hockey's animals

While I was in Buffalo, New York over the Thanksgiving break, I had the rare opportunity to watch "Hockey Night in Canada." While I was disappointed at first — they showed two last-place teams, Toronto and Edmonton (what happened to them?), sloshing around silent Maple Leaf Gardens. Montreal vs. Los Angeles, the game I had hoped to see, a game between two of the league's best teams, wasn't being shown. Go figure.

However, between the first and second period, I saw something that caught my eye. Don Cherry, who coached the "Big Bad Bruins" teams of the 70s, has a feature entitled "Coach's Corner."

Those who are familiar with Cherry's style know that he is opinionated and loud — this is why Canadian Television hired him. Cherry has strong opinions about the place of physical play in hockey, especially fighting.

Greg Sukiennik

To him, fighting isn't a blight on the game, but a way of releasing anger and frustration that would otherwise prompt cheap-shot violence. His case-in-point: Hartford's 4-3 win over Boston last Friday, in which the Whalers capitalized on three of Boston's five-minute major penalties to come back from a three-goal deficit and win.

The fun started when a Whaler player ran over Bruins goalie Andy Moog, prompting a free-for-all. The Bruins lost their cool, as John Carter and Cam Neely both took stupid stick-swinging penalties. Neely was recently suspended for five games for practicing his lumberjack skills on Hartford's Randy LaDoucer.

"The Bruins have an unwritten rule that nobody runs a Bruins goaltender and gets away with it," rationalized Cherry. "That's the way it was when I was there, and that's how it is today."

When asked by the studio host about the Neely and Carter penalties, which were both unnecessary as the replay showed, Cherry started preaching about letting boys be boys.

"If the league didn't crack down on fighting, then players wouldn't be using their sticks to get back at one another," said Cherry, shouting down the studio host.

True hockey fans know that there is a place in the game for occasional fighting between opposing goons. I happen to agree. Remember what happened to Mario Lemieux? In a game against the Rangers a couple of seasons ago, Ron Brown, who didn't belong on the same ice as the Magnificent One, unleashed a brutal crosscheck that left Lemieux semi-conscious on the ice for 10 minutes.

The picture needed no caption. The sight of the league's scoring champion out cold on the ice said mouthfulls about hockey violence.

Hockey violence and hockey fights are two different animals, and this is where Cherry and I agree. Teams need at least one "enforcer," a goon along the lines of Jay Miller or Chris Nilan or Dave Manson, to protect the Wayne Gretzkys and Brett Hulls from cheap shots. Fights are much less dangerous than being shoved into the stands from behind or being whapped with a stick. Have you ever been hit with a hockey stick in the shins? Ouch!

Unfortunately, these very types of players are the ones who run over goaltenders and smack around scoring champions. So much for a perfect solution.

What Don Cherry should know, however, is that the days of the "Big Bad Bruins" are past. The Bruins were among the league's least penalized teams last year, and made the Stanley Cup Finals.

By taking dumb penalties, they lost a game to the Whalers that they should've won.

Greg Sukiennik is a Collegian staff member

WEATHER
Cold and wet today with a chance of [illegible]. Low near 30. Clearing tomorrow.

MONDAY

[illegible] picks up first win of season at [illegible]'s, 63-60.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY DECEMBER 3, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 60

1500 protest U.S. Gulf involvement

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

CHICOPEE — In the largest protest of U.S. involvement in the Middle East at Westover Air Force Base since initial troop deployments in August, some 1,500 people gathered at the front gates of the base Saturday urging for the return of U.S. soldiers from Saudi Arabia.

After an emotional two-hour rally, 38 people were arrested on disturbance charges while attempting to block access to the base by sitting in front of main gate.

The main gate of the base is a frequent stopover point for troops headed for Saudi Arabia. Despite the protest, several planes involved with Operation Desert Shield left the base on Saturday.

Some 250 military police from Westover and armed state police in full riot gear guarded the base from inside the fence during the rally. State police had two attack dogs stationed on both sides of the gate.

A Westover surveillance helicopter flew over the protestors throughout the afternoon and police were supplied with two empty public school buses in preparation for the arrests.

The protesters gathered in downtown Chicopee and after holding a brief rally there, they marched for about one mile to the base. The protestors held a half-hour vigil at the main gate, drumming and chanting anti-war slogans such as "Hell no, we won't go. We won't die for Texaco."

Photo by Trystan Skeigh

Protestors block the main gate at Westover Air Force Base Saturday. Thirty-eight people were arrested by police for blocking the entrance.

After the vigil, various speakers addressed the protestors in a rally organized by the American Friends Service Committee.

Arthur Scrota, who works with a minority education program in Springfield, began the rally by saying, "We are not here to cause violence. We are here to stop violence."

One keynote speaker, Professor William Strickland of the University of Massachusetts Political Science and Afro-American Studies Departments, said any air attacks on Iraqi citizens could lead to worldwide retaliation against Americans.

"Protesting this war now and stopping it may very well save all of our lives later," he said.

David Huntoon, a veteran of the Navy who has two children and attends Holyoke Community College, told the crowd, "War is not heroic. War means death.

"I look at my children and imagine their heads being blown off by a country 6,000 miles away that doesn't give a damn about them and then I know what those people over there are facing right now," Huntoon said.

Reverend Edward Hardy, pastor of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Church in Springfield, said although 35 percent of the military is African-American, the U.S. government tries to assert that Blacks are unwilling to fight for their country.

"You don't have to put on a uniform to be a patriot," he told the crowd. "You and I are patriots."

Eight protestors who attempted to close down the base by blocking all its gates and a group of witnesses were shuttled to the second gate at 3 p.m.

Thirty protestors sat down along the

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Iraq tests surface missiles

Hussein says chances of war in Persian Gulf are '50-50'

By LAURA KING
The Associated Press

Saddam Hussein's armies rattled nerves around the Persian Gulf Sunday with the first test of surface-to-surface missiles since the invasion of Kuwait. The Iraqi president said the chances of war in the region stand at "50-50."

In Washington, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said the United States would not attack Iraq — provided Iraqi troops are withdrawn from Kuwait and foreign hostages are freed.

Iraq, which has been sporadically releasing captives, let more go on Sunday. Fifteen freed Americans flew out of Iraq with former world heavyweigt champion Muhammad Ali, who secured their release with talks with Saddam.

A spokesman for the boxer said he planned to return to Baghdad at Christmas to try to bring out more of the hundreds of remaining captives, who were stranded when Iraq invaded small, oil-rich Kuwait on Aug. 2.

Iraq, meanwhile, told the Soviet Union that it could lose its influence in the Arab world if it sent troops to the Persian Gulf. That was apparently in response to a warning from Soviet Foreign Minister Eduward Shevardnadze, who said last week Moscow would send in soldiers if Soviet citizens trapped in Iraq were harmed.

The official Iraqi News agency quoted an Iraqi Foreign Ministry spokesman as saying Shevardnadze "seems to be looking for a pretext to send troops to the region."

More than 350,000 troops are in the Persian Gulf as part of the U.S.-led multinational force. American troops, now numbering more than 240,000 are expected to swell to around 400,000 by next month.

The U.S. military refused to say whether the American forces went on alert Sunday when Iraq launched surface-to-surface missiles in what appeared to be test launches.

The missiles were fired — and landed — in Iraqi territory, U.S. military officials in Saudi Arabia said in a statement. Officials refused to say how the missiles were detected.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, interviewed in Washington by ABC-TV, said they were SCUD missiles "or SCUD variants." He said it was the first such firing since April.

The forces in Saudi Arabia were reported to have been put on "yellow alert" — one category below full combat alert — last week, after the U.N. Security Council approved a resolution authorizing use of force against Iraq if it does not withdraw from Kuwait by Jan. 15.

Residents' complaints to be addressed

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Selectboard will discuss the student presence in Amherst tonight at 7 p.m. at the Bangs Community Center.

The forum is being held in response to complaints by residents concerning the behavior of students in town and in the hope of finding solutions.

The Selectboard voted to ban parking on both sides of Hobart Lane last Monday in response to resident and police complaints that excessive parking at student parties denies emergency vehicles access to the road.

Residents of Hobart Lane also reported fights, excessive noise and students shouting obscenities. One resident said the situation had "gone beyond niceties."

At their meeting tonight, the Selectboard will also discuss changing the town election schedule, which presently allows only five days for student candidates to campaign after returning for the academic year.

GSS to call for U.S. troop withdrawl

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Graduate students will meet Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom to discuss a Graduate Student Senate motion calling for the withdrawal of United States troops from the Persian Gulf.

The resolution condemns Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and supports economic rather than military sanctions against Iraq. The resolution calls for the United States to bring its troops home from the Gulf.

"It's important to hold a meeting about this resolution because we need to get a debate going on campus," Sarah Lyon, one of the meeting's organizers, said.

"Through that debate perhaps people with misgivings will get a chance to send a message to our government," Pierre Laliberte, another graduate organizer, said. "Aiso, if that is the general sentiment — we can start organizing."

On another note, according to Laliberte, the Graduate Student Senate has come out in support of the faculty and employee unions which will be holding a "No Grinch Rally" Tuesday at the Whitmore Administration Building to protest the administration's "handling of the very serious budget crisis that we are enduring," according to the Massachusetts Society of Professors press release.

The Graduate Student Senate believes there needs to be more negotiations and better communication between the employee unions and the administration, according to Laliberte.

For Your Information

Monday, December 3

Exhibit — Clean Water Action and Clean Water Fund will be presenting the second annual HOME SAFE HOME exhibit. HOME SAFE HOME is a display concerning the toxins in and around our homes and provides information and recipes for safer alternatives for cleaning, gardening, and home maintainance. The exhibit will be shown at Mass Mutual Springfield until Dec. 5.

Film — Abilities Unlimited presents the film Dominique and Eugene at 7:30 p.m.in CC 165.

Information Session — Any students wishing to apply for exchange during the 1990-91 school year are highly encouraged to attend an information session to obtain an application form and relevant information about the exchange program from 4 - 5 p.m. in CC 165. The session will include a brief film presentation, an introduction by the Coordinator, and a question and answer period.

Lecture — Ronald N. Loomis, past president of the Cult Awareness Network, and a panel of former cult members will speak on "Understanding Cults on College Campuses" at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Sponsored by the Student Government Association and the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs.

Tuesday, December 4

Panel Presentation — A group of Kanienkehaka (Mohawk) Nationals composing Traditional Clanmothers, Mohawk Warriors (Rotiskenhrakete), and member of the Kanienkehaka (Mohawk) Negotiating team will give a panel presentation on the Canadian Army/Quebec Police Force Military Invasion and Occupation of two Mohawk Communities located in Quebec at 7 p.m. at Hampshire College.

Lecture — Thomas Ready of Xerox Corporation will be speaking on the company's dramatic turnaround, and how it became the recipient of the 1989 Malcolm Baldrige Quality Award at 7:30 p.m. in Campus Center 163.

Meeting — General Graduate Student Meeting to discuss Graduate Student Senate motion calling fot the withdrawl of U.S. troops from the Persian Gulf at 7:15 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. All graduate students are eligible to vote. It is important that everyone's voice be heard.

Wednesday, December 5

Slide Show — "Socialism in Cuba Today" by Maggie Pucci, a striker at Eastern Airlines, member of IAM Local 1726 and member of the Young Socialist Alliance, at 7 p.m. in CC 803. Sponsored by Umass CASA. Stp by CASA's office in 423A Student Union for more information.

Meeting — Seante Meeting sponsored by Senate Operation 7 p.m. - 12 a.m. in CC 163C.

Senior Portraits — Sponsored by Index, from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. $5 a sitting.

Thursday, December 6

Craft Fair — Sponsored by Craft Shop, Campus Center Concourse from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cafe — The UMass Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns is sponsoring the second Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Cafe at 8 p.m. in the Hampden Theatre at UMass. This month's cafe will feature short films by Keishya Salko, poetry by Nina Crow Newington, performance pieces by Amy A. Ford and Sara Brown, and a scene from "Bent." Comediene Julie Waggoner will return as M.C. The cafe is free and open to the public. For more information call 545-4824.

Lecture — Diana Russell, feminist professor and author, and a native South African, will speak on Women In The Antiapartheid Movement at 4 p.m. in Seely Hall, Room 10, Smith College.

Rally — The Northampton chapter of the National Organization for Women is organizing a March/rally. This public protest is designed to commerorate the massacre of fourteen women in Montreal last December 6, and to protest all violence against women. The march will begin at 7 p.m. at the Bridge Street Cemetery and will proceed to Polasky Park where the rally will take place.

Women's songbook created

Coordinators seek local writers' submissions

By ALEX DERING
Collegian Staff

Project coordinators of Everywoman's Songbook, an anthology of songs, pictures and words about issues related to women's and children's health and safety, are inviting Five College area students and local songwriters to submit songs for the book.

Everywoman's Songbook is the idea of Donna Hebert, a 42-year-old University Without Walls student. Hebert also serves as an Educator/Advocate with the Everywoman's Center.

A 12-person jury, comprised of professors from the Philosophy and Women's Studies departments of the University and local musicians, will consider submission up to Feb. 15, 1991.

They hope to have about 50 songs in the book. Sheet music, a cassette and relevant essays will also be included.

Folksingers Holly Near and Peggy Seeger have already contributed songs to the project.

Although she will receive academic credit for the songbook project, Hebert said she works on the project for other reasons.

"There's a real passion about it," she said. "I think I always had it in my mind that this was the sort of work I would do."

According to Hebert, her project is not purely political, but driven by humanistic goals as well.

"I want to educate people about issues that hurt other people, and about how it's not okay to hurt others," she said. "I want people to learn about the attitudes that allow that to happen."

Although a $1,500 University Arts Council grant provided the start-up funding for the Songbook, Hebert seeks out new funding.

To that end, a cabaret-dance evening has been scheduled, to be sponsored by the Everywoman's Center and Stone Soup Productions of Greenfield. The event, which will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the student Union Ballroom, will feature Hebert, Lyn Hardy of Rude Girls, Guamari, a Latin American group, and the African-American drumming and dancing troupe, Umoja.

Tickets will range in price from the $5 to $15.

Faculty to protest admin.

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

Claiming the administration has not exhausted every avenue of cutting costs at the University of Massachusetts, the faculty union has scheduled a rally in protest.

The rally will be held tomorrow at noon in front of Whitmore Administration building.

Sut Jhally, a faculty member in the Communications department, said the Massachusetts Society of Professors was protesting the lack of effort of administrators in light of the fiscal crisis.

Jhally stressed since the administration's decision last week to impose a three-day furlough on Dec. 26-28, there is even more reason to protest.

"We are concerned about the future of the University," said Jhally. "The [administration's] vision of the University is a smaller school with a trend in higher fees for students, particularly students of the upper-middle class able to pay their way through school."

The "No Grinch" rally, as it has been dubbed, is a protest against the lack of leadership among UMass administrators and not the Legislature's demand for a budget reduction, according to a press release from MSP.

Jhally said the furlough is in actuality a pay-cut for the faculty, who still have to turn in their final semester grades by Jan. 3, but will not be paid for three days during which most professors do this work.

"They [the administration] expect no change in our production, but doesn't want to pay us for it," Jhally said.

"We are just not saying no to the pay-cut, we just don't think all options are being explored," he said.

Jhally said the four other unions on campus, SEIU, AFSCME, USA, and the IBPO were supporting their protest. The Graduate Senate has also expressed it's support.

"But we need the support of the [undergraduate] students as well," he said. "They seemed supportive at the Senate [SGA] meeting last week, and we hope many students will join us."

■ Westover protest

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

main gate at 3:30 p.m.
They sang songs, held hands and joked with supporters while waiting to be arrested.

Among those arrested was Don Phillips, a Continuing Education student at UMass. Phillips said he was committing civil disobedience because he wanted "to send a message that there is something that people can do to let the government know how we feel. I'm sitting here thinking about the injustice of it all. . . I don't think the government really cares about the people."

Melissa Hoffer, a UMass graduate student who was also arrested at the main gate, announced "We will stay here as long as we can, and then we'll come back."

At 4 p.m., the state police warned the protesters they would be arrested if they did not stop blocking the roadway. The group refused to leave, and the police unlocked the gates and began escorting protestors to nearby buses to transport them to the Chicopee Police Headquarters.

They were advised by the arresting officers to have $25 and identification with them for easier processing. Some protestors said they did not intend to pay the $25 fee for processing as part of their resistance.

NEW SPECIALS!
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!
MONDAY: 2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
TUESDAY: SUPER PRINTS .37 SAVE .13 PER PRINT
WEDNESDAY: 2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THURSDAY: 2nd SET OF PRINTS FOR ONLY .10 PER PRINT
FRIDAY: REPRINT DAY 3 1/2X5 .30 ea. 5x7 .99 ea. 8x10 3.50 ea.
EVERYDAY SPECIAL: 2nd SET OF PRINTS REGULAR 18 ea. SUPER 28 ea.
FILM IN BY 10:00 a.m. PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 p.m.
The Foto Factory
224 1/2 FEDERAL STREET GREENFIELD · 257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST · 83 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON

MICHAEL'S
Billard Room and Sports Bar
Featuring: Tonight S.F. 49ers vs N.Y. Giants
• Five 9ft championship tables
• Your favorite sporting events on large screen TV's
• $1.00 drafts in cold mugs
• 25 cent hot dogs
• Appetizer menu
• 18 & over welcome to play pool
• $1.25 Rolling Rock Bottles
• This week: $1.00 Miller Bottles
• Tues & Wed free pool for players over 21 before 10:00 pm
Formerly Changes Nightclub 256-8284
Open Mon-Tues 5pm-1am Wed-Sat 12pm-1am
Proper I.D. Required
MICHAEL'S Rt. 9, Amherst (Next to Human Garden Rest.)
Proper ID required · Proper ID required

Always in Bloom
220 North Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-5545
Full Service Florist
• Unique Flowers, Gifts and Plants
• FTD Wire Service
• Daily Deliveries
Debbie Boyce, owner

The Business Card BONANZA

Lizottes Tobacco Shop
76 Main St.
Northampton, MA
Tel. 584-2812
COMPLETE LINE OF IMPORTED AND CLOVE CIGARETTES

LOCAL

Panelists speak out on AIDS

By RORY K. EVANS
Collegian Staff

David Macey insisted on sitting next to an empty chair.

The empty chair represented the thousands of women who are HIV positive. "If you can't look at me as a person with AIDS, you might look at them," Macey said.

Macey, who is a person with AIDS, was one of three panelists who spoke at the "Living with AIDS" presentation that was part of the day-long colloquium, "The Many Faces of AIDS," orchestrated by the School of Public Health's University of Massachusetts AIDS Research Unit for World AIDS Day. The other panelists were Dierdre Foley, co-director of AIDS Allies of Springfield, and Anne Burnell, a woman whose son died of AIDS.

All three panelists encouraged AIDS education, condom use, and improvements in medical care for people with AIDS. Macey stressed the fact that women with HIV and AIDS face especial hardships. He said that this year, World AIDS Day is in honor of these women.

Macey said that the Department of Public Health supplies condoms free to anyone who wants them.

"The penis is being funded by the Department of Public Health," he said, and then pointed to the symbolic seat. "This chair is being ignored. Dental dams are not free of charge for women for woman-to-woman sex, or cunnilingus, or rimming."

Macey keeps 2,000 condoms at his house. He has already gone through 1,000 — distributing them.

"Get to know a condom," he said. "I'm dismayed that many men I've spoken with have a plethora of excuses for not having condoms or wearing condoms."

Macey grabbed ahold of the arm rests of his wheelchair and said, "To those men: next year I don't want to see you in this wheelchair. And I don't want your partner to be in this wheelchair."

Mid-sentence, Macey was interrupted by a beeping alarm on his wristwatch. Automatically, he reached into his carrying bag and withdrew a soft drink and a big medicine box. He removed seven pills from one compartment and swallowed them.

"This is what AIDS is, see all my pills? Some of my friends take Chinese herbs, and they get the same effects," he said.

Macey said attaining equal, quality medical care is sometimes difficult. He said that sometimes, treatment can be de-humanizing.

"I'm short of breath in the emergency room at Cooley Dickinson, not bleeding, not biting; they know I'm a person with AIDS and I'm treated very well. Yet, when I get to the x-ray room they're wearing gloves, and this isn't a universal precaution of the Center for Diseaese Control," he said.

Macey also said living with AIDS is exceedingly expensive, especially when health insurance companies discriminate against him. As a psycho-therapist in San Francisco in the 1970s, David said he was a "guppy" [gay upwardly-mobile urban professional].

"My mother says that I live very simply now. I call it poverty, " he said.

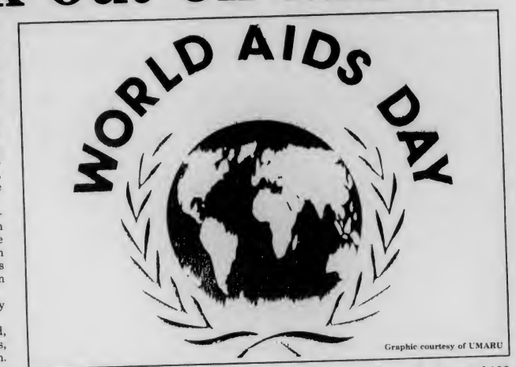
Macey said that Blue Cross Blue Shield, the health insurance he has had for years, is currently trying to get him off their plan. "This is illegal, but they might be able to do it. They can say, David, you cost us $30,000 a year. Do you think we're made of money? And I say, Yes, Blue Cross, you are made of money."

Macey said that people with AIDS who survive two years are entitled to Medicaid. He said he was on welfare for a while, and no matter what health benefits the government gives "the humiliation can never be repaid."

David said having AIDS has affected his head and his heart. "In my heart there's a lot of fear. Was this my last Thanksgiving? I live alone so I live with a lot of loneliness. I get a lot of support, but still there's only so much other people can do. I've been rejected by dear friends. But if you dare to reach out, you can make yourself the best family," he said.

One of the people in David's custom-made family is Anne Burnell. In 1986, her son Mark came home from Ft. Lauderdale with a full blown case of AIDS. The Burnell family welcomed him home and helped him until his death.

"He had been rejected by the medical professionals and the clergy. They were hoping to let him slip out the back door like the 12 [people with AIDS] before him in the area. His sisters, myself, my husband, we got him going. When he came home he had a two percent chance. We fought that. He weighed 104 pounds, we got him back up to 160. We had a birthday, a Christmas," she said.



Graphic courtesy of UMARU

Macey said that people with AIDS who survive two years are entitled to Medicaid. He said he was on welfare for a while, and no matter what health benefits the government gives "the humiliation can never be repaid."

David said having AIDS has affected his head and his heart. "In my heart there's a lot of fear. Was this my last Thanksgiving? I live alone so I live with a lot of loneliness. I get a lot of support, but still there's only so much other people can do. I've been rejected by dear friends. But if you dare to reach out, you can make yourself the best family," he said.

One of the people in David's custom-made family is Anne Burnell. In 1986, her son Mark came home from Ft. Lauderdale with a full blown case of AIDS. The Burnell family welcomed him home and helped him until his death.

"He had been rejected by the medical professionals and the clergy. They were hoping to let him slip out the back door like the 12 [people with AIDS] before him in the area. His sisters, myself, my husband, we got him going. When he came home he had a two percent chance. We fought that. He weighed 104 pounds, we got him back up to 160. We had a birthday, a Christmas," she said.

Burnell said she is grateful Mark came home after being diagnosed. "Not all kids can come home to die. They're still rejected. That's where friends come in. Don't fear the AIDS virus. You're not going to get it unless you're jumping into bed or sharing needles. This ignorance and fear is worse than a cancer, and we need to put a cap on it," she said.

When Mark came home, the Burnells treated him as they always had before, and no one was afraid of getting the virus. Mark cooked meals for the family, and he would share drinks with others.

"I didn't freak out," Burnell said."I wouldn't share a toothbrush with Mark, but then I wouldn't share a toothbrush with my husband either."

"We took whatever time we had left and we cherished it. I learned life is important and that I have to be involved," she said.

Burnell said that Mark, like Macey, faced some opposition at the hospital. "In the hospital, when Mark had a fever of 106 degrees, only one nurse would go into his room. She tried to get me to leave, maybe thinking that Mark would die quicker if I wasn't there. A hospital guard tried to make me leave. I told them I would murder that guard before I left my son," she said.

After Mark's death, Burnell tried to get a support group going for people with AIDS and their families. Burnell said that when Mark was sick, she got support from only one brother from her large family "the rest were out of sight, out of mind."

Burnell said, " Two or three moms got together, it shouldn't be just moms, but friends and families too."

AIDS Allies in Springfield is such a place. The agency started in October and it offers two support groups as well as other community resources.

Dierdre Foley, the co-director, said that she would like the service to become more of a resource of education and medical information for the area.

She said that there are still openings in the bi-monthly support group for women with profound effects of HIV. She also encouraged volunteerism by people from the community.

Profs. speak on AIDS, ethics, law

By MICHAEL LEVY
Collegian Correspondent

A discussion on the legal and ethical questions raised by the AIDS epidemic was part of the third annual World AIDS Day, held Friday by UMARU, the University of Massachusetts AIDS Research Unit.

Professor of Microbiology Albey Reiner first linked the origin of AIDS with a similar virus found in chimpanzees.

Meanwhile, he said, three new drugs have been developed to extend the life span of AIDS patients. Reiner stressed these drugs are inaccessible to most Africans in need due to their high costs.

Reiner went on to discuss Chronic Fatigue Syndrome, otherwise known as "Yuppie Flu." He used this illness as an example to show AIDS is not the last epidemic we will face in the near future.

Chronic Fatigue Syndrome affects relatively well-off people in their 30s and 40s, mostly women, he explained. Reiner pointed out it is "clearly a real disease," and not as preventable as AIDS.

Professor Janet Rifkin of the Legal Studies Department discussed many new legal controversies growing as a direct result of AIDS. Included are legal boundaries of patient treatment, and the "right to know."

"Right to know" is becoming more controversial as the reliability of tests increases, Rifkin said. The question of who should have access to information is torn between the patients' right to privacy and the public's need for information.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Women with AIDS on the rise

HIV infected women seek media attention, medical treatment

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

There are many faces of AIDS — recently added are those of women. Since the beginning of the disease's history in the United States women have been left out by the media, and in research and treatment. As the numbers of women who are HIV infected increase their faces can no longer be ignored.

These were some of the reasons for holding a World AIDS Day conference Friday called "The Many Faces of AIDS" which focused on women.

One panel entitled "Notes from the Field: Work with High Risk Drug Using Women" was about research, education, and counseling women who were HIV infected as prostitutes and intravenous drug users.

Noelle Hogan, a Masters Candidate in Public Health, spoke about her experience as a street outreach counselor to prostitutes and intravenous drug users in Worcester. Hogan said that because there was not a "pimp culture" women could speak to her without fear of retribution.

She said in her conversations with prostitutes most of them thought that all of them were already HIV infected because of their high risk behavior.

"They used this belief as a reason not to use condoms. In talking to them we urged the use of condoms to stop spreading."

She said they responded to this by saying, "Customers are stupid and naive. Who do you think gave us the disease? They will even pay us more to not wear them."

"When we first gave out little bottles of bleach for cleaning needles the prostitutes were afraid to carry them because they said if the police found the bottles on them they would search them further," she said. "Eventually it became trendy to carry the bottles and people asked for lots of them."

Hogan said these women felt like they had no control over their lives. "This is amazing because the women would prostitute themselves and with the money buy drugs and get their lovers high first," she said.

Rise Goldstein, a Doctoral Candidate in Public Health was a Field Coordinator with project IMPACT, a research study of persons in residential treatment for drug addiction.

"Most women who are addicts have been sexually and or emotionally abused by a family member or someone else in their lives," she said.

Goldstein said there were more complications with women intraveneous drug users entering treatment then men.

"They have to deal with guilt as mothers and their past sexual behavior, they wonder the whole time they are there what is happening to their kids. Whereas a man in treatment can often have his wife take care of the kids," Goldstein said.

Goldstein added there is a lot of pain around not having information about birth control, HIV and AIDS. "Very few women use any form of birth control even though they are HIV positive."

"One woman who was HIV positive said she cries because her daughter won't touch her. Some kids get taken away from them by the Department of Social Services," she said. "One pregnant woman who was HIV positive didn't think she could transmit HIV to her baby because she wasn't sick," she said.

Jill Tetrault, a research interviewer at Spectrum Inc. of Westborough, spoke on her experience interviewing women who are in a drug treatment program.

She said, "Prostitutes said that they offered condoms and the client always said no. Some said they worried about his wife and children contracting HIV."

When asked why there were no dental dams (a 4-by-4 inch piece of latex used in oral-to-anal and oral-to-vaginal sex) on display at the conference, an organizer of the event said she did not know what they were. The main organizer of the event said the event had been organized at the last minute.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Dr. Albey M. Reiner

■ AIDS and ethics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Two other legal questions Rifkin noted were regulation of biomedical research and financing of health care systems.

Another ethical question raised by AIDS is the allocation of research money, according to Leslie Laurie, director of the Family Planning Council of Western Massachusetts.

Laurie questioned whether a person who contracted AIDS through intercourse receives the same treatment as a person who received AIDS through a blood transfusion.

Another problem Laurie saw was the impact of the Catholic Church on treatment of AIDS patients. She wondered whether there is discrimination in the church-run institutions.

Laurie strayed from her topic to point out that one of 500 college students test positive for AIDS, a point which grabbed further interest from an already-attentive audience.

Both Rifkin and Laurie agreed that our health care system has been given much attention since the outbreak of AIDS.

Sweeties after all these years

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Two sweethearts have married after mending a disagreement that kept them apart for almost 70 years.

Charles Jones and Thelma Colvin dated as teenagers in the 1920s, but a spat at a street party in Springfield ended their romance — temporarily.

Jones broke off a two-year relationship with Colvin after seeing her strolling with another man, despite the protests of her innocence.

When they met again last fall, both widowed, the dispute no longer mattered. They got married Thursday in Decatur's Macon County Courthouse.

"I still think she was seeing the other guy," Jones, 84, joked. His bride, 85, insists she wasn't.

"I just happened to meet a chum I had known in school while I was out that evening," she said. "There was nothing in it, but Charles didn't believe me."

REMEMBER
Overnight Parking Snow Policy goes into effect
DECEMBER 11
Where you CANNOT park between 1 am & 7 am during snow season

Lot 25 (South of roadway to E lot)	Lot 45
Lot 26 (except by special permit only)	Lot 62
Lot 31	Lot 63
Lot 32 (east of Lincoln Ave only)	Lot 64
Lot 33	Lot 65
Lot 34	Lot 66
Lot 40	Lot 71

Any campus roadway (INCLUDING Southwest horseshoe)
Any parking meter

These lots have been marked with AMBER PLASTIC FLASHING LIGHTS. Overnight parking will be allowed unless measurable snowfal is predicted and the AMBER LIGHTS are FLASHING. This change is on an experimental basis. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Campus Parking 545-0065

ENJOY LIFE

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun 7:00 and 9:15

All Students!
The Econ Club Presents:
The Environment: Issues in the 90's
TODAY, Dec 3
7:30 Campus Center 101
A forum to discuss the state of the environment in the 90's

General Graduate Student Meeting

to discuss Graduate Student Senate motion calling for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from the Persian Gulf

"We, the graduate students of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, condemn Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and support the international economic sanctions levied against Iraq by the United Nations; we further support such sanctions against all violators of international law.

We cannot, however, condone the ongoing U.S. military build-up in the Gulf. The number of U.S. troops currently deployed there is explicitly geared towards offensive action and is completely out of proportion to any threat Iraq poses to this country.

We see no compelling reason to risk tens of thousands of American and Arab lives and therefore demand that the U.S. government bring home all the troops deployed in the Middle East before major armed conflict occurs."

Tuesday, December 4th, 7:15pm
Student Union Ballroom

N.B. All graduate student with a valid I.D. are eligible to vote. It is important that everyone's voice be heard.

-Paid Advertisement-

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on the page are those of the individual writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Pres. Bush, you are fired

The President of the United States is not my leader. Let me clarify. This has nothing to do with George Bush or the Gulf Crisis. The leadership issue was brought up recently when several dozen congressmen challenged the constitutionality of Bush's actions during the crisis. The President is merely the leader of the executive branch of the federal government. The federal government does not run the entire country and the President does not lead the federal government; he is only one part of it.

Mark B. Adler

Granted, the President is the single most important person in the country and perhaps the world. He is the only person elected by the entire country and he does have some very strong powers: He commands the armed forces, grants pardons, negotiates treaties, vetoes bills, and makes appointments to various executive and judicial departments. However, these last three powers can be affected by Congress, and he entirely lacks authority to make laws, regulate commerce or declare war.

The executive branch is charged with carrying out the policies of the Congress. The President cannot declare war. In Vietnam, President Johnson was granted almost unlimited war-making powers by Congress in whose pocket rests the power to declare war, conclude treaties, raise and support the armed forces, make rules concerning the armies, and organize and call out the militia; powers expressly delegated to Congress by the Constitution.

The United States has a peculiar system of dual citizenship. Massachusetts and the various states have powers upon which the federal government cannot encroach. As long as the state does not violate the Constitution, there exist many rights granted to them, including setting standards for education and intrastate commerce. But Mike Dukakis is not my leader either.

The kind of leader I mean, is a person who can tell me to do something and I will do it, solely by virtue of his or her leadership. There is nothing Bush or Dukakis could say to me that would make me do anything they want. In fact, the federal government can't make me follow their orders; all they can make me do, in the end, is go to jail.

In many times in our history, a President has been granted a varying degree of leadership by the people. Perhaps the most leader-like was Franklin Roosevelt who really lead the people and the country out of the Great Depression. Not only did the Congress and the Supreme Court follow his lead for many of his years in office, but the people looked to him, personally, for guidance. His fireside chats made him a personal leader and people sent him personal letters asking for advice. That's leadership.

One of the most frightening aspects of democracy is the inherent lack of leadership. Nobody single-handedly leads the country. There are hundreds of legislators, judges and executive officials in Boston and Washington running the government, but they don't lead the country.

Think about it: the United States is not led by the government, but by the people. Whatever happens in the United States is decided by the people. In order to establish order in society, "Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." We the people have delegated certain powers to our government, but many rights are still retained by us.

President Bush, you may be someone else's leader; but remember, George, we hired you and we can fire you. Your actions follow our opinion polls. You're not our leader. We're yours.

And you're fired.

Mark B. Adler is a Collegian columnist.

Quite the Blue Christmas

Right now, I don't feel like celebrating the holidays.

Maybe it's the fact the economy is in a recession and I can't afford to "spread some Christmas cheer."

Maybe it's the fact it's December 2 and the temperature is almost 50 degrees — not exactly Jack Frost nipping at your nose.

Gayle Long

But I think of the people leaving for Saudi Arabia — our men and women in uniform. It's not exactly going to be a walk in a winter wonderland.

Last Saturday, I watched the national news. There we see pictures of soldiers kissing their significant others the final time before they left. The typical and classic picture in Life magazine. The silent tears, the tight smiles, and the promise of a speedy return.

Unfortunately, President Bush is the man who can promise that.

People still consider me (and my generation) young, naive, childish. If we are such children, why are my peers going to a foreign land? Why are we not allowed to say what happens in the making of decisions, but then have to carry the burden of the pain, the burden of the DEATH?

Do me a favor, let us decide if we want to die.

All of a sudden, President Bush (remember — read my lips, no new taxes, no negotiations with Saddam) is saying "he doesn't want war and will talk to Saddam. (Of course this is the angelical President attempting to be the "good guy" so millions of American who say they are opposed to the war will think the Commander-in-Chief is really trying to keep out nation's nose out of the business of other people and keep our bodies out of caskets — what a nice man.)

But in real life, we have to realize the President is trying to legitimize his actions. You know — well, Saddam didn't want to talk to me, so therefore we can go in, blow his head off, blow his army's head off and don't worry about the Kuwaiti people, they want us, the defenders of liberty, to come in. So, if a couple of Kuwaitis bite it, we'll be forgiven. Right?

Wrong. Tell that to the families of the Kuwaiti dead. Tell that to the families of the Iraqi soldiers. They have a high enough opinion of us as it is. I doubt they'll accept the apology of, "Gee, I guess I never figured that an Iraqi would have family and friends which would care if s/he didn't come back. As long as the Americans come home — we don't care."

But, who I am to judge the rest of the world? An insignificant little White girl who knows nothing.

But better still, she knows nothing of compassion, human decency, and caring. I guess there's much more involved than love of humanity in trying to avoid war. Politics, diplomacy, and weapons are what counts. Not the people who are affected by the politicians, the diplomats and the military. They mean nothing.

It could even be said they aren't human. Because that is how they're treated.

So, while we're celebrating our holidays, we should take some advice from Dickens' character Tiny Tim:

God bless us, every one.

Yes — what a concept, President Bush and the United Nations — every one.

Gayle Long is a Collegian columnist

We have only just begun to fight: Union calls for action

The greatest threat that confronted the University this fall was Question 3. The faculty joined in the campaign to defeat it, and it lost.

It is vital to remember, however, that we are still a community very much in crisis. The budget crisis effects all of us: students, workers and faculty. We all need to work together to fight for the future of the University.

At this moment, the Administration is responding to the proposals made by the Massachusetts Society of Professors members of the Alternatives Committee, the group mandated by our contract to study the University budget and suggest options besides retrenchment. While we are waiting for a definitive offer, perhaps we can pause a moment to reflect on what has happened this Fall.

- An unpaid workday was scheduled for last Friday. Faculty rejected it and it has disappeared.
- Ten departments were marked for reduction. Faculty worked hard to defend themselves, and now these programs have (so far) been spared.

In spite of dire warnings, so far no one's job or paycheck has been lost. Given the state of the State and the University, however, we may not be able to stave off disaster. However, if we continue to act and fight, we will do better than if we surrender.

It would be nice to believe that the Administration of the University is an ally in these tough times. They are clearly not the source of our problems. However, they have do little to make things better and a lot to make a bad situation worse. Instead of being anything resembling "a voice for public higher education," they have chosen to hunker down and manage the crisis. However, their management of the crisis has been abysmal.

First, they have not done their homework. Instead of giving the books careful scrutiny to determine whether there are genuine "frills" in the administrative budget, they have proposed pay cuts and haphazard cuts and reductions in departments and programs. While it is possible that some unpleasant consequences are inevitable due to the University budget cuts, the Administration has so far been unconvincing in the need for their "plan." Among other things, it still remains a mystery how much money really needs to be "saved" from the faculty payroll.

Alexander Pollatsek

Second, they have confused crisis management with long-term planning. The cuts and eliminations of programs proposed have little or no impact on the current crisis, were hastily considered, and may have already wreaked disasterous consequences on the programs "hit," even if the decisions are rescinded.

There are differences in opinion as to the lesser of evils. Some believe that a pay cut may be a better solution than firing faculty. There are also differences of opinion on whether retrenchment should be "programmatic" or across the board. However, these are not the choices we are given. We are instead faced with a pay cut with no promises that there will not also be firing of faculty and further increases in student fees.

At present, the choice appears to be whether we get a pay cut (i.e. a "furlough"). This issue may be decided either by the Administration or in a meeting of the Board of Trustees on Dec. 5. Apparently, some of the Trustees favor a pay cut, because they think it is the faculty's turn to "bleed."

We need to respond with a strong voice that says that the faculty has bled enough: two years without pay raises, reduction of health care benefits and deteriorating working conditions. Among other things, continuing the present state of affairs guarantees the departure of many of the best faculty.

This is a time of tremendous uncertainty: We have a new governor whose position on higher education is not clear and an administration that appears to have no clear purpose and is improvising new policy every week.

In this climate, action can help considerably. We need to demonstrate to the Administration, the Trustees and the public that we are hurting and we are angry.

We need to work together: The Massachusetts Society of Professors has scheduled a rally at Whitmore administration building for Tuesday, Dec. 4 at noon. People from all walks of campus life will be gathering to share their views on the current crisis. All of us need to be there.

Alexander Pollatsek submitted this on behalf of the Executive Board of the MSP

A parody not worthy of the name

Parody is the weapon of many a scathing politician. However, the "parody," "Lexicon of Common Usage," on the Third World Affairs page (Nov. 27) was a perverse backfire of the art.

Just for the point, let us take the definition for "Somewhere in the Saudi Desert." Common enough news term. "Sand-smitten, scorpion-ridden, camouflaged tent where the U.S. teenagers camp out." Now I have a problem. Many of my friends are at this moment in those "sand-smitten" tents. None of them are under 20; one, 32, was snatched from his attempts to become an Episcopal priest to sit among those scorpions.

I am sure they would be happy to pay $5 a gallon for gas to get back here. However, some guy over there decided he wanted to take back his lands and President Bush decided that wasn't prudent at this juncture. They had no choice in the matter.

Call me an anti-Semite if you dare; I don't always agree with Israel. I find your bitter remarks as racist and anti-Semitic as the ideas the Third World Affairs page was created to fight.

If I made any kind of "self-hating Palestinian" remark, I would have a mob at my doorstep and a well-deserved scare at the very least. You would be insulted. I would not blame you. That does not give you the right to insult me.

By printing your "parody" you have belittled your points, opinions and page.

The parody displays the common stereotypes and ideas that have consistently appeared on the Third World Affairs page. Please stop before you are completely dismissed as "classic militant radicals." Leave the parodies for the parody issues.

Miriam Prynne Smith
College

Attention MSP Members!

GENERAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING

Thursday, December 6, 1990

SUBJECT: Administration's Graduated Furlough Proposal

TIME: 4:00 - 6:00 p.m.

PLACE: Campus Center Rooms 163C and 101

DISCUSSION and

VOTE

Demonstration and Rally!

Against Pay Cuts, Student Fee Hike, Program Reductions/Terminations

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4

12:00 P.M.

Whitmore Administration Building

PAID ADVERTISEMENT

ARTS & LIVING

Good times and good music with Free Press

By AL ARPAD
Collegian Staff

Free Press
Sheehan's
Friday, Nov. 30

Free Press played at Sheehan's last Friday. People danced and had a good time, but that's not news. Bear with me for a minute and I'll try to explain why you should care.

Despite the large number of young folks around, the Five College area isn't a very good environment for the development of local bands. For one thing, the drinking age keeps slightly over half of all the college students out of the local dives, like Sheehan's, where the most vital original music is developed.

For another thing, a lot of big name groups make side trips to this area in between their scheduled stops at the serious money venues around Boston, Hartford, Providence, Springfield and so on. It's not exactly like living in the big city, but it's enough action to keep local bands from drawing decent crowds on the weekends.

Even the appearance of cultural diversity is not as enlivening as it ought to be, because a plethora of provincial purists dominates each of the highly segregated audiences for punk, reggae, folk and even polka and contra-dancing. In an urban environment you get more fusion.

Free Press was born and grew up in this environment, and suffered the consequences for four years. Their old motto, "Punky folk-Funky polka," appealed to only the most eclectic new music listeners. They played parties and the Hatch, and went through innumerable personnel changes. They acquired a reputation among local party animals as a cheap way to get uptight people dancing, but they were never taken very seriously and didn't get a lot of paid gigs.

Now Free Press is making a move. Rob Skelton, always the driving force behind the band, has backed out of the spotlight just a little bit to let some of the other band members write songs and sing leads. The result is a diversity that is almost completely successful.

Amy Fairchild, who used to be an excellent but occasional backup vocalist, now leads the band through several of her own songs, and Paul Scarpino, the bass player, has written the surprisingly lyrical "Surf Punks." Ernie Wilson's lead guitar, Dave Durst's drums and Chuck Papert's sax round out the ensemble.

What I'm trying to say is that the whole line-up works, and Free Press is still wild enough for their old fans. If they can stay together long enough, they may be able to start playing bigger places.

Their credibility should get a big boost with the release of their single, which features "Workin' in Washington" and "Idaho*." They're producing and promoting it themselves, but rumor has it that a well respected Collegian editorial cartoonist will be contributing the cover art.

If you haven't seen Free Press, they're at Sheehan's again next Thursday. If you're under 21, watch for their spontaneous appearances at protest rallies and other places where anyone can see them. I recommend Free Press to people of all ages and musical persuasions, especially if they like to dance.

Cure's 'Mixed Up' offers fans no new surprises

By ADAM McCLORY
Collegian Correspondent

Mixed-Up
Cure
Elektra

Last year, when I heard rumors that the Cure had broken up, I was very upset and depressed. Eventually though, the rumors were dispelled, and news of a new tape emerged. I was expecting a musical masterpiece, something that could be put into the select realm of earlier Cure cassettes such as Boys Don't Cry (1979) and the 1989 release, Disintegration. What I received overwhelmed me with disappointment.

If you were to classify the Cure into a musical category, they would fall in the "alternative" sphere. Within this sphere they have explored all of the various areas — from the happy, up-tempo releases like Boys Don't Cry and The Walk EP (1983), to the dark, mysterious, depressing productions of Seventeen Seconds (1980), Pornography (1982) and Disintegration.

But the latest venture by the band, which takes them into the dangerous waters of dance beat re-mixes, fails miserably and the whole project drowns in the tears of disconcerted, die-hard fans.

The new tape, entitled Mixed-Up, is unquestionably messed up. The band came up with this ill-fated idea during the middle of this year; it entailed having the band pick out their favorite old singles and then picking a list of re-mix engineers and letting them work their magic. Well, I hate to tell you, but there is no wizardry displayed here. Almost every song on the tape departs somewhat from the original version — the main difference being the omni-present techno-pop beat lurking fatefully in the background.

Some of the Cure's best oldies are cut up and changed so much that a new air has been established around them. Songs like "A Forest" (Seventeen Seconds) and "Pictures of You" (Disintegration) are good examples.

REVIEW

"A Forest" is changed from a depressing song about darkness and confusion, to one which makes the confusion seem happy. "Pictures of You" is a pessimistic melody about lost love that, in the original, displays Robert Smith's incredible singing talent — in the new re-mixed version, Smith's voice is almost the same but the mixing turns the song around 360 degrees. On Mixed-Up, "Pictures of You" becomes a very lively rendition of a morose song — in my estimation it fails quite miserably.

As I mentioned, the majority of the songs are similar to earlier works by the Cure, except they are dragged out for what seems like an eternity. "Hot! Hot! Hot!" and "Why Can't I Be You?" (both from Kiss Me, Kiss Me, Kiss Me) and "Lullaby" (Disintegration) are great examples of the majority of the songs on the tape — drawn out, unexciting re-mixes.

Believe it or not though, there are a couple of songs on this tape that are enjoyable. "The Walk" (The Walk EP) is very interesting because of Smith's distorted vocals. Also,

"Fascination Street" (Disintegration) comes out very respectably (although the beeping sound in the background reminds me of my annoying alarm clock); this song still remains high on my list of beloved Cure songs.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

The Cure Photo courtesy Elektra

Doctors dismayed with excessive Hollywood violence

By DAVID JACOBSON
Associated Press

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — What would happen if people really got hit the way they appear to get hit in all those violent movies and television shows?

Take the case of two stuntmen suing the makers of Rocky V, the final sequel of the fisticuffs favorite now playing in theaters.

Back in March, when the new movie's fight scenes were filmed, one of the pair had his cheekbone fractured by a blow. He now wears a titanium plate in his head. The other took a punch that broke his jaw in two places.

In their suit, the stuntmen allege that filmmakers changed the choreography of their fights to produce actual, unscripted knockouts.

The suit's claims highlight the serious implications of the violent acts we view as entertainment.

Doctors who deal with the bloody aftermath of shootings and assaults, with damaged nerves and arteries, with shaken brains and shattered faces know that Hollywood vastly underplays the medical impact of the violence it portrays.

When punches and bullets fly, they say, heroes and bad guys alike can end up with impairments ranging from changes in personality and IQ to partial losses of their vision, use of their limbs, even their sense of smell.

Standard Hollywood scenario: Our hero gets in a fight. He gets knocked out by a fist to the chin, or a bottle-vase-chair over the head. Later, he wakes, winces, shakes it off, jumps in the sports car, resumes chasing the bad guys.

What wrong with this picture?

A person knocked unconscious, even momentarily, has experienced an injury to his reticular activating system, an upper portion of the brain stem that regulates consciousness, explains Dr. Richard Simon, director of the neurosurgical training program at the University of Connecticut School of Medicine and Hartford Hospital.

Think of the brain in the skull as a ball at the end of a rope, the rope being the brain stem. When the head turns violently in response to a blow, the brain rotates inside, twisting its tether so that this weave of nerve connections, known as axons, is stretched and broken.

Sometimes a person comes around just fine. Hollywood heroes bear the luck of angels. For others, the enough connection in the reticular activating system can be damaged to leave them in a "Persistent vegetative state."

Those who do not wake up won't be off on the run. Given that the brain stem also regulates blood flow to the brain, head-injured patients typically suffer a debilitating, hung-over feeling that lasts several days to a week.

Amnesia often temporarily shadows the mildly head-injured.

"If he [the hero] could operate a car, he'd get the key in and wonder, 'Where was I going again?'" says Dr. Mark Paltre, director of the neurosurgical intensive care unit at Hartford Hospital.

Knockout scenario variation: Hero wakes up in a hospital. "You've had a nasty bump on the head," doctor says. Hero sneaks out, jumps in a sports car, etc.

Anyone bolting hospital observation after being knocked unconscious would truly need to have his head examined. That initial injury can be followed by an equally life-threatening complications, Simon notes.

Blow to the head can break or lacerate blood vessels in the cortex, or outer brain, he says. As blood collects inside the skull, pressure builds.

Thus, a "classic situation," Simon says: A person comes to from a knockout, from the injury to the reticular activating system and feels OK. But later he lapses into unconsciousness again. This is the other injury — blood clot pressure and swelling shutting down the brain's switches.

In a hospital, doctors closely monitor such brain swelling, partly by x-rays, partly by peppering patients with questions: What day is it? Where are you? Who's the president? etc., that reveal lack of consciousness.

Palter is particularly disdainful of those movie and TV hospital scenes that lack a nurse or doctor hovering constantly over a head-injured patient.

Cure

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

The only new material on this tape, "Never Enough," is a really good song. It doesn't remind me of any earlier Cure releases, and it also doesn't sound like any of the other material on this cassette (thankfully!). It seems to feature a different, louder sound with the dominating guitar of Porl Thompson. "Never Enough" seems to ride into the future without the annoyance of background beats.

I've heard rumors that the Cure will be putting out more new material sometime next year. Since the Cure is so eccentric, I couldn't fathom a guess as to what the new recording might sound like; regardless of this recent failure, I can guarantee that I will be among the first in line to purchase the new tape.

TV raises kid's cholesterol level

LOWELL (AP) — The trouble with this country is that there are not enough wood boxes to fill, as there were in an age now long passed, to keep the kids healthy. All youngsters do now is sit around and watch Ninja Turtles and things explode on TV.

Such inactivity among great numbers of our youth has been a great parental concern for some time, but now comes the testimony from the medical profession that watching TV for long periods, and the resultant lack of exercise, is raising the cholesterol level in young blood streams alarmingly.

For some doctors have known that TV watching leads to obesity in children, with all of its accompanying ills. But Dr. William Dietz, director of clinical nutrition at New England Medical Center's Floating Hospital, reports that children who watch four hours of television a day are four times as likely to have high cholesterol than those who only watch two hours a day.

Dr. Deitz has been studying TV and watching obesity for seven years.

The cholesterol does not come out of the sets and attack the children. But kids who sit before the TV tube for long hours tend to exercise less, and exercise is a good weapon against high cholesterol. They also tend to get fat and have bad diet habits.

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE

Catch all your sports at the Top!

N.Y. Giants at San Francisco
Tonight at 9 pm

Lounge Hours:
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat-Sun: 5:00 pm-12:30 am

Monday Night Football

11th Floor • Lincoln Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

LAST CHANCE FOR RESTRICTED SCHOOLS FOR FALL'91/SPRING'92

CASE UMASS

WITH ROOTS HERE AT UMASS, STUDENTS CAN BRANCH OUT TO ONE OF OVER 90 COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES ACROSS THE UNITED STATES THROUGH THE NATIONAL STUDENT EXCHANGE PROGRAM

INTERESTED? PLEASE ATTEND ONE OF THIS MONTH'S INFORMATION SESSIONS, FROM 4-5 PM

MONDAY, DECEMBER 3, CC 165
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, CC 917
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, CC 165

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

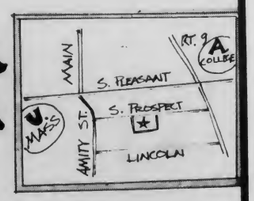
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY

53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385

Shop Registration # RS1212



- Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty
- State of art equipment for precision frame and unibody straightening (+ or - ½ mm)
- Over 90 years staff experience
- Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
- Advanced European Technology Painting and Refinishing Systems

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

Photo by Susan Corneliussen

A BARN - A barn near Skowhegan, Maine shows the wear and tear of life down east.

Meditate for peace with 'Super Radiance'

BOSTON (AP) — Toss out the diplomatic solutions for averting war in the Persian Gulf. A group of people who have meditated on the problem say they know the way to peace.

Sit down. Relax. Close your eyes. And like the Hindu monks in India, meditate.

Do this with 7,000 others, and the good vibrations you generate — called Super Radiance — will cool Mideast tensions, reduce crime rates, prevent fires and accidents and even boost stock markets around the world, they say.

Such techniques have been popular since the 1960s, when the Mararishi Mahesh Yogi brought Transcendental Meditation to the West and gained a following that once included the Beatles.

Now, with the Persian Gulf crisis heating up, the yogic troops are setting out to prove their methods work.

"The timing is very good. The gulf situation has given us a good test of our abilities," the Mararishi said recently in a telephone interview. "This is a testing ground. Now we can prove our techniques once and for all."

Others are skeptical.

"If they had a way of preventing war in the Middle East I'd be delighted," said Dr. Verne Caviness, a professor of neurology at Harvard University. "But this is a bust. It's really nothing."

Not to be deterred, Transcendental Meditation adherents say large groups of trained people mediating together produce coherent and harmonious brain waves — Super Radiance. And when that occurs, those brain waves radiate outward, making the world safer, happier and less chaotic.

The number of meditators must constitute the square root of 1 percent — a figure arrived at by the Maharishi — to affect any given population. So to help the whole world, 7,000 people must gather in communal meditation.

Strange as it all may sound, the meditators claim to have scientific proof to back up their claims.

A 1983 study found that meditators gathered in Jerusalem produced a 76 percent drop in war deaths in Lebanon. And in six similar Mideast gatherings from 1983 to 1985, war deaths plunged 71 percent and other forms of violence decreased 48 percent.

"Each time the group got big enough, the fighting settled down dramatically," said John Davies, the research coordinator for the University of Maryland's Center for International Develpoment and Conflict Management who was involved in the Lebanon study.

"Deaths would drop precipitously, from about 40 in a day to about three," he added. "This wasn't pulling anything out of a hat."

Some 40 studies have linked Super Radiance with everything from fewer traffic incidents to improved economic conditions.

But the bulk of the research has been conducted at the Maharishi International University in Fairfield, Iowa, an accredited, four-year institution named after the Maharishi. Davies, now with the University of Marylannd, has done research there.

So while many accept the individual benefits of meditation, they question whether the college's studies boosting Super Radiance carry much weight.

"I don't know of any research proposals on this that is likely to pass through a peer review group to get funding," Caviness said. I'd be alarmed and deeply troubled if it did."

Such criticism does little to dampen the enthusiasm of Super Radiance practitioners.

In November, about 5,000 people paid $35 a piece to gather in a stadium in Stockholm, Sweden, for a 20-minute meditation session to avert a Persian Gulf war. A similar gathering drew a more modest crowd of about 180 in Lancaster two weeks ago, about 40 miles west of Boston.

PROSPECTIVE SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS...
Are You Dedicated? Motivated?
Ambitious? Hard-Working?
Responsible? Organized?

Are You Interested in Sales?

If you answered YES to the above questions The Collegian has a job for you.
Applications for

Advertising Account Executive

are now being accepted. APPLY NOW.
Come to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center
(Rm. 113—Lower Level) and pick up an application
DEADLINE: TUES., DEC. 4
The Collegian is an E/O/E

MUNCHY SALE

SALE

Frito-Lay RUFFLES Potato Chips 99c 6 oz. reg $1.39

PEPSI 1 liter 79c plus deposit

Kellogg's FROSTED FLAKES $1.89 10 oz

PLANTERS Cheese Balls Cheese Curls Corn Chips $1.19 reg $1.44

FRANCO AMERICAN Spaghetti Spaghettios 59c

BETTER CHEDDAR Crackers $1.79

CANDY SALE Check Munchy and Mini Stores for Details

KRAFT Macaroni and Cheese 79c 7 oz

Sale Prices valid Through Friday Dec 21

Research becoming reality.

handwriting recognition,
integrated applications,
object-oriented programming,
RISC-based architecture,
multimedia,
distributed networking environment

Maybe you thought you wouldn't find much personal challenge in personal computing. Think again. As we move from 10 MIPS to 50-100 MIPS, we will incorporate new technology that delivers a compelling benefit using that power. Like a graphical user interface that can search large disks and distributed networks to truly put information at your fingertips. Like an object-oriented application framework that lets you integrate different types of applications and information to create rich, compound documents. Like a symmetric, multiprocessing operating system that lets us deliver the power of advanced personal computing on many platforms.

Make research a reality with Microsoft. We are looking for Software Design Engineers and Program Managers. If you are pursuing an MS or PhD degree in Computer & Information Science, Math, Electrical Engineering or related technical discipline with programming experience, design skills and/or exposure to managing projects, then we want to talk with you. We're having an Information Session the night before our on-campus interviews. We're looking forward to talking with you there—even if you're NOT signed up on our interview schedule. Relocation is available for both summer and full-time positions.

We are an equal opportunity employer and are working toward a more culturally diverse workplace.

Company Presentation
Feb. 6, 1991
7:00 p.m.
Mather Career Center
On-campus Interviews for Full-time
(Resumes due Jan. 10)
and Summer positions
Feb. 7, 1991

Microsoft®
Making it all make sense™

Chabad House offers religious enlightenment

Collegian photo by Dopdi Ahearn

Chabad House

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

For some students at the University of Massachusetts, college is a time to discover religion. Since 1974, Chabad House has served "to offer students a chance to experience traditional Judaism through prayer, social activities and classes," said Rabbi Chaim Adelman, the house's director.

The house's courses range from the meaning and celebration of specific Jewish holidays to private classes studying Jewish texts such as the Mishnah, or oral traditions, Adleman said.

Adelman, an Orthodox rabbi and house director since 1988, said part of students' learning about Judaism includes participation in preparing religious meals and services. "We give students on-hand experience with the Sabbath and holidays," he said.

Adelman also said about 20 or 30 students attend weekly Sabbath services, and more go to services on holidays. "We have nice crowds," he said, the actual number of students attending holiday services depends upon the time of year.

Programming brings students to the house, Adelman said. In addition to a coffee house this Tuesday night, there will be a Hasidic farbrengen, or gathering, this Thursday to celebrate the anniversary of Chabad movement leader Rabbi Schneur Zalman's release from a Soviet prison. Zalman, an organizer in the Soviet Jewish community, was arrested for starting Jewish schools.

This semester, Adleman said, has been "very good," with the help of six students, who help him plan services and programs. He added the services are open to anyone, regardless of religious origin.

"We're here to educate students," he said, "and to give them the opportunity, which they may not have had growing up, to see traditional Judaism."

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Rabbi Chaim Adelman

THE FINANCIAL AID FORMS for the academic year 1991-1992 will be available SOON! See the Wednesday, December 5th Collegian for further information about obtaining the forms.

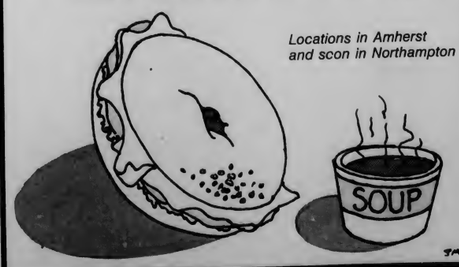
Gifts from 19¢ to 4.99

Find it at Faces
amherst . northampton
daily & sunday

Bruegger's Bagel Bakery

Come in from the cold
and warm up with a
Bagel Sandwich
and our
Homemade Soup of the Day

Locations in Amherst and scon in Northampton



A SALUTE TO THE LEADERS OF TOMORROW – AIR FORCE ROTC CADETS.

College is a time for decision. Some will choose to become leaders – through Air Force ROTC.

Smart move. The whole concept of Air Force ROTC revolves around the cultivation of qualities that count for leadership. And whether you're about to start college or have already begun, it's time to make your decision, now.

Upon graduation, you'll be an Air Force officer. You'll possess solid management skills and a strong sense of self-assurance. You'll know the demands of success and the meaning of responsibility.

And you'll have the great wealth of opportunities accorded to those who choose to be leaders.

Start now. Contact

DEPT OF AEROSPACE STUDIES
(413) 545-2451

AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Volunteer network cares for campus stray cats

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

With a can opener in one hand and a bag of food in the other, ceramics artist Susan Bourque conducts a three-year-old daily afternoon ritual behind the Munson Annex.

Greeted by an enthusiastic band of fuzzy felines of many shapes, sizes and colors, Susan fills plates and opens cans and the cats gather around for another meal.

Bourque is part of a network of people who voluntarily care to the University of Massachusetts' stray cat population.

Mary Hoie, secretary of the Athletic Office in Boyden Gym, began caring for the strays in February of 1986.

"The year I took this position another secretary here told me about a mother cat and six kittens that someone had dumped outside the gym. Someone else took the kittens, and I ended up taking the mother and another adult stray home," Hoie said.

Hoie said she has taking care of strays ever since. "In March of this year another cat had four kittens under the steam grate behind the gym where it's warm. I started feeding them. Later they moved up to Tobin, so now I feed them up there too."

Just last week Hoie and another staff member caught "two tiny black kittens" behind the gym and found a home for them. Hoie says there is still at least one kitten left that needs a home before winter sets in.

"I feel bad that I can't take anymore in," Hoie explained, "but I already have eight."

Walter Kurtyka, an employee at the Physical Plant, believes many of the stray cats on campus would make wonderful pets.

"It's too bad. Some of these cats are really cute. If someone took them to a pet store they'd be gone in an hour," he said.

Kurtyka says he likes to visit the cats around Tobin, but he doesn't feed the ones on campus because he is already caring for strays where he lives at home.

Susan Parker, fiscal administrator of Grants and Contracts in Munson Hall, began feeding strays outside her building this summer. She works with Bourque to find homes for the kittens and get the adults spayed and neutered. "I've been feeding them and working with Susan. I've loaned her my cat carrier and I've financially contributed to the neutering and spaying effort," Parker said.

Parker says the stray cat population varies with the seasons.

"The population ebbs and flows as people work to take care of it and others keep dumping more cats on campus."

Parker mentioned a kitten that had been found in a box by a dumpster outside of Tobin earlier this year. "Someone just left it and assumed some caring person would find the poor thing."

"You're torn between your compassion in wanting to see them fed and the knowledge that if they're healthy they'll reproduce more," Parker explained.

"It's a perennial problem with a transient population, because people are always moving on and leaving their cats and dogs behind."

Bourque works with an Amherst organization called P.E.T.S. that helps defray the cost of spaying and neutering and helps find homes for strays, and she has also received financial donations from co-workers which have helped pay for some of the surgeries and food, she explained.

Wednesday afternoon, while watching a half dozen strays feed, Bourque described a population explosion that took place last summer, when five females had litters.

"I've found homes for some of those kittens and gotten some of the adults spayed," she said, "but it's not possible to do that for all of them."

It's hard to get some of the cats spayed or neutered because they're too wild to be caught, Bourque explained. "There's one grand old matriarch who hangs out around Bartlett that has about two litters a year, and she's too wild to capture."

Parker estimates there are at least a hundred strays spread across campus. "In the warm weather you see them more. . .and then you have this very loose network of people working to find homes for them, and the population goes down. But then people dump some more and the population rises."

Photo by Trystan Skeigh

One of an estimated 100 stray cats on campus

SUBMIT
Art Poetry
Prose Photography
SPECTRUM
Magazine
406E Student Union
University of Massachusetts
10-4 Mon-Fri
Tel (413)545-2240
Deadline: February 4, 1991

MOVIE POSTER
LOBBY CARDS
MOVIE MEMORABILIA
Largest in Western Mass
THE GOOD OLD DAYS
40 Cottage Street
Easthampton, MA 527-3163
OPEN: Tuesday-Saturday 10-5

SKIERS!
Drop By
To fill out a questionaire
for $5 discount at
Mount Snow
Midweek and Weekend Shuttles to New England Ski areas!
VALLEY TRANSPORTER

CHINA GARDEN
(formerly Lotus Blossom)
20 % OFF
orders over $10
Dec. 1 — Dec. 30
ENJOY A TASTE OF REAL CHINESE FOOD!
•SUN.-THURS. 11:30 a.m.-9:45 p.m.
•FRI. & SAT. 11:30 a.m.-10:45 p.m.
•LUNCH HOUR: 11:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
• New Management
• New Ownership
• New Menu
• 7 Days a week
• Take-out
• Luncheon Specials
$3.75 - $4.55
13 NO. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST, MA • 256-0287 256-0286

THE LAUNDRY CLUB
The Most Fun You Can Have in a Laundromat!
8 am-11 pm • 7 days
★ Coin Operated Washers and Dryers
★ State of the Art Machines
★ Snack Bar
★ Big Screen T.V.
★ Pool Table and Video Games
★ Senior Citizen Discount
wash 1.50
dry .25¢ (8 Minutes)
Like a Large Living Room
A Relaxed and Comfortable Atmosphere
With this ad
10% OFF DRYCLEANING (excluding shirts) expires December 31, 1990
dry cleaning
6 University Drive/Next to Louis Foods/Amherst (413) 549-2640

THE PUB
fun. food & spirits
Monday Night
49ers vs. the Giants on ten foot video screen
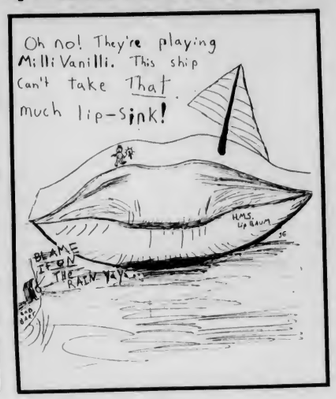
Free Bruno's Pizza at Halftime
$4.50 Pitchers Miller Lite
$1.25 12oz. Rolling Rock Bots.
$1.25 12oz. Miller Genuine Drafts
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT-AMHERST

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

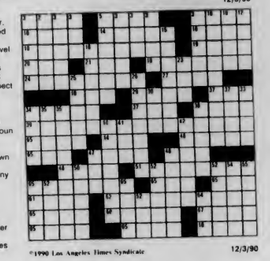
ACROSS
1 Absorbed
5 Flightless birds
9 Diplomat Eban
13 Jibi —
14 Property, for one
15 Pitcher's plate
17 Insect-eating bird
19 Forbidden
20 — the line
21 RR stop
22 Skunk's cousin
24 Pittsburgh eleven
27 Songbird
28 DDE's opponent
29 Elvers
31 Storage area
34 Unit of volume
37 Hullabaloo
38 Bones, in Vegas
39 Small, noisy bird
43 Helps
44 Old French coin
45 Common contraction
46 Compass dir.
47 Domesticated bird
48 Haggard novel
49 Marsh bird
51 Grid passes
56 Part of FCC
59 Title of respect
60 — down: subside
61 Fortissimo
62 Sweetheart
65 Common noun ending
66 Habituate
67 See 18 Down
68 Solicits
69 Andy's crony
70 Gainsay

DOWN
1 Lots
2 Apportion
3 Fee receiver
4 Spasm
5 Dull finishes
6 Lyricist Hammerstein
7 — Wednesday
8 Trickle
9 Michaelmas daisy
10 Grackle
11 Rum cake
12 Juxtapose
15 Slattern
18 Not up yet
23 Refrain syllables
25 Frontiersman Wyatt et al.
26 Jonathan Livingston —
30 Mss perusers
32 Image
33 Amphibian
34 Pore over
35 Screamy
36 Down producer
38 Less humid
40 Separate
41 At once
42 Stick
47 Evergreen
48 Fence crossings
50 Mosquito genus
52 Texas athlete
53 New Mexican brick
54 Invigorate
55 Threadbare
56 Market or circus
57 Millions of years
58 Moon goddess
63 Jamaican export
64 Family man

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

M	A	S	C			E	D	P	A		P	A	P	A
E	T	T	A			E	N	O	R		A	L	I	A
L	O	R	N		A	N	E	N	T		S	O	U	R
B	L	A	C	K	M	A	N	C	S		S	U	D	S
A	L	P	E	N				E	T	T	E
			L	O	A	N		T	E	D	I	U	M
A	S	T		N	U	D	I	E			U	L	N	A
T	H	E	L	E	M	O	N	D	R	O	P	K	I	D
T	O	R	O		S	E	G	A	R		A	L	E
A	P	R	O	N	S		S	Y	N	O	D
			K	I	T	E			C	U	R	I	E
	W	H	I	T	E	L	I	G	H	T	N	I	N	G
A	R	A	N		A	I	S	L	E		G	E	N	A
N	E	W	T		D	O	L	O	R		U	S	E	D
A	N	N	O		S	T	E	W			S	E	S	S

12/3/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

LEMONADE! GET YOUR ICE-COLD LEMONADE! JUST FIVE DOLLARS A GLASS, WHILE IT LASTS!
HOW ARE SALES?
TERRIBLE. I DON'T UNDERSTAND IT.
IT SURE IS COLD OUT.
YEP. SEE, MY LEMONADE HAS "ALL-NATURAL" REFRIGERATION! WANT TO BUY A GLASS?
SORRY. ALL MY SAVINGS ARE IN BONDS.
MAYBE I SHOULD START CHARGING TEN DOLLARS SO I DON'T HAVE TO SELL AS MUCH.

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

RUN, MARCUS, BEFORE YOU GET TACKLED!
ARRRRR!!
One more step and I send your left lung into the bleachers.
Minutemen Beat Daquiris 43-0

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

GOOD EVENING. IN AN ASTONISHING PRESS CONFERENCE TODAY, GEORGE BUSH SOUGHT TO CONTAIN CONTINUING CONCERN OVER HIS POLITICAL OPPORTUNISM...
RESPONDING TO CRITICISM THAT HE HAD RENEGED ON KEY 1988 CAMPAIGN PLEDGES, MR. BUSH REVEALED TODAY THAT HE'D NEVER REALLY HAD ANY POSITIONS TO RENEGE ON IN THE FIRST PLACE...
HIS STATEMENTS, MR. BUSH ASSERTED, HAD ALL BEEN FURNISHED BY A SLICK, POLITICAL PROFESSIONAL, AND THAT HE, MR. BUSH, HAD JUST BEEN "MOUTHING THE WORDS."
SIR, DO YOU MEAN LIP SYNCHING?
WELL, I GUESS THAT'S WHAT THE KIDS CALL IT, YEAH.

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Duchess Pie Turkey Sandwich	Baked Chicken Roast Pork
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Turkey Sandwich Veggie/egg Sandwich	Baked Chicken Squash Bake

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): An "impossible" situation proves surprisingly easy to resolve. Count your blessings! A newcomer could play a key role in your future happiness. Roll out the red carpet for good friends.
TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Put aside your cares and relax with friends and relatives. "How-to" books make enjoyable reading. Mate is willing to fall in with your social plans. Make the evening both festive and romantic.
GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Spend this quiet, relaxing day on creative projects. Wrap some Christmas gifts and write holiday cards. Children are easier to cope with than in the recent past. A gentle flirtation boosts your spirits.
CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Romance enjoys highly favorable influences today. You and your mate can make up for lost time. Be honest and direct. Get out and socialize the evening.
LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): It is time to make some constructive changes in your lifestyle. A candid talk with your mate or partner will reveal many truths. Go out of your way to encourage your children.
VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Good news travels fast today. Your message will delight a member of the opposite sex. Share the applause with your partner. A friend may show up on your doorstep tonight. Be gracious.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Keep your word to your loved ones even if you must make a sacrifice you had not anticipated. Although a telephone call brings good news you may have to change certain plans. Be flexible.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Control your temper if hoping to avoid a direct confrontation. Use your leisure time to take a long walk or catch up on your reading. Someone at a distance hopes you will write.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Discuss your Christmas plans with family members. Romantic and social trends look favorable. A close friend or relative influences a long overdue decision. You are on the right track.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Others are depending on you. Live up to your reputation as a leader and run the show in high style. A new admirer gives you a wonderful gift. A romance is turning serious. Help your landlord deal with personal crisis.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Be careful not to get overly involved in a friend's personal life. You may not know what is really going on. Offer a sympathetic ear but no advice. Romance begins to heat up.
PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): All work and no play could make you a dull companion. Enjoy life to the fullest! Get a social life and get out of dark, dingy places. Hosting a party could do wonders for your love life. Make your co-workers feel at home.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Sam Silverstein
Copy Editor.....Jody Gabin
Layout Technician.....Rick Seto
Photo Technician.....K.A. Burke
Production Supervisors.....Rick Seto
Typesetter.....Sue Kent
Production.....Nicole Dumas, Jennifer Arnold, Tania Ivany

Chiefs hammer Patriots

By HOWARD ULMAN
AP Sports Writer

FOXBORO (AP) — It took Steve DeBerg a long time to establish himself as a full-time starting NFL quarterback, but almost no time to destroy the New England Patriots.

The 14-year veteran threw an 86-yard touchdown on his first pass, a 61-yard completion on his second and piled up 212 passing yards in the first 10 minutes as the Kansas City Chiefs rolled to a 37-7 win on Wednesday.

"In the first half," DeBerg said, "that's as well as I've ever seen an offense function for a full half," DeBerg, playing on his fifth NFL team threw for 312 yards in the first half, highlighted by touchdowns of 86 yards to Stephone Paige and 11 yards to Robb Thomas. The Chiefs scored on their first five possessions and led 23-0 at halftime.

"We just wanted to back them off early in the game" with long passes, said DeBerg, who began the day as the AFC's third-ranked passer after spending his career alternating between being a starter and a backup. "We came into the game with the full intention to run the football.

"It just so happened that the pass plays we were calling ended up as big plays, so we stuck with it."

The Chiefs (8-4), who began the day tied with the Los Angeles Raiders for the AFC West lead, are seeking their first division title in 19 years.

"The only team that can keep us from going to the championship is ourselves," said Barry Word, who led all rushers with 112 yards on 19 carries.

The Patriots (1-11) set a team record with their 10th consecutive loss.

Asked if his team had reached its low-water mark of the season, New England coach Rod Rust said, "I hope it is. I thought we hit it a long time ago."

Kansas City also was dominant on defense, adding six sacks to its league-leading total of 42 and intercepting two passes.

"It's a lot easier when the quarterback has some more time but you keep trying," Patriots rookie quarterback Tommy Hodson said.

DeBerg had plenty of time. He was sacked just once and set a team record with his seventh straight game without an interception.

On DeBerg's first pass, Paige said, "I got a step on (cornerback Ronnie Lippet) and just ran away. I don't believe I have ever scored on a first play of a game."

After punting on their first series of the third quarter, the first time they had failed to score, the Chiefs got their league-record sixth blocked punt and made the score 30-0 two plays later on Christian Okoye's one-yard run. Okoye scored on another 1-yard run with 7:29 left.

The attendence of 26,280 was the smallest in the league this season. The previous low was 28,924 for Indianapolis' game at New England Nov. 11.

DeBerg completed 15 of 21 passes for 331 yards as the Chiefs piled up 471 yards compared to 231 for the Patriots. Kansas City scored on drives of 86, 80 70, 60 and 59 yards.

Three ended in field goals of 45, 32 and 19 yards by Nick Lowery, who tied his previous best streak of 13 successful field goals.

Deron Cherry's first interception of the year, in the end zone, sparked an 80-yard march capped by Thomas' touchdown 30 seconds before halftime. DeBerg completed four passes for 41 yards on the last four plays.

The Patriots avoided their second shutout in three weeks on Hodson's 2-yard scoring pass to Marv Cook with 25 seconds left in the third quarter.

The blocked punt with 10:34 left in the third quarter was the fourth of the year by Albert Lewis. On the next play, DeBerg threw a 13-yard completion to Alfredo Roberts before Okoye powered in for the Chiefs' sixth score in seven possessions.

New England, which failed to score on its first series in 11 of its 12 games, has given up points on nine of its opponents' 12 opening possessions.

Kansas City, winner of three consecutive games and four of its last five, had clear sailing from the second play of the game.

On the first, Todd McNair returned the opening kickoff 15 yards. Then DeBerg faked a handoff to Okoye, freezing Lippett. Paige ran by him, caught the ball at about midfield and raced in for the longest reception of his eight-year career. DeBerg also has a 90-yard scoring pass this season.

■ men's track

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 15

"Overall I was pleased with the performances," said O'Brien. "We got some scoring in some events that we haven't in the past. We've increased our strength in the jumps, sprints, hurdles and throwing events.

"Our kids registered some good performances against a tough opponent."

Buy Any 2 Calzones $1.00 OFF One coupon per order - Expires May 31, 1991

Buy Any 2 Calzones $1.00 OFF One coupon per order - Expires May 31, 1991

Any 2 Calzones For $7.00 Pick up or delivery only One coupon per order--Expires May 31, 1991

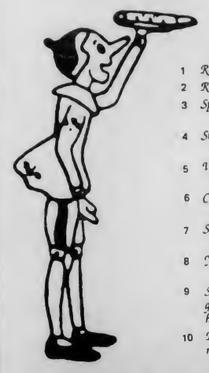
Any 2 Calzones for $7.00 Pick up or delivery only One coupon per order--Expires May 31, 1991

La Cucina di Pinocchio
549-3669

New Item

Fast Free Delivery or Pick-up
117 N. Pleasant Street
Amherst, Massachusetts

Hours
Weekday - 4 pm to 2 am
Saturday - 4 pm to 3 am
Sunday - 4 pm to 1 am



Calzones

1 Ricotta, Ham, Salami, Mozzarella 3.50
2 Ricotta, Mozzarella, Provolone, Swiss 3.50
3 Spinach, Garlic, Mozzarella, Parmigiana (Popeye Special) 3.50
4 Steak & Cheese (your choice green pepper, mushroom, onion, hot pepper) 3.75
5 Vegetarian Delight (broccoli, spinach, ricotta, eggplant, mozzarella) 3.50
6 Chicken Parmigiana (breaded chicken breast, mozzarella & sauce) 3.75
7 Sausage Parmigiana (sweet sausage with mozzarella & sauce) 3.50
8 Yuppie Calzone (smoked mozzarella, goat cheese, broccoli & pesto) 3.50
9 Steak & Cheese Bomb (steak, mushroom, green pepper, onion, salami, ham & hot peppers with cheese) 3.75
10 Pesto Calzone (mozzarella, swiss cheese, ricotta, fresh pesto) 3.50

Interested in a Challenging and Exciting Career that will put your Social Concerns into Action?

Consider a Career in Clinical Social Work...

To Find Out More, Attend the Smith College School for Social Work INFORMATION DAY

Saturday, December 8, 1990
2:00 p.m.
Browsing Room, Neilson Library
Smith Campus

Refreshments will be served

For more information call (413)585-7960

WINTER INTERSESSION 1991

January 2 - 18, 1991
Weekdays 9:00 am - 12 noon
Earn transfer credits towards your degree.

While other people are wasting their holiday break this winter, worrying about their future, you can be doing something positive about yours.

For the first time, the University of Lowell is offering an intensive, 3-week Winter Intersession. Choose from a range of credit and non-credit courses that can accelerate your degree program, or prepare you for the highly competitive marketplace

Credit courses: Arts and Sciences, Engineering Technology, Computers, Management, Music.

Non-credit courses: Workshops in career development, job search techniques, self-assessment and Lotus 1-2-3.

Cost: An affordable $85.00 per credit.

Call 934-2480 for a Winter Intersession Bulletin and registration form, or fill out the coupon below. University of Lowell, Division of Continuing Education, Wilder Intersession, One University Avenue, Lowell, MA 01854.

University of Lowell Continuing Education

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State: _____ Zip: _____
Phone: ( ) _____
College _____

The University of Lowell is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Title IX University

Do something great for yourself and still have plenty of time left for fun

Auto Glass Center American & Foreign

- SAME DAY SERVICE
- BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
- WINDSHIELDS REPLACED

North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd
North Amherst, MA.
549-2880

Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trips from NY starting at

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R.	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue

Council Travel

Huskies beat men's track

By KEITH BENNETT
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's indoor track team opened its season Saturday with a 90-45 loss to the defending New England champions, the University of Connecticut.

UConn's strength up front proved to be too much for UMass. The Huskies took first place in 11 of the 16 competitions.

"We were out-scored fairly heavily in first places," said UMass coach Ken O'Brien. "This was a rough place to open up the season."

O'Brien said that he was not surprised by the outcome of the meet but that he was pleased with many of the performances that he received from his team.

"Our team looked much stronger than last year, but we still can't match up with UConn," said O'Brien.

Taking first place for the Minutemen were Mike Loomis, who won the triple jump with a distance of 43 feet three inches, Steve Brown in the 800-meters in 1:58.3, Matt Simon in the mile in 4:19.2, Joe Edgerton in the shot put throwing 49 feet and eight inches and Gerry Squires in the 3,000 meters in 8:49.

Luke Simpson fell just half an inch short of a first place finish in the 35-pound weight. He threw the weight 45 feet three and one half inches, a personal best.

Other second place performances were registered by Pat Lockett in the 500-meters, Kevin Walters in the 55-meter dash, Jay Young in the 400-meters and Paul Doyle in the high hurdles.

Third place finishers for UMass were Tom Hooper in the 800-meters, Joe Milette in the mile, Art Piccolo in the 400-meters and Ben Nichols in the 1000-meters.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 14

Men swimmers splash by Springfield

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swimming team (2-0), hit the road Saturday and defeated Springfield College 133-110, in what coach Russ Yarworth felt was just a warm-up for Wednesday's showdown with Brown.

Yarworth juggled his lineup against the weaker Springfield squad to help prepare for Brown, but was slightly disappointed with the results.

"We didn't swim that well," Yarworth said. "We were kind of flat. I wasn't real pleased."

However, Yarworth knew his swimmers would not be sharp since he put them through several tough practices prior to the meet, in addition to making changes in the lineup.

"We just went down there, did what we had to do (win), and came home," Yarworth said. "We'll be resting for the next few days."

UMass opened the meet with a first place finish in the 400-yard medley relay, by a team of Chris Barrett, Pete Hursty, Frank Sampson, and Curt Sawin, in 3:46.58. Scott Reed won the 200 freestlye in 1:50.01.

Sawin then won the 200 butterfly in 2:01.34, and Barrett took first in the 100 freestyle in 49.24. The only other individual winner was Mark Stoelting with a 2:07.75 in the 200 backstroke.

In the final event, a team of Sawin, Jay Peluso, Bill Chouinard, and Aaron Osborne won the 400 freestyle relay in 3:18.26.

For Springfield, Brian Brochu won the 1,000 and 500 freestyles and freshman Tom Gresh took the 400 individual medley.

"They're much improved from last year, but they're still a few swimmers away from being a good team," Yarworth said.

Yarworth would like to see a much improved team of his own on Wednesday. He plans on returning his swimmers to their best events, and resting them before Wednesday.

"I worked them pretty hard (before Saturday)," Yarworth said. "They'll be more mentally prepared. You'll see a different squad Wednesday."

In a fight for bragging rights among sprinters, Hursty beat out teammates Osborne and Jim Gregg in the 500 freestyle.

Officially, he finished third. The three normally compete in the 50 freestyle, but Yarworth moved them 'just for fun.'

The UMass divers continue to improve, according to Yarworth.

They are a young group without a lot of experience since UMass graduated its two best last year.

"The divers progressed to where I expected them to be," Yarworth said. "They're hard workers and they're starting to come along."

Collegian file photo

The men's swimming team dove into action this past weekend against Springfield College. The Minutemen emerged victorious.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE---CC 113 MON--THURS 8:30-5:30 FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

AMERICAN INDIAN Student Association meeting 12/3 6PM Josie WhiteEagle Cultural Center Chadbourne Housing S-1888

CAREER AND FAMILY ISSUES workshop Monday 12/3 7-8PM Totem 304 Learn about issues surrounding a working parent's life

CONGRATULATIONS to the new brothers of Alpha Phi Omega! Get ready for the time of your life!

UMASS OUTING CLUB Come and escape your books!!! General meeting. All are welcome Tuesday 7:00 CC Basement Trips, Slides, and more!!!

VET & ANSCI CLUB Sled dog demo Mon, Dec 3 7PM Paige 202 All invited

UMASS TRIATHLON CLUB final meeting of semester, Tuesday, Dec 4 at 6:30 in Boyden 249. Constitution and spring plans to discussed. All are welcome. 6-3324 for info.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week. Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

JOIN CHABAD HOUSE for an exciting pre-Chanukah celebration bash! Tuesday Dec 4th 8PM; Featuring live musicians & international desserts. 549-4094

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING Tonight 7:00PM 178CC More info call Alex 6-5993 Mandatory meeting for Harvard Topic: Rights of refugees

PICTURE THIS: 48 hours at UMass! Today the Index Yearbook will be giving out film for a photo contest. Stop by our table on the concourse for contest rules.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold! Feb 14th

AUDIO/STEREO/VIDEO

USED Stereo Componentes/ VCR's/ Color TV's. We buy,sell and trade. Quality guaranteed; great prices! Call anytime for detailed list. 256-0941

AUTO FOR SALE

1982 DODGE ARIES Body in good condition $1000 or best offer Carl 549-4290

1983 THUNDERBIRD Heritage Edition loaded. Excellent Condition 5.0EFI $2700 256-8251 Dolan

1987 FORD ESCORT, 74K, Four Door, AC, Auto AM/FM, New Tires, Excellent Condition, $2900/bo. Call 586-3727

1988 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles Excellent Condition. 1 owner. AM FM Cassette Stereo Recent complete tune up $6700 00 or best offer. Call Bruce at 256-1215

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands; dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 OR 2 PEOPLE for bedroom in house across from Townehouse. $144 + per person. Call Melissa 549-6083 start Jan. 1st

2 BEDROOM APARTMENT- Very cool only $560.00/month or $140.00 for 4 people. Free heat and hot water. Come see it!! Call us after 5PM 253-0539 in South Amherst Jan/June

3 ROOMS in 5 bedroom house (1 available Jan. 2 available Feb.) 21 +. $225 549-6792.

BEAUTIFUL TWO BEDROOM Apartment, heat mile to campus! 549-5914

HUGE APT available Jan 1- Aug 31 + 2 bdrm, on busline, all new. Call now! 548-6158.

I NEED YOU...to take over lease. Single room in Amherst Apt. Bus line. 250/mo utilities incl. Call Chris 253-9708

JANUARY SUBLET. Studio in Amherst. $325. 549-3610.

MILL VALLEY 1 bedroom in 4 bedroom Townhouse. Free heat/water. Responsible non-smoking M/F. Available Feb. 1. 256-1202 $275

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT One bedroom with spacious living room. Wood floors. $560

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two bdr apt in Colonial Village starting Jan 1. Leave message 253-7432 First month rent free.

SINGLE, PUFTON, females Call 549-2781

SINGLE ROOM in four bedroom on bus route at Swiss Village $250 a month utilities included. Call 253-0612.

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352

TWO BEDROOMS available for spring starting Jan 1. Old farm house directly across the UMass Horsefarm. Great housemates. One room can be double. Call now 275 & 250 549-8117.

FOR SALE

BEGINNERS SKI PACKAGE $100 Denisa 546-6432

COMIC BOOKS 4 sale, cheap Call Paul 253-5066

JUDAS PRIEST Fri Centrum Call Lane 508-827-4555

 FUTONS ***
* MANY STYLES OF FRAMES *
* AND MATTRESSES TO *
* CHOOSE FROM *
* RESERVE NOW FOR DELIVERY TO *
* YOUR DORM HOUSE OR APARTMENT*
* NEXT SEMESTER *
* ONLY $10 DOWN *
* METAVAMPE FURNITURE *
* 256-0646 *

ROUNDTRIP TICKET- Albany-Pittsburgh-Albany-12/21 $100 or bo. Ride to Albany negotiable. Call 247-9258

ROUNDTRIP TIX Boston to Colorado 1/3-1/24. Must be female. Call 253-2967 Leave message

SHOGUN 12spd excellent condition 75 Deb 253-2967

VARIOUS SKI'S for sale. Rossi's and Atomic $100-125 bindings inc. 549-5985

FOUND

GOLD NECKLACE between Student Union & Tower 253-2187.

HELP WANTED

THE COLLEGIAN is seeking a responsible sophmore or junior Business Major to fill the position of Subscriptions Manager for the spring semester. All encouraged to apply. Applications available at 113 Campus Center. Apply no later than 12/7.

IF YOU ARE dedicated, motivated, and interested in sales, the Collegian has got a job for you! Advertising Account Executive applications are now being accepted for positions available next semester. Pick up an application at the Collegian Office at 113 Campus Center. The deadline is Tues. Dec. 4, 1990. Call for more info at 545-3500.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283

ASSEMBLERS- Excellent income to assemble products from your home. 504-646-1700 dept. P1307

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext B281

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Basch it

STUDENTS: Make $200 daily doing construction work part time. Write: Dennis Rabe, Post Box 329, Gilsum, N.H 03448

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING 2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool. 2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, end of ol August. Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department. Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language Classes begin January 21, 1991. Intensive day, part-time, evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica. 549-5065.

LOST

MAROON WALLET has important documents. If found call 546-0421

PERSONALS

AIMEE, Happy 21st Birthday. Love, the generic personel writers

CINDY, Happy 20th Birthday. Keep smiling and remember to always keep your helmet shinning

Gail

DAVID BLOCK or should I say Dwight Eisenhower, is this the army or what? Is there any need to make your pledges carry purple bricks? Continued tomorrow

DD still not sure
Did you tell me you're in Acctg 341?

HAPPY BELATED 20TH BIRTHDAY Jay R. from planet o Ashman bad'n worse Marti generation gap Sarah Cyclopse Leech ti generation gap Soapdish The Herdy Boosterhead Luke Soapdish The Herdy Boys Lady on bike Green's stacked friend Oleg and and Boris the nose Steve's Francois Wayne Mike's clone Greg's gum willows and of course the Gaggle

HEY!
Ridiculously stupid person!!
I Love You!!
No I really do
Goofatta

HI IMP! See you soon (I hope)!
Damned Offkey Songster

JOHN LAMBERT
Happy 20th!
You're finally catching up!
Love,
Laura

KERI GREEN! Happy Birthday!! See you at Mike's Love, 8G and Prabal too!!

KEVIN,
Congratulations to one of KKPSi's nawest brothers! You worked very hard this semester and we're very proud of you! We love you! Your bigs, Mary Ann and Jon

KRISTEN and NEIL, This is worth three years of birthday wishes. Love, the anal retentive kellis meme

LADD
Seasons finally over!
Time on your hands?
Colorado

LEIGH W. is a wonderful person and an amazing friend! (As if you didn't know that already..)

SCOTT,
Congratulations brother Marsland! You'll make a fine addition to the family!
Love, your bigs JC and Lisa

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 OR 2 FEMALES
Non-Smoking
Sunderland, Bus route
Starting Jan 90
Call Sue
546-5445

ONE OR TWO ROOMMATES for the Brook. One $230 -two $131 each, utilities not included. 253-5065.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. $185 Jen sublet option 253-0409

ROOM FOR RENT IN PUFFTON Apt. for January 211.50 & utilities. 549-5303 or 546-1577 A.S.A.P.

SINGLE ROOM in large house bordering campus $300 549-5985

WOMAN WANTED 3 bedroom apt Center Amherst 260/mo. Call 253-0617.

WALK TO CAMPUS or Town from Triangle St. $157 + Call 549-8258

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services
ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010

SUBLET

AMHERST CENTER
Room to sublet in January
Call 549-9377

HELP!
Looking to sublet 2 bdrm apt for wintersession. Rent negotiable
Call Hillary 546-3814

MAN AND WOMAN looking to sublet 2br January. Merk 546-3890

ROOM OPEN for wintersession $185 Suzenne 9-2922

ROOM TO SUBLET in January. Very big room. Dishwasher washer dryer TV furniture. On bus route. Call Ahmed 253-5837.

SUBLET FOR WINTER one room in Prasanta Apts. Call 549-0035.

ROOM TO SUBLET in a great house. Three minute walk to town, five minute walk to campus. On bus route. Call 549-6508

TRAVEL

ONE-WAY TICKET TO CALIFORNIA. Dec 20. $150 253-5844

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30 TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, theses, papers. Affordable, dependable. Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924

TYPING

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORDPROCESSING 323-4579

TYPING $1.50/page 545-0913 Anne

WORDPROCESSING: Papers, etc Reasonable rates, fast, efficient service Call Janet 253-3276 leave message

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive, quick and accurate- campus pickup & delivery Call Lisa 256-8695

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS, Resumes, Theses, Graphics. Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & util 549-4195.

SPORTS

Minutemen shoot by St. Joseph's in Atlantic 10 opener

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA — If the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team is going to improve on its sixth-place finish in the Atlantic 10 last season, it must beat the St. Joseph's of the world and win on the road.

Saturday, the Minutemen did both, drubbing the Hawks 83-60 to even their record at 1-1, 1-0 in the A-10.

Since finishing 7-21 last year, St. Joe's has added a new coach, John Griffin, and a pair of promising freshmen guards, Bernard Blunt and Rap Curry. For this season at least, the Hawks are expected to stay in the A-10's cellar — the preseason league poll picked them to finish ninth — and are the type of team the Minutemen must beat if they hope to finish near the top of the league.

The win was UMass' third on the road against an A-10 team in the last two years.

Rafer Giles started in place of Jim McCoy, who was benched by coach John Calipari after a 2-for-13 performance at Purdue. Giles hit 4-of-5 three pointers to finish with a team-high 18 points as UMass gelled offensively.

"Rafer's got a big role on our team. He's a scorer," Calipari said. "It's nice to be able to look down your bench and think 'he might get 30.' That's the kind of player he is, if he gets it going."

Calipari said his decision to sit McCoy until the second half was based on the All-Atlantic 10 forward's struggle to return to form after missing much of the preseason because of a virus.

The move worked as McCoy's entrance, with two minutes gone in the second half, was electrifying. McCoy scored the first three times he touched the ball on an athletic reverse layup and a pair of 15-foot jumpers to break open what was a 14-point game.

McCoy scored 15 points in 15 minutes, going 5-of-8 from the floor and 5-of-6 from the free throw line.

"This game was very important to Jimmy," Calipari said. "Playing him for half a game where he just goes in and plays his tail off. . .that's the Jim McCoy the people of Philly have seen before."

"It was definitely a confidence builder," McCoy said. "The last two games I wasn't shooting the ball too well, and when you're a scorer that can definitely bring you down. Physically and mentally I felt better having a rest."

Four players finished in double figures as Calipari substituted freely — Giles, Anton Brown (8 points, 6 assists) and Tony Barbee (11 points) all saw time at point guard. UMass shot 59 percent in the first half and 54 percent for the game.

"At Purdue and against Marathon Oil, everything was a difficult shot," senior center John Tate (8 points, 6 rebounds) said. "Today we got a lot of easy shots and second shots. It was a question of concentrating on our halfcourt offense."

"We had been so impatient the last couple games, just coming down and shooting it," Calipari said. "When we played Purdue we did that 25 times. The thing we talked about [Saturday] is making them play defense."

The Minutemen set the tone early by hitting six of their first 10 shots, including a William Herndon dunk and a three-pointer from Giles, to open up a 15-4 lead.

The Hawks worked their way back to a 21-all tie with 8:18 in the half on three hoops from Blunt, tight man-to-man defense and a full-court press. For UMass, the run could have been worse; the Hawks missed four free throws and a dunk along their way back into the game.

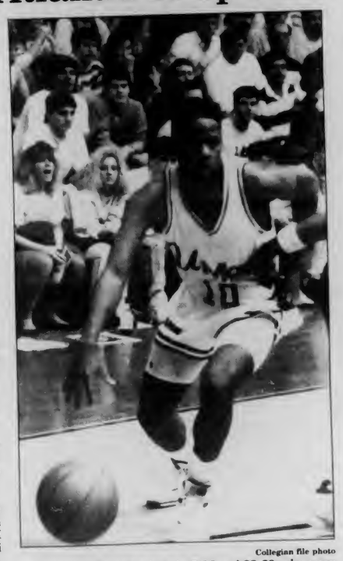
From that point on, however, UMass dominated. A 16-5 run fueled by two Giles three-pointers and a bullying drive to the hoop by Tate pushed the Minutemen out to a 37-26 at the half. With McCoy on the floor in the second half UMass built its lead to 29, at 74-45, with 5:29 to play.

Blunt led all scorers with 22 points. For UMass, Harper Williams added 10 points and 9 rebounds in 24 minutes, Will Herndon had 9 points and John Tate scored 8.

"I think we can play with just about anybody when we play like that. It was a total team effort," Herndon said.

Tate said, "today there was intensity in five of five guys on the floor."

Game notes: Calipari and Griffin, who was a vice president at Paine Webber on Wall Street before taking the St. Joe's job in April, coached the A-10 all-star team together this summer. "He's so smart, half the time I didn't understand what he was talking about," Calipari said...St. Joseph's Matt Guokas, the bruising 6-foot-8, 250-pound son of former Philadelphia 76er coach Matt Guokas, was whistled for three personal fouls in five minutes.



Collegian file photo

Rafer Giles was a key in UMass' 83-60 win over St. Joseph's Saturday in Philadelphia. Giles scored 18 points, including four three pointers.

Lady Wildcats run wild in the Cage, beat UMass 75-54

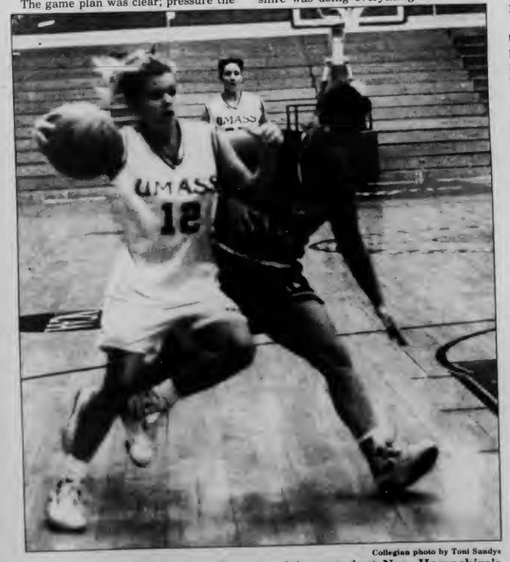
By BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team was prepared for its home opener on Saturday against New Hampshire.

The game plan was clear; pressure the ball, play a controlled offense, and rebound.

Nonetheless, the Minutewomen were simply unable to execute in any of those areas and were handed their second defeat of the new season, 75-54.

The first few minutes of the game set the stage for the entire contest. New Hampshire was doing everything UMass had planned on accomplishing.



Collegian photo by Toni Sandys

Freshman guard Jessica Schusler drives against New Hampshire's Julie Donlon in Saturday's 75-54 Wildcat win. Schusler scored 10 points, while Donlon had 17.

Led by senior point guard Julie Donlon, the Wildcats easily and consistently got the ball inside to sophomore center Laura Seiden and sophomore forward Deb Russell. Neither had a problem scoring from anywhere in the paint as they combined for 21 first half points, Seiden with 12 and Russell with nine.

UMass was unable to get the ball inside to center Keyburn McCusker. Errant passes around the perimeter led to UNH fast breaks, prompting two UMass timeouts in the first 6 minutes.

"We rushed too much on offense," McCusker said. "We tried forcing it in right away when we should have reversed it around the outside."

The Minutewomen's interior defense improved after the second timeout. However, the Wildcats constantly nailed jumpers from the perimeter as well.

Donlon and Jennifer Casey were left wide open and together contributed 14 points in the half, with Donlon 2-2 from 3-point range.

"They've got some experienced players on the perimeter that exploit the openings and are very intelligent in how they play," UMass head coach Kathy Hewelt said.

Fortunately for the Minutewomen, their freshmen came to play in the first half. With McCusker not scoring until less than 1 minute left in the half, starting freshmen guards Jessica Schusler and Cherie Muza carried the UMass offense from the perimeter. Schusler was 4-for-5 with a 3-point goal for 9 points in the half and Muza was 5-7, for 11 points. In addition, freshman Trish Hessel looked impressive off the bench scoring 6 first half points.

With less than three minutes to go in the half the Minutewomen trailed by 8 and had several chances to reduce their deficit. But they were unable to capitalize on UNH turnovers and weren't aggressive on both the offensive and defensive boards leading to a 10 point UNH lead at the half, 42-32.

"We're allowing ourselves to be blocked out rather easily so we're getting one shot on the offensive end," Hewelt said. "We weren't fighting through. We'd shake the ball loose and then we wouldn't come up with it. We need to do back to back good things and get ourselves some momentum going."

At the beginning of the second half both teams exchanged baskets the first few times down the court. McCusker was more aggressive in the paint as was Kim Kristofik who played a big part in helping out on the rebounds (9 in second half) and hustling for loose balls.

However, the Minutewomen weren't able to bring the score closer than 10. The Seiden-Donlon assault continued with help from freshman guard Meaghan Lane who came off the bench in the second half to score 7 points.

McCusker was the offense for Massachusetts in the second half, scoring 17 of UMass' 22 points on 7-for-11 shooting.

However, Schusler, Muza and Hessel all cooled off and were a combined 0 for 9 from the field.

After a UNH timeout with 8:02 remaining the Wildcats turned on the heat with several uncontested fast breaks.

"Today our team sustained our intensity for the full 40 minutes," UNH head coach Kathy Sanborn said. "The key was that we were able to stay focused and capitalize on their turnovers."

UMass coach Kathy Hewelt said she was disappointed in her team's play especially since they didn't show any progress since their game last Sunday against Vermont.

"I felt like we didn't take a step forward at all," she said. "We just stood still."

Hewelt mentioned several key areas that need improvement.

"We need to control the boards," she said. "We need to improve on positioning and mental discipline. There's good, bright spots with this group. We're just not seeing progress in the very crucial area that we need and that's inside.

"I feel we could have won this game. I don't feel we were outmanned. I just think we were outplayed."

TUESDAY

No cha[illegible] today—exp[illegible] rain and high wind[illegible] with [illegible]mps between [illegible]50.

[illegible]sage with m[illegible] South Am[illegible]n era-

A[illegible] wo[illegible]'s t[illegible] record, [illegible]s for East coast competition. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 61

Duffey nixes furlough; calls for cuts, layoffs

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

President-Chancellor Joseph Duffey announced yesterday he will not pursue a proposed three-day furlough for the University of Massachusetts employees, but said permanent cuts and layoffs need to be made.

Citing legal problems and union disagreement, Duffey said furloughs slated for Dec. 26, 27 and 28 will not take place.

The temporary layoff, proposed by the administration in October, Duffey said, was originally meant to save $1.8 million and to avoid permanent layoffs.

"No one is as frustrated as I am," Duffey said. "All divisions at the University will be cut. These cuts will differ from department to department, but they will be deeper cuts than I was originally anticipating."

Duffey will be instructing managers of campus departments to find ways further ways to cut from the already-reduced budget for the current fiscal year, so the University can save more than the $16 million slashed by the State.

"It's hard to imagine now that there wouldn't be [permanent] layoffs," said Duffey. "There will be a reduction in both personnel and the departments."

Duffey said the original layoff plan would have enabled the administration to work with the unions to implement pay cuts which would affect workers on a graduated scale.

On Friday, the administration announced the three-day layoff to the three classified employee unions of campus.

Yesterday, however, Duffey said it was discovered there were legal problems with the proposed implementation of the layoff plan.

According to Duffey, for the December temporary layoff proposal, the employees would be paid for Dec. 26-28, but then in later paychecks, pay would be taken out in increments over a period of months. Administrators discovered this process is not viable, because, according to Massachusetts State Law, the time lost must be taken into account for each pay period, Duffey said.

Unions on campus decided in November they could not agree to the three-day layoff because it would constitute a break in contract language.

The President of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, Officer Robert Thrasher said the union was "happy" with the change of plan within the administration.

"We were told [permanent] reductions will be done through personnel budgets," Thrasher said. "This is not great news, but it is certainly is good news."

Massachusetts Society of Professors Vice-President David Lenson yesterday expressed "delight" at the administration's decision.

"It shows the battle is to get adequate funding for the University. It is a battle for the entire University," Lenson said. "With the new administration coming to Boston in January, we have got to go after them, and make them realize the importance of public higher education."

Lenson also said at the moment there was no talk about layoffs among the faculty.

Officials from the three other unions were unavailable for comment.

The University community is frustrated, said Duffey, and the "No Grinch" rally being sponsored by MSP today is a sign of this.

In a press statement released by MSP last week, the union accused the administration of envisioning the University as "smaller, less concerned with the quality of faculty and graduate students it is able to attract, and catering to an increasingly middle class student population able to pay its' own way."

Duffey said, "There seems to be a vision of society which closes its eyes to current economic realities. It's like never-never-land. One of my priorities is undergraduate education, and I won't apologize for it."

Cheney: embargo won't work

Official says Iraq will use time for attack

By DONNA CASSATA
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and the chairperson of the Senate Armed Services Committee clashed yesterday over whether economic sanctions will force Iraq to withdraw its army from Kuwait.

Cheney, testifying at Senate hearings on the Bush administration's Persian Gulf policy, said he saw "no indication" that Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein is willing to settle for a peaceful withdrawal.

"There is no guarantee that sanctions will force him out of Kuwait," Cheney said. He insisted the United States could not "wait indefinitely" for the embargo to work while Saddam uses the time to prepare for an attack.

Cheney's comments prompted Committee Chairman Sam Nunn, a Georgia Democrat and critic of Bush's gulf policy, to question the administrations's attitude toward sanctions.

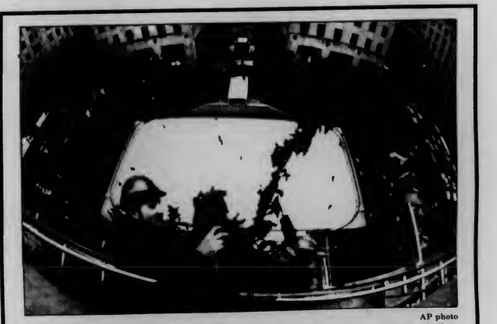
"If we have a war, we're never going to know whether they would have worked, would we?" he asked Cheney.

"That's the major point here. The way you find out if sanctions are going to work is to give them enough time to work," Nunn said.

Cheney said Nunn was assuming that sanctions will work if given enough time.

"That's a big assumption," Cheney said. "There's a big difference between saying we know if we use military force we can achieve our objectives (and) it may be, if we wait a year or two, economic sanctions will get him out of Kuwait as well."

Cheney and Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were the first administration officials to appear before the committee following President Bush's dramatic announcement Friday that he was sending Secretary of State James A. Baker III to Baghdad to meet with Saddam.



AP photo

FINISHING TOUCHES — As ice skaters glide below, Rockefeller Center electricians give final adjustments to lighting on the upper branches of the center's 75-foot Norway Spruce last week.

Woman with 97 personalities learns to cope by lecturing

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

People need to be aware of what children say in order to detect signs of abuse, a woman who has successfully coped with 97 personalities said last week.

According to Shelly, who does not want her last name revealed, Multiple Personality Disorder is a defense mechanism formed as a result of severe sadistic childhood abuse.

Shelly said up until two years ago, she was living with 97 personalities, 18 of which were male, as a result of the abuse she had experienced as a child.

"Statistically we are a violent, dysfunctional society," she said. "There are people who abuse their children and then go to church every Sunday."

She said in an effort to deal with the anger she felt toward her abuser, she decided to channel her energies into something constructive. As a result, Shelly formed Listen to the Children Enterprises (LTC).

Shelly said she started her traveling presentations, "Listen to the Children," to educate students and professionals on the effects of childhood abuse and trauma through the eyes of a survivor.

Shelly said MPD evolves as a protection mechanism when the victim of abuse is in a threatening situation. The personality will come into being to protect or preserve a talent, a belief or a biological function of the "host personality."

She said the process is called dissociation, and as a result, the "host personality" experiences a loss of time.

"The physical scars may go away, but the psychological and emotional abuse are the hardest to get over," she added.

She said as a result of MPD, she can not recall most of her childhood between the years of 5 to 12. Only recently, she said, she has remembered some events that occurred between those years.

"It's like piecing together a jigsaw puzzle with a million pieces," she said.

She said having 97 personalities was not all bad. In college she said she had a 4.0 average because while one personality was taking the exam, others, with books in hand, could give that personality the answers to the questions.

She said she was unaware of her other 96 personalities until recently, but said once she did, some problems arose.

One of her male personalities, Mario, who she described as deaf and mute, went out a[illegible] got a job doing laundry, she said.

Two other personalities went on separate occasions and applied for the same job at a major company. Later at that job, she said she accompanied her male boss to the bathroom, because at the time a male personality had surfaced.

Shelly's mother "Sandy," said she was in a state of "disbelief" when she first heard her daughter had 97 personalities.

"Sandy" said after her daughter suffered a breakdown, she was five years old again and referred to her as 'grandma." "I went to the doctor's office and there was this woman crouched in the corner, and the doctor said 'This is your daughter," "Sandy" said.

"At first I didn't believe what any of the doctors said and thought she was doing it for attention," she said. "Then I said to myself, 'Why would a grown woman who is successful already need to do this?' "

Shelly said after two years of therapy her personalities are integrated and she is now "piecing together" her life.

For Your Information

MONDAY, DECEMBER 3

Exhibit — Clean Water Action and Clean Water Fund will be presenting the second annual HOME SAFE HOME exhibit. HOME SAFE HOME is a display concerning the toxins in and around our homes and provides information and recipes for safer alternatives for cleaning, gardening, and home maintenance. The exhibit will be shown at Mass Mutual Springfield until Dec. 5.

Film — Abilities Unlimited presents the film Dominique and Eugene at 7:30 p.m.in CC 165.

Information Session — Any students wishing to apply for exchange during the 1990-91 school year are highly encouraged to attend an information session to obtain an application form and relevant information about the exchange program from 4 - 5 p.m. in CC 165. The session will include a brief film presentation, an introduction by the Coordinator, and a question and answer period.

Lecture — Ronald N. Loomis, past president of the Cult Awareness Network, and a panel of former cult members will speak on "Understanding Cults on College Campuses" at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Sponsored by the Student Government Association and the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4

Panel Presentation — A group of Kanienkehaka (Mohawk) Nationals composing traditional clan mothers, Mohawk Warriors (Rotiskenhrakete), and member of the Kanienkehaka (Mohawk) negotiating team will give a panel presentation on the Canadian Army/Quebec Police Force military invasion and occupation of two Mohawk communities located in Quebec at 7 p.m. at Hampshire College. Lecture — Thomas Ready of Xerox Corporation will be speaking on the company's dramatic turnaround, and how it became the recipient of the 1989 Malcolm Baldrige Quality Award at 7:30 p.m. in Campus Center 163.

Meeting — General Graduate Student Meeting to discuss Graduate Student Senate motion calling for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from the Persian Gulf at 7:15 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. All graduate students are eligible to vote. It is important that everyone's voice be heard.

Wednesday, December 5

Slide Show — "Socialism in Cuba Today" by Maggie Pucci, a striker at Eastern Airlines, member of IAM Local 1726 and member of the Young Socialist Alliance, at 7 p.m. in CC 803. Sponsored by UMass CASA. Stp by CASA's office in 423A Student Union for more information.

Meeting — Senate Meeting sponsored by Senate Operation 7 p.m. - 12 a.m. in CC 163C.

Senior Portraits — Sponsored by Index, from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. $5 a sitting.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6

Craft Fair — Sponsored by Craft Shop, Campus Center Concourse from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Cafe — The UMass Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns is sponsoring the second Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Cafe at 8 p.m. in the Hampden Theatre at UMass. This month's cafe will feature short films by Keishya Salko, poetry by Nina Crow Newington, performance pieces by Amy A. Ford and Sara Brown, and a scene from "Bent." Comedienne Julie Waggoner will return as M.C. The cafe is free and open to the public. For more information call 545-4824.

Lecture — Diana Russell, feminist professor and author, and a native South African, will speak on Women In The Anti-apartheid Movement at 4 p.m. in Seely Hall, Room 10, Smith College.

Rally — The Northampton chapter of the National Organization for Women is organizing a march/rally. This public protest is designed to commemorate the massacre of fourteen women in Montreal last December 6, and to protest all violence against women. The march will begin at 7 p.m. at the Bridge Street Cemetery and will proceed to Polasky Park where the rally will take place.

MAKE UP YOUR OWN MIND. AMIGA.

MEET THE FUTURE OF CREATIVE THINKING.

Amiga doesn't just improve your work. It improves your thinking. Just working hard isn't enough anymore. Creative thinking is what sets winners apart.

The Amiga computer was designed precisely with that thought in mind. It handles routine tasks, then lets you go all the way to innovation and invention.

Whatever you can imagine, Amiga has the power to produce. Easily.

Its built-in technology is a major advancement in a computer of this size and price range.

With a mouse and simple icons, Amiga combines a full color display, full stereo sound, graphics, 3-D animation, video capability and text as no other computer can.

It has the power to run software sophisticated enough to manipulate vast amounts of data, as well as the creative genius to create the complete score for an orchestral composition.

We deliver today, what others promise tomorrow.

Amiga was designed to keep up with you, from schoolwork demands through career needs. You'll find standard what other people make optional. As well as sophisticated technology that doesn't exist on comparably powered and priced computers.

Creative educational discounts make Amiga an easy decision.

The Amiga Education Purchase Program for college and university students, faculty and administrators, offers a wide range of fully loaded, specially bundled hardware systems, with a complete system starting under $700.* All include a one year limited warranty and AmigaVision.™

The best way to make up your own mind is to try Amiga.

Stop by your Campus Authorized Amiga Dealer and get your hands on the future of computing.

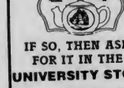
Sure, some people buy what's standard. But we think you can make up your own mind, and choose your own best course for the future. After all, isn't that what college is all about?

AMIGA®
THE COMPUTER FOR THE CREATIVE MIND.
©Commodore®

Amiga is a registered trademark of Commodore-Amiga, Inc. Commodore is a registered trademark of Commodore Electronics Limited. Commodore-Amiga, Inc. The Computer for the Creative Mind is a trademark of Commodore-Amiga, Inc. *Price and offer limited to U.S.A. Prices may vary in Canada.

ARE YOU PREGNANT
& IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
Same Day Results
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
B
an alternative to abortion

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS JUICE LABEL?



IF SO, THEN ASK FOR IT IN THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Tea with Company values your opinion

The Department of Comparative Literature at the University of Massachusetts -Lectures Series-
Goethe's FAUST
&
German Idealist Theories of Tragedy
a lecture in English by
CYRUS HAMLIN
Chairman of Department of Comparative Literature
Yale University
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 4:00
in the Office of the Dean of the Faculty
(South College Building, 2nd floor)
EVERYONE WELCOME
For more information 545-0929

College Pizza
Fall Special
Small Cheese Pizza $3.50
Large Chees Pizza $5.99
2 Toppings $1.00 extra
549-6098 549-6073
Must mention this ad
no coupons with the special

we have the Christmas Presence

Find it at Faces
amherst • northampton • open 7 days

LOCAL

Amherst residents rap student 'bad behavior'

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

About 75 Amherst residents attending last night's Selectboard meeting told the board they were concerned about the amount of damage and noise on and around their property, and neither the University of Massachusetts nor the town has adequately enforced drinking and noise statutes.

"The University is not owning up to its responsibility," said Dennis Ryan, who lives on East Hadley Road. "They push parties off-campus, and the town hasn't got the guts to [enforce it]."

Sy Friedman, a resident on Allen St., agreed the town has not done enough to stop pollution caused by students drinking in public.

"The open container law is not being enforced," he said. "We need enforcement."

Vince O'Connor, a member of the Town Meeting, said the Amherst police failed to arrest some students who were illegally serving alcohol to minors.

O'Connor said the students' landlord, who was his neighbor, was aware of the illegal serving of alcohol on the part of his tenants, but could not evict them unless the police took action.

Murray Eisenberg, of Fearing Street, said he is frustrated with the inability, or the unwillingness, of police to enforce the open container law.

"I'm sick and tired of police who say they are powerless," Isenberg said.

Amherst Police Chief Donald Maia said officers need to go through a complete investigation before making arrests. "The office uses its best judgment to serve you the best we can," he said.

O'Connor added police should restrict liquor stores from selling kegs. "I don't think liquor stores have a constitutional right to sell kegs to stude. 's."

Other residents, such as Ed Sunderland, said the landlords should be held accountable for their tenants' behavior even though he believes many landlords do not feel responsible.

"Many landlords express a lack of respect for the law," he said.

John Fox, of Fearing Street, said Amherst police should fine the landlord for any noise or alcohol-related violations brought on by his or her tenants.

Several residents suggested that the hours of the bus routes be cut so that students who are intoxicated do not come back to campus late, causing more damage.

Brian-James Crawford, an Amherst resident and a former UMass student, said he was concerned for the safety of those who have to work late on weekends, such as waitresses who must work until 2 a.m.

"It's too dangerous to even consider cancelling bus service," he said. "I'd hate to see a public safety problem arise from this."

Joanne Levenson, director of the Off-Campus Housing Office and an Amherst resident, said she, in her capacity as a University staff member, would be willing to help work on the problem along with the town.

"The issues relating to noise are valid," she said. "There should be more discussion between the University and the board on these issues."

Commuter Area Government President Ted Chambers also said he and the other members of CAG would be willing to work with town residents and officials to smooth out problems. He encouraged residents to call his office to discuss their issues.

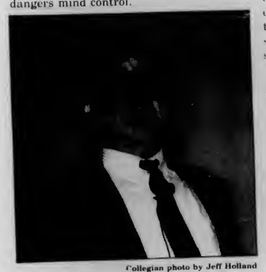
One resident of Hobart Lane said she feels optimistic about progress being made. "I feel there's support here," she said, "and something may be done here."

Expert cautions campus about dangerous cults

By MAURA CANAVAN
Collegian Staff

The induction into a cult is a very progressive, subtle and deceitful process on college campuses, a cult expert said last night.

Ronald N. Loomis, the former president of the Cult Awareness Network, speaking to some 80 people in the Student Union Ballroom, said the network attempts to warn college officials and students of the dangers mind control.



Collegian photo by Jeff Holland
Ronald N. Loomis

The goal of the Cult Awareness Network is to educate the public regarding the harmful effects of mind control as used by destructive cults," Loomis said.

Loomis said the network, a national non-profit organization, was formed by victims of cults, former members, parents and concerned professionals.

Characteristics of cults are deception, mind control or brainwashing, exploitation, and psychological entrapment, he said, adding that the use of front names is very common.

The Moonies are known for this type of deception, Loomis said, having used the name Collegiate Association and Research of Principles when they previously had a chapter here at the University.

"Cult recruiters will approach you and talk to you about everyday things and they will lie to you to make it appear that you share mutual interests," he said. "They will agree with everything you say and it will feel like a very positive experience. If the person is vulnerable, then they will be a prime target."

Loomis said that a profound personality change, alienation from family and friends, deterioration of performance, sudden change in values, psychological deterioration and group control of personal life decisions are all signs to be aware of in suspected cult members.

Loomis suggested that if people sense these characteristics in a friend, they should reach out to that person. "Let them know that you are available," he said.

Loomis, who is currently director of Unions and Activities at Cornell University, said, "I became interested when I saw cults as registered student organizations at Cornell."

He discussed six different types of groups that are potentially destructive. Religious groups such as the People's Temple, Hare Krishna and the Unification Church also known as the Moonies, are destructive groups that are of concern, he said.

In 1970, under the leadership of the People's Temple leader Jim Jones, 940 people died as a result of drinking cyanide-laced Kool-Aid by order of Jones, Loomis said.

"The media called it the largest mass suicide in history. We call it the largest mass murder," he said. "This is a dramatic example of the power of mind control."

Cults listed as potentially dangerous by the Cult Awareness Network include: therapy groups like Scientology; political groups like the National Democratic Policy committee; commercial groups such as the Billionaire Boys Club and "New Age" groups such as Ramtha and Satanic groups.

Collegian photo by Toni Sandys
MOVIN' ON UP — A local fire escape stands apathetically alongside an apartment building.

$7100 in computer equipment stolen from Graduate Tower

Compiled by PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

University police are investigating the Sunday morning robbery of over $7,100 of computer equipment from the Biochemistry Department in the Lederle Graduate Research Tower.

Police said thieves gained access to the office by prying open the door.

An Apple Macintosh SE computer, a 20 megabyte external hard drive, an Apple external floppy disk drive, a keyboard, an optical mouse, an Apple LaserWriter II NT printer, a color monitor and cabling system for the computer equipment were stolen.

Police said the department had been in the process of engraving and bolting down computer equipment prior to the theft. Some of the equipment stolen had been incorrectly bolted down which, police said, allowed the thieves to take the equipment.

ARRESTS

- Ruth M. Denoto, 46, of Sunderland, was arrested Friday morning at the Graduate Research Tower on a Northampton warrant.
- John R. Croteau, 23, of North Attleboro, was arrested Saturday morning for operating under the influence of alcohol and failure to stay within marked lanes.
- Gail R. Suprenant, 35, of Amherst, was arrested early Sunday morning on North Pleasant Street for operating under the influence of alcohol.
- Philip Garrow, 26, of Amherst, was arrested Sunday night on Fearing Street for operating after suspension and on a warrant.

LARCENY

- A 1984 Toyota, registered in Virginia, was stolen from Lot 32 sometime Sunday. The estimated value is $3,000.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

PROSPECTIVE SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS...
Are You Dedicated? Motivated?
Ambitious? Hard-Working?
Responsible? Organized?

Are You Interested in Sales?

If you answered YES to the above questions The Collegian has a job for you.
Applications for

Advertising Account Executive

are now being accepted. APPLY NOW.
Come to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center
(Rm. 113—Lower Level) and pick up an application
DEADLINE: TUES., DEC. 4
The Collegian is an E/O/E

General Graduate Student Meeting

to discuss Graduate Student Senate motion calling for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from the Persian Gulf

"We, the graduate students of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, condemn Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and support the international economic sanctions levied against Iraq by the United Nations; we further support such sanctions against all violators of international law.

We cannot, however, condone the ongoing U.S. military build-up in the Gulf. The number of U.S. troops currently deployed there is explicitly geared towards offensive action and is completely out of proportion to any threat Iraq poses to this country.

We see no compelling reason to risk tens of thousands of American and Arab lives and therefore demand that the U.S. government bring home all the troops deployed in the Middle East before major armed conflict occurs."

Tuesday, December 4th, 7:15pm
Student Union Ballroom

N.B. All graduate student with a valid I.D. are eligible to vote. It is important that everyone's voice be heard.

-Paid Advertisement-

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Old men plot while the young prepare for war

January 15, 1991. That is the day. That is the day the United Nations Security Council has deemed an acceptable date to begin our war.

When the U.N. last week okayed a use-of-force resolution against Iraq and its illustrious Saddam Hussein if Iraqi troops do not pull out of occupied Kuwait, I was stunned.

Meredith O'Brien

The U.N., the world's supposed peacekeeping body, was going to allow, no, endorse, the use of unprovoked force against another country. Their decision "cleansed" the U.S. military and gave them an honorable excuse to, at long last, let loose their weapons on the Iraqi foe.

I have been watching all of the bigwigs — the Senate majority/minority leaders, prominent congresspeople, presidential aides — since this crisis began. They've been just sitting there on those Sunday morning political talk shows, nonchalantly telling the American public that they will most likely go to war on Jan. 15.

"Well if Saddam Hussein, that big heathen, does not pull out of Kuwait, which threatens our national security, American jobs and American oil, we'll just have to go in there and get him out," the political gurus said repeatedly.

No big deal. Just send our country to war and let us win the propaganda battle. We wouldn't want our president to look foolish or weak by pulling troops out of Saudi Arabia and never using force. That's not the United States' style.

***

This weekend I discussed the situation with a group of friends, who, if the draft were enacted, would be primary draft candidates.

Overwhelmingly, this group of people — ranging from the apolitical to liberal pacifists and conservatives — said they felt like pawns in someone else's "Truth or Dare" game. The men all said there was no way they would or could go to war.

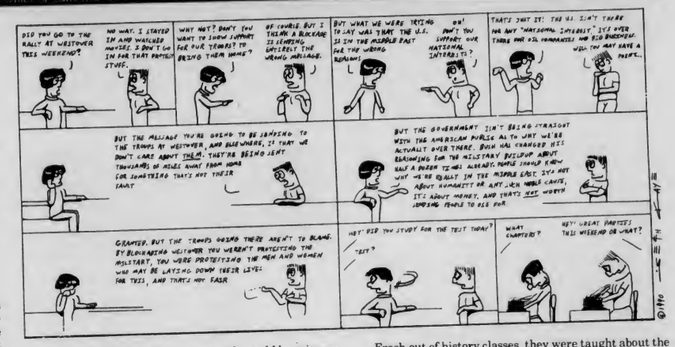
"Why should we fight," one of them asked, "when we don't know what we're fighting for?"

Over and over again possible hypothesis about why the United States would start this war were tossed around.

"Maybe Bush is doing this because the economy is going downhill and everyone knows the best way to help the economy is with the war," someone said. "That way he could make sure a Democrat couldn't win the presidency."

"Do you think it's just for oil?" another asked. 'I'm not dying for oil."

"Why would rational, reasonable people send their young to die in combat? Initiate killing? Intentionally start a war?"



DID YOU GO TO THE RALLY AT WESTOVER THIS WEEKEND?
NO WAY. I STAYED IN AND WATCHED MOVIES. I DON'T GO IN FOR THAT PROTEST STUFF.
WHY NOT? DON'T YOU WANT TO SHOW SUPPORT FOR OUR TROOPS TO BRING THEM HOME?
OF COURSE. BUT I THINK A BLOCKADE IS SENDING EXACTLY THE WRONG MESSAGE.
BUT WHAT WE WERE TRYING TO SAY WAS THAT THE U.S. IS IN THE MIDDLE EAST FOR THE WRONG REASONS!
OH! DON'T YOU SUPPORT OUR NATIONAL INTERESTS?
THAT'S JUST IT! THE U.S. DON'T THERE HAS ANY "NATIONAL INTEREST." IT'S MORE THERE FOR OIL COMPANIES AND BIG BUSINESS. YOU TOO MUST HAVE A PEACE...
BUT THE MESSAGE YOU'RE GOING TO BE SENDING TO THE TROOPS AT WESTOVER, AND ELSEWHERE, IS THAT WE DON'T CARE ABOUT THEM. THEY'RE BEING USED.
BUT THE GOVERNMENT ISN'T BEING STRAIGHT WITH THE AMERICAN PUBLIC AS TO WHY WE'RE ACTUALLY OVER THERE. BUSH HAS CHANGED HIS REASONING FOR THE MILITARY BUILDUP ABOUT HALF A DOZEN TIMES ALREADY. PEOPLE DON'T KNOW WHY WE'RE REALLY IN THE MIDDLE EAST. IT'S NOT ABOUT HUMANITY OR ANY SUCH NOBLE CAUSE. IT'S ABOUT MONEY, AND THAT'S NOT WORTH DYING PEOPLE TO DIE FOR.
GRANTED. BUT THE TROOPS DOESN'T THERE AREN'T TO BLAME. BY BLOCKADING WESTOVER YOU WEREN'T PROTESTING THE MILITARY, YOU WERE PROTESTING THE MEN AND WOMEN WHO MAY BE LAYING DOWN THEIR LIVES FOR THIS, AND THAT'S NOT FAIR
HEY! DID YOU STUDY FOR THE TEST TODAY?
"KEY"
WHAT CHAPTER?
HEY! GREAT PARTIES! THIS WEEKEND OR WHAT?

Fresh out of history classes, they were taught about the governmental deception and lies that sent thousands and thousands of Americans to their death in Vietnam. These people did not trust the decisions of those gray-suited old men who could, so casually, send them into combat without batting an eye. It was incomprehensible that their government had not learned from their own mistakes.

"Well you know if we attack, Hussein will send missiles right into Israel and pull them into it."

"This may be just what Nostradamus predicted."

"Another world war."

The end of the world? Another world war? While our esteemed politicians in D.C. gleefully plot away at how and when we could "get" Saddam Hussein before his power in the Third World grows too immense, the cannon fodder remain unimpressed, unconvinced.

They are scared. They are unwilling. They don't want war.

Jan. 15, 1991. A day that will live in infamy?

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

University Health Services: Heal thyself

After waiting a half-an-hour in "Urgent Care" of the UMass Health Services (a bit of a paradox), my name was called after about six other people with colds, sore throats and asthma problems. I had slipped down the stairs in my dorm and sprained my ankle. The pain was incredible and the large bump that formed immediately made me very nervous.

Hope Sisitsky

In a wheelchair, with ice on my ankle, I was brought to a room and waited 10 minutes. Then the doctor came and looked at my ankle. At that time, he was very pleasant. His assistant was the same. I later realized that the assistant was the only individual who was consistently friendly and warm. Being in the state I was in at that time, that meant a lot to me.

I was then taken to get x-rayed and after waiting another 15 minutes, the technician took x-rays without helping me from the wheelchair or engaging in any friendly small talk. When I was brought back up to "Urgent Care," I waited yet another ten minutes for the doctor and assistant to return to examine my x-rays. Luckily, no bones were broken — I was told I had a very bad sprain and to stay on crutches for three weeks.

After calling home (outside of Springfield), my mother decided to bring me to a specialist in Springfield. She phoned Health Services to get all the information straight. I told her what I knew, but being the concerned parent she is, she wanted to talk with the doctor who saw me.

Unfortunately, the doctor snapped at her and told her to ask me for the information. She calmly told him she had but wanted to speak with him also. I listened to her quietly ask him questions about my ankle and what he had told me to do.

He insisted that I knew everything and stated, "Mrs. Sistisky, if I had to speak with the parent of every student I saw, I would have no time to do my job." Well, doctor, that is a part of your job. You should be thrilled that parents are concerned enough to call, the way my mother did.

These days, we often hear how parents do not pay enough attention or seem to care enough about their children. For those who do, doctor, they have every right to speak with you, with their child's permission of course, and get the information they want — without any obnoxious, inconsiderate comments. it took the same amount of time to be rude as it would have to answer my mother's questions.

No one deserves to be spoken to the way you spoke to my mother. She was doing her job, you should have done yours.

After seeing the specialist, I learned that the medical advice I was given in Health Services was not completely appropriate. The specialist told me the sprain was not too bad and showed me how to walk differently on the crutches. He guaranteed I would be walking without them in a couple of days as compared to the three weeks I was told the day before.

To the other staff members of Health Services, how about a smile and a "How are you doing?" or "That looks like it must hurt." A warmer atmosphere would make people waiting feel a bit better and perhaps not mind the wait so much.

To students, I urge you to speak up if you are unsatisfied and annoyed with UMass Health Services the way I was. If more of us complained, changes would be made. Also, for safety, check up on what a doctor in Health Services tells you with a specialist or family doctor back home. It does not hurt the situation — it can only, as in my case, help.

As to Health Services in general, we know you see many people and can get very busy, but we deserve better, especially when we are not feeling well.

Hope Sisitsky is a UMass student

When winter fun turns into hell

The arrival of winter brings with it mixed blessing. On one hand there are the holidays, the skiing and the beautiful scenery. But at that same time, winter sets the scene for another year of a "fun tradition" that has lost the aspect of being "fun" and only now creates destruction.

Most upperclassmen know all too well the "tradition" of which I speak; thus, those new to the campus are the people my message is mainly directed to. With the first significant snow fall of the year comes The Snowball Fight: 1,500 to 2,000 UMass students coming across town to lay seige upon the three or four hundred Amherst students (mostly freshman) that attempt to protect their home campus.

Sounds pretty funny, huh? [In fall 1989] I would have agreed. Therefore I was out "protecting Amherst" and admittedly having a great time doing it. That was until a snowball with a rock or glass in it hit me directly in the left eye slicing the eyeball open. Amidst profuse bleeding and confusion, I was rushed into emergency surgery in Northampton. After another week in the hospital, now at Boston Mass Eye and Ear Infirmary, the future of my sight was still quite uncertain.

Miraculously, I regained a portion of my sight and thanks to the support of the "Amherst Family" was able to make it back to my Ohio home a day and half before Christmas. Yet, this incident was not enough to convince a Town or University to do anything worthwhile to prevent something like this from happening again.

I know traditions die hard, but this one has to die with all speed. Like I said before, I admit the night of throwing snowballs was a blast up to a certain point. Unfortunately, I had to learn the hard way that this "tradition" in reality is ridiculous and dangerous.

Many of you will still disagree with me saying "it isn't going to happen to me" and be out ready to go on the first snow fall attempting to seek revenge, but please do not. I surely never thought it would happen to me, but it did and it will happen again if not stopped. The highly destructive tone of the fight reached a furious level [in 1989] and I know many students across town hope to keep it that way. I don't ever want to see any of you having to go through what I did.

Trust me, "The Snowball Fight" was sheer hell.

Gary E. Gonya
Amherst College

(Editor's notes: This is a reprint of a letter that appeared in the Collegian last fall.)

Coming to UMass, finding racism

I must comment on the state of racial tension here at UMass. Originally from the West Coast, this has been my second semester here on this campus, and I am saturated with discouragement, disappointment, and frustration. Hardly a day would ever pass without someone making racial comments, references, insinuations and ridiculing me. And, I am literally sick and tired of being asked if I am a Teaching Assistant, where I was born, or what "nationality" I am, simply because I happen to possess Asian racial features. I maintain that it is no coincidence that I am unable to form a relationship, have a social life of any kind. And, I am outright agitated by those who deny their prejudice, ignorance, unsophisticated attitudes, and inexperience whenever confronted, yet continue to uphold their Euro-centric racial protocols.

I had attended another small school in Maine where I was not allowed to share the same table with Euro-Americans in the dining commons. I have to admit that conditions here are better, but still, I cannot help but wonder if I am perceived as a Californian or simply as another racial entity when I am able to walk into a gathering of any kind on or off campus; lest I face racial harassment and confrontation.

It is not easy going about daily business, realizing what exactly limiting my full potential, and I would appeal to those in responsible positions to continue their efforts to eradicate this malignancy.

Pierce Parker
Southwest

Write for this page. Write a letter. Write a column. After all how many opportunities do you get to communicate with 21,000 people? Remember, the value of this page depends on you — students, workers, teachers and residents. Will you take the time? Bring any and all columns and letters to the Collegian office in the Campus Center basement.

AIM HIGH
SOPHOMORES!
START EXECUTIVE TRAINING NOW
Don't wait until you finish college to start a management training program. If you have at least two years remaining, consider Air Force ROTC. We can give you a head start on a fast-paced career. Contact
DEPT OF AEROSPACE STUDIES
(413) 545-2451
AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

The University of Massachusetts
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER PRESENTS
MESSIAH
A PLAY BY MARTIN SHERMAN
November 29-December 1 and December 5-8
RAND THEATER • 8:00 p.m.
Set in 17th-century Poland, rumors of the coming of the Messiah bring vast changes to a small village and to Rachel, a young Jewish woman questioning her faith.
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

Make your reservation now and you could
WIN A FREE TRIP!!!
SPRING BREAK '91!
CANCUN • BAHAMAS • JAMAICA
SANTA'S SPRING BREAK SWEEPSTAKES
HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:
Simply mail your $75 deposit before December 31, 1990 and you will automatically be entered in our sweepstakes to win a FREE TRIP!! Also, by booking early, you'll save $30 per person! Space is limited, so don't wait!
From Only: $399
TAKE A BREAK STUDENT TRAVEL
CALL YOUR ON-CAMPUS REP TODAY!!!
Josh or Eligio 256-8266

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS
2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route
CALL 665-2203

DELANO'S
57 North Pleasant Street 253-5141
Proper Identification a Must
Free Taco Bar
Tuesday Nights
for Delano's Customers Only
Beer of the Month
Rolling Rock $1.25

CLIFFS OF DOONEEN
TUES., DEC. 4 9 PM
Wed., Dec. 5 9:00 PM
Chapel Jazz Ensemble
with David Sporny Directing Fri., Dec. 7
ROOSTER Blue
9:00 PM
Hard Rock & Progressive Metal
Thursday, Dec. 6
Ron Dehart &
LIVE DIRTY DIE CLEAN
Country—Rockabilly at 9:00 pm
JAZZ
DEC. 10 MONDAY
Jeff Holmes
Jazz for a Monday Evening 8-10 pm
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

BOARD OF GOVERNORS
We're Hiring Qualified People For:
• Assistant Facilities Coordinator
• Assistant Vending Coordinator
• Facilities Coordinator
Applications are available in 817 Campus Center
APPLICATIONS DUE BY DECEMBER 7th at 5:00 PM
The BOG is an AA/EO Employer

ARTS & LIVING

Author, Wolff: A great observer and participator

NEW YORK (AP) — The Great Gatsby is still one of Geoffrey Wolff's favorite books, and narrator Nick Carraway's insistence that he is "inclined to reserve all judgements" still makes the author laugh.

The novel is nothing but judgements, Wolff insists, a young man's moral education. Carraway never stops evaluating Gatsby or Daisy or Tom Buchanan — or himself. He has an opinion everything, and his opinion is constantly shifting.

But Wolff doesn't mean that as a criticism. He considers Carraway the perfect writer, an inspiration for his own books, a man who both observes and participates. Making judgements, and then changing them, is part of a process, a moral education for an author who learns something new with every word.

"We're told, teachers tell us, 'Show, don't tell, show, don't tell, show don't tell.' I don't feel comfortable only showing, I don't want to tell when I have a judgement to sound off on," Wolff, author of The Duke of Deception: Memories of my Father, Providence and the new The Final Club, said in an interview.

"I think some things are right and some things are wrong. I like to say when I think this person shouldn't have something, even at the old-fashioned primitive level that violates all the aesthetics. For better or worse, I feel that's something I've been doing."

The Final Club (Alfred A. Knopf, $19.95) is narrated by Nathaniel Clay, a Princeton University student, class of 1960, who leaves behind a troubled family life in Seattle.

His education begins immediately, on the eastbound Empire Builder train, when he meets the beautiful Diana (pronounced "Dee-ah-nah," she emphasizes) Carr, falling madly in love with a woman who either flirts with him or ignores him.

This is straight out of F. Scott Fitzgerald, a relationship much like the one in the short story, "Winter Dreams," in which a caddy spots an 11-year-old girl on a golf course and never looks at life the same way again.

Even when Nathaniel declares he will no longer pursue Diana, he admits he will always hold her up as some kind of ideal, remembering her the night she showed up 42 minutes late for a meeting under the giant clock at Manhattan's Grand Central Station.

"Nathaniel was past answering Diana's questions. She had asked at least one question too many. But he'd never forget the way she smelled, and years later he'd ask the snit behind the perfume counter at Bendel's to spray his palm with the scent and that scent, hoping to find that smell, and give it to the woman he was about to marry, so that his wife would smell just as Diana smelled tonight."

"I'm interested in moments that change lives," Wolff explained. "It's like that extraordinary ending to Frank O'Connor's short story 'Guests of a Nation.' The last lines of the story are something like, 'Anything that happened afterwards, I never felt the same about it again.' I want to write narratives in which that happens. The world is one way before and one way after."

Ivory, Merchant and Jhabvala: A perfect cinematic combination

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — For 30 years they have been an ideal combination of filmmakers: James Ivory, the aesthetic American director of a series of literate movies; Ismail Merchant, the well-named producer from India, the voluble money raiser for his partner's dreams.

Actually it's a triumvirate. Ruth Prawer Jhabvala, German-born of Polish parents, educated in England and married to an Indian architect, has written most of the 15 Merchant Ivory features. The trio combined again on their most ambitious venture yet: Mr. and Mrs. Bridge, starring Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward.

Most of the trio's films have literary beginnings: Henry James' The Europeans and The Bostonians and E.M. Forster's Room with a View and Maurice, for example.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridge stems from a pair of novels by Evan S. Connell. They trace 30 years of marriage of a well-to-do Kansas City couple.

Ivory and Merchant sat down for a joint interview at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Ivory is a well-groomed, meticulous man, born in Berkeley Calif., and educated at the University of Oregon and the University of Southern California film school. His fascination with India led him to make documentaries about Indian art and life in Delhi. In 1961 he joined with Merchant and Jhabvala in their first feature, The Householder.

Born in Bombay, Merchant has lived and worked in Europe and America; he graduated in business from New York University. He became partners with Ivory when they met at the Cannes Film Festival. A born salesman, merchant financed their early films with the frozen rupee funds of American distributors.

Financing Mr. and Mrs. Bridge, was an easy sell, Merchant said. With Jhabvala's script and the Newmans' participation, he was able to make a deal with his first customer, Cineplex Odeon.

The film cost $7.5 million, and all of it is visible on the screen, he insisted. He cited the cooperation of people in Kansas City, as well as New York suppliers. One of them contributed $250,000 worth of draperies and other materials.

"Let's not get lost here," snapped Ivory, ever the director. "Why don't we start all over again. Let's not go into a thing about the draperies. Let that be a later question.

"Let's get on to the key source of our success: good script, good actors, good material. That's why we've gotten wherever we have gotten."

Ivory also bristled at the suggestion that he was dealing with superstars for the first time in Mr. and Mrs. Bridge:

"It's not for the first time. it's the first time in the sense of working in the United States, yes, certainly. but I've worked with some superstars in Great Britain. Maggie Smith, James Mason, Vanessa Redgrave, all marvelous actors. In my mind, Paul and Joanne are in that league of great actors."

AP photo
Danny Prendergast, age five, of Haverhill, Mass. paints a star atop a Christmas tree window-painting at the Early Learning Childhood Center in North Andover, Mass. Friday.

STOP
Register to Win Giant 48" Stuffed M&M Pillow
On Display in the University Store Candy Department
Register At:
The Unversity Store,
Mini Store, Any Munchy Store
NAME
ADDRESS
PHONE( )
ENTRIES CLOSE SATURDAY DECEMBER 15, 1990
ALL ENTRIES WILL BE COMBINED FOR ONE PRIZE
DRAWING MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1990.•
• No University Store, Mini Store, or Munchy Store employees or family members are eligible

MULTICULTURAL AFFAIRS

Dances With Wolves true to life

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian Staff

Here is a movie that you can take back to your civics, history and government teachers and shove it up their snot know what Dances With Wolves turns the history books upside down and history teachers inside out.

Dances With Wolves is a period piece set in the 1860's – America's historical period of Manifest Destiny when Europeans stole land from the Native Nations.

REVIEW

The film opens in the midst of the Civil War when Lieutenant Dunbar, played by Kevin Costner, assigns himself to an Army outpost in the Dakota Territory.

He finds himself the sole inhabitant of the post and then comes into contact with people of the Sioux Nation.

As the film progresses, Dunbar gradually befriends the Sioux people and is accepted into their culture. He also befriends a wolf, which he names Two Socks, thus the Sioux give him the name "Dances With Wolves."

The "love interest" of the film is a White woman whom the Sioux adopted named Stands With A Fist. The two end up in marriage, Sioux tradition.

Dunbar adapts to the ways of the Sioux people, admiring their way of life. He especially becomes close to Chief Ten Bears. Kicking Bird and Wind In His Hair. Dunbar narrates that the only word that came to mind to describe them was "harmony."

Dunbar joins the Sioux in a buffalo hunt and also in a fight against their enemy, the Pawnee Nation. Then comes the Whites and Dunbar has to make his most crucial decision – which people did he belong to.

The decision isn't so hard considering the White soldiers beat the hell out of him and repeatedly mock him for being an "Injian."

The film is full of historical facts and underlying messages which re-synthesizes the Eurocentrically-written history of the United States. The film tries to shatter stereotypes and misconceptions of Native Americans.

We see the Sioux people, in an unromanticized way, as humane people, families and culture. We also see a very humorous side of their culture.

Movie viewers had various reactions to Dances With Wolves like:

● The site of the stage-coach driver being stuck with arrows like a pin cushion was strange, occasionally disturbing but mostly gratifying and was the high point of the film.

● After having experienced, to a limited extent, life among the Native Americans, it was gratifying to see Dunbar face his own savage and brutal European culture.

● I wanted to slap the people crying around me. I felt a cosmetic sincerity about them, that they would just go home and forget about it.

● I didn't like the scalping scene. Native Americans never practiced scalping until the Dutch settlers taught it to them.

● Watching Chief Ten Bears reveal the Conquistidorean helmet was like a kick in my ass. It was the Spanish and Portuguese who raped Central and South America and born a new race – us Mexicans.

The Spanish Gallian helmet scene was indeed the essence of American history. Chief Ten Bears says it came from his grandfathers' grandfather. And that native people will continue to fight for their land.

In another memorable scene Kicking Bird asks Dunbar how many of the Whites are coming and his reply – "like the stars."

There are also many scenes which reveal ruthless, savage, terrorist acts of the Europeans. We see masses of buffalo lying to rot on the prairie only for their hides.

The Army soldiers senselessly kill Dunbar's horse Cisco and target practice the wolf Two Socks to death. This scene shows how disrespectful Europeans are of Nature.

At one point Dunbar's European values re-surface when he reclaims his Calvary hat from a Sioux man.

But even more repulsive was the movie audience which laughed at the pronunciations of Sioux names and cheered on the soldiers. The ignorance, or rather mis-education about Native Americans is obviously still pervasive.

Dances With Wolves is overall a very entertaining film and an excellent history re-lesson. There has been a lot of hype over it being a great work and for Hollywood this may be the case.

Critics are raving about the Native American actors and actresses, the use of Lakota language with subtitles and the accuracy of Whites being the bad guys.

Bullshit hype! This is the way its supposed to be – the truth. Some movie critics, in their feeble attempt to praise the film, say such stupid things as "send up the smoke signals, call in the calvary, this is a remarkable movie."

Though this may be a novelty for the American public and movie critics, this film is but only a step in the right direction. It still is made by a White and stars a White as the hero and is seen through his eyes.

There are four scenes showing Native Americans killing people of which the first scene the audience encounters the Native Americans shows them scalping a White man.

This film has the opportunity, after nearly three hours of honestly portraying the Sioux people, to show the Whites attacking the village, murdering the men and children and raping the women, a scene right out of history. But it fails to.

This film may be a Hollywood achievement but it is an American tragedy. One Native American student said she is waiting for a film made by and starring a Native American.

She appreciated the ending because it shows that the Sioux escaped and suggests that they survived. She felt this was important because people have the notion that Native Americans are extinct because they are displayed in museums or for other stupid, horrible reasons.

One viewer claimed that the American frontier did not end at the Pacific Coast but has crossed the oceans to places such as Saudi Arabia.

photo courtesy Orion Pictures

Tantoo Cardinal as Black Shawl

photo courtesy Orion Pictures

Rodney Grant as Wind In His Hair

Do not forget Sarafina's music of liberation

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian Staff

People should remember the message of liberation long after they had left the theater cheering three performances of the South African musical Sarafina! last weekend at the University of Massachusetts' Fine Arts Center.

Audiences witnessed the horrid realities of the oppressive apartheid regime of South Afric:a through the struggles of Sarafina and her classmates.

Review

Through the story, the music and on the faces of the South African youth was revealed the exuberant and passionate determination for freedom.

Sarafina! is a tribute to the June 16, 1976 student uprisings in the Black township of Soweto protesting a government mandate securing Afrikaans as the official language of education.

Sarafina leads her classmates in protesting the government and as a result is jailed for two months. When she returns to school Sarafina is even more determined to fight for liberation.

The massacre scene sent chills into the theater and commanded silence from the audience as the police machine-gunned down students taking two lives.

At the funeral a priest says, "God has given...and the police, they have taken...What has happened to these children is not the unusual."

The students then cry out, "What are the police doing in Soweto?"

Sarafina then convinces her classmates to do their class play about the day when their beloved leader Nelson Mandela is released and the day of liberation. She plays the role of Nelson Mandela.

The students dance up a storm in the class play while singing that "freedom is coming tomorrow," which sent euphoria throughout the room and excited the audience.

For his freedom speech, Sarafina tells the audience about the experiences of Stephen Biko and Malcolm X and other great leaders.

Embodied in the character of Sarafina is the past, present and future of the struggle to end apartheid. She speaks from the history of South African martyrs through the voice of the future, the youth of South Africa.

"Sarafina! provided a mesmerizing experience of the music, dance and political awareness of South Africa and its very political culture," said Desiree Lalbehari, a graduate student at Smith College.

"As a South African, I enjoyed and pained over the performance, as the familiarity it bred holds happy, sad and bitter memories," she said.

Lalbehari said the musical provided a very realistic portrayal of the situation in South Africa. Something she wishes was an enlightening experience for her American friends.

Moreover, she said, people should realize that the story of Sarafina! is not yet over but continues each day, until the day "liberation" fulfills the pleas of all South Africans.

After Mandela was released from prison last year he toured the United States pleading for sanctions on the South African government to help end apartheid. He stressed to American audiences the need for liberation of all South Africans, similar to the message resonating in Sarafina!.

However, Americans seem to have forgotten about Mandela and his message. Will the message of Sarafina! stay with us? Will we remember it as more than spectacular song and dance?

FYMCI

Mohawk Nation Speak-Out

A speak-out on the "Canadian Military Invasion of the Mohawk Community" in Oka, Quebec, is scheduled to be held Tuesday, Dec. 7 at 7 p.m. in the Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall at Hampshire College. The speak-out is sponsored by the Canada Panel Discussion and Video Presentation.

Socialism In Cuba Today

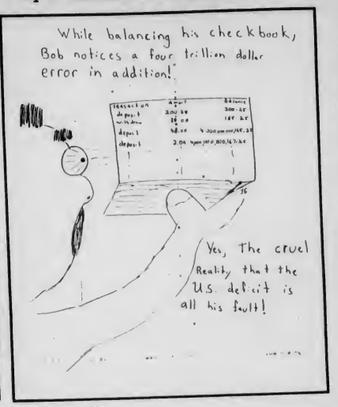
An eyewitness account and slide show of "Socialism in Cuba Today" will be given by Maggie Pucci, a striker at Eastern Airlines, member of IAM Local 1726 and member of the Young Socialist Alliance. The presentation will be given on Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 7:00 p.m. UMass Campus Center 803.

Asian American Students' Association Elections

Elections for the spring semester will be held Thursday, Dec. 6 at at 7:30 p.m. UMass Campus Center. Check the room listing. Three offices are vacant. All members are encouraged to vote.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



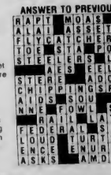
While balancing his checkbook, Bob notices a four trillion dollar error in addition!
Yes, The cruel Reality that the U.S. deficit is all his fault!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

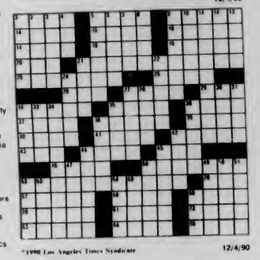
ACROSS
1 First four of 26
5 Innocent one
9 Abstain
14 Toothiest item
15 Sheltered, to a sailor
16 Close, to Frost
17 See 5 Across
18 Arm bone
19 Hippo's cousin
20 Wildlife Fed.'s concern
21 Cap and gown occasions
23 Prometheus Unbound poet
25 Master, in Bonn
26 Attila, for one
27 Rake's glance
29 Piper's son
32 Act smugly
35 Circle dance
36 Satisfy
37 Heaters
38 Protect
39 Sponsorship
40 Actor Alan
41 ABA members
42 Fourth estate
43 Red Army leader
44 Protein-rich vegetables
45 Minor insult
46 — avis
48 Gridiron pass option
52 Curtain raiser
56 Land of Liberty Abbr.
57 Poe's bird
1 Rush of wind
North Carolina college
60 Languid
61 "Bus Stop" author
62 A Kelly
63 Money-makers
64 Observed
65 Miners' finds

DOWN
1 French clerics
2 Impetuous
3 Television Meline
4 Ike
5 Rogers's Betty
6 Relieve
7 Repair
8 — Brummel
9 Heavier
10 Exhilarated
11 Cub's output
12 Increase
13 Famous Bruin and family
21 Oversupply
22 In the lead
24 Capital of Tibet
27 Prepares to fire
28 Drops a fly
30 Elevator inventor
31 Oil metal
32 Metric weight
33 Vamp of song
34 Casino option
35 Island dance
36 Durable material
38 Ray
42 Sympathy
44 Gallery offerings
45 Actor McGavin
47 On the qui vive
48 Sizable
49 Leader
50 United
51 Byways
52 Proper
53 Indian title
54 Wading bird
55 Number at Fenway
59 Vanity source

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:



12/4/90



"1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 12/4/90

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

MR. PRESIDENT, COULD YOU TELL US SPECIFICALLY WHICH CAMPAIGN PROMISES YOU HAVE LIP-SYNCHED?
WELL, ALL THE ONES I HAD TO RENEGE ON...!
THAT'S WHY I CAN'T REALLY BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR THEM. THE TAX THING, THE ENVIRONMENT THING, THE EDUCATION THING – THEY WEREN'T REALLY MY POSITIONS TO BEGIN WITH!
WHOSE WERE THEY, SIR?
WELL, I CAN'T PROVE IT, OF COURSE, BUT I'M PRETTY SURE THE CULPRIT WAS MY EVIL TWIN, SKIPPY.
OF COURSE IT WAS.
I ALWAYS USED TO BLAME MY BROTHER FOR STUFF, TOO...
IT WAS HIM! IT – WAS!

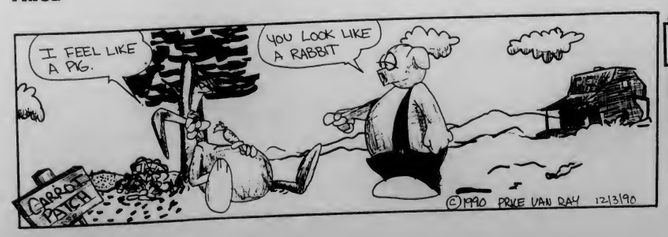
CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

WHEN I GROW UP, I'M GOING TO BE PHENOMENALLY RICH! I'M GOING TO BE THE RICHEST MAN ALIVE!
BUT I WON'T LET WEALTH CHANGE ME!
RATS. THAT WAS OUR LAST HOPE.
YOU'RE GOING TO BE PRETTY LONELY IN THE NURSING HOME.
MAYBE THEN I CAN FINISH THIS BOOK.

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

Dial-a-Pat-Down, How can we help you?
Well, I have a special request.
You see, my regularly abusive roommate has run off to the football team, and I'm feeling sort of... lost.
COLLEGIAN MANUFACTURES DUST MARKET FOR COLLEGE SALES TODAY, INC.-D
-so I'm looking for a sort of general statement about my life-- nothing too fancy.
I'll check the files.
How's this: You suck, Guacamole brain.
Great! Now, tell me about how I'm going to drop out and become a truck driver.

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Hot Pastrami Chicken Burrito	Shells in Cheese Sauce Savory Beef Strudel
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Garden Sandwich Chicken Burrito	Shells in Cheese Sauce Tomato, Cauliflower Casserole

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Pace yourself and your productivity will rise. Learn to delegate more responsibility. Plunge into artistic ventures. Romance blossoms in an exotic setting. Couples who share secrets stay together.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Postpone business trips. Partner is congenial when past differences are forgotten. Your patience serves you well. Recycle old projects to reap new profits. Perfect your communication skills.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Begin work on a project that could bring big financial gains. A minor domestic adjustment will benefit everyone involved. Let loved ones know how much their support means to you.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Investigate carefully before making a commitment. A sales or publicity campaign must be targeted correctly. Settling a debt will pay off in the long run. Show that special someone how much you care.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Share your long-range goals with your allies; they will help you. Contact overseas clients. A candid chat hits home. Stick to your budget. A teenager's decision delights you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Become an efficiency expert! Clear away the clutter at work and home. Revising the family budget will reduce stress. Finish old projects before starting new ones. Pick up the tempo in romance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Be a go-getter and blaze a new trail on the career front! Improve your high-tech skills. Begin a diet with your doctor's blessing. Work out at a sport you really enjoy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Everything looks smooth on the surface! Avoid taking foolish risks. Handle your finances with care. If unattached, get in touch with old college chums. Do more socializing!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Let your keen imagination run rampant! Exploring new areas could lead to a second career. Give your values precedence over your desires. Love blossoms.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Cast aside get-rich-quick schemes proposed by friends. Quiet reflection aids your thinking. People at a distance are a boon to business. Marital ties deepen.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): A "lost cause" could turn into a triumph. Teamwork increases productivity and boosts profits. Higher-ups are impressed by your leadership. Mate understands your career must come first now.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Complete projects already under way. Someone shows new interest in what occurs behind closed doors. Be sure you know how things really stand between you and loved ones.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor.....Kendra Pratt
Layout Technician.....Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician.....Toni Sandys
Production Supervisor.....Nicole Dumas
Typesetter.....Joanne Quimby
Production.....Bill Connor, Meg Trudell, Jody "The Tool" Trotman

Ski Killington

Intercollegiate Ski Fest

$269 SKI FEST PACKAGE

PER PERSON 3 OR MORE PER UNIT
DBL. OCC. RATE: $289 PER PERSON
DEC. 16 - 21, 1990
JAN. 1 - 6, 8 - 11, 13 - 18, 1991

Includes:
▲ 5 days skiing
▲ 5 nights ski-home accommodations in Killington Village
▲ Daily on-mountain competions
▲ Awards parties with great prizes
▲ Apres-ski and nighttime parties
▲ Ski racing clinics
▲ Vermont tax

THE VILLAGES AT KILLINGTON

Lower rates for groups of 20 or more. For information and brochure call:

1-800-343-0762

Killington Rd., Killington, VT 05751 (802) 422-3101

MAGIC LANTERN LADIES ONLY

All Male Review

Wed Night: Dec 5th
8pm-12am

FEATURING
The Dance Group

'BAD BOYS FROM BOSTON'

Starring:
★Tony the Tiger
★Adonis
★Atilla
★Nicko

•Students with college I.D. FREE ADMISSION
•Refreshments will be served
•Each lady will receive a gift

CALL FOR RESERVATIONS
283-9275
Take Rt 9 to Belchertown to Rt 181 to Rt 20 West-Palmer, MA

Moving Off-Campus?

Check out

CLIFFSIDE APARTMENTS

Affordable, Quiet & Convenient
1 & 2 Bedrooms from $400/month
ALL UTILITIES INCLUDED
5 miles to UMASS
On Sunderland Bus Route
Pool, Tennis & More
Furnished Apartments also available

Ask about our free rent special

248 Amherst Rd (Rt 116) Sunderland 665-3958

LANGUAGE OF MASSACHUSETTS

English as a Second Language
Intensive Day Classes
Part Time Eve. Classes
TOEFL Preparation
Classes begin 1/21/91
Registration 12/3-1/14/91
Amherst Creamery Bldg.
150 Pearing St. Ste. 29
549-5065

OOPS!

Now's the time to call...

North Amherst Motors

78 South Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880

Expert Repairs and Reconditioning

Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

REMEMBER

Overnight Parking Snow Policy goes into effect

DECEMBER 1

Where you CANNOT park between 1 am & 7 am during snow season

Lot 25 (South of roadway to E lot)
Lot 26 (except by special permit only)
Lot 31
Lot 32 (east of Lincoln Ave only)
Lot 33
Lot 34
Lot 40
Lot 45
Lot 62
Lot 63
Lot 64
Lot 65
Lot 66
Lot 71
Any campus roadway (INCLUDING Southwest horseshoe)
Any parking meter

These lots have been marked with AMBER PLASTIC FLASHING LIGHTS. Overnight parking will be allowed unless measurable snowfal is predicted and the AMBER LIGHTS are FLASHING. This change is on an experimental basis. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Campus Parking 545-0065

PROTECT YOUR EYES

NEW DISPOSABLE DAILY WEAR CONTACT LENSES

Free starter solutions and trial pair for first time wearers of these lenses at dispensing.

examination and other professional service fees are not included in this free trial pair offer.

University Health Services EYE CARE PROGRAM

Convenient hours and convenient on-campus location.
For appointments or questions call 549-2671

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trips from NY starting at

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R.	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT! Free student travel catalogue

Council Travel

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN.®

1 or as directed. Contains caffeine equivalent of two cups of coffee. © 1990 SmithKline Beecham

■ fencing club

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

their versatility as they bolstered the ranks of the epee team adding 5 victories to the overall epee team score of 15-12.

The UMass team completes its fall season with a quad meet this Saturday afternoon in the Student Union Ballroom.

UMass results

UMass vs. Trinity College

Women's foil — Sarah A. Tisdale (capt.'91) 4-0. Caitlin Higgins ('91) 4-0. Wendy Eichenbaum ('92) 0-3. Salena Mahr ('93) 1-2. Beth Streeter ('93) 0-1. Liz Twarog ('92) 0-1.

Men's foil — Chip Lincoln (capt. '91) 2-1. Jack Carson ('91) 0-3. Andrew Hill ('92) 1-2.

Epee — Jim Silva (capt. '90) 3-0. Joe Driscoll ('93) 2-1. Lincoln 1-1. Tisdale 0-1.

Men's sabre — Edward R. Roaf (capt. '91) 2-0. Craig Andrew ('91) 3-0. Tom Fernandes ('91) 3-0. Andrew O'Brien ('92) 0-1.

UMass vs. Boston University

Women's foil — Tisdale 3-1. Higgins 3-1. Eichenbaum 1-1. Mahr 0-2. Twarog 0-2. Streeter 0-2.

Men's foil — Lincoln 1-2. Carson 0-3. Hill 1-2.

Epee — Silva 1-2. Driscoll 1-2. Lincoln 1-1. Tisdale 1-0.

Men's sabre — Roaf 1-1. Fernandes 2-1. Andrew 1-2. O'Brien 0-1.

UMass vs. Fairfield University

Women's foil — Tisdale 4-0. Higgins 4-0. Eichenbaum 2-0. Streeter 0-2. Twarog 0-2. Mahr 2-0.

Men's foil — Lincoln 3-0. Hill 1-2. Carson 0-3.

Epee — Silva 0-3. Driscoll 3-0. Lincoln 1-1. Tisdale 1-0.

Men's sabre — Roaf 1-0. Andrew 1-2. Fernandes 2-1. O'Brien 1-1.

■ men's hoop

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Manor was UNH's top scorer last year at 13.3 points per game, including a 27-point career-high effort against BC. Theilen, from Wayland, is a good outside shooter and has led the Wildcats in rebounding for the last three years.

Last year, McCoy scored 31 points in a 76-53 win at the Cage. McCoy was 8-13 from the field and 15-16 from the free-throw line. Manor led UNH with 15 points and 10 rebounds.

Game notes: The game will be broadcast on WMUA 91.1 FM and on WHMP 99.3 FM.

MacLeod named to marshall NY Knicks

NEW YORK (AP) — The struggling New York Knicks fired coach Stu Jackson today and replaced him with former Phoenix and Dallas coach John MacLeod.

"This decision was made in the best interest of the New york Knickerbockers," vice president and general manager Al Bianchi said. "At this point in time, we felt a change was needed to improve the performance of the team. John MacLeod is a proven winner. His outstanding record speaks for itself."

Bianchi and MacLeod have a long relationship in basketball. the Knicks' GM served as MacLeod's assistant coach for 11 seasons at Phoenix and then tried to hire him as the Knicks coach in 1987. MacLeod had already committed to Dallas and New York hired Rick Pitino instead.

After two seasons, Pitino left the knicks for the University of Kentucky and was replaced by Jackson, one of his assistant coaches.

The coaching change brought with it a change in playing styles from Pitino's running game to a halfcourt concept under Jackson.

The Knicks finished third in the Atlantic Division last season with a 45-37 record and upset the Boston Celtics in the first round of the playoffs before being eliminated by the Chicago Bulls. But they were off to a slow start this year with a 7-8 record, including five losses in their last six games.

Throughout the recent losing streak, when rumors about Jackson's security surfaced, Bianchi endorsed the coach. "He's doing just fine," the GM said. But he and the team were not doing well, especially at home. Saturday's 113-96 victory over Charlotte was just the third in eight home games for New York this season and ended a three-game home court losing streak.

MacLeod, 53, ranks fifth among active NBA coaches with 675 victories. Terms of his contract were not disclosed.

He coached 14 seasons with Phoenix and after two years at Dallas he was fired just over a year ago, 11 games into his third season with the Mavericks.

AP photo

General Manager Al Bianchi (at left) welcomes new head coach John MacLeod to the New York Knicks yesterday at a press conference in Purchase, N.Y. MacLeod has coached NBA teams at Phoenix and Dallas.

AMHERST CINEMA

Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun 7:00 and 9:15

VALLEY TRANSPORTER — Midweek and Weekend Shuttle to New England Ski areas!

SKIERS!

Drop By Campus Travel

To fill out a questionaire

for $5 discount at Mount Snow

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-5:30 FRI 8:30-5:00 • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

25 - CLUB Business meeting Tuesday 12/4, 7pm, Campus Center 901 Potluck Thursday, 12/6, 7pm Pierpont Call randy 546-2183

UMASS CHESS CLUB 7:10PM in the Bluewall All are welcome

UMASS TRIATHLON CLUB final meeting of semester, Tuesday, Dec 4 at 8:30 in Boyden 249 Construction and spring plans to discussed All are welcome 6-3324 for info

UPC MEETING this Tuesday and every Tuesday at 6:30 Check showcase outside Coffee Shop for details Call 545-2892 All welcome!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

OCHO needs fair housing researchers for discrimination project Be part of the solution! Call 545-0865 or SUB 428

PVOC OIL COOP Purchase home heating oil at reduced cost per gallon COD or automatic delivery register at OCHO or call 545-0865 for more information

SPECTRUM RECEPTION Dec 5, rm 430 FAC, 5-7PM Submissions drop-off, questions answered, back issues available All welcome!

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold! Feb 14th

AUDIO/STEREO/VIDEO

USED Stereo Components/ VCR s/ Color TV s We buy sell and trade Quality guaranteed, great prices/ Call anytime for detailed list 256-0941

AUTO FOR SALE

1981 RABBIT DIESEL, 4dr., std., clean, 75K on 2nd motor, radio/cassette $600 665-2943

1982 DODGE ARIES Body in good condition $1000 or best offer Call 549-4290

1983 THUNDERBIRD Heritage Edition loaded. Excellent Condition 5.0EFI $2700 256-8251 Dolan

1985 NISSAN 200SX Turbo 84K New tires, distributor, brakes, radiator, & exhaust system $3900 or B.O. Marc 665-2831

1987 FORD ESCORT, 74K, Four Door, AC, Auto, AM/FM, New Tires, Excellent Condition. $2900/bo Call 586-3727

1988 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles Excellent Condition 1 owner AM FM Cassette Stereo Recent complete tune up $6300 00 or best offer Call Bruce at 256-1215

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 OR 2 PEOPLE for bedroom in house across from Townehouse $144 + per person Call Melissa 549-6083 start Jan 1st

3 ROOMS in 5 bedroom house (1 available Jan , 2 available Feb) 21 + $225 549-6792

BEAUTIFUL TWO BEDROOM Apartment, half mile to campus! 549-5914

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor Take over lease Jan 1 760 a month

DOUBLE RM FOR RENT—on bus line South Amherst large 20 x 12 ft carpeted room No lease, no security deposit, Jan-May $185/mo /person Call 256-1118

GREAT SINGLE in Townhouse Apt in Amherst Available for next semester On bus route, has wall to wall carpeting Mint condition Call Lisa at 549-7581

I NEED YOU ...to take over lease Single room in Amherst Apt Bus line 250/mo utilities incl Call Chris 253-9708

MILL VALLEY 1 bedroom in 4 bedroom Townhouse Free heat/water Responsible non-smoking M/F Available Feb 1 256-1202 $275

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT One bedroom with spacious living room Wood floors $560

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two bdr apt in Colonial Village starting Jan 1 Leave message 253-3432 First month rent free

SINGLE, PUFTON, females Call 549-2781

SINGLE ROOM in four bedroom on bus route at Swiss Village $250 a month utilities included Call 253-0612

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352

TWO BEDROOMS available for spring starting Jan 1. Old farm house directly across the UMass Horsebarn. Great housemates. One room can be double. Call now 275 & 250 549-8117

FOR SALE

BEGINNERS SKI PACKAGE $100 Dense 546-6432

CLOSEOUT SALE: Sweatshirts and sweatpants. Jerzees, Lee, Russell, and more. Assorted colors. Look for my table Wednesday at CC Concourse. Mention this ad for $2 off

COMIC BOOKS 4 sale cheap Call Paul 253-5066

JUDAS PRIEST Fri Centrum Call Lane 508-827-4555

' FUTONS '
' MANY STYLES OF FRAMES '
' AND MATTRESSES TO '
' CHOOSE FROM '
' RESERVE NOW FOR DELIVERY TO '
' YOUR DORM, HOUSE OR APARTMENT '
' NEXT SEMESTER '
' ONLY $10 DOWN '
' METAWAMPE FURNITURE '
' 256-0646 '

T-SHIRTS, JACKETS, SWEATS, intramural uniforms, hats and more. Low prices and good quality. Call Brian, 546-4899

VARIOUS SKI'S for sale. Rossi's and Atomic $100-125 bindings inc. 549-5985

HELP WANTED

THE COLLEGIAN is seeking a responsible sophmore or junior Business Major to fill the position of Subscriptions Manager for the spring semester. All encouraged to apply. Applications available at 113 Campus Center. Apply no later than 12/7

IF YOU ARE dedicated, motivated, and interested in sales, the Collegian has got a job for you! Advertising Account Executive applications are now being accepted for positions available next semester. Pick up an application at the Collegian Office at 113 Campus Center. The deadline is Tues. Dec. 4, 1990. Call for more info at 545-3500

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283

AMUSEMENT PARKS, Holiday, resorts, Disneyland & Itaga, are hiring! Great fun and get paid too! Reserve position by calling 1-805-682-7555 ExtK-1370

ASSEMBLERS: Excellent income to assemble products from your home. 504-646-1700 dept. P1307

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext B281

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach-it

STUDENTS: Make $200 daily doing construction work part time. Write: Dennis Rahe, Post Box 329, Gilsum, N.H. 03448

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING 2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool 2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language Classes begin January 21, 1991 Intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica, 549-5065

NEW BUSINESS ON CAMPUS Great income during school & summer "Free one hour seminar" Tuesday, Dec 4 CC177 For info 8-2634

LIVE IN PUFFTON

PAY NO SECURITY OR DEPOSIT. Male or female $188 a month. So get out of the dorms or your parent's basement! Call 549-1561

LOST

MAROON WALLET has important documents. If found call 546-0421

PERSONALS

A
You're welcome
Thanx
Who are you?
Louie D

DAVE, is this the big week or what? continued tomorrow

DEREK KEARLY is a lethal stud and should be registered with the police!
Happy Birthday Stud!
Love Heather and Bethany

HEY SIGMA KAPPA PLEDGES- You guys are doing great!! Only a few more days

JONATHAN PETER
You're awesome!!
The cute sleeper

RUSS'S BOY
Since this isn't your first season, does this mean you're experienced? I hope so!
Kai

SCOTT M
The last 117 days have been the happiest days of my life. Thank you for being you! Our love is a love to last until the end of time. Love, Your Petite Fleur(Steph)

' STANIEL '
THAT MEANS YOU GAJDA BOY
Just wanted everyone to know how crazy I am about you. You have always been by my side through good and bad. I love your Chipmunk face and your butterfly kisses. You're more than my boyfriend, you're my best friend and there is no one. I'd rather be with 1-4-3 Becky

TO THE WOMAN who put flowers by my door, thanx. But, I'm clueless. Let me know. Colin

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
'subs' 'salads' 'spaghetti'
Fall Special
small cheese $3.50
large cheese $5.99
2 additional toppings only $1 more
!must mention this ad!
549-6098 549-6073

ROOMMATES WANTED

DO YOU or you and a friend need a place to live next semester. I need someone to take over my part of the lease. The Brook, starting Jan 1. call and leave a message 253-9674

ONE OR TWO ROOMMATES for the Brook. One $230, two $131 each utilities not included 253-5065

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. $185 Jan sublet option 253-0409

ROOM FOR RENT IN PUFFTON Apt. for January. 211.50 & utilities. 549-5303 or 546-1577 A.S.A.P.

SINGLE ROOM in large house bordering campus $300 549-5985

WANTED: Female roommate to share a room Amity Place beginning 1/1 549-5318

WOMAN WANTED 3 bedroom apt Center Amherst 260/mo Call 253-0617

WALK TO CAMPUS or Town from Triangle St. $157 + Call 549-8258

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010

SUBLET

AMHERST CENTER
Room to sublet in January
Call 549-9377

HELP!
Looking to sublet 2 bdrm apt for winter session. Rent neg
Call Hillary 546-3814

ROOM OPEN for winter session $185
Suzanne 9-2922

ROOM TO SUBLET in January. Very big room. Dishwasher, washer, dryer, TV, furniture. On bus route. Call Ahmed 253-5837

SUBLET FOR WINTER one room in Presidential Apts. Call 549-0035

ROOM TO SUBLET in a great house. Three minute walk to town, five minute walk to campus. On bus route. Call 549-6508

TRAVEL

CHRISTMAS, SPRING BREAK, SUMMER TRAVEL FREE. Air couriers needed and cruiseship jobs. Call 1-805-682-7555 ext F-1426

ONE-WAY TICKET TO CALIFORNIA. Dec 20, $150. 253-5844

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30! TRAVEL WITH THE BEST! 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers. Affordable, dependable. Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924

TYPING

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORDPROCESSING 323-4579

TYPING $1.50/page 545-0913 Anne

WORDPROCESSING Papers etc. Reasonable rates, fast efficient service. Call Janet 253-3278 leave message

WORDPROCESSING inexpensive, quick and accurate, campus pickup & delivery. Call Lisa 256-6695

WORDPROCESSING REPORTS. Resumes. Theses. Graphics. Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & util 549-4195

WANTED TO RENT

LOOKING TO TAKE OVER your 2 bdrm lease in Jan. Call Pam/Jacqui 253-9776

SPORTS

Ambrose, Johnson qualify for ECACs

By DAN WETZEL
Collegian Staff

On Saturday, the University of Massachusetts women's indoor track team opened its season at the Brown Invitational, lead by some fine performances. According to head coach Julie LaFreniere, UMass did well in this non-scoring meet.

UMass runner Lee Ann Ambrose qualified for the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference championship meet in the 500-meter run. Ambrose not only won the race in a time of 74.35 seconds, but she destroyed the school record of 0:76.26. Ambrose also holds UMass records in the 200- and 400-meter races.

"Lee Ann ran so well," LaFreniere said. "It is difficult to qualify for the ECACs and she did it in the first meet. As for the record, she simply smashed it.

Another UMass runner who qualified for the ECACs was Becky Johnson. Johnson finished second in the 1,000 with a time of 2:55.5. She finished only three seconds shy of her own school record.

"It was not a bad way for Becky to open the season," LaFreniere said. "She was just edged out at the finish line [by Kelly Savage of Connecticut] or she would have won."

Another stand-out, according to LaFreniere, was Lennice Johnson, who just missed qualifying in the 500 by four tenths of a second. Johnson finished in 0:77.8.

Kelly Liljeblad also ran well for UMass by winning the mile in a personal best time of 5:04.4. Teamates Cathy Crocker and Mo Meldrim tied for third in the race.

Liljeblad and Crocker later returned to team up with Ambrose and Becky Johnson in the 4 x 800-meter. The foursome won the race in a time of 9:30.5.

Ambrose also lead UMass in the 55, finishing fourth overall in a time of 0:7.27. Also running in the race were a freshman trio of Tana Henderson (0:7.71), Oona Quirk (0:7.72) and Wendy Gillette (0:7.73).

According to assistant coach Jim Giroux, Gillette also long jumped 16 feet, 1 inch. In other field events Samone Marissua threw 38-8 in the shot and Diane Ozzolek threw 38-5 in the 20-pound weight. Sue MacFayden scored 2,304 points in the pentathalon.

The team will next compete this Saturday at the Harvard Invitational.

Men's hoop faces UNH Wildcats

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Before opening a three-game stand in the Cage Thursday against Lowell, the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team will get a third chance to settle into its 1990-91 season tonight at New Hampshire. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

The Minutemen (1-1) drilled St. Joseph's 83-60 in Philadelphia over the weekend, shooting 54 percent from the field. With less than nine minutes to play, UMass lead by 29.

Though the win was a major leap in the right direction for the Minutemen following a rough preseason and an opening-game loss at Purdue, there are still a couple kinks to work out. After tonight's non-conference matchup, Atlantic 10 dates with George Washington and Rutgers loom next week.

Coach John Calipari's starting lineup is up in the air as Jim McCoy and Harper Williams continue to recover from preseason injuries.

Saturday Calipari sat McCoy, a 20 points-per-game scorer and All-Atlantic 10 pick last season, for the entire first half. McCoy missed most of the preseason with a virus and had struggled at Purdue and in the Marathon Oil scrimmage.

Rafer Giles started in his place, and the arrangement worked well. Giles scored 18 points, 13 in the first half. McCoy entered the game for the first time in the early moments of the second half and scored 15 points in 15 minutes.

John Tate started for Williams, who sprained a knee in practice before Purdue. Tate scored 8 points and hauled in 6 rebounds, while Williams came off the bench for 10 points and 9 rebounds in 24 minutes.

One constant in both games was forward William Herndon, who leads the team at 15 points per game and has hit 12-of-14 shots taken (86 percent.)

New Hampshire, meanwhile, has lost its first three games, two to Big East foes. The Wildcats took Boston College to overtime before falling 68-58, and were shellled by Providence Saturday, 103-70. UNH lost to Virginia Commonwealth in its season opener.

The Wildcats went 5-23 last season, coach Jim Boylan's first, after taking over the program from longtime coach Gerry Friel. Though four seniors graduated from that team, Boylan, a former Michigan State assistant, has brought in several freshmen that are expected to help immediately.

Collegian file photo

The Minutemen prepare for this season's Atlantic 10 competition by facing up against New Hampshire tonight in Durham, N.H.

Guard Tommy MacDonald (8.7 points per game, 4.7 rebounds) and 6-foot-9 forward Matt Neimeir start. Forwards Doug Lang and Shaft Lewis have also seen playing time.

Boylan also inherited last year's North Atlantic Conference Rookie-of-the-Year Pat Manor and 6-foot-6 senior forward Eric Theilen.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Men's swimming steps up to face Brown

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team will travel to Providence, R.I., tomorrow to face Brown in their toughest test yet this season.

The Minutemen (2-0), have not been challenged in their first two wins, but expect stiff competition. Brown (1-2), competes in the Ivy League, a league which is considered the best in the country, according to UMass coach Russ Yarworth.

"To face Brown, its a step up for us," Yarworth said.

"Last year they gave us a real good fight."

UMass won by 30 points, the closest margin of last year's undefeated season.

Yarworth said he will use the same lineup that crushed Boston College, with a few minor changes. Tri-captain Jim Robertson returns from battling pneumonia and a scratched cornea. Yarworth said his return creates some flexibility.

Brown freshman Ben McBride may create problems for UMass. He'll compete in the 1,000-, 500-, and 200-yard freestyles, and will be tough to beat, according to Yarworth.

Collegian file photo

Coach Russ Yarworth and the men's swimming team step up to the challenge of Ivy League competitor Brown. Although Brown holds a 1-2 record, Yarworth said this should prove to be a tough meet.

To counter, Yarworth will send sophomore Scott Reed in the 1,000 freestyle and Chris Barrett in the 200. He said he is undecided on who will compete in the 500.

"Hopefully, Reedy can tire [McBride], in the 1,000, and Barrett will take him in the 200," Yarworth said. The two events occur back-to-back.

Other top swimmers for Brown are Jeremy Legg (individual medley) and Jeff Stride.

Stride shaved recently and produced his best times in the 100 freestyle and individual medley, according to Yarworth. This has stirred up a little controversy since Yarworth and Brown coach Ed Reed had a 'no shave' verbal agreement.

Swimmers usually only shave their bodies once a season, which puts them at peak performance. Yarworth prefers his swimmers shave only at the end of the season.

"[Stride] is not faster than our better swimmers," Yarworth said. "We beat teams that shaved before, we'll do it again." Yarworth declined to comment on Reed's decision to break their verbal agreement, however, he did concede that himself and Reed are good friends.

Scott Reed is especially excited to face his father, Ed Reed. "Make Dad sad," is his motto, Yarworth said.

Yarworth is giving his swimmers more time to rest before this meet, something he didn't do before the team's lackluster performance against Springfield last weekend.

"Everyone is going to be pumped up for Brown," sophomore Steve Jungbluth said. "They're the only Ivy League school we face."

Jungbluth (individual medley), said he thinks the extra rest will enhance performances.

"Right now, we're relaxing and focusing on maximum productivity," Yarworth said. "They've put in all the hard work necessary, they'll just have to be mentally prepared."

Fencers 2nd to Fairfield

Compiled by Collegian Correspondents

With a surprisingly strong finish, the University of Massachusetts fencing team placed second at its opening meet Saturday hosted by Fairfield University. UMass, Trinity College, Boston University and Fairfield fielded the teams for the quad meet.

The UMass team was edged out of first place by an exceptional BU squad. UMass fencing coach Paul Filios expressed a great deal of optimism after his team's unexpectedly strong showings.

"This is a building semester for the team," he said. "We started out hoping to place respectably in this meet and wound up in a tough fight for first place."

He continued, saying he was especially pleased with the performance of the many novice fencers who helped to fill the ranks of the team this year.

According to Filios, two novices who did especially well were senior Tom Fernandes (sabre) and sophomore Salena Mahr (foil). Fernandes' performance peaked with a 5-0 bout victory over Fairfield's sabre captain Andrew Martini. Fernandes finished the day with a 7-2 record. Although Mahr went 3-4 for the day, she showed great style and promise for future meets, according to Filios.

"Once these novices really get their feet wet, UMass will be fielding a potential championship team," Filios said.

The experience of the teams' veterans helped the men's sabre, epee and women's foil squads clentch two of three possible victories, apiece. Captains Edward R. Roaf II (sabre), Jim Silva (epee), Chip Lincoln III (foil) and Sarah A. Tisdale (foil) all finished with winning records. Lincoln and Tisdale proved

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

WEATHER
Protect yourself from a chapped bun from the scattered flurries. Temps in the 30s.

ARTS
Read about Laura Marie Duncan's "sweet" performance in Sweet Charity. Page 15.

SPORTS
The Minutewoman basketball team will host Boston University at the Cage. Page 16.

WEDNESDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY DECEMBER 5, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME IC THE LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 62

'No Grinch Rally' protests further cuts

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

Some 500 people, including representatives of the University of Massachusetts' five unions, gathered in the Student Union Ballroom yesterday for the "No Grinch Rally," to protest further budget and program cuts.

The rally comes one day after President-Chancellor Duffey announced that he would not pursue post-Christamas furloughs, but that permanent cuts would be made instead.

"We planned on storming Whitmore, but the King [Duffey] is in Boston paying homage to someone," said moderator John Bracey from the Afro-American studies department.

"I think if we had not gotten a backing up on the furlough question, I think that the possibility of some kind of action against Whitmore was very real," Bracey said. "That was not a bluff; we're not in the business of bluffing."

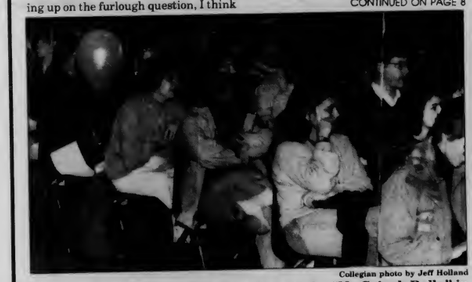
One speaker termed the situation at the University "mass confusion" as did other speakers who took the microphone with the message of no more budget and program cuts.

"It seems the administration has found 100 ways to pick the pockets of employees and I'm sick of it," said David Mitchell, spokesperson of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

"Its time to show some solidarity and fight back. Pressure from the unions has forced Duffey to pull back furloughs; we must keep the pressure on," he added.

Rence Heberle, spokesperson of the

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8



Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

Students listen attentively to speakers at the "No Grinch Rally" in the Student Union Ballroom yesterday.

Escort officer removed

Hilson reassigns officer charged with rape

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Director of Public Safety Arthur Hilson said yesterday that he has reassigned an Escort Service officer after it was learned the officer faces rape charges and had been previously convicted of that crime.

Hilson said the security officer, who was later identified as Michael Rucks, was reassigned Monday to security details that remove him from contact with the public.

A two-year veteran of Public Safety, Rucks was charged with rape in a alleged incident which occurred last month in Springfield, Hilson said. The victim has no connection with the University, he said.

Rucks, who has worked at the University for 11 years in different jobs, requested and was granted a transfer to Public Safety two years ago in accordance with union guidelines.

"He appeared to have an outstanding record of employment [within the University] and when a position was open he applied and was assigned as any other member of a union bargaining unit would," Hilson said.

Hilson said all potential employees of Public Safety are investigated for a past criminal history. He said Rusks' conviction was not known to him.

Rucks had noted on his application 10 years ago that he had been convicted of a felony in 1979, Hilson said. Rusks may have served two months in jail, he said.

"We usually conduct an investigation but this was a transfer from within the University," he said. "I don't know why this record was not brought to our attention."

Hilson said all hiring procedures are being reviewed as well as the records of current employees as a result of this incident. He said the removal of an employee under his supervision stemming from a criminal matter is the first since he became director in 1985.

Hilson said he did not believe Rucks should have been hired in retrospect, but did note that the officer "has been without a doubt probably one of our better performers in the Escort Service."

Rucks' duties included parking enforcement, building security, traffic control, the Escort Service and other duties reserved for Public Safety officers. These officers are not part of the University Police Department, which also operates out of the Department of Public Safety.

Hilson said Rucks will likely be reassigned to building security.

A pretrial conference is scheduled for Rusks in February in Hampden County District Court, he said.

University spokeswoman Karin Sherbin said the University will investigate whether flaws exist in hiring procedures.

"Basically, it was a mistake, a problem we can't say anything about until we review the matter," she said. "Information that should have been available was not and we are trying to piece together why not."

Carol Wallace, director of the Everywomen's Center, noted that improper background checks have resulted in similar circumstances at other colleges. She said the incident did not surprise her but was "disappointing."

"The committment to creating a safe campus means careful background checks. I hope that this incident causes the University to be more thorough in the future," she said.

"Fortunately, it was not a crisis that caused the University to take notice," she said.

Collegian staff member Meredith O'Brien contributed to this report.

Bush doubts Saddam's understanding

Reiterates the exclusion of the Palestinian and Israeli issues

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — President Bush said yesterday he doubts that Iraq's Saddam Hussein has "gotten the message" of a United Nations resolution authorizing force unless he gets out of Kuwait by mid-January.

> "I've not been one whose been convinced that sanctions alone will bring (Saddam) him to his senses,"
>
> – President Bush

During a joint news conference appearance with Uruguayan President Luis Alberto Lacalle, Bush reiterated that he would not allow talks with the Iraqi leader and Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz to get into the Palestinian issue and Israeli occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Bush also said that "I don't agree with" former top-ranking U.S. military commanders who testified at congressional hearings that economic sanctions against Iraq should be given considerably more time to work.

"I've not been one whose been convinced that sanctions alone will bring him to his senses," Bush said, although he said, "they're having some effect."

"To me it was loud and clear," he said, "but I don't think Saddam Hussein yet understands that. And so the best hope for peace is for him to understand that all means necessary to fulfill these resolutions will be used against him. And I hope he understands that."

Bush announced last week that he was sending Secretary of State James A. Baker III to Baghdad to meet with Saddam, sometime late this month or in early January, and that he would receive Aziz for talks at the White House.

But the president said these meetings would not constitute negotiations with Iraq's leaders, but would merely represent Bush's last-ditch political effort to get Saddam to withdraw Iraqi forces from Kuwait.

"I'm not in a negotiating mood or anything of that nature," he said yesterday.

In Washington, Senate Democrats have repeatedly urged Bush to stick with the economic embargo.

Collegian photo by Aaron Webster

IS THIS THE ANSWER TO THE BUDGET CUT PROBLEMS? — No, but the Lederle Graduate Research Center is for sale.

CHANUKAH ✡ GREETINGS

MAGIC LANTERN
LADIES ONLY
All Male Review
Wed Night: Dec 5th
8pm-12am
FEATURING
The Dance Group
'BAD BOYS FROM BOSTON'
Starring:
★Tony the Tiger
★Adonis
★Atilla
★Nicko
•Students with college I.D. FREE ADMISSION
•Refreshments will be served
•Each lady will receive a gift
CALL FOR RESERVATIONS
283-9275
Take Rt 9 to Belchertown to Rt 181 to Rt 20 West-Palmer, MA

Imbalance in tax rates leading to a deficit

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts pays some of the highest unemployment benefits in the nation, but assesses employers among the lowest tax rates to pay for them, according to state, labor business officials.

The experts said that imbalance is the reason the state's unemployment trust fund appears headed for a deficit next year.

"We definitely have the Cadillac of unemployment benefits programs here in Massachusetts," Melanie Arthur, spokeswoman for the Department of Employment and Training, told The Enterprise of Brockton. The DET is projecting the trust fund will be insolvent by March unless the employer tax is increased.

Gov.-elect William Weld has said he would oppose a hike in the tax rate.

Harold Hestness, a Weld adviser, said the governor-elect wants to change the insurance pool's distribution formula, which charges some industries more per employee than others.

Lt. Gov.-elect Paul Cellucci said Weld promise not to raise taxes during the campaign and planned to stick by his promises.

If the fund runs out of money, the federal government would force the state to borrow money from it to keep the fund solvent. That would eventually have to be repaid, however, and with interest.

DET figures place the average weekly unemployment benefits rate for Massachusetts in the previous fiscal year, the highest percentage of any state.

SKIERS!
Drop By
To fill out a questionaire
for $5 discount at
Mount Snow
Valley Transporter
Midweek and Weekend Shuttles to New England Ski Areas

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

YOU WON'T SEE THIS IN ANY D.C.

classé café
Breakfast
Scrambled Veggie & a Blueberry Muffin
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

The Program?
The Actuarial Student Program.
The Company?
Sun Financial Group.
The Possibilities?

Infinite. That's the one word that best describes the career possibilities at Sun Financial Group. Your entry into the dynamic and rewarding Actuarial field is Sun Financial Group's Actuarial Student Program. We'll provide you with generous study time, salary incentives and fee reimbursement as well as on-the-job experience that's second to none. Match this thoroughly supportive program with the solid reputation of our international financial services company, and there's no limit to your achievement!

If you're a Math student (or possess equivalent numbers-orientation) and have successfully completed one of the SOA exams, join the company that's infinitely better than the rest.

For more information, contact Barbara McNicholas, Sun Financial Group, Human Resources Department, 3 Sun Life Executive Park, Wellesley Hills, MA 02181; 617-237-6030. An equal opportunity employer.

Sign up at your Placement Center through December for our on-campus visit. We will be on campus February 6, 1991.

Sun Financial Group
Sun Life of Canada and affiliates

COME CLEAN WITH US!
Campus Coin Op
107 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.
SPEEDWASH
11 Pray St., Amherst
NOW OPEN 24 HOURS!
South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

THE PUB
fun. food & spirits
Tonight
Samuel Adams Lager
Samuel Adams Ale
$1.75
WAQY Live Broadcast
Free AMC Movie Passes
Our New Menu is IN!
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT·AMHERST

LOCAL

Collegian photo by Aaron Webster

BOXED IN — Apparently this sign was ignored, as boxes were dumped, creating a blockage.

Russian professor teaches and learns

By STEPHEN R. DAMIANI
Collegian Correspondent

While Alisa Serebrennikova may be helping UMass students master Russian, the associate professor from the Leningrad State Technical University said her students and colleagues are giving her a valuable understanding of American culture.

Serebrennikova is teaching practical conversational Russian to 20 students at the University, and she also plans to lead other informal courses during her three-month stay.

Speaking through her friend and colleague professor Joseph Lake, Serebrennikova explained that "the knowledge of Russian the students are now acquiring is more theoretical, rather than practical, in nature.

"It is basically preparatory work for what is to come. In a few weeks we will begin using video materials, such as Soviet TV programs, and other printed materials from the U.S.S.R., to aid in the learning process."

During the second part of her visit, Serebrennikova's students will also learn more about Russian cooking and folklore. These subjects will be dealt with on a more personal level, as the classroom will be moved into the homes of some of the faculty and students involved in the course.

Though the exchange program with the LTSU is three years old,

Serebrennikova's visit marks the first time a faculty member from Leningrad has taught courses at the University.

There are also two other firsts occurring in the program this academic year: eight University students are currently spending winter term in Leningrad, and this spring a group of Leningrad students will spend the semester here in Amherst.

Lake said he first met Serebrennikova three years ago when he traveled to Leningrad to sign the agreement that established the exchange program.

"While we were there, we saw immediately that she was an outstanding teacher of what most interested us: the Russian language," Lake said.

Leningrad University has more than 18,000 students, and Serebrennikova has been chairperson of the Russian department there for the past five years.

Though she held many stereotypes about America before she arrived, many of them were proven inaccurate after only a few weeks at the University.

"My idea was always that Americans were superrational people and of course that would be the wrong thing to say about Russians, because they are so romantic," she said. "What surprises me when I came here was that Americans have turned out to be very open and gentle. I like their [her students'] directness, openness and happy attitude. Also, the lifestyle is more peaceful and calm than I had expected. The stereotype is that everything is big and everyone is always rushing, but that is not true," she said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

GSS vote condemns Iraqi invasion

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

About 55 graduate students voted last night to accept a Graduate Student Senate motion that condemned Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and the United States military build-up in a meeting.

The voting process was preceded by an hour of vigorous debate by graduate students on both sides of the issue.

GSS President Pierre Laliberte introduced the motion and said that it was important for the Senate to debate an issue "which has been consistently publicly stifled."

'Students from our own body have been sent or are being called to go over," Laliberte said. "It is important that they hear the opinion of their peers before they leave."

Hussein Ibish, a graduate student, spoke vigorously against the resolution, describing it as "extremely ill-considered . . . there are not many of us schooled well enough in the history of the Middle East and the creation of its national boundaries to criticize the Iraqi invasion."

Tony Guglielmi, an economics graduate student, argued that "if we go to war with Iraq, we will have an economic collapse."

"The only way to alleviate our current economic paralysis," he explained, "is to increase free trade. Currently Europe is blocking our exports. But Europe depends on Middle Eastern oil . . . this is a plan developed years ago for U.S. Western interests. This is about restoring U.S. hegemony in the world through militarism."

"This is a question about world power, not oil," Guglielmi concluded.

The motion passed by the graduate students reads as follows:

"We, the graduate students of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, condemn Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and the ongoing U.S. military build-up in the Gulf. The number of U.S. troops currently deployed there is explicitly geared towards offensive action and is completely out of proportion to any threat Iraq poses to this country.

"We see no compelling reason to risk tens of thousands of American and Arab lives and therefore demand that the U.S. government bring home all the troops deployed in the Middle East before major armed conflict occurs."

Referring for a second motion that would form an ad hoc committee to work with the recently unionized Graduate Employee Organization, Laliberte explained "if this resolution represents the will of this body we can start organizing around this issue."

This motion was passed without debate.

Program may get funds

By ALI WOOLWICH
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns may soon become an office which is funded by and serves all the five colleges.

This comes as a result of recent meetings between Felice Yeskel, the coordinator of the PGLBC, student representatives and the Deans of Students from all five colleges.

"We are hoping to see something in place by the Fall 1991 semester," said Yeskel.

Ten to twelve representatives from all five colleges' Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual student groups reacted favorably to the proposal, and agreed to lobby their respective school administrations to approve the proposal, in a meeting held this past Sunday.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Teen-ager guilty of assault

NORTHAMPTON (AP) — A White Amherst teen-ager accused of knocking down a Black youth has been ordered to write a letter of apology, take a course in minority culture and perform 100 hours of community service.

The 16-year-old, whose name was not revealed because of the juvenile proceedings, was found guilty Monday by Judge Alvertus J. Morse in connection with one count of assault and one count of violating the black youth's civil rights, according to Frederic G. Bartmon, assistant district attorney.

The May incident on the Town Common prompted an outcry from high school students and sparked the revival of a town commission established to promote racial harmony.

The victim, Hanif Abdul-Hakim, 14, who suffered damage to knee ligaments, said after the verdict that he was interested in seeing the White youth gain some help in understanding racial tolerance.

"He needs to know there's no difference between us except the color of the skin," Abdul-Hakim said.

School Superintendent Guy Sayer declined to comment specifically on Morse's finding. But he said "I am sorry that these [incidents] take place, and I am sorry that punishment has to take place, but that can be a way of growing, too."

Town proposal tabled

Motion intended to help student candidates

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

An Amherst Select Board proposal to move back the filing deadlines for candidates for town-wide office and Town Meeting representatives, in an attempt to accomodate possible student candidates, has been tabled because of conflicts with the Secretary of State's office, according to Nancy Board, the board's secretary.

As the election calendar stands now, Board said, the filing deadline for town-wide offices, which include the Amherst School Committee and Select Board, will be during the first two weeks of January, and the filing deadline for Town Meeting seats will be "after the students get back."

She would not say exactly when the deadlines were, saying that they still need approval from the Secretary of State.

Judy Brooks, a member of Select Board, said at Monday night's meeting students who are interested in town-wide office should file before they leave for intersession.

"These are things you don't have to wait until January to do," she said. "We are not trying to disenfranchise students."

Ted Chambers, president of Commuter Area Government, said however, students need the time to decide whether or not to run for office, and they could not start preparing to campaign during finals.

"Students will not know whether they want to run or not until after they get back," Chambers said. "Students would have to start organizing during finals week . . . they're not going to have time."

Ric Rice, a member of the Select Board, said the proposed delay would reduce the time Town Meeting can meet from two weeks to one week, thus forcing them to hurry through important budget work. "The first concern is that

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

Students react to town's cry for more control

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

In the wake of complaints made Monday night by Amherst residents about students causing noise and destruction of property as a result of off-campus parties, some University of Massachusetts students said they felt that residents and police alike were unfair to them.

"We're always the scapegoat," freshman Tom Townsend said. "It sounds like it's another attempt to blame all the problems of the community on the students."

Among problems cited at the Select Board meeting was the apparent inability of police to enforce noise and alcohol statutes. But according to Andrew Davis, a junior who lives in Puffton Village, that complaint was not true.

"I got arrested under the open container law [a 1987 ordinance which banned drinking in public in the town of Amherst], so I think they are enforcing it fine," he said.

Recently, Davis said, the doorman at a party he held was arrested for charging money for alcohol, and several kegs were seized. After these experiences with the police, he said, "it's kind of hard to believe that they're powerless."

Shauna Kelly, a junior living in North Amherst, said the police, and not the University, are allowed to enforce the laws.

Kelly said it was impossible for the University to keep students from graduating because they violated the town's alcohol policies. "I don't think the University can hold back grades," she said.

Kelly also said a proposal by several residents, to make the landlords responsible for tenants' parties and fining them for tenants' violations of noise or alcohol statutes, is against students' rights.

"I wouldn't say the landlord has the right to monitor how many students are at their parties, unless that's in their lease," she said.

Another of the Amherst resident's suggestion, that bus service should be cut back on weekends to prevent students from walking home drunk, will not solve the problem of late night drinking, according to Commuter Area Government Vice President Susan Church.

"That will force students to drive drunk," she said. "It won't stop their drinking."

Kelly, who said she had lived in town over the summer, said she can understand the residents' frustration over the noise.

Collegian photo by Richard DuCree

AIN'T THIS A BEAUT? — A classic Ford automobile logo appears in front of another classic logo of the Gap.

program

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

It is likely that the administrations will favor funding the PGLBC, as it would prove less costly than instituting individual offices at each of the other four schools.

In a meeting held two weeks ago, although the Deans could not point to a specific date for when funding could be implemented, all the five Deans agreed that the proposal was a valuable idea that should be looked into further.

A written first draft of the proposal will be submitted to the students and Deans from the PGLBC on Friday. The initial bid is asking for $12,000 from the other four schools, as well as from Five College Incorporated, a fund for Five College majors and programs, for a total of $60,000.

The money would provide literary resources, referrals, programming of speakers and events, staff service on investigative committees, the implementation of a five-college faculty network and sponsorship for a five-college Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Studies Program which would serve the five-college student, faculty, and staff community.

OFF-CAMPUS RESIDENTS
Tired of the Hassles?

Are you bored with the off-campus experience? Are you stuck with bad roommates or tired of always being the one who cleans the bathroom? Are you worried about your future living arrangements? Think about returning to the convenience and spirit of living on-campus. NOW IS THE TIME TO APPLY. Applications for residence hall rooms are available in the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore, and space will be guaranteed to all whose applications are received January 4, 1991.

Questions? Call the Housing Assignment Office at (413) 545-2100, Monday through Friday, 8:30 am to 5:00 pm. Thank you!

BE PART OF THE TRADITION

UMASS SKI CLUB

MANDATORY MEETING

THIS THURSDAY, DEC 6 AT 7 PM

CC 101

IF YOU WANT TO SKI WITH US ON SPRING BREAK, COME AND LET US KNOW.

UMASS SKI CLUB 430 STUDENT UNION 545-3437

"WORK IS FOR PEOPLE WHO DON'T KNOW HOW TO SKI"

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Some townsfolk forget that students are people too! Hic!

I have seen the light.

No longer do I think that I am an adult (even though I can vote and drink now) with the rights accorded to one. However, although I am obviously not an adult with the rights adults should have, I still must have the responsibilities of one.

According to the Selectboard and town residents, we are nothing but a bunch of beer guzzling swill hogs who roam the town, destroy property, make decibels of noise, and corrupt minors by feeding them alcohol.

I'll admit, I have been guilty of drinking. How dare I. I'm 21. I've gone to parties. And, in case anyone has forgotten, a party can be a noisy affair. If it isn't, it's a dud. Why is it that when students (or anyone under the age of 30) have a loud party, it's a nuisance, but it's nothing but fun when anyone else has one? Why is it that it's dangerous and annoying when students have a few too many, but for everyone else, it's a way to unwind and relax? Once you are no longer a student, you are not noisy, messy, or obnoxious. A beacon of light shines upon you from the heavens and blesses you with instant maturity and poise. Please.

I am not out to cannonize students. I know we have our faults. We are not perfect, and there are many times when our behavior should be taken to issue. We are human. We are capable of acting like morons.

The problem I have with this new round of student attacks is that there's nothing new about them at all. We have been subjected to taxes (for students only — how generous), to unfair housing regulations (no more than four people per apartment unless you are related — let's forget how big the apartment might be) and a major attitude problem. People seem to forget that we have to live here, too, at least for most of the year. Why would we want to alienate our neighbors? I don't know about the rest of you swill-hogs, but I'm not that stupid.

Pamela McCarthy

One of the suggestions was that bus service be cut, so students would be forced to come back to campus early, making us unable to damage anything (drat, foiled again). Great. So if I get a job with late hours across town, or in Northampton, I get to find another way back to my apartment. And believe it or not, great gods of Amherst Selectboard, many of us don't have the cash for a car. If someone works in town and lives on campus, the walk isn't very far. But it is very dark, and there are places no one should walk blissfully alone through at night. But why should I matter? I'm just a student. My safety obviously takes a back seat to the noise created by a few students.

Oh, and here's another beauty: Vince O'Conner, a Town meeting member, said: "I don't think liquor stores have a constitutional right to sell kegs to students." At the risk of sounding like a brew-sucking scumbag, I think O'Conner is just a bit out of touch. It's called a double-standard, Mr. O'Conner. Why shouldn't I be able to get a keg, if I am 21? I'm legal. I'm allowed.

Perhaps it's because students are hellish fiends who serve minors alcohol from kegs. If you have minors at any party, be it a degenerate, neanderthal college kegger or a happy family reunion, they will have the chance to drink. The host is the one who is held responsible. Not the liquor stores. If students can't buy kegs, no one should be able to buy them.

Another ridiculous proposal: landlords should be held responsible for their tenants' actions. What are they going to do, institute a curfew? Ground us? Our parents don't even have that power, and the landlords are not our parents. If this was proposed for anyone over 30, it would be fought up to the Supreme Court. But we don't count. We are only students.

Now that this is off my chest, I'm going to celebrate. Hit a few keggers, shove some beer down the throats of minors, ruin a few lawns, yell at the top of my lungs and throw up.

Pamela McCarthy is a Collegian columnist

Women and men need to work together against violence

Everyday Sam Kinnison and Andrew Dice Clay give us their misogymist viewpoints — their white male viewpoints. I would like to offer my own perspective of misogyny and the sexual violence against women it encourages.

Karlina Kunz

We live in a misogynist, patriarchal society. A society that allows and even encourages the hatred of women. It happens everytime Sammy and Andy get a laugh at the expense of a woman. It happens in cigarette ads: "You've come a long way, baby." I would like to know when the correlation between liberation and a fatal addiction was made. The "privilege" to addict my body to a cancer-causing drug doesn't give me any feelings of liberation.

These images and messages that we are bombarded with on a daily basis all add up. Many women feel inadequate if they don't fit the image of the "ideal" woman that the media puts forth:

White, able-bodied, slim, beautiful. Women of all back-grounds are adversely affected by the "ideal woman" concept. Women with dark eyes or curly hair may get colored contacts or get their hair straightened in order to assimilate. "Overweight" women may develop life-threatening eating disorders.

These reactions to societal pressure (there are many more), are directly related to media's warped portrayal of what women should be. Men who perpetuate misogyny are telling other men that it's OK not to treat women as human beings. Every piece of pornography tells men that women are sexual objects, existing only for the physical gratification of men. Pornography tells men that women "want" or "deserve" to be exploited and violated. Pornography, simply existing, creates the idea that physical brutality, explicit violence, and sexual assault are acceptable behaviors for men to exhibit towards women.

You can't tell me that all of this has nothing to do with the next step in the oppression of women: sexual assault. Facts: "The rape rate is increasing four times as fast as the overall crime rate. ONE IN FIVE WOMEN HAVE BEEN RAPED! Between three million and four million women are beated each year!" (TIME, 11/90).

I used to be a woman who read all the statistics on rape but didn't really incorporate it into my world. Then I was raped. Now, my entire reality has shifted. I understand the importance of being aware and I know how to put fear and outrage into productive channels. Being raped was the most horrifying experience of my life, but I am stronger now than I ever thought possible.

Women are mobilizing and coming together around the issues of violence committed against us. We have and will continue to create hotlines and support groups for survivor's of men's violence and brutality. Women are raising their consciousness and learning to defend themselves. Incredible strides have been made. I just have one question: WHERE ARE THE MEN? WHY AREN'T THEY HELPING US WIN THE BATTLE?

When we talk about sexual assault and violence, what exactly are we talking about? We are talking about the behavior of males. The majority of males do not rape or beat women. I want to know where their anger and outrage is towards the men who do. Aren't men outraged that is happening in their fraternities, in their towns, in their worlds? Not every man must become a f-f-feminist (a scary word for some), but men do need to take a few steps in the right direction and begin to THINK.

If you are a man and you find violence entertaining, ask yourself why. If you laugh along with the crowd when a woman is degraded, ask yourself why. If you admire Rambo, ask yourself why. Why is Andrew Dice Clay funny to you? Men must begin to take an adequate amount of initiative in solving the unacceptable situation we are in.

Sexual violence is not just a women's issue. It involves men and women. And, women can't solve it alone. We simply do not have the institutional power. Men need to raise their level of awareness surrounding violence against women. Men must educate themselves and other men about why and how it must STOP. If a man wants to know a woman, he must understand her reality. And rape is part of every woman's reality. Men, take this challenge and help break the chains of sexism and misogyny. Let's all work towards a better, brighter tomorrow where women can at least live without fear of violence.

Karlina Kunz is a UMass student

Leftist editor belongs at Pravda

The Collegian's Editor-in-Chief should resign.

For over two decades I have admired the Collegian's high journalistic standards. But, this semester, the paper has degenerated into a mere vehicle for the Editor's political views.

A student newspaper should be written by students to give them experience. Yet, the Editor, on numerous occasions, has corrupted this principle by arranging for Editorial page commentaries by adult friends who have absolutely no connection with the University. For example, Mr. Jay Allain, a Northampton bowling alley worker [and UMass Alumnus], is regularly given a column for his uninformed opinions on international affairs.

Again, there is no serious attempt to give equal space to both sides on controversial questions. The tilt is demonstrably towards the Editor's own far-left position.

The Editor has even debased the privilege of her own editorial column. Just before the recent election, she improperly gave reserved space to the head of 'None of the Above' political group. Imagine the outcry had she given it to the head of the state's Republican Party!

For an example, an interview with a Vietnam veteran who shares the Editor's positions was manufactured and then placed on the front page to counteract the adjacent report of a United Nation's vote against Iraq's dictator.

Most repellent of all, reporters are being corrupted. They are encouraged to ignore the effort at objectivity and to twist the news to fit the paper's politics. For example, a large student rally in support of United States and U.N. policies was reduced to a caricature in a front-page story. Conversely, a poorly attended panel opposing the president was given highly respectful coverage.

The evidence could be greatly extended. It all points to the Editor's conviction that the paper is her property and should be used to propagate her politics to a benighted student body.

It is time to return the Collegian to responsible hands. The Editor has trained herself to apply for a job with the Soviet propaganda sheet Pravda.

Arnold Silver
Professor of English

Emergency phone abuse must stop

Student government has been fighting for years to get more emergency phones on campus. This past year, we finally got them. So, how does the campus community respond? They beat the hell out of them.

If you haven't noticed the new emergency phones on campus, they are the yellow boxes with the blue light above them that say "HELP" in big red letters.

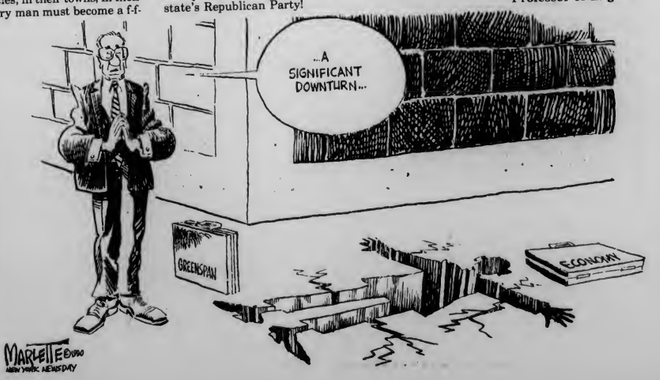
You will notice that many of them are now without doors, or the doors are bent half way off. Why? Because people have been twisting the doors off.

These emergency phones are here for us, they cost a lot of money, and if we break them, they will not be replaced. They are very durable, and will take all kinds of weather, provided they have a door.

People, if you want to test your strength, do it in the weight room. Please as one student to another, leave the emergency phones alone.

You never know when you or someone else may need one.

Angus G. McQuilken
Student Trustee



FIND the FINEST...

Gifts from Glass to Gold

Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days

silverscape designs

GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY

264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

A SALUTE TO THE LEADERS OF TOMORROW – AIR FORCE ROTC CADETS.

College is a time for decision. Some will choose to become leaders – through Air Force ROTC.

Smart move. The whole concept of Air Force ROTC revolves around the cultivation of qualities that count for leadership. And whether you're about to start college or have already begun, it's time to make your decision, now.

Upon graduation, you'll be an Air Force officer. You'll possess solid management skills and a strong sense of self-assurance. You'll know the demands of success and the meaning of responsibility.

And you'll have the great wealth of opportunities accorded to those who choose to be leaders.

Start now. Contact

DEPT OF AEROSPACE STUDIES
(413) 545-2451

AIR FORCE ROTC

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Learn German This Summer at URI

June 23 - August 2, 1991

The Eleventh Annual German Summer School of the Atlantic at the University of Rhode Island in co-operation with the Goethe Institute Boston.

German will be the sole language of communication, and German life and culture the heart of this six week residency program of intensive language study.

You may earn up to nine undergraduate or graduate credits while living in the beautiful surroundings of our country campus, just minutes away from Rhode Island's magnificent beaches and historic Newport.

This program is ideally suited for anyone wishing to enroll in beginning, intermediate, or advanced German. Take advantage of this rare opportunity to participate in this total German language experience.

Contact:
Dr. John Grandin and
Dr. Otto Dornberg, Co-Directors
Dept. of Languages, URI
Kingston, RI 02881
Or call: (401) 792-5911

URI

SNACKSENSE

HEALTHY CHOICE CONTEST

WIN A MEMBERSHIP TO THE BODY SHOP!!

There's a raffle being held in
The Munchies' Stores,
And if you eat good foods
A semester of fun could be yours!

Details available in Munchie's Stores and at the Snacksense Table on the CC Concourse on Wednesdays.

Sponsored by Snacksense and UMASS Body Shop

Division of Health Education/University Vending Services

The Department of Comparative Literature at the University of Massachusetts -Lectures Series-

Goethe's FAUST
&
German Idealist Theories of Tragedy
a lecture in English by
CYRUS HAMLIN
Chairman of Department of Comparative Literature
Yale University

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 4:00
in the Office of the Dean of the Faculty
(South College Building, 2nd floor)
EVERYONE WELCOME
For more information 545-0929

GEORGE FREDERICK HANDEL

MESSIAH

parts 1&2

University of Massachusetts

CHAMBER CHOIR

with orchestra

Wayne Abercrombie conductor
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Sunday, December 9, 3:00pm

$8.00 general admission
$4.00 senior citizens, five-college students and children under 18

tickets available at the fine arts center box office 545-2511

Bean Bags For Sale.

2 lbs. of Regular Coffee $4.99

Your choice of freshly ground or whole bean coffee. Offer not available on Decaf Coffee. At participating shops thru 12/31/90 Shop reserves the right to limit quantities.

DUNKIN' DONUTS It's worth the trip

Rt 9 Hadley

FOCUS

Why the United States is in the Persian Gulf

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

As events unfold in the Persian Gulf, people are asking why the United States is really there.

President Bush says we are there to preserve the American way of life, to secure the world's economic lifeline, and to show the world that aggression doesn't pay. But are those the only reasons?

Many experts argue that understanding the history of the Middle East is crucial to understanding why we are there, and furthermore, crucial to finding a solution.

The historical background as well as other questions regarding the Gulf Crisis was the topic of a panel discussion at the University of Massachusetts in November.

The history

Samir Abed-Ramo, a professor at Keene State College and the author of several books on the Middle East summarized the historical setting behind the invasion of Kuwait.

"[The invasion of Kuwait] is illegal in international law, but it has historical merit," he said.

In order to understand and "solve the situation in the Middle East, we need to solve every problem stemming from the colonial legacy."

In the early 18th century, an Arab leader named Mohammed Ali took Syria, Sudan, Egypt and Arabia from the Ottoman Empire in an attempt to unify the Arab nation. Great Britain, however, wanted the overland trade routes to India and thus attacked Ali and foiled his plan, according to Abed-Ramo

From this time on and until the second half of the 20th century, France and England ruled the Arabs for their own benefit without any consideration of the rights and dignity of the Arabs, he said.

During the 1940s, 50s, and 60s, oil was discovered in vast quantities in the Middle East, and France and England proceeded to divide the Arab world into 22 different nations. In doing so, they installed dictatorial and oppressive governments which were sympathetic to Western countries, according to Abed-Ramo.

In 1961, Great Britain established Kuwait as an independent country on land which originally belonged to Iraq and installed the monarchy which Hussein recently ousted.

Abed-Ramo emphasized that Iraq protested immediately, but could do nothing to stop the creation of Kuwait. Ever since then, Kuwait and Iraq have disputed the borders created by the British.

In the following decades, as the international influence of France and England declined, the United States became the benefactor of their power in the Middle East.

Since then, the United States has aimed at maintaining the fragmentation of the Arab world and perpetuating its subservience, according to Abed-Ramo.

He accused the United States of continually undermining Arab rule, establishing highly corrupt regimes, and of supplying these regimes with modern weapons with which they can fight each other over the artificially established, disputed borders.

"Sometimes, western countries would be selling arms to both sides of the fence," Abed-Ramo said in a telephone interview after the discussion.

In return for its protection, the United States receives military bases, cheap oil and the opportunity to invest, Abed-Ramo said.

The United States has always suppressed "any move of economic or democratic development by Arab countries," he said. "The Arab experience of the 20th century has been decidedly negative and has failed to foster any sense of pride or accomplishment."

Most of the oil-generated wealth of the Middle Eastern countries is used for the personal gain of the government and for maintaining the tools of oppression, Abed-Ramo said. "This wealth, if used properly could lead to the development of an independent and viable economy," he said.

Karen Pfeifer, a professor at Smith College who spoke after Abed-Ramo, agreed.

"There is a fair amount of distress among ordinary Arab people concerning the distribution of oil wealth," she said. "This underlying material reality in the Arab world set the stage for the crisis."

Iraqi grievances

Pfeifer concentrated on four specific grievances Iraq held against Kuwait which prompted Hussein to attack:

- The first complaint is Iraq's "fairly well substantiated claim" that Kuwait was "systematically overproducing" oil and thus forcing the market value of oil down. In 1989, Kuwait's quota was 1.1 million barrels per day yet it was producing 1.9 million barrels per day, Pfeifer said. This translated into a $14 billion loss for Iraq in 1989.

Kuwait is not the only Arab country to do this, she said.

"I think it's true that the countries which are closely allied to the U.S. manipulate oil prices in order to benefit western economies," she said.

- The second complaint Iraq had against Kuwait before the invasion concerns the large Rumailah oil field which is shared by both countries.

When the British established the border in 1961, they split the Rumailah oil field, giving 90 percent of it to Iraq. Iraq claims that during the Iran-Iraq war between 1980 and 1988, Kuwait used slant drilling and other methods to extract more than their fair share of oil.

- The third point of contention involves Iraq's need for a secure, deep-water port in the Persian Gulf from which they can export their oil.

AP photo

A fork lift driver strains to see over the load of mail as he moves it to a mail facility from a plane at a Saudi Arabian air base Monday. Records for volume of Christmas mail to U.S. soldiers are being set almost daily.

AP photo

Members of the British 7th Armored Brigade watch the explosion of a Viper anti-mine round during an exercise in Saudi Arabia Monday.

Currently most Iraqi oil is exported through pipelines which run through Turkey and Saudi Arabia. Iraq has wanted for many years to lease two uninhabitated, unused islands from Kuwait where they could build a port big enough to accommodate supertankers.

The two islands, called Bobiyan and Warbah, are geographically closer to Iraq and were described by Abed-Ramo as being "absolutely useless to Kuwait."

- Iraq's last complaint involves its war debt to Kuwait incurred during the Iran-Iraq war.

Iraq owes Kuwait about $35 million and had asked Kuwait to reschedule its payments so that it could recover from the economic damage caused by the war. The Iraqis feel that Kuwait owes them this favor because in fighting Iran, Iraq had defended Kuwait from the spreading Iranian Islamic fundamentalism.

These are the basic dynamics of the situation between Iraq and Kuwait but they do not include the Israeli dimension.

Israel

In a telephone interview, Abel-Ramo highlighted the complications that the presence of Israel in the Middle East brings to the crisis.

The formation of Israel from land originally owned by Arabs began in 1917.

In 1948, after World War II, the state of Israel was officially established by the Allies. Ever since that time, the United States has continually supported the Israelis financially and militarily in their conflicts with the Arabs, Abel-Ramo said.

This historical association of the United States with Israel could prove to be an embarrassing contradiction for the United States if war broke out in the Gulf.

Historically, Israel has had continual conflicts with Saudi Arabia, Egypt, and Syria, the very countries with which the United States is now allied.

"Attacking Iraq, and destroying its population centers and infrastructure, would create an atmosphere where the United States' Arab allies won't be able to forgive the States," Abed-Ramo said.

"[The United States is] now trying to distance itself from Israel. For if it is seen to be planning with Israel, it will have no leg to stand on," he said.

Pfeifer agreed with Abed-Ramo.

"A winnable war for the United States would require Israel to go across Jordan and control Iraq where it borders Turkey and Syria, but the contradiction between the U.S., its Arab allies and Israel would be too strong."

The United States must try to keep Israel out of any conflict, but there is always the possibility that Hussein would jeopardize the American-Arab alliances by attacking Israel, she said.

According to Pfeifer and Abed-Ramo, these are the factors and the background behind the crisis. What the solutions are, was the next topic of discussion.

A possible solution

In a telephone interview, Pfeifer acknowledged that the borders between Iraq and Kuwait were a problem, but added that "at some point you have to say the borders are legitimate and we will negotiate from here."

Pfeifer believes a compromise would have to include the following:

- Iraq must withdraw from Kuwait in order to show that no country can get away with aggression.
- Hussein must dismantle his chemical and biological weapons as he has offered to do, but Israel should in return destroy its phosphorous and cluster bombs.
- Iraq should be given a lease on the islands of Bobiyan and Warbah.
- All oil producing countries should be forced to abide by their quotas.
- There should be a compromise which would reschedule the repayment of Iraq's war debts to Kuwait.
- Finally there would have to be formula for the Rumailah oil field dictating a production rate for each country.

If war breaks out

In concluding his telephone interview, Abed-Ramo said he didn't think the United States and its allies fully realized how hard it would be to justify destroying an entire nation.

"I don't think the American public will forgive the United States government for the destruction of Iraq," he said. "The American public is fair-minded and will not tolerate it. They will ask, 'was this necessary and on who's behalf did we do it?'"

Select Board

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

we have to complete our activities," he said.

Finance Committee Chairperson Bryan Harvey, who is also a University administrator (with the Institutional Research and Planning Department), agreed that Town Meeting needs the two weeks to complete its work, saying compressing the time to complete the agenda is a "nightmare that ought to be avoided."

rally

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Graduate Employee Organization, addressed the issue of how to involve the students in the fight against the administration.

"The fact is that the undergraduates are why this place really exists and they have to realize that its not inevitable that they are going to have to pay these incredible fee-hikes semester by semester by semester," Heberle said.

"The administration is showing its true colors more and more, as just being blatantly inept in dealing with this fiscal crisis."

One speaker suggested that the University is receiving bad and high priced legal advice, and that a new law firm should be sought immediately.

"Get rid of Foley-Hogan-and-Elliot," said speaker Ferd Wilkin. "It's not just that we can save money, they're getting bad [legal] advice.

"There are eight administrators in Whitmore making over $95,000 a year. That's not where we should be spending money.

"I think getting increased funding from the legislature is critically important, I think setting up a program where the administration consults with the unions and the student groups before big pronouncements happen is also critically important."

John Cole, president of the Massachusetts Society of Professors, said, "We've got some serious problems that we've got to work on.

"We now have a new administration in Boston. Gubernatorial elect Weld knows education is important," he said. "We don't know if he knows that funds need to be restored. We must make the [Beacon] Hill clear what funds are needed.

"We must fight to save programs, fight to restore the budget, pay attention to what kind of University we'll have. We want kids from underprivileged backgrounds here, as well as the 'rich white kids from Newton.'"

Serebrennikova

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

She also noted differences in the way students study here as opposed in the Soviet Union. In America, she said, students spend three to six hours of class-time per week, while in the U.S.S.R. they spend the whole day in class, or a total of about 24 hours per week.

Serebrennikova said that an exchange such as this is very important in breaking down misconceptions that Americans and Soviets hold about each other.

"I'm delighted that an exchange of this type is possible and I hope it will continue a long, long time," she said.

Gifts from 19¢ to 4.99
Find it at FACES
amherst northampton
daily & sunday

10% OFF
Show us your
Student I.D.
We will take 10% off any purchase Monday-Friday Thru December 14
Find it at FACES
amherst/northampton

DON'T STAY HOME
Round trips from NY starting at:

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R.	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue
Council Travel

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

classé café
Lunch
Hot Homemade Soups
Hummus Salad
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
Over 100 courses!
Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session
Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)
Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building
Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!
Classes start January 3, 1991.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.
DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

TODAY ONLY-PLEASE HELP!
Fundraiser
for the Human Development Laboratory School
Let's march over to Domino's to get some pizza!
The more Domino's pizzas everyone eats, the more money we'll get for our school to buy supplies.

Purchase any pizza(s) on Wed, Dec 5th and Domino's Pizza will donate 25 percent to the University of Massachusetts Human Development Laboratory School, Skinner Hall.
Thank You!
Give this section to driver or store personnel
Human Development Laboratory School Fundraiser
Address Pizza(s) Delivered to:
Price of Pizza Purchase:
DOMINO'S PIZZA
AMHERST/HADLEY 256-8911
No coupons please
FREE DELIVERY

ARTS & LIVING

Coming this winter to a theater near you

By GEORGE LENTZ
Collegian Staff

The Hollywood Christmas season officially kicked-off over the Thanksgiving weekend with the release of Kevin Costner's majestic Dances With Wolves, Stallone's painfully manipulative Rocky V and the cutesy-cuddley foursome of the trite Three Men and a Little Lady. Ironically enough, these three films serve as foreshadowing of exactly what we can expect from Hollywood in the coming weeks. The winter 1990 lineup is chock-full of epics, sequels and kids.

Without question, the most anticipated release of the season (and possibly the year) is Francis Ford Coppola's long-awaited The Godfather Part III (opening Dec. 25). Al Pacino returns as Mario Puzo's dangerously cold Michael Corleone, Don of the powerful Corleone empire. Set in 1979, the film concerns Michael's attempts to legitimize the family "business" and atone for his sins by investing his time and fortune into the Vatican in Rome where he has taken up residency. But when his over-ambitious nephew (Andy Garcia) and a slimy New York gangster (Joe Mantenga) threaten his role as head of the "family," Michael has to take measures to "assure" them they're making a mistake. Expected to run close to three hours in length, the question remains, of course, as to whether the film will live up to the prestige and success of its predecessors, both of which were Best Picture winners. In this respect, The Godfather Part III is going to have its work cut out for it since Martin Scorsese's brilliant GoodFellas has already won over nearly every critic in the country. History, however, is in Coppola's favor since Scorsese's films have been traditionally panned by the Academy.

Opening Dec. 19 is Brian De Palma's Bonfire of the Vanities with Bruce Willis, Tom Hanks and Melanie Griffith. Based on the novel by Tom Wolfe, the film takes a bitterly satiric look at the racial turmoil caused by a philandering Park Avenue bond salesman (Hanks) who accidently runs down a young Black man in the South Bronx. Already met with controversy as a novel when it topped the New York Times Bestseller List for a year, this $45 million dollar screen version is sure to raise some temperatures this winter.

THE SCREENING ROOM

For heat of another kind, Robert Redford finds steamy romance with Lena Olin in the pre-Castro Cuba of Sydney Pollack's Havana (Dec. 19). If that's not hot enough, then journey forth with Debra Winger and John Malkovich to North Africa, 1948, in Bernardo Bertolucci's The Sheltering Sky (Dec. 14), based on Paul Bowles' autobiographical novel. Also, Mel Gibson and Glenn Close head a distinguished cast in Franco Zeffirelli's Hamlet (release date unknown).

The silver screen will be swarming with toddlers on Dec. 14 when Ivan Reitman's Kindergarten Cop and Amy Heckerling's Look Who's Talking, Too invade your neighborhood multiplex. Also expected on Dec. 14 is Tim Burton's Edward Scissorhands with Winona Ryder and Johnny Depp and Fred Schepisi's The Russia House, based upon the John le Carre best-seller and starring Sean Connery and Michelle Pfiefer.

From the Soviet Union to Down Under, as Hollywood teams up once again with Paul Hogan for Almost an Angel (Dec. 14), a comedy about a two-bit thief who, after taking a nasty bump on the head, thinks he's an angel sent back to earth to perform good deeds.

The rest of the Winter lineup is rather shaky since release dates for many of the films are still under consideration. But just for the record, we should expect Woody Allen's Alice, Alan Parker's Come See The Paradise, Richard Benjamin's Mermaids (starring Winona Ryder and Cher) and Dan Aykroyd's Valkenvania sometime between now and New Year's. I think that pretty much covers everything.

Photo courtesy Orion

Charlotte (Winona Ryder), Mrs. Flax (Cher) and Kate (Christina Ricci) in a scene from Mermaids, filmed partially in Rockport, Mass., on the northshore of Boston.

'Dead Reckoning's' images will leave their mark on your soul

By SUZY HERRING
Collegian Correspondent

Your footsteps echo as you descend the stairs to the Smith College Museum of Art's Dalrymple Gallery, the site of Vernon Fisher's installation called "Dead Reckoning." It's just you and the bored, grumpy guard who needlessly reminds you that no ink pens are allowed in the museum.

You are standing at the base of a black wall. It's a giant chalkboard, actually, and it's covered with bones – chalk renditions of everything from complete doctor's office skeletons to lone pelvises and spines.

Some of the images have been partially erased, leaving just the ghostly after-images of various tibias, fibulas and skulls. The brochure accompanying the exhibit tells you that the blackboard is a "visual metaphor for memory."

Two skeletons – actually one skeleton reproduced twice – stand out the most. They are not done in chalk. One looks like a life-sized reproduction of a newspaper picture – you know, that dot effect. Above it is its near twin. This second skeleton has a smeared pelvis and is covered with a sheer bath of red paint.

You not that amidst the bones are also an urn, a house caught in a cyclone of eraser marks, a cigarette and other funky stuff. There's even an x-ray vision view of Mickey Mouse.

The coolest thing, though, is the real branches sticking out of the wall. It looks like the trees that you see through the skylight above are growing right into the building.

Sitting on one of the boughs is a stuffed raccoon, another representation of the dead-but-still-around theme that pervades this work.

Your sniffles (it's cold out) are uncomfortably loud in the almost empty room. The museum is going to close so you say goodbye to the guard in a somewhat forced friendly voice. The show is going to be around until Feb. 10, anyway, so you have plenty of time to see it again.

Vernon Fisher's "Dead Reckoning" will be at the Dalrymple Gallery at the Smith College Museum of Art through Feb. 10.

Falling Joys grant your 'Wish'

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Wish List
Falling Joys
Nettwerk

Journalists get sent tons of stuff from major labels in the hopes of receiving positive responses in the mail (or in some cases even negative ones). And one thing is for sure, a good half of it such unforgivable crap that it doesn't even deserve the attention of your ears after the first two tracks. Twenty-five percent falls under the, "Nice try, honey. But it just don't wash" list. And then there's the other 25 percent that grabs your attention and makes you feel like there actually is someone out there who cares about the content of their product.

"Shot in Europe," which opens the Falling Joys LP had me feeling a bit mixed. It was admittedly a poor choice for an opener, because it doesn't have the impact on the listener as does the rest of the album. The song is confused, and doesn't seem to want to go anywhere. I felt like I was going to be subjected to another "college" band who would eventually end up major stars on daytime MTV.

But I always stick by my rule: give it a chance. And the end result is that I'm glad I did. "Lost Addiction" is a track that's better than any on all of the Jane's Addiction records, and harbors more intelligence and talent. The guitars are pristine in a sort of Blake Babies style, but their mood is different. Underneath it all, there's sort of homogenous style to it all. I could list off hundreds of bands that sound like the Falling Joys, but they're different in the respect that they're less annoying and, if you read between the lines, you'll hear something that's not there. It's really difficult to describe, but you'll just have to pop it on to understand.

Review

There are some other nice songs on Wish List as well. "Lock It," "Jennifer" and "Things to Come" in particular, do great justice to the twangy guitar genre that seems to be, since majors started picking up on these bands, so beat in the ground. The Falling Joys understand their cross between Mitch Easter and Throwing Muses influences, but take it to a much more respectable ground, a higher elevation.

Not only is this a good record, but I never thought I'd see the day when I'd actually enjoy this stuff. Nice to do your homework to. Personally, I listen to it while driving in Boston to keep myself from running over those ever so annoying pedestrians.

AP photo

TIS THE SEASON – A lone pedestrian walks toward the Notre Dame campus yesterday, braving the first heavy snowstorm of the winter season. The storm threatened to dump a foot of snow on parts of northcentral Indiana

CAMPUS SNOW POLICY ❄ ❄ ❄ 1990 - 1991

The major snow removal objective at times of severe storms is to allow all classes and all campus activities to take place in as routine a way as possible. Since many faculty, staff, and students normally bring cars onto campus, it is important for all concerned to understand clearly what policies and procedures will be followed in the event of a severe snow storm that temporarily limits parking capacity on campus.

Radio and TV Announcements

Classes and all other scheduled activities on campus will be held as usual unless specific announcements to the contrary are made beginning at 6:00 a.m. and continuing periodically throughout the day. Such announcements will be made on the following radio and TV stations:

WTTT-Amherst 1430 AM, WMUA-Amherst 91.1 FM, WRNX-Amherst 100.9 FM, WFCR-Amherst 88.5 FM, WHMP-Northampton 1400 AM, WRSI-Greenfield 95.3, WGAM-Greenfield 1520 AM, WHAI-Greenfield 1240 AM, WARE-Ware 1250 AM, WCAT-Orange 1390 AM, WMAS-Springfield 1470 AM, WHYN-Springfield 560 AM, WACE-Springfield 730 AM, WSPR-Springfield 1270 AM, WGGB-TV Springfield (Channel 40), Springfield, WAQY-Springfield 102.1 FM, WTAG-Worcester 580 AM, WTIC-Hartford 1080 AM, WTSA-Brattleboro VT 1450 AM. It is important to stay tuned to your radio for added information in case of a change.

Snow Day Hotline

As an additional convenience, a "snow day hot-line" has been installed. Taped messages will provide up-to-date information on the status of the campus and may be accessed by dialing 545-3630. This is the only campus number which should be called for such information.

Decision by 4:30 a.m.

The decision to cancel classes will be made at about 4:30 a.m., if the indications are that road travel is/will become hazardous or that insufficient parking capacity will be available. Cancellation of classes includes Continuing Education day classes.

Evening Classes

If evening classes are cancelled (classes beginning after 5:00 p.m.), a separate announcement will be made over the same radio stations listed.

Cancellation During the Day

If circumstances make it necessary to cancel classes during the day, this information will be communicated by the Personnel Office to the offices of the Chancellor and Vice Chancellors which will inform their respective schools/colleges, departments, and business offices. Do not call Personnel concerning snow cancellations.

Bus Service

It should be assumed that bus services are operating, unless announcements are made specifically to the contrary on WTTT-AM, WMUA-FM and WHMP. For information regarding changes in bus schedules during snow storms call 545-0056.

Snow Day Personnel

In the event that classes and all other scheduled activities are cancelled, only snow day personnel will be required to work. Heads of departments should review and update their snow day plans and notify employees who are designated as snow day personnel. Under certain circumstances (after 5:00 p.m., weekends, holiday periods, and Intersession), the Library may also be closed. Such closing will be announced over the radio stations listed above.

Parking for Snow Day Personnel

Snow day personnel, including second shift snow day personnel, will be permitted to park only in the following lots:

* 32 and 34 (south of Whitmore, SOM)
* 25 (west of Physical Plant, north of access way to the adjacent peripheral lot)
* 31 (north of Engineering, Graduate Research Center, etc.)
* 62 (south of Morrill Science)

Entrance to all other lots will be prohibited until the University is officially open for business. The Parking Garage is, of course, open for parking at all times.

Overnight Parking Is OK Here

Parking overnight (1:00 - 7:00 a.m.) is permitted in the following areas during snow season (December 1-April 1, and other times in the event of predicted, measurable snowfall).

E Lots	Lot 32 (West of Lincoln Ave. only)
Lot 20	Lot 41
Lot 22	Lot 42
Lot 23	Lot 43 (except at meters)
Lot 24	Lot 44
Lot 25 (north of roadway to E Lot only)	Lot 46 (except at meters)
Lot 27	Lot 49
Lot 28	Thatcher Way (east side only)
Lot 30

Overnight Parking OK (Lot Decal Required 24 Hours)

Overnight parking is permitted in the following lots, but a specific lot decal is required 24 hours. All others will be towed.

Lot 21	Lot 50
Lot 29	Lot 54
Lot 47	Any posted reserved space

No Parking Here Overnight

Overnight parking (between 1 and 7 a.m.) is not permitted in the following areas during snow season (December 1-April 1, and other times in the event of predicted measurable snowfall).

Lot 62	Lot 26 (except by special permit only)
Lot 63
Lot 64	Lot 31
Lot 65	Lot 32 (East of Lincoln Av. only)
Lot 66
Lot 71	Lot 33
Lot 25 (south of the roadway to E- Lot)	Lot 34
	Lot 40
	Lot 45

Any campus roadway (including Southwest horseshoe)
Any parking meter

Suggestions

To alleviate the problems of clearing parking lots, it is suggested that all University personnel who normally bring a car onto campus consider the following alternatives during heavy snow:

A. Use the bus service.
B. Pool rides whenever possible.
C. Walk to work.
D. Have someone drop you at work.
E. If space is not available in your assigned lot, go to either the peripheral lot west of Physical Plant or Lot 25. Under snow emergency conditions, it is not possible to guarantee that normal lot capacity will be available.
F. Use the Campus Center Parking Garage (open 24 hours).

Delayed Opening, 11 a.m.

In the event of a major snow storm, a decision may be made to delay the opening of the University until 11:00 a.m.. The objective is to provide time to clear roadways and parking lots. Lots cannot be efficiently plowed if they contain cars.

When the opening of the University is delayed until 11:00 a.m., snow day personnel should report at their regular time or as soon as possible; all others should report to work at 11:00 a.m.

Appeals

If you believe you were improperly issued a ticket for violation of snow regulations, you may appeal it within 21 days of the date of issue to the Ticket Processing Office, Lot 31, Governor's Drive.

RESCHEDULING OF FINAL EXAMS ON OFFICIAL SNOW DAYS FALL 1990

In order to reschedule final examinations in case of snow, two alternate snow periods have been devised. They are 6:30 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. each exam day. The use of these alternate periods in the event of closings is outlined below.

In addition, the academic calendar includes Saturday, Dec. 22 as an official snow day in the event that the University is closed Dec. 21. This policy goes into effect only if the University is officially closed. The snow day "hot-line" is 545-3630.

If the University is open, all exams are expected to take place as scheduled. Each faculty member should inform his or her class of the planned time and location of the rescheduled final exam in the event of a snow day. All rescheduled exams will be held in the same location as published in the final exam schedule.

If the University is closed until 11:00 a.m.:

Exam Time	Change
8:00 a.m.	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. same day
10:30 a.m.	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. same day
1:30 p.m.	held as originally scheduled
4:00 p.m.	held as originally scheduled
except Dec. 21:
8:00 a.m.	rescheduled to 1:30 p.m. same day
10:30 a.m.	rescheduled to 4:00 p.m. same day

If the University is closed all day but open in the evening:

Exam Time	Change
8:00 a.m.	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. same day
10:30 a.m.	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. same day
1:30 p.m.	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. next exam day
4:00 p.m.	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. next exam day
except:
1:30 p.m. Dec. 20	rescheduled to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 21
4:00 p.m. Dec. 20	rescheduled to 4:00 p.m. Dec. 21
8:00 a.m. Dec. 21	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. same day
10:30 p.m. Dec. 21	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. same day

If the University is closed all afternoon and all evening:

Exam Time	Change
8:00 a.m.	held as originally scheduled
10:30 a.m.	held as originally scheduled
1:30 p.m.	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. next exam day
4:00 p.m.	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. next exam day
except Dec. 20:
1:30 p.m.	rescheduled to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 21
4:00 p.m	rescheduled to 4:00 p.m. Dec. 21

If the University is closed all day and all evening:

Exam Time	Change
8:00 a.m.	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. next exam day
10:30 a.m.	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. next exam day
1:30 p.m.	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. exam day after next
4:00 p.m	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. exam day after next
except:
8:00 a.m. Dec. 19	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. Dec. 20
10:30 a.m. Dec. 19	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. Dec. 20
1:30 p.m. Dec. 19	rescheduled to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 21
4:00 p.m. Dec. 19	rescheduled to 4:00 p.m. Dec. 21
8:00 a.m. Dec. 20	rescheduled to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 21
10:30 a.m. Dec. 20	rescheduled to 4:00 p.m. Dec. 21
1:30 p.m. Dec. 20	rescheduled to 6:30 p.m. Dec. 21
4:00 p.m. Dec. 20	rescheduled to 8:45 p.m. Dec. 21
8:00 a.m. Dec. 21	rescheduled to 8:00 a.m. Dec. 22
10:30 a.m. Dec. 21	rescheduled to 10:30 a.m. Dec. 22

Woman wins sex discrimination case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A woman who sued Price Waterhouse for sex discrimination won another round yesterday in her bid to be made a partner in the accounting firm and receive back pay.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld a lower court's order that Anne Hopkins be made a partner of Price Waterhouse and that she receive $371,000 in back pay.

The ruling stems from an important 1989 Supreme Court decision that employers have the burden of proving they did not discriminate when there is evidence of bias.

The high court's decision in the Hopkins case came after she presented evidence that she was denied a partnership because male partners felt she acted too much like a man.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell, who last May ordered Price Waterhouse to make Hopkins a partner in its Washington-based management consulting group.

The appellate court decision upheld Gesell's finding that Price Waterhouse failed to prove that it denied Hopkins a partnership for a non-discriminatory reason.

The appellate panel said it found "no merit" in Price Waterhouse's appeal of Gesell's order.

100 arrested in AIDS demonstration

ATLANTA (AP) — Police said they arrested 100 demonstrators when a protest against the federal Centers for Disease Control's definition of AIDS turned destructive.

"They were allowed to demonstrate until they began defacing CDC propoerty," said DeKalb County police Maj. J.S. Wilson. "They painted the building. They beat on the windows and chained themselves to the front entry doors."

The protesters contend the health agency's AIDS definition costs women health benefits by failing to include some gynecological conditions that afflict women infected with the AIDS virus.

The AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power said 700 people from 30 states participated in the demonstration. Police estimated the crowd at 300.

About 100 were arrested for criminal trespass and a variety of other charges, police said.

The protesters, wearing placards depicting skulls, marched in the rain through the Emory University campus to the nearby CDC complex Monday morning.

Another group was detained after they invaded the CDC executive offices about three miles away, Wilson said.

ACT UP said in a statement that the demonstration included 30 women infected with HIV who spoke of "how the out-of-date definition based on the history of men diagnosed with AIDS excludes them."

Of the 154,917 people diagnosed with AIDS, 14,816 are women, said CDC spokesperson Chuck Fallis.

Astronauts repair NASA observatory

(AP) — Columbia's astronauts repaired NASA's $150 million observatory today and slowly began using it to study stars after losing more than a day of precious stargazing time.

Mission specialist Robert Parker said this morning that all three start trackers in the instrument pointing system finally appeared to be working well.

One of the trackers still needed more fine-tuning, said flight director Bob Castle. Nevertheless, the crew started using the automatic pointing system and reported it was "steady as a rock."

Mission scientist Ted Gull said it would be several days before the observatory is working at "100 percent." As a result, targets of low priority will be dropped, he said.

NH couple released on pot charges

GREENFIELD (AP) — Police Capt. Joseph LaChance considered a request from New Hampshire authorities to hold an Iowa couple on marijuana charges, after considering how it would affect their three children, and decided to take a chance.

Rather than turn Rayetta West over to authorities, LaChance freed the Hampton, Iowa woman so her children wouldn't be split up among foster homes in Massachusetts three weeks before Christmas.

"You had to be there," LaChance said Tuesday. "The kids were 8, 9, and 11. And they were good kids. I just looked at them sitting there at the table and I thought they don't deserve what's going to happen to them."

LaChance held Eddy West, but released his wife, after she promised to surrender to New Hampshire authorities after taking the children to a friend in Amesbury.

The parents were sought on charges of allegedly selling a quarter of an ounce of marijuana to a state trooper in Hampton Beach, N.H., LaChance said. New Hampshire State Police were willing to take the parents, but not the children. And LaChance balked when Massachusetts welfare officials said they would have to split up the children.

Police first encountered the family on Sunday night when West came into the police station looking for help and officers directed the family to a homeless shelter, LaChance said. West said the family had run short of money and had tried to sleep in the car, but "the children were cold."

LaChance said he "had no doubts" about letting the mother go. "The charges aren't serious enough for anyone to flee the country," he said. "Anyway the parents protest their innocence. They say they weren't even in New Hampshire at the time. And they want to clear up this thing.

Bush gets mixed review in Uruguay; visits Argentina today

AP photo

President Bush and Uruguyan President Luis Alberto LaCelle laugh during their press conference which occured after bilateral talks yesterday afternoon in Montevideo.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — President Bush called for a "permanent partnership among all nations of the Americas" as he arrived today in one of South America's smallest countries.

He played down the importance of the military uprising in neighboring Argentina, his next stop.

At a news conference after talks with President Luis Alberto Lacalle, Bush pronounced Argentina "democratically stable," and said the turmoil that erupted yesterday was not aimed at the elected government but was a "military vs. military" issue.

Several hundred leftist demonstrators assembled 150 yards from the legislative assembly where Bush addressed a joint session of Congress.

At an airport welcoming ceremony, Bush said, "We in the Americas are on the brink of something unprecedented in world history — the first wholly democratic hemisphere."

"In anticipation of that, we need to create together a permanent partnership among all the nations of the Americas," said Bush, the first American president to visit Uruguay since Lyndon Johnson.

Bush was underscoring the primary focus of his trip — a salute to democracy — and his proposal for free trade throughout the hemisphere.

Thousands of people lined Bush's motorcade route through the streets of Montevideo.

The crowds were overwhelmingly friendly, although there were clusters of demonstrators making rude hand gestures and waving signs.

After talks at the Edificio Libertad, the president's headquarters, Bush and Lacalle both spoke of the importance of lifting barriers to international trade, including farm subsidies.

Trade talks are now in their final days in Brussels in the effort to rewrite the global trading rules last forged in Uruguay five years ago.

For Your Information

Wednesday, December 5

Slide Show — "Socialism in Cuba Today" by Maggie Pucci, a striker at Eastern Airlines, member of IAM Local 1726 and member of the Young Socialist Alliance, at 7 p.m. in CC 803. Sponsored by UMass CASA. Stop by CASA's office in 423A Student Union for more information.

Meeting — Senate Meeting sponsored by Senate Operation 7 p.m.-12 a.m. in CC 163C.

Senior Portraits — Sponsored by Index, from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. $5 a sitting.

Seminar — "Polymer Adsorption at the Solution-Air Interface," by Prof. S. Barton of the University of Massachusetts at 3:30 p.m. at 703 Graduate Research Tower.

Information Session — Any students wishing to apply for exchange during the 1990-91 school year are highly encouraged to attend an information session to obtain the application form and relevant information about the program from 4-5 p.m. at CC 917. The session will include a brief film presentation, an introduction by the Coordinator, and a question and answer period.

Meeting — The UMass Skateboard Club will be meeting at 7 p.m. immediately outside the Collegian and WMUA offices in the lower level of the Campus Center.

The Giving Tree — Help support the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children by sponsoring an ornament, light, or make a decoration from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday thru Friday until December 13. Sponsored by the Marketing Club.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6

Craft Fair — Sponsored by Craft Shop, Campus Center Concourse from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Cafe — The UMass Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns is sponsoring the second Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Cafe at 8 p.m. in the Hampden Theatre at UMass. This month's cafe will feature short films by Keishya Salko, poetry by Nina Crow Newington, performance pieces by Amy A. Ford and Sara Brown, and a scene from "Bent." Comedienne Julie Waggoner will return as M.C. The cafe is free and open to the public. For more information call 545-4824.

Lecture — Diana Russell, feminist professor and author, and a native South African, will speak on Women In The Anti-apartheid Movement at 4 p.m. in Seely Hall, Room 10, Smith College.

Rally — The Northampton chapter of the National Organization for Women is organizing a march/rally. This public protest is designed to commemorate the massacre of fourteen women in Montreal last December 6, and to protest all violence against women. The march will begin at 7 p.m. at the Bridge Street Cemetery and will proceed to Polasky Park where the rally will take place.

Rally and March — The Coalition on the Middle East Crisis (COMEC) will be sponsoring a rally and march starting at the Student Union steps at noon. People who feel that the United States' role and motives in what's happening are questionable are strongly encouraged to attend.

Lecture — Vincent and Fanchette Clement-Fanelli, Co-directors of the U.S. Fourth World Movement, will discuss their 43 years of combined experience fighting with the poor against poverty and Vincent's recently published book, The Human Face of Poverty at 7:30 p.m. at the Main Lecture Hall in Franklin Patterson Hall, Hampshire College.

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS

2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route

CALL 665-2203

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY

53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385

- Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
- Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

charlie's

1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11am
7 days a Week
Kitchen open 'til midnight
Game Room with 2 pool tables

Tonight 25c Cheese Pizza Slices & 99c Nacho Platters
9:00p.m. — 12:00a.m.

Drink of the Week: Bourbon and Ginger Ale $1.75
Beer of the Month: Labatt's $1.75

Food Giveaways
Mon. 10 cent Mozzarella Sticks 9pm-12am
Tues. 10 cent Buffalo Wings 9pm-12am
Wed. 25cent Pizza Slices and 99 cent Nachos 9pm-12am
Thurs 10 cent Beer Steamed Baby Franks 9pm-12am
Sunday 10 cent Potato Skins 9pm-12am
WE ACCEPT MC-VISA-AMEX

classé café
Dinner
Monster Burgers
Veggie Burgers
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

WRITE FOR THE COLLEGIAN

WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

REMEMBER
Overnight Parking Snow Policy goes into effect
DECEMBER 1
Where you CANNOT park between 1 am & 7 am during snow season

Lot 25 (South of roadway to E lot)	Lot 45
Lot 26 (except by special permit only)	Lot 62
Lot 31	Lot 63
Lot 32 (east of Lincoln Ave only)	Lot 64
Lot 33	Lot 65
Lot 34	Lot 66
Lot 40	Lot 71

Any campus roadway (INCLUDING Southwest horseshoe)
Any parking meter

These lots have been marked with AMBER PLASTIC FLASHING LIGHTS. Overnight parking will be allowed unless measurable snowfal is predicted and the AMBER LIGHTS are FLASHING. This change is on an experimental basis. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Campus Parking 545-0065

The American MBA in Paris

The Best of Both Worlds

Maximize Your Career Potential by Earning an MBA in 11 Months

Experience the Global Interdependence of the Business World While Studying with Individuals from Over 15 Countries

All Instruction is in English by the University of Hartford's Barney School Full-Time Faculty

The University of Hartford Business School, Paris

UHBS, Paris is located in La Defense, one of Europe's central business districts, and is a branch of the University of Hartford's Barney School of Business and Public Administration.

For more information about the UHBS, Paris MBA Program, please write to us at: University of Hartford, Barney School of Business & Public Administration, 200 Bloomfield Avenue, West Hartford, CT 06117. Attn: UHBS, Paris MBA Program, or call the Coordinator at (203) 243-4641.

Enrollment at the University is open to qualified students regardless of race, color, creed, sex, age, ethic or national origin or handicap status.

TWISTERS TAVERN

TONITE
Reggae Nite with NEW HORIZONS

Thurs. 6
UMASS vs Lowell Post Game Basketball Party

Fri. 7
THE SHOCKERS
$1.00 Cover

Sat. 8
Live Dirty, Die Clean
"UMASS Transit Employees: FREE Admission

DRINK SPECIALS
Rolling Rock Bots...$1.25!
22 ounce Twister Cup "THE IMPERIAL PINT" you keep the cup...$1.85
Absolute Soda Cranberry...$2.25

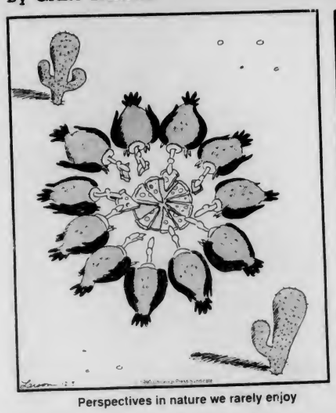
HAPPY HOUR
4 - 6 MON - FRI
.99 .99 .99 .99 .99 .99 .99

SHRIMP Peel n' eat .99
Anchor Wings 1/2 order .99
NACHOS Cheddar &salsa .99
QUESADILLA Flour tortilla grilled with cheese and salsa .99

DINNER SPECIALS NIGHTLY!
FRIDAY LUNCH SPECIALS!
AVAILABLE FOR PRIVATE PARTIES!

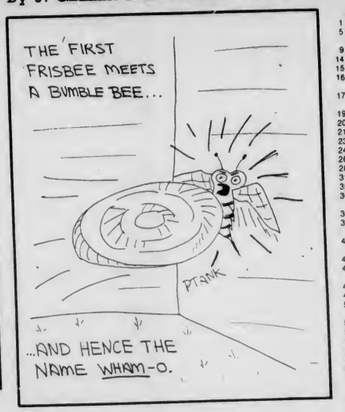
30 Boltwood Walk–Amherst, MA

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Perspectives in nature we rarely enjoy

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

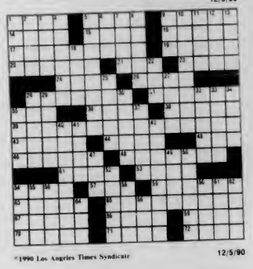
ACROSS
1 Quick letters
5 Old, worn clothes
9 Boundary
14 Soft drink
15 Give off
16 Wonderland visitor
17 Submarine maneuver
19 Keepsake
20 Human ankle
21 Moray, e.g.
23 Waistcoat
24 Part of B.P.O.E.
26 Spruce
28 Wrenches
31 Strata
35 Mil. address
36 California wine center
38 Pentateuch
39 Dangerous reaching
43 Donkeys, to Brits
44 Trademark
45 WW II price control agcy.
46 Gladdens
48 Convent
51 Pekoe and oolong
53 Type of aircraft
54 God cloth
57 Joker
59 Highways
63 Like neon, e.g.
65 Baseball play
67 Playful swimmer
68 Annoys
69 Architect Saarinen
70 Very poor
71 Stain
72 Pack away

DOWN
1 Financial record, Abbr.
2 Rail family member
3 Having wings
4 Quarterback, sometimes
5 Washington players
6 Pierre's friend
7 Donate
8 Precipitous
9 Long crossing
10 Valentine message
11 Hammer of fiction
12 Cool desserts
13 Camper's cover
18 Hawaiian dance
22 — Abner
25 Escargot
27 Multinational defense org.
28 Reel of film
29 Type of dot
30 Number 3 wood
32 Mistake
33 Grating
34 NYC stadium
35 Summit
37 Aberdeen —
40 Educated
41 Words of understanding
42 Compara
47 Maxim
49 Midday
50 Escapes
52 Title in old India
54 Celebrity
55 Feed the kitty
56 — out, allot
58 Young woman
60 Weight allowance
61 Type of dollars or mart
62 TV reception problem
64 Attempt
66 Boxing finish

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

A	B	C	D		L	A	M	B		F	O	R	G	O
G	R	A	D		A	L	E	E		A	N	S	A	R
B	A	B	E		D	U	N	A		T	A	P	I	R
E	S	L		G	R	A	D	U	A	T	I	O	N	S
S	H	E	L	L	E	Y		H	E	R	R
			H	U	N		L	E	E	R		T	O	M
G	L	O	A	T		H	O	R	A		S	A	T	E
R	O	D	S		G	U	A	R	D		E	G	I	S
A	L	D	A		E	L	I	D	S		P	R	E	S	S
M	A	D		P	E	A	S		D	I	G
			R	A	R	A		A	T	E	R	I	A	L
P	R	E	L	I	M	I	N	A	R	Y		U	S	A
R	A	V	E	N		B	I	R	R		E	L	O	N
I	N	E	R	T		I	N	G	E		G	E	N	E
M	I	N	T	S		S	E	E	N		O	R	E	S

12/5/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 12/5/90

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

FIRST LET ME SAY I DIDN'T START OUT TO LIP-SYNCH. I JUST WANTED TO BE ELECTED PRESIDENT!
THE TAX PLEDGE CAME UP IN THE HEAT OF THE CAMPAIGN. I NEEDED A CONVICTION. THERE WASN'T TIME TO DEVELOP ONE OF MY OWN, SO I GAVE VOICE TO SOMEONE ELSE'S.
BUT, HEY, THAT'S ALL IN THE PAST. OKAY? FROM NOW ON, THE ONLY PERSON YOU'LL BE HEARING FROM IS GEORGE BUSH! I WILL NEVER EVER AGAIN LIP-SYNCH TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.
SIR, ARE YOU DOING IT NOW?
THERE'LL BE A SHORT TRANSITIONAL PERIOD, YES.

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

WANT TO HEAR A JOKE I MADE UP?
SURE!
WHAT DO YOU GET WHEN YOU CROSS A CANTALOUPE WITH LASSIE?
I GIVE UP
A MELON-COLLIE BABY! GET IT??
AH HA HA HA HA HA! OH! OH! HA HA HA!
HE JUST DOESN'T WANT TO FACE UP TO THE FACT THAT I'LL BE THE LIFE OF EVERY PARTY.

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

Coach, I'm interviewing for Public Radio. Any thoughts about the season thus far?
It's been Great! AMAZING!
Well, here's the star player now! Any words for all those kids listening in, Marcus?
Never show fear. Violence is a crucial, wonderful thing, to be used in all-out!
Just have fun.
Exactly.

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Hot Beef Sandwich	Fried Shrimp
Tuna Oriental	Roast Turkey
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
The Salad Sandwich	Fried Shrimp
Tuna Oriental	Roast Turkey

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Showcase your talents and ideas with care. It is possible to reap golden employment benefits. Streamline work procedures to meet deadlines. The emphasis now is on greater efficiency.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): An excellent time to make new alliances. Claire, your locker room fantasy will come true sometime next week. Your vitality is high now. Expand your spiritual horizons.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Put your well-laid plans into action. You will meet the love of your life soon. Unexpected developments may catch you offguard; work things out to your advantage.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Stick to tried-and-true work methods. Practice and tact are your strongest allies. Impulsive acts only make a difficult situation worse. Make the most of a golden moment; show your appreciation.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Philosophical differences could threaten a relationship. Kind words will remedy the situation pronto. Romance could be pleasing but puzzling. Play a waitr.g game. Your dearest wish will come true.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Your silver tongue wins you new admirers today. You bask in the applause. A sense of humor will serve you well in a potentially compromising situation. Dwelling on past mistakes is taboo!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Ask pertinent questions before closing a financial deal. Buying real estate for investment is favored. Contacting friends who live at a distance may be difficult. Dave a secret admirer could live nearby; be careful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): A project should be shelved if your partner is unwilling for you to work on it at home. Keep copies of any correspondence regarding bills or credit. Share secrets with loved ones.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Tackle a pile of overdue work. Legal delays are possible. Use the extra time wisely. Do not hang on to a losing proposition, either emotional or financial. Keep your health resolutions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Refuse to be backed into a corner. Although you may feel trapped, the tide will soon turn in your favor. Confide in mate or partner. Member of opposite sex supports your views.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): A goal-oriented member of the opposite sex opens doors for you. Romance could develop. Try not to mix business with pleasure. Plan on visiting old friends this coming weekend.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Creative forces dominate. Good luck is on your side. Success will come if you avoid pushing too hard. A sense of humor also helps! A contract or special agreement may be offered.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Rick Seto
Copy Editor.....Tamir Lipton
Layout Technician.....Terry Starmer
Photo Technician.....K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor.....Terry Starmer
Typesetter.....Beth Clark
Production.....Tracey Richman, Steve Paris, Mark Sturm, Jen Fatkin

DECEMBER WORKSHOPS

There's still time to get your career underway! Don't miss out!

Introduction to Career Services
Dec. 10, 14 — 3:00 (CH)

Planning Field Experience
Dec. 5, 7, 10, 12, 14 — 12:20 (CH)
Dec. 6, 11, 13 — 1:00 (CH)
Dec. 5, 11, 12 — 2:30 (CH)
Dec. 6, 13 — 4:00 (CH)

Resume Writing
Dec. 5, 11 — 3:00 (M)

Campus Recruiting
Dec. 7, 13 — 3:00 (M)

Interviewing Techniques
Dec. 6, 12 — 3:00 (M)

(M) Mather Career Center
(CH) Curry Hicks Room 16
Remember - Take the bus to visit us!!

THE MATHER CAREER CENTER
Career Planning and Placement • Cooperative Education • Internships
Fraternity/Sorority Park - on the Orchard Hill bus route. (413)545-2224.
Where Careers Take Off!

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

We're Hiring Qualified People For:

- Assistant Facilities Coordinator
- Assistant Vending Coordinator
- Facilities Coordinator

Applications are available in 817 Campus Center

APPLICATIONS DUE BY DECEMBER 7th at 5:00 PM

The BOG is an AA/EO Employer

The Financial Aid Forms (FAF) for the academic year 1991-92 are available NOW

To be considered an on time applicant you must file your FAF between January 1, 1991 and March 1, 1991.

You can obtain your FAF at the following locations.

Your Cluster Office

Bilingual Collegiate Program (BCP)

Off-Campus Housing Office

Committee for the Collegiate Education of Black and other Minority Students (CCEBMS)

Minority Engineering Program

Graduate Student Organization

School of Management-Minority Management Program

Office of Financial Aid Services

Sweet Charity: Spunky, dynamic and romantic

By LISA CURTIS
Collegian Staff

Sweet Charity
Bowker Auditorium
Thursday, Nov. 29

She had a spunky persona, huge red earrings and a rousing voice that swept you from your papers and exams for three hours. Who was she? This dynamite romantic was Laura Marie Duncan or sweet Charity.

The UMass Theatre Guild's presentation of Sweet Charity opened Nov. 29 in Bowker Auditorium. The audience consisted mostly of students who were quickly captivated by sweet Charity and her fellow hostesses.

Sweet Charity: The Story of a Girl Who Wanted to be Loved centers on Charity Hope Valentine, a dance hall hostess, in 1966.

The first scene opened with an outstanding backdrop of New York City. All of the scenery was extremely creative and aesthetically pleasing. The Technicolor Coordinator, Debbie Branco; Set Designer, Gary Radin; and Lighting Designer, Michael Luongo did a truly professional job which is all the more gratifying because the Music Theatre Guild is an entirely student-run organization.

The audience laughed loudly in response to the perfectly timed delivery of comedy the actors threw back and forth.

All of the actors and actresses contributed immensely to the show. Even supporting cast members, like the old cleaning lady who removed the signs from the easel in the corner of the stage, were charming and dynamic. Willamina Broom, "the easel lady" was a throwback to the Carol Burnette show janitor cartoon at the end of each episode. Broom was played by Angelique Katalina Szeman. If only there was enough room to name them all.

. . .

The third scene, where the familiar song "Big Spender" was sung was awesome in terms of the background lighting, the risque 60s costumes, and the suggestive dancing. Costuming was the task of Suzanne Chaisson, Kim Pinkham and Laura Sweet; the choreographer was Lisa Moskow. All of whom, including the dancers, should be commended for a job well done.

Nicole Chaisson had a beautiful voice which got stringer throughout the show. She played Charity's blunt, spunky friend Nickie to perfection. Helene, Catriona P.F. McCaleb, was equally rouring vocally and possesses a flair for the stage.

Marvin, played by Chris Doyle, was a favorite minor character for the audience. He reaped a appreciative giggles.

The Pompeii Club Scene, with its alternating between hilarious dialogue and innovative dancing, was reminiscent of Roland and Martin's Laugh In. The audience erupted in groans when one dancer was carried across the stage with her her legs in "the splits" over another's head. We watched stunts and freaky poses being performed to a funky beat with stop and go action. Creativity and enthusiasm overflowed from each move and each actor.

Review

There was a tangible chemistry between the characters which made it easy to get caught up in the plot and overlook the inept dance moves of Vittorio Vidal and Ursula March in the sixth scene. Instead of being displeasing to the eye, it merely added to the comedy of the show and even added a little suspense. (He won't drop her, will he?) The missed steps were more than compensated for by the verve and personality of Vittorio and Ursula's actors. The comedy was once again delivered with superb timing and these characters were very well acted by Meg Pryor and Dean E. Lapham.

Oscar Lindquist, played by Thomas Matthew Berry, was an impressive claustrophobic with an acting style very much like Rick Moranis' in the eighth scene titled "92nd Street Y."

The pace of the musical seemed to drag towards the middle of the show. When we returned from the intermission the "Rhythm of Life" church scene that was visited by Charity and Oscar was marred by the incessant thumping of huge medallion on the microphone around the neck of Daddy Brubeck, played by Barry Tropp. A true hero, he was able to inconspicuously remove the microphone and continue with the scene. Wonderful scenery consisting of a battered church and creative hippie costumes was dominated by Preacher Brubeck in his billowing red caftan. He too was a marvelous, enigmatic character despite the obstacles.

One scene definitely worthy of mention was the Coney Island Set where Oscar and Charity were suspended from the ceiling in a "parachute drop." In the background, weaving lights gave the impression of a distant roller coaster. It was truly breathtaking and romantic. When Oscar and Charity exchanged such lines as "I hope we never come down," the audience audibly responded with "Oohs." The cast was very adept at making the audience involved with the show.

There was real depth to the scenery. The sets were so impressive they made you regret that they were only on the stage for a few minutes at a time.

The rowdy, bawdy comedy was greeted by whoops and raucous laughter throughout the show and yet Charity's moving performance at the end was still able to bring many tears to your eyes and a sense of injustice of life to your heart.

Sweet Charity was an electric presentation by the UMass Music Theatre Guild. Next semester the Guild will be presenting Into the Woods. I can hardly wait.

UNLESS YOU HELP.
Volunteer just 3 hours and you can help others this season.
CALL: 586-5243
THE SALVATION ARMY

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE, CC, 113 MON - THURS 8:30-3:30; FRI 8:30-3:00 • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

25+ CLUB Pinnuck Dinner. Thursday, 12/6,7PM Pierpont Dorm Lounge. Call Randy 546-2183

ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION will be having officer elections Monday Dec10 at 4:00 in SBA Lounge

THE GREENHOUSE BILL needs your help write a letter at the Messping table at the Hatch today, 11 to 2.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

ENTREPRENEURS
Looking for motivated people who want to make money. Requires as much or as little time as you have. Incredible support system. FTC approved. Great for winter break job. All welcome. Call tonight and ask about business opportunity 549-3868 253-5065

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM
$1000 in just one week
Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

FREE HOUSING RAFFLE! Check out the concourse or an OHAG Rep. sponsored by OHAG (5-1365)

OCHO needs fair housing researchers for discrimination project. Be part of the solution! Call 545-0865 or SUB 428.

PVOC OIL COOP Purchase home heating oil at reduced cost per gallon. COD or automatic delivery register at OCHO or call 545-0865 for more information.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR
Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

UNION VIDEO CENTER
General Meeting
Thurs Dec 6 7:00PM
Everyone welcome
Interested in video come on down and get involved

AUDIO/STEREO/VIDEO

USED Stereo Components/ VCR's/ Color TV's. We buy,sell and trade. Quality guaranteed; great prices! Call anytime for detailed list. 256-0941.

AUTO FOR SALE

1981 RABBIT DIESEL, 4dr., std., clean, 75K on 2nd motor, radio/cassette, $600 665-2943.

1982 DODGE ARIES
Body in good condition
$1000 or best offer
Call 549-4290

1985 NISSAN 200SX Turbo 84K New tires, distributor, brakes, radiator, & exhaust system. $3900 or B.O. Marc 665-2631.

1987 FORD ESCORT, 74K, Four Door, AC, Auto. AM/FM, New Tires, Excellent Condition, $2900/bo Call 586-3727.

1988 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles. Excellent Condition. 1 owner. AM FM Cassette Stereo. Recent complete tune up. $6300.00 or best offer. Call Bruce at 256-1215.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 OR 2 PEOPLE for bedroom in house across from Townehouse. $144 + per person. Call Melissa 549-6083 start Jan. 1st

3 ROOMS in 5 bedroom house (1 available Jan., 2 available Feb.) 2½ - $225 549-6792

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor. Take over lease Jan 1. 760 e month.

DOUBLE RM FOR RENT--on bus line. South Amherst, large 20'x 12' ft carpeted room. No lease, no security deposit, Jan-May. $185/mo./person. Call 256-1118.

GREAT SINGLE in Townhouse Apt in Amherst. Available for next semester. On bus route, has well to well carpeting. Mint condition. Call Lisa at 549-7581.

LOOKING FOR MALE/FEMALE to move in to single room for spring semester. One mile from campus, on bus route, washer/dryer, large deck, v-ball court in backyard, cable. Most definitely the nicest house in the area. All for only $240/month! Call 549-0920 or 549-1151.

MILL VALLEY 1 bedroom in 4 bedroom Townhouse. Free heat/water. Responsible non-smoking M/F. Available Feb. 1, 256-1202 $275.

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT One bedroom with spacious living room. Wood floors. $560. 586-2986.

SINGLE, PUFTON, females Call 549-2781

SINGLE ROOM AVAILABLE
Amherst Center- Behind Kinko's
260 + Preferably female/non-smoker
Call 256-8250.

SINGLE ROOM in four bedroom on bus route at Swiss Village $250 a month utilities included. Call 253-0612

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352

TWO BEDROOMS available for spring starting Jan 1. Old farm house directly across the UMass Horsefarm. Great housemates. One room can be double. Call now 275 & 250 549-8117.

FOR SALE

CLOSEOUT SALE: Sweatshirts and sweatpants. Jerzees, Lee, Russell, and more. Assorted colors. Look for my table Wednesday at CC Concourse. Mention this ad for $2 off.

JUDAS PRIEST Fri Centrum
Call Lane 508-827-4555

 FUTONS ***
 MANY STYLES OF FRAMES ***
 AND MATTRESSES TO ***
 CHOOSE FROM ***
 RESERVE NOW FOR DELIVERY TO ***
 YOUR DORM, HOUSE OR APARTMENT ***
 NEXT SEMESTER ***
 ONLY $10 DOWN ***
 METAWAMPE FURNITURE ***
 256-0646 ***

LARGE ENTERTAINMENT CONSOLE
In excellent condition.
A must see-Call after 6PM
Ask for Peter 549-8458

NINTENDO with 4 games- $110; full futon and frame $120. Both excellent condition. Brett at 253-9015.

PINBALL MACHINE for sale $480/B.O. 3 multi balls 2 ramps- modern. Call 546-1348

T-SHIRTS, JACKETS, SWEATS, intramural uniforms, hats, and more. Low prices and good quality. Call Brien, 546-4899

WOMENS SKI BOOTS, Alpina, size 8 $60 Call Steph at 546-4439. Leave message

ZOOMASS T-SHIRTS only $5 L-XL. Come and get 'em for x-mas. Hugh 549-6659

FOUND

LONG BLACK WOOL COAT
on side of Fearing St.
One label says "Made in England"
Tell me what the other says and its yours!
Call Paul 253-2773.

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283

ASSEMBLERS: Excellent income to assemble products from your home. 504-646-1700 dept. P1307

CHILD CARE, Thursdays (Morn-Aft) during January 549-2629. Close to campus.

CLERICAL ASSISTANT, 15 hrs./week during January 5-4783. Word processing preferred

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beech It.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language
Classes begin January 21, 1991.
Intensive day, part-time, evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica, 549-5065.

LIVE IN PUFFTON

PAY NO SECURITY OR DEPOSIT. Male or female. $188 a month. So get out of the dorms or your parent's basement! Call 549-1561.

LOST

A NECKLACE GOLD, Great sentimental value. Please return. Reward. PH 546-0747 ask for Kathy-HELP!

MAROON WALLET has important documents. If found call 546-0421

RED CHANGEPURSE lost 11/30, Friday at 3:30 in Cape Cod Lounge/Ministore. Important! Please return the contents. You can keep the money, no questions asked! Sue 549-0448.

PERSONALS

BOISE! BOISE! BOISE! BOISE!
It's driving me out of my mind.
That's why it's hard for me to find.
Can't get her out of my head,
that girl, that girl, that girl's from Boiseee!
(Now you know- she's from Boise, Idaho)
Cool, Buddy.

CATE THE BAIT Happy Birthday
We love you! Pez, JJ Crazy, and Jess

CUTIE,
Thanks for an amazing formal
I'm so glad I took the chance!
It's so worth it!!!

DINA Thank you for helping me through a tough time. Keep smiling. Love Rich

Erik-
Thanks for being a great date
Friday night. I had a great time with you. You really are crazy!
Love ya,
Kara

JEN S.- You are awesome- just hang in there! Remember: I may be drunk but I'm still smart! Love, Michigan

LAURA TOASTY SULLIVAN:
Happy Birthday! We love you tons!
Alysse Vicki Julie & Lauren

LOST
Two women's hopes of finding the perfect imperfect men. If found, respond ASAP.

MANDY:
Here's a round of applause for your superb performance in Sweet Charity!
Love Mel

NICOLE
My heart belongs to you
but nothing I can do.
You're always on my mind
and my emotions in a bind
I wanted you to know that I can't let you go.
Love John

 NYX FAIRCHILD *****
"Like the wind of hollow Autumn blowing from swamp and shallow dim, comes the sorrow of the voices"
Wow! You're 18 yrs old today...no way.

RUSS'S BOYS
It is not
Bob's girls
WST

SCOTT
We are meant to be always and forever
I-4-3

SIGMA KAPPA PLEDGES
You guys are the best! I'm glad we've become so close. A few days until the big day (hopefully)!
Love,
Kara

SWEET CHARITY Friday night-
Beautiful blonde I sat with in balcony-would like to take you to dinner
205

ROOMMATES WANTED

2 ROOMS IN HOUSE 262+ utilities. Bus route. Jan '91 to May. 256-8979

AMHERST CENTER- Perfect location
Large room in big friendly house
ALL UTILITIES PAID, HUGE YARD
$295 253-2309

DO YOU or you and a friend need a place to live next semester. I need someone to take over my part of the lease. The Brook, starting Jan 1, call and leave a message 253-9674.

FEMALE NEEDED to take over spring lease in Townehouse beg. Jan. 26 $187/mo 549-4249.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. $185 Jan sublet option 253-0409.

FEMALE WANTED to share room in Brandywine starting Jan. 1st. $187.50 includes heat. Call 549-4259 A.S.A.P.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring sem. in Brandywine. Male, non-smoker. Call 549-5414.

WANTED: Female roommate to share a room Amity Place beginning 1/1 549-5318.

WOMAN WANTED 2 bedroom apt. Center Amherst 260/mo. Call 253-0617.

WALK TO CAMPUS or Town from Triangle St. $157+ Call 549-8258.

SERVICES

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010.

SUBLET

AMHERST CENTER
Room to sublet in January
Call 549-9377

HELP!
Looking to sublet 2 bdrm apt for winter/session. Rent neg.
Call Hillary 546-3814.

I AM LOOKING for housing from Dec 20-Jan 28. Call 546-0233 Brien

ROOM TO SUBLET in January. Very big room. Dishwasher, washer dryer, TV furniture. On bus route. Call Ahmed 253-5837.

SUBLET FOR WINTER one room in Presidential Apts. Call 549-0035

ROOM TO SUBLET in a great house. Three minute walk to town, five minute walk to campus. On bus route. Call 549-6508.

WE NEED A PLACE to live during intersession. 2br wanted. Mark 546-3890

TO ALL HIP CATS

PEOPLE'S MARKET & EARTHFOODS are holding their first ever coffeehouse! Join us in the commonwealth from (Earthfoods) this Thursday, December 6, from 8-11 PM for an evening full of fun food and music. Call John at 584-9543 for info or if you'd like to perform.

TRAVEL

ONE-WAY TICKET TO CALIFORNIA, Dec 20. $150 253-5844

SPRING BREAK!!!
Cancun, Bahamas, Jamaica
7 nights (starting at $399)
Interested?
Call me- Traci 546-5258

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30 TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers; Affordable, dependable, Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING?
Fast and Accurate
Typing/Wordprocessing
Free laserprinting
Call Becce 549-4600 X433.

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORDPROCESSING 323-4579

TYPING $1.50/page 545-0913 Anne

WORDPROCESSING: Papers, etc. Reasonable rates; fast, efficient service. Call Janet 253-3278 leave message.

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS, Resumes, Theses, Graphics, Laser Printing. Call Rosemery 259-1786

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & util. 549-4195.

LOOKING TO TAKE OVER
your 2 bdrm lease in
Jan. Call Pam/Jacqui
253-9776.

UNDERWRITING DIRECTOR FOR WMUA
Sales experience preferred
Excellent resume & business potential
Pay includes 15 percent commission on all contracts gained.
Apply in station lobby 102CC or call 545-2876
Deadline 12/10/90

SPORTS

Gold Glove fits Bonds, Smith, Burks, Boddicker, Griffey Jr.

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Barry Bonds became part of the first father-son pair to win Gold Glove awards, leading a list of nine newcomers to be honored yesterday as the best fielders in baseball.

Bonds, the National League's Most Valuable Player, joined his father, Bobby, as the only father-son recipients in 34 years. Barry tied for the league lead with 14 assists as Pittsburgh's left fielder.

"I'm speechless and thankful," Bonds said. "I'm glad the coaches and managers have recognized me. No matter how discouraged you might get, this proves that hard work does pay off."

The award is voted on by major league managers and coaches and presented by Rawlings Sporting Goods Co.

Ozzie Smith, the all-time leader in Gold Gloves at shortstop, won his 11th consecutive honor. He committed just 12 errors, matching the second-lowest total of his career, for St. Louis.

Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago Cubs tied the record shared by Bill Mazeroski and Frank White as the all-time winner at second base with his eighth award.

Cleveland catcher Sandy Alomar Jr., the rookie of the year, was among seven first-time Gold Glove winners in the American League. Other newcomers include Oakland first baseman Mark McGwire, Toronto third baseman Kelly Gruber, Chicago White Sox shortstop Ozzie Guillen, outfielders Ken Griffey Jr. of Seattle and Ellis Burks of Boston and pitcher Mike Boddicker, who played for Boston last season and recently signed with Kansas City.

"I was hoping to win a Gold Glove before I retired. As an old third baseman, I'm glad the hard work finally panned out." Boddicker said. "I didn't think I'd ever win it. Thought I'd win a Cy Young before I'd win a Gold Glove."

Cubs pitcher Greg Maddux joined Bonds as the other first-time winner in the NL.

Texas outfielder Gary Pettis got his fifth Gold Glove and Seattle second baseman Harold Reynolds received his third award in the AL. San Diego's Tony Gwynn won his fourth Gold Glove and Pittsburgh's Andy Van Slyke got his third in the outfield. San Diego catcher Benito Santiago became a three-time winner, as did Montreal third baseman Tim Wallach, and Expos first baseman Andres Galarraga won his second award.

Men's hoop quiets Wildcats, 76-64

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

DURHAM, N.H. — Tony Barbee and Jim McCoy cleaned up a 76-64 win for the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team at New Hampshire yesterday in a sloppy game that featured 45 personal fouls and 39 turnovers.

For UNH (0-4) the loss extended the nation's longest home losing streak to 28 games. UMass improved to 2-1.

After a nine-minute stretch in which UNH failed to score a field goal but hit 14-of-17 free throws, the Wildcats were within six at 54-48 with 8:08 to play.

From that point on, however, Barbee and McCoy got hot. The pair accounted for five of UMass' next six hoops, as the Minutemen opened up a 71-55 lead with 3:21 to play.

"We had chances to break the game open but [UNH] didn't quit," said UMass head coach John Calipari. "They shut down our inside game . . . but there's not a whole lot of defenses that have answers for Jim McCoy and Tony Barbee."

McCoy finished with a game-high 25 points, Barbee added 21 and William Herndon scored 11, all in the first half. Guard Anton Brown scored 8 points, had 8 rebounds and dished out 7 assists in 37 minutes.

For UNH, Eric Thielen had 17, while James Ben and Bob Cummins added 16 each.

The Wildcats intermittently pressed defensively to twice claw their way back from deficits of 10 points, before giving out at the end.

Herndon carried the Minutemen in the first half, hitting 4-of-5 shots including several dunks, and a behind-the-head tip-in off a Barbee miss. The Minutemen hit six straight free throws to take a 38-30 lead into halftime.

"We're one of those team that likes to press but doesn't like to be pressed," Herndon said.

"The press got us out of sync," Calipari said. "We were real tentative with the ball and we didn't seem to attack it."

UMass now returns to the Cage for a three-game stand, beginning with Lowell Thursday night. The Minutemen will host Atlantic 10 foes George Washington on Saturday and Rutgers on Tuesday.

"[Against GW and Rutgers] we'll get beat if we play like we're playing right now," said Calipari. "We've got no chance."

Massachusetts, 76-64

Massachusetts (76)
Firman 0-1 0-0 0, Giles 4-6 2-2 5, Brown 4-8 0-0 8, C. Robinson 0-0 0-0 0, McCoy 8-14 9-11 25, Barbee 8-11 5-7 21, Anderson 0-0 0-0 0, Williams 0-2 6-9 6, Meyer 0-0 0-0 0, Herndon 4-6 3-6 11, K. Robinson 0-1 0-0 0, Tate 0-1 0-2 0. Totals 25-50 25-37 76.
New Hampshire (64)
O'Connor 0-2 0-0 0, MacDonald 2-6 0-0 5, Perry 1-7 0-0 2, Cummins 2-5 1-2 6, Lewis 0-3 0-1 0, Carr 0-6 0-0 0, Manor 3-10 9-10 15, Ben 5-6 6-8 16, Neimeier 1-4 1-2 3, Thielen 5-6 7-8 17. Totals 19-55 24-31 64.
Halftime 38-30. Fouled out Thielen. Three-point goals Giles, MacDonald, Cummins. Rebounds Massachusetts 38 (Brown 8), New Hampshire 33 (Thielen 7). Assists Massachusetts 15 (Brown 7), New Hampshire 14 (Cummins, Carr 3). Total fouls Massachusetts 25, New Hampshire 22.

Collegian file photo

Minuteman Tony Barbee seen shooting here against Yale, was 8-for-11 in from the floor and 5-for-7 from the line to help pull UMass ahead of New Hampshire last night (76-64).

Women's basketball hoping to get on track

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

Christine Basile, the women's basketball coach at Boston University and a 1977 graduate of the University of Massachusetts, is hoping the return to her alma mater will be a victorious one. The Minutewomen want to make her homecoming a little less happy.

UMass (0-2) is seeking their first win of the season tonight against the Lady Terriers (2-2) at Curry Hicks Cage. Tip-off is at 7:30 pm.

"It's important for me that we win," said Basile, whose teams won North Atlantic Conference women's basketball titles in 1988 and 1989. "I'd like to show UMass that I learned something while I was here."

"[BU] creates a lot of offense off of their pressure defense," said UMass coach Kathy Hewelt. "They always play aggressively, and pressure the ball a lot."

The Lady Terriers, like UMass, are a young team — only four upperclassmen return from last season's 16-13 NAC runners-up squad. Among those returnees, starters Marion Dukeman, Richele VanZandt and Andrea Higgins are among BU's statistical leaders.

VanZandt, a junior, is averaging 10.0 points and 7.5 rebounds per game from her shooting guard position. Dukeman, the team's lone senior, leads the team in scoring with 16.6 points per game, although she is only hitting 23.8 percent of her shots. Higgins, a sophomore point guard, has a team-high 16 assists.

Hewelt singled out VanZandt, Dukeman, Higgins, and freshman Jill Sosnak as BU's main threats. "Higgins is really quick, and VanZandt rebounds like an inside player."

Sosnak, a 5-foot-11 center, is tied for the team lead in rebounding with VanZandt and shooting at a 47.6 percent clip.

For UMass, Gloria Nevarez will replace Jenny Moran in the starting line-up. Nevarez will join Jessica Schusler and Cherie Muza in a three-guard backcourt. Junior guard Tricia Riley will be unavailable for the remainder of the semester, as she continues to recover from a back injury that sidelined her most of last year.

"I'm very happy with the way Jess and Cherrie bounced back from the Vermont game," said Hewelt. "They've been our spark in the backcourt — hopefully, we'll get flames from them if we can." Hewelt also noted that Nevarez and guard Trish Hessel have been bright spots for the Minutewomen.

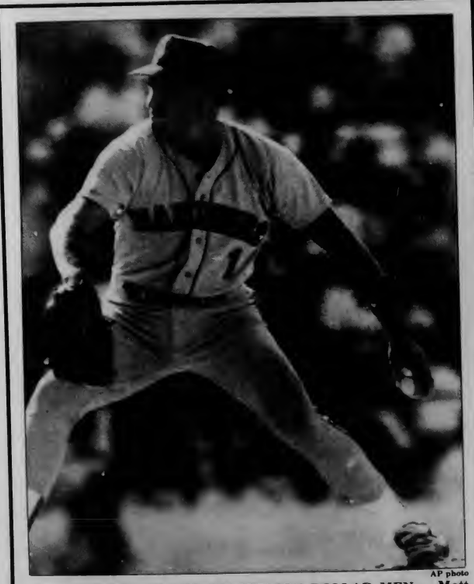
She is also expecting a big game out of Keyburn McCusker. "Hopefully, Keyburn will loosen up," explained Hewelt. "She's struggled a bit — she needs to get comfortable, which should help her do some of the things we're hoping she can do for us."

What the Minutewomen need to do, as Hewelt explained, is to improve their weak areas and play with discipline.

"We need to keep our composure," said Hewelt. "We need to stay under control — against Vermont and New Hampshire, our half-court offense has been one pass and a shot. Our shot selection has to be better."

Two other areas of concern for Hewelt are turnovers and rebounds.

"We gave up 31 turnovers against New Hampshire, and they didn't pressure us that much. We've been out-rebounded in both our games. These are things that we can improve and need to improve, and with time, we'll get better at both."



AP photo

THE NEWEST OF THE SIX MILLION DOLLAR MEN — Matt Young, shown pitching for the Seattle Mariners in Sept., signed a three-year, $6.35 million contract with the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

THURSDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY THURSDAY DECEMBER 6, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 63

Students outraged by hiring of convicted rapist

By CHRIS MUTHER
and MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts women yesterday expressed their "disgust" and shock at the allegations of rape against a former UMass Escort Service employee.

Michael Rucks, of Springfield, who has worked in Public Safety for the past two years, was reassigned Monday to work in the Dickinson building after Public Safety Director Arthur Hilson discovered the charge, University spokesperson Karin Sherbin said.

In addition to the alleged Oct. 20 rape charge, Rucks was charged by Springfield police in 1979 with rape and assault with a razor in an incident involving a 19-year-old woman. Sherbin said Rucks disclosed the assault charge on his job application, but omitted the rape charge.

Sherbin added that administrators will begin to review the University's hiring procedures.

UMass students said they were disturbed by the University's screening procedures that allowed someone with a prior rape conviction to be hired to protect women's safety on campus.

Laura Cohen, member of the Progressive Organization for Women's Rights at UMass, said the incident will deter women from using the Escort Service and force them to walk alone and unescorted at night.

"Women are already vulnerable when it's dark out," she said. "But when you are put into a more vulnerable position of being escorted by a convicted rapist, who can you trust?

"The administration is obviously not screening extremely thoroughly," Cohen continued. "They are not taking women's safety seriously."

The president of POWER, Gina Gombar, said the University did not take its responsibility to protect women seriously enough.

"When you use the Escort Service, you are requesting an assurance of safety," Gombar said. "The University has a responsibility to screen prospective employees and ensure students' safety."

Collegian photo by Janet Gaines

CURIOUS CANINE — A dog lies on the grass near Hasbrouck Laboratory and stares intently into the distance.

Iraq accepts Bush's offer for Gulf talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iraq has accepted President Bush's offer to hold talks on the Persian Gulf crisis, the State Department said today.

"We are engaged with them on dates and arrangements for the two meetings," the department said.

Bush proposed Iraqi President Saddam Hussein send his foreign minister, Tariq Aziz, to Washington. Then, Bush said in making the offer last Friday, Secretary of State James A. Baker III would go to Baghdad.

In Buenos Aries, Argentina, today, Bush said any talks would be mandated by the U.N. Security Council resolutions.

"That means no concession of territory. That means freedom of innocent people that are held against their will . . . And that means the eventual security and stability of the gulf, although that's not specified by the resolution," Bush said.

Joe Wilson, the U.S. ambassador to Iraq, was called in by the Iraqi foreign ministers to be told of Iraq's acceptance of the offer, the announcement said.

Budget cuts threaten to strangle Durfee Conservatory

By MARC ELLIOTT
Collegian Staff

Lack of funding could mean the end of the Durfee Conservatory, said Dean Helgesen of the Plant and Soil Sciences College last night.

"Under the present state of the fiscal situation, and given no endowment to keep the program going, the chances are pretty good that [Durfee Conservatory] would be closed," said Helgesen at the first meeting of the Friends of the Durfee Conservatory.

However, Dr. Lyle Craker, head of the Plant and Soil Sciences Department, said no one is talking about shutting down the conservatory and that "it's more the quality that's in danger.

"Nobody's talking about closing Durfee," Craker said. "I'm not talking that language anyway."

Helgesen blamed the possibility of closing the conservatory on a shrinking budget.

"As [the College of Plant and Soil Sciences] shrinks," Helgesen asked, "how do we continue to share the remaining resources? If we continue to shrink and we continue the decline of the maintainance of Durfee, there will be a point in time when Durfee will not exist."

The Durfee Conservatory was built in 1867 and is the home of more than 500 different species of plants. Some of the plants are more than a hundred years old according to the Secretary of the Friends of the Durfee Conservatory Society, Phyllis Rodin, including three trees planted outside the conservatory given to the university in 1867 by the Emperor of Japan.

Durfee is also the site of a horticulture therapy training program for special needs adolescents and adults and a program involving Asian refugees wrestling with culture shock.

Helgesen pointed out if the college were forced to end support for Durfee another department could conceivably pick up the expense of the conservatory. He said he doubted that any would.

"I see a bright future for Durfee however," said Helgesen, "because it is the kind of program that I think is very suitable to soliciting funds from the private sector."

Rodin, who credits the conservatory with helping her to deal with her hypothyroidism, said she founded the Friends of the Durfee Conservatory Society to save Durfee.

"The thing that is beautiful about it," explained Rodin, "is that there is a solution for all of this if we look for it, that we don't have to take all of this business about cuts and things like that lying down."

John Tristan, who has been the manager of Durfee since 1976, said, "Right now we're trying to organize and see how we're going to head toward the twenty-first century. We have a 125th anniversary coming up in 1992, the budget has hurt us, and we're trying to formally group to ensure the survival of the conservatory."

Negotiators move toward U.S.-Soviet arms agreement

By RITA BEAMISH
The Associated Press

U.S. and Soviet negotiators have made significant progress towards completing a nuclear arms pact for President Bush and Mikhail S. Gorbachev to sign in Moscow early next year, U.S. officials say.

The two sides, in meetings over the last month, have agreed to limit Soviet Backfire bombers outside the treaty, to allow U.S. nuclear programs with Great Britain to continue and to restrict the launch and payload weight of the Soviets' modernized, ground-based SS-18 missiles, said an official who spoke on the condition of anonymity.

Plans for Bush's trip to Moscow are on hold while the negotiators try to reach an agreement on other technical matters involving inspection of weapons systems and interpretation of missile data.

The White House has said Bush will go to Moscow only if the treaty is ready for signing.

The pact will call for scrapping hundreds of warheads under close supervision.

Experts from both sides will meet Friday in Washington to work on the remaining technical matters.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

LANGUAGE PATH OF MASSACHUSETTS
English as a Second Language
Intensive Day Classes
Part Time Eve. Classes
TOEFL Preparation
Classes begin 1/21/91
Registration 12/3-1/14/91
Amherst Creamery Bldg
150 Fearing St. Ste. 29
549-5065

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

Learn German This Summer at URI
June 23 - August 2, 1991
The Eleventh Annual German Summer School of the Atlantic at the University of Rhode Island in co-operation with the Goethe Institute Boston.
German will be the sole language of communication, and German life and culture the heart of this six week residency program of intensive language study.
You may earn up to nine undergraduate or graduate credits while living in the beautiful surroundings of our country campus, just minutes away from Rhode Island's magnificent beaches and historic Newport.
This program is ideally suited for anyone wishing to enroll in beginning, intermediate, or advanced German. Take advantage of this rare opportunity to participate in this total German language experience.
Contact:
Dr John Grandin and
Dr Otto Dornberg, Co-Directors
Dept of Languages, URI
Kingston, RI 02881
Or call: (401) 792-5911
URI

MICHAEL'S
Billard Room & Sports Bar
Featuring: Top College and Pro Sports All Weekend Long
- $1.00 drafts in cold mugs.
- 25 cent hot dogs
- Appetizer menu
- $1.25 Rolling Rock Bottles
- This week $1.00 Miller Bottles
- Tues & Wed FREE pool for players over 21 before 10:00 pm

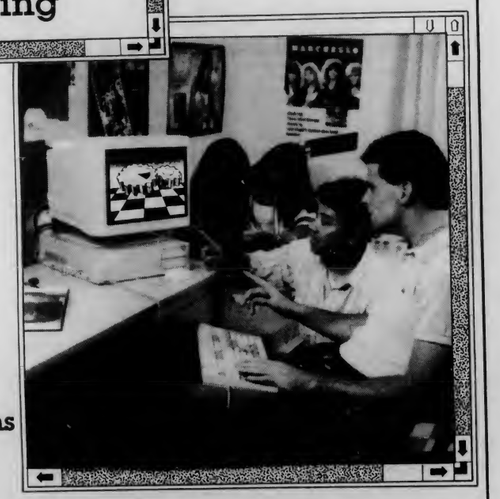
Formerly Changes Night Club
256-8284
Open Mon-Tues 5 pm-1 am Wed-Sat 12 pm-1 am
ANTHONY'S PUB
$2.00 OFF Cover Charge
must be 21 or older with valid I.D. & current Student I.D.
18 and older
MICHAEL'S
Rt. 9, Amherst
(Next to Hunan Garden Rest.)
Proper ID required

Cruise Ship Jobs
HIRING Men - Women. Summer/Year Round. PHOTOGRAPHERS, TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL. Excellent pay plus FREE travel. Caribbean, Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico. CALL NOW! Call refundable. 1-206-736-0775, Ext. 600N

Giard's Barber Shop
Haircuts for Less
at the back of CVS parking lot
Call for appointments
253-3666

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

You Deserve A "Plus" In Campus Computing



Reward Yourself With A New Zenith Data Systems LP-Plus

The Z-286LP Plus™ is the 12 MHz desktop computer that excels at coursework. This system now comes pre-loaded with MS-DOS® 4.01 and Microsoft® Windows™ version 3.0. Its standard features include 1MB of RAM, a choice of hard drives, a floppy drive and a Microsoft Mouse®. Most importantly, the Z-286LP Plus® can be upgraded to an Intel386SX® system by simply changing one card. So don't settle for just any 286 system, reward yourself with a Z-286LP Plus!®

ZENITH data systems
Groupe Bull

Z-286LP Plus is a registered trademark of Zenith Data Systems.
Microsoft DOS, Microsoft Windows and Microsoft Mouse are registered trademarks of Microsoft Corp.
Intel386SX is a registered trademark of Intel Corp.
Graphics simulate Microsoft Windows, a product and registered trademark of Microsoft Corp.

For More Information, Please Contact:
John Lewis
Zenith Data Systems
Student Representative
545-2619

DON'T STAY HOME
Round trips from NY starting at
London $412
Paris 480
San Jose,C.R. 390
Bangkok 959
Hong Kong 879
Tokyo 759
Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED OF THE SPOT! Free student travel catalogue.
Council Travel

LOCAL

Alumnae discuss goals

By PAMELA McCARTHY
Collegian Staff

Students gathered yesterday to hear University women's studies alumni, with occupations ranging from midwife, to fundraiser, to poet, to medical student, to talk about their career choices as well as give advice on dealing with the job market.

Wanting to do something worthwhile had much to do with their career choices. "I wanted to do something where I wouldn't go home and wonder if I did any good," said Deborah Kutenplon, an independent midwife.

Judy LeBold said working at a rape crisis center that folded due to lack of funds made fundraising seem crucial. LeBold, an Annual Giving Officer at Mount Holyoke College said, "I wanted to empower women's organizations."

Many of the panelists tried different jobs before the ones they now have. A third year medical student, Vicky Pillard started as a women's studies student, and did anti-oppression work before she got her master's degree in human services. Still, she wasn't satisfied. "I wanted to do more concrete, hands-on work," she explained.

Sarah Van Arsdale has also held her share of different jobs. She worked as a journalist, got her master's degree in fine art, and is currently teaching and is also the Alumni Editor for Massachusetts Magazine. She said she wanted to write poetry, but couldn't support herself doing it: "I probably will not find a solution to writing poetry and paying the rent." Van Arsdale is enrolled in the Wildlife Biology Program at UMass, which she said "feeds my poetry."

LeBold found that working at Mount Holyoke College is different from fundraising for any other organization. "Fundraising is a political act . . . you're getting people to give to something they believe in."

Yet, she said she didn't find that politics are a big part of the job at Mount Holyoke. "When I was at Womanshelter [a battered women's shelter], I couldn't think of anything but domestic violence. Now that I'm at Mount Holyoke, I'm politically active."

Kutenplon said she isn't crazy about the low pay, hectic hours, and hostile medical atmosphere that independent midwives have to face. But she said she likes working with women and getting to be part of their families during their pregnancy.

The women emphasized reaching for a goal, no matter how discouraging it can be. LeBold wryly commented, "I wish more people would tell me what I can't do, because I end up doing it."

Collegian photo by John Renaud

TULIPS AND JOHN — Items for sale at the flea market held in Hadley every Sunday.

SGA tries to fix constitution

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

The first day of the U.S. constitutional convention in 1787 failed to open as the delegates attending failed to reach quorum.

Last night, the first session of the Undergraduate Student Senate constitutional convention also was adjourned as attendance was less than half of all elected and appointed senators.

The founding American fathers gathered in Philadelphia to replace the Articles of Confederation for a new national identity.

The present constitution of the Undergraduate Student Senate has been slated as of last Wednesday's meeting for total revision as senators seek to restructure how undergraduates are represented on campus. The senate has not been recognized by the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees as a legal governing body because of legal problems within its constitution.

One heated point of contention within the body is the 13 seats designated for the Third World Caucus, a multifaceted support group for historically oppressed people. The appointed senators in the caucus are elected internally while other senators are elected by their dormitory building or by commuters.

The Third World Caucus was created in 1972 by students. At that time, the percentage of minority students at the University was 13 percent, and the representation in the senate was mandated to be equal in percentage to the overall figure. Although the percentage of minority students on campus has dropped by more than 10 percent, the number of appointed seats has remained at 13.

Daniel Cohen, the external director of the caucus, said if the senate removes the caucus seats, it would "set a dangerous precedent."

He said there is a need for guaranteed representation for minorities on the floor since many Third World students choose not to participate in student politics. The caucus also encourages minorities to participate, since it provides internal support for them, he said.

Jeff Turco, a senator, said the appointed seats should be abolished since the University attorney has targeted them as being inappropriate. He said the seats provide double representation for minority students, discriminating against students who are not from the Third World.

He said a minority student would have the same chance as another student in a regular election and the caucus discourages minority students from working to get elected.

Adam Scales, the SGA attorney general, is one of three minority students who are involved in senate without being part of the caucus.

Scales said student government elections only receive about a 10 percent turnout and candidates only have to fill out nominating papers and get signatures, so elections are not so competitive as to warrant appointed seats.

Legal Services fight grows

Bill to restore litigation reaches Statehouse

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

A legislative bill to remove the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees' authority over the Legal Services Center was filed on Beacon Hill last night by the office of Rep. Stanley Rosenberg (D-Amherst).

The bill was initiated by student leaders who said they are frustrated that the trustees have thus far not supported a proposal for a campuswide legal dispute system which includes the restoration of limited litigation rights to the center.

The University Board of Trustees committee decided Tuesday against including the comprehensive legal dispute resolution proposal on the trustee agenda in February.

A majority of trustees on the Committee for Academic and Student Affairs said the proposal needed further discussion before the trustees decide on it as a whole.

Student Trustee Angus McQuilken brought the defeated motion to table the trustees' decision to the committee, proposing the trustees approve the proposal in concept and that he, University general council William Searson, and trustee Lawrence DiCara work cooperatively to change parts of the proposal which were questionable.

President-Chancellor Duffey had called the proposal "premature" and removed it from the main trustee agenda to the committees for discussion only. Duffey had, however, said he supported the proposal in concept.

A committee of administrators and students created the proposal last month, combining campus agencies of mediation, arbitration, limited litigation and other dispute-solving methods to provide students with the means to solve landlord-tenant, consumer and civil rights cases.

McQuilken said the committee meeting was "very frustrating" since the trustees were not questioning the proposal, but just whether the University should provide litigation rights to the Legal Services staff.

"We spent three years convincing the administration that we were right," he said. "[The trustees] failed to realize that this is a service that students need."

McQuilken said the bill just barely met yesterday's 5 p.m. deadline for late legislation.

Although he said he would prefer to have the trustees approval the proposal, filing legislation has "forced the issue of basic student rights.

"This is an issue where students want to provide a necessity for themselves and they are willing to pay for it themselves," he said. "There is no reason why they shouldn't have it."

McQuilken said if this bill is passed, the Legal Services Governing Board, which would officially set case policy for the center, could restore full litigation rights.

The proposal presented to the trustees restricted Legal Services from litigating against the University or its staff, any municipalities and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

■ pact

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The two are expected to thrash out their remaining differences and set a date for the Moscow summit. Shevardnadze is to then fly to Washington to see Bush on Wednesday.

The session is a precursor to the meeting between Secretary of State James A. Baker III and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze in Houston on Monday or Tuesday.

PLUSH HEADQUARTERS
...From Georgi, our Full-sized airedale, down to Tiny Teddies, we're sure to have your favorite!
Stocking stuffer-sized critters too!
Compliments
Gifts, Gift Baskets, Decorative Accessories
71 N. Pleasant St. (Above Cafe DiCarlo)
Amherst (413) 254-1551 • Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30

GLB Forum

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Forum comes out every Thursday.

SUBJECTS NEEDED Homosexual men needed for interviews exploring attitudes about being gay. Interviews are strictly confidential, and will be held in the UMass psych dept. For more info call Richard Rodriguez 545-2157.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6 Last Meeting of the LBGA Political Committee. Student Union 413B, 6 p.m.

Group Bisexual rap group. SU 413B, 7:30 p.m. The last meeting will be on Dec. 13.

Coffeehouse the second Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Cafe sponsored by the Program for GLB Concerns and the UMass Arts Council. Featuring comedienne Julie Waggoner, poet Nina Crow Newington, performance artists Amy A. Ford and Sarah Brown, film shorts by Keishya Salko, and the Fabulous Trio Herschler Brothers Band. Refreshments will be served. Hampden Theatre, 8 p.m., free.

Diversity Group video and pizza night, showing Almondovar's "Law of Desire," and "Labrynth of Passion." Meet at Campus Center 8th floor lounge at 6:50 p.m. — the group will leave at 7 p.m. sharp. All LBG people of color welcome.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7 Coffee Social CC, check schedule for room, 3 to 6 p.m. The last one is Dec. 14.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Policies threaten RAs

One of the goals of Housing Services is to provide a safe living environment for students on campus. They have policies designed to protect the safety and well-being of the residents.

If these policies are broken the student must go though the judicial process and sanctions will be determined. In cases like this housing is considered a privilege, not a requirement. That is what housing would like you to believe, but it is not always the case.

On Saturday night I received a phone call from a resident that his next door neighbor's face was beat in a fight, would I come over and help?

I was one of the Resident Assistants on duty that night. Like a good RA, I had done my sweeps and had no reason to believe that there were any problems in the building. I was wrong. I went over to assist the resident and wasn't there more than five minutes when my safety was put in jeopardy by the policies of Housing Services and University police department.

Laura M. Hunt

While I was on the floor it was filled with men whose only intentions were to beat one another senseless. After the police were called, and everything was broken up, I learned the police had already been on the floor twice that night to break up fights.

By not informing me that a hostile situation existed they put my safety in jeopardy. If it had not been for one of the residents of the floor, I would have been standing in the middle watching the situation erupt around me. Housing Services is always telling RAs not to put themselves in dangerous situations.

As the RA on duty, I should have been notified that a violent situation existed in the building. I can understand the police wanting to protect the confidentiality of the students involved but what about protecting my safety? My idea of Saturday night fun does not include taking on 45 men in an all-out brawl.

Housing Services is also to blame for this incident. This is the second outbreak of physical violence in the building this month. In both cases not one student was removed from the building.

And what about the judicial system? Well, if you are willing to wait 8-10 weeks some action may be taken against the student but most likely not. Why teach them a lesson when we can rehabilitate them?

By not taking any immediate action against the student, who had been identified by the police, Housing and the University condoned their actions. They sent the message that it is OK to engage in this type of behavior because they won't do anything to stop you.

Would someone please tell me how I am supposed to react to this? Where is the incentive for me to do my job? Housing does not prepare me for situations like this — they would rather find out how I feel about a situation than teach me how to deal with it. Next time I get my face bashed in I'll just tell them I feel fine.

This is not the first time this has happened. It is alleged that cases of physical violence and threats to RAs in the past have been treated the same way. Housing Services needs to investigate incidents like these, their policies and the way they are carried out.

When incidents like this do occur, the students should be removed on a temporary basis while an investigation is conducted. The removal of the student not only protects them but the other residents as well. After the investigation action needs to be taken immediately and not sent through the slow-moving judicial process.

Physical assault is grounds for dismissal from the University. Why can't it be grounds for dismissal from housing, too? A few people who are out of line should not be allowed to jeopardize the safety of others.

Laura M. Hunt is a UMa..s student

Declare war on AIDS

I have given a lot of thought to AIDS lately. It's hard not to think about it when you learn that one out of every 500 students you pass each day on the way to class has AIDS.

And this number is expected to grow. AIDS is a disease that experiences exponential growth. Kind of like the Black Plague. It's doubly scary because it can be carried and transmitted by people who have no idea that they have been infected by the HIV virus.

The research that was done on college campuses included UMass. Yet somehow, it doesn't seem to me that the message is sinking in to the brains of most students.

I pass Student Union bulletin boards plastered with posters for "Springbreak Getaways" in Daytona that offer special "teasers" like "wet t-shirt contests, wet bun contests, bikini contests." Somehow, this poster doesn't seem to present an attitude or an atmosphere conducive to safe sex.

Trystan Skeigh

I am no moral prude. I am not a strong advocate of sexual abstinence. However, I am becoming more and more aware of the fact that when we sleep with partners and we do not know their sexual history, we are risking our lives.

It is ironic that currently students are facing two deathly situations — war overseas and death at home from AIDS. Unfortunately, the amount of funds and energy spent on the two are not even remotely equivalent. We are spending billions of dollars to station troops in Saudi Arabia, yet in comparison, mere pennies for AIDS research.

It's a well-known business reality that pharmaceutical companies won't spend billions in research without adequate financial incentives. Part of those incentives include front money. Currently the federal government isn't offering much. Meanwhile, the death toll mounts as men, women, straights, gays and children succumb to this dreadful disease.

In a bout of creative cynicism, I came up with a macabre solution to this national dilemma: Perhaps someone could commission a group of equally cynical prostitutes who have tested HIV positive to seduce a majority of the Senate and the Congress. Months later, letters would be sent to all of them informing them that they had been exposed and they should be tested.

I predict that if congressmen and senators were to contract this disease, we would see a dramatic reshuffling of this nation's priorities.

I'll bet even the peace movement would be cheered — because I wouldn't be at all surprised if Pentagon funds were suddenly shifted to a full-scale research effort to find a cure. Federal monies would pour into pharmaceutical coffers and I am sure a number of effective treatments would be developed and released in short order. And, with all the federal monies coming their way, the companies might even make the treatments cheap and available to all.

I wish something less drastic could be done to make the Senate and the Congress care. But frankly, I don't think they'll give a damn until they're personally affected by AIDS. Meanwhile, more and more "non-important" people like college students — who seem to be expendable in so many different ways — will die from this dread disease.

Instead of warring on the Iraqis, I wish we would make all-out war on AIDS.

Trystan Skeigh is a Collegian staff member

Drivers of the world unite against unfair parking tickets

It's Sunday afternoon.

Pulling into the Kennedy parking lot, upon returning to UMass after a weekend away, the first thing I do is drop off my bags, and whatever else I brought back, at my dorm. The thought of having to shlep everything from Lot 22 to my dorm ranks right up there with trying to get classes on the last day of add/drop.

And like every Sunday afternoon, as I'm driving down Mass Ave., passing by Whitmore brings the same thought to my head, "I hope there are no cops in the Kennedy lot. I only have three bags and if I can run them upstairs fast

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Meredith O'Brien
Managing Editor — Sarah DeMaster
Editorial Editor — Jeremy Levenson
News Editor — Chris Muther
Sports Editors — Adrienne Matt, Sam Silverstein
Arts Editors — Jody Gabin
Photography Editor — Richard DuCree
Black Affairs Editor — Dawn Pierce
Women's Issues Editors — Minu Sebastian
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor — Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Ali Woolwich
Business Manager — Susan George
Advertising Manager — David Melnick
Finance Manager — Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager — Jim Winterbottom
Subscription Manager — Susan Kent
Promotions Manager — Marc Fruskin
Production Manager — Terry Starmer
Day Graphics Ad Manager — Chrissy Girone

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Mayerowski
Graphics — Rory Evans

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

Felice Cohen

"And Felice is off. Carrying three suitcases, two paper bags (no plastic, of course) filled with groceries, two jackets and a milk crate filled with tapes. She holds the lead. But closing in on her is Jon, from the fifteenth floor. He's got a large duffel bag filled with what seems to be his laundry, a stereo and four boxes of poptarts. Oh wait, he just dropped a box. That will cost him a few points . . ."

Granted it may sound outrageous, but the swiftness and dexterity these students have, lugging their belongings to their dorm rooms before the parking ticket people catch them, is quite amazing and rather impressive.

But why so much concern for this meaningless accomplishment? Well, it's pretty clear for us who live on campus, but for those less fortunate who live off-campus, I'll explain.

In order to get all your stuff into your room, you must carry it there yourself. No problem. But this is where the tricky part comes in. Living in the dorms we have the distinct pleasure of parking either in Lot 22 or the good old E lot. (I'm speaking for Southwest residents in particular.)

I mean escaping the clutches of the parking ticket people. (I'll call them parking ticket people for lack of a nicer name.)

I guess one could look at those Sunday drop off sprints and laugh. But anyone who has ever raced from their car to their room, and then flown back down the stairs, is struck dumb at first and then angered when they see that familiar yellow slab of wasted tree tucked ever so neatly under the windshield wiper. I'm baffled as to why no one has yet to capitalize upon the idea of introducing this lightning quick procedure as a sport. I know I would be one to contend against.

You see, we are not as fortunate as those living off-campus who are capable of parking right outside their door. We must plan ahead every time we wish to drive our vehicle, because these lots are, as my parents would probably have described them, "miles away. And every time I had to walk to my car it was raining or snowing. You should know from such inconvenience!" You get the drift.

But the long walk is not the issue. The issue is the long walk and having to carry bags full of food, laundry and books. This is what the parking ticket people are claiming we should do, I mean I take it that's what they think we should do, since they give us no other option. And I'm not about to glue a "Domino's Pizza" sign on my door.

In front of our dorms there are signs that read "No Parking." And no one ever does. There is a difference between parking and stopping for five minutes to drop off your belongings, which is what most people do and for good reason: to avoid hernias. Now if only parking ticket people could see through to this we would all be a lot better off.

Unless the school can realize the implications of their rule and change it, there may have to be some drastic measures. Maybe we could hold a "park-in" and have everyone come park their cars on the grass in front of the campus pond. Or maybe we could just ignore the parking signs for a week. Could they ticket everyone? Would they, is the real question, and yeah, I think they would. The parking ticket people would have a field day because they sure do love to give out those tickets!

You know, parking ticket people rank right up there with . . . with . . . Milli Vanilli. But unfortunately for us, those parking tickets are the real thing.

Felice Cohen is a Collegian staff member

The Collegian welcomes all submissions to the editorial page. Take the time to voice your opinions in the form of a double-spaced, typed letter (must be less than 40 lines) or a double-spaced, typed column (must be less than 65 lines). The editorial staff is not required to print all submitted material and we reserve the right to edit all submissions. Submit all columns and letters to the Collegian newsroom, 113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA 01003.

As war approaches, history beckons us

The other day I took a good look at the mural that hangs at the bottom of the escalators in the Campus Center. Before it just seemed like a nice decoration for the ATM area, depicting significant events and personalities of the 1960s, on the backdrop of the UMass campus. However, I suddenly saw this painting in the context of today's headlines, and I began to wonder.

In the lower left corner of the mural, there is a scene of a young man inserting flowers into the barrels of rifles, held by soldiers assigned to guard the Pentagon, where the anti-war demonstration from which this picture came was held. Behind the protester we see a sign with the words "Peace in Vietnam" in red letters.

When I saw this, I started pondering if there would be another mural, painted ten or so years from now, depicting members of our generation holding signs that state "No Blood for Oil" and "Peace in the Middle East."

Will there be another wall built on the other side of the Mall in Washington, inscribed with the names of our friends and family members who died during the Persian Gulf War? Will I wake up in a cold sweat night after night, dreaming that I hear the chemical weapons alarm and that I can't find my gas mask?

Americans must not be doing all that well in our history classes because it obviously seems to be repeating itself. We're still viewing Arabs, and especially Muslims, the way we did during the days of the crusaders, only now, instead of calling them "heretics" we call them "extremists." I can't believe that the world's fastest growing religion is comprised of fanatics that are hell-bent on car-bombing the U.S. into submission.

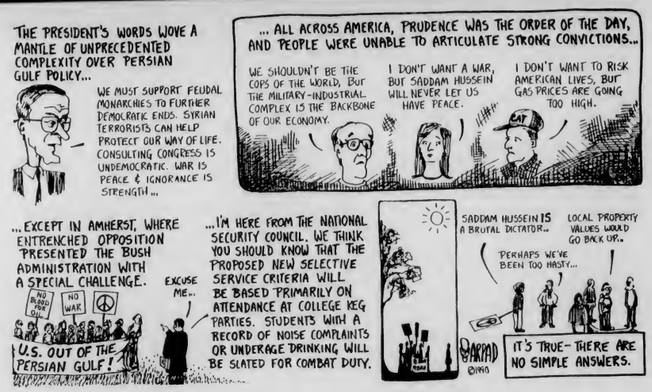
The U.S. still sees itself as the cowboy riding into faraway, lawless places on a white horse, for a showdown with the outlaws in the black hats.

George Bush has said this isn't going to be another Vietnam. I agree. It's going to be much worse. Bloodbath will take on a new meaning and the desert sand is going to be littered with the wasted lives of a generation of young American and Iraqi men and women, soldiers and civilians.

When it's all over, when the last shovel of soil falls, and the last note of "Taps" dies out over the field of white tombstones, those that are still alive will realize that we made the same mistake, that governments don't tell the whole truth and that thirty years from now it just may happen again.

Get out and protest. Write to congresspeople and senators. Call the presidential switchboard. Send a card to a soldier in Saudi Arabia and tell them that we're trying to bring them home alive. Kill the war before it kills us.

Steven Schwankert
Central



THE PRESIDENT'S WORDS WOVE A MANTLE OF UNPRECEDENTED COMPLEXITY OVER PERSIAN GULF POLICY...
WE MUST SUPPORT FEUDAL MONARCHIES TO FURTHER DEMOCRATIC ENDS. SYRIAN TERRORISTS CAN HELP PROTECT OUR WAY OF LIFE. CONSULTING CONGRESS IS UNDEMOCRATIC. WAR IS PEACE & IGNORANCE IS STRENGTH...
... ALL ACROSS AMERICA, PRUDENCE WAS THE ORDER OF THE DAY, AND PEOPLE WERE UNABLE TO ARTICULATE STRONG CONVICTIONS...
WE SHOULDN'T BE THE COPS OF THE WORLD, BUT THE MILITARY-INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX IS THE BACKBONE OF OUR ECONOMY.
I DON'T WANT A WAR, BUT SADDAM HUSSEIN WILL NEVER LET US HAVE PEACE.
I DON'T WANT TO RISK AMERICAN LIVES, BUT GAS PRICES ARE GOING TOO HIGH.
...EXCEPT IN AMHERST, WHERE ENTRENCHED OPPOSITION PRESENTED THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION WITH A SPECIAL CHALLENGE.
NO BLOOD FOR OIL
NO WAR
U.S. OUT OF THE PERSIAN GULF!
EXCUSE ME..
...I'M HERE FROM THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL. WE THINK YOU SHOULD KNOW THAT THE PROPOSED NEW SELECTIVE SERVICE CRITERIA WILL BE BASED PRIMARILY ON ATTENDANCE AT COLLEGE KEG PARTIES. STUDENTS WITH A RECORD OF NOISE COMPLAINTS OR UNDERAGE DRINKING WILL BE SLATED FOR COMBAT DUTY.
SADDAM HUSSEIN IS A BRUTAL DICTATOR..
LOCAL PROPERTY VALUES WOULD GO BACK UP..
PERHAPS WE'VE BEEN TOO HASTY...
IT'S TRUE- THERE ARE NO SIMPLE ANSWERS.
GARFIELD ©1990

Letters to the Editor

Petition opposes reading room bar

We the undersigned, protest the proposed conversion of the Campus Center music room into a graduate student lounge. The music room is in effect an extension of the reading room and as such, a lounge in that space would disrupt the ability of students to study in the reading room area.

While the Campus Center/Student Union complex already holds the Top of the Campus, the Bluewall, the Hatch and the Cape Cod Lounge, the reading room is the only designated study area in the Campus Center.

Furthermore, the reading room is the only place on campus students can study past midnight Sunday through Thursday and after six on Fridays and Saturdays. It is also the only place on campus open 24 hours a day during finals week.

While we understand the desire among graduate students to have their own space, we respectfully ask them to consider the needs of the student body as a whole.

Thus, we ask that the Graduate Student Senate and the Campus Center administration reconsider their plans and find an alternative location for the lounge.

Michelle Weinstock
Amherst

This petition was signed by 330 other persons.

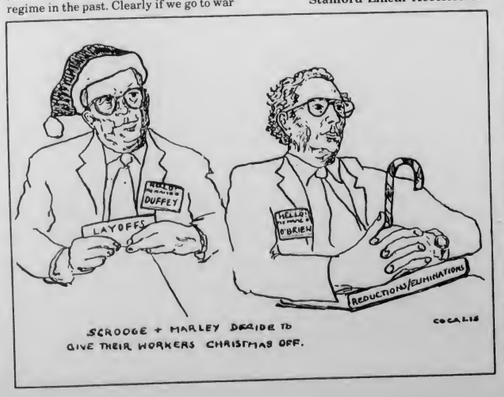
Say no to oil war in Middle East

This week there have been hearings in the Senate about the U.S. going to war with Iraq. We have been glad to hear many of those testifying say that we should not rush into a war. It has been stressed that this war will not be short, as were the invasions of Panama and Grenada, and will involve the loss of many lives on both sides. However, it is disconcerting that few, if any, speakers have questioned the premise that it is right for our country to use military force to remove Iraq from Kuwait.

Hussein's invasion of Kuwait is deplorable, as is his very anti-human rights rule within his own country, as is the huge amount of U.S. government support for his regime in the past. Clearly if we go to war it is not to defend the human rights of the Kuwaiti (or Iraqi) people. Rather it will be to ensure that control of the region's oil supplies remains in friendly hands. We in the U.S. use a vastly disproportionate amount of the world's oil resources. It is a particularly graphic demonstration of what our oil addiction means, that we would sacrifice thousands of our own men and women, and devastate the lives of many more in the Persian Gulf, to maintain it.

Perhaps we can think of a better way to save our environment and our economy.

Dr. Jennie Traschen
UMass Dept. of Physics
Dr. David Kastor
Stanford Linear Accelerator



War or peace?

January break is coming up after finals, but at this moment I am contemplating January 15 and the situation in Kuwait. People have asked me if I would serve if I were actually drafted. And I admit it is not an easy question to answer both truthfully and courageously.

Many of us know people who have already been called off to service, and many of us wonder if we will be called as well. Will we be here next semester, and will those who have already gone come back? I honestly hope so.

I am torn on the crisis in the gulf. I have read things that strongly suggest that Iraq is entitled to be in Kuwait, as Kuwait was historically part of Iraq but was cut off from it by Western intervention after World War One.

Others make a strong case for going to war with Iraq by reiterating Iraq's warlike tendencies. And should the world stand by in the face of such naked aggression? But who is the aggressor? Saddam Hussein or Western hegemony in the gulf?

I cannot cite all the facts on both sides in this short space, but I do advise you to get them and to analyze them well. Decide for yourself as I must decide for myself. But I cannot encourage you to make a decision out of self-interest or cowardice.

And do not think solely of the interests of the United States or of oil interests. Ask yourself why Iraq did invade, and whether the multinational force that may or may not invade Kuwait is representative of a global sanction against the Iraqi invasion, or merely a United Nations facade for a U.S. spurred invasion.

Whatever you decide, I hope it is not because of a hyped-up war mentality, but because of a belief that what you are doing is the just thing. If there is a war, I would hope it to be a short one. I feel that with the dissolution of the Eastern Bloc countries, and the lowering of the iron curtain, we could be entering an era of potential world peace.

It would be a shame to spoil that with the senseless ravages of a long and bloody war in the Gulf. For peace and justice are the ends I believe we should have in sight. War can only be chosen as an undesirable but necessary end to this goal.

So look deeply into the matter and into yourself and talk about it with others of differing opinion. The end result can only resolve into a clearer and broader picture of the truth.

James Rowell
Orchard Hill

A soldier speaks out

To all protesters: Stay away from our bases!

A soldier is obligated to obey the government without question. It is the elected politicians' responsibility to say what they want the military forces to do.

I respect your right to protest but, please, if you must protest, protest at the Statehouse, not at Westover.

PFC Michael Romanowicz
2/104 Army National Guard

A 'cult' to you, a set of beliefs to me

The University community needs to be aware of the extreme ethnocentricity and bigotry expressed by Ronald Loomis on December 3. His definitions of cult extend to virtually any doctrinal point of view from liberal humanism to Catholicism to Jim Jones's People's Temple.

Individuals always have and always will attempt to manipulate others by using their shared beliefs to influence actions. The Women's Movement, political activist groups, Protestant and Catholic churches all embrace doctrines which can be used to manipulate people according to the definitions given by Loomis. The Cult of the Virgin is still very popular these days. And one of the panelists was heard to say that Loomis's own Cult Awareness Network seemed to fit his definition as well as any other group.

The article on Loomis specifically attacked a "cult" to which I have belonged for many years, the Hare Krishna Movement, as a "destructive group." The sect, as it is more properly called, originated in the 15th century in India. It spread into Europe in the beginning of this century, and it came to America in 1965 when Srila Prabhupada, the founder of the International Society for Krishna Consciousness, landed in Boston.

The essential doctrine of this religious sect is the teaching of love of God, and the way prescribed in the scriptures that this be done in this age is by the congregational chanting of the mahamantra. There is nothing deceitful or mind controlling or manipulative about this. I do not understand how George Harrison's "My Sweet Lord" can be "transcendental trickery" when Holy Communion is not.

Grouping the Hare Krishna Movement with fanatics like Jim Jones or business institutions like the Moonies is very offensive to the devotees not only here but to the millions of sincere persons around the world who are struggling to develop pure love of God: Krishna Prema.

Bharatasrestha das Adhikari
South Hadley

COME CLEAN WITH US!
Campus Coin Op
107 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.
SPEEDWASH
11 Pray St., Amherst
NOW OPEN 24 HOURS!
South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

10% OFF
Show us your
Student I.D.
We will take 10% off any purchase Monday-Friday Thru December 14
Find it at Faces
amherst/northampton

The University of Massachusetts DEPARTMENT OF THEATER PRESENTS
MESSIAH
A PLAY BY MARTIN SHERMAN
November 29-December 1 and December 5-8
RAND THEATER • 8:00 p.m.
Set in 17th-century Poland, rumors of the coming of the Messiah bring vast changes to a small village and to Rachel, a young Jewish woman questioning her faith.
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

KAREN DONALDSON
EXPLORATION OF AFRICAN AMERICAN DANCE
an audience participation workshop
WEST AFRICAN CELEBRATION OF LIFE
WEST AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE
PLANTATION SPIRITUAL MINSTREL MAN
AFRO JAZZ
SOUL OF THE 60'S
TODAY'S HIP HOP
3:00 P.M., Sunday
December 9, 1990
Old Chapel Auditorium
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Sponsored by the Performing Arts Division and the University Arts Council.
Free to UMass students.
Donations benefit the Performing Arts Division public and multi-cultural offerings ($5 individuals, $10 families)

THE PUB
fun food & spirits
TONIGHT
After the Game
Pitchers of Miller Lite
$4.50
Jello Shots
$1.00
Our New Menu Is In!
$1.25 Rolling Rock Bottles
$1.25 Miller Genuine Draft
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT-AMHERST

Stock Up Before Jan 1st. Beat the Federal Excise Tax Increase on Liquor!!
BEER WINE LIQUORS
Prices do not include deposit
NEW AMSTERDAM AMBER BEER $16.79 + DEP case of 24-12 oz. bottles
Moosehead BEER $13.99 + DEP case of 24 12 oz bottles
MICHELOB, MICHELOB LIGHT MICHELOB DRY $11.49 + DEP case of 24-12 oz. cans
Grolsch $13.99 + DEP case of 24-11.2 oz. cans
BALLANTINE BEER case of 24-12 oz cans $7.49 + DEP
PEPSI & DIET PEPSI $5.99 + DEP case of 24-12 oz. cans
GALLO WHITE ZINFANDEL $2.99 750 ML
INGLENOOK ALL VARIETIES SALE $5.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $2.00 $3.99 3.0 L AFTER REBATE
GLEN ELLEN CHARDONNAY $3.49 750 ML
FOLONARI SOAVE $4.99 1.5L
DOMAINE STE. MICHELE BRUT CHAMPAGNE $6.99 750 ML
DUBEOUF NOUVEAU BEAUJOLAIS $6.49 750 ML
ABSOLUT VODKA $18.99 1.75 L
SCHENLEY WHISKEY SALE $10.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $3.00 $7.99 1.75 L AFTER REBATE
THE FAMOUS GROUSE SCOTCH $24.99 1.75L
GORDON'S GIN SALE $12.49 MAIL-IN REBATE $2.00 $10.49 1.75 L AFTER REBATE
CLUNY SCOTCH SALE $12.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $2.00 $10.99 1.75 L AFTER REBATE
BLACK VELVET $11.99 1.75 L
not responsible for typographical errors
LIQUORS 44
HADLEY Campus Plaza/Route 9 253-0344
TWO LOCATIONS
HOLYOKE 30 Lincoln St. 534-4555
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
SALE PRICES THURS 12/06/90 THRU WED 12/12/90
TeleCheck

COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley
Corporate Discounts
Group of 10 employers $45
reservations only 585-8615
We'll Honor Your Company
COME EARLY FOR DINNER... It's hard to laugh with a mouthful of food!
FRI—SAT NOV 2-3, 8:30pm
from Boston
JULIE BARR
Comedian's choice as No.1 Woman Comic in Boston
Plus James Lemur & Guests
$8 at door
THURSDAY DECEMBER 6 (1st Thursday each month)
FUNNY WOMEN
WE'VE MADE IT EVEN MORE AFFORDABLE
$5 AT DOOR...PLUS $1 OFF WITH STUDENT I.D.
MEN WELCOME
All Comedy Info 585-8615
20% OFF DINNERS FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages • All Shows

THIRD WORLD AFFAIRS

Nuclear Proliferation or Necessary Self-Defence?

Pratip Dastidar

America can get what she wants if she insists on it. After all, we've got it, and they haven't and won't have it for a long time to come Bernard Baruch, key U.S policy maker musing about the atom bomb in 1946.

When Bernard Baruch articulated this grand vision of Pax Americana, the United States was the unchallenged global supremo. The only threat to "security" was the nightmare of the 'Reds' getting the bomb.

August 1949: A research team led by Soviet physicist I.V. Kurchatov detonated the 'Red' bomb. The bomb breeds benevolence. The once all-powerful United States would now act with caution whenever it challenged Soviet interests. Missile silos opened during the 1962 Cuban crisis, the 1971 India-Pakistan war and the 1973 Arab-Israeli war. Yet the compelling logic of the atom restrained even the most violent imperial powers of all time.

October 1964: The People's Republic of China mastered the complex gaseous diffusion process used to enrich uranium. The new technology led to the first Chinese atomic explosion. The great Caucasian-controlled industrial nations would now act with caution whenever they challenged Chinese interests. The Chinese were admitted to the club, complete with the mandatory U.N. veto.

May 1974: India mastered the technology of plutonium reprocessing to detonate a 15-kiloton bomb in the desert of Rajasthan. A cherished dream of India's nuclear pioneer, the charismatic scientist called Homi Bhabha, had come true. India had demonstrated that indigenous technological cadres were entirely capable of mastering all aspects of science. The lesson was not lost on other nations in the South.

The United States observed these events with dismay. In 1957 it had created the International Atomic Energy Agency specifically to ensure that it could inspect and control the nuclear programs of all other sovereign states. By 1968, the United States [proud owner of 14,530 nuclear warheads] and the Soviet Union [proud owner of 12,403 warheads] piously signed the notorious nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. Over 120 other nations signed this document. The motives ranged from currying favor with the emperors, escaping their wrath, to accepting their bribes, or just deferring nuclear plans pending infrastructural development.

The amazing NPT is a document worthy of inspection. The treaty divides the world into "nuclear-weapon states" and "non-nuclear weapon" states. A "nuclear-weapon state" is one that has exploded a bomb before 1967. As a reward for this supreme achievement such states are exempted from pledging not to manufacture nuclear explosives and from IAEA inspections.

The "non-nuclear" states must humbly submit to these privileges. So what does this treaty assure the "non-nuclear states" in return for unilateral rejection of nuclear weapons?

Well, the treaty assures the world's nuclear have-nots that "all countries accepting the treaty agree to pursue negotiations in good faith to end the nuclear arms race and achieve nuclear disarmament under international control."

It is 1990 and the nuclear haves have yet to negotiate in good faith. They stand in contempt of international law, and the treaty is clearly null-and-void, since there have been no good faith negotiations involving these signatories. Their arsenals have expanded dramatically since the treaty was signed.

One could quite justifiably assert that the "non-nuclear" states have been taken for a grand ride. After all, the four nuclear capable signatories have a long historical record of being utterly incapable of understanding the words good faith.

Some refused to ratify this tragi-comic document. China, a "nuclear-weapon state" didn't care much for the facade, and refused to sign it. The words of Qian Jiadong, the Chinese ambassador to the 1985 Conference on Disarmament in Geneva, are quite enlightening.

"One could well ask why China refuses to accede to the NPT. The reason is simple. It is because China considers the Treaty a discriminatory one and as a matter of principle cannot but be critical of it. The huge stockpile of nuclear weapons in the possession of the major powers is a threat to all countries."

"It is only natural that the non-nuclear-weapon States should be protected against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons. The Treaty has evaded this issue."

The Chinese ambassador ended his statement with some choice comments on two powers whose nuclear arsenals never seem to concern the citizens of the North — Israel and South Africa. He described them as "frenziedly seeking nuclear-weapon capability in pursuit of regional domination."

Dr. K. Subramanium, a leading Indian Defence analyst, has some even more glowing praises for this treaty that Bush, Gorbachev, Mitterand and their cohorts hold as sacred. "The Treaty serves no purpose. It is time the nations of the world discarded this dysfunctional document."

So much for the much touted non-proliferation treaty. Let us look at the reality of the bomb.

A crude bomb has two lumps of enriched uranium, both of sub-critical mass placed at ends of a barrel. A chemical explosive forces the two lumps together starting a chain reaction. A timed neutron source is used to trigger this reaction.

Another simple bomb design uses plutonium material. In this type of bomb a sphere of plutonium encloses a neutron source. The slightly sub-critical sphere is surrounded by specially shaped high-energy chemical explosives. When these explode, their shapes focus explosive force inwards and this implosion squeezes the sphere till a neutron source triggers fission.

The technical information required to design and manufacture a bomb is available in the public domain. A major challenge is to obtain enriched uranium or plutonium. Enriched uranium can be separated from natural uranium using technologies like gaseous diffusion, high speed centrifuges, nozzle enrichment or laser beams. Various Southern countries are mastering these processes.

Plutonium can be extracted from nuclear reactors by complex reprocessing methods. Countries that can build their own reactors and master reprocessing, like India and Brazil, are self-sufficient in nuclear capability.

The next phase is to test the device, either through an open test, or by running simulations on a supercomputer. Finally a small arsenal of bombs needs to be matched to a delivery capability. Ballistic missiles, bombers or submarines are all being manufactured in the South.

Consequently, it is entirely clear that nations of the South will inevitably acquire nuclear deterrent capabilities, irrespective of the frantic measures of the nuclear haves. Technology is a global commodity, and there are thousands of determined and quiet scientists and engineers in the so-called Third World that are determined to develop the systems required.

If all else fails, espionage will prevail. Pakistan acquired enriched uranium technology by stealing it from the Dutch, courtesy of a metallurgist called Abdul Qadir Khan.

Brazil, South Korea and Argentina have the infrastructure, reactors and raw materials needed. Libya and Iraq have the oil wealth and state apparatus needed to buy the technology and production systems. The list continues to grow.

Bernard Baruch's musings on the bomb continue to reflect the dreams of the new order. The threat is now the prospect of nuclear nations in the South that will not blindly kow-tow to the existing order of resource inequality and empire.

This is the nightmare of nuclear proliferation, that is acceptable to over half the citizens of this country as the best reason to bomb Baghdad to bits. Today, there is no large deterrent to the nuclear North.

But history shows that unipolar empires will cede to a multipolar reality. The bomb is perceived as the great equalizer, whether those that can only see the South through Northern lenses like it or not. Technology is not the exclusive child of these nations, and to control it is futile in an age of communication.

To protest proliferation of the bomb while showing spectacular inability to curb one's own national arsenal is supremely hypocritical. All nations are entitled to self-defence, and the belief that only nations of the North can be responsible nuclear powers does not even merit discussion. There is a logical course.

Non-discriminatory disarmament. The South is clearly awaiting the day that the powers of the North commence the destruction of their stockpiles of death. It is only then that the nuclear age will end. But then, the countries of the North will have to cede control over resources . . . in good faith.

Pratip Dastidar is Collegian Staff.

The Mechanics of Recolonization

Hussein Ibish

When those of us from the South speak of the era of new colonialism or the process of recolonization, many people from the North apparently do not know what we are talking about because they are unaware of the nature of the imperial project in which their countries were and are engaged. Their eyes tend to glaze over when we mention the words 'colonialism' and 'imperialism.' To us, however, these are not abstract concepts or ideological constructs, rather they are "living presences." Particularly for those of us from the Middle East, Central America, and the Andeas, the realities of colonialism and recolonization are experienced on a personal level and as a part of daily life.

In order to put the case to the skeptical Northerner, who is probably unfamiliar with fundamental colonial realities, it is encumbant on us to identify some key characteristics of colonial behavior and point out the recent manifestations of these tactics. Let us begin with the matter of Concessions in nominally sovereign nations to the colonial powers. Concessions are mutually "agreed" compromises of the sovereignty of the colonized nation and licence for the infringement of sovereign rights by colonial powers. Modern examples of this practice include many United States oil interests in the Middle East, extraterritorial areas such as the Canal Zone in Panama, and D.E.A.-related concessions in the Andeas. A similar practice but one instituted unilaterally, and without even the facade of agreement is Extraterritoriallity, which is simply the extension of sovereign power over an area of foreign sovereignty or one beyond one's jurisdiction. Recent examples certainly include Israel's "security zone" in Lebanon, the invasion of Nicaraguan territory in Panama [the ambassador's residence], the kidnapping of a Mexican doctor for trial in the United States, the assertion of jurisdiction over General Noriega, and the forcing down of an aircraft carrying suspected hijackers in international airspace.

Another key feature of colonialism is the Unequal Treaty in which the colonial power uses the facade of a treaty to extract unfair and unequitable bilateral arrangements through the use of coercion or bribery [personal or national]. The Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, The Camp David Peace Treaty, I.M.F. and World Bank loan and debt renegotiations, military base agreements of many kinds, and various aspects of G.A.T. are certainly in this category of colonial exploitation.

Another classic colonial tactic is Gunboat Diplomacy, or the use of overt displays of military might in an effort to coerce the colonized to behave in a manner acceptable to the colonizer. Military maneuvers on the Honduran/Nicaraguan and Saudi/Kuwaiti borders, displays of air power in Manila during a coup attempt, mining of Nicaraguan harbors, and increased naval presences in sensitive waters during moments of tension are examples.

The imperial tactic of using proxies and mercenaries includes such groups as the Contras, Renamo, the S.L.A., and the Khmer Rouge, and is clearly still a favorite. So is the practice of Intervention to replace a sovereign government with one more submissive to the colonial power, as witnessed in Grenada and Panama. The most fundamental and basic of the colonial tactics, however, is outright occupation, and it remains a common approach of imperialists. Certainly Panama, the territories occupied by Israel, various "Soviet Socialist Republics," South Korea, New Caledonia, and, now, Saudi Arabia are among the most egregious current examples of the deplorable phenomenon.

The tactics and methodoligies of colonialism listed above are but a few of the most basic techniques. There have been many other means to these malicious ends in both the classical and modern stages of the colonial enterprise. I simply want to make it clear that the age of colonialism is far from dead, as witnessed by the distressing good health of many of its oldest vile practices.

SKIERS!
Drop By Campus Travel
To fill out a questionaire
for $5 discount at
Mount Snow
Valley Transporter
Midweek and Weekend Shuttles to New England Ski Areas!

CHINA GARDEN
(formerly Lotus Blossom)
20 % OFF
orders over $10
Dec. 1 — Dec. 30
ENJOY A TASTE OF REAL CHINESE FOOD!
SUN.-THURS. 11:30 a.m.-9:45 p.m.
FRI. & SAT. 11:30 a.m.-10:45 p.m.
LUNCH HOUR: 11:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
• New Management
• New Ownership
• New Menu
• 7 Days a week
• Take-out
• Luncheon Specials $3.75 - $4.55
13 NO. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST, MA • 256-0287 256-0286

Styles By Deborah
The Spa For Hair & Skin Care
549-5610
65 University Drive • Amherst

FREE TANNING SESSION
With Any Salon Service And This Coupon. Expires 12/10/90

$3.00 Off
Professional Consultation and Style Cut
(Regularly $16.00 to $18.00)
First time customers only. Expires 12/15/90

$5.00 Off
Any Spiral Perm, Facial or Highlighting
Each item redeemable only Expires 12/10/90

$10 Off Tanning Pkg of 10 Expires 12/15/90

It's Bathrobe Day!
Saturday, December 8th
ALL ROBES & PJ'S
20% off*
Come see your favorite J•Rich employees in their bathrobes!
(Wear your bathrobe and receive an additional 10% off)
*Not valid with other promotions.

J•RICH
CLOTHING FOR MEN
191 N. Pleasant St., Amherst • 253-2013
22 Masonic St., Northampton • 586-6336
OPEN 7 DAYS

Specials
Glacier Bay $4.99 12 pack
Keystone $8.99 24 12oz. cans
Dos XX $4.49 6 pk bots.
Michelob (all kinds) $5.99 12 pk. cans
Bud Light $11.99 cs 24-12 oz. cans

Miscellaneous Specials
Duboeuf Beaujolais Nouveau 750 ml $6.99
Absolut Vodka 750 ml $9.99
Four Seasons Vodka and Gin 1.75L $8.99

FOUR SEASONS
Wines/Liquors
ROUTE 9 HADLEY • 584-8174
Between Burger King and Dunkin' Donuts

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!
Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

CA$H FOR YOUR BOOKS!
BRING YOUR BOOKS TO:

TEXTBOOK ANNEX
Dec. 12-14 & 17-21
9:00am-4:00pm
Dec . 15, 10:00am-3:00pm

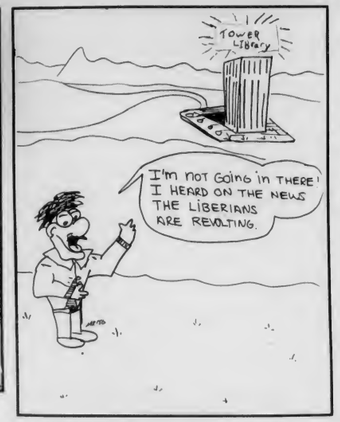
HAMPDEN COMMONS & WORCESTER COMMONS
Dec. 18-19, 11:00am-8:00pm
Dec. 20, 11:00am-6:00pm

We buy the largest range of books- Hard or Soft bound.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

"Idiot! . . . You're standing on my foot!"

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

SIR, SINCE YOUR '88 PAPERS REFLECT SOMEONE ELSE'S CONVICTIONS, I WONDER IF YOU COULD TELL US WHAT YOURS ARE.
WELL, NO, I'D RATHER NOT GET INTO THAT NOW...
CONVICTIONS! CONVICTIONS! CONVICTIONS!
OKAY, OKAY, I'LL GIVE YOU ONE! WRITE THIS DOWN...
MY RE-ELECTION. I BELIEVE DEEPLY IN MY RE-ELECTION! I'M UNSHAKABLE ON THAT POINT!
BY GOD, I THINK HE MEANS IT!
YUP! THAT'S THE BUSH I GRESH UPON...
EVEN IF HE'S LYING!

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

Coach, I'm from the Administration. I'm here to discuss the, uh, "less-than-Kosher" methods of a certain player.
Marcus?
Hey- Don't Worry! Marcus is the fairest player we- MARCUS, WATCH IT WITH THAT THING!!
KHOOOSH!!!
Misfire! Sorry!
I'll have a chat with him.
I'm worrying.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Journey
5 Merchandising promotions
10 Spouse
14 Tiny bit
15 Happening
16 One of the EEC
17 Eternally
18 Range rope
19 Fireplace fuel
20 Taken away
22 Geometric curve
24 Cornhusker's capital: Abbr
25 Characteristic
26 Turn away from 30 Profited
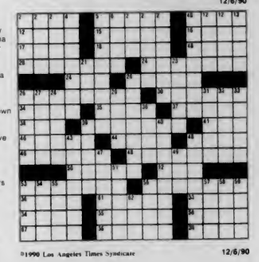
34 Annoy
35 Hill's companion
37 Ruth's mother-in-law
38 Survive, with 'out'
39 Porch
41 Energy
42 Pester
44 Arabian ruler
45 Portal
46 Join the army
48 Lacking aroma
50 Dutch painter Jan
52 Roman 52
53 Collector, of a sort
56 Slap it on
60 San wearer
61 Shade of brown
63 Ocean movement
64 Lotion additive
65 Chemical compound
66 Pre-holiday times
67 Deep drawers
68 Prepare
69 Landlord's income

DOWN
1 Tear homophone
2 Wander
3 Component
4 Person on probation
5 Swan's song
6 Eager
7 Meadow
8 Welcome sign
9 Locale for Hogan's heroes
10 Armed force
11 Over all
12 Labels
13 Otherwise
21 — ordinaire
23 Climbing plant
25 Friend of Hercules
26 Mountain ridge
27 Compare, with 'to'
28 Perfect '10'
29 Scarlett's home
31 Changing stars
32 Gives off
33 'Marching' cons
36 Vance AFB city
39 Suit parts
40 Humor
43 Scaredy-cats
45 Shine
47 Sway, in a way
49 Inlet
51 Obliterate
53 Kuwait
54 Bamako's location
55 Shortly
56 Hurried
57 Busy place
58 First family's home
59 Take a break
62 Actress Hagen

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

A	S	A	P		R	A	G	S		L	I	M	I	T
C	O	L	A		E	M	I	T		A	L	I	C	E
C	R	A	S	H	O	V	E	R		B	O	K	E	N
T	A	R	S	U	S		E	L	M	W	E	S	T
			E	L	K	S		P	I	N	E
S	P	R	A	I	N	S		L	A	Y	E	R	I	S
A	P	O		N	A	P	A		T	O	R	A	N
C	O	L	L	I	S	I	O	N	C	O	U	R	S	E
M	O	K	E	S		L	O	G	O		O	P	A
F	L	A	T	E	R	S		N	U	N	N	E	R	Y
			T	E	A	S		S	T	O	L	E
L	A	M	E		S	W	A	G		R	O	U	T	E	S
I	N	E	R	T		H	I	T	A	N	D	R	U	N
O	T	T	E	R		T	A	K	E	S		C	E	R	O
N	E	E	D	Y		B	L	O	T		S	T	O	W

12/6/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 12/6/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Grilled Cheese Chicken Cutlet	Ham Fettuccini
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Grilled Cheese Chicken Cutlet	Lentil Loaf Fettuccini

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Small, intimate affairs hold more appeal than large gatherings. A candid chat will clear up confusion. Travel is both productive and relaxing. Make major decisions with confidence.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The green light is flashing where romance and entertainment are concerned. Do not draw into your shell. Avoid getting shampoo on rubber chickens. Be affectionate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A delay could depress you. Do not give up! Time is on your side. Someone confined to home or hospital needs your attention. Avoid making decisions on financial commitments. Do some comparison shopping.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A great day for anyone engaged in negotiations overseas. Influential people will seek your services. Do not undersell yourself. Tend to minor health problems before they turn serious.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Do not allow a group to back you into a corner. You can afford to gamble on your ideas and beliefs. Emphasize your originality and independence. Your home life influences a major decision.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Although your family obligations may be tiresome today, persevere! Spend more time on self-improvement projects. Family issues call for discussion tonight. Romance sizzles for singles.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are unselfish to a fault. Stop giving in to everyone's whim. Check the legalities affecting a partnership. A calm talk settles your differences with loved one. Romance resumes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If the path to friendship or romance is temporarily blocked, act nonchalant. Try not to build castles in the air. A down-to-earth attitude is your best. Domestic life agrees with you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The creative touches you apply to the home front will be greatly appreciated. A relationship has a fresh new feeling. Something clicks into place this evening. A puzzle is solved.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Well-deserved recognition is coming your way. Make your presence known to influential people at social events. A period of quiet meditation brings inner peace. You find new solutions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Extra responsibilities may tax your patience and energy. Lasting rewards are certain, however. Seize a unique opportunity to show others how well you can work under pressure.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Read the fine print before signing contracts. Intellectual efforts are favored over physical feats today. Diplomacy will help you resolve a conflict with your loved ones.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Sarah DeMaster
Copy Editor.....Mike Webber
Layout Technician.....Seth Kaye
Photo Technician.....Richard DuCree
Production Supervisors.....Seth Kaye
Typesetter.....Danielle Dowling
Production.....Terry Starmer, Andre Busi, Mike Carvahlo, Sharon Frost

You're never too young to change the world.

We're attracted to college students for what they haven't learned: limitations. Systems to applications, multimedia to networking, you won't find any limitations at Microsoft. What you will find are small teams and immediate responsibility for important projects.

We're out to revolutionize the world with our vision of personal computing. And we're looking for the brightest technical minds to do it. Many of them already work here as Software Design Engineers and Program Managers—learn how you can join them.

If you are pursuing an MS or PhD degree in Computer & Information Science, Math, Electrical Engineering or related technical area, then let's talk about your programming experience, design skills and/or exposure to managing projects. We're having an Information Session the night before our on-campus interviews. We're looking forward to talking with you there—even if you're NOT signed up on our interview schedule. Relocation is available for both summer and full-time positions.

Company Presentation
Feb. 6, 1991
7:00 p.m.
Mather Career Center
On-campus
Interviews for Full-time and
Summer positions
Feb. 7, 1991

We are an equal opportunity employer and are working toward a more culturally diverse workplace.

Microsoft
Making it all make sense™

READ THE COLLEGIAN

RUSSELL's LIQUORS

Discount Discount

18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Featuring Canadian Glacier Bay
$10.95 cse bots

Bacardi Rum 1.75 L $14.99

Wild Turkey '101' 750 ml $11.99

FORMAL TIME!
Cooks Champagne
$3.99 750 ml
Codorniu Brut Classico
$4.99 750 ml

Knicker bocker cse $7.50

Andre Champagne cse 12 bots $33.00
Many More
In Store Specials
(especially on wines)

Maccabee six pk $3.70 cse $11.99

★ Delivery Available ★ All beers plus deposits

Sports Notice

Intramurals Rosters are still being accepted for Holiday Basketball. There will be an Ice Hockey managers meeting at 6 p.m. tonight in Boyden room 223. For more information stop by Boyden room 215 or call 545-0022.

we have the Christmas Presence

Find it at Faces

amherst • northampton • open 7 days

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON.-THURS 8:30-3:30 FRI 8:30-2:30 •DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

25 + CLUB Potluck Dinner. Thursday, 12/6 7PM Pierpont Dorm Lounge. Call Randy 546-2183

ASIAN AMERICAN
Student Association
General Meeting
Today
Dec. 6 (Thurs) 8:30PM
at
Campus Center Rm 168C
Please attend!

COME JOIN US! Pizza party and UMass Basketball game Dec. 8 Thursday 5:30 Dukes Rm UMass ID and pizza is free

THINK SPRING BREAK!
Book your packages Feb. 14

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

ENTREPRENEURS
Looking for motivated people who want to make money. Requires as much or as little time as you have. Incredible support system. FTC approved. Great for winter break job. All welcome. Call tonight and ask about business opportunity 546-3868 253-5065

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM
$1000 in just one week
Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! The program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

FREE HOUSING RAFFLE! Check out the concourse or an OHAG Rep. sponsored by OHAG (5-1385)

OCHO needs fair housing researchers for discrimination project. Be part of the solution! Call 545-0865 or SUB 428

PVOC OIL COOP Purchase home heating oil at reduced cost per gallon. COD or automatic delivery register at OCHO or call 545-0865 for more information

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR
Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

AUTO FOR SALE

1974 VOLVO 2 door 142S. Asking $395. 593-6656.

1981 RABBIT DIESEL, 4dr., std., clean, 75K on 2nd motor, radio/cassette, $600 665-2943.

1981 TOYOTA TERCEL, 129,000 miles new brakes no problems! $800 Call 585-6940.

1988 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles. Excellent Condition 1 owner AM FM Cassette Stereo. Recent complete tune up $6300.00 or best offer. Call Bruce at 256-1215

AUTO LEASING

ANY CREDIT HISTORY accepted.
Any make or model you desire
Delivered is 5 days, anywhere in the USA
Call Bernard Richards, 1-800-344-5582

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 OR 2 PEOPLE for bedroom in house across from Townehouse. $144 + per person. Call Melissa 549-6063 start Jan. 1st

1 ROOM in two bdrm apt. 275/mo. Heat free .5 miles from Campus Ashish 545-0329 or 549-8352.

1 SINGLE BEDROOM Swiss Village $249/mo. Take over lease Jan 1. On bus route. Call Christine 253-0436.

3 ROOMS in 5 bedroom house | available Jan. 2 available Feb | 21 + . $225.549-6792

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor Take over lease Jan 1. 760 a month

GREAT SINGLE in Townhouse Apt in Amherst. Available for next semester. On bus route. has wall to wall carpeting. Mint condition. Cell Lisa at 549-7581.

LOOKING FOR MALE/FEMALE to move in to single room for spring semester. One mile from campus, on bus route, washer/dryer, large deck, +ball court in backyard, cable. Most definitely the nicest house in the area. All for only $240/month! Call 549-0920 or 549-1151

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT
Spacious 1 bedroom renovated
586-2988 $560 negotiable

RELISTED DUE TO CANCELLATION
January sublet in Amherst
549-3610

SINGLE, PUFTON, females Call 549-2781

SINGLE ROOM in four bedroom on bus route at Swiss Village $250 a month utilities included. Call 253-0612

STUDIO IN AMHERST $460w/util.
Jan 1. Call Scott 253-0820

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352.

TWO BEDROOMS available for spring starting Jan 1. Old farm house directly across the UMass Horsefarm. Great housemates. One room can be double. Call now 275 & 250 549-8117

FOR SALE

" FUTONS "
" MANY STYLES OF FRAMES "
" AND MATTRESSES TO "
" CHOOSE FROM "
" RESERVE NOW FOR DELIVERY TO "
" YOUR DORM, HOUSE OR APARTMENT "
" NEXT SEMESTER "
" ONLY $10 DOWN "
" METAWAMPE FURNITURE "
" 256-0645 "

LARGE ENTERTAINMENT CONSOLE in excellent condition
A must see-Call after 6PM
Ask for Peter 549-6458

NINTENDO with 4 games- $110, full futon and frame $120. Both excellent condition Brett at 253-9015

PINBALL MACHINE for sale $480/B O . 3 multi balls 2 comps- modern Call 546-1348

ROUNDTRIP TICKET Albany-Pittsburgh-Albany 12/21. $100 or b.o. Ride to Albany negotiable. Call 247-9258

FOOF

T-SHIRTS, JACKETS, SWEATS, intramural uniforms, hats, and more. Low prices and good quality. Call Brian, 546-4899

WOMENS SKI BOOTS, Alpina, size 8 $60 Call Steph at 546-4439. Leave message

ZOOMASS T-SHIRTS only $5 L, XL. Come and get 'em for x-mas. Hugh 549-6659

FOUND

BIG, FLUFFY, FRIENDLY Siamese looking cat. Found area of Northeast Street, Amherst. We're taking good care of her! Please call 546-6331 if she belongs to you.

LONG BLACK WOOL COAT
on side of Fearing St.
One label says "Made in England"
Tell me what the other says and its yours!
Call Paul 253-2773

PURPLE JACKET at BK on Rt. 9. Would like to return to rightful owner. Call 549-7291 to claim.

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283.

AMUSEMENT PARKS, Holiday resorts, Disneyland, 8 flags, are hiring. Great fun and get paid too! Reserve position by calling 1-805-682-7555 Ext. K-1370.

ASSEMBLERS: Excellent income to assemble products from your home 504-646-1700 dept. #1307

CHILD CARE, Thursdays (Mom-Aft) during January 549-2629 Close to campus.

CLERICAL ASSISTANT, 15 hrs./week during January 5-4783. Word processing preferred.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach it.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language
Classes begin January 21, 1991
intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica, 549-5065.

LOST

RED CHANGEPURSE lost 11/30. Friday at 3:30 in Cape Cod Lounge/Ministore. Important! Please return the contents. You can keep the money, no questions asked! Sue 549-6446.

WHITE & GOLD COLORED PIN
with phlebotomy technician inscription, blue and red medical insignia. Sentimental value. Please call 546-2692

NEED A PERSONAL COMPUTER?

DO I HAVE A MODEL FOR YOU!
Zenith, PC Compatible W/NEC V20 Chip 640 kb RAM, 20 Meg Hard Disk, RGB Color Monitor, Clock Card, Microsoft's latest Bus Mouse, Software... Call Mett 549-5190 for more details. Leave a message. Price is negotiable.

PERSONALS

ACCT. 221 I said 371. Only one way to find out. Let's get together. DD

BILL L. - I've seen you now as the mind behind Schoolhouse Rock and the music behind Sweet Charity. I just want to tell you of the respect and admiration I have for your alluring talent!

BROTHERS OF APO
Roses are red
Violets are blue
APO Brothers
I'm proud to be one of you
Love Toni

COLIN-
Sorry I was so evasive
but tell me, weren't you intrigued? Yes, you do know me
-Karin

CRYBABY:
Well here it is. Sorry it took over two years. I just went you to know that friends are forever

Deathstalker

ERIC,
The countdown is finally over!
Have a great 21st birthday!
Love,
Lisa

EVAN L.
Te Quereimos!!!
Love Two Chickenones

GIGGLEPUSS
You've been a big part of my life since 12-6-86 when french fries and gum started it all. Always remember the good times and many more to come. I'm thinking of you today
I L Y,
Crybaby

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ERMA!
Oh, I guess we can call you Nancy now because you are really 21!
Love, Michelle & Ellen

HEIDI VANAMBURGH- Happy 22nd Birthday! Stop being nauseous and enjoy yourself!! Take it "Step by Step"! We love you! -The Posse

HEY ED CASEY Thanks for a great formal, man! Love, Jen PS Happy Birthday!

HEY NUMBER 40!!!
Depending on how you play the game, that cooldown can get awfully HOT!!!!
-A Swimmer

JULIE Happy 22nd Birthay. I'm glad I could spend it with you. I Love You. Eric

LAURIE ELLIS!!! Birthday greetings waah! All your friends wish you the happiest birthday.

LISA ROGERS-- This is a Happy B-Day CHEER, and tonight we'll celebrate w/ BEER, toasting you best wishes for the YEAR!! Love, Karen, Linda & Norm

MAY THE SCHWARTZES be with you!

MONICA- To the newest Brother of APO. Congradulations on your initiation last night.
Love, Your Big Brother Rich

TO ME SO..
Call me at 10PM if you want to talk to me
I'll be home. Jason

TO THE CURLY REDHEAD in Brett
I've been watching you!
-An Admirer

TO THE TOC BARTENDERS Friday night, you can mix our drinks anytime
The Grape Crushers

ROOMMATES WANTED

AMHERST CENTER- Perfect location
Large room in two friendly house
ALL UTILITIES PAID, HUGE YARD
$295 253-2329

DO YOU or you and a friend need a place to five next semester. I need someone to take over my part of the lease. The Brook, starting Jan 1. call and leave a message 253-9674

FEMALE NEEDED to take over spring lease in Townehouse beg Jan 26 $187/mo. 549-4249

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. $185 Jan sublet option 253-0409

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. in house $200 Feb to May no lease. 253-0409

FEMALE WANTED to share room in Brandywine starting Jan 1st $187.50 includes heat. Call 549-4259 A S A P

HOBART LANE, 2 non-smoking females needed to share double only 167.50 each/month. Kris or Noyem 549-1978

LARGE BEDROOM w/walkin closet available in Puffton. Ideal for one or two. Rent 268.00 month includes heat & water. Call 549-7773.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring sem. in Brandywine. Male, non-smoker. Call 549-5414

SINGLE ROOM in nice condo
4 miles to UMass'
$230 +
253-0413

WANTED: Female roommate to share a room Amity Place beginning 1/1 549-5316

WOMAN WANTED 3 bedroom apt. Center Amherst 260/mo. Call 253-0617

WALK TO CAMPUS or Town from Triangle St $157 + Call 549-8258

SERVICES

DO YOU KNOW THE TIME? Watch batteries and full jewelry repair service. Silverscape designs, the finest gifts from glens to gold. 264 North Pleasant Street, Amherst 253-3324

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services
ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010

SUBLET

1 BEDROOM in two bedroom apt. Furnished Sunderland on busline. female grad pref. $225/mo. Susan 665-8233.

ROOM TO SUBLET in January. Very big room. Dishwasher, washer, dryer, TV, furniture. On bus route. Call Ahmed 253-5837

SUBLET FOR WINTER one room in Presidential Apts. Cell 549-0035

AND MIMSEY WERE THE BOROGOVES

ROOM TO SUBLET in a great house. Three minute walk to town, five minute walk to campus. On bus route. Call 549-6508

WOMAN LOOKING for Jan sublet. Honest, neat, dependable. Will care for pet. 545-4183 or 545-3868 after 5PM.

TO ALL HIP CATS

PEOPLE'S MARKET & EARTHFOODS are holding their first ever coffeehouse! Join us in the commonwealth room (Earthfoods) this Thursday, December 6, from 8-11 PM for an evening full of fun food and music. Call John at 549-9543 for info or if you'd like to perform.

TRAVEL

CHRISTMAS, SPRING BREAK, SUMMER TRAVEL FREE. Air couriers needed and cruiseship jobs. Call 1-805-682-7555 ext F-1426

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI WEEK. $189 for 5 day lift ticket, 5 nights lodging (mountainside condo) 5 days intercollegiate activities, sponsored by Labatts & Mt. Sutton, Canada, Group Leader Discounts. Jan 6-11 or Jan 13-18. Call Ski Travel Unlimited 1-800-999-SKI-9

SPRING BREAK!!
Cancun, Bahamas, Jamaica
7 nights (starting at $399)
Interested?
Call me- Traci 546-5258

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30. TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers. Affordable, dependable, Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING?
Fast and Accurate
Typing/Wordprocessing
Free laserprinting
Call Becca 549-4600 X433.

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORDPROCESSING 323-4579

WORDPROCESSING: Papers, etc. Reasonable rates, fast, efficient service. Call Janet 253-3276 leave message.

WORDPROCESSING, REPORTS, Resumes, Theses, Graphics, Laser Printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & utils 549-4195.

LOOKING TO TAKE OVER
your 2 bdrm lease in
Jan. Call Pam/Jacqui
253-9776

ORIGINAL METAL BAND seeks drummer and bass player to complete band. Call Steve at 546-2332 after 9:30PM weekdays

UNDERWRITING DIRECTOR FOR WMUA
Sales experience preferred
Excellent resume & business potential
Pay includes 15 percent commission on all contracts gained
Apply in station lobby 102CC or call 545-2876
Deadline 12/10/90

SPORTS

Terriers box out improved Minutewomen in 75-54 loss

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

There're two halves to every college basketball game. Just ask the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team, who showed great improvement in leading Boston University 31-29 at halftime before finally succumbing 75-57 last night at Curry Hicks Cage.

"That was the best we've played all year," said coach UMass Kathy Hewelt of her team's first-half performance. "We worked the ball around on offense, we played smart. We hit the boards hard; but we've got to string two halves like that together."

The Lady Terriers parlayed 22-for-23 from the line and ran up 10 unanswered points at the start of the second half. This completed their third win of the season.

Boston University, 75-57

Boston University (75)
Dukeman 7-13 2-2 17, Sosnak 2-7 6-6 10, Manchak 5-5 4-4 14, Higgins 3-15 6-6 12, VanZandt 6-14 1-2 13, Killian 0-4 0-0 0, Olson 1-2 0-0 2, Hughes 1-2 2-2 2, Turon 1-1 1-1 3. Totals 26-63, 22-23 37.
Massachusetts (57)
Nevarez 0-2 2-2 2, Kristofik 2-6 4-4 8, McCusker 10-21 5-7 25, Schusler 1-4 1-2 4, Muza 2-7 0-0 4, Moran 1-4 0-0 2, Hessel 4-9 0-0 9, Pemberton 1-2 1-1 3. Totals 21-55 13-16 57
Halftime Massachusetts 31, Boston 29 Fouled out none. Three-point goals Dukeman, Schulser, Hessel. Rebounds Boston 37 (Sosnak 8), Massachusetts 39 (Muza 9). Assists Boston 14 (Higgins 4), Massachusetts 14 (Kristofik 4). Total fouls Boston 15, Massachusetts 16 (McCusker 4).
A 135

BU outscored the Minutewomen 46-26 in the second half, putting four starters in double figures, and recieved a perfect shooting night from Fanya Manchak as they came back to win.

"We talked at halftime about how we weren't playing our game," said BU coach Chris Basile. "In the first half we weren't playing the game, we were watching the game." She credited UMass for keeping BU from doing what they wanted.

"In the second half, we came out and played our game," noted Basile of her team's second-half adjustments. "We did get sloppy late in the second half, but we did a good job from the free throw line — that was the difference."

Keyburn McCusker led the Minutewomen with 25 points, 15 of which she scored in the first half. Trish Hessel and Kim Kristofik followed with 9 and 8 points, respectively.

UMass piled up a 21-13 edge in rebounds in the first, but was out-rebounded 24-14 in the second.

"We didn't rebound in the second half," Hewelt reflected. "We didn't play with the same intensity on defense in the second, and good defensive position leads to rebounds."

Cherie Muza hauled down nine rebounds for UMass, while Kristofik grabbed seven. Jill Sosnak led the Lady Terriers with eight.

Marion Dukeman was high scorer for BU with 17 points. Manchak chipped in 14, going 5-for-5 from the field and 4-for-4 from the line in 24 valuable minutes. Richele VanZandt added 13 points and Andrea Higgins popped in 12 for BU.

After falling behind 12-9 in the early going, UMass played even with BU and took a 28-26 lead when Shawna Pemberton completed a three-point play. On UMass' next possession, Trish Hessel hit a trey to put them up by five, as things looked up.

McCusker was 7-14 from the field in the first half alone, while Hessel chipped in seven of her nine points in the first stanza.

BU came out on fire in the second half, as Higgins and VanZandt keyed the Lady Terriers' 10-0 run. Hewelt called time-out, and UMass looked like they might respond to the BU run. Jessica Schussler hit a three-point field goal, cutting the lead to 39-34.

However, BU refused to cave in. The Lady Terriers had upped their lead to 11 when Dukeman, a senior and BU's leading scorer, canned a three-pointer from well beyond the arc to put BU ahead 46-35 six minutes into the second half. Later, Dukeman stole a pass and went in for the lay-up midway through the half, making it 54-39.

"We had open shots, but we couldn't knock them down," said Hewelt of the Minutewomen's scoring drought.

UMass, however, wasn't finished yet. McCusker came alive again, as did their defense, and the lead was down to seven when Muza's jumpshot rolled around the rim but refused to fall. Down 64-53 with three minutes to go, UMass started fouling. Dukeman, Manchak, and Corrine Hughes all hit both ends of 1-for-1 free throws to put the ballgame away.

"We played hard for 40 minutes," Hewelt said. "We played well in streaks — we need to ties those streaks together."

Collegian photo by Carrie Wyeth

Sophomore forward Kim Kristofik takes a shot during last night's loss to Boston University.

Men's swimming falls to Brown, as divers do well in 132-110 loss

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team suffered its first loss of the season at Brown last night, ending a 15-meet winning streak which spanned nearly two seasons.

The Minutemen (2-1), lost 132-110 to the Ivy League opponent. They have not tasted defeat since their last loss against Boston University, Feb. 13, 1989.

"Our depth is the only thing that kept us in it," UMass coach Russ Yarworth said. "It was kind of a reversal of last year's meet." UMass won by 30 points last year.

> "Our depth is the only thing that kept us in it. It was kind of a reversal of last year's meet. There are no sour grapes – they won."
> – Coach Russ Yarworth

Yarworth said judges missed a blatant false start by a Brown swimmer in the 50-yard freestyle which cost UMass the race, but said he would not dwell on it.

"He missed it, but what can you do?," Yarworth said. "There are no sour grapes, they won."

Brown freshman Steve McBride won the 1,000, 500, and 200 freestyles. UMass' Scott Reed finished second in the 1000 and 500, while Chris Barrett took second in the 200. Yarworth said he hoped Reed could tire McBride enough in the 1,000 to enable Barrett to beat him in the 200.

"[Barrett and Reed] were close, but not really within striking distance," Yarworth said. "They won all the close races."

Minuteman Jay Peluso took the 200 breaststroke in 2:14.47 and placed second to Jeremy Legg in the individual medley. Legg finished the medley in 1:57.06, Peluso in 1:59.04.

"We got whipped," he said. Yarworth said his team swam well but Brown was well prepared. "We didn't swim badly, but I thought they were a little flat."

However, UMass divers swept both board events. Steve Myers, Bill Rozen and Rich Dockery took the top three places in the 1- and 3-meter dives. Yarworth said diving was one of Brown's weaker events, yet was still encouraged by the results.

"Our divers are coming along," Yarworth said. "The [diving] competition wasn't that great, but it's a good sign."

Brown's Jeff Stride, center of controversy for shaving prior to the meet, contributed to three first-place finishes. He won the 100 freestyle and swam legs of both the 400 medley and freestyle relays.

Yarworth and Brown coach Ed Reed had a verbal 'no shave' agreement prior to this meet. Last week Stride shaved prior to Brown's meet with Dartmouth and subsequently broke his personal best records in the individual medley and 100 freestyle.

"He swam a great first leg of medley relay [the first event], which gave their whole team an extra boost," Yarworth said of Stride.

"We swam as well as we did against Boston College, but they were just better prepared tonight," Yarworth said. "It's a little tough when they win every event."

Men's hoop to host Lowell

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

How strong a motivator is revenge?

The University of Lowell is going to find out tonight, according to a few University of Massachusetts men's basketball players who were around last year when the Division II Chiefs posted a shocking 70-69 loss on the Minutemen at the Cage.

"It was an embarrassment. I owe them one before I leave," senior Rafer Giles said.

"They'd better come to play . . . ," sophomore forward Tony Barbee said. "Last year we played cool."

For UMass, last year's loss was a disaster.

Jim McCoy shot 1-for-14 from the floor. The Minutemen missed 13 free throws, including two by John Tate with 40 seconds left that would have tied the game. The Minutemen fumbled away the ball in the last 10 seconds, trailing by a point. Anton Brown fractured his kneecap in the first half.

Though UMass righted itself soon after, winning 11 of its next 13 games en route to a 17-14 season, the sting lingers.

"I think we all have something to prove," McCoy said. "It's an embarrassment to have a Division II team come in and beat us. They just flat out kicked our butts. We came out and played lackadaisical and when we do that anybody can beat us."

Lowell returns tonight to the Cage with a record of 3-4, off an 81-78 win at St. Anslem's Tuesday. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

Transfer guard Steve Lane has launched 40 three-point trys in seven games, and made 18. Lane averages 15.1 points per game, yet center James Collins leads the Chiefs with 17.7 points and 7.7 rebounds per game.

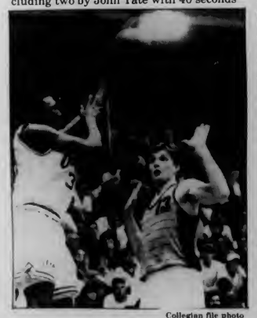
UMass (2-1) beat New Hampshire 76-84 Tuesday in Durham, N.H. and St. Joseph's 83-60 Saturday in Philadelphia. The Minutemen lost their season-opener at Purdue last week, 64-53.

McCoy is still working into shape after a preseason virus. He started at Purdue and was 1-for-13, then scored 15 points in 15 minutes at St. Joseph's after sitting out the first half.

At UNH McCoy was the first sub off the bench and scored 25 points, including several key hoops during a second-half run that blew the game open.

Tonight's game is the first of three-straight at the Cage for UMass, where they will face Atlantic 10 foes George Washington Saturday and Rutgers next Tuesday.

Game notes: The game will be broadcast on 91.1 WMUA FM and WHMP 99.3 FM . . . A banner commemorating UMass' NIT appearance last year will be unveiled . . . Will Herndon is shooting 80 percent from the floor (16-of-20) . . . A valid student ID is your ticket into the Cage.



Collegian file photo

Sophomore forward Harper Williams scores here against the Soviet team. The team will play Lowell at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Cage.

THIS WEEKEND

The Performance Project combines a multitude of talent

By LISA CURTIS
Collegian Staff

This weekend at Kirby Theater at Amherst College, the Chorus Performance Studio Class from Amherst College will present The Performance Project.

The Project contains the works of nine choreographer/directors from the Five Colleges.

"The most interesting point is that each piece is between five and 12 minutes long. There are eight pieces of work and the common thread is that the same set is used in different ways in each piece," says stage manager, Nancy Kramer.

"There are six pieces of that set which we call movable modules. They move on wheels and have a platform in front." The moveable modules were designed by Amherst College professor, Suzanne Dougan.

Not all of the nine student choreographer/directors perform in their pieces.

Two of the students involved in the Project are from the University of Massachusetts. Jenine Davison, a senior who teaches at UMass in addition to her studies here, will perform a dance and movement piece that portrays three stages of personal growth. These stages go from isolation to exuberance.

Nancy Kramer, also a senior at UMass and stage manager for the Project that took a semester to accomplish, says, "Last year the Performance Studio Class was a year long with the performance in the spring. This semester the same work had to be done in a shorter time.

"Permission was needed to get into the class by the professor. The assignment was to develop your own short piece," Kramer said.

The Chorus Performance Studio class was taught at Amherst College by Professor Wendy Woodson.

"She coordinated the entire Project," Kramer said.

Brett Astor and Jenny Sheppard, juniors at Hampshire College, collaborated on one piece. It is a combination of photography, film and original music that deals with issues of gender in the American living room.

Amy Cox, a senior at Mount Holyoke College, created a choreographic work loosely based on Eudora Welty's "Golden Apples."

Lisi DeHaas, a senior at Amherst College, performs in a solo that combines text and movement in provocative ways concerning women as sexual objects.

Charlotte Gram, a junior at Mount Holyoke College, has choreographed and directed a set of sequences in a kaleidoscope of structures and patterns.

Deborah Hull, a senior at Amherst College, has created an imaginative piece depicting the private dream world and childhood memories of three sisters.

Thomas Mauk, a senior at Hampshire College, uses such mediums as film, dance and video to show the relationship between violence and tenderness between men.

"It is inspired by the recent events against homosexuals," Kramer says.

Lisa Smith, a junior at Amherst College, choreographed a musical visualization in "Taberna," a movement from Carlorff's "Carmina Burana."

"She designed the piece with the music in mind," Kramer explains.

The lighting for the show was arranged by Amherst Lighting Design students taught by Professor Michael Baugmgarten.

"Most of the work done for the show was done by students. It's definitely going to be interesting," says Kramer.

"There is no admission and no reservations are necessary," Kramer stressed.

The Performance Project will take place on Dec. 7 and 9 at 8 p.m. at Kirby Theater at Amherst College. Admission is free.

THE PERFORMANCE PROJECT

Main St RECORDS
SON OF Main St RECORDS
RECORDS • CASSETTES • COMPACT DISCS
IMPORTED, INDEPENDENT & DOMESTIC
MON - WED 9:30 - 6 SUN 12 - 5
THURS - SAT 9:30 - 9
213 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-5726
COLLECTABLES • USED MANUFACTURER'S OVER-STOCKS
MONDAY - SATURDAY 10 - 5:30
THURSDAYS 10 - 9 SUNDAY 12 - 5
21 STATE ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-1707

Thai House
Thai Restaurant
Business Hours:
Mon.- Sat. 11:30 - 10:00 pm
Sun. 12 pm (noon) - 10:00 pm
430 Russell Street, Route 9
Hadley, Mass 01035
ONLY THAI RESTAURANT IN AMHERST
15% OFF with a student I.D. and this coupon on orders of a minimum of $10.00

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
ADVOCATE ★BEST★ THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1990 1ST PLACE
The aroma, sounti & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style—especially for you!
• Ample Free Parking
• Major Credit Cards Accepted
• Full Liquor License
• Open 7 Days A Week
• Take-Out Service Available
• No MSG
585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

A CABARET and DANCE !
Friday, Dec. 7, 1990
UMass Student Union Ballroom Amherst, Mass.
Smoke, drug, alcohol & stress free. Hall & restrooms Wheelchair Accessible
Doors Open: 7:00pm
Music begins at 7:30
ADMISSION
$7-15 sliding scale
$5-15 w/5-college ID
Umoja-Dance & Percussion Ensemble
Guamari-Latin Music
Lorraine Lee-Shanachie Recording Artist
Deborah Silverstein, Lyn Hardy,
Donna Hébert-Flying Fish Artists
Cindy Green-Calling Contras & Squares
Come, dance, sing or just listen!
Wild and wonderful music for everybody!
This event benefits the Everywoman's Songbook Project. Sponsored in part by a grant from the UMass Arts Council.
Info: Everywoman's Center: 413/545-0883, Resource Referral or Stone Soup Productions: 413/863-3757

$2 off per hour Mac Rental
$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh® computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 12/31/90.
Open 24 Hours* 253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street (across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon
kinko's the copy center

Need cash? Own any gold?
CASH FOR GOLD
Progressive Gold Recycling
256-0842
Highest offers in the state!

ARE YOU PREGNANT
& IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
Same Day Results
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
a pro alternative to abortion.

M—W 10-6; TH—F 10-9
Sat 9-5; Sun 12-5
10% OFF All Merchandise Now thru 12/24
DO IT WITH PizJazz® Pizazz Dancewear Red Rock Shops Southampton, MA
GAIL PERRIER 529-9773
Dancewear, Aerobic Wear, Shoes and Accessories

FIND the FINEST...
Gifts from Glass to Gold
Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days
silverscape designs
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

Pearl Street
this weekend...
Thur., Dec. 6 — 9pm $5
BUFFALO TOM
The Cookie Room
Fri., Dec. 7 — 9:30pm
BOBBY KING & TERRY EVANS
Walkin' Dave & The Blue Dogs
Sat., Dec. 8 — 9pm
C.J. CHENIER & THE RED HOT LOUISIANA BAND
Rockin' Dave & The Rent Party
NEW YEARS EVE
Dance Upstairs with DJ Bob Party Down Low with WHO'S KIDDIN' WHO
Advance Tickets available
One price Up and Down
next week...
Tues., Dec. 11 — 9:00pm $5
WRSI Holiday Party
WARREN ZEVON
Wed., Dec. 12 — 9:00pm $
THE TUESDAY
Thurs., Dec. 13 — 9pm
RONNIE EARL, SUGAR RAY & THE BROADCASTERS
Tues., Dec. 18 — 9:00pm $5
EVERY MOTHER'S NIGHTMARE
NYAC
Every week from Wednesday thru Saturday dance at Pearl Street on the area's largest dance floor
413 584-7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

Five College Early Music Collegium: Spain and Her Colonies, 1500-1700 will take place at Mount Holyoke College in the Art Museum Lobby at 4 p.m. There will be a reception at 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Schoenberg's Piano Music: A Guided Tour, a lecture and recital, can be found at Amherst College in Buckley Recital Hall at 4 p.m. Admission is free.

20th Annual Madrigal Dinner, an evening of medievol pageantry, will take place at UMoss in the Compus Center Auditorium at 6 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday at the same time.

Robert Fripp and the League of Crafty Guitarists will play at the Iron Horse Music Hall in Northampton at 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. Tickets are $14 in advance.

Gallery Talk, to be given by artist Robert Cumming in conjunction with his exhibit Prelims and Finishes, will take place at UMass in the University Gallery at 7:30 p.m.

Life After Love, featuring two plays – On Tidy Endings by Harvey Fierstein and Fool For Love by Sam Shepard, will be performed at Mount Holyoke College in the Lab Theatre at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday, Saturday and Sundoy at the same time and a matinee on Saturday at 2 p.m. Tickets are $2 for students and senior citizens and $4 for the general public.

Messiah, a ploy about a Jewish woman who begins to doubt her faith amidst rumors of the coming of the messiah, will be performed at UMass in the Rond Theatre at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday at the same time. Tickets are $3 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

The Multicultural Theatre Collective will present a collaborative work at Hampshire College in the Studio Theatre at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the same time. Admission is $2.50 for Five College students and $3 for the general public. For more information call: 549-4600.

The Tempest, a Shakespearean droma involving desire and revenge on a winter's eve, will be performed at Smith College in the Mendenhall Center for the Performing Arts at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday at the some time. Tickets are $2 for students and senior citizens and $4 for the general public.

Jazz Ensemble I/Chapel Jazz Ensemble will perform at UMass in Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Coffeehouse, sponsored by the Earthfoods Peoples Market, will take place at UMass in the Commonwealth Room of the Student Union Building at 8 p.m.

Buffalo Tom will ploy at Pearl Street in Northampton at 8:30 p.m.

Live Dirty Die Clean will ploy at UMass in the Hatch at 9 p.m. There will be o $2 cover chorge.

FRIDAY

Art Reception, for artists Gary Niswonger and Martha Armstrong, will be held at the Northampton Center for the Arts from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. Niswonger's work, entitled New England Landscapes: Four Seasons will be on display in the Center's East Gallery and Armstrong's work, entitled Martha Armstrong: Recent Paintings and Drawings, will be on display in the West Gallery. Both will be on exhibit until January 6. Admission is free.

Figure, Faces and Spaces, BFA Degree projects in Printmaking, will hold an opening reception for the exhibit at UMass in the Student Union Art Gallery from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. Their work will be on display ot the gollery until December 13.

A Cabaret Dance will take ploce ot UMass in the Student Union Ballroom. Doors open at 7 p.m. The music will stort at 7:30 p.m. Admission is o $5-$15 donation with o Five College ID and o $7-$15 donation without. Proceeds will benefit the Everywomon's Center Songbook Project.

The Performance Project, an evening of original works developed over the semester by students, will take place at Amherst College in Kirby Theatre at 8 p.m. with a repeat performonce on Soturdoy at the some time. Admission is free.

The Jesus Thing, o ploy that explores the world of drunks, thugs, junkies and Jesus freaks, will be performed at Smith College in the Hallie Flanagan Studio Theatre at 8 p.m. with o repeat performonce on Saturday at the same time. Admission is free.

DQ Concert, performed by the Amherst College double quartet a coppello group, will take palce at Amherst College in Buckley Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m.

Ellen McIlwane Band will play at Iron Horse Music Hall in Northompton at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $9 in advance.

Bobby King and Terry Evans, with speciol guests Wailin' Dave and the Blue Dogs, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton at 8:30 p.m.

Rooster Blue and Tabula Rasa will play at UMass in the Hatch.

Tom Deluca, a hypnotist, will give a light-hearted performonce at Mount Holyoke College in Blanchard Campus Center at 9 p.m. Admission is free.

The Shockers will play at Twister's Tovern in Amherst. There will be o $2 cover charge.

SATURDAY

Indigo Girls will ploy o benefit concert for the Northampton Center for the Arts at John M. Greene Hall. The show will stort at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $17.50 in advance for generol admission seating.

Annual Open Studio Show and Sale, offering hondmade pottery by Volley ortists Steven Schiffer, Diane Travis, Mirlam Friedman and Hiroshi Nokoyomo, will be held at Sunderland Pottery on 101 Plumtree Street in Sunderlond from 10 o.m.-4 p.m. and on Sundoy at the some time.

Chris Smither will ploy at the Iron Horse Music Hall in Northampton at 7 p.m. Tickets are $7 in advance.

Max Roach and Friends: Annual Fletcher Henderson Memorial Scholarship Benefit will take place at UMoss in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall at 8 p.m. The scholorship enables UMoss students to continue their studies in the Aro-American Music and Jazz Program. Tickets ore $18, $20 and $22.

Asparagus Valley Contemporary Music Ensemble, playing pieces by Stravinsky and Copland, will perform at Amherst College in Buckley Recital Holl at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

Smith College School Crafts Market, with 60 vendors offering hondmade objects, clothing, toys, ornaments and more, can be found at Smith College in Scott Gymnasium from 10 o.m.-5 p.m. and on Sunday at the same time.

C.J. Chenier and the Red Hot Louisiana Band, with speciol guests Rockin' Dave and the Rent Party, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton at 8:30 p.m.

SUNDAY

The Perfect Fifths Brass Orchestra will perform at Amherst College in Johnson Chapel at 3 p.m. Admission is free.

University Chamber Choir will perform Handel's Messiah at UMoss in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall at 3 p.m.

African American Dance Workshop, with Koren Donaldson, will explore the dance of West Afrlco slave trode ero to today's hip-hop. It will toke place at UMass in the Old Chapel Auditorium from 3 p.m.-5 p.m. Donations ore $5 for an individual and $10 for a family. UMoss students con come for free.

Semi-Formal Dance will toke place at UMoss in Hillel House at 9 p.m. Tickets are $25 per couple. For more information call: 549-1710.

Live Dirty Die Clean will ploy at Twister's Tovern in Amherst. It's UMass Transit Employee Appreciation Night, so PVTA bus drivers get in free.

The Shockers will be performing at the Hadley Pub on Rt. 9 in Hadley.

Auditions for Quilters, which is seeking to cast seven Five College females with vocal talent, will take place at Mount Holyoke College in Kendall Hall, Studio I at 7 p.m. Be prepared to read from the script, dance, sing o short piece of your choice and sight read. An accompanist will be present.

The Watersons will play at the Iron Horse Music Hall in Northampton at 7 p.m. Tickets are $12 in advance.

Guns of Navarone will be shown at Hampshire College in Fronklin Patterson Main Lecture Holl at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.

Louis W. Ballard will perform an evening of Native American music olong with UMoss faculty and students at UMoss in Bezanson Recital Holl at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

John McCutcheon will perform at Amherst College in the Campus Center Frontroom. Morio Gillard will open. Show storts ot 8 p.m. Tickets are o $1 with Amherst College ID and $7 without.

An Evening of Improvisational Industrial Composition will toke place at Amherst College in Buckley Recitol Holl at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

Don Dokken, with special guests Trixter, will play at Katina's.

Monday-Thursday 5-8 p.m.
All you can eat
BUFFET $5.99
COMEDY RESERVATIONS
586-1202 585-8615
11:30-3 p.m. All You Can Eat
SUNDAY BRUNCH $6.99
Peking Garden
Route 9, Hadley

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM Tel: 549-2692
Hey UMASS! Scott's is For You!
Budweiser Suitcase Reg-Lt-Dry 24-12 oz cans $11.79+dep
Schaefer Suitcase 24-12 oz cans $8.79+dep
Ruble Vodka 1.75 L $8.99
Rolling Rock 12-12 oz bots $6.99 +dep
Jack Daniels 750 ml $9.99
Codorniu Champagne 750 ml $5.49
WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE
6 University Drive, Newmarket Center, Amherst
Diagonally Across from the UMass Stadium
Plenty of FREE Parking
Telecheck for Your Personal Check
MEGABUCKS We Have It
We now have all Mass Lottery games!

The Department of Comparative Literature at the University of Massachusetts -Lectures Series-
Goethe's FAUST & German Idealist Theories of Tragedy
a lecture in English by
CYRUS HAMLIN
Chairman of Department of Comparative Literature Yale University
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 4:00
in the Office of the Dean of the Faculty (South College Building, 2nd floor)
EVERYONE WELCOME
For more information 545-0929

new horizons
proceeds will go in part to benefit AMHERST SURVIVAL CENTER
SATURDAY 9pm-1am (4)
BE THERE !!!

Buffalo Tom is worth the investment

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

When guitarists Bill Janovitz, Chris Colbourn and Tom Maginnis all got together at the legendary Red School House in Northampton a few years ago, no one would have ever thought that their jam sessions would lead to an eventual RCA contract, international attention and critical acclaim. In all honesty, I don't quite know how they did it either, but then again one must never question a miracle.

People are so quick to label them as a Dinosaur Jr. rip off, claiming that the only reason they got where they are now is because they were touched by the hand of J. Mascis, member and producer of Dinosaur Jr. And that may be true, but Mascis isn't stupid (about music anyway); if he didn't think they were worth the investment.

Buffalo Tom is worth the investment, and any record label should consider themselves lucky to take them on. They've written some great songs, and no one did it for them.

In 1988, the Buffalo Tom released their debut eponymous LP, and despite the raving reviews of the (mostly British) press, it lacked, apart from a few songs. Someone took their product, apparently, and must have mangled it. All of the songs were of fine quality, but only a few of them had that, for lack of a better term, "sound" that comes off so effectively in their live performances.

But now there's Birdbrain, an album so good, so polished, and simply so impressive, that my stereo could barely handle it. Besides Ride and Public Enemy, this disc has been a recent regular in the player. Even my Cure-listening housemates like it. Which was a real surprise because all too often, good bands who sign on to major labels are incapable of sustaining any kind of creativity. Usually when signing onto a major, groups find themselves struggling to have that last say in the final mix-down. Rarely do bands as noisy as Buffalo Tom conform to the "standards" of the likes of RCA or Sire.

"Birdbrain" is a great single, and I mean that! It's one of the best of the year. It's also a better choice for a single this time around (as opposed to the "Sunflower Suit" choice, off their first album). Boston's WBCN has played it to death perhaps, but hey, it's not the type of song you turn off when driving in your car (WBCN often times plays horrid crap).

Other songs like "Caress" and "Enemy" prove that they can write good songs— that they're not just plugging into effects and coming up with boring noise pop. Buffalo Tom can play better than almost anyone else on their label.

Essentially, the Buffs have made it, and rightfully so. Their performance tomorrow with the Caroline Know at Pearl Street should prove their talent. Afterwards, anyone who doesn't go out and buy their records is a fool with no ear for good music. If you go drunk, watch out!

AIM HIGH
SOPHOMORES!
START EXECUTIVE TRAINING NOW
Don't wait until you finish college to start a management training program. If you have at least two years remaining, consider Air Force ROTC. We can give you a head start on a fast-paced career. Contact
DEPT OF AEROSPACE STUDIES
(413) 545-2451
AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

NEW SPECIALS!
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!
MONDAY 2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
TUESDAY SUPER PRINTS .37 SAVE .13 PER PRINT
WEDNESDAY 2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THURSDAY 2nd SET OF PRINTS FOR ONLY .10 PER PRINT
FRIDAY REPRINT DAY 3 1/2X5 .30 ea. 5x7 .99 ea. 8x10 3.50 ea
EVERYDAY SPECIAL 2nd SET OF PRINTS REGULAR 19 ea. SUPER 29 ea.
FILM IN BY 10.00 a.m. PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 p.m.
ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE UNTIL 3:00 p.m.
The Foto Factory
224 1/2 FEDERAL STREET GREENFIELD
257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
62 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON

Buy a LARGE Pizza for the Price Of a SMALL
DOMINO'S PIZZA
Expires 12/31/90
Not good with any other offer
256-8911
We Redeem Pizza Hut, Avanti, Bruno's Coupons
GOOD ON CARRY-OUT OR DELIVERY
$1.99 PIZZA
Buy any large pizza or 12" pan pizza at regular price, and get another with equal or fewer toppings--for just $1.99
Expires 12/31/90
Safe, Friendly Free Delivery
Not good with any other offer

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS
2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route
CALL 665-2203

湘園
PANDA EAST
CHINESE RESTAURANT
We bring Chinatown to you
Open Hours: Mon-Thurs. 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri. & Sat. 11:30am-11:00pm
Sunday 2:00pm-10:00pm
Lunch Hours: Mon.-Sat. 11:30am-3:00pm
103 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-8923 (413) 256-8924

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store
Gilbey's Gin 750 ml with FREE Liter of Schwepps Tonic $6.99
Michelob/Mich Lt/Mich Dry 12 pk cans $6.39
Miller Genuine Draft 12 pk bots $5.99
Samuel Adams Boston Lager case $17.99
We have Christmas beers available from Samuel Adams, Anchor, Catamount, Sierra Nevada, Geary's Grant's, Young's, Wurzburger, Coors, Samuel Smith's, Aaas, F.X. Matt and more
Knickerbocker 16 oz bar bots $9.49
Glenfiddich Single Malt Scotch Whiskey 750 ml $19.99
Smirnoff Vodka 750 ml $6.99
Labatt's Blue 12 pk bots $6.99
338 College St., Rt. 9, Amherst, 253-5384

Pearl Street
'TIL TUESDAY
The Vestrymen
Advance Tickets available at Pearl St.
For the Record in Amherst, Strawberries Record Stores. Ticketron (800) 382-8080
413 584 7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

WEATHER
Clear and dry today, but snow this weekend? Beware of catching chapped buns!

NEWS
The Board of Governors voted to abolish the LBGA seats last night. Page 3.

SPORTS
The revolutionary war hits the Cage when the Minutemen take on the Colonials. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME [illegible] LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE [illegible]

1,000 protest U.S. forces in Mideast

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Over 1,000 students converged on the Student Union steps yesterday to protest United States military involvement in the Middle East in a rally sponsored by the UMass Coalition on the Middle East Crisis.

The Coalition sponsored the rally in order to increase discussion of the issue on campus, said Coalition member Peter Wagner.

"This is our last chance to let people express their outrage against our president's policy which is leading us into a war that we do not want," he said.

A group of counter-demonstrators carrying signs, including one that read "You're all a bunch of hippie, commie, druggie, 60s pinko-liberal losers," also stood near the steps speakers. According to Glen Caroline, one of the counter-demonstrators, the group was composed of members of the Republican Club and Young Americans for Freedom.

Ann Ferguson, a professor from the Women's Studies Department, led the crowd in the song "I Ain't Gonna Study War No More," and a second song, "Our Government's On Horseback Again."

Ferguson noted the mainstream press has generally ignored the plight of 7,000 Philipino domestic maids who were abandoned in Kuwait when their employers fled the country. Ferguson said they were raped and beaten by the invading Iraqi army and left in the desert to die.

"As a feminist," Ferguson said, "it's hard to avoid thinking that what we have here is patriarchal psychology — who has the biggest prick — and the United States is determined to prove to Saddam that we have the biggest prick."

Nora Breem, the mother of Brian Snyder, a Marine now stationed in the Persian Gulf, spoke to the crowd about her opposition to the war. Interrupted by counter-demonstrators, at one point she responded "I am here to tell the truth. If the hecklers don't want to hear it — too bad. I'm going to tell it anyway."

Collegian photo by Aaron Webster

HELL, NO, WE WON'T GO, WE WON'T FIGHT FOR TEXACO — Over 1,000 people crowd around the Student Union steps yesterday to protest the United States involvement in the Persian Gulf.

Breem read from a letter she had sent to President Bush. In it she asked "Why are the sons and daughters of middle class families asked to die . . . to protect the interests of big oil and rich Kuwaitians living in luxurious exile?"

"Why are we condemning Iraq's aggression now when we supported Saddam Hussein's aggression against Iran?" Breem continued.

"If my son dies will you stand beside me by my son's grave? Or will I stand alone like the mothers of thousands of sons that died in Vietnam?" Breem read. "Mr. Bush, are we expected to hate our enemies more than we love our own children? I don't, Mr. President. Do you?" Breem concluded.

Tom Townsend, a member of the Radical Student Union and the Coalition, held up a bottle of Getty oil and asked the crowd "Is the lives of our brothers and sisters worth more than this? I know they are."

"Anyone who receives a draft notice in the mail has ten days in which you can register [Conscienceous Objector]," Townsend reminded the crowd. "No one has to go over there."

Townsend also urged students to start working on CO paperwork now, before a draft. "You can get the necessary papers from the American Friends Service Committee," Townsend said.

"You can put a price on this," Townsend concluded, waving the bottle of oil, "two dollars and twenty cents a quart. But you can't put a price on human life."

"I would never as a vice-president cast a tie-breaking vote in the Senate to arm a man I would later call a Hitler," Nicholas Canerota, a professor of sociology at Springfield Technical College, charged. "Get your facts straight," he advised the shouting counter-protestors.

Canerota urged the crowd "to include a struggle against anti-Semitic and anti-Arab racism" in the anti-war efforts.

"The enemy is not Saddam Hussein," Springfield Vietnam Veteran Raymond Gadreault told the crowd. "It's the corrupt politicians that are sending your brothers and sisters, and your friends to fight in the Middle East."

"I took an oath in 1965 to defend this country against all domestic and foreign enemies," Gadreault said. "After I got to Vietnam I realized we were really fighting domestic enemies."

Following the rally, demonstrators walked to Memorial Hall and taped a sign that said "Kuwait" near plaques that commemorate other wars on the building.

Students then marched to the Campus Center Concourse, where they held a "die-in" to show the potential effects of a war.

Collegian staff member Chris Muther contributed to this article

Counter-ralliers voice opinion

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Members of Young American for Freedom and the Republican Club said they participated in a counter-rally during yesterday's noon student peace rally to let people know "that not all students on this campus oppose a U.S. military presence in the Middle East."

Guy Glodis, a member of Young Americans for Freedom, said, "We believe that by speaking up we demonstrate that not everyone here opposes a U.S. military presence in the Middle East. I think there's a silent majority who supports U.S. efforts against dictatorships like Saddam Hussein."

Pat Sitaraman, a resident organizer for the Citizens for a Free Kuwait, who also participated in the counter-rally, said "The people who demonstrated today against the troops and the liberation of Kuwait are the same people who demonstrated against Vietnam — we lost Vietnam — and now this country has thousands of Vietnamese refugees who can't go home to a divided country.

"If these demonstrators get their way, Kuwaitians will face the same dilemma," he added.

Saddam Hussein is the "antithesis of democracy," Glodis said. "He hasn't listened to the United Nations, which is a democratic body, or world opinion."

"Kuwait was an independent sovereign state,"

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Saddam suggests freeing hostages

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Saddam Hussein told his parliament yesterday to free all foreign hostages in response to "positive changes" in the Persian Gulf crisis, and he said Iraq should apologize to the thousands who were held.

Saddam said reason for holding foreigners had diminished. He also said Iraqi troops had been given the time to become battle ready.

The Iraqi leader also noted there had been growing opposition in the United States to President Bush's efforts to form a consensus for military action to dislodge Iraq from Kuwait.

The 250-seat National Assembly, which routinely backs the ruling Baath party leader, scheduled a meeting for 11 a.m. Friday.

If approves Saddam's proposal as expected, it would be the first time Iraq agreed to abide by a U.N. Security Council resolution on the crisis sparked by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

President Bush welcomed the announcement but said Saddam should not have taken people hostage in the first place. And Bush insisted: "The man must leave Kuwait without reservation, without condition" before the standoff can end.

Iraq holds thousands of foreigners, whom it refers to as "guests." Some 600 of them have been moved to strategic sites to serve as human shields to ward off military action.

Saddam said the foreigners were people "who do not want to fight" and who got "trapped in the space between the two trenches."

In all, there are an estimated 950,000 foreigners in Iraq and occupied Kuwait, but Saddam earlier said most Asians and Arabs were free to leave.

There was a spontaneous celebration yesterday at the Al-Mansour Melia Hotel in downtown Baghdad, where several hostages were brought to meet with visiting family members.

Saddam's decision coincided with a report that his foreign minister, Tariq Aziz, will meet with Bush in Washington on Dec. 17 to discuss a possible settlement in the crisis.

Bush had said he would receive Aziz during the week of Dec. 10, then dispatch Secretary of State James Baker III to Baghdad.

The announcement also came as a source in Paris said ambassadors of the five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council had agreed on a resolution seeking an international peace conference on the Middle East.

In his letter to parliament speaker Sadi Mehdi Saleh, Saddam said his decision was prompted by recent consulation with is "Arab brothers," a reference to the meeting Tuesday with King Hussein of Jordan, PLO chief Yasser Arafat and Yemeni Vice President Ali Al-Beidh.

Correction

The headline of yesterday's lead story was incorrect. It should have stated that Department of Public Safety employee Michael Rucks, in 1979 was convicted of assault and charged with rape. The Collegian regrets the error.

Memorial fund set up for family

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Two friends of Benny Correa, a University of Massachusetts employee who died last Friday in a fatal car accident, have begun a memorial fund to help his wife and two children for the holiday season.

Jose Rubero, a UMass police officer, said he and Pedro Ayala, an employee of the Dinning Commons, started the fund to help Correa's two young children, Benny Jr., 4, and Jaime, 2 and his pregnant wife Yolanda.

Rubero said the accident occurred at an "awful time," referring to the Christmas holidays. He said an important holiday for the family, Three Kings Day, involves travel back to Puerto Rico to visit family and friends.

Correa was an employee at the Berkshire Dinning for almost 10 years, Rubero said, and was "known by almost everyone." Rubero said he met Correa seven years ago in a basketball league at Boyden Gymnasium and became friends soon after.

He said fund will be withdrawn and presented to Yolanda Correa later this month.

Checks for the fund can be made payable to the Benny Correa Memorial Fund, care of the Heritage Bank for Savings, P.O. Box 8, Amherst, 01002.

■ counter-demonstrators

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

although not a democracy," Glodis explained. "Vietnam wasn't a democracy either, but the U.S. was forced to intervene there as well, to protect the people from a takeover."

"We firmly believe this war is not about oil," Glodis said. "it's about aggression against a sovereign state."

Neither the peace protestors or those in the counter-rally really want a war, Glen Caroline, a member of the Republican Club, said.

The difference in the two groups is that we understand "that politics is a pragmatic process. Sometimes war is an unpleasant necessity," he said.

Recycle CORN

Amherst Drop Zone
ARMY/NAVY STORE
At 103 N. PLeasant St.
(Behind Bart's/Next to Panda East)
Rt. 9 Hadley
(Next to McDonald's)
Union Suits
$22.95
(natural, red, navy)
Foot Lockers
$24.95 to $54.95
OPEN:
7 days a week
M—Sat. 10-6
Sun. 12-5
Nights in Hadley
Photo by Buck Stewart
549-5454

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW LIMITED TO SEATING
MT. FARMS 4 584-9153
DANCES WITH WOLVES KEVIN COSTNER PG-13
GHOST PG-13
A Masterful Thriller MISERY R
Jacob's Ladder R
HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
PREDATOR 2 R
THE ROOKIE PG-13
Sylvester Stallone ROCKY V PG-13
HOME ALONE PG
Three Men and a Little Lady PG
Walt Disney Pictures RESCUERS DOWN UNDER G

Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2563
Thursdays and Fridays til 8pm through Christmas
ZANNA
O Come All Ye Faithful.

Precious Illusions
Great Holiday Sale!
25-50% OFF
Selected lines of jewelry, pewter and crystal collectibles
See our new lines of 14 Kt Gold and Sterling
Sale Ends Dec 16
Mt. Sugarloaf Shoppes
Rts 5 & 10
665-7433

SPRING BREAK
Cancun and Bahamas
Complete, Guaranteed
Packages from $299
Reserve by Jan 1st
and Save $30.00
Call Jon or Matt at 546-2335

IRELAND
PUB TOURS
'Spring Break'
March 20-24
Full payment deadline Feb 1
NEED A VACATION SPOT...
Imagine yourself in a land with more than 10,000 pubs to choose from set in a scenic landscape of rugged cliffs, beautiful bays and quaint villages for 5 days for only $599
West coast tour includes
• AerLingus roundtrip flights from Boston
• First Class Hotels
• Transportation/guide throughout
• Sightseeing tours
• Breakfast and dinner
• Nightly entertainment and much more
• Guarantee space with only $50 deposit
FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CALL
Rita k Burke
549-1256
adventura travel
233 N Pleasant St. Amherst Carriage Shops

R U A SECRET SANTA?
Gifts from 19¢ to 4.99
amherst : northampton
daily & sunday
Find it at Faces

THE PUB
fun food & spirits
This Weekend
Celebrate Our New Menu
Mexican Pizza
$2.00
Friday and Saturday
8:00 pm-10:00 pm
Pitchers of Miller Lite
$4.50
Jello Shots
$1.00
$1.25 Rolling Rock Bottles
$1.25 Miller Genuine Draft
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT-AMHERST

LOCAL

Noho march remembers Montreal massacre

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Over 200 women marched from the Bridge Street Cemetery to the steps of the municipal building next to Pulaski Park in Northampton last night commemorating the slaying of 14 women in the School of Engineering in Montreal a year ago.

Chanting slogans and carrying banners with messages against violence toward women, the group held a two-hour rally on the steps after the march. The event was sponsored by the Northampton branch of the National Organization for Women.

Diana Russell, a professor of sociology at Mills College in California, told the crowd a new term, "femicide" had been created.

"Femicide means the killing of women because we are women," Russell explained. "Because homocide doesn't tell us that men are killing us specifically because of our gender."

"A new consciousness is finally coming about, thanks to Michael Lapine and the tragic event that occurred on Dec. 6 of last year," Russell said. "It was the worst mass murder in the history of Canada."

"[People say] Lapine was an anomaly, an unusual and crazy aberation," Lapine said, "but he made it clear why he killed them — he hated women. He resented feminism. Here were all these women engineering students and he couldn't get in."

These were political deaths, Lapine stressed, "even in his suicide note Lapine said he did it for political, not emotional reasons."

"We have to fight back," Russell said. "We must support all women who fight back in all the ways that they use to fight back. Women who kill their batterers should be viewed as freedom fighters."

Civil disobedience is an option women need to start thinking about, Russell asserted. "We have to embrace positive risk-taking to bring about positive change."

"All women are potential targets for violence," Gail Kielson, a director of Necessities/Necessidades told the crowd. "At any time, on any day we can be attacked, raped, and beaten."

This year, Kielson said, over 600 women have come to Necessities/Necessidades, a shelter for battered women, to escape their batterers.

"Eleven women are now sitting in Framingham with long sentences because they had the courage to fight back and kill their batterers," said Kielson.

"Pornography is a major cause of violence against women," Kielson said. She stressed that women have to keep resisting the patriarchy in many different ways.

"It will take acts of courage — small and large — to dismantle the patriarchal system," she said.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

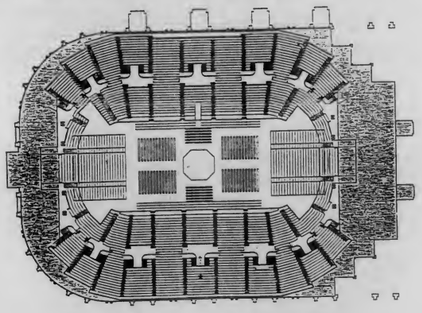
WOMEN PROTEST FEMICIDE — Two hundred women in Northampton commemorate the killing of 14 women in Montreal one year ago.

Diana Selig, from the women's studies department at UMass, talked about Michael Rucks of the UMass Escort Service, who was recently charged with rape in Springfield.

"How can this kind of man be hired in the first place," Selig asked. "And why is Hilson simply moving him over to building security? How will this make women feel better? We're in buildings at night sometimes too."

The rally ended with individual women in the crowd stepping up to the mike and telling the story of their own oppression and giving the names of their male oppressors.

Mullins Center bids given; groundbreaking in Jan.



MULLINS MEMORIAL CENTER
Center Stage Capacity - 10,214

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts building operations received Wednesday ten bids for construction of the multi-million dollar Mullins Memorial Center, with construction slated to begin in mid to late January.

The arena, which will be used for concerts, sporting events and other events, is expected to be completed in 1993. State law requires that construction of the project be awarded to the lowest bidder.

According to Helen Wise of the University Press Office, the lowest bid for the project came from the Sulfolk Contruction Inc. of Boston, with a bid of about $38.5 million dollars. Bids for the project went as high as $41 million, she said.

The Center will be able to seat up to 10,214 and has a variety of potential uses, including concerts, commencement, basketball, hockey, trade shows, circuses and theatrical performances. The main building will also house facilities for con-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 7

Photo by Mig Halpine

A model of the planned Mullins Arena

American Jewry strong

Prof: Obstacles removed, more open to Jews

By TAMARA SILBERMAN
Collegian Staff

It is easier than ever before to be a Jew in America, according to an eminant Jewish scholar said in a speech to more than 100 people at Amherst College Wednesday night.

Arthur Hertzberg, a professor at Dartmouth college said as a group, the position of American Jewry is much stronger than it was before World War II.

No longer is there a feeling of being on the outside looking in, yet there is the feeling Jews are the most vulnerable of the "haves," he said.

In the 30s and 40s Jews chose their career based on what was open to them at the time. In the 40s, American academic life was "highly anti-Semitic" said Hertzberg, who gave up an academic fellowship at Harvard for the rabbinate to ensure he would find work. Today almost all of the professions are open to Jews.

Jews in America do not feel discrimination now, said Hertzberg. Anti-Semitism is more often a reminder of the past then a current reality.

To emphasize the point, Hertzberg said the Holocaust Memorial project in Washington raised the largest amount of money of any charity last year.

However, instead of voting with the big money, Jews have consistently voted for tax increases. Even in the Reagan elections, Hertzberg said "Jews voted 70 percent Democratic."

As part of the social fabric of America, Jews have voted to minimize warring social factions. As newcomers to the professional class, the Jewish position would be most likely to tumble during severe class warfare.

He also said Jews need to find themselves more through religion and increased political awareness. "Just being pro-Israel is not enough," he said.

Fundamentalism has peaked, he said, referring to people who search for strict answers when offered too much freedom.

Hertzberg considers himself a "profoundly patriotic American" who is strongly opposed to military action in the Persian Gulf.

A supporter and volunteer of WWII and the Korean War, Hertzberg said supporters of military action will join the effort.

"Loyalties in our day are complicated and plural," said Hertzberg. "You can't be a chochom (wise guy) with someone else's kids."

"The war in Vietnam was over when college students started to be drafted," said Hertzberg.

BOG passes motion to eliminate LBGA seats

By ALI WOOLWICH
Collegian Staff

The Board of Governors passed a motion last night to eliminate the two seats on the Board representing the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance.

The motion was introduced by Govs. Ted Maravelias and Edward Corrigan on Oct. 25. Because a specific time limit for voting on the motion was never proposed, the motion was ruled dead.

When conservatives on the Board attempted to bring the motion to a vote last night, BOG chairperson Sue Gordon cited Roberts Rules of Order and ruled the motion dead. Conservatives then called for a vote to overrule the decision of the chair and won. The motion to eliminate the LBGA seats was then reintroduced.

Because conservatives are said to hold a majority of votes due to recently created appointed seats, opponents of the motion — the two LBGA reps, the two Third World Caucus reps, the Graduate Student Senate rep and one at-large rep — left the room in an attempt to break quorum.

At-large governor Dan Cohen returned to the room to call quorum, in which he was included. Cohen then left the room, breaking quorum. Despite the insufficient number of governors, the vote was taken and passed by a minimum two-thirds majority of 16 "yea" votes and one abstention.

LBGA rep Laura Silver said, "The rationale for kicking the LBGA seats off BOG

CONTINUED ON PAGE 7

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Don't buy a single parka this season.

Buy several parkas in one, via the Columbia Interchange™ System. Represented here by our infamous Bugaboo Parka™ • Bergundrel™ Cloth outershell • Zip-out Jaegar Fleece™ liner • Radial Sleeve™ • Adjustable cuffs • Front storm flap • Two front zipper-closed security pockets • Elastic waist

Columbia Sportswear Company

reg $149.95

SALE! $114.95

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS

Route 9
Hadley, Massachusetts
(413) 774-3293

Elliot St.
Brattleboro, Vermont
(802) 254-4133

SKIERS!

Drop By Campus Travel

To fill out a questionaire

for $5 discount at

Mount Snow

Midweek and Weekend Shuttles in New England Ski areas!

VALLEY TRANSPORTER

Buy a LARGE Pizza for the Price Of a SMALL

DOMINO'S PIZZA

Expires 12/31/90
Not good with any other offer

256-8911
We Redeem Pizza Hut, Avanti, Bruno's Coupons

GOOD ON CARRY-OUT OR DELIVERY

$1.99 PIZZA

Buy any large pizza or 12" pan pizza at regular price, and get another with equal or fewer toppings--for just $1.99

DOMINO'S PIZZA

Expires 12/31/90

Safe, Friendly, Free Delivery
Not good with any other offer

LOOK GOOD FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

104 Russell St.
Elmwood Shops
Hadley, MA

Patrick & Co.
Distinctive Hairstyling For Men & Women

Appointments
Or Walk-Ins

586-7477

$3.00 OFF Haircut
With Val-Pak Coupon
Expires Jan. 30, 1991

$10.00 OFF Perm & Haircut
With Val-Pak Coupon
Expires Jan. 30, 1991

$10.00 OFF Haircut & Hi-Lighting
With Val-Pak Coupon
Expires Jan. 30, 1991

eVal-Pak, 11/1990 Val-Pak of Western Massachusetts, No. 24158-70 NH

COME CLEAN WITH US!

Campus Coin Op
107 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

SPEEDWASH
11 Pray St., Amherst
NOW OPEN 24 HOURS!

South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on these pages are those of the individual writers or cartoonists and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Setting the record straight

As members of the board of editors, we would like to explain our reasoning behind rejecting the Jewish Affairs editorship proposal.

In addition to our regular editorships — the editor-in-chief, news editor, sports editor, editorial page editor, etc. — we have five different "issues" editors. A Black Affairs editor, Multicultural Affairs editor, Women's Issues editor, Third World Affairs editor and a Gay-Lesbian-Bisexual Issues editor are all currently on our staff.

The creation of the five editorships came after members of various communities documented claims that the Collegian had historically misrepresented and failed to represent their communities.

The first issues editor that our editors added to the paper was the Women's Issues editor back in 1978. A group of women took over the office and forced editors to produce the newspaper at a journalism professor's house off-campus. After a dialogue with the board of editors, the women who took over the office succeeded in providing the editors with a complete, documented history of female exclusion, mistreatment and general misinterpretation in covering issues of concern to women on the part of Collegian.

The editors, attempting to show good faith and help correct past wrongdoings, decided to provide UMass women with an institutional position to assure that women's issues would be fairly covered. The editors also believed that by creating this position, more women would come down to the office and start writing, because the staff, at that time, was almost entirely male.

As time went on, Black students, Third World students and lesbian, bisexual and gay students also came down to the editors with an abundance of examples of how our newspaper, as a whole institution, had neglected them, slandered them and misrepresented them. They also pointed out that we had virtually no representatives from their communities among our staff members.

The sponsors of the Jewish Affairs editor proposal, a vocal segment of the Jewish community, were not able to show that these factors were present. The people proposing this editorship could not fulfill the same requisites by which we had approved the earlier pages. And, within our own staff, the Jewish community is not under-represented.

This entire situation seems to have arisen from the emotional debate surrounding the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. In an attempt to facilitate a healthy discussion of the issues, the Collegian has published commentary critical of the government of Israel as well as commentary in its defense. This has stirred rage among some segments of the University community, especially those sensitive to criticism of Israel.

The proposal for a Jewish Affairs editor came about after a flurry of activities and petitions aimed at commentary on Israel. The political nature of the editorship proposal is evidenced both by the course of events leading up to it as well as the personalities involved.

The Collegian reaffirms its dedication to represent all segments of the University community. Furthermore, we recognize the value of community criticism. However, when that criticism becomes an attempt to direct the dialogue, it becomes inappropriate.

We will continue to publish commentary from all the varying perspectives. And, we encourage all members of the community to become involved in these debates. We will not, however, lessen the criteria by which other pages and editorships have been created.

In 1991, anti-Semitism still rages in this country. Jewish students on this campus are still harassed and discriminated against. But, our rejection of the Jewish Affairs editorship cannot be lumped into a category of harassment or neglect.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian board of editors

"...SO THERE I WAS FACING MASSIVE LAY-OFFS OF ELVES DUE TO RECESSION, THE NORTH POLE WAS MELTING BECAUSE OF GLOBAL WARMING, THE ANIMAL RIGHTSERS WERE ALL OVER MY CASE ABOUT MY TREATMENT OF REINDEER, SO I JUST BLEW IT OFF AND SOLD OUT TO MATSUSHITA!"

'Speak up' and we will try to help

I am writing in response to the editorial "University Health Services: Heal Thyself" by Hope Sisitsky (Dec. 4). On behalf of my staff, I want to apologize for any apparent misunderstanding which occurred during her recent visit to take care of an injury to her ankle. We are committed to fostering a caring environment and our goal is to convey this to our patients in every encounter.

The one area I would like to emphasize is at the end of Ms. Sisitsky's editorial, where she suggest that students "speak up" if they are dissatisfied. In fact, we encourage our student/patients to be sure to ask questions and, if they do not understand of do not agree with what is being recommended, to "speak up" and give us a chance to try and describe not only what we recommend but why. We also have a written "feedback/suggestion" system available throughout Health Services. Every comment or complaint is investigated and the student receives a response. In this way, we can be a team working for your benefit.

I would also say that anyone who has sought care and has tried to receive clarification and is still dissatisfied should speak with the supervisor in charge or, if that fails, to seek either my attention or the attention of the medical director, Thomas McBride, M.D. We will do our best to not only resolve problems but to take those experiences as a way to further improve our services.

David P. Kraft, M.D.
Executive Director
University Health Services

Notes from the Campus Center basement

Sam Silverstein

If you're the type who considers killing your roommate and collecting the automatic 4.0 every year around this time, don't. It's a myth.

According to Norman Aitken, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs, there is no such thing as an automatic 4.0 for people whose roommates die accidentally, or with a phone cord wrapped around their neck and their Simpsons Sing the Blues CD sticking our their mouth.

Counseling, tutoring and other support services are available to students whenever "there's a crisis that can affect other people," Aitken said. But these situations are dealt with on a case-by-case basis; there's nothing about an automatic 4.0 on the books.

"[The University] doesn't get into grades because there is a personal tragedy," Aitken said.

While we're at it, there's no rule that says you can leave your class and not be counted as absent if your professor is 10 minutes late, Aitken said.

"Students have to be responsible to make judgments. The reasonable thing to do would be for a student to call the academic department and get an official response," Aitken said.

***

Nine bids to build the Mullins Convocation Center were received by the University Tuesday, the lowest of which came in a million-and-a-half dollars under the estimated $40 million cost of constructing the multi-purpose arena.

The University will pick the winner by mid-January and construction will begin soon after, according to UMass assistant news editor Helen Wise. The barns that once stood on the future sight of the arena, across Commonwealth Avenue west of campus, have already been leveled.

As early as 1992, students will begin chipping in approximately $100 each per year to help repay a $20 million UMass Building Authority bond issue.

UMass Student Trustee Angus McQuilken says the fee is unfair. "When the project was sold to me I was told it was an opportunity to build a building for free. What they didn't say is that we're going to be paying it off for the next 20 years through student fees," McQuilken said.

"One-hundred dollars would be worth it under normal budget conditions . . . but the timing of the increase is just plain dumb."

Well, it says here we shouldn't be looking a gift horse quite so closely in the mouth. UMass is getting a 10,000-seat arena that will be used for commencement, theatrical performances, circuses, concerts, basketball, ice hockey . . . at $100 a head. Budget "challenges," "serious downturns" and the like come and go, but the arena will be around for a while, and UMass will be a better school for it.

***

The halo brace that UMass quarterback Gary Wilkos has worn since suffering a broken vertebra at the base of his neck in a football game in late October was removed Tuesday.

"I was nervous. I thought my head would plow into the ground because my neck is weak," Wilkos said.

Wilkos will wear a less cumbersome neck brace until January. The prognosis, he said, calls for a 100 percent recovery . . .

The Anti-War Movement Meets the Media Age Department: At the tail-end of yesterday's die-in on the campus center concourse, an organizer announced, "This is going to be in the papers and on Channel 40. We're doing a good thing here!"

Although the semester is rapidly coming to a close, the Collegian would still like to hear your opinions. Submissions must bear your name, local address and daytime phone number. This information is subject to verification prior to publication. Send your double-spaced, typed submissions to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA 01003.

ARTS & LIVING

Max Roach and Friends at the Fine Arts Center

By BILL ROSENBLATT
Collegian Staff

It was a splendid few weeks at the Iron Horse: several quality jazz acts in rapid succession. The Horse planned to close out the year with Sun Ra's Arkestra on Dec. 30. However, His Interplanetary Majesty suffered a stroke recently (and is recuperating at a Philadelphia hospital), so the show was cancelled. Your last chance to see top-quality jazz in the area this year is coming tomorrow night at 8 p.m., when the annual "Max Roach and Friends" (formerly the Jazz All-Stars) concert takes the stage at the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

Each year, the December concert centers around Roach and his guests, which usually include University and Jazz in July adjunct faculty members as well as a special "star-quality" attraction. Roach, of course, is the legendary founder of modern jazz drumming, bebop co-revolutionary and perennial jazz innovator who helped found UMass' jazz program in the early 70s.

This year's concert will begin with the Jeff Holmes Jazz Orchestra with Roach sitting in on drums. The Orchestra is an aggregation of local musicians, including a few UMass music faculty members, that performs occasionally in the area. Trumpeter/pianist Holmes, himself a music professor, will lead the band through a set that will include several premieres especially written for the concert.

Next on the lineup will be vocalist Sheila Jordan, the superlative vocalist whose absence at last summer's Bright Moments Festival was sorely felt. She combines an understated approach with unassailable taste, pitch and scatting ability into one of the most distinctive styles in jazz vocal history. She represents the opposite of the stereotyped big-band-belter (a la Diane Schuur) and is most at home in very small groups. Tomorrow night, she will be accompanied by a trio including her long-time telepathic soul mate, bassist Harvie Swartz.

The Uptown String Quartet, a group closely associated with Roach (and including his daughter Maxine) will close out the show. Although this group's instrumental lineup is that of the classical European string quartet (two violins, viola and cello), all four members are steeped in the African-American musical tradition — that is, they can play the blues. They play arrangements of jazz, ragtime, spirituals, etc., that allow for ample improvisation and interaction between the musicians. Their performance with Roach at the FAC

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

Deck the Halls with TOSHIBA !

All Battery Powered Laptops NOW IN STOCK...featuring

1200XE - $1979 !!!

- 12MHz 80C286 Processor
- 20MB Hard Disk
- 1MB RAM, expandable to 5MB
- 8.1 lbs, 2" thick
- Blue-on-white sidelit LCD screen
- AutoResume
- Built-in 1.44MB 3.5" FDD

LOWEST PRICES EVER WITH EDUCATIONAL DISCOUNTS!
Call about yours today!

DSR, Inc 1-800-326-0037

ATTENTION STUDENTS WHO MAY BE CALLED TO ACTIVE MILITARY DUTY

The Board of Regents has issued a policy statement concerning students who are called to active military duty.
The policy covers issues such as:

- Tuition & fees refunds
- Nonpunitive withdrawals from courses
- Assistance in filing mitigating circumstances forms
- Priority in enrollment upon return to school

For more information, or for assistance come into the Dean of Students Office, 227 Whitmore (5-2684).

Rock·102

The Pioneer Valley's Original
Home of Classic Rock & Roll!

Great Gifts
Secret Santas
Jewelry Natural Fiber Scarves
Blouses Skirts Dresses

Sale
20 to 50% off selected Clothing

9PM Yerknights N'hamp Dec. 6-21 Amherst Dec.13-21
THE MERCANTILE Sun 12-5 Daily 10-6
Northampton-18 Center St.
Amherst-Carriage Shops

Mullins Arena

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

ferences and large banquets.

Half of the funding for the center will be provided through state legislation, the other half will be paid by student fees. According to a release by the Press Office, an extra student fee of an estimated $100 a year will be added in 1992 or 1993 to help fund the project.

As a result of construction, some 160 parking spaces will be lost for two years around the construction site. After construction, the 160 spaces will return, with an estimated 30-40 additional spaces.

The Center will consist of a main building, plus a practice rink connected by underground passageways to the main building. The Center is a one story building, but will be shaped like a bowl and will have many levels.

BOG

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

was obviously false. After bringing up the subject of our appointed seats, the Board voted in another appointed Stockbridge seat. Stockbridge represents 400 students, and has 2 seats. The LBGA represents 2,500 students and now has no seats. This is clearly discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation," Silver said.

Maravelias said after the vote the current LBGA representatives would finish out their terms due to the grandfather clause and the motion would take affect next fall.

William Harris, director of the Campus Center, said to the Board, "I am disturbed by the decision you just made . . . the manner of the motion's passing showed immaturity on your part. You took glee in what you did."

In his final statement, Gov. Bill Hewitt said, "We are not going to gain respect on this campus by the kind of behavior shown tonight."

"They railroaded this motion through by waiting until they were certain they would have a majority. I hope they can live with the fashion in which they achieved their victory," said BOG Treasurer Mary Noone.

Recycle this newspaper

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
Featuring the latest works from Valley area artists.
Paintings Prints Wood Metal Jewelry Clothing Pottery Glass Sculpture Leather
REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
At the Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant Street
Downtown, Amherst • 549-7373
Hours:Sun.,Mon.,Tues. 12-5
Weds.,Sat. 10a.m.-6p.m.

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
15% OFF Most Items
Good thru 12/7-12/25

SNACKSENSE
HEALTHY CHOICE CONTEST
WIN A MEMBERSHIP TO THE BODY SHOP!!
There's a raffle being held in
The Munchies' Stores,
And if you eat good foods
A semester of fun could be yours!
Details available in Munchie's Stores and at the Snacksense Table on the CC Concourse on Wednesdays.
Sponsored by Snacksense and UMASS Body Shop
Division of Health Education/University Vending Services

Berkshire Leather & Silver Outlet
"Where Designer Quality and Maximum Value Meet"
Since 1826
25 North Pleasant Street
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002
Wrap Yourself In Leather
30-50% OFF SALE on ALL Leather Coats
50% OFF All Sterling Silver Jewelry

FIND the FINEST...

Gifts from Glass to Gold
Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days

silverscape designs
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY
264 N. Pleasant St Amherst 253-3324 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS
2 Bedroom Apartments
RENT NOW
or for January 1
On Bus Route
CALL 665-2203

Railroad Stores SALVAGE
SALE ENDS DEC 14TH

RUBIE BOUGHT 1000'S
SEIKO • HELBROS • CITIZEN
BUY-OUT OF THIS YEAR'S & PREVIOUS YEAR'S MODELS
SHOP EARLY FOR BEST SELECTION

MENS & LADIES WATCHES
ORIGINAL PRICES $49.95 TO $295.00

DIVER STYLE $18 | FASHION RHINESTONE $28 | INCLUDES DIAMONDS $38 | CITIZEN & SEIKO $48 | SEIKO $68

28½" FIRE ENGINE
INFRARED 15 FUNCTION REMOTE CONTROL
VALUE $98.00
$38.88
FACTORY RENEWED

RUBIE BOUGHT OVER 3000
MAN-SIZED RECLINERS
NOW $99
OTHERS AT $119 - $199
VALUES FROM $159-$199

LUGGAGE
LEEDS CLOSE-OUT
TOTE BAG WAS $30.00 NOW $7.50
21 INCH WAS $40 NOW $10
26 INCH WAS $80 NOW $20
24 INCH WAS $60 NOW $15
28 INCH WAS $100 NOW $25

BRACH'S
CHRISTMAS CANDY
TRAILERLOAD BUY-OUT
NORMALLY $1.59-$3.99
79¢ TO $1.99

PREMIUM FOIL CHRISTMAS WRAP 35 SQ FT
VALUE $3.99 EA
NOW 2 FOR $3

INDOOR/OUTDOOR CHRISTMAS LIGHTS
100 LIGHTS
·EZE-ADD-A-LITE™
#2122 WITH END CONNECTORS
·5 WAY FLASHING #2103
COMP VALUES $9.99 TO $14.99
NOW YOUR CHOICE $6.50

12 INCH MONOCHROME MAGNAVOX TV
BRAND NEW FIRST QUALITY FULL MFG WARRANTY
VALUE $98.00 $48.88

PHONEMATE TELEPHONE ANSWERING MACHINE
DIGITAL #6800 VALUE $119.95 $28 FACTORY RENEWED
MINIMATE #5050 VALUE $159.95 $48 FACTORY RENEWED

POWER EQUIPMENT
20 INCH REMOTE CONTROL
VALUE $59.95
$18 EA
FACTORY RENEWED

GRANDFATHER CLOCK
VALUE $1375 80" HIGH
NOW $588
ONLY 100 IN STOCK

Santa's Workshop CHRISTMAS LIGHTS
INDOOR OUTDOOR
15 LIGHTS-C-7 COMP AT $9.95 NOW $6.50
25 LIGHTS-C-9 COMP AT $13.99 TO $18.99 NOW $9.50

ALL ALUMINUM WEATHER VANES
PERFECT BALANCE
·ROOSTER ·POINTER DOG ·HORSE ·COACH & HORSE
VALUE $22.49
NOW YOUR CHOICE $12.88

1000 DINETTES IN STOCK
VALUES FROM $169 TO $695 NOW $88 TO $428

SINGER VACCUUM CLEANERS
MODEL #160 VALUE $119.95 2.2 HP CANISTER
MODEL #350 VALUE $250.00 3.0 HP CANISTER BEATER BRUSH
NOW $58 $98
FACTORY RENEWED

SILVER RAIL
7'x 4' EASY SNAP TRACK
FORWARD REVERSE STOP
BATTERY OPERATED TRAIN SET
CONTAINS: 12 CURVED 4 STRAIGHT 2 SWITCH CONTROLS
VALUE $89.95
NOW $28.88
FACTORY RENEWED

100,000 YARDS FIRST QUALITY BROADLOOM CARPET

VINYL FLOOR TILE
12"x12" SELF STICK TILES
CASE OF 45 SQUARE FEET
NORMALLY $29-$39
NOW $18.88 CASE

VINYL FLOORING
BY CONGOLEUM & ARMSTRONG
12 FOOT WIDE FOR EASY INSTALLATION
NORMALLY $6.95 TO 19.95
NOW $3.88 SQ.YD.
SAVE UP TO 80%

FREE CARPET PAD
WITH THE PURCHASE OF ANY JUTEBACKED BROADLOOM CARPET
VALUES $12 - $40 NOW $6 TO $14 SQ YD

7 PIECE PINE DINETTE
TRESSLE TABLE · 4 SIDE CHAIRS 2 ARM CHAIRS
NORMALLY $895.00
NOW $388

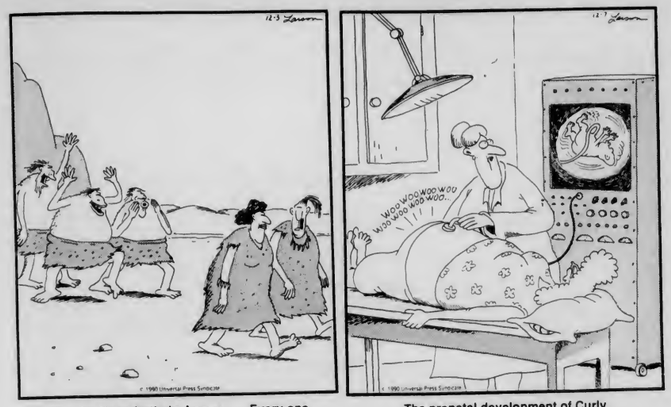
TABLE LAMPS BY WESTWOOD
#2910 · VALUE $154.50
WHY SO CHEAP? NO SHADE!
NOW $28.88

THE ORIGINAL FACTORY OUTLET STORE
Quantities are substantial All items limited to stock on hand Not responsible for typographical errors We buy bankrupt stocks, close-outs and factory overruns of name brand merchandise and always sell for less

1131 CAMPBELL AVE. EXIT 43 OFF I-95 WEST HAVEN CONNECTICUT
ROUTE 5 EAST WINDSOR CONNECTICUT
ROUTE 184 GROTON CONNECTICUT
WEBSTER SQUARE BERLIN CONNECTICUT
HAMPSHIRE MALL ROUTE 9 HADLEY MASSACHUSETTS
1 CANAL STREET TURNERS FALLS MASSACHUSETTS
739 MEADOW ST. CHICOPEE MASSACHUSETTS

THE FAR SIDE

By GARY LARSON

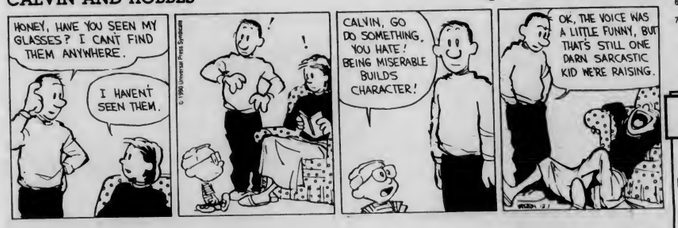


"They're Neanderthals, Loona. . . . Every one of them."

The prenatal development of Curly

CALVIN AND HOBBES

By BILL WATTERSON



HONEY, HAVE YOU SEEN MY GLASSES? I CAN'T FIND THEM ANYWHERE.
I HAVEN'T SEEN THEM.
CALVIN, GO DO SOMETHING. YOU HATE BEING MISERABLE BUILDS CHARACTER!
OK, THE VOICE WAS A LITTLE FUNNY, BUT THAT'S STILL ONE DARN SARCASTIC KID WE'RE RAISING.

TANGELO PIE

By TIM SNIFFEN

Well, I'm sorry you have to leave the team, Marc-O, but the school felt that firearms on the playing field aren't very legal.
But before you go- just for old times sake- Do the growl I taught you. Just once more.
Grrrrrrrr....
God, he's good.

DOONESBURY

By GARRY TRUDEAU

WELL, THAT WAS THE MOST AMAZING PERFORMANCE I'VE EVER SEEN.
YEAH, BUT WE SHOULD HAVE SEEN IT CONTEST...
REMEMBER HOW UNCOMFORTABLE BUSH LOOKED DURING THE '88 CAMPAIGN? IT WAS COMPLETELY UNNATURAL FOR HIM TO BE TAKING STROKE STANDS AND HE KNEW IT!
BY STEPPING OUT OF CHARACTER, HE MUST HAVE BEEN TRYING TO GET CAUGHT! HE WANTED SOMEONE TO FIGURE OUT HE WAS JUST FAKING IT!
SO "READ MY LIPS" WAS... A CRY FOR HELP. IT'S SO OBVIOUS NOW.

PRICE

By PRICE VAN RAY

TERRY ARE YOU HAVING A PARTY THIS WEEKEND?
WHY? ALL YOU EVER DO IS COME OVER AND EAT US OUT OF HOUSE AND HOME! DROP DEAD!
ARE YOU GOING TO HOLD THE PAST AGAINST ME!
IS THAT THE ONLY REASON YOU THINK I GO TO YOUR PARTIES?
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Blood-related
6 Bridge position
10 Office worker, for short
14 "The Portrait of —," H. James novel
15 Ready to eat
16 Wesel of letters
17 The first Nellie Forbush
19 Salinger girl
20 Buck's appendages
21 Pedicurist's concern
23 Name for a Fraulein
24 Nothing more than 25 Wine casks
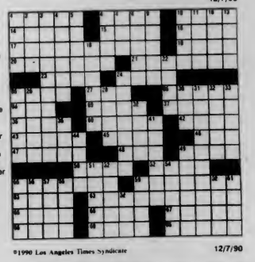
27 Four o'clock beverage
29 "— c'est moi"
34 Hoffmann's initials
35 To be, in Aix
37 One of the seven sins
38 Fall flowers, for short
40 Glossy fabric
42 Apropos of
43 Word before ballerina
45 Coin of Italy
46 Elastic wood
47 Conosey
48 — Perce Indian
49 City north of Des Moines
50 Jai —
53 "— Camera"
55 Lancelot's son
59 Phoenician love goddess
62 By-and-by
63 "Laugh-in" star
65 Fast time
66 Sixth cen. date
67 Menor dweller
68 Inspires wonder
69 Connery or O'Cesey
70 Laborers of yore

DOWN
1 City on the Orontes
2 Dash
3 Novelist Kingsley's novelist son
4 Tennyson's "The — of the King"
5 Flower clusters
6 Strays
7 River isle
8 Malice
9 Vickers or Domingo
10 Adolescent
11 Lohengrin's bride
12 Puccini heroine
13 Remove rind
18 Rugged ridges
22 Congers
24 Popular libation
25 Conductor's concerns
26 Road maneuver
28 Etc
30 Big name in New Haven
31 Durable poo singer
32 "— poem lovely as —"
33 Well-developed muscles
36 Emerald isle
39 Dallas campus, for short
41 What Hitler preached
44 Asian servant
49 Dive Lucine's family
51 Alan and Cheryl
52 Take — (throw the light)
54 Dickens title words
55 Festive occasion
56 Again
57 Like a certain ranger
58 Busy insects
59 Related
60 Grow weary
61 Pass catchers, frequently
64 OSS follower

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

T	R	I	P		S	A	L	E	S		M	A	T	E
I	O	T	A		E	V	E	N	T		I	T	A	L
E	V	E	R		R	I	A	T	A	L		O	I	G	S
R	E	M	O	V	E	D		E	L	L	I	P	S	E
			L	I	N		T	R	A	I	T
A	L	I	E	N	A	T	E		G	A	I	N	E	D
R	I	D	E		D	A	L	E		M	A	O	M	I
E	K	E		N	E	R	A	N	D	A		V	I	M
T	E	A	S	E		A	M	I	R		G	A	I	T
E	N	L	I	S	T		O	D	D	R	I	E	I	S
			S	T	I	E	N		L	I	I
A	M	A	S	S	E	R		S	L	A	Y	M	E	R
R	A	N	I		T	A	U	P	E		T	I	D	E
A	L	O	E		E	S	T	E	R		E	V	E	S
B	L	I	N	S		R	E	A	D	Y		R	E	N	T

12/7/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 12/7/90

MENU

LUNCH
Hamburger on roll
Egg and cheddar florentine

DINNER
Chicken stew
Roast beef

BASICS LUNCH
Golden burgers
Egg and cheddar florentine

BASICS DINNER
Chicken stew
Greek style skillet

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (Morch 21-April 19): New responsibilites and prestige are emphasized. Your health will be jeopardized unless you slow down. Look for shortcuts. Romance is fine if you are not overly tired.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Other people give you more leeway. Ration your time and energy wisely. Put business before personal pleasures. An agreement you reach with your associates makes the future look promising.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Play it safe. Follow sound advice instead of being driven by o personal compulsion. Roll with the punches in romance. Keep o record of your dreams. New insights are likely.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): The more contacts you make, the better your prospects for success! The profit incentive is powerful. Market o friend's clever idea. Widening your social circle increases your chances for romance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Timing is the secret to your success. Keep projects under wraps until ready. Enthusiasm should be allowed to run unchecked until your work is completed. Seek publicity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Continue to keep your emotions under strict control. Family members may behave in a puzzling monner. Asking pointed questions could spoil someone's wonderful surprise! Be tender with mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Economic stresses will disappear if you are careful and avoid impulsive actions. The devotion of your mate or another key ally is o big asset. Try not to alienate co-workers. Romantic fever rages!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Work harder to strengthen family ties. A frank declaration sets the tone for greater understanding. Open your heart to your loved ones. Try to see things from their point of view.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Work offers the best escape from unpleasant people or situations. If tired, no not force the pace. Keep o medical or dental appointment. Romance is on emotional roller coaster. Hang on!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19): Your popularity is on the rise. Make o concerted effort to win over influential people. You can afford to take calculated risks to increase profits. Play an active role in community affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb 18): Do not delude yourself into believing that you know better than the experts. A steady, consistent approach works best in business. Impulsive octs will boomerang, especially in romance.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A few kind words or minutes of attention con turn hostility into harmony. Avoid taking risks with your savings: consult experts. Revamp your schedule to include daily exercise. Romance is iffy.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Gayle Long
Copy Editor.....Preston P. Forman
Layout Technician.....Doug Johnston
Photo Technician.....Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor.....Doug Johnston
Typesetter.....Kim Frisino
Production.....Jason Torla, Lynn Kilroy, Chris Demers

'Winter's Night' enthralls

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

On a Winter's Night
Iron Horse
Tuesday, Dec. 4

"In the age of diseases I have learned that I have to use them . . . rubber love," sang John Gorka. The song "Rubber Love" was sung when the words "safer sex" were pulled out of a box that was passed around halfway through a concert to solicit song ideas.

Gorka and three other folk singers, Christin Lavin, Patty Larkin and David Wilcox sang to a packed club of middle-aged fans. They sang from their new album A Winter's Night. The album is a compilation of their own music and other folk singers.

Christin Lavin is the most renowned artist of the bunch. She had the idea to record the album and get them together for the Winter's Night tour, said Gorka when he introduced her.

The four singers started the show by singing their most requested songs. Lavin sang her song entitled "Sensitive New Age Guy," about the new trend of some men losing interest in football and wanting to talk about their feelings.

Larkin said it was unfortunate that her most requested song was about malls. She sang with a Russian accent that she learned from a singer who had an "alluring voice but had no talent."

The singers then said they were going to sing love songs. Larkin said, "This is an opportunity to make a pass at whoever you are sitting with. It's make out music." The music in addition to the cozy candlelight atmosphere made me consider it.

Gorka sang a hilarious song that he dubbed the worst country song that had ever been written. Some of the lines were, "The pilot light of love has just gone out in our oven of love. I have to get some easy off to ease her off of my mind."

A revolutionary theatre collective

The Multicultural Theatre Collective is not just a show: it's an event, a grappling, a shout from the peoples. This is Total Theatre: revolutionary in form and content.

The play (or should I say festival) deals with race, gender and social class through small scenes separately designed, written and directed by the actors themselves. At first impression, it is merely a colored peoples exclusive cult, granting license to tout their banner and taking revenge on White Man (personified with humor by the only caucasian actor), but it becomes clear after the first couple of scenes that there is much more at stake.

When a Black plays an Asian and then is accused of acting like a Black by his Asian parents, when the Latin American, Jose, is attacked for being "too" White and then turns around and attacks another Latin American who is too bourgeoise, when the audience itself is assaulted asked to explain itself and instructed to move around the intimate theatre for the convenience of the actors, it becomes clear that the overriding theme is Reversal, from the backwards printed program to the table-turned staging of watcher and watched, impotent and impowered.

The Collective is the brain child of two Hampshire College students, Leilani Chan and Stone Hans, who plan to involve the Five College community in an ongoing performance/discussion of Multicultural issues. On one level, these are just privileged college students complaining about their lives, but ultimately they are celebrating the sanctity of the individual, in a world of opposites, whatever they may be.

— TOM SCULLY

■ valley jazz

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

a couple of years ago was outstanding. As icing on the cake, FAC director/music professor Dr. Frederick Tillis will join them on tenor sax.

This concert is more than just great music; its proceeds benefit the Fletcher Henderson Memorial Scholarship Fund. The fund is used to provide scholarships for deserving students in the University's renowned Afro-American music program.

We'd like to compliment you on your choice.

Save now on select color Macintosh systems.

Now through January 5, 1991, take advantage of special savings when you buy a Macintosh• IIsi, Macintosh IIci, or Macintosh IIfx computer and an AppleColor™ High-Resolution RGB Monitor.•

Whether you choose the new Macintosh IIsi, Apple's latest powerful, affordable system. Or the Macintosh IIci, known for its high performance and expandability. Or the maximum-performance Macintosh IIfx, with its virtually unlimited expandability. You'll be getting a system of lasting value. Not to mention special savings when you buy your system with the AppleColor High-Resolution RGB Monitor.

Hurry in today for a closer look at these Macintosh II systems. You'll praise their value, and we'll compliment you on your choice with special savings. No matter which system you choose.

For further information please visit
the University Store Computer Department, Campus Center
545-2619

•Offer good October 15, 1990 through January 5, 1991. Offer void where prohibited by law.
©1990 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. AppleColor is a trademark of Apple Computer, Inc.

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trips from NY starting at

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R.	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue

Council Travel
71 S. Pleasant St. Amherst
413-256-1261 212-661-1450

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

CopyCat Print Shop
RESUME SPECIAL
Have your resumé typeset in 3 business days (1st proof) AND recieve 25 Copies of your resumé all for only...
Offer expires 1/31/91
228 Triangle St, Amherst
(413) 549-3840

PLEASANT ST. THEATER
27 Pleasant St./Northampton, MA 01060
Theater Office: 413-586-5828
"Every frame is a feast for the eyes".- SEATTLE P.I.
"The span and sweep of Kurosawa".- BOSTON GLOBE

Shadow of the Raven
A Nordic Tale of love, passion and treachery...
SHADOW OF THE RAVEN
weekdays at 7 and 9:10/Friday at 5:45, 7:50 and 10/Sat. and Sun. at 3:30, 5:45, 7:50 and 10 p.m.
First show on Friday, Sat. and Sun. is $3.50 admission

"AN UNUSUALLY ORIGINAL FILM" Caryn James, NEW YORK TIMES
AKI KAURISMÄKI
ARIEL

ARIEL
weekdays at 7:15 and 8:50/Friday at 6:10, 7:55, 9:30/Sat. and Sun. at 3, 4:35, 6:10, 7:55 and 9:30 p.m.
First show on Friday, Sat. and Sun. is $3.50 admission

Sports Notice

Raquetball Club will host SUNY-Albany, Rensselaer Polytech and Plattsburg State in a tournament at New England Health and Racquetball Club on Ashely Ave. in W. Springfield, just off Rte. 5 Riverdale Rd.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

GEORGE FREDERICK HANDEL
MESSIAH
parts 1&2
University of Massachusetts
CHAMBER CHOIR
with orchestra
Wayne Abercrombie conductor
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Sunday, December 9, 3:00pm
$8.00 general admission
$4.00 senior citizens, five-college students and children under 18
tickets available at the fine arts center box office 545-2511

A SALUTE TO THE LEADERS OF TOMORROW – AIR FORCE ROTC CADETS.

College is a time for decision. Some will choose to become leaders – through Air Force ROTC.

Smart move. The whole concept of Air Force ROTC revolves around the cultivation of qualities that count for leadership. And whether you're about to start college or have already begun, it's time to make your decision, now.

Upon graduation, you'll be an Air Force officer. You'll possess solid management skills and a strong sense of self-assurance. You'll know the demands of success and the meaning of responsibility.

And you'll have the great wealth of opportunities accorded to those who choose to be leaders.

Start now. Contact

DEPT OF AEROSPACE STUDIES
(413) 545-2451

AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-5:30 FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 3 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FINANCE CLUB PRESENTS- Greg McCall Alumnus, analyst speaks about Wall Street, stock market, job hunting Friday 12/7/90 3PM SOM 108

NEW HORIZONS plays "Blue Wall Cafe" Saturday, December 8th 9-1. Proceeds go to charity. Come party Carribean-Style! $4.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents Irlene 549-0733

ENTREPRENEURS
Looking for motivated people who want to make money. Requires as much or as little time as you have. Incredible support system. FTC approved. Great for winter break job. All welcome. Call tonight and ask about business opportunity. 546-3966 253-5065

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM
$1000 in just one week
Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

FREE HOUSING RAFFLE! Check out the concourse or an OHAG Rep. sponsored by OHAG (5-1385)

OCHO needs fair housing researchers for discrimination project. Be part of the solution! Call 545-0865 or SUB 428.

PVOC OIL COOP Purchase home heating oil at reduced cost per gallon. COD or automatic delivery register at OCHO or call 545-0865 for more information.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR
Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

WHALES FOR SALE! 9PM Cool Cat, want to forget again? Scotty D thanks for all your hard work

AUTO FOR SALE

1974 VOLVO 2 door 142S. Asking $395. 593-6656.

1981 RABBIT DIESEL, 4dr., std., clean, 75K on 2nd motor, radio/cassette, $600 665-2943.

1984 DODGE COLT silver, AM/FM/Cassette, new tires, good condition, reliable, $1250, call 546-7450.

1986 HONDA CIVIC 33000 miles. Excellent Condition. 1 owner. AM FM Cassette Stereo. Recent complete tune up. $6300.00 or best offer. Call Bruce at 258-1215

PURCHASING A USED CAR? Having your car repaired? Do you know your rights? Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 OR 2 PEOPLE for bedroom in house across from Townehouse Sq. $144+ per person. Call Melissa 549-6083 start Jan. 1st

1 ROOM in two bdrm apt. 275/mo. Heat free. 0.5 miles from Campus. Ashish 545-0329 or 549-6352.

1 SINGLE BEDROOM Swiss Village $249/mo. Take over lease Jan 1. On bus route. Call Christine 253-0436.

2 HUGE ROOMS in 3 bedroom house available January 1. Ideal for couples. Call 665-3099 or 617-395-9739. Ask for Andy.

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor. Take over lease Jan 1. 780 a month. 549-5954

GREAT LOCATION
Downtown Northampton
1 bedroom-$215
Jan 1st
585-8657

LARGE ROOM AVAILABLE in fun NOHO House! Great Decor and dynamic housemates can be yours...Quiet neighborhood, free parking, 10 minutes from bus! Approx. $265 including. Call 585-8973.

LOOKING FOR MALE/FEMALE to move in to single room for spring semester. One mile from campus, on bus route, washer/dryer, large deck, v-ball court in backyard, cable. Most definitely the nicest house in the area. All for only $240/month! Call 549-0920 or 549-1151.

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT
Spacious 1 bedroom renovated.
586-2986 $560 Negotiable.

RELISTED DUE TO CANCELLATION
January sublet in Amherst
549-3610.

STUDIO IN AMHERST $460/w/util
Jan 1. Call Scott 253-0820.

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352.

TWO BEDROOMS available for spring starting Jan 1. Old farm house directly across the UMass Horsefarm. Great housemates. One room can be double. Call now 275 & 250 549-8117.

FOR SALE

 FUTONS ***
 MANY STYLES OF FRAMES ***
 AND MATTRESSES TO ***
 CHOOSE FROM ***
 RESERVE NOW FOR DELIVERY TO ***
 YOUR DORM HOUSE OR APARTMENT ***
 NEXT SEMESTER ***
 ONLY $10 DOWN ***
 METAWAMPE FURNITURE ***
 256-0646 ***

LARGE ENTERTAINMENT CONSOLE
In excellent condition.
A must see-Sell after 6PM.
Ask for Peter 549-6458.

PINBALL MACHINE for sale $480/B.O. 3 multi balls 2 ramps- modern. Call 546-1348

WOMENS SKI BOOTS, Alpine, size 8 $60 Call Steph at 546-4439. Leave message

ZOOMASS T-SHIRTS only $5 L-XL. Come and get 'em for x-mas. Hugh 549-6659

FOUND

BIG, FLUFFY, FRIENDLY Siamese looking cat. Found area of Northwest Street, Amherst. We're taking good care of her! Please call 548-8331 if she belongs to you.

KEY found between Herter and Haigis 12/4. Call Jennifer 549-5525.

KEYS found in South College 108 Mawy keys on big key ring. Call 548-1842 Brian.

PURPLE JACKET at BK on Rt. 9. Would like to return to rightful owner. Call 549-7291 to claim.

TORTOISE SHELL SUNGLASSES: found in Cape Cod Lounge under coach on 12/5. Go to CC information Desk.

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283.

ASSEMBLERS: Excellent income to assemble products from your home. 504-648-1700 dept. P1307

HELP US TO HELP YOU We need students with good communication skills and lots of enthusiasm to call alumni on behalf of a special campaign to raise money for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner at 5-3509 or stop by the basement of Memorial Hall for more info.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach it.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language
Classes begin January 21, 1991.
Intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica, 549-5065.

LOST

BROWN, LEATHER NOTEBOOK filled with calculations on engineering paper
at Elab. or Hatch
Call Joe
665-8270
Reward

BROWN WALLET PLEASE RETURN to Cindy 549-5649.

ENGINEERING CALCULATOR
Outside Goes 49 on Wednesday
Call 6-4256 or 1-593-3868
Ask for Mike

RED CHANGEPURSE lost 11/30, Friday at 3:30 in Cape Cod Lounge/Miniature Importers! Please return the contents. You can keep the money, no questions asked! Sue 549-6448

SHEPHARD BEAGLE MIX
Near Logtown Rd 12/3/90
Has no tags or collar
Call 256-0802

NEED A PERSONAL COMPUTER?

DO I HAVE A MODEL FOR YOU!
Zenith, PC Compatible WINEC V20 Chip 640 kb RAM, 20 Meg Hard Disk, RGB Color Monitor, Clock Card, Microsoft's latest Bus Mouse, Software, Call Matt 549-5190 for more details. Lesve e message. Price is negotiable.

PERSONALS

DELTA ZETA GODDESSES- Have a great time at the formal! It will be amazing because we are!

DIETER
Happy 20th Birthday!!
Love you always,
DS

ERIC,
The countdown is finally over!
Have a great 21st birthday!
Love,
Lisa

HAPPY 19TH BIRTHDAY STEVIE DII
It's about time! Love your Bumba Bunny, Marla

HAPPY 21ST JOHN
Now buy for me! Can't wait for Christmas Eve
Love your sis

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BALTIZAR,
You Zoology King! Love, your Zoology Queens, Babushka and Marlita

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, JILL BARONI!!
Have a great day on Sunday
Love Tare

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TANYA!
We love you!
-Colleen, Jess, Em, Jacqui, Mel

HEY LORRAINE- or is it Elaine?
It'll be 2 years on the 9th, and then it's gonne happen.
You'll be re-virginized!
Prepare yourself! -Bert

HI AUNTIE LOU, Donna and AnnMarie:
Marc and I can't wait to see you all this weekend! Lots of Gino's pizza! We love you all (you to Richie)!
Love,
Marc and Judy

JEN CRAIG
You are an awesome pledge!
Keep up the great work- sisterhood is just around the corner! In Sigma, Your Guardien (Angel) Cherry

JOOI, Get "Wicked Super Psyched" for an amazing birthday weekend! Psyche, Psyche, Psyche! We Love You. The J-Team

JOHN,
I Love You too!
Lisa

JULES OF TRI-SIGMA:
You were dangerous at 20
Can't imagine what 21 will be like! You are one of a kind.
We'll miss you next semester.
Watch out Boston!
Love,
Your Sisters

KARA NICHOLS
Get psyched for initation! You'll make a great Sigma Kappa. You've been an awesome little sister. Good luck.
In Sigma Love,
Brenda

KAREN W. -8th floor Coolidge RA
Have a great Birthday! We'll be there to help you celebrate it. Don't get too smashed!
Your the best!
Love,
8th floor residente

LAURA NATHANSON--Cherlie's can't shoot you down anymore- you're 21!! Cut loose and have an awesome birthday!!
Love, your roommies and Deve

LD
Can't tell you but I'm close. Soon...
Luv,
A

LIN,
Happy one month on Saturday, I can't wait to celebrate with you.
Love, Sade

MATERNAL OVERLORD & THE DEMISE-
Whet do red chili peppers, H. + Peaks, onions, fortunes and 2AM make? an Angite

MIKE- Blond polisci major with the blue Pantiegdons in basics. One with me. I'm Jen, dark hair, eyes--Bright personality.

MORRISON IS GOD:
Death to the followers of the evil anti-Jim and all lamists. The evil anti-Jim has taken the form of an owl. All owls must die. This is not a joke! Be nice to bus drivers & Collegian ad reps.
Happy Birthday Jim!
Bress on thru!

MR NICE EYES
I see you MWF at SW bus stop on the way to LGRT interested??

NICKIE MORRIS-
Happy belated 22nd birthday. See, after you turn 21 everyone forgets about you but of course we wouldn't.
Love,
AXO

RB
If dietence swimmers 'do it' long and hard, how do you 'do it'?
KAL

RICH
You don't have a quiz, but will you give us a kiss?
Love, the cute chicks form Portugues Class

SCOTT-
Happy Anniversary.
This year has been incredible.
We have many more to come.
I love you!
Penny

SCOTT M.
The last 117 days have been the happiest days of my life. Thank you for being you! Our love is a love to last until the end of time. Love, Your Petite Fleur(Steph)

SONNY
Contract
When the gun says "done"- I'm done!

I'll miss you terribly next semester
I love you so much
Love,
Carmela

SONYA
Happy Birthday!
Lets
Wiggle It
Miles Away
Seturday Night
Love Jim

TO OUR 'DEER-EST' Buck Marner, Tanye-Happy Birthday- Take it easy tonight and only 'Blow' out your 19 candles!
-Lick'em clean head cleaners

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 ROOMS IN HOUSE 233+ utilities. Bus route Jan. 91 to May. 256-8979.

AMHERST CENTER- Perfect location Large room in big friendly house.
ALL UTILITIES PAID, HUGE YARD
$295 253-2329

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. $185 Jen sublet option 253-0409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. in house $200 Feb to May no lease 253-0409.

FEMALE WANTED to share room beautiful two bedroom apt. for spring semester. Five min walk only $135.00. Call 546-4173.

FEMALE WANTED to share room in Brandywine sterting Jan. 1st $187.50 includes heat Call 549-4259 A.S.A.P.

HOBART LANE, 2 non-smoking females needed to share double only 167.50 each/month. Kris or Noyem 549-1978

LARGE BEDROOM w/weikin closet available in Puffton. Ideal for one or two. Rent 268.00 month includes heat & water Call 549-7773

MALE ROOMMATE in house wanted Completely furnished washer/dryer. Cable TV. 185/mo January 1 start. 100yds form Main St. bus. I'm graduating. Must fill spot. 253-2728.

M/F WANTED for single room in house $166 + per month. 3 miles to UMass. Walking distance to Puffer's Pond. Call David at 549-0040.

SINGLE ROOM in nice condo.
4 miles to UMass!
$230+
253-0413

WANTED: Female roommate to share a room Amity Place beginning 1/1 549-5316.

WOMAN WANTED in 2 bedroom apt. Center Amherst 260/mo. Call 253-0617

WALK TO CAMPUS or Town from Triangle St. $157+ Call 549-8258.

SERVICES

DO YOU KNOW THE TIME? Watch batteries and full jewelry repair service Silverscape designs, the finest gifts from glass to gold. 264 North Pleasant Street, Amherst 253-3324.

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services
ALTERNATIVES 33 Mem St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010.

SUBLET

1 BEDROOM in two bedroom apt. Furnished Sunderland on busline, female grad pref. $225/mo. Susan 665-8233.

SUBLET FOR WINTER one room in Presidential Apts. Call 549-0035

WOMAN LOOKING for Jan. sublet. Honest, neat, dependable. Will care for pet 546-4163 or 545-3868 after 5PM.

TRAVEL

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI WEEK. $189 for 5 day lift ticket, 5 nights lodging (mountainside condo) 5 days intercollegiate activities, sponsored by Labatts & Mt. Sutton, Canada. Group Leader Discounts. Jan 6-11 or Jan 13-18 Call Ski Travel Unlimited 1-800-999-SKI-9

ONE WAY TICKET to California, December 20, $150. 253-5844.

SPRING BREAK!!
Cancun, Bahamas, Jamaica
7 nights (starting at $399)
interested?
Call me- Traci 546-5258

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30 TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cetses, papers; Affordable, dependable, Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING?
Fast and Accurate
Typing/Wordprocessing
Free laserprinting
Call Becca 549-4600 X433.

NEXT DAY TYPING/WORDPROCESSING 323-4579

WORDPROCESSING: Papers, etc Reasonable rates, fast, efficient service. Call Janet 253-3276 leave message.

WORDPROCESSING, reports, theses, graphs, laser printing Cell Rosemary 259-1786.

WANTED

2 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommates wanted for Townehouse apt 200 & util spot 253-2728.

LOOKING TO TAKE OVER
your 2 bdrm lease in
Jan. Call Pam/Jacqui
253-9776.

NATIVE RUSSIAN SPEAKER
to proofread term paper. Will pay $ Call Christine 584-8196.

ORIGINAL METAL BAND seeks drummer and bass player to complete band. Call Steve at 546-2332 after 9:30PM weekdays.

UNDERWRITING DIRECTOR FOR WMUA
Sales experience preferred.
Excellent resume & business potential.
Pay includes 15 percent commission on all contracts gained.
Apply in station lobby 102CC or call 545-2876.
Deadline 12/10/90

SPORTS

Minutemen beat Lowell in the trenches, 80-57

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Everybody likes dunks, but coaches love defense and rebounding, and last night the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team crushed Lowell in both categories on the way to an 80-57 win.

UMass (3-1) avenged last season's one-point loss at the Cage by snatching 60 rebounds to Division II Lowell's 36 and holding the Chiefs to 35 percent shooting in the game (23 percent in the first half).

Massachusetts, 80-57

Massachusetts Herndon 4-7 3-5 11, Barbee 6-15 2-5 14, Williams 4 8 6-7 14, McCoy 7 14 3-5 17, Brown 0 3 2-2 2, Giles 5-13 0-0 12, Tate 3-5 0-3 6, K.Robinson 0-0 1-3 1, Meyer 1-3 0-0 2, Anderson 0-1 1-2 1, C.Robinson 0-1 0-2 0, Grodski 0-1 0-0 0, Firman 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 30-71 18-34 80.
Lowell Scully 0-1 0-0 0, Hoff 0-4 3-4 3, Collins 4-12 0-0 8, Lane 2-10 5-6 10, Jobin 1-2 0-0 3, Smith 2-7 1-4 5, Reed 3-5 2-5 9, Moriarty 2-4 1-2 5, Roderick -15 0-0 2, Jordan 0-1 0-0 0, Mucher 0-1 0-0 0, Conway 4-6 0-1 8, Perkins 2-4 0-0 4, Moore 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 21-60 12-22 57. Halftime UMass 40, Lowell 23. Fouled out none. Three-point goals Giles 2, Lane, Jobin, Reed. Assists UMass 18 (Brown 7), Lowell 13 (Scully 3). Rebounds UMass 60 (Tate 12), Lowell 36 (Reed 8). Total fouls UMass 19, Lowell 26. A-3,716

Lowell scored just 7 field goals in the first half, falling behind 40-23. The Chiefs worked to get the ball inside to 6-foot-7 center Willie Collins and forwards Tom Moriarty and A.J. Hoff, only to see their shots repeatedly stuffed.

"We were a little bit nervous and they are a very good defensive team . . . it was frustrating," Lowell coach Stan Van Gundy said.

"If we're going to do anything this season, it will be with defense," UMass coach John Calipari said. "We're not doing anything offensively. The only thing that's keeping us competitive is defense."

For UMass, Jim McCoy scored a game-high 17 points and had 9 rebounds; Harper Williams added 14 points, 11 rebounds and 4 blocks. John Tate led UMass with 12 rebounds.

Tony Barbee (14 points) sparked a 12-0 run that opened up a 25-point lead for the Minutemen with 13 minutes to play in the game. Barbee scored on a free throw, a baseline jumper and a jarring dunk during the stretch.

To that point, however, the Minutemen had struggled on offense. UMass missed 14 of its first 19 shots in building a 12-3 lead. Guards Rafer Giles, Anton Brown and Tony Barbee shot a combined 5 for 20 in the first half.

UMass hosts George Washington tomorrow in an Atlantic 10 game (7 p.m.). The Colonials are 2-2 under first year coach Mike Jarvis, and stunned Pac 10 Stanford last week in Palo Alto, Calif., 81-70. Sophomore guard Dirkk Surles, the Atlantic 10 Player-of-the Week, scored 29.

Game notes: Freshman Jeff Meyer earned a huge hand from the 3,716 fans on hand at the Cage and a hug from Herndon for dunking an offensive rebound at the buzzer.

Collegian photo by Carrie Wyeth

Forward Harper Williams outrebounded Lowell and his teammates — save John Tate (12) — with 11. Williams went 4 of 8 from the floor and 6 of 7 from the line, as UMass stopped Lowell 80-57 in the Cage last night.

Hoopsters go to Princeton Inv.

By GREG SUKIENNIK Collegian Staff and BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

Princeton, New Jersey brings to mind several things. The SAT, for one. Financial Aid. Princeton University. The Garden State Parkway.

How about women's collegiate basketball?

Tonight at 6 p.m., the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team will tip off against the Lady Griffs of Canisius in the opening game of the Princeton Tournament. Princeton and the University of Delaware fill out the four-team field and will meet in the second game at 8 p.m.

The tournament title and consolation games will both be held on Saturday, with the third-place game at 6 p.m. and the championship contest at 8 p.m.

The Lady Griffs (4-1) of the Metro Atlantic Conference have won three consecutive games coming into the tournament and are coming off a 72-63 victory over Syracuse on Wednesday.

Canisius' 5-foot-10 sophomore forward Anne Brocker leads the team in points per game (16.8), field goal percentage (53 percent) and rebounding (7.8). Last week, Brocker scored a career high 22 points against Marist leading the Lady Griffs to victory in the Canisius Invitational Tournament.

The Golden Griffins look to play an up-tempo, pressure and run style game as they lack a true center. Only only one player, Nicole Spiegel, is over 6 feet and has seen limited time.

"We come to play hard," said Canisius head coach Mike Rappl. "We are a very small, scrappy, gritty team."

UMass will combat the perimeter shooting of the Griffs with an inside game led by 6-foot-2 senior center Keyburn McCusker and 6-foot-1 sophomore forward Kim Kristofik. McCusker scored a season high 25 points against Boston University Wednesday and leads the team with an average of 20 points and 7 rebounds per game.

The Minutewomen will face either Princeton or Delaware on Saturday. Delaware (1-3) will look to press and run and are looking for consistency for a full 40 minutes, according to head coach Joyce Perry. They have lost two one-point games this season at the buzzer.

Princeton head coach Joan Kowalik said her young team (six freshmen) plays a controlled half-court game. The Tigers (2-1) are led by 5-foot-9 senior guard Julie Brackenridge who is averaging 16 points per game.

"The field is even," said Kowalik. "There is not one dominant team. We could win or we could walk away 0-2."

Women's track to Harvard

By DAN WETZEL
Collegian Staff

This Saturday the University of Massachusetts women's indoor track team will compete in the prestigious Harvard Invitational. Head coach Julie LaFreniere is looking to keep up the success that the team had last week.

"Hopefully we will again be strong," LaFreniere said. "We ran very well last week and we are looking to improve some more."

UMass will be lead by Lee Ann Ambrose, who will compete in the 55-meter and the 400-meter run. Last week Ambrose qualified for the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Championship meet in the 800 meter.

"Lee Ann will be up against some good competition this week," LaFreniere said. "It will be difficult for her to win the 400 meters but she will be right up there. There is no way she can walk away with it, she will have to fight for a win. The field is very strong [in the 55 meter]."

Also running with Ambrose in the 55-meter race will be Sue MacFayden and the freshman trio of Wendy Gillette, Oona Quirk and Tana Henderson. All four runners will also compete in the 400 meter. LaFreniere is not expecting any to place in the race.

"The competition in the 55 meter is just too hot for them," LaFreniere said. "I am looking for them to get some more experience and perform to their capabilities."

Also running in the 400 meter will be stand-outs Lennice Johnson and Dana Smith, who was out last week due to an illness.

LaFreniere will look to Becky Johnson and Cathy Crocker in the 800 meter. Johnson qualified for the ECACs in the 1,000 meter last weekend.

"Becky should be in the seeded heat on Saturday," LaFreniere said. "Now I am hoping she will qualify in the 800 meter."

In the 3,000 meter, LaFreniere will send out Kelly Liljeblad, Michelle St. Laurent and Lynn Kirchoff.

LaFreniere will have Mo Meldrim running in the 5,000 meter. According to LaFreniere, Mo should do well in the run.

In the mile relay UMass will use Becky Johnson, Dana Smith, Lennice Johnson and Lee Ann Ambrose. UMass won the mile relay last year at the Harvard Invitational.

"We should be competitive this weekend," LaFreniere said. "This is a very big meet but we are looking for more qualifiers in the New Englands and the ECACs."

On a lighter note, the women's team will be sponsoring the first annual Jingle Jog on Sunday. The Jingle Jog is a five kilometer run with a variety of prizes being given away. The theme is fun with a Best Costume contest and Santa Claus himself making an appearance. The event will be held at noon by McGuirk Stadium and the team will have a table set up tomorrow at the Campus Center for all who want to enter. All proceeds will go to the team for a spring training camp.

Swimmers, divers compete against Connecticut teams

• Men to host Southern Conn. at Boyden

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team will try to rebound from their first loss of the season when they host Southern Connecticut tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Boyden pool.

The Minutemen (2-1), rolling off Wednesday's loss to Brown, their first in nearly two seasons, need to regain some confidence to get back in the win column, according to UMass coach Russ Yarworth.

"Its important for us to get right back in there and swim with confidence," Yarworth said. "[So. Conn.] is always a good rival so we'll have to pay attention and get the job done."

Yarworth said he can afford to juggle his lineup slightly but, he said he will not underestimate his opponent.

So. Conn.'s Mike McSweeney (individual medley, breaststroke), Paul Zakzrewski (breaststoke, freestyle) and diver Chris Hamilton could be problems for UMass, Yarworth said.

"McSweeney is tough. He can do anything," Yarworth said. "Hamilton is an excellent diver and will be a challenge for us."

UMass divers will try to meet this challenge, led by junior Steve Myers, who won the 1- and 3-meter dives against Brown, sweeping both events.

He said Curt Sawin (backstroke, individual medley) will move to the 500- and 200-yard freestyle. Tri-captain Pete Reich (100 and 200 freestyle), will swim the 50 and 500 freestyles, backstroke and 400 medley relay, according to Yarworth.

Chris Barrett (100 and 200 freestyle), will move to the individual medley and Scott Reed (1,000 and 500 freestyle), will return to the backstroke, an event he once swam as a 12-year old, Yarworth said.

He said he does not plan on giving his team much rest before the weekend. Tomorrow is UMass' last meet until Jan. 5.

"There will be plenty of time to rest later," Yarworth said. "I'll be working them hard in training."

Yarworth said he did not lose any sleep after the loss to Brown, however, losing better not become a habit.

"Sometimes it helps you focus, but I'm not used to losing," he said. "We'll get back on the winning track Saturday."

• Women to meet Springfield at UConn

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's swimming team splashes back into action Saturday as the Minutewomen travel to Storrs, CT. to take on the University of Connecticut and Springfield College.

Out of action for two weeks, the Minutewomen(3-0) are gunning for another victory to keep their unbeaten streak alive, after upsetting the University of Maine in their last home meet. "We're coming off of one of our biggest wins ever against Maine," coach Bob Newcomb said. "It's going to be tough to get our emotion back."

Presenting a tough challenge to the Minutewomen, the Huskies hold two aces up their sleeve in freestyler Brenda Mailoux and breastroker Daniella Fisher, two of the best freshmen in New England, according to Newcomb.

In last season's showdown with the Huskies, the Minutewomen suffered defeat by only ten points. Just enough for a motivation, if not revenge factor.

"They're a very talented team," Newcomb said. "We can hurt them in the fly events and diving, though."

To make matters worse going up against Big East UConn, the Minutewomen must also keep an eye out for the Lady Maroons from Springfield, a Division II team. Among SC's swimmers is Brenda Bradley, who made a name for herself at last year's New England championships, winning two events.

Other swimmers in the Maroons lineup to watch include divers Belinda Perry and Heidi Collier, and Jodi Duscharme [backstroke].

"Springfield is a well-coached team, but they are weak at the breastroke and sprints," Newcomb said. "If we beat UConn, we should beat Springfield."

Swimmers for the Minutewomen to count on in this meet include backstroker Kiri Binning [qualified already for three ESSL events], flyer Jennifer Jackson, Kim Broad [distance and individual medley], and Allison White, diver. According to Newcomb, though, depth will be the key to the meet.

"I expect good swims down the line," Newcomb said. "Everyone has to band together."

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 65

WEATHER	NEWS	SPORTS
Scattered flurries. Mostly sunny. High of 40. Didn't make sense to me, either.	Amherst Select Board changes election filing deadline to after Wintersession. Page 3.	Men's hoop wins fourth straight, 82-70 over George Washington. Page 12.

Hostages from Iraq return to U.S.

By WENDY BENJAMISON
Associated Press

HOUSTON (AP) — Former hostages from Iraq shouted "God Bless America!" and families shrieked with delight as they charged to greet each other across the tarmac at Ellington Air Field on Sunday.

Former Treasury Secretary John Connally and Oscar Wyatt, the chairman of Costal Corp., which financed the trip, also were mobbed by family members who covered their faces with lipstick-marked kisses of thanks and moved the men to tears.

Connally later said talks with Saddam Hussein revealed a leader who was a "very tough man, but he's not a stupid man.

"He said to us he had no argument with the American people, and he did not want a war. He wanted peace, but we wanted peace with justice and dignity," Connally said.

Twenty-one hostages, three U.S. Embassy employees and seven family members stepped off a Coastal Corp. Boeing 707 before dawn Sunday to nearly 200 cheering relatives and friends.

Jackie Nelson, wife of former hostage Bill Nelson of Los Angeles, kissed Wyatt and Connally on the cheek and said: "God bless you. I can't thank you enough. We're so grateful."

Nelson, who was held at a munitions plant south of Baghdad, said: "God Bless America. There's nothing like it. These people are marvelous. They have done things our government can't do and won't do."

As the ex-hostages got off the plane, former hostage Jim Vine's voice rang out above the others. He was seeing his infant son for the first time.

"Oh my God!" he shouted as he rushed to throw his arms around his wife, Donna, and son Evan. The baby was born Sept. 6, barely one month after Iraq invaded Kuwait.

Connally and Wyatt said they met with Saddam for 45 minutes in the presidential palace.

"We made an impassioned plea to him, saying to him in effect that we thought he should release all the hostages," Connally said. "Mr. Wyatt said that if indeed there's an armed conflict, the presence of a few hundred hostages would not in any way deter the armed conflict."

The men also donated 15 tons of medical supplies, valued at $500,000, to the Fellowship on Reconciliation, an Iraqi humanitarian group in Amman.

Saddam replied as they parted,"You will not go home with an empty plane," according to Connally.

That statement touched off a bureaucratic nightmare, in which hostages scrambled to get exit visas and be transported hundreds of miles from the strategic locations at which they were held to Baghdad.

Some hostages who hoped to ride home with Connally and Wyatt — who's done business with the Iraqis for 19 years — were forced to remain because of delays in getting exit visas. None of the hostages are connected with Coastal.

Photo by Peter Wagner

GREENHOUSE EFFECT? — This bench, a gift of the Class of 1921, may soon be a memory if it continues to crumble into the campus pond.

Senator: Graduate lounge 'on the level'

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

As University of Massachusetts graduate students prepare for a new bar in the former music room, angry undergraduates are petitioning against the lounge, calling it a "disruption."

According to Todd Bryda of the Graduate Student Senate, space for the lounge/bar was allocated by the Board of Governors last spring and should come as no surprise to undergraduates.

"We weren't sneaking around to get the space, everything we did was completely on the level, now people are acting like this is something new," he said.

The bar, which will be located in the former music room of the reading room in the Campus Center Concourse, will feature quiet music and tables for studying, Bryda said.

He said the Marketing program took a survey of graduate students and found that there was a desire for a quiet place to study.

"You can't study in the TOC [Top of the Campus] when there is a game on TV, and you can't study in the Hatch when a band is playing," he said.

Bryda said there are many misconceptions about the new bar as well. He said the bar will only occupy a third of the total study space in the Reading Room.

He said pre-construction in the room last weekend also added to the confusion.

"They were tearing down a wall in there last weekend, and the workers forgot to take down the 'closed' sign, so I think a lot of people thought it was closed for good," he said.

Opponents to the new bar claim that a lounge in that space would "disrupt the ability of students to study in the reading room area."

The petition against the lounge, according to organizer Michelle Weinstock, has more than 475 signatures. It asks the graduate students to consider finding a different location for the lounge.

"The reading room is the only place on campus where students can study past midnight Sunday through Thursday, and after six on Fridays and Saturdays. It is also the only place where on campus open 24 hours a day during finals week," the petition states.

Weinstock said that study space on campus is already "limited," and said the new graduate lounge would make the situation even worse.

She said she understands that graduate student's need a space, and added she is not trying to work against graduate students, but hopes that they would look elsewhere for space.

Bryda said that students are not losing, but gaining study space. He said the Commonwealth Room in the Student Union will be opening next semester to accommodate more studying students.

Novelist links feminist and anti-apartheid movements

By PAUL DeGEORGES
Collegian Correspondent

The feminist movement in South Africa should not be regarded as an issue separate from apartheid but intertwined with the fight against oppression, according to a novelist from South Africa.

Speaking at Smith College Thursday night, Diane Russell, an activist and novelist from South Africa, said the role of feminism in South Africa is often overshadowed by apartheid.

"Feminism must be regarded not as an issue separate from apartheid, but an issue linked and intertwined with the whole fight against the system of oppression in South Africa," she said.

Russell said feminism was not being weighed importantly enough by Black South African revolutionary leaders, and that the two go hand-in-hand.

She cited passages from her latest book, Lives of Courage, which consists of interviews with female political ex-prisioners put in jail for their involvement in anti-apartheid activities.

She said the book details 12 women's accounts of the "horrible" psychological and physical torture to which they were subjected.

Russell said she was involved in revolutionary anti-apartheid and suffrage groups in the late '60s while attending the University of Capetown in South Africa, where she was born. At 19, she joined the now-defunct African Resistance Movement, but shortly after moved to San Francisco where she became dedicated to "feminist activism and fighting violence against women."

Russell, who is a professor of sociology at Mills College in Oakland, Calif., said the idea for her latest book came after a 1987 trip back to South Africa. At the time, she said she felt that "revolution seemed imminent."

Russell said she spent 1987-1988 in South Africa working on the book.

"It's an unpopular, if not dangerous thing to be a White feminist in South Africa," she said. "Especially if you are an anti-aparteid feminist."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

■ women and apartheid

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

She said eventually she gained the "respect and admiration" of many important figures such as Reverend Desmond Tutu, who said "Diana Russell exposes us to the burning fire of women who are not prepared to wait for matters to be decided for them."

Tutu described Lives of Courage as "a manifesto of hope. . . [the prisoners stories] utterly refute those who believe an individual cannot make a difference," according to Russell.

For Your Information

MONDAY, DECEMBER 10

Rally — A rally is scheduled to be held at noon on the Student Union steps to protest the Collegian's decision not to create a Jewish Affairs editor.

Suggestions — The Health Council of the Faculty Senate is soliciting input from students, staff and faculty regarding issues of concern for consideration at its monthly meetings. Please address your suggestions to John Cunningham, Chair, Health Council, Dept. of Nutrition, Chenoweth 201, Campus.

Lecture — Rosalind Shaw, a professor of anthropology at Tufts University, will give a lecture on "Dividuals and Individuals: Person and Self in West African Religious Ideas." The fifth lecture in the Africa Today Lecture series, it will be held at 7 p.m. in Neilson Library Browsing Room, Amherst College.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 12

Meeting — The monthly meeting of the Pioneer Valley Personal Computer User's Group on Wednesday will be held at the Merril Sceince Center, Amherst College. The meeting will feature the PVPCUG's annual Microcomputer fair. From 7 p.m. on, the club will host demonstrations by local copmputer vendors including Specular International's 3-D modeling program Infini-D, disk sales, and a computer flea market. The event is open to the public, and bring something to sell! For more information, call Don Lesser at 549-4856.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 20

Holiday Gala and Silent Auction — The Valley Press Club will hold a Holiday Gala and Silent Auction in the Grand Ballroom of Springfield Sheraton at Monarch Place at 5:30 p.m. There will be comedy entertainment, substantial hors d'oeuvres, and a cash bar. The tickets are $10 in advance, $12 at the door. Proceeds benefit the Ed Malley Scholarship Fund. For more information, call the Press Club office at 739-4771.

we have the Christmas Presence

Find it at Faces

amherst • northampton • open 7 days

Auto Glass Center
American & Foreign
• SAME DAY SERVICE
• BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
• WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd
North Amherst, MA
549-2880
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Need cash? Own any gold?
CASH FOR GOLD
Progressive Gold Recycling
256-0842
Highest offers in the state!

Always in Bloom
220 North Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-5545
Full Service Florist
• Unique Flowers, Gifts and Plants
• FTD Wire Service
• Daily Deliveries
Debbie Boyce, owner

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trip from New York starting at

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT! Free student travel catalogue

Council Travel
19 S. Pleasant St. Amherst 256-1261
205 E. 42nd St. New York 212-661-1450

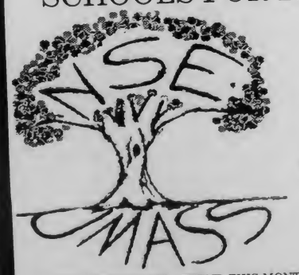
AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

College Pizza
Fall Special
Small Cheese Pizza $3.50
Large Chees Pizza $5.99
2 Toppings $1.00 extra
549-6098 549-6073
Must mention this ad
no coupons with the special

•CopyCat Print Shop•
RESUME SPECIAL
50 Copies, 50 Matching envelopes, 50 Sheets of Matching resumé paper for only $11.99 with coupon
Offer expires 1/31/91
228 Triangle St, Amherst
(413) 549-3840

10% OFF
Show us your
Student I.D.
We will take 10% off any purchase
Monday-Friday
Thru December 14
Find it at Faces
amherst/northampton

LAST CHANCE FOR RESTRICTED SCHOOLS FOR FALL'91/SPRING'92



WITH ROOTS HERE AT UMASS, STUDENTS CAN BRANCH OUT TO ONE OF OVER 90 COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES ACROSS THE UNITED STATES THROUGH THE NATIONAL STUDENT EXCHANGE PROGRAM

INTERESTED? PLEASE ATTEND THIS MONTH'S LAST INFORMATION SESSION, FROM 4-5 PM:

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, CC 165

NEW SPECIALS!
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY
2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1	SUPER PRINTS .37 SAVE .13 PER PRINT	2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THURSDAY	FRIDAY	EVERYDAY SPECIAL
2nd SET OF PRINTS FOR ONLY .10 PER PRINT	REPRINT DAY 3 1/2x5 .30 ea. 5x7 .99 ea. 8x10 3.50 ea	2nd SET OF PRINTS REGULAR .18 ea. SUPER .28 ea.

FILM IN BY 10:00 a.m.
PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 p.m.
ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE UNTIL 3:00 p.m.
The Foto Factory
224 1/2 FEDERAL STREET GREENFIELD
257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
82 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON

LOCAL

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

LOCAL HERO — Realtor Dave Keenan of Amherst stands in front of the Amherst Town Hall. Because the town can't afford to pay, Keenan has volunteered to clean pigeon droppings out of the attic. Keenan also built bathrooms at the Amherst playing fields, with the help of local businesses.

Education Department to diversify schools

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

The Massachusetts Department of Education has been asked to investigate Amherst schools to decide possible ways bring multicultural values into the school system, according to officials from the Amherst School System and local officers of the NAACP.

Reynold Winslow, vice-president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said at a news conference Friday the school system and the NAACP will work together with the State to stop the problems within the system.

"We will work in a non-adversarial role," said Winslow, "to determine the stage of concern for the Amherst area."

Winslow said there had to be changes in the areas of hiring practices as well as trying to rid the system of both passive and active racism of the staff and in the classroom.

The counsel for the NAACP, William Norris of Northampton, said, "The School Committee is working toward the goal of becoming a multicultural school system."

"The School Committee realizes the problem, and they should get credit for knowing there is a problem," said Norris. "But conditions have to be improved and the incomplete responses from [the School Committee] have to be answered."

Norris also discussed the reaction of students within the system, when in May 1990 they gave suggestions to the School Committee "for improving the racial climate of the schools."

Many students alluded to the May 18, 1990 incident in which a White youth knocked down a Black teenager which incited an uproar from the community, noting this was not an isolated incident, said Norris.

"Out of the mouths of babes come complete documentation," said Norris. "We have to bridge the gap of what is happening in the classrooms versus what the administrators will own up to."

"We are committed to try to change in Amherst the historical implications of these cycles," Norris said. "If we can change them in Amherst, it can be changed anywhere."

Another member of the panel, Mary Wentworth, chairperson of the Amherst Political Action Committee, noted the racial divisions caused in the 'tracking' or 'ability-grouping' method of teaching.

"No particular class, race, gender or religion has a lock on knowledge," said Wentworth. "Tracking is not good for any student. We should eliminate grouping and tracking."

Wentworth continued by suggesting cooperative education. In this form of learning, "the student who knows the concept is challenged by helping the student who doesn't," Wentworth said.

The filing of the complaint will be the first step toward finding a solution, Winslow said. "[It will be] the light at the end of the tunnel. I hope so. I think so."

Amherst Select Board approves new election schedule

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Select Board voted Thursday to approve a new town election schedule that would allow students more time to file nomination papers for seats in Town Meeting.

According to the new schedule, the deadline for filing papers for Town Meeting is Feb. 2, 1991, a week after the Jan. 28 deadline originally set by the board. The deadline for filing papers for town-wide positions, such as the board and the school committee, is Jan. 2, with the primary for these seats to be held on Feb. 19. Elections for all seats will be held in April.

Commuter Area Government President Ted Chambers said the fact that the board expanded the schedule despite legal and fiscal constraints shows that the board wants student participation in government.

"They did the best they could to accommodate everyone within the constraints of the law which mandates that nomination deadlines and elections fall a certain number of days apart," he said.

Chambers also said he did not feel the board was responsible for the schedule problems, which hurt students who were away from school during intersession. "There's no conspiracy in the town to lock us out," he said.

Chambers said the fact that many of the students registered to vote and who may run for office in Amherst are University of Massachusetts students living in residence halls leads to problems during intersession.

"The biggest obstacle facing students in terms of participating in town government is that they're forced out in January," he said. "It makes it difficult to run for office and it makes it difficult to organize a campaign."

Chambers, who helped run last year's unsuccessful select board campaigns of UMass students Robb Smith and Brian-James Crawford, said while it would still be difficult for students to campaign for office, the extension would be easier.

"We certainly didn't lose," he said. "We bought ourselves a couple of weeks which will help."

Members of the select board were unavailable for comment.

Anti-Semetic graffiti found outside Hillel

Compiled by PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Graffiti was discovered early Wednesday morning on posters outside the Hillel Office in the Student Union. University Police are characterizing the graffiti as anti-Semitic.

The graffiti, which was found in two locations outside the office, was discovered by a staff member as she was opening the office for the day.

Police said the incident is under investigation by the Civil Disorders Unit of the Department of Public Safety.

ARREST

● Stephen R. Updike, 19, of Amherst, was arrested early Friday morning on Triangle Street fo. operating under the influence of alcohol and being a minor transporting alcohol.

LARCENY

● A 1987 gray Honda was reported stolen Thursday. The estimated value is $7,000. Police said a suspect is under investigation.

● A man reported to police Thursday the theft of a license plate from his motor vehicle parked in Lot 11.

Traveler: Cubans believe in gov't.

By STEPHEN R. DAMIANI
Collegian Correspondent

More than 80 percent of Cubans truly believe in their socialist government, according to a striking Eastern Airlines employee and ardent socialist who recently visited the island.

Maggie Pucci presented a slide show about Cuba to 20 people Wednesday night, discussing the changes in the island country in a program sponsored by the Committee Allied with Struggles in the Americas.

Though travel to Cuba from the United States is prohibited, Pucci was allowed to go through a program entitled, "The Venceremos Brigade."

The program takes 150 U.S. citizens to Cuba where they stay at a campsite near the beach for two weeks, Pucci said.

The Cuban government pays for the visitors to come, tour the island, take pictures and learn about the history of Cuba.

Because U.S. citizens are not allowed to spend money in Cuba, the visitors pick oranges for four hours a day and donate them to non-profit organizations.

Pucci showed slides of places she visited in Havana, many of which showed the Cuban flag. Pucci said the Cuban people are proud of their country.

Pucci discussed the nation's educational average, which has risen from the second grade to the ninth grade level. Education in Cuba is free through college, and 13 percent of the national budget is spent on education.

Pucci also said the island nation has educated people in the medical fields, with a rise in the number of doctors from 6,000 to 35,000. Health care is free in Cuba, which is rated second in the world in medicine by the World Health Organization, and has a lower infant mortality rate than Boston, Pucci said.

Pucci added there was a housing shortage before the revolution, but more than two million houses have been built and the housing problem is not as serious as it once was.

Though 25 percent of the work force is involved in the sugar industry, Pucci said, Cuba is trying to diversify the economy so it will not have to rely entirely upon sugar for its income.

Student pleads innocent

NORTHAMPTON — A University of Massachusetts student pleaded innocent Thursday in Northampton District Court to charges he indecently assaulted and attempted to rape a woman in an Amherst apartment complex.

David Wilson, 20, of John Adams Dormitory, was ordered to stay away from the woman he is accused of assaulting and released on his own recognizance.

A pre-trial conference for the case is scheduled for Jan. 3.

—Collegian Staff Reports

Restaurant owner dies

Yvonne John, proprietor of Yvonne's Caribbeana Restaurant in Hadley and a prominent resident in the Amherst community, died Saturday at Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in Northampton.

John, a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, was a native of Guyana and came to Amherst in 1968.

There will be a memorial service to celebrate her life at the Grace Episcopal Church in Amherst at 7 p.m. tomorrow night.

Bruegger's Bagel Bakery

Come in from the cold
and warm up with a
Bagel Sandwich
and our
Homemade Soup of the Day

Locations in Amherst and scon in Northampton

GOOD CARS GOOD PRICES

PELHAM AUTO

Long known in the valley for great service on small imported and domestic cars is pleased to offer

FINE USED CARS AT REASONABLE PRICES

A sample of our selection:

1986 Chevy Nova 5 sp, A/C #10101 $3895
1987 Chevy Sprint 5/AC #1116 $2995

1315 Federal St. (Rt 9) Belchertown, MA (413) 253-9811

PARSONS
SCHOOL OF DESIGN
Special Summer Programs

FRANCE
WEST AFRICA
ITALY
GREAT BRITAIN
NEW YORK

International programs are offered for students, teachers and working professionals. Courses include: archaeology, architectural history, art history, ceramics, decorative arts, drawing, fashion, fiber, metal and surface design, graphic design, painting, and photography. Undergraduate and graduate credits are available to qualified students. For more information, please mail the coupon below or call:

Parsons Office of Special Programs:
(212) 741-8975 ext 16

Parsons School of Design, Office of Special Programs
66 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10011

Please send me a brochure on Parsons Special Summer Programs.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Phone _____ CP40

THANK YOU, UMASS BLOOD DONORS FOR GIVING 1,538 UNITS OF BLOOD THIS SEMESTER!

When you give blood
you give another birthday party, another wedding anniversary,
another day at the beach,
another night under the stars,
another talk with a friend,
another laugh,
another hug,
another chance.

The last Regular Blood Drive of this semester is Tuesday, December 11th, 11am—4pm in Room 101 C.C.
Sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha

AND THANK YOU UMASS SPONSORS WHO HELPED US REACH OUR GOAL

Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma, Sylvan Area Dorms, Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Mu Delta, Tau Beta Pi, UMass Business Club and V.I.B.E.S., Alpha Phi Omega, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Southwest Complex (Kennedy and Coolidge), Pi Kappa Alpha, Collegian.

There will be a UMass Area Community Blood Drive Tuesday, December 18 in Room 163 C.C. Walk-ins are welcome!

MUNCHY SALE

SALE

Frito-Lay RUFFLES Potato Chips 99c 6 oz. reg $1.39	PEPSI 1 liter 79c plus deposit
Kellogg's FROSTED FLAKES $1.89 10 oz	PLANTERS Cheese Balls Cheese Curls Corn Chips $1.19 reg $1.44
FRANCO AMERICAN Spaghetti Spaghettios 59c	KRAFT Macaroni and Cheese 79c 7 oz

--Coupon--
The Perfect Holiday Gift
$2.00 OFF Regular Price SWEATSHIRTS
Sale items excluded
may not be combined with other offers
One Coupon Per Customer
expires 12/21/90

Sale Prices valid Through Friday Dec 21

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on the page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

The joys of complex living

Ah, the joys of complex living.

That is, apartment complex living.

This past week, in the hustle of the season (final papers and research) I was trying very hard to complete a paper — in my apartment which I love and find very cozy.

In the apartment above me, there was the normal stomping I heard everyday as well — in apartment complexes, you can usually tell what people in the surrounding apartments are doing.

Being into reporting, I unfortunately feel as if I have to know what's going on around me.

I sat at my word processor, hoping and praying some fabulous thesis would pop into my head.

And one of the people above me stomped down to the bathroom.

Gayle Long

Stomp. Stomp. I hear the fan in their bathroom go on and the door shut behind someone. Flush!

Plink.

Ah-ha!

Plunk.

Wait a minute, I thought. That wasn't a brain cell working up a storm. It sounded like something in my bathroom.

I rushed down the hall and flicked on the light. Looking up at the ceiling — which consists of light panels — I noticed some water. Just a little at first, but all of a sudden — WHOOSH!!!

The entire right side of the panel filled with water. I grabbed the toothbrushes, I really wasn't sure why, but I did.

And it was a good thing I did.

All of a sudden, there was water leaking through the weak parts in the light panel — which (of course) caused little cracks. I was running around in my little bathroom with a pan trying to catch the water. The big leak was dripping right into the toilet — what a break.

Meanwhile, I heard people running around upstairs. I thought it was a pipe breaking or a bathtub over flowing. So I did the only logical thing.

I panicked and called the 'maintenance hotline.'

I told the man on the phone my troubles, then proceeded to try and call my roommate at her office. I left a reassuring note: The Stompers have flooded the bathroom and I will probably drown by the time you get this message.

I called my friend and tried to tell him what was going on, but he thought it was funny and only laughed — no words of wisdom or kind words — just hysterical laughter. (I was the only one who had any right to be hysterical.)

Finally, the men with the buckets and the sponges came. What a relief. They entered the bathroom (you know the scene in Poltergiest where the psychic woman tries to enter the room where the evil spirits have taken over) and tried to assess the damages. They assured me there was no broken pipes, no flooded bathtub — only a flooded toilet.

They had to take the light panels down to get all the water out, transforming the bathroom into a water theme park — slippy slides, white water rapids — that sort of thing.

Well, I called my roommate and boyfriend back and when I told them it was the product of a flooded toilet — from the people above — my roommate was mortified and my friend fell out of his chair at work hyperventilating. No sympathy. It was no use.

The men who came to fix the bathroom cleaned the mess all up, which was good news to me. They assured me this happened all the time all over the complex.

So, it was just an average day for me, the people above me and the world in general.

What a joke, huh?

Gayle Long is a Collegian columnist

Media and anti-Semitism

A few weeks ago I was filling in for a friend at a table on the Concourse which was discussing Israel. A man approached the table seemingly interested in the information being presented.

"You know Israeli lobbies control our government. They own the media, too."

To which "Israeli lobbies" is he referring? How can a lobbying group "own" anything? If a lobbying group's job is to lobby, how can they exert any control on something, much less "own," the media which exists outside of the system of pressure politics. Therefore, when the man mentioned that, "they own the media" he could not have been referring to the "Israeli lobby."

Adam Stein

If lobbies are not in the practice of owning, his word, 'they,' must be referring to a group of people which exist outside of the "Israeli lobby." So who could have he meant? The Israelis? No, there aren't many in the United States. Thus, in his mind, who are those closest people in the America to Israelis? The Jews?

Initially, I was upset with his anti-Semitic line of thinking. But how could I be mad when he is just repeating the horrible stereotypes of Jewish people that are prevalent in our society? It is really within society where the problem lays. It exists within our socialization by way of television, movies and newspapers. Thus, how could I really get mad at him when his views could have been reinforced or formed just by reading the local media.

Throughout the last millenium, the Gentile world has depicted the Jews as a manipulative, money hungry, messiah-killing people out to control the world. These views are still prevalent in our society to one degree or another. Due to the nature of our country, they cannot necessarily be disseminated through blatant attacks in columns and editorializing pamphlets, thus they use codewords, inferences and undertones. In recent months the environment seems to have been particularly good for those writing such anti-Semitic suggestions.

In the 1800s a Russian-language novel about the supposed Jewish economic conspiracy to control the world called "The Protocols of the Elders of Zion" was widely published across the world. In recent months similar references have led diligent readers of the Valley media to believe that Zionists manipulate via their supposed economic control. Where my rabbi used to tell stories of hiding indoors every Easter in Poland while the townsfolk looked for Jews to avenge the murder of Jesus, I have recently read such a suggestion, though written inadvertently.

What I feel when I read such things is not anger, but more fear. I think about my great grandfather who fled Russia at the turn of the century from state sponsored anti-Semitic massacres know as pogroms. I think about my own grandparents who fled Nazi Germany in 1938. I think about all the times I have had a penny whipped at me accompanied by the yell of "Kike!" On this campus I think about how "Dirty Jew" had been written on their Student Union door of Hillel, a Jewish RSO. These incidents passed silently, under many of our noses, leading me to fear that sometimes it is only Jews who care.

As a Jew, I can't afford not to care. As a student and a needed ally, you must not be indifferent. The momentum of the forces working against other campus communities are now working against the Jewish community. The momentum will only increase if it is not stopped by people coming together against it. Don't be stationary now and complain later when it is you who feels the momentum. I fear by that time, there may be no one left standing as it may have already knocked the rest of us down.

Adam Stein is a Collegian columnist

Officials: Escort Service still safe

The campus is understandably concerned about safety in the wake of recent news. An employee with the Escort Service has been reassigned pending the outcome of both a sexual assault charge against him and an internal review of his prior record. The charge against him did not stem from anything that occurred on or near campus, nor did it involve any students. As soon as we learned of the charge and prior conviction, we took action to ensure campus safety while protecting the rights of the individual accused.

In addition, we are conducting a more extensive review of all security officers based on the fact that this particular employee was able to transfer from the Physical Plant to Public Safety without our learning of a 1979 conviction on an assault charge.

As the University takes a hard look at campus safety, we believe the Escort Service remains a safe and wise option for students who travel the campus at night. This year alone, the Escort Service has received more than 6,000 calls for assistance. Unfortunately, no campus can provide sanctuary from the problems of the outside world. We all need to take sensible precautions, no matter where we are. The Escort Service is still safe, it's for you and please keep using it.

We ask the University community to work with us to keep the campus safe and to protect individual rights. Part of this is making sure that we confirm facts and avoid the spread of frightening rumors based upon incorrect information.

Dennis L. Madson
Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs
Jo-Anne Thomas Vanin
Dean of Students Office

Queer Nation born

Queer Nation UMass has been born!

Some may take offense at the word queer. Queer is a word once used against us that we now reclaim in order to celebrate our sexuality and our difference. Queer Nation UMass has been created in direct response to the Board of Governor's persecution of the gay, lesbian, bisexual and trans-gender community.

Who is queer — anyone who stands outside the mainstream of White, heterosexual, conformist American life. Take notice: we will no longer adapt ourselves to heterosexual society.

We are angry and we no longer care about manners and niceties. We will not apologize for offending people, people should apologize to us for making us invisible, oppressed and for trying to obliterate our identities.

We unify in anger to fight any and every form of oppression and homophobia directed at our community. Our community is precious and we fully advocate and support the defense of our community by any means necessary including by force.

Queers bash back!

Q.N.
Queer Nation UMass

Noise in Amherst: Not only students at fault

In the wake of Monday's Amherst Board of Selectmen hearing on noise and property damage, some students feel offended or targeted by certain comments in the meeting. In defense of the Board, it was clearly stated by the Selectmen that their comments were not directed at the Amherst College and UMass student body as a whole. The complaints and allegations pertained to specific areas or houses. Twister's and the downtown Bang's center were also named as sources of noise.

Sure, the students have to live in Amherst, too. And the majority of the students are law abiding residents. The fact that a few hundred students have completely different lifestyles than the rest of the town's residents doesn't mean that this lifestyle has to be tolerated when it takes away the quiet enjoyment of a good night's sleep two or three days of the week. If you want to have a party, you have to respect that your neighbors don't want to participate, actively or passively.

The noise level in certain areas has in recent years gone from tolerably inconvenient to excessively disruptive. Safety problems have taken serious proportions as it has become a hazard just to cross the street in these areas. Where will this escalation stop if the town continues to tolerate this situation? Even students think that the situation in some areas is out of hand.

The situation is complex. UMass is in part responsible since it banned alcohol from most campus events and RAs are asked to police rather than to run the dorms. These policy changes have merely transferred the problems from campus to the residential areas in town and have definitely failed to solve them.

Certain landlords could care less about the behavior of their tenants, as long as they get that monthly rent check. It is most definitely the moral, if not the contractual obligation of landlords to insist on good neighborly conduct by their tenants. Most leases contain a clause by which noise bylaw violators can be evicted from the property.

The nature of the town's bylaws make them difficult to enforce. When a noise problem is reported, the police are required to issue a warning first. After such a warning, an arrest cannot be made for 30 minutes. This procedure is too time consuming to pose an adequate solution to the problem, given the size of the police force.

Changing University policy, holding landlords accountable for their tenants and changing the town's bylaws to improve enforceability are steps to improve the living conditions for everyone, including students. If you don't belong to the "party animals," rather than complaining about the Board's hearing, you should direct your anger toward the few among us that throw these totally outrageous parties.

Bert Reekmans
Amherst

ARTS & LIVING

'The Tempest' is creative, but not impressive

By THOMAS SCULLY
Collegian Correspondent

The Tempest is considered now to be one of the most interesting plays of William Shakepeare, because it combines classical theatre traditions with fantasy and spectacle in a way that challenges directors, designers and audiences alike. As Shakespeare's last play, written in 1611 and set on an imaginary island, it is filled with suggestions of the discovery of America and the native people, in the famous monster-slave Caliban, who spends the play fighting for his freedom from Prospero, the Colonialist oppressor.

Prospero, a powerful magician booted out of his rightful kingdom, employs the spirit Ariel to capture his old enemies and manipulate a marriage between his daughter and their son, thus taking venegance through love in a magnanimous and poetic gesture.

The Smith production, directed by John Hellweg, is spectacular, filled with light, music, mist, magic and set in a cathedral of a stage, empty except for an all-encompassing circle drawn on the floor, resembling some mysterious zodiac of life.

A dozen "spirits" are liable to inhabit the stage at any moment, providing a vivid imaginary banquet to the starving castaways, acting the parts of classical Gods to entertain the lovers, or even becoming part of the set. It is spectacular, I say, but that's all it is.

REVIEW

The director himself mentions the beauty of the poetry in The Tempest but the actors almost never delivered the script poetically. The acting is fairly consistent in most places, but there seemed to be a conpiracy to mumble or whisper most of the dialogue in a half-hearted pass at naturalism, or conversely, to over-articulate as Douglas Anderson does as Prospero, making the words difficult to make out.

Stuffing the actors upstage in the cavernous set didn't help bring the action any closer either, and when the actors occasionally come downstage to the audience, they would inevitably step in a noisy pile of leaves. Though there was a certain wheeling, free use of the stage area, particularly by the dynamic bad guys and clowns, the actors' bodies also tended to float ungrounded in space without set pieces.

Hampshire faculty member Douglas Anderson lacks the grandeur and menace of the magician that Shakespeare makes Prospero out to be — he's at his best as the kindly uncle-figure who is anxious to prevent any sexual naughtiness before the arrangement of his precious marriage.

Karuna Venter's Miranda is not the captivating princess that she could be; her lover Ferdinand (Eric Martellini) seems to be trying to mask a Boston accent with a poor British one. Indeed the comic side to the love scenes overshadows the romantic and three clowns of the sub-plot, Stephano, Trinculo and the monster Caliban overshadow the whole play, creating a much thanked for diversion to the more plodding and less well-acted main plot of Antonio and company.

The Tempest is challenging, as I said, and must admit that the Smith company has risen boldly to the challenge, with disappointing results. Ariel, the spirit of the play, is played by three actresses simultaneously, a choice which I find wonderfully provocative, but there doesn't seem to be any point to it, and why are all three dressed in white T-shirts? All the actors on stage wear some form of white costume, with the exception of Caliban and the innocent bride Miranda, who wear a kind of piebald green, and highly saturated lights are played off them for dreamscape effect, but so what?

Maybe there's something I'm missing here, but I think that a great deal of creative effort was put into a design here which essentially lacked a unifying concept — except perhaps just to be impressive. Indonesian music of West Java is played wall-to-wall throughout the play to evoke "heavenly music," but there's only so much heavenly music you can hear, and added to the whirring of the over-used fog machine, I would prefer to be able to hear the language.

Photo courtesy Linda Woods

Local favorites Cordelia's Dad (featured above) plays the Iron Horse in Northampton tonight, along with the Big Bad Bollocks. Doors open at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $5.

Collegian photo by Rich Ducree

Jazz performer Max Roach played at the Fine Arts Center this weekend.

An enticing trio of new jazz releases to pique your interest

By JAMES MOLESWORTH
Collegian Correspondent

Hey jazz lovers, here are some jazz releases to check out:

From Muse Records, Wallace Roney's, The Standard Bearer. Wallace Roney continues to stake a claim to being one of the finer trumpet players out there right now. He travels and plays regularly with the Tony Williams Quintet, and while his live improvisational skills remain unpolished, in the confines of a studio, with competent sideman, Roney shines. On this album, he plays with another Williams regular, pianist Mulgrew Miller. Here Miller's play is a tad restrained, because his talent is not fully tapped, but his ability to match anything thrown at him is uncanny. Cindy Blackman professionally carries on the current trend of breaking male dominance in the jazz world by providing some classy drum work. On tenor is Gary Thomas, on bass is Charnett Moffett, who round out the session. The influences on Roney are obvious, and he is still in the process of finding his own voice, yet this album should not be merely labeled "transitional" and be left unplayed, it is decent work from some of the newer players in the realm who may be destined to make some noise soon.

Thelonious Sphere Monk passed on in 1982, leaving a void for piano players to fill. Monk was a founding father of bebop jazz along with Bird and Diz, yet he remained unfairly unemployed during the height of the bebop period in the late 40s and 50s. When his work began to gain its proper recognition, he was in the later stages of his career. Yet from Blue Moon Records comes the group Bebop and Beyond, and their latest, Plays Thelonious Monk. The album is a somewhat capable tribute to a man whose influence on jazz in legendary, and whose complexity (Miles Davis once asked Monk not to riff behind him on a solo which was only a simple 12 note blues). Bebop and Beyond take such complex tunes as "Brilliant Corners," and play them well, with nothing to die for. Mel Martin, tenor, and Warren Gale on trumpet highlight Bebop, which also has George Cables and Joe Henderson sitting in a few select cuts.

REVIEW

Mulgrew Miller (you may have heard me tout him before) has arrived. His fifth, and latest release From Day To Day, from Landmark Records, smokes. Miller can be heard as a sideman on the Roney album, or with the Williams Quintet, but here as the leader of his own trio, with Robert Hurst on bass and Kenny Washington on drums, Miller really comes to the forefront. What is so great about Miller's play is that the strength of his left hand is so unbelievable for a such a young player (you have to see him live to fully appreciate such a gift). He plays with the intensity of a lava flow — fiery, determined and destined to reach his goal. Miller is getting better and better, and his compositions are not only prolific, but qualitative (in comparision, Roney's album only has one of his own compositions).

The Roney album is unsurprising, but worth a listen, he needs to start composing himself instead of playing standards. Bebop and Beyond, which is composed mainly of no name players with quality guests, do a good job with some tough pieces, but again nothing really surprising. However, Miller's album flows with a grace and dignity which has been missing in the jazz world with the recent influx of the Harry Connicks, et al. If you've got the chance, pick up Roney or Bebop, but go out of your way for Miller.

SALE
UP TO 50% OFF
ALL SHOES & BOOTS
Sale starts Wed., Dec. 12th

STRUT
SHOES FOR WOMEN
197 MAIN ST NORTHAMPTON

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration— November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

This is Merchandising in the '90's

Not what you expected? Read on.

Retailing in the '90's promises to be an increasingly competitive and sophisticated business.

That's why now more than ever at T.J. Maxx, we need a corporate merchandising group supporting our stores that is aggressive, decisive, responsive to change, and up to the challenge of helping us grow. Professionals with fashion savvy and strong analytical skills are needed to work in our Home Office in Framingham, MA.

Join us and you'll start as a Merchandise Analyst, learning and advancing at your own pace through our Executive Training Program. This program is designed as a career path to a Buyer position.

And since we buy for over 360 stores coast-to-coast, and for 45+ new stores opening each year, there's always room for you to grow.

T.J. Maxx will be on campus conducting interviews at the School of Management Placement Office on Friday, February 8, 1991.*

The School of Management student resumes are due before leaving on semester break.

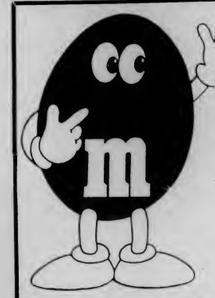
For more information about T.J. Maxx, please stop by the Mather Career Center or the School of Management Placement Office.

*T.J. Maxx will also be interviewing students at the Mather Career Center on February 20, 1991.

T.J.maxx

Off-price retailing is our business

An equal opportunity employer



STOP
Register to Win
Giant 48"
Stuffed M&M
Pillow

On Display in the University Store
Candy Department

Register At:
The Unversity Store,
Mini Store, Any Munchy Store

NAME_____
ADDRESS_____
PHONE(__)_____
ENTRIES CLOSE SATURDAY DECEMBER 15, 1990
ALL ENTRIES WILL BE COMBINED FOR ONE PRIZE
DRAWING MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1990.•

• No University Store, Mini Store, or Munchy Store employees or family members are eligible

PLUSH HEADQUARTERS
...From Georgi, our Full-sized airedale, down to Tiny Teddies, we're sure to have your Favorite!
Compliments
Gifts, Gift Baskets, Decorative Accessories
71 N. Pleasant St. (Above Cafe DiCarlo)
Amherst (413)256-1551 • Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30
Stocking stuffer-sized critters too!

HOURS: SUN-THURS 7am-3pm
FRI-SAT 2am-3pm/10pm-3am
Homemade Soups, Muffins, Desserts Specials
Take-Out Welcome
Daily Specials Offered
MYERS EATERY NORTHAMPTON
88 Pleasant St.
584-4145

OPEN HOUSE
for the
B.U. Bookstore Mall
Kenmore Square
Tuesday, December 11
10:00am - 4:00pm
Campus Center Concourse

The Rush Is On!

Boston is about to be flooded with students, and they're rushing our way! We're 660 Corporation, the management professionals behind the B.U. Bookstore Mall, and the city's most exciting sources for books, casual fashions, computers and fast-paced retail jobs. Come join the rush at our Open House!

Stop by and explore a position as a sales/stock associate, and fill out an application—you could be hired right away!

125 Temporary Positions Available During THE RUSH.

- Full- and part-time positions (from Christmas through late January)
- "On-the-spot" hiring
- Very flexible hours
- Store discount up to 30%
- Fast, fun work environment

If you can't attend our Open House, please call (617) 236-7488 for more information.

660 CORPORATION JOIN THE RETAIL RUSH.

December/January Break

VECTOR MARKETING CORPORATION

Vector Marketing offers full and part-time positions in public relations, marketing, advertising, sales and promotion

- Starting Pay $9.25
- 2-6 Week Work Program
- No Experience Necessary
- All Majors May Apply
- Valuable Resume Experience

Get the practical resume experience now that will separate you from the average college graduate

Interview Now-Start After Exams

(617)449-4362 Boston and Suburbs
(508) 343-7734 Fitchburg/Leominster District
(603) 891-1545 Nashua/Lowell District
(508) 687-9262 North Andover District
(207) 773-2233 Portland/Southern Maine District
(603) 964-8997 Portsmouth N.H./Newburyport District
(401) 946-0150 Rhode Island District
(508) 946-4233 Southeast Mass District
(617) 837-8855 South Shore/Plymouth District
(508) 842-4577 Worcester Country District

PaigeWorks ADVERTISING
Spend more time studying, let me do the typing.
Free Delivery! Reasonable Rates
Paige Gaines, President
P.O. Box 961
Belchertow., MA 01007
323-8730

CHRISTMAS VESPERS
A FESTIVAL OF LESSONS AND CAROLS
CAMPUS CENTER AUDITORIUM
DEC 13 7:00 PM
PARTICIPATING ORGANIZATIONS:
UNITED CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION
NEWMAN CENTER
FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH
WESLEY METHODIST CHURCH
THE ARK
INTERVARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
CAMPUS CRUSADE

MICHAEL'S
Billard Room & Sports Bar
Featuring:
Monday Night Football
Raiders vs. Lions
- $1.00 drafts in cold mugs.
- 25 cent hot dogs
- Appetizer menu
- $1.25 Rolling Rock Bottles
- This week $1.00 Miller Bottles
- Tues & Wed FREE pool for players over 21 before 10:00 pm

Formerly Changes Night Club 256-8284
Open Mon-Tues 5 pm-1 am Wed-Sat 12 pm-1 am
ANTHONY'S PUB
$2.00 OFF Cover Charge
must be 21 or older with valid I.D. & current Student I.D.
MICHAEL'S
Rt. 9, Amherst
(Next to Hunan Garden Rest.)
18 and older
Proper ID required

$2.00 OFF
ANY LARGE PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
BRUNO'S
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

PIZZA BRUNO'S SUBS
SALADS 393 MAIN ST., AMHERST LASAGNA
WE DELIVER QUALITY
call us at 256-0222
and WE'LL BRING LUNCH to YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!
Limited Area
FREE DELIVERY
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m.

$1.00 OFF
ANY MEDIUM PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
BRUNO'S
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

"Good heavens, John! Call someone! . . . The entire basement looks dry!"

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Scarlett's home
5 Tooth
9 Orbit point
14 Server's edge, in tennis
15 Down Under bird
16 Thicket
17 Curtain dive
19 Nesrby
20 Casaba
21 Preemptive bridge bid
23 Religious recluses
26 Classic start
27 Elect
30 Pizazz
31 Comedian Lew
33 Tierney flick of '44
35 Particular
37 Department of France
40 White sale purchase
41 Beak
42 Slant
43 Saharan
44 Comedian Jay
45 "Waiting for Lefty" playwright
46 Eminence
48 Cut
50 Scottish explorer
51 Stein
53 20 Across variety
56 Dante work
58 Charter
61 Dwelling
62 Eatery special
66 A Shriver
67 Regan's father
68 Jullander
69 Bothered
70 Corn units
71 Type of exam

DOWN
1 — Mahal
2 First mate
3 Food staple
4 Tarsus
5 Parsley's cousin
6 Pierre's pal
7 Ship-shaped clock
8 Invited one
9 Point the finger at 10 Hard knock
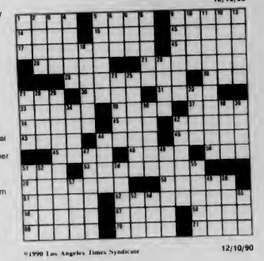
11 Masters' "— Anthology"
12 Debatable subject
13 Take care of
18 Seoul native
22 Pilot's place
24 Ship to remember
25 Ardent
27 Stewpot
28 Two of a kind
29 Deliverer of a perfect pitch
32 Got rid of the weeds
34 Change the decor
36 Piano wood
38 — good example
39 If not
42 She lost her sheep
44 Boxer Spinks
47 Filament
49 Lazy people
51 "— Vice"
52 Open
54 Aristocrat
55 Emerson's middle name
57 An Adams
59 German state
60 Sicilian spewer
63 Cow's milieu
64 Former Mideast org.
65 Moray

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

R	E	L	I	C		W	E	L	D		H	E	S	A
E	V	I	T	A		E	L	S	E		A	S	I	A
A	I	D	E	C	A	M	P		U	T	E	N	A	N	T
P	L	O	T		T	I	E		A	R	G	U	E	S
			O	P	E	N			C	O	O
N	A	T	U	R	E		O	F	T	H	O	U	G	H	T
A	G	A	S		A	L	A	I		S	T	R	I	A
W	O	R	K		E	T	H	I	C	S		E	N	S
A	R	M	A		A	S	I	A	N		P	E	G	S
B	A	S	E	M	A	N		D	E	G	R	E	E
			V	I	M				I	M	A
E	L	A	I	N	E		G	A	V	E		P	R	O
W	A	L	L	O	R	D	I	M	E	N	S	I	O	N
E	M	I	T		C	O	D	E		D	A	N	T	E
R	A	T	E		E	T	E	S		S	I	E	R	E

12/10/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

12/10/90

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

WATCHING A CHRISTMAS SPECIAL?
YEP.
ANOTHER SHOW EXTOLLING LOVE AND PEACE INTERRUPTED EVERY SEVEN MINUTES BY COMMERCIALS EXTOLLING GREED AND WASTE.
I HATE TO THINK WHAT YOU'RE LEARNING FROM THIS.
I'M LEARNING I NEED MY OWN TV SO I CAN WATCH SOMEPLACE ELSE.

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

OKAY, FOLKS, DAD'S BACK TO EXPLAIN THE CIA BIZ'S LATEST OUTRAGE — TALKING CHRISTMAS CARDS FOR DESERT SHIELD
IT'S ANY-THING BUT AN OUTRAGE, MARK...
WE ARE SIMPLY OFFERING MILITARY PERSONNEL THE CHANCE TO SEND THEIR LOVED ONE A PERSONALLY RECORDED MESSAGE INSIDE THIS ATTRACTIVE HOLIDAY CARD!
KINDA MAKES YOU MISS MARLBORO COUNTRY, DOESN'T IT, SON?
YEAH...
HI, DADDY! FOR CHRISTMAS, I WANT...
DADDY STUART HIT ME!
DID NOT!

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

And Now, to celebrate Marcus' return from football, Gabriel & Ms. Ida Hornkill will perform a collaborative poetry-performance piece.
I am Librarian. Oh, my body sighs with loneliness- shall I forever know only solitude?
Lo, I am the Index of Periodical Literature! Come forth, luscious matron of the stacks, + be free!
Rapture!
My thirst is quenched! May this special day never end!
I hear you, sweet thang!
We hope you're as happy as we are.
-Now, let me leaf through your manly pages, O "bountiful tome!"
this wasn't in the script...

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

YOU EATING A GRINDER SIZE??
WHAT KIND OF MEAT ARE YOU ALLERGIC TO.
HMMMMM. A TRICK QUESTION.
CHEESE BURGER!!
WHAT? WHERE DOES THAT COME FROM DAIRY COWS,!!!
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY 12/10

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Ravioli Alfredo Fish Munchies	Beef Strips with Snow Peas Broccoli Strudel
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Falafel Pocket Sandwich Munchies	Veggies and Tofu Broccoli Strudel

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Group participation could spawn valuable business contacts. Friends prove their loyalty in a unique way. Secret information helps you edge you out of your competitors.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Call the shots as you see them and others will respect you more. Dress attractively but on the conservative side. Armed with the latest facts and figures, you are unbeatable! Romance blossoms.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Steer clear of high-powered and discordant associations. You need to finish up old business before starting anything new. Delving into career issues will make you more effective at work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): The spotlight is on travel and a stimulating personal relationship. Strive harder to improve the finess of communication at work. Diversification is the key to greater financial success.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Grab a second chance to advance your career goals. Supportive friends give you the information you need to put together a business deal. Get better organized at home to reduce daily stress.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not allow jealousy to get the best of you. Hard work is a great antidote to the blues. A positive attitude helps you get along with someone who is difficult. Be conciliatory.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Influential people are willing to provide financial backing. Heed their suggestions. A business trip could help you cement an important alliance. Pay more attention to detail. If you can struggle through the week, next weekend will hold wonderful surprises.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Take extra precautions to protect your assets. A loyal friend who has your best interests at heart gives you special advice. Follow it to the letter and you can solve a personal dilemma.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A secret is revealed. Someone's indecision could cause delays or inconvenience. Go ahead and make the first move to end an impasse. Pay more attention to your nutritional needs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Try to delete non-essential trips and meetings from your busy schedule. You can move with confidence where affairs of the heart are concerned. Keep within your budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A good day to catch up on routine chores. A loan request will probably be granted. Keep in touch with professionals who can help you put together on important venture. Call a relative.

PICES (Feb. 19-March 20): You will accomplish more today if you concentrate on one project at a time. Learn from past mistakes. Give full reign to your artistic toients. Widen your circle of friends by entertaining.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Special Agent Dale Cooper
Copy Editor.....Audrey Horne
Layout Technician.....The Token
Photo Technician...Blonde braided muppet
Production Supervisor.....The Rickster
Best Typesetter Ever.Quintessential Quimby
Production Goddesses.....Bluewall Escapee
Jennifer Arnold, Short (HOT) Stuff Ivany

FIND the FINEST...

Gifts from Glass to Gold

Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days

silverscape designs

GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY

264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

Check out the new Hadley Pub

SOMETHING IS ALWAYS HAPPENING AT THE HADLEY PUB

Thursday Dec 13
The Free Press

Friday Dec 14
The Shockers

Saturday Dec 15
Arthur James and the Truth

Drink Special—$1.05 Bud Bottles

WMUA 91.1 FM
(home of the cow)

HOLIDAY SALE
holiday sale
HoLiDaY sALe
holiday sale
HOLIDAY SALE
holiDAY Sale
Today !!!!!

buy gifts right on campus!

S.U.B.
Dec. 10, 11, 12 9-4

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY

53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385

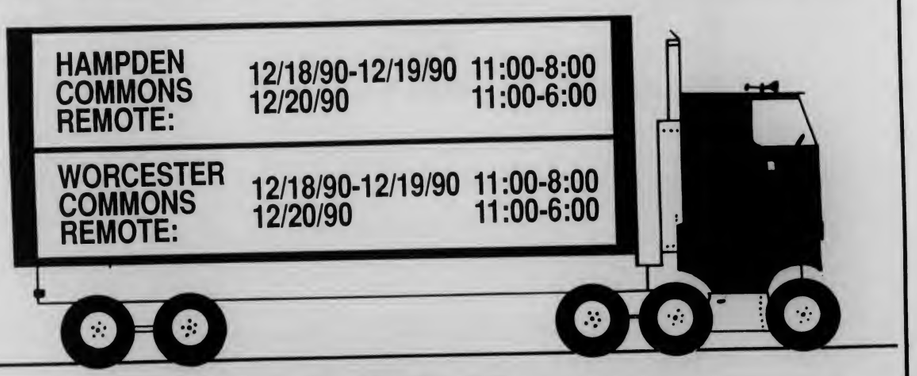
• Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement

• Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

SELL YOUR TEXTBOOKS FOR CASH
HAMPDEN & WORCESTER COMMONS

HAMPDEN COMMONS REMOTE:	12/18/90-12/19/90 12/20/90	11:00-8:00 11:00-6:00
WORCESTER COMMONS REMOTE:	12/18/90-12/19/90 12/20/90	11:00-8:00 11:00-6:00



ALSO AT...
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
12/12/90-12/14/90 9:00-4:00
12/15/90 10:00-3:00
12/16/90 CLOSED
12/17/90-12/21/90 9:00-4:00

Steelers keep Patriots on skids

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Merril Hoge ran for two touchdowns and Pittsburgh's defense allowed only a field goal after three first-half fumbles and a blocked punt as the Steelers beat the New England Patriots 24-3 yesterday for coach Chuck Noll's 200th victory.

Noll, the only coach to win four Super Bowls, is 200-146-1 in 22 seasons and joins George Halas, Tom Laundry, Don Shula and Curly Lambeau as the only NFL coaches to win 200 games.

Hoge ran for 117 yards and Tim Worley gained 83 despite fumbling twice as Pittsburgh (7-6) kept its playoff hopes alive by capitalizing on New England's inability to stop the run. The Patriots, who have been outrushed 1,000 yards, allowed an opposing back to rush for 100 yards for the seventh consecutive game and the 10th time in 13 games.

Bubby Brister threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Eric Green, the rookie tight end's seventh of the season, and set up Hoge's 8-yard second-quarter touchdown run with two key completions.

The Patriots (1-12) have the NFL's worst record and played like a team that had lost a franchise-record 11 in a row. They managed only a field goal after Pittsburgh's numerous first-half mistakes and failed on two third-and-1 opportunities, one third-and-2 and one fourth-and-1.

Worley, who fumbled three times against Cleveland last season, fumbled on Pittsburgh's first possession, but the Patriot's John Stephens fumbled it back four plays later at the Steelers' 24. Worley's 19-yard run and Brister's 11-yarder then preceded Gary Anderson's 42-yard field goal with 5:03 left in the first period.

New England had to punt after Worley's second fumble of the quarter. The Steelers drove 80 yards in seven plays, with Brister's completions of 24 yards to Derek Hill and 27 to Worley on consecutive plays preceding Hoge's touchdown.

■ women's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

game. "Lisa and I played really well together. The first half was the best we've played this season."

Coach Hewelt said the attitude of her winless team is still very positve and pointed to several key areas where the team needs improvement.

"We're not getting the scoring from the outside as we need it," she said. "We're a little bit tentative. The young players need to step up and take advantage of the skills they have."

Delaware, 66-59

Delaware (66) McCarthy 1-3 2-4 4, Zanten 1-4 0-2 2, Riley 5-13 3-4 13, Bieber 0-0 1-3 1, Larkin 8-14 2-3 18, Pritchard 0-1 0-0 0, Cybroski 4-9 2-2 12, Shackleford 5-9 2-4 12, Clifton 0-0 0-0 0, Lipinski 1-2 2-3 4. Totals 25-55 14-25 66.

Massachusetts (59) Schuster 1-6 0-1 2, McCusker 13-20 6-8 32, Kristofik 1-5 0-0 2, Hessel 0-6 2-2 2, Ireland 6-12 2-4 14, Moran 1-3 4-4 6, Nevarez 0-1 0-0 0, Valentine 0-2 1-1 1. Halftime Delaware 29, Massachusetts 29. Fouled out Kristofik, McCarthy. Three-point goals Cybroski 2. Rebounds Delaware 35 (Shackleford 5), UMass 40 (McCusker 9). Assists Delaware 9 (McCarthy 5), UMass 10 (Ireland, Schusler 3). Total fouls Delaware 19, UMass 20.

Men's swimming wins

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team wrapped up 1990 by defeating Southern Connecticut 153.5-89.5 Saturday at Boyden Pool. They do not race again until Jan. 5.

The Minutemen (3-1), after losing to Brown last week, got back on the winning track due to a better team attitude, according to UMass coach Russ Yarworth.

"[Our attitude] was so much better today," Yarworth said. We were much looser today as compared to the Brown meet."

The team of Mark Stoelting, Bill Chouinard, Jim Gregg and Joe Morris got things rolling with a first place in the 400-yard medley relay in 3:44.04. UMass never looked back.

Curt Sawin took first place in the 200 and 500 freestyles and led his team to victory in the 400 freestyle relay as UMass swept the event. However, Yarworth said sophomore Joe Morris had the best performance of the day in the 100 freestyle. Morris beat teammate Aaron Osborne for first in 48.86.

"I'm real proud of the way we swam today," Yarworth said. "It was a strong effort after some tough workouts."

UMass diver Steve Myers faced tough competition with mixed results. Myers won the 3-meter dive but placed third in the 1-meter, which So. Conn's Chris Hamilton won.

Yarworth said So. Conn. coach Bruce Hutchinson was upset with UMass swimmers during the event. After each UMass dive, the team cheered for their teammates. Maybe Hutchinson could use a lesson in enthusiasim, something his team lacked.

So. Conn.'s Paul Zakrzewski beat out UMass tri-captain Jim Robertson to win the 1,000 freestyle in 10:22.89. It was Robertson's second meet since returning from several injuries. So. Conn. did manage to sweep the 200 breaststroke, led by Adam McPhee in 2:18.60. UMass' Chris Barrett finished fourth.

Yarworth said he will work his team hard in practice this week before giving them time off for finals.

"This week will be a modified hell week," Yarworth said. "I'm going to kick the crap out of them before finals."

The team will travel to Puerto Rico on Dec. 27 for a week of training before returning to action. The trip is self-funded, according to Yarworth. They made a similar trip to Florida last year.

"I'll be holding doubles everyday," Yarworth said. "We'll be working hard and going to the beach in between."

Styles By Deborah
The Spa For Hair & Skin Care
549-5618
65 University Drive • Amherst

FREE TANNING SESSION
With Any Salon Service
And This Coupon
Expires 12/31/90

$3.00 Off
Professional Consultation and Style Cut
(Regularly $16.00 to $18.00)
First time customers only Expires 12-15-90

$5.00 Off
Any Spiral Perm, Facial or Highlighting
First time customers only Expires 12/31/90

$10 Off Tanning Pkg of 10 Expires 12/15/90

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE - CC 113 MON - THURS 8:30 - 4:30 FRI 8:30 - 2:30 • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION will be having officer elections Monday Dec 10 at 4:00 in 3BA Lobby.

FELIZ NAVIDAD! Come to the Spanish Club's Christmas/End of Classes Celebration. Music, Free Food, Coffee, Spanish Conversation 9-11:30AM 12/12/90 Herter 4th floor Lobby. Bienvenidos a todos!

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING Tonight 7:00PM 801CC Topic: Chemical Weapons Mandatory Meeting for Harverd Elections!!

UMOC CHRISTMAS PARTY Tonight 7:00 CC 168C Everyone Welcome. Bring a friend, Bring a dessert! Trips, slide, and the V.P. Election

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

COME AND SEE THE GIVING TREE at Hagis Mall! By donating a dollar or two, you can help prevent child abuse! For every dollar donated, a light goes on the tree. For every $2, a lego goes on the tree. All proceeds go to the MSPCC (Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children) on Thursday Dec. 13th. Stop by today!!!!!!!!

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

FREE HOUSING RAFFLE! Check out the concourse or an OHAG Rep. sponsored by OHAG (5-1385)

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

AUTO FOR SALE

1974 VOLVO 2 door 142S Asking $395 593-6658

1981 RABBIT DIESEL, 4dr , std., clean, 75K on 2nd motor, radio/cassette, $600 665-2943.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent at Colonial Village. Right in front of the bus stop. One hundred dollar reward. Take over lease anytime before February first. Call 253-0571. After 4:00PM

1 BEDROOM on Main St. very quiet on bus route. Great for a couple $550 incl. heat 253-9551

1 ROOM in two bdrm apt. 275/mo. Heat free. 0.5 miles from Campus. Ashish 545-0329 or 549-6352

1 ROOM IN 3 BDRM APT NOHO 5 min. walk to town great locel! $250/mo + util. Take over lease 586-2805.

1 ROOM IN 3 BEDROOM HOUSE $183 + util. Call 253-2215.

2 HUGE ROOMS in 3 bedroom house available January 1. Ideal for couples. Call 665-3099 or 617-396-9738. Ask for Andy.

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor. Take over lease Jan 1. 760 a month 549-5954

GREAT LOCATION Downtown Northampton 1 bedroom $215 Jan 1st 586-8657

LARGE ROOM AVAILABLE in fun NOHO House! Great decor and dynamic housemates can be yours. Quiet neighborhood, free parking, 10 minutes from bus! Approx. $285 including. Call 585-8973.

LOOKING FOR MALE/FEMALE to move in to single room for spring semester. One mile from campus, on bus route, washer/dryer, large deck, v-ball court in backyard, cable. Most definitely the nicest house in the area. All for only $240/month! Call 549-0920 or 549-1151.

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT Spacious 1 bedroom renovated. 586-2986 $560 Negotiable

PRESIDENTIAL- 1 bedroom 6 min. walk, quiet Dave 549-5618 early eves.

STUDIO IN AMHERST $460/w/util. Jan 1. Call Scott 253-0820

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352

WANTED- 2 people to share large master bedroom in beautiful new condo for spring semester, intersession optional $212.50 per person. 256-8189

FOR SALE

AIRLINE TICKET: Roundtrip Hrtfd/Atlanta Dec. 17- Dec 29 $200 or best offer 586-8762

GREAT DEAL!! Computer only $8.00 (negotiable) includes: printer, diskdrive, color monitor, mouse, joystick, and software Call Tina at 549-7537

LAPTOP COMPUTER- Toshiba 1000 complete w/antec thru 9/91. 760K mem. Internationl AC adapter, internal 3.5 drive, external full-size mono monitor-new, never used. 584KB internal nerd RAM drive, DOS on internal nerd ROM. Weighs only 5lbs! Software included. $640/b.o. Call Peter 665-1214

LARGE ENTERTAINMENT CONSOLE in excellent condition A must see-Call after 6PM Ask for Peter 549-6458

NEW EDDIE BRAYER 2 in 1 backpack. Internal metal frame. Main pack 26" by 13" by 8" Grey and black. 150 or BO. Priscilla 549-8394.

PEUGEOT 10 SPEED- Like new 21" frame with light, rack, pump, helmet, Kryptonite lock, mirror $200 call Peter 665-1214.

FOUND

KEY found between Herter and Haigis 12/4 Call Jennifer 549-5525.

KEYS found in South College 108 Many keys on big key ring. Call 546-1842 Brian.

TORTOISE SHELL SUNGLASSES: found in Cape Cod Lounge under coach on 12/5. Go to CC Information Desk.

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext B281

HELP US TO HELP YOU We need students with good communication skills and lots of enthusiasm to call alumni on behalf of a special campaign to raise money for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner at 5-3509 or stop by the basement of Memorial Hall for more info.

MARKETING

Earn up to $500/week over intersession. Call 617-969-4286

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach II

STUDENTS: Make $200 deily doing construction work part time. Write: Dennis Rabe, Post Box 329, Gilsum, N.H. 03448

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language Classes begin January 21, 1991 Intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifics, 549-5065.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS!

DO YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about your rights? Do you think your civil rights have been violeted? Find out! Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

LOST

BROWN, LEATHER NOTEBOOK filled with calculations on engineering paper at Elab. or Hasch Call Joe 665-8270 Reward

ENGINEERING CALCULATOR Outside Goes 49 on Wednesday Call 6-4256 or 1-593-3868 Ask for Mike

SHEPHARD BEAGLE MIX Neer Logtown Rd 12/3/90 Has no tags or collar Call 256-0802

NEED A PERSONAL COMPUTER?

DO I HAVE A MODEL FOR YOU! Zenith, PC Compatible W/NEC V20 Chip 640 kb RAM, 20 Meg Hard Disk, RGB Color Monitor, Clock Card, Microsoft's latest Bus Mouse, Software... Call Matt 549-5190 for more details. Leave a message. Price is negotiable.

PERSONALS

BAMBINO,
A year ago 12-7-90.
a day I'll always remember because thats the day I met you
(and I do remember!)
I love you
JJ

CHEWIE-
Happy 20th B-Day!
Love the Wookettes next door,
Gumbi & Spot

CHEWIE:
Roses are red,
violets are blue
Happy Birthday to you, and your leg hairs too!

CONGRATULATIONS to all the awesome new sisters of Sigma Kappa!! Kate, Jen, Kara, Kristin, Jen, Kristina, Kelly, Denise, Alison, Trish, Jen, Kristen, and Carolyn.

CONGRATULATIONS to the new sisters of Sigma Delta Tau:
Kristine, Rachel, Dina, Lisa, Christine, Rosemarie, Jen, Lisa, Laura, Michele, Lisa, Laure, Erica, Lisa, Amy, Lauren, and Leigh.
Love the sisters of Sigma Delta Tau

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ROGER!
Love, Jess

JAMES!
Happy Birthday -Yesterday- to my favorite (and only!) Mr. Marshmallow! Con amore sempre--
Wande Mershmallow

JEN P., CONGRATULATIONS! We're so "psyched" for you! Love, the J-Team

LAUREN RUBIN
Happy Birthday Red!!
We Love You!
Now you can start drinking! HA!HA!
Laura, Alyssa, Vicki, and Julie

MERCY Y MARGARITA
Al fin 21! Ya era hora!
Espero le sequen mucho provecho
Carinos, Edna

MR. EGAN
It has been an unexpected 3 months
I am glad that we finally met
Happy Birthday old timer!
Love, the Young One

RAJNI: Espero hayas tenido un feliz cumpleanos. Me imagine que le accordaste de s.p. carinos Edna

ERIC:
The countdown is finally over!
Have a great 21st birthday!
Love,
Lise

SCOTT M.
The last 117 days have been the happiest days of my life. Thank you for being you! Our love is a love to last until the end of time. Love, Your Petite Fleur(Steph)

SCOTT-
"Get Psyched!"
Your hell week is almost over!
Love your sister at Triangle-Circle-Squiggle

TO DIGGER FROM MANCHESTER
It wasn't good in the dark, dark wood in the middle of the night when there wasn't any light
Antonia

ROOMMATES WANTED

2 PEOPLE TO SHARE PUFFTON APT. starting Jan. Rent negotiable. Call Kathy or Jen 549-1968.

BRANDYWINE APT One space available. Male. 192.50/month Call 549-4159 anytime

FEMALE ROOMATE wanted for spring semester the Brook, $130 + utilities. Amy 253-2150

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. in house $200 Feb to May no lease. 253-0409

FEMALE WANTED to share room beautiful two bedroom apt. for spring semester. Five min walk only $135.00. Call 546-4173.

MALE ROOMMATE in house wanted Completely furnished washer/dryer Cable TV 185/mo January1 start. 100yds from Main St bus I'm graduating Must fill spot. 253-2728.

MALE ROOMMATE NONSMOKER to share large bedroom Squire Village $150 665-2428

M/F WANTED for single room in house $186 + per month 3 miles to UMass Walking distance to Putter's Pond Call David at 549-0040.

ONE ROOMMATE on bus route $170 per month starting Jan 1 Call 665-7544

SINGLE ROOM in nice condo. 4 miles to UMass! $230 + 253-0413

WANTED: Female roommate to share a room Amity Place beginning 1/1 549-5316

YOU'VE FOUND IT!! Single in North Amherst 200/mo. Fireplace, free cable, cool people. 549-8363.

SERVICES

DO YOU NEED CHILDCARE help over Jan? Very flexible hours Call Nina at 665-7544

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services
ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010

SUBLET

1 BEDROOM in two bedroom apt. Furnished Sunderland on busline, female grad pref $225/mo. Susan 665-8233

TRAVEL

FLY SOUTH
Round Trip
Boston to Miami
Jan1-Jan20
$120
6-4882 or 6-7411

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI WEEK. $189 for 5 day lift ticket, 5 nights lodging (mountainside condo) 5 days intercollegiate activities, sponsored by Labatts & Mt. Sutton, Canada. Group Leader Discounts. Jan 6-11 or Jan 13-18. Call Ski Travel Unlimited 1-800-999-SKI-9

ONE WAY TICKET to California. December 20, $150 253-5844

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30 TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers. Affordable, dependable, Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING?
Fast and Accurate
Typing/Wordprocessing
Free laserprinting
Call Becca 549-4600 X433

WORDPROCESSING, reports, theses, graphs, laser printing Call Rosemary 259-1786

WANTED

NATIVE RUSSIAN SPEAKER to proofread term paper. Will pay $. Call Christine 584-8196

UNDERWRITING DIRECTOR FOR WMUA Sales experience preferred Excellent resume & business potential Pay includes 15 percent commission on all contracts gained Apply in station lobby 102CC or call 545-2876 Deadline 12/10/90

WANTED TO RENT

I NEED A ROOM!!! Junior engineering student needs an off-campus single room. I am a nonsmoking courteous person who can cook. Must be on bus route. Please call 546-3787

LOOKING FOR: 2-3 barrm apt. We are desperately looking to take over your lease on a two or three bedroom apartment starting ASAP. Call Joe 546-4953 anytime

SPORTS

Second half run carries Minutemen past Colonials

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

On a variety of spinning layups and crushing dunks, Will Herndon and Tony Barbee accounted for 31 of UMass' 48 points in the second half of Saturday's 82-70 win over George Washington as the University of Massachusetts extended its win streak to four straight.

UMass (4-1) will get a chance to improve its 2-0 record in the Atlantic 10 against Rutgers (4-2, 2-0 in the A-10) tomorrow. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

Massachusetts, 82-70

Massachusetts (82) Herndon 7-10 12-14 26, Barbee 7-12 11-14 25, Williams 1-2 0-0 2, McCoy 7-16 3-8 18, Brown 1-6 2-2 4, Giles 2-2 0-0 5, Tate 0-0 2-4 2, Anderson 0-0 0-0, Meyer 0-0 0-0 0, C. Robinson 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 25-48 30-42 82.
George Washington (70) Holland 2-8 4-5 8, Hudock 1-6 2-2 5, Hopkins 3-8 8-12 14, Surles 10-17 5-8 26, Pearsall 1-5 0-0 2, Young 1-5 1-2 3, McKennie 0-0 0-0 0, Patterson 0-2 0-0 0, Nordmann 2-3 2-4 6, Sitney 2-6 2-2 6. Halftime GWU 36, UMass 34. Fouled out Williams, Holland. Three-point goals McCoy, Giles, Hudock, Surles. Rebounds UMass 36 (Herndon 9), GWU 37 (Surles 7). Assists UMass 16 (Brown 6), GWU 11 (Pearsall 6). Total fouls UMass 21 (Williams 5), GWU 30 (Holland 5). A: 4,051.

The Minutemen trailed Saturday until they forced the ball inside to Barbee and Herndon in the second half. GW's spindly front line gave up easy baskets, including several dunks, as the Minutemen hit 14 of 20 shots in the half (70 percent.)

"We're just starting to get untracked on offense," coach John Calipari said. "We're playing above the rim, and that's good."

Herndon, who entered the game leading the Atlantic 10 in field goal percentage at 75 percent, hit 7 of 10 from the floor and 12 of 14 from the free-throw line to finish with a team-high 26 points. Herndon also had 9 rebounds and 2 steals. Barbee added 25 points.

Down 10 points midway through the first half and 2 at intermission, UMass comandeered the lead on a Jim McCoy (18 points) free throw with 14:31 to play.

The Colonials stayed close, working their way back from a 5-point deficit to within 1 at 60-59, on a turnaround jumper and a pair of free throws from Byron Hopkins (14 points) with 6:25 left.

In the next minute UMass shook the Colonials for good, sandwiching four free throws from Herndon and a tip-in by Barbee around a blocked shot and two GW turnovers to take a 66-59 lead with 5:22 left.

The Colonials were never within 5 thereafter. The Minutemen hit 6 of 8 free throws in the final two minutes and capped the win with an Anton Brown-to-Barbee alley-oop at the buzzer.

"We saw the game slipping away. We got together and started getting the ball inside," Brown said.

Barbee said, "We weren't shooting the ball well, so we had to get it inside. We just jammed the ball inside in the second half. . . We've just got to keep working on our outside came. When it comes together we'll be great."

The Minutemen came out cold and trailed by as much as 10 midway through the first half, before soaring their way back into the game just before halftime.

The Colonials built a 24-14 lead with 9:28 to play in the half as Dirkk Surles, a 6-foot-2 sophomore guard, scored 10 points in the first 10 minutes of the game, including a dunk on a fast break, a 3-pointer and a follow up of his own miss underneath the hoop.

The Minutemen regrouped in the last three minutes of the half, getting a pair of layups from Barbee and a Herndon jam off a feathery half-court lob from Giles to cut GW's lead to 2 at halftime.

"We played very tight in the first half," Calipari said. "I was glad to be trailing by just two."

Game notes: Lorenzo Sutton, UMass' all-time leading scorer who was seriously injured in a hit-and-run accident this fall, was introduced to a standing ovation before the game and visited the locker room after .

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

William Herndon reaches to save the ball in Saturday's 82-70 win over George Washington. Herndon snatched nine rebounds to go along with his 26 points.

Women's hoop drops two

Minutewomen drop to 0-5 with latest losses

By BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

Despite a 56 point, 16 rebound all-tournament team performance by UMass' Keyburn McCusker, the Minutewomen basketball team (0-5) was still unable to pick up a victory in the Princeton Invitational Tournament. They were trounced by Canisius in the first round 70-51 and edged out by Delaware in the consolation contest 66-59.

The eventual winner of the tournament was defending champion Princeton who easily defeated Canisius 56-42 in the title game. The Tigers were led by tournament Most Valuable Player Julie Brackenridge who scored 12 of her 26 tournament points in the championship contest.

Canisius, 70-51

Canisius (70) Pasceri 3-6 0-1 6, Scheuerman 2-8 4-4 8, Row 1-5 2-2 4, McHugh 9-18 3-4 23, Brocker 4-8 3-4 11, Buntich 5-8 0-0 10, Spiegel 3-5 1-2 7, Townes 0-1 1-2 1, Carney 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 27-59 14-19 70.
Massachusetts (51) Nevarez 1-2 0-0 2, Schusler 2-9 0-0 6, McCusker 11-14 2-2 24, Kristofik 0-6 2-2 2, Muza 0-3 0-0 0, Hessel 5-9 0-0 11, Moran 1-5 0-0 2, Ireland 1-7 0-0 2, Pemberton 0-1 0-0 0, Valentine 0-0 2-2 2. Totals 21-56 6-8 51.
Halftime Canisius 34, UMass 23. Fouled out none. Three-point goals McHugh 2, Schusler 2, Hessel. Rebounds Canisius 35 (Brocker 8), UMass 35 (McCusker, Schusler 7). Assists Canisius 5 (Scheuerman 3), UMass 6 (Schusler, Moran 2). Total fouls Canisius 9, UMass 13.

The Minutewomen had their hands full with a talented Canisius squad. The Lady Griffs came out firing with a fast break, up-tempo game in the first half resulting in an early 10-point lead. UMass' only counterattack was Keyburn McCusker who was 11 for 14 from the field, with 7 rebounds. The rest of the Minutewomen were a combined 10 for 42 (24 percent) from the field. Fortunately for Massachusetts, Trish Hessel came off the bench to contribute 11 points.

"Keyburn's scoring well for us inside," said UMass head coach Kathy Hewelt. "We're struggling in coming up with some perimeter people that can help keep the pressure off her."

In the consolation contest, Hewelt juggled her lineup and started Hessel and 6-foot Lisa Ireland who has seen limited time this season due to a leg injury.

The new combination proved successful as the Minutewomen jumped out to a 10-point lead midway through the first half. Nonetheless, UMass went cold and didn't score from the field in their last 16 possessions of the half resulting in a 29-29 tie at the half.

The Minutewomen's inability to score continued into the second stanza, coming up short on their first 11 chances down court.

"When we go through scoring droughts, most of the time it's because we're trying too hard to make things happen," Hewelt said. "We force passes and we're out of control when we drive to the hoop."

Delaware's balanced attack continued their assault which eventually led to a 8-point lead and 66-59 final score. The Fightin' Blue Hens had four players score in double figures. Molly Larkin led the team with 18, followed by Jennifer Riley's 13. Delaware's Linda Cyborski and Marisa Shackleford contributed 12 apiece.

Overall it was a much improved Minutewomen team. According to McCusker, the insertion of Ireland kept the pressure off her inside enabling her to score a career-high 32 points. In addition, Ireland proved to be an offensive weapon scoring 14 of her own.

"We played a more intelligent offense," McCusker said, referring to the second

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Photo courtesy of Atlantic 10

Keyburn McCusker

Women's track strong at Harvard

Johnson, Ambrose qualify for ECACs as four runners match New England times

By DAN WETZEL
Collegian Staff

Heading into a holiday break in the schedule, the members of the University of Massachusetts women's indoor track team are satisfied and positive, according to coach Julie LaFreniere.

The team continued their early season success in the Harvard Invitational on Saturday and do not have a scheduled meet until Jan. 26.

"We had some positive performances and some negative ones," LaFreniere said. "Overall, I am pleased with our progress."

In the 55-meter race freshman Wendy Gillette qualified for the New England Championship meet by finishing in 7.3 seconds. Freshman Tana Henderson (7.5), sophomore Sue MacFayden (7.5) and freshman Oona Quirk (7.6) also competed in the race.

"Wendy looked very good," Lafreniere said. "She was in a strong heat and therefore didn't make the finals but, she ran much better than she did last week."

Gillette also ran in the 400 meter, finishing in 62.9. Competing in the long jump, she landed at 15 feet, 10½ inches.

Lee Ann Ambrose won the 400 meter handily. Ambrose finished in 55.3 seconds, more than two seconds faster than the second place finisher. Ambrose's time enabled her to qualify for the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Championship meet and the New Englands.

"It was a close race at the start because two runners went out with Lee Ann," LaFreniere said. "However, in the second lap she put on the afterburners and no one challenged her the rest of the way."

Lennice Johnson qualified for the New Englands in the 400 meter with a time of 59.1 seconds.

UMass had two more qualifiers in the 800 meter as Becky Johnson won the race in 2:14.3 and Cathy Crocker finished in 2:21. Johnson qualified for the ECACs and the New Englands while Crocker made the New Englands.

"It was a slower race than I expected," LaFreniere said. "But it was good to see Becky win and Cathy run well."

In a very competitive 3,000-meter race, Kelly Liljeblad qualified for the New Englands with personal best time of 10:08.

"I am very happy with Kelly," LaFreniere said. "The competition was so strong that she thought she ran poorly. Kelly was disapointed until I told her the time. She is capable of going under 10 minutes."

Although LaFreniere was disapointed with some performances, she is pleased with the teams progress.

"We are all excited about where we are right now," LaFreniere said. "We have some great times for this point of the season. The kids are going to enter some meets on their own in January and they should be ready when they come back."

Jingle Jog

In other track news this weekend, about 50 people enjoyed themselves in the inaugural running of the Jingle Jog. The Jingle Jog was a five kilometer run sponsored by the women's track team. The race consisted of two laps on the road around McGuirk Stadium.

A variety of prizes were given out to winners and runner ups in the men's, women's and master's categories. There were also Best Costume and guess-how-many-candies-in-the-jar contests.

Included in the crowd was a group of Mount Holyoke students dressed as reindeer, as well as Santa Claus, a former University worker taking time out of his busy schedual.

All proceedes from the run went to the women's team to fund a spring training camp south of here.

The sk... with temp...n the 0s, but bewar... of cha...ed buns.

TUESDAY

T... ...ball t... will ... Rutgers ...Cage ...night in key ... ...age 8.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 66

'Queer Nation' protests removal of LBGA seats

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Some 30 students occupied the Republican Club/Minuteman/ Young Americans for Freedom office yesterday in reaction to the removal of appointed seats for the Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay Alliance from the Board of Governors.

Chanting "We're here, we're queer, we're fabulous, get used to it," members of the newly-formed University of Massachusetts chapter of Queer Nation marched into the office and stated their demands for equality.

Demands stated by Queer Nation were equal civil rights, a call for the Republican Club to cease illegal activities and restoration of the LBGA seats to the BOG. The BOG voted unanimously last week to eliminate appointed LBGA seats.

According to a founding member of the UMass chapter of Queer Nation, who wished not to be identified, the group was founded as a direct result of the BOG vote to remove appointed seats for LBGA representatives to the board.

"It's not going to to be so easy to mess with us in the future," she said.

Collegian photo by Toni Sandys

Queer Nation member Laura Silver discusses the organization's goals while members Jason McDonald and Philip Zaia take part in the "kiss-in" held in the Minuteman office.

She said since the LBGA is a registered student organization, they are unable to demonstrate in the same manner as Queer Nation can.

"It's alarming to see our rights slip away, especially when we know we are being clearly discriminated against," she said.

Guy Glodis of the Republican Club said after today's "blatant attack . . . after BOG and SGA get through, the gay community will not have any seats in student government."

Members also staged a "kiss-in," and urged lesbian, bisexual and gay students and their allies to join the Young Americans for Freedom.

"We're young, we're Americans and we're all for freedom [of sexuality]," one member shouted.

A member of the organization who wished not to be identified said for every homophobic action on campus, there will be an equal reaction.

"We are going to be around to counter any homophobic political attack and make sure the gay community is protected," she said.

The protestors left the office when they were asked by a club member to go.

Ralliers protest Collegian coverage of Jewish affairs

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

Claiming there is a systematic denial of coverage of the Jewish community by the Collegian, about 150 people converged on the Student Union steps yesterday to make demands for equal representation and a Jewish Affairs editor.

Working within the Collegian is fruitless, said Alison Buckoltz, who said the editor was an 'institutionalized guarantee' of coverage of Jewish events.

"The Collegian refuses to take culpability for what is on its pages," said Buckoltz, who is Jewish.

Chris Macek, from the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns, said the way things get done at the Collegian was by working within it.

"What the Collegian is now is not set in stone. Get involved. Become staff and get a vote," said Macek.

"You can't point fingers," said Macek. "To revise the paper, you have to work from the inside."

Adam Stein, a columnist for the Collegian, said incidents that have been happening, "from the beginning of the semester," have hurt him as a Jewish person.

"Every week, I would complain that this hurts me as a Jew. This is out of the realm of political discourse," said Stein.

Sally Greenberg, counsel for the Anti-Defamation League, said anti-Semitic incidents had increased in 1990 by 171 percent.

Journalistic intergrity is also an issue, said Greenberg. "A political standpoint is a violation of journalistic ethics."

Sandy Manville, from the Everywoman's Center, who was part of a womens' takeover of the Collegian in 1978 in an effort to have women's issues covered by the Collegian, said Americans who criticize Israeli policy are not inherently anti-Semitic.

Chi Amadi, from the Third World Caucus, said she supported the editorship because Judaism is not only a religion but a culture.

Hillel Rabbi Saul Perlmutter said there was a "double-standard" in the Collegian.

"Last week, someone wrote 'Dirty Jew' on posters hanging outside the Hillel office,"said Perlmutter. "Suddenly today, the day of the rally, it was in the paper. It is a very subtle message. We have to rally and let them know we are angry."

After the rally, students sang "we need a voice" and went to the Collegian office, where they had a symbolic 15-minute sit-in.

University police arrest man in connection with rape investigation

University Police arrested a man identified as a non-student Saturday for allegedly raping an 18-year-old University woman in a campus residence hall.

Aaron Marc Mazzolini, 18, of Concord, was arrested early Saturday morning after police conducted a brief investigation.

Police did not release the location of the alleged rape.

Mazzolini was arraigned in Northampton District Court yesterday. The case was continued to Dec. 19.

—PRESTON P. FORMAN

Prominent woman dies

Restaurant owner Yvonne John dead at 51

Yvonne Adel John, a prominent figure in the Amherst Community, died of cancer Saturday at the Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton at the age of 51.

John, the proprietor of Yvonne's Caribbeana Restaurant in Hadley, had a long association with the University of Massachusetts and the Five Colleges and was an active figure in the Amherst community. Her restaurant was a center for social and community affairs.

John, a native of Guyana, arrived in Amherst in 1967 with six small children. To support her family, John worked at a series of jobs cleaning the homes of local families and working on the housekeeping staff of the Howard Johnson's Motel in Hadley.

"Yvonne was amazing," Michael Thelwell, a professor at the University said. "She gave a new resonance to the term 'the dignity of labor.'

"When I met her she held three jobs. She would get up at five in order to fix breakfast at a senior citizens house in Amherst where she'd also prepare lunch to be served by the staff," he said. "Then she'd be at an Amherst College frat house by 11 a.m. to prepare and serve lunch and dinner and start preparation for breakfast. By 9 p.m., she would be at The Drake Bar and Restaurant where she ran the kitchen until closing at 1 a.m."

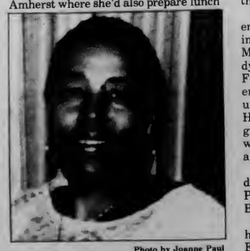

Photo by Joanne Paul

Yvonne Adel John

Prior to opening her restaurant in Hadley, John was the director of the New Africa House cafeteria for four years, where she was known for feeding without charge or question, any student who was broke and hungry.

Through the University Without Walls program at UMass, John earned a Bachelor's Degree in Food Science and a Masters Degree in Multicultural Education in 1977. At the time of her death, she was working on a doctoral dissertation in that discipline.

She is the author of two books on Caribbean cuisine. She is survived by 15 siblings dispersed throughout the Caribbean, England and the United States. Four of her six children graduated from the University of Massachusetts.

Her children are Steven, of Hadley, an engineering student, Loida, an attorney in Springfield, Diane, of Silver Spring, Maryland, an industrial engineer, Wendy, of New York, who has a Master's in Food Engineering and is currently enrolled in the Pre Med program at Columbia, Cindy, who graduated in Public Health and is also in a Pre Med Program and a son Eon, living in England, who is a reggae musician whose first album is currently in production.

Ms. John is survived also by her daughter-in-law Mary Lou, of the Phillipines, and three grandsons Azad, Brandon, and Omar.

A service celebrating her life will be held at 7 p.m. tonight at the Grace Episcopal Church in Amherst.

DELANO'S
57 North Pleasant Street 253-5141
Proper Identification a Must

Tuesday is Taco Night
FREE Taco Bar for
Delano's Customers Only

Beer of the Month
Rolling Rock $1.75

Drink of the Week
Bacardi and Coke $1.75

Good Luck on Finals!

FIND the FINEST...

Gifts from Glass to Gold
Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days

silverscape designs
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

Amherst, Easthampton, Holyoke and Northampton Customers

Your neighbors aren't number one anymore, but 550 and 976 still are.

In a recent bill insert and newspaper ad we told you you didn't have to dial 1 + the number to reach certain neighboring exchanges. We incorrectly included two exchanges under Holyoke.
These exchanges–550 and 976–connect callers to group conversation and information program services. They can only be reached by dialing 1 + the seven digit telephone number. And be aware that charges apply in most cases to calls to these exchanges.
We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.

New England Telephone
A NYNEX Company

LEGAL PROBLEMS?
Call the Legal Services Center of UMass!

Housing · Family · Student Rights · Civil Rights · Workers Rights · Criminal and Consumer Law ·

Call 545-1995

10% OFF
Show us your
Student I.D.
We will take 10% off any purchase Monday-Friday Thru December 14
Find it at Faces
amherst/northampton

R U A SECRET SANTA?
Gifts from 19¢ to 4.99
Find it at Faces
amherst northampton daily & sunday

THE PUB
fun food & spirits

Tonight After the Rutgers Game
$1.25 Bottles
$1.00 Our Famous Jello Shots with whipped cream

SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT·AMHERST

Microfridge

All in One Compact Refrigerator, Freezer and Microwave Oven

RENT ONE NOW, PAY FOR IT NEXT SEMESTER

You've probably seen one already, sleek, streamlined, matching top to bottom. You've probably used someone's already, and maybe made floormates shut their doors when they see you and your popcorn coming. You may have wished you had rented one before the supply dwindled away to nothing. NOW YOU CAN HAVE ONE FOR YOUR VERY OWN.

In an effort to meet the need of our residents who would like to rent a Microfridge but can't afford it right now, Housing Services will allow you to rent a Microfridge-and ask you to pay for it, NOT NOW, but during the first week of February.

If you would like to take advantage of this offer, stop by the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore and sign a contract.

P.S. I would hurry. Remember, it's first come, first served.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions printed on this page are those of the author or the organization listed. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Why Madonna loses when she plays the meat market

It's been banned from MTV.

It was the topic of discussion on Nightline last week. It's a hot topic in all of the papers. Warner Brothers plans to release the copy by Dec. 18 for the ardent Christmas shoppers to purchase the hot, banned material.

Madonna's "Justify My Love" video — exhibiting women kissing women, men kissing men, androgeny, and men and women in scant leather outfits — has been deemed "inappropriate" material to show to the young viewers of the MTV junkland.

MTV's owners/managers last week released a statement saying their viewers were not ready for the type of video Madonna had produced.

Her latest video is done in traditional Madonna style. Unlike her "Express Yourself" video which shows her crawling around on the ground lapping up milk, with a metal collar around her neck, the "Justify My Love" video is seemingly "unacceptable."

But the question here is not just whether people feel Madonna can subtly or tastefully deal with sex in her music. Her video, putting her into an entirely new realm which explores the forbidden MTV terrain of homosexuality, simply pushed the limits.

This same cable television station which airs such trash videos as, "Cherry Pie," (Warrant) "Girls, Girls, Girls," (Motley Crue) "Bust a Move"(Young MC) and any of Robert Palmer's videos, banned Madonna's video because it does not adhere to traditional heterosexual exploitation.

I guess it is okay, even preferable, in the MTV producers' eyes, to show young MTV connoisseurs images of women being portrayed as big-busted with big hair, lots of make-up and tight clothes shaking their various body parts while clinging to men who treat them like dirt.

Meredith O'Brien

In the "Cherry Pie" video (the name, alone suggestive), all we ever see is the exploitation of women wearing titillating red clothing doing suggestive things with their bodies while the drummer viciously smashes the drums, which are made of cherry pies, while its contents splatter all over the place.

MTV producers obviously think that this type of image is fine for the average 12 year-old to watch and idolize as true sexuality and sexual behavior.

This type of violence and degradation of women in almost every single video played on that station is fine, acceptable to air, but displaying alternative sexual preferences is not.

The audience is not ready for it.

Besides the obvious homophobic impetus behind the statement that the MTV audience is not ready to see sexuality expressed by two consenting females kissing one another, why is it okay for them to see women abused, denigrated and made into sex objects?

Why can MTV allow young, impressionable teens to become accustomed to exploitation of women and not allow peaceful, consenting sexuality to be shown in a video involving two women, or two men?

Madonna's video does not overstep the ordinary MTV bounds of exposing any key body parts or overtly showing or portraying any sexual act, the single objection to it is its portrayal of homosexuality and bisexuality.

I suppose children are the real victims of this MTV double-standard. They get the opportunity to be mislead into thinking that the only type of sexuality is one which involves men and women, one which places women firmly in the position of sexual toys for men's pleasure.

And MTV deems this type of video acceptable. The audience is ready and prepared for those type of videos, but apparently not for real life.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

We faggots will fight back

Every active member of a marginalized minority knows that for every inch we gain in our struggle for basic human rights, we have to fight like hell to keep it. Oh so often, we gain an inch and lose a foot. This is what happened Thursday night to lesbian, gay and bisexual people at the Board of Governor's meeting for the Campus Center.

How ironic that over a thousand students gathered on the steps that day to demonstrate for a peaceful solution to the Middle East Crisis, and hundreds of women marched that night in Northampton to end violence against women. Meanwhile the rights of gays were set back another mile by a small homophobic group, led by Ted Maravelias, who serve on the Board of Governors.

Trystan Skeigh

The attitudes of those who masterminded the scheme to deny appointed seats to two LBGA representatives is just as disturbing. William Harris, director of the Campus Center, described their manner as showing "immaturity", and he said they "took glee in what they did."

You "took glee" in telling the thousands of gay people on campus that we don't deserve a seat on the Board of Governors. Remember, we're at least one out of every ten, perhaps more. You "took glee" in sending a message to every gay on campus that we must not take our standing at this university for granted. That our "protected status" can be wiped away in one night.

To the group of homophobes who did this, it was funny. A kind of coup on the faggots. Well to us "faggots" the humor was completely lost. If you walked a day in our moccasins you would understand that for us — the struggle for our rights, for our voices to be heard, is a battle for our lives that we wage daily.

We are not some little group of weirdos that will go away if we're ignored. We are here on this campus to stay and we will have a say in what goes on here. Gay people deserve appointed seats on the Board of Governors because we have to deal on a daily, yearly basis with homophobes. It is not fair for our position on this campus to depend on whether it's a good year or a bad year for gays. We need and deserve some consistency in the amount of recognition and power that we receive on this campus.

Gays also need to find statements of non-discrimination in the policies of decision-making boards on this campus. It is not enough for the University to make a single general statement. By taking that clause out of the BOG statement of principles — you have sent a message to gays that we are not welcome on the BOG unless we "straighten up."

By forcing LBGA members to run at large, you are forcing us to either 1) go back into the closet to avoid making our sexuality a voting issue; or 2) you are forcing us to make our private lives a public issue every time we run for office. You are paving the way for every election to become a stand-off between homophobes and non-homophobes.

It's not fair for our marginalized group, which faces oppression on a daily basis, not to have guaranteed representation on the BOG when other marginalized groups do.

Don't think you've won with your little "gleeful" ploy. You see — you're up against a group of people who are not doing battle for the fun of it — for all of us gays, lesbians, and bisexuals on campus — this is part of our struggle for our lives. And we'll be damned before we'll let a little group of white male homophobes stand in our way.

Trystan Skeigh is a Collegian staff member

BOG move strange and disgusting

After many attempts to work with the Board of Governors, the Executive Committee of the Graduate Student Senate, of which I am a member, has decided to withdraw all graduate representation. The reason for such drastic action is now apparent. On Dec. 6, the Board of Governors voted to remove the appointed seats belonging to the Lesbian Bisexual Gay Alliance.

As the graduate student's liaison to the Board, I wish to express my utter disgust with those who perpetrated this act. When first appointed to serve on the Board, I was optimistic that the Governors could pull together and redeem themselves in the eyes of their fellow students.

After last year's fiasco which dealt with such pressing issues as switching the SGA offices with those of the Ski Club and the attempt to remove the Third World Caucus, LBGA and the Abilities Unlimited seats, I thought that the Board would make a strong effort to curb its more divisive tendencies, but, alas, I was sorely mistaken.

This blatant attack upon my comrades and fellow governors from the LBGA sickens me because it serves as a reminder to us all that universities can breed fascists as well as liberals.

It further shows the incredible hypocrisy which exists within out midst. The governor who put forth this motion constantly claimed that they were only after the LBGA seats because they disagreed with the concept of appointed seats. This leads me to ask several questions. Why did they not also attack the Third World Caucus or other appointed seats? If they were against such seats, why did they increase Stockbridge representation which are also appointed seats even through this area did not meet the population criteria for increased numbers?

Todd M. Bryda
GSS Governor

Jewish Affairs Editor sponsors respond

Your "policy editorial" of Dec. 7 was a gross misrepresentation of not only why we have been asking for a Jewish Affairs Editor, but also the way we've gone about doing so.

As the Collegian knows, the establishment of a Jewish Affairs Editor was proposed to remedy the lack of coverage of Jewish cultural events on campus. It says so in our written proposal to the Collegian, and we constantly assured you of this during our many lengthy meetings.

In addition, the structure of an editorship, unlike that of a page, does not allow it to develop into the kind of editorial forum that you accuse us of wanting. This editorship would be part of the news desk, formed to cover campus events. In this case, this would mean the Jewish cultural events you have ignored all semester. And yet you state that we are acting on "emotion" and are motivated by politics, when you know that this is simply untrue.

We consistently met with the editor-in-chief to list our concerns. Midway through this semester we had a meeting to find a solution where it was the editor-in-chief who suggested a Jewish Affairs Editor. Time and time again, we tried to work within the system, but when the board of editors refused the proposal for a Jewish Affairs Editor by a margin of 7 to 1, we knew it was finally time to stop.

It is finally time to take the issue to the campus community. It is only now, after exhausting every internal channel, and consistently being faced with the lack of cooperation from the Collegian, that we are protesting.

By trying to define our movement as merely pro-Israel, you purposely ignore our already vocalized concerns of anti-Semitism in editorials and columns that have appeared in the Collegian. The Collegian not only ignores these claims, but knowingly misrepresents us.

Ignorance of Judaism as a 5,000 year-old culture, and insensitivity to the needs of Jewish students on campus, led you to unfairly reject our request, as well as knowingly misrepresent our goals. This is precisely why a Jewish Affairs Editor is needed. Stop acting scared, stop distributing misinformation, and let us define ourselves for a change.

Alison Buckholtz
Amherst

This letter was signed by five other persons

Racial bias seen

We have heard little from the administration concerning the racial aspects of the proposed budget cuts, most especially those in the School of Education. According to University records, there are 169 African-American graduate students here. More than 100 of those students are enrolled in School of Education programs targeted for elimination.

It is tragic enough that this campus enrolls only 169 African-American graduate students. It can be construed as nothing short of racist for the administration to target for cuts programs which have attracted a significant number of African-American students and a reputation for doing so.

The fact that my University doesn't appear to care about even the slightest perceptions of racism perturbs me. But what perturbs me even more, is that when we finally do hear a response from the chancellor, we hear that issues of racism and sexism are "slogan-mongering" and "cheap talk." If when proposing cuts the administration did not make consideration of programs which provide service to, and are attractive to, African-American students, then I can conclude only that UMass is among those elements in our society which help engender and perpetuate racism.

Michael Morgan
School of Education graduate student

COLLEGIAN STAFF MEETING TODAY 3 p.m. in the newsroom

To vote on whether or not to uphold Executive Board's decision on the addition of a Jewish Affairs Editor

All Business, News and Graphics staff must attend.

STAFF PHOTO

AT 4:00 PM

LANGUAGE LAB OF MASSACHUSETTS
English as a Second Language
Intensive Day Classes
Part Time Eve. Classes
TOEFL Preparation
Classes begin 1/21/91
Registration 12/3-1/14/91
Amherst Creamery Bldg.
150 Fearing St. Ste. 29
549-5065

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 S. Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

"Check this out. I think I found a way to lower Intel's testing costs and increase fault coverage by 5%."

Let's try it!

Imagine. . .you're hot on the trail of a breakthrough design. And though there's no guarantee of success, your team leader says "Let's try it."

It's the freedom to try a fresh approach—a leave-no-stone-unturned attitude—that led GenRad to develop such innovations as the world's first oscilloscope. And the very first commercial computer-based printed circuit board tester. And recently, one of the world's most advanced design and test solutions for concurrent engineering.

It's the way of thinking that made GenRad an international leader in state-of-the-art design, test and measurement systems. And if that appeals to you, then you could appeal to us.

We will be interviewing on campus on February 15. Please sign-up with your career placement office to schedule an interview. An equal opportunity employer.

Headquartered in Concord, Massachusetts. Worldwide offices in Austria, Canada, England, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Singapore and Switzerland.

GenRad
A New Way of Thinking

40—80 % OFF Publisher's Original List Price On All BOOKS
Recent Titles • Remainders
Bargain Editions • Reprints
Several Calendars and Date Books Too
VALLEY BOOKS
Downtown Amherst
Open weeknights 'til 7:30
Sat. 10-5 Sun. 12-5
Visa/MC/Check

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trips from NY starting at

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R.	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue
Council Travel
79 S. Pleasant St. Amherst 253-2261
205 E. 42nd St. New York 661-1450

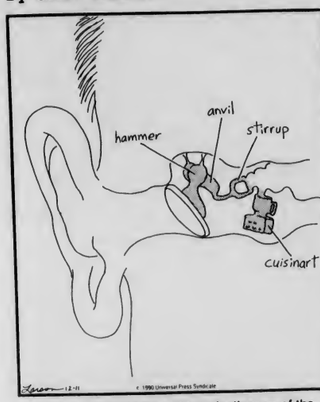
CopyCat Print Shop
RESUME SPECIAL
Have your resumé typeset in 3 business days (1st proof) AND recieve 25 Copies of your resumé all for only...
Offer expires 1/31/91 $17.99 per dozen
228 Triangle St, Amherst
(413) 549-3840

Ski Killington
Intercollegiate Ski Fest
$269 SKI FEST PACKAGE
PER PERSON 3 OR MORE PER UNIT
DBL. OCC. RATE: $289 PER PERSON
DEC. 16 - 21, 1990
JAN. 1 - 6, 6 - 11, 13 - 18, 1991
Includes:
▲ 5 days skiing
▲ 5 nights ski-home accommodations in Killington Village
▲ Daily on-mountain competions
▲ Awards parties with great prizes
▲ Apres-ski and nighttime parties
▲ Ski racing clinics
▲ Vermont tax
Lower rates for groups of 20 or more. For information and brochure call.
THE VILLAGES AT KILLINGTON
1-800-343-0762
Killington Rd., Killington, VT 05751 (802) 422-3101

JUST BECAUSE YOU SKI ALL WEEK DOESN'T MEAN YOU'LL TURN INTO A POOR STUDENT.

$10 COLLEGE DISCOUNT.
Stratton has a lower price for anyone pursuing a higher education. $22 midweek. $28 on weekends and holidays. So you can save $10 any day and every day with a current college I.D. And you get 92 exciting trails, a 12-passenger gondola, plus all the extracurricular fun you can handle. Now, how's that for financial aid?
Stratton VERMONT
Call 1-800-843-6867 or 1-802-297-2200.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Professor Harold Rosenbloom's diagram of the middle ear, proposing his newly discovered fourth bone.

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

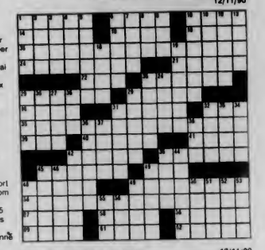
ACROSS
1 Ecclesiastical courts
6 Competent
10 Parabolas
14 Degrade
15 Haunt
16 Weight allowance
17 Prenuptial bashes
20 Kind of design
21 Relieves
22 Santa, e.g.
23 Small cactus
25 Robust
29 Artist Hieronymus
30 Irish exclamation
31 African language
32 Ewe call
35 17 Across, sometimes
39 John or Jane —
40 Attila's army
41 In good time
42 Sidekick
43 Premarital status
45 Certain surfer
47 Family member
48 Invigorating
49 Kind of bonsai
54 Newlyweds
57 S. African fox
58 Matinee —
59 Red dye
60 Actor Roger
61 John Paul II
62 Maintain

DOWN
1 1944 Nobel physicist
2 Scottish seaside resort
3 Social wisdom
4 Wimbledon champ: 1975
5 Grow furious
6 Distant
7 TV's Roseanne
8 Backtalk
9 Notable time
10 Connect
11 The Kremlin's First Lady
12 Angler's basket
13 Meeting, for short
18 Easter bloom
19 Liberate
23 — Carlo
24 Tallin native
25 Starter for stone or storm
26 Chamber group
27 Drive
28 Rooter's outcry
29 Toss back and forth
31 Carried
32 Big bell sound
33 MP's concern
34 Fergie's sister-in-law
36 Again, then again
37 Presently
38 Cure
42 Takes to task
43 Berlin output
44 "Turkish Bath" artist
45 No better
46 Olent seed
47 Edge
48 Skiers' lift
49 L-G tie
50 Fling
51 Bonheur or Ponselle
52 Give off
53 Medieval domestic
55 Sample
56 Rumpus

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

T	I	A	R	A		F	A	N	G		A	P	E	S
A	Q	U	I	N		E	M	E	U		C	O	P	E
P	A	C	K	K	N	I	F	E		C	L	O	I	E
	M	E	L	O	N			S	H	U	T	O	U	T
O	P	E	R	A		E	N	T	I	T	I	E	S		N	E	E	D
P	T	E	A	M				N	E	N	A
L	A	U	R	A		T	I	T	M		O	L	I	E
L	I	N	E	N		M	E	D		D	E	W	E	L
A	R	I	D		N	E	W	S		O	D	I	E	S
		N	O	T	E		S	N	I	P		P	I	E
M	U	G		M	O	R	N		V	I	E	W
I	N	F	O		M	A	I	N	E		E	A	S	E
A	B	O	D	E			B	L	U	E	P	L	A	T	E
M	A	R	I	A		L	E	A	R		D	A	M	E
I	R	R	I	E	D		E	A	R	I		O	I	A	L

12/11/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 12/11/90

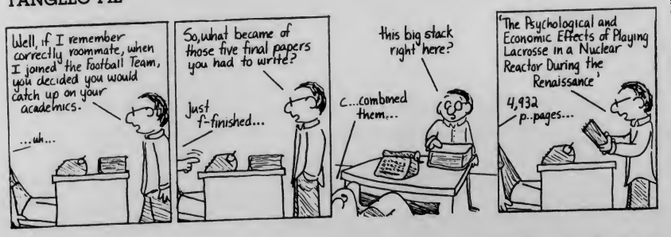
DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

HEY... THIS FEELS LIKE A MARLBORO CHRISTMAS CARD!
WHAT'S THAT, MAN?
YOU KNOW, THE CARDS WITH THE LITTLE 10-SECOND RECORDINGS IN THEM! MY GIRLFRIEND MUST HAVE MADE ONE AT THE BASE!
HI, BABY. I'VE ONLY GOT 10 SECONDS! ISN'T THAT RIDICULOUS? YOU'D THINK THEY COULD HAVE MADE IT LONGER THAN...
BIP!
HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE, IS SHE?
BOOPSIE!
HI, BABY. I'VE ONLY GOT...

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

I'M WRITING MY CHRISTMAS LIST, HOBBES! SHOULD I ADD ANYTHING FOR YOU?
HMM... I CAN'T THINK OF ANYTHING.
NOTHING?! YOU DON'T WANT ANYTHING AT ALL?!?
I'VE GOT A GOOD HOME AND A BEST FRIEND. WHAT MORE COULD A TIGER WANT?
IT MUST BE SAD BEING A SPECIES WITH SO LITTLE IMAGINATION.

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN



Well, if I remember correctly, roommate, when I joined the football team, you decided you would catch up on your academics.
...uh...
So, what became of those five final papers you had to write?
Just f-finished...
this big stack right here?
C...combined them...
The Psychological and Economic Effects of Playing Lacrosse in a Nuclear Reactor During the Renaissance 4,932 p. pages...

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

HOLLY. ANYTHING NEW?
NO!
MY NEW HAIRCUT!!
OH, I'M SORRY.
ARE YOU REALLY SORRY, OR ARE YOU JUST SAYING THAT?
I'M JUST SAYING THAT.
©1990 BRUCE VAN RAY

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Tacos Pork	Roast Beef Hen
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Veggie Tacos Sweet and Sour Tofu	Eggplant Cornish Hen

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Although you resist a change, it will prove good for you. Be receptive to family members' ideas. Illusion is present along with hopes and dreams. A sermon gives you terrific new insights.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Conditions at home could couse strain. Crossing swords with someone could undo all you hove recently achieved. Continue using a measured approach. The Sunday want ads provide a job lead.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): "Moderation in all things" should be your motto now. You may be overly generous. Sacrifices should not be made for just anyone. A trip to the shore or pool chases the blues oway.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Break free from your routine. Delight is derived from the unusual and out-of-the-ordinary. Cupid's arrow strikes when you least expect it. Use a common sense approach to your diet.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Anyone who dishes it out should expect to get it back occasionally! A good day for phoning friends and writing letters. Check your bank statements for errors and avoid unnecessary spending.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Stop banging your head against a stone wall. Shift gears if tomly members refuse to hear your side. Support a friend in need. Romance is in the air! Discuss your vacation plans.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): A tendency to be extravagant should be checked before it gets out of hand. Sharing your thoughts and hopes with others is the key to greater success. Relax on your home turf tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): A stroke of good luck awaits you, possibly at a party. Dress your best if going out this afternoon or evening. The contacts you make could lead to a new job or romance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): You can expect good luck in communications. The original ideas you come up with now will bring startling success. The company of children delights you. Travel leads to romance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Partnerships are in the spotlight. Key business contacts can be made at a social function. Postpone revising a budget. Your wishes could come true, thanks to a special pact or friendship.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Look forward to finding solutions to old problems today. Your plans begin to take shape after you talk with other people. Artistic pursuits raise your spirits. Romance reaches a new plateau.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): An accident could occur if you are not careful today. Observe all traffic rules when driving. Find more time for romantic pursuits! A parent-child relationship improves.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor	Rick Seto
Copy Editor	Mike Webber
Layout Technician	Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician	Toni Sandy
Production Supervisor	Nicole Dumas
Typesetter	Sue Kent
Production	Seth Kaye, Bill Connor, Mary Margaret Trudell

The wildlife of the Pacific Northwest.

What do we do at Microsoft when we're not revolutionizing the world of personal computing? Anything we want.

Microsoft is in Redmond, Washington, minutes away from the active city life of Seattle. Musically, we enjoy everything from internationally acclaimed opera, to an evening with Phil Collins at the Tacoma Dome. Pro sports? Try doing "the wave" while cheering on Seahawk football, Mariner baseball or SuperSonics basketball.

Our shopping and restaurants are equally varied, from Eddie Bauer to Gucci, and hofbrau to dim sum. And when we're not laughing with Dana Carvey and Dennis Miller at the Comedy Underground Club, we're taking in a play at the 1990 Tony award winning Seattle Repertory Theatre.

We're not limited to indoor recreation. Situated between the Cascade and Olympic mountain ranges, the great outdoors doesn't get any greater than this; kayaking in the swirling Skykomish River, rock climbing in the north Cascades, chartering a sloop to watch Orcas dive for dinner, skiing in the deep snow at Crystal Mountain—you can even drive 20 minutes to Snoqualmie, setting of TV's mysterious "Twin Peaks."

Get a life.

If you're pursuing an MS or PhD degree in Computer & Information Science, Math, Electrical Engineering or related technical area, then let's talk about your programming experience, design skills and/or exposure to managing projects. We're having an Information Session the night before our on-campus interviews. We're looking forward to talking with you there -- even if you're NOT signed up on our interview schedule. Relocation is available for both summer and full-time positions.

We are an equal opportunity employer and are working toward a more culturally diverse workplace.

Company Presentation
Feb. 6, 1991
7:00 p.m.
Mather Career Center
Interviews for Full-time and Summer positions
Feb. 7, 1991

Microsoft®
Making it all make sense™

Now Renting:

Bright, Spacious, 2 Bedroom Apartment-Fully Equipped Kitchen Carpeted, Storage and Laundry Facilities

LANTERN COURT
Rte 116 Sunderland 253-2515

LOTS for LITTLES
15% OFF
Books · Games · Dolls · Puzzles
DEC. 12 - DEC. 18
201 N. Pleasant Amherst, Mass. 01002
Special holiday hours starting Dec. 14
Weekends til 6pm
Consignments 256-6825
Mon-Sat 9:30-5:30 Sun 12-5:00

STAFF ELECTIONS TODAY
10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
All Business, News and Graphics staff may vote.

W M U A 91.1 FM
(home of the cow)
HOLIDAY SALE
holiday sale
HoLiDaY sALe
holiday sale
HOLIDAY SALE
holiDAY Sale
Today !!!!!
buy gifts right on campus!
S.U.B.
Dec. 10, 11, 12 9-4

It's Your Last Chance to Party
Do It at Katina's

- Buses leave Haigis Mall at 8:30 on the ½ hr until 11:00 p.m. Come back all nite
- Proceeds to benefit Rosemarie's Place
- December 12th (Wednesday)
- Open to 18+ Proper I.D. required
- Refreshments provided
- Tickets: Dave 549-6614
  $3 in advance, $4 at the door
- Table on the C.C. Concourse Tues/Wed

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE--CC 113 MON-THUR: 8:30-3:30 FRI: 8:30-2:30 • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION will be having officer elections Monday Dec 10 at 4:00 in SBA Lobby

ONE CREDIT Beton Twirling class offered next semester. Contact Cherise 546-1808

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING Tonight 7:00PM ROTC Topic: Chemical Weapons Mendatory Meeting for Herverd Election!!!

SOUTH ASIAN CLUB General Meeting Tuesday Dec 11 805-9 Campus Center 8:30PM All are welcome

UMASS CHESS CLUB Last meeting 7-11PM in the Bluewell All are welcome

UMOC CHRISTMAS PARTY Tonight! 7:00 CC 168C Everyone Welcome Bring a friend, Bring a dessert! Trips, slide, and the V.P. Election

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ARTISTS! WRITERS! Photographers! Spectrum is accepting art, poetry, prose, and photography for the 1991 issue. Bring submissions to 406E SU

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

COME AND SEE THE GIVING TREE at Haigis Mall! By donating a dollar or two, you can help prevent child abuse! For every dollar donated, a light goes on the tree. For every $2, a lego goes on the tree. All proceeds go to the MSPCC (Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children) on Thursday Dec 13th. Stop by today!!!!!!!!

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! The program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

FREE HOUSING RAFFLE! Check out the concourse or an OHAG Rep sponsored by OHAG (5-1385)

HEY! The final meeting of year is tonight. Come on down and hear about the exciting new changes.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

AUTO FOR SALE

1974 VOLVO 2 door 142S Asking $395. 593-6858.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent at Colonial Village. Right in front of the bus stop. One hundred dollar reward. Take over lease anytime before February first. Call 253-0571 After 4:00PM

1 BEDROOM IN HOUSE on Hobart Lane Half-mile from campus. $177 a month + utilities. Call Scott 549-9380.

1 BEDROOM on Main St. very quiet on bus route. Great for couple $550 incl. heat 253-9551

1 ROOM IN 3 BDRM APT NOHO 5 min. walk to town great local! 250/mo + util. Take over lease 586-2805.

1 ROOM IN 3 BDRM Downtown NOHO 230 + Call 584-4078

1 ROOM IN 3 BEDROOM HOUSE $183 + util Call 253-2215

2 HUGE ROOMS in 3 bedroom house available January 1. Ideal for couples. Call 665-3099 or 617-395-9739. Ask for Andy

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor Take over lease Jan 1. 760 a month. 549-5954.

FEBRUARY 1ST. One room in Amherst house. Short walk to Amherst center. 225+ per month. 256-6367.

GREAT LOCATION Downtown Northampton 1 bedroom-$215 Jan 1st 585-8657

LARGE ROOM AVAILABLE in fun NOHO House! Great Decor and dynamic housemates can be yours...Quiet neighborhood, free parking, 10 minutes from bus! Approx. $285 including. Call 585-8973.

LOOKING FOR MALE/FEMALE to move in to an ,ge room for spring semester. One mile from campus, on bus route, washer/dryer, large deck, v-ball court in backyard, cable. Most definitely the nicest house in the area. All for only $240/month! Call 549-0920 or 549-1151

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT Specious 1 bedroom renovated. 586-2986 $560 Negotiable

PRESIDENTIAL- 1 bedroom 6 min. walk, quiet Deve 549-5616 early eves.

ROOM IN 2 BDRM APT in Sunderland $120 each-double, $195-single females call 548-5445.

STUDIO IN AMHERST $460/w/util. Jen 1. Call Scott 253-0820

TAKE OVER OUR LEASE one bedroom apt in Puffton 549-4875.

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352

WANTED: 2 people to share large master bedroom in beautiful new condo for spring semester, intersession optional $212.50 per person. 256-8189

FOR SALE

AIRLINE TICKET: Roundtrip Hfld/Atlanta Dec. 17- Dec 29 $200 or best offer. 586-8782

IN CELEBRATING OUR FIRST YEAR in business, Metewampe Furniture wishes to thank Dottie of the C.C.C., Gerry Quarles, S.W.A.G., Emma Cappaluzzo, The Internship Office, G.S., J.G. and especially our customers.
For all your Futon needs
Metawampe Furniture
Sit with us, lounge with us
Sleep with us
256-0646

LAPTOP COMPUTER- Toshiba 1000 complete w/wrantee thru 9/91. 780K mem. International AC adapter, internal 3.5 drive, external full-size mono monitor-new never used. 584KB internal herd RAM drive, DOS on internal hard ROM. Weighs only 5lbs! Software included $640/B.O. Call Peter 665-1214.

LARGE ENTERTAINMENT CONSOLE in excellent condition A must see-Call Peter after 6PM Ask for Peter 549-6458.

NEW EDDIE BRAVER 2 in 1 backpack. Internal metal frame. Main pack 26" by 13" by 8". Grey and black. 150 or BO Priscille 549-8394 PEUGEOT 10 SPEED- Like new 21" frame with light, rack, pump, helmet, Kriptonite lock, mirror. $200 call Peter 665-1214.

GRADUATION SENIORS

OR EXCHANGE STUDENTS keep in touch with UMass. Subscribe to the Collegian on a daily basis. For more details stop by the Collegian offices at 113 Campus Center or call 545-3500.

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283.

AMUSEMENT PARKS, Holiday Resorts, Disneyland, 6 flags, are hiring. Great fun and get paid too! Reserve position by calling 1-805-682-7555 Ext K-1370.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading boods at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext B281.

FREE SPRING BREAK VACATION in Cancun! College tours, the nations largest and most successful spring break tour operator needs enthusiastic campus representatives. Earn a free trip and cash. Nothing to buy-we provide everything you need. Call Bob at 1-800-395-4896.

HELP US TO HELP YOU We need students with good communication skills and lots of enthusiasm to call alumni on behalf of a special campaign to raise money for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner at 5-3509 or stop by the basement of Memorial Hall for more info.

MARKETING

Earn up to $500/week over intersession. Call 817-969-4286.

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beech parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach it.

STUDENTS: Make $200 dwey doing construction work part time. Write: Dennis Rebe, Post Box 329, Gillsum, N.H. 03448.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Provost Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language Classes begin January 21, 1991 Intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica, 549-5065.

LOST

SHEPHARD BEAGLE MIX
Neer Logtown Rd 12/3/90
Has no tags or collar
Cell 256-0802

NATURAL DISASTERI

TO THE WOMAN in the front row with the raven hair- Eye missed you Friday. I was dazed, stunned, apethetic and passive. Sit with me and you can have my notes. -The blonde with the two female classmates.

NEED A PERSONAL COMPUTER?

DO I HAVE A MODEL FOR YOU! Zenith, PC Compatible WIMEC V20 Chip 640 kb RAM, 20 Meg Herd Disk, RGB Color Monitor, Clock Card, Microsoft's latest Bus Mouse, Software... Call Matt 549-5190 for more details. Leave e message. Price is negotiable

PERSONALS

AHVA-
Just because I love you.
Love,
Jared

APO BROTHERS: Thanks for helping me see the light (finally). Who has the gas powered sleeping bag? LFS Wendy

CHRIS P. You're gorgeous (I just had to say that)

CONAN
Im crazy about you!
Meet me after work.

ERIC,
The countdown is finally over!
Have a great 21st birthday!
Love,
Lisa

* * * GINNY P * * *
Happy Birthday
to my bestest buddy!!
Love you- Melissa

HAPPY 21ST AIM S.!
Bowl-size yellow shots await you uptown Eve & blast!
Love
The Mouse in 85?

HEY LADY!
I'm sending this because I like you a lot and I don't mean not! Love yer best friend Wend

HXONXNEXY-
Thank you for the last 1095 days, they've been great, but I know the future will be even better!!! I Love You!!
Love, TOWIYL

JIM K Thanks for the greet music and even better company! -The phone murderer

MICHAEL
Thanks for all those Days of our Lives
Michelle, Cerrie, Kel, and Sue

PAM, Can I just tell you this? Weir, ready? Here's a present I know you'll like. So, now you finally heve your personal! Happy Chanukah! Love, Mindy
P.S. You rule!

TO THE BROTHERS OF APO:
I had a great time last weeen and at the cabin. Let's do it again next semester. Oh yeah-Butch, whers are my cookies? Tulie needs to learn how to play charades, and to Dave the Superfly, get some sleep.
In L.F.S, Eric
PS- Watch out for those wet spots!

TRACEY & SEAN
Thanks for being there. Hope you didn't drown in my tears. You guys are the best!
Love Mara

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 ROOM IN HOUSE. $233 + utilities. Jan-June lease. Bus route 256-8979.

2 PEOPLE TO SHARE PUFFTON APT. starting Jan. Rent negotiable. Call Kathy or Jen 549-1968.

3 FEMALES looking for 4th housemate to share 4 bedroom spacious house near Amherst College. Walking distance to bus and town, nice neighborhood. Available 1/1/91-6/30/91. 253-0466.

BRANDYWINE APT. One space available. Male - 192.50/month. Cell 549-4159 anytime

FEMALE ROOMATE wanted for spring semester the Brook. $130 + utilities. Amy 253-2150.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. in house $200 Feb to May no lease 253-0409

FEMALE TO SHARE ROOM in renovated Brendywine Apartment. Spring Semester only. Julie at 549-3591

FEMALE WANTED to share room beautiful two bedroom apt for spring semester. Five min walk only $135.00. Call 546-4173.

MALE ROOMMATE in house wanted Completely furnished washer/dryer cable tv +85/mo. January 1 start. 100yds from bus. I'm graduating. Must fill spot. 253-2728.

MALE ROOMMATE NONSMOKER to share large bedroom Squire Village $150 665-2408.

M/F WANTED for single room in house $166 + per month. 3 miles to UMass Walking distance to Puffer's Pond Call David at 549-0040.

ONE ROOMMATE on bus route $170 per month starting Jan 1. Call 865-7544

ROOM IN PELHAM HOUSE 6 minutes to campus. $190. 256-1211

SINGLE ROOM in nice condo. 4 miles to UMass! $230 + 253-0413

YOU'VE FOUND IT!!! Single in North Amherst 200/mo. Fireplace, free cable, cool people. 549-6383

SERVICES

DO YOU NEED CHILDCARE help over Jan? Very flexible hours. Cell Nina at 665-7544

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500.

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010.

TWAS BRILLIG, AND THE SLITHY TOVES DID GYRE AND GIMBLE UPON THE WABE.

SUBLET

1 BEDROOM in two bedroom apt. Furnished Sunderland on busline female grad pref $225/mo. Susan 665-8233

TRAVEL

CHRISTMAS, SPRING BREAK, SUMMER TRAVEL FREE. Air couriers needed and cruiseship jobs. Call 1-805-682-7555 ext F-1428.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI WEEK. $189 for 5 day lift ticket, 5 nights lodging (mountainside condo), 5 days intercollegiate activities, sponsored by Mt. Sutton, Canada & Labatt's, Group leader discounts. Jan 6-11 or Jan. 13-18. Call Ski Travel Unlimited 1-800-999-SKI-9

FLY SOUTH
Round Trip
Boston to Miami
Jan1-Jan20
$120
6-4882 or 6-7411

SPRING BREAK TO DAYTONA!
Travel with Yankee Line Tours via deluxe motorcoach March 15-24, 1991
 Campus pick-up & drop-off!
 First class hotel accomodations!
 Best location, excellent nightlife!
 Only $259.00 (QUAD OCC.)
For more info contact Scott or Jim (413)256-0029
Reserve your spot now!

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30 TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers; Affordable, dependable, Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING?
Fast and Accurate
Typing/Wordprocessing
Free laserprinting
Cell Becca 549-4600 X433

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive, Quick and Accurate- Campus Pickup & Delivery. Call Lise 256-8695.

WORDPROCESSING, reports, theses, graphs, laser printing Call Rosemary 259-1786.

WORDPROCESSING- Term papers, etc Fast Service, reasonable rates. Call Janet 253-3276 leave message.

WANTED

NATIVE RUSSIAN SPEAKER to proofreed term paper. Will pay $. Call Christine 584-8196.

WANTED TO RENT

I NEED A ROOM!! Junior engineering student needs an off-campus single room. I am a nonsmoking courteous person who can cook. Must be on bus route. Please call 548-3787.

LOOKING FOR: 2-3 bdrm apt. We are desperately looking to take over your lease on a two or three bedroom apartment starting ASAP. Call Joe 546-4953 anytime.

SPORTS

Men's basketball hosts unblemished Rutgers tonight

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Both teams are undefeated in the Atlantic 10. Both teams are have won four in a row. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

The Minutemen, 4-1 overall and 2-0 in the A-10 after a 82-70 win over George Washington Saturday, host Rutgers (4-0, 2-0) tonight at the Cage.

Rutgers, which was within 50 votes of cracking this week's AP top 25, has talent. At 6-foot-9, forward Keith Hughes is a dominant rebounder and one of the top scorers in the league. Guard Earl Duncan played in 35 games during his freshman year at Syracuse before transferring to Rutgers. Transfer Brent Dabbs led a Virginia team that reached the Final Eight of the 1989 NCAA Tournament in rebounding as a freshman.

Tom Savage, the MVP of the 1989 Atlantic 10 Tournament, and Donnell Lumpkin, an A-10 All-Freshman team pick last year, are scrapping for playing time this year.

However, Rutgers' heart is questionable. The Scarlet Knights are coming off a season in which a similarly talented team lost nine of its first 15 games and finished one game over .500. The Scarlet Knights were 4-10 on the road.

In November the Scarlet Knights quieted some of their doubters when they beat Big Eight power Missouri in New Brunswick, N.J. Rutgers has since struggled in beating Division II Bridgeport by six, and went to overtime in a win at St. Joseph's.

In the words of UMass guard Anton Brown, "Rutgers, they've got a lot of talent, but too much, I think. Too many people on that team want to shoot the ball . . . ."

Dabbs has added 13 points and 11.5 rebounds a game to the mix. Hughes is averaging an A-10 best 12.3 rebounds a game and unleashed a monstrous 31-point, 15-rebound effort on St. Joseph's Saturday.

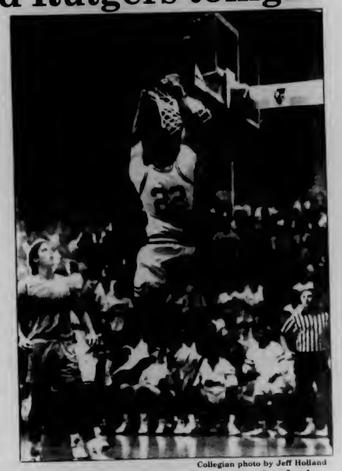
The Minutemen have not lost to Rutgers at the Cage in four years. Last January UMass led by eight at the half and cruised to an 11-point win behind Tony Barbee's 22 points.

"We've done well against them here," UMass forward Jim McCoy said. "[The Cage] is a tough place to play when everyone's on top of you. Everyone gets up for Rutgers."

For UMass, McCoy, William Herndon and Tony Barbee are all averaging 15 points a game. McCoy bruised his shoulder fighting through a pick against GW, but is expected to start tonight.

Student discount tickets for the Abdow's Holiday Classic in Springfield December 28-29 are available in 255 Boyden. Ticket prices are $10 per night. UMass hosts Dartmouth as Boston College faces Northwestern in the opening round.

There are tickets available for all remaining UMass home games as well . . . Tonight's game will be broadcast on WMUA 91.1 FM and WHMP 99.3 FM . . . The first 993 people arriving at the Cage will receive a 'Minutemen at Work' poster, courtesy of WHMP. Doors open at 6:30.



Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

UMass forward Tony Barbee dunks during the Minutemen's victory over George Washington Saturday (82-70). Barbee scored 22 against Rutgers last January as UMass took the Scarlet Knights by 11.

Canadian tradition, Floridian money

A quick glance at the rosters of National Hockey League teams shows that a majority of hockey players are Canadian. Most Stanley Cups have been won by Canadian teams. The Cup itself is named after Lord Stanley, a Canadian.

Then why are there only seven Canadian teams in the NHL? And why does the NHL persist in expanding to American markets with no hockey tradition, while viable Canadian markets are ignored? Which leads me to a quick trivia question. What do Cleveland, Kansas City, Oakland, Atlanta and Denver have in common? The answer is that all five cities played host to NHL expansion franchises, none of which remained in one place for ten years. Kansas City moved to Denver, then became the New Jersey Devils in 1982. Oakland lasted ten uninspiring seasons before moving to Cleveland, where they went bankrupt.

Greg Sukiennik

The Atlanta Flames moved to Calgary, and haven't looked back since, attendance-wise or hockey-wise.

In 1979, the NHL expanded again, but this time three of the four franchises they absorbed from the ill-fated World Hockey Association were Canadian.

And look what they've done. The Edmonton Oilers became a dynasty, winning five Stanley Cups. Quebec became a competitive force in the Adams Division (believe it or not, they once were). Winnipeg, though not as successful as its counterparts, continues to do well at the gate, as do Edmonton and Quebec.

Has the NHL learned? During last week's annual NHL Board of Governors meeting, proposals for expansion were entertained from Seattle, San Diego, Miami, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Ottawa and Hamilton, Ontario. The two Canadian cities and three Floridian cities became the finalists.

What makes more sense to you? Hockey in Canadian cities with rich hockey traditions? Or hockey in Florida, where ice is something you use to make a pina colada?

The first team the league admitted was the Ottawa Senators. Ottowa was a franchise in the early years of the league, winning five Stanley Cups. Tradition, the promise of a new arena and hockey-starved fans to fill it made Ottowa a natural choice.

The second team is the Tampa Bay Lightning. Tampa had the $50 million entry fee up front, the promise of an arena, and three million potential cable viewers via the Sunshine Network. Until the new arena is built, the Lightning will play either in Orlando or in the Suncoast Dome across the Bay in St. Petersburg. Supposedly, you can play hockey in a dome. I guess that if 25,000 are willing to sit and watch, you can do whatever you please in a dome.

That's what it all boils down to: money. Unlike Tampa or Ottowa, Hamilton had a 15,000 capacity arena ready to go, and over 10,000 season ticket sales for the team's first season. But there was a question over Hamilton's ability to pay up front, and they didn't have three million potential cable subscribers to reach, as Tampa Bay did.

The NHL thinks that by going to the most financially lucrative market, they will reap the most benefits. What they don't see is that Tampa has no established hockey tradition. It sounds like a stereotype, but from what I've seen, it's true: Many Canadians love hockey. Hamilton already draws thousands for junior hockey, and would do the same for a professional team.

Many Tampa Bay residents are originally from up north, but nobody in Tampa plays hockey! The last time there was even ice in Florida, wooly mammoths roamed the earth. The fans might go to games now and then, but would they care?

Will Tampa Bay's fans pack the seats night after night, even if their team sucks? Will hockey be a source of civic pride, as it would be in Hamilton, or occasional entertainment?

Greg Sukiennik is a Collegian staff member

Women's swimming splits results

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

One out of two ain't bad. That's how the University of Massachusetts women's swimming team viewed this past weekend's double-dual meet, defeating Springfield College, but falling to Connecticut by only 20 points.

The Minutewomen's record now stands at 4-1 with their loss to the Huskies, ending their undefeated streak. Under this meet's format, total times for UConn and Springfield, respectively, were 63:50 and 60:53.

"Overall, our times were respectable," UMass coach Bob Newcomb said.

In the 200-meter medley relay, the Minutewomen's team of Kiri Binning, Jennifer Saunders, Laurie Schwarz and Kim Morin placed a respectable second. The 200 freestyle relay team also placed high with fine performances from Keira Cruz, Jennifer Jackson, Morin and Denise Reimer.

"As a whole our times were a little off from what I expected," Newcomb said. "Because UConn and Springfield were shaved down could be a factor."

In other events, Kim Broad placed third in the 1650 while Teresa Konieczny finished fifth. The 200 freestyle resulted in a back to back fourth and fifth place finish by Jackson and Kari Edwardsen, in that order.

"That was a good swim for Teresa," Newcomb said. "She's developing into a fine distance swimmer."

Jackson also chalked up a good swim, rewarding her and UMass with a first place showing in the 200 fly. Second place swims providing UMass with essential points were Binning in the 200 backstroke and Saunders in the 200 breast stroke.

For the diving competition, Allison White stole the show as she posted a stylish first place win in the 1-meter dive, followed by second place spot on the 3-meter dive.

"We didn't perform as well as we did against Maine, but in the long run we're going to be there."

When the Minutewomen return to action on Jan. 5 to take on Northeastern University, they will be minus Binning, one of their top swimmers, due to personal problems.

"It will be a loss for the team to lose someone with a winning attitude, personality and great speed," Newcomb said.

House Majority Leader accepted Celtics skybox tickets, fined $500

BOSTON (AP) — House Speaker-to-be Charles Flaherty paid $650 Monday to see a Boston Celtics game after the state Ethics Commission ruled he inappropriately accepted skybox tickets from a company with an interest in pending legislation.

Flaherty, the House Majority Leader, admitted in deposition agreements that he accepted five tickets to the Celtics game on Nov. 16, 1988, from Ackerley Communications of Massachusetts Inc., a major billboard owner.

Several bills before the Legislature in 1988 would have placed new restrictions on outdoor billboard advertising.

"In hindsight, I ought to have known that my receipt of the five tickets, even though I used only one, was a violation of the strict requirements of the conflict-of-interest statute," said Flaherty, D-Cambridge.

The commission also fined Ackerley President Louis Nickinello and Elizabeth Palumbo, the company's public relations director, $500 each for giving Flaherty the tickets.

Flaherty, who will likely become speaker next month, was fined $500 and also paid a $150 forfeiture for the value of the tickets.

"In short, I took a personal friend of 20 years to a Celtics game," Nickinello said. "Liz, who has known Rep. Flaherty for 10 years, gave him tickets. This was contrary to our company's policy because he was a public official. I regret any misunderstanding."

The commission said that while there was evidence Flaherty had personal relationships with Nickinello and Palumbo, they "failed to establish friendship as the predominant motivating factor in either Ackerley employee giving Flaherty the skybox tickets."

Flaherty took four other House members to the game between the Celtics and the Golden State Warriors but did not tell them where he got the tickets.

The Ethics Commission said it found no evidence that Flaherty accepted the tickets in exchange for influence on the pending billboard legislation or took any action in Ackerley's favor, but "even if the tickets were given only to create official good will, the gift was still impermissible."

Flaherty's fine was the first by the Commission levied against a public employee for accepting tickets to a sporting event.

State law forbids anyone from giving state employees anything worth more than $50. Ackerley said the skybox tickets were worth "at least $30."

"For the first time, the commission has made it clear that, despite a longstanding and substantial personal relationship, to attempt to foster good will is prohibited," Flaherty said.

Flaherty said that in conjunction with the Ethics Commision's ruling, he will hold an ethics seminar for legislators to keep them from "unintentionally becoming embroiled in these types of violations."

"This is the first case in which the commission has considered the 'mixed motive' of simultaneous professional and personal relationships in connection with a gift to a public employee, and the gift receipts of the tickets in this case was apparently a single incident and not part of a pattern of practice of misconduct," the commission said.

WEATHER: Today will be mostly sunny, with temps skyrocketing up to the mid-40s.
NEWS: UM students celebrate Chanukah, light the traditional menorah at Hillel. Page 3.
SPORTS: Men's hoop loses at the buzzer, 67-65, in a tight battle against Rutgers. Page 16.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY DECEMBER 12, 1990

COLLEGIAN

AP photo

HEAT-RESISTANT CHOCOLATE? — Lael Moynihan, Hershey Foods Consumer Relations manager, displays the company's new heat-resistant chocolate named "Desert Bar," which has been made expressly for U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia.

Bush to ask allies for more financial aid

By ROBERT BURNS
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration plans to ask U.S. allies to chip in more money to offset the enormous cost of sending and sustaining more than 400,000 troops in the Persian Gulf, the Pentagon said yesterday.

The Pentagon also announced that Iraq now has more than half a million troops in and around Kuwait — 50,000 more than U.S. intelligence estimates of a week ago and five times the size of the army that invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney on Monday said a continuing Iraqi buildup indicated that President Saddam Hussein has no intention of giving up Kuwait, despite the optimism generated by release of American and other hostages.

As a second planeload of Americans left Iraq yeesterday bound for Frankfort, Germany, and then the United States, the White House said an evacuation flight scheduled for tomorrow probably will be the last to leave Iraq and will carry the remaining staff of the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait.

"We would anticipate that once all Americans who want out have been able to get out that we would remove the entire staff of the embassy," said White House spokesperson Marlin Fitzwater.

Fitzwater said that for diplomatic and political purposes, Bush would like to leave the American flag flying above the embassy to signify that it is an active U.S. outpost.

"From a practical matter, we won't have anyone there to raise the flag. So, that'll just have to play itself out," Fitzwater said.

The evacuation of U.S. civilians coincided with a further buildup of U.S. troops in the area.

Pete Williams, a Pentagon spokesperson, said American air, sea and ground forces in the gulf area have risen by 10,000 since last week, to 260,000. The latest arrivals apparently are the lead elements of a huge U.S. reinforcement that President Bush ordered Nov. 8 to strengthen the U.S. offensive capability.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Alleged racist graffiti found in SW hall

By DAWN PIERCE
Collegian Staff

The week prior to the Thanksgiving break, alleged racist graffiti was scrawled on a chalkboard of the fifth floor studio lounge in John F. Kennedy Tower in the Southwest residential area, according to a professor who teaches in the building.

Dorrance Hill, an artist and resident of Kennedy Tower, who also teaches Afro Am 112k, African-American clay and plaster in the fifth floor studio lounge reported the incident to police.

According to Hill, his son Joshua had drawn "Black power" on the chalkboard during the week that his class was held. Sometime over the following weekend his son noticed "racist" graffiti was written over it.

Vandals wrote over the word "black" on the the chalk board and replaced it with the word "nigger." They also changed the word "power" to "lower."

Hill said that his son was very upset over the incident.

Hill also said he reported the incident to the residential director of Kennedy Tower and area coordinator Julie McCrea.

"I don't know who did it, but I know it was not from any of the people in my class. I definitely know that," Hill said. "I live as an artist in residence in Kennedy and nothing like this has ever happened before."

McCrea said she could not discuss the details of the incident, although she did say that as residential director, she will continue promoting educational programs on diversity and racism.

She said incidents similar to this one happen all the time in the residence halls and the only thing they can do to combat the problem of racism is to continue to hold educational programs.

"I don't think she tried to hide it," Hill said. "I think she went through the proper channels to report it as I did."

Hill said he believes McCrea did not want the situation to be blown out of proportion and that she dealt with the problem effectively.

Hill said educational programs will help make people aware of the problem.

McCrea said that she has not received any feedback from student residents in Kennedy because they are not aware of the incident.

Collegian photo by Jill Goldman

The chalkboard in Southwest's John F. Kennedy dorm is shown scrawled with alleged racist graffiti against Blacks.

PR founder: 'Boost UM's reputation'

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

The 'Father of Public Relations,' Edward Bernays, said the University of Massachusetts should create a alumni commission to bolster the reputation of the campus.

Bernays, now 99 years old, pioneered the application of social science to the field of public relations, a change which revolutionized the field into a billion dollar business.

Although the University is presently doing little to promote itself, Bernays said a commission could make the University a national "living symbol of what education can to build a democratic society."

Citing Fiske's Guide to Colleges and Universities high rating of the University, Bernays said promotion of the University by a 'citizen's commission' would take little effort since the University has maintained high standards in both its programs and faculty.

Bernays said, during a press conference yesterday, he found himself "surrounded by intellectuals" and that the number of scholars at UMass surpasses both Oxford and Harvard Universities.

Two of Bernay's grandchildren graduated from UMass, and in his opinion, he said received a "better education than anywhere else."

"It would be very easy to organize a citizen's commission for UMass, made

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

For Your Information

Wednesday, December 5

Slide Show — "Socialism in Cuba Today" by Maggie Pucci, a striker at Eastern Airlines, member of IAM Local 1726 and member of the Young Socialist Alliance, at 7 p.m. in CC 803. Sponsored by UMass CASA. Stop by CASA's office in 423A Student Union for more information.

Meeting — Senate Meeting sponsored by Senate Operation 7 p.m. - 12 a.m. in CC 163C.

Senior Portraits — Sponsored by Index, from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. $5 a sitting.

Seminar — "Polymer Adsorption at the Solution - Air Interface," by Prof. S. Barton of UMass at 3:30 p.m. at 703 Graduate Research Tower.

Information Session — Any students wishing to apply for exchange during the 1990-91 school year are highly encouraged to attend an information session to obtain the application form and relevant information about the program from 4 - 5 p.m. at CC 917. The session will include a brief film presentation, an introduction by the coordinator and a question and answer period.

Meeting — The UMass Skateboard Club will be meeting at 7 p.m. immediately outside the Collegian and WMUA offices in the lower level of the Campus Center.

The Giving Tree — Help support the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children by sponsoring an ornament, light, or make a decoration from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday thru Friday until December 13. Sponsored by the Marketing Club.

Collegian elects 13 editors for spring

The Collegian staff yesterday elected 13 editors for the spring semester.

Terry Starmer, who has served as the Collegian's production manager since November 1989, was elected editor-in-chief. Starmer, a senior Communications major has worked for the newspaper for three years.

Jody Gabin, a junior English major and current Arts and Living editor, was elected managing editor. Gabin has worked for the Collegian for two and a half years.

Other election results:

- Jeremy Levinson, the acting Editorial editor, was elected to retain the post;
- Gayle Long, associate news editor and former Editorial editor, will serve as the news editor;
- Danielle Dowling, associate Arts and Living editor, was elected Arts editor;
- Adrienne Matt, current co-sports editor, was re-elected;
- K.A. Burke, associate photo editor and photo technician, was elected photo editor;
- Trystan Skeigh, associate news editor, was elected the Gay Lesbian Bisexual issues editor;
- Sondra Sutton, a Black Affairs page writer and former BMCP employee, was elected Black Affairs editor;
- Alex Nguyen, current Multicultural Affairs editor, was re-elected;
- Pratip Dastidar retained his position as Third World Affairs editor;
- Minu Sebastian was re-elected as Women's Issues editor in charge of issues of concern to women of color;
- Rua Kelly, former MassPIRG member and Everywoman's Center activist, was elected Women's Issues editor.

The staff also upheld the decisions made by its Board of Editors and Executive Board which rejected a Jewish Affairs editorship proposal. The appeal of the Executive Board's rejection lost by a margin of 25-16 with three abstentions.

Correction

The Collegian incorrectly quoted yesterday the Everywoman's Center Resource/Referral Coordinator Sandy Mandell. She said, "While criticism of Israeli policy is not inherently anti-Semitic, anti-Semites will not be allowed to hide behind the criticism of Israel."

The Collegian incorrectly identified Guy Glodis. He is a member of the Young Americans for Freedom.

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
MILLERS CROSSING
Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30
Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

classé café
Breakfast
Scrambled Veggie & a Blueberry Muffin
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

DON'T STAY HOME
Round trips from NY, starting at
London $412
Paris 490
San Jose,C.R. 390
Bangkok 959
Hong Kong 879
Tokyo 759
Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs. International student and teacher ID. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue
Council Travel
79 S. Pleasant St. Amherst 253-2281
205 E. 42nd St. New York 212-661-1450

40—80 % OFF
Publisher's Original List Price On All BOOKS
Recent Titles • Remainders
Bargain Editions • Reprints
Several Calendars and Date Books Too
VALLEY BOOKS
Downtown Amherst
Open weeknights 'til 7:30
Sat. 10-5 Sun. 12-5
Visa/MC/Check

The Program?
The Actuarial Student Program.
The Company?
Sun Financial Group.
The Possibilities?

Infinite. That's the one word that best describes the career possibilities at Sun Financial Group. Your entry into the dynamic and rewarding Actuarial field is Sun Financial Group's Actuarial Student Program. We'll provide you with generous study time, salary incentives and fee reimbursement as well as on-the-job experience that's second to none. Match this thoroughly supportive program with the solid reputation of our international financial services company, and there's no limit to your achievement!

If you're a Math student (or possess equivalent numbers-orientation) and have successfully completed one of the SOA exams, join the company that's infinitely better than the rest.

For more information, contact Barbara McNicholas, Sun Financial Group, Human Resources Department, 5 Sun Life Executive Park, Wellesley Hills, MA 02181; 617-237-6030. An equal opportunity employer.

Sun Financial Group
Sun Life of Canada and affiliates

THE PUB
fun food & spirits
TONIGHT
AMC Movie Night
-FREE Passes-
and
FREE Pizza from Avanti
Lite
A FINE PILSNER BEER
Pitchers $4.50
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT-AMHERST

LOCAL

EWC attempts to combat cuts, raise $40,000

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

An Everywoman's Center spokesperson announced yesterday a fund-raising campaign to restore critical services at the University of Massachusetts during a press conference.

Carol Wallace, director of the center said that their top priority is to reinstate funds to the Counseling Program that was cut earlier this semester due to state mandated budget cuts.

The center's budget has been cut by 26 percent or $81,000 since July 1, 1990. Six direct service programs were eliminated as a result of the recent cuts.

Wallace said she is optimistic that the center will raise the necessary $20,000 by January to reinstate the Counseling Program for next semester. Since November $13,000 has been raised. The center needs $40,000 per year will be needed to maintain the program.

Wallace said she hopes that "once we get the word out" people will begin to donate.

Jo-Anne Vanin, Dean of Students, a member of the center's Advisory board, said that they are hoping to get money that is designated 'unrestricted' from Telefund, an organization that solicits funds from alumni.

Wallace said next semester money will be raised through benefit concerts, dinners, auctions and possibly bringing distinguished women alumnae to campus.

Stacey Roth, coordinator of the Educator Advocate Program said, a long term project such as the songbook, a collection of songs about women and childrens' safety and healing that will be published by the fall will also raise funds.

Wallace said: "The administration has said there would be no more cuts to the center as long as there are no more cuts to the University. They have $10 million more to absorb and we have been told that we'll not have to contribute to that."

She added, "The administration has also shown their commitment by not freezing a position that was vacated by an office manager and allowing us to fill it with a direct service person."

The new direct service person will help take some of the burden off of the Resource and Referral program that has had to do more work since the cuts to direct services.

The center provides services to UMass women, the other four colleges in the Pioneer Valley and Hampshire/Franklin/ Hampden counties. They assist women seeking information about a variety of issues and offer many services.

Hillel House celebrates first night of Chanukah

By PETER HERING
and MARC ELLIOTT
Collegian Staff

About 60 people at the University of Massachusetts celebrated the beginning of Chanukah last night at the Hillel house with the lighting of a menorah and a holiday gathering.

Before the menorah was lit, Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, director of Hillel, shared his thoughts on the holiday.

After "Mitch," a UMass student, lit the menorah, participants sang the "Blessing" and several other Hebrew songs, danced, played dreidle, blackjack and ate traditional holiday food.

Chanukah is the Jewish Feast of Lights, an eight-day commemoration of the re-dedication of the Temple by the Maccabees after their victory over the Syrians.

Historically, the story of Chanukah relates how during the years 168-165 B.C., Judah Maccabee and his brothers lead a revolt against Antiochus IV, King of the Graeco-Syrians, Perlmutter said.

"King Antiochus was not allowing Jews to live according to their traditions," Perlmutter said. "And so, there was a battle lasting several years, until finally King Antiochus was defeated and his armies left the country."

The Jews went to re-dedicate the Holy Temple in Jerusalem, which King Antiochus had profaned by filling with foreign idols, explained Perlmutter.

The story that most people are familiar with, begins after the Maccabees recovered the Temple, according to Rabbi Dennis C. Sasso.

In the Temple the Jews discovered only a little oil for the Temple Menorah. There was only enough oil to provide light for one day. But the oil yielded light for eight days, until more of it could be prepared, Sasso said.

"The miracle was not only that [the oil] lasted seven extra days, but that they had the hope and the courage to light it that first day, in the first place, even though there was no guarantee that it was going to last the whole rest of the way," Perlmutter said.

The customs of Chanukah range from eating foods cooked in oil, to playing games of chance. Popular dishes include latkes [potato pancakes], sufganiot [jelly donuts,] and yehudit [cheese blintzes]. The most popular game is dreidle, played with a four-sided top.

"We really have to light a light against the darkness and we don't know where it's going to go, but you have to risk and you have to try and you have to celebrate that hope," Perlmutter said.

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Students celebrate the beginning of Chanuka in front of the Hillel House.

UM celebrates Kwanza

African holiday marked by food and dance

By PETER HERING
Collegian Staff

Although Kwanza does not officially begin until Dec. 26, students at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst celebrated the holiday with a day of traditional music, food and dance.

Students gathered at the New Africa House on Dec. 9 to celebrated the holiday. The event was sponsored by the Malcolm X Center.

According to one student, the event was a rousing success.

"There was a huge turnout for the event. It was a really good time," said Ayo Shesheni, a senior Afro-Americans studies major.

According to Shesheni, the students celebrated the holiday with music, song and poetry, followed with a huge feast.

"The celebration reaffirms everybody's commitment to the community," Shesheni said. "The celebration serves various principles, including that of sharing in the community."

Literally, Kwanza signifies the "first fruits" of the harvest. Lasting seven days, Kwanza celebrates the harvesting of the first crops or the first fruits.

Between Dec. 26 and Jan. 1, people traditionally come together in song and dance, and enjoy the blessing of living together. This period is also serves to cleanse those who commit themselves to work and study for the World Liberation of the African people.

There are four symbols of Kwanza. The Mkeka is a straw mat on which these symbolic items are placed. The mat signifies tradition as the foundation on which all else rests.

- Kinara is a candle-holder which holds seven candles and represents the original stalk from which we all originated.
- Mshumaa are the seven candles that represent the Seven Principles [Nguzo Saba] on which the first-born set up the society in order that the people will be able to live up to their greatest potential.
- Muhindi is the ear of the corn and represents the offspring or produce [the children] of the stalk [the father of the house].

During Kwanza, fasting is done from sun up to sundown. After sundown, only fruits, vegetables and nuts are eaten. Fruits and vegetables are for cleansing and the nuts contain protein for growth and development.

The feast, or Karamu, takes place on Dec. 31. It consists of seven main parts: food, drink, music, dance, conversation, laughter and ceremony. Each family in the community provides a part of the Karamu.

The feast usually takes place in the largest house in the community. The food is placed on a long, low table, where the members of the community eat, sitting on the floor. The food is traditional Afrikan fare, and is eaten without European utensils.

During the feast, the members of the community dance, tell stories and listen to music.

According to Shesheni, Kwanza is traditionally a family holiday, where gifts are made instead of bought. It is believed that thoughts and values are invalid if they do not in some way benefit the community.

The gifts are given to the children on the last day of Kwanza, Jan. 1. The presents represent the labor of the parents and the rewards of the seeds sown by the children.

According to Sesheni, the Kwanza ceremony in the West began in 1968 in California. It was recreated for use by the African Community by Maulana Karenga.

"Kwanza is a compilation of many different traditions," said Sesheni. "An important aspect is the people's recommitment to the community."

Two students take tumble

Compiled by PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

University Police reported Saturday that two male students wrestling in a second floor lobby of Cance Residence Hall, fell against the window and went through it, landing on the sidewalk near the front door.

Police said alcohol was involved in the incident. Both suffered injuries and were treated at Cooley Dickinson Hospital.

The two students will be required to make restitution, police said.

- Police also reported that a clothes dryer was thrown from the 14th floor window of John Quincy Adams sometime Saturday night.

A large plate glass window was broken during the incident. Police are investigating. The estimated value is $450.

- Police have received three citizen's complaints charging excessive force was used in the Saturday night arrest of James T. McHugh, Jr., 20, of Longmeadow, who was charged with disorderly conduct.

A police spokesperson said the incident is being investigated within the department.

BOG asked to remove LBGA

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian Staff

Angry members of the University of Massachusetts' Republican Club last night requested the Board of Governors to remove the Lesbian Bisexual Gay Alliance student organization from its office space as "punishment" for Monday's Queer Nation protest in the Republican/Minuteman/Young Americans For Freedom office.

The Republican Club members alleged that Queer Nation protesters "trashed" their office defacing the office walls.

Queer Nation staged a "kiss-in" in the office to protest the BOG's removal of the LBGA's appointed seats last Thursday.

There was heated debate at the BOG's emergency meeting, called by Chairperson Sue Gordon, over the recent actions of the gay rights activist group Queer Nation.

"The people of Queer Nation are militants against society and the LBGA should be held accountable for their actions," said SGA Senator Jeff Turco. "The BOG should remove them from their office space based on the precedent-setting removal of the Republican Club."

BOG Vice-chairperson Ed Corrigan accused Queer Nation of advocating violence and slandering him, Gordon and Gov. Ted Maravelias.

However, Corrigan stated that he did not find the name Queer Nation threatening.

Corrigan made a plea for "the queers to cut the crap." He said they are not intimidating anyone but are only jeopardizing the LBGA's standing as a Registered Student Organization.

Corrigan said there are no legitimate reasons why the LBGA should have special appointed seats because they are covered under the Third World Caucus. He said the BOG's decision to remove the seats does not mean that the BOG is in any way homophobic.

Glen Caroline, president of the Republican Club, challenged members of Queer Nation to speak up so they could have "mature" dialogue rather than "cowardly hiding anonimously behind the name Queer Nation."

For his address to the board, Gov. Maravelias asked Corrigan,

"Are you gay?" to which Corrigan replied, "No."

Maravelias, later in the meeting asked SGA Sen. Danny Cohen, "Have you ever

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

Need a last-minute gift that comes in all sizes?

Pick a number, any number. Like $5, $15, $50 or higher. Then pick up a Hampshire Mall Gift Certificate at our Customer Service Center. It's good at all 90 exciting stores, shops and restaurants in the mall. A Hampshire Mall Gift Certificate is the best way to give everybody exactly what they want.

Hampshire Mall

Route 9, Hadley

Information/Customer Service (413) 586-5700

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Think Spring!

A perfect time for renewal and new beginnings.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Spring 1991

Renew your life goals, your career, or your personal life. Over 200 fresh credit courses and Adventures in Lifelong Learning workshops are being hatched at UMass this spring.

Register by mail, telephone, or in person beginning December 26.

Classes start January 29.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

IT'S NOT TOO LATE

Are you concerned about . . .

Rising tuition bills? Competing in a declining economy?

A Spring semester co-op may be the answer!

Excellent pre-professional paid positions are still available for most majors with companies such as IBM, General Eelectric, US Fish & Wildlife, Hyatt Hotels and other top national firms.

For more information call the Field Experience Office at the Mather Career Center, 545-6265.

It's not too early to begin planning your career.

THE MATHER CAREER CENTER

Career Planning and Placement • Cooperative Education • Internships

Fraternity/Sorority Park - o.. .he Orchard Hill bus route. (413)545-2224.

Where Careers Take Off!

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writers and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

The meathead diplomats

Sitting in the dining commons the other day, I happen to overhear three fellow UMass students discussing the crisis in the Persian Gulf. For anonymity's sake, I'll call them Meat head No. 1, Meat head No. 2, and Meat head No. 3. They started out like this:

"You know we shud just drop a bomb on those ers." Meat head No. 2, and No. 3, nodded in agreement. "And afta we drop da bombs we shud go in with Marines and kick some ass." Once again meat head No. 2, and No. 3 agreed.

David Rivera

There was a brief pause when Meat head No. 1 took a time out to slug down some soda, and scope a few girls, but lucky me, he was soon right back at it.

"I'm sick and tired of these Arabs pushing us around, it's time we show everyone who's still number one." Meat head No. 2 and No. 3 managed to get out a grunt in agreement this time.

Meat head No. 1 then started to go over his master plan to solve the crisis.

"First, nuke Iraq; second, nuke Iran," (I guess for the sake of just doing it), "Third, we keep military bases over there to make sure our oil is OK; fourth, if Saudi Arabia doesn't like it — we nuke em."

Brilliant! I thought to myself, the United Nations, George Bush, James Baker and all those guys couldn't find a rational solution, but Meat head No. 1 had it all under control.

By this time I thought I should get in on this, while the getting was good. I began by asking Meat head Nos. 1, 2, and 3, how long they thought a conventional war against Iraq would last, assuming we don't nuke em.

"Two weeks," said Meat head No. 3.

"Naw, that's too long," said Meat head No. 1. "We could kick their ass in about [he paused to calculate] five days." Meat head No. 2 quickly agreed.

I took their estimate of five days and I then asked how many men would we lose in heat intense battle. Once again Meat head No. 1 took the reins.

"A thousand at the most," he said.

With this reply, I told them what I had read. During the Vietnam war, while in intense battle, we lost 200 men per day.

Meat head No. 1 smiled and said, "Told ya I know what I'm talking about."

I then went on to explain that if we were to go to war against Iraq, even the most conservative casualty numbers are at 200 lost per hour, not per day. There was a pause and the rumbles of disagreement.

"Nah, you're full of it, our boys are the best-trained soldiers in the world and they would never go down like that," said Meat head No. 1.

I then went on to tell them that the Iraqi army is one of the largest and best-trained desert forces in the world, and considering they've just come out of a 10-year war against Iran, they would probably be a little more prepared than our forces.

It is estimated that we could lose 10,000 men in a desert war. Then I asked them if this was an acceptable number.

"Nah, that's too many," said Meat head No. 2.

"Yea, that's too many," agreed Meat head No. 3.

Meat head No. 1 was quiet for a bit and then agreed.

"That's too many."

Again he paused and looked at me with a smile.

"That's why we shud jus nuke em," he said, ending the debate.

If the situation here at home is this hopeless, then I would hate to see what's going on in Saudi Arabia. I believe we've been programmed to accept war as inevitable. We cannot let ourselves slip into complacency. Let your feelings be known. Write your local elected jackass (politician) and let him/her know that you have something to say about young Americans dying in the desert. Old men make war, young men fight, and die in war. Speak up now before it is too late.

David Rivera is a UMass student

We forget that women have a right to live a life free of fear

Today, women's biggest concern is not about some strange man lurking behind a bush, jumping out and raping them as they attempt to pass. This is not to say that the threat of rape has diminished; it is very much on the rise. Women can no longer feel safe with men they know. Women are being raped by their male friends, by their dates, by their fathers, by their brothers, by their male professors and co-workers.

As a woman, I have been forced to to live a life of inescapable paranoia. I can no longer walk from class alone without feeling terrified and threatened by the the possibility of being raped. I can no longer look at a man without seeing him as a potential rapist. I can no longer hear a scream in the night and brush it off as being "just a joke." My fear of rape is real, my paranoia and distrust, justified.

One out of four college women will be the victim of an attempted rape, and 84 percent of these women will know their attacker. The statistics are real and the reason to fear is growing. So, what can be done to make women feel more safe? The University instituted educational programs defining rape and ways to prevent and protect against rape. The fear remained.

The University offered classes in self-defense to help prepare women for emergency situations and to increase their chances of survival and escape. The fear remained.

The University offered a place for women to turn to for support and counseling around issues such as rape — the Everywoman's Center. Where is the University's support for the Everywoman's Center now? The fear remains.

Jenn Brandel

The University offers an escort service to help transport women safely from one part of the campus to another, without walking alone and chancing a rape situation. Now the University is hiring rapists to help make women feel more safe?

Now the University is encouraging women to relax and entrust their safety of someone who has been convicted of assault in the past and is presently being accused of rape? Does the University think that by transferring Michael Rucks to building security, women will feel any safer? How can the University still claim to be concerned with the safety of women here on campus?

I am tired of being afraid. I am tired of feeling threatened and controlled.

It is time for the administration to do more than simply admit that they made a mistake. It is time for the administration to stop defending itself for contributing to the forces working against women by justifying the hiring of a man convicted of assault to be an Escort Service officer and describing him as "one of our better performers in the Escort Service."

In order for women to even begin to feel safe on this campus, certain needs must be met. Women need the Everywoman's Center restored to full staff. Women need a safe escort option, fully staffed by women only, not only offering safe transportation, but also training in self-defense and rape prevention.

Women aren't asking not to have to be afraid anymore, women are demanding it. Aren't the statistics convincing enough? What else has to happen before women are allowed to feel safe again? And what else can the administration come up with for women to fear?

Jenn Brandel is a UMass student

BOG move a step forward

I've been a student here at the University for three and a half years. I have never before been involved in campus politics for I felt that a small minority of radical children controlled the majority of power.

I recently decided to put aside my personal opinions and try to make a difference. I'm currently a member of the Board of Governors, which has been featured in many Collegian headlines over the past few weeks. Certain motions have recently been legally passed have directly affected the small minority of students who seek to maintain their dominance over campus politics.

Now that their power is being challenged they have turned to using force, subversive journalism and harassment to persuade public opinion in their favor. They automatically assume that history will repeat and the administration, here at the University, will once again go out of their way to meet all demands, thus accomplishing their goals.

Any opposition automatically labeled Nazis, gay bashers or racists. The Collegian itself has added fuel to their fire by publishing articles that illustrate these very same accusations.

I just want the record to show that the actions of the BOG are in no way a simple homophobic attack, contrary to opinion. The actions taken by the Board are simply an attempt to establish a Board that represents the majority and not the minority of student views. Unfortunately, the minority parties, here at the University, fear the real voice of the UMass coming out of the closet.

Michael Hurley
Board of Governors

Response to charges a real crisis

Let's hope that two of the points reported in your front-page piece "Escort Officer Removed" (Dec. 5) are mistakes. Can it be true that a man charged with rape once and currently charged with rape once again will be allowed to work in "building security" on this campus? And, how can the discovery of the currently pending rape charges against the man in Springfield not be considered a "crisis"? The security officer's victim(s) must certainly view this violent behavior as a crisis, and so should we.

Ellen McCracken
Comparative Literature

Bias, Queer Nation corrupt paper

It seems quite fitting that on this day of a rally protesting Collegian journalistic abuses that this paper should only serve to highlight these abuses.

The printing of an editorial attributed to the "Queer Nation" undoubtedly raises questions about the responsibility and integrity of the Collegian.

First, the Collegian blatantly disregarded journalistic ethics by printing an unsigned editorial. The printing of a letter written by the unambiguous "Queer Nation" certainly violates the policy the Collegian has long held.

Secondly, and much more importantly, the Collegian printed an editorial which not only condones violence for political ends, but fervently encourages it. The "Queer Nation" calls for all homosexuals to "bash back" and use whatever means, including "by force," to realize its goals.

That the Collegian editor would show extreme bias by printing an unsigned editorial is bad enough. That the Collegian would print an editorial which incites violence is unforgivable. I can assure the Collegian that its continued deplorable actions will only serve as a catalyst for more student rallies and to further cement negative student opinion regarding the Collegian.

William Hewitt
Board of Governors

BOG bigotry is only the beginning

We are outraged at the thinly-veiled heterosexist discrimination of the Board of Governors.

For years, we have been dealt blows by the conservative (read: homophobic) factions of student government. We have suffered attacks in the form of "Straight Pride" (read: anti-gay) rallies, sadistic and harassing articles in the Minuteman, banners reading "Homosexuality is criminal," and disruptions in LBG awareness events.

We are a Massachusetts public institution and our rights are protected under the Gay Civil Rights law. Our rage is as large as the list of offenses we have suffered and we will stand for this no longer.

The suppression of our voices is only the start. The conservative factions of student government have an agenda that suppresses all who do not represent their opinions. If we continue along in this manner, no one but a small privileged minority or heterosexual, White, middle class American men will be represented in official student life.

Our supporters are many and our presence is felt far and wide. They sign along with us in support. Together we will make a student government and campus that are sympathetic to the majority needs.

This letter was signed by 25 supporters of the LBGA

■ Bernays

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

up of responsible and highly intelligent individuals that recognize that the future of democracy and of society depends on education," he said.

The forces of "demagogery" in Germany under Adolf Hitler, in Italy under Benito Mussolini, under Francisco Franco in Spain, and in Nicaragua under Anastasio Somoza were all the products of an under-educated populace, he said.

Throughout his career, Bernays said he had not sacrificed his appreciation for democracy for a big account. In 1933, Bernays turned down an offer from Hitler to promote German concerns. He later also rejected similar offers from Franco and Somoza.

His reputation in the field of public relations allowed him to be choosy about his clients, he said. He has worked for Presidents Eisenhower, Coolidge, Wilson and Hoover as well as for Thomas Edison and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Bernay's philosophy of promotion is to organize a media event in order affect public opinion without direct contact between the public relations practitioner and the press to build images.

"I never use the word image because I deal with realities," he said. "Images have no substance or continuity and are subject to change without notice."

He criticized how some colleges lump public relations in with communications departments because he said communications are only a small part of his field.

"Action is more important than communication." he said. "Words can lie but action can't lie."

Bernays presently lives in Cambridge where he offers advice to public relations firms at the price of $1,000 an hour.

classé café
Lunch
Hot Homemade Soups
Hummus Salad
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

WRITE FOR THE COLLEGIAN

"Check this out. I think I found a way to lower Intel's testing costs and increase fault coverage by 5%."

Let's try it!

Imagine. . .you're hot on the trail of a breakthrough design. And though there's no guarantee of success, your team leader says "Let's try it."

It's the freedom to try a fresh approach—a leave-no-stone-unturned attitude—that led GenRad to develop such innovations as the world's first oscilloscope. And the very first commercial computer-based printed circuit board tester. And recently, one of the world's most advanced design and test solutions for concurrent engineering.

It's the way of thinking that made GenRad an international leader in state-of-the-art design, test and measurement systems. And if that appeals to you, then you could appeal to us.

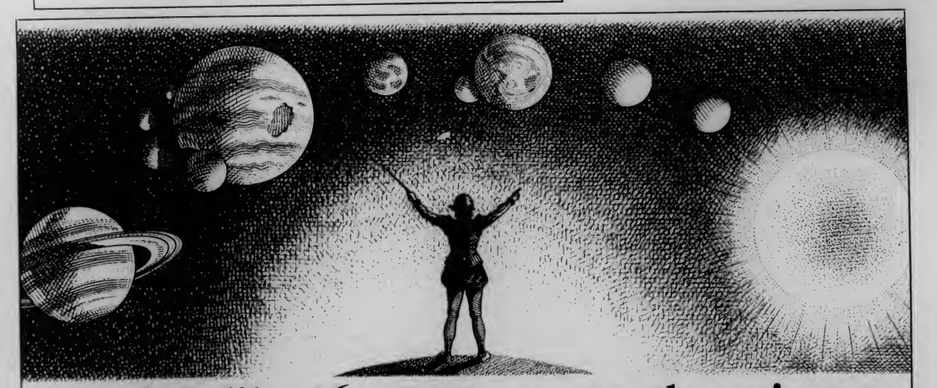
We will be interviewing on campus on February 15. Please sign-up with your career placement office to schedule an interview. An equal opportunity employer.

Headquartered in Concord, Massachusetts. Worldwide offices in Austria, Canada, England, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Singapore and Switzerland.

GenRad
A New Way of Thinking

ACADEMY of MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
ONLY AREA SHOWING, ENDS FRI DEC 14
Curtain Daily 6:45 & 9:00
COMPLETELY UNCUT IN ITS ORIGINAL VERSION.
"AN EROTIC MASTERPIECE. Remarkable. A genuinely erotic film that celebrates a woman's sexual awakening with unabashed enthusiasm."

The Story of Henry Miller, Anais Nin, and Miller's wife June in Paris in the early 30's
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE



It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN.®

FOCUS

Gulf crisis: Old wine, new bottle?

By PRATIP DASTIDAR
Collegian Staff

As Jan. 15 approaches, the Persian Gulf will brace itself for a devastating war. The current negotiations are still characterized by a vast impasse between the positions of the United States and Iraq, and only time will reveal whether bold diplomacy can break the deadlock.

Most observers agree that the fundamental contradictions of state and society in the predominantly Arab Middle East will intensify after the crisis in Kuwait is resolved, whether it be through covert negotiation or overwhelming force. It is therefore appropriate that an admittedly cursory analysis of these contradictions must be attempted on this "Focus" page.

After the death of the prophet Muhammad in 632 A.D, the unifying force of Islam spread through the Middle East, and the Ummayid Caliphate ruled the region from Damascus. The seat of power in the Middle East shifted to Baghdad with the emergence of the Abbasid caliphate by 750 A.D.

The Abbasid period saw tremendous strides in culture and trade and the implicit realization of an Arab nation spanning the Middle East from Morroco to Iraq. The Abbasid empire was weakened by the Sunni-Shia divide in Islam and soon splintered as Persians and Turks wrested control from Baghdad. By 945 A.D, the Middle East broke into small principalities. The Crusaders swept into Palestine and Syria between 1097 A.D. and 1144 A.D., to be evicted by the Kurdish warrior Saladin.

The power vacuum in the region was rapidly filled by the Ottoman Turks, a Muslim community that ruled the Middle East from the sixteenth century until later dismemberment by European powers at the end of the First 'World' War.

Prior to the collapse of the Ottomans, a major force arose in the region of interest. This was Arab nationalism, an inevitable response to the imperialism of the Ottoman rulers. The Ottoman Decentralization Party flourished in Cairo, Al Jamiyah Al Arabiyah Al-Fatat (Young Arab Society) drew converts to Beirut, and secret societies like Al Ahd (the Covenant) were composed almost exclusively of Iraqi army officers serving under the Turks.

Another force soon emerged as a major opponent of the nationalists. This was European Colonialism. The British were drawn to the region first by the need to preserve communication with the Raj in India and fend off the Russian threat, then by the lure of oil. The French wanted a presence in the region.

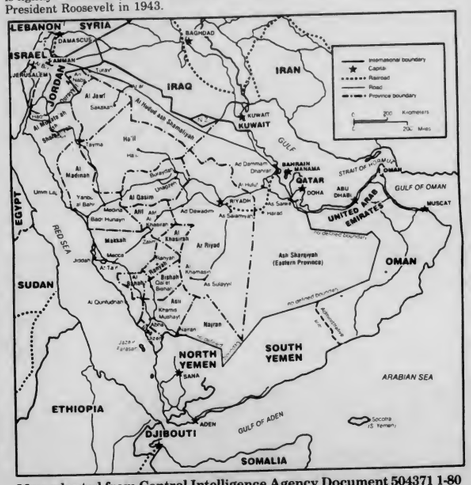
In their eagerness to carve up the Ottoman Empire, the British and French signed the covert Sykes-Picot agreement in 1916. In accordance with this secret pact, the British installed rulers in Transjordan, Palestine and Iraq and governed through an arrangement called a Mandate. The French did likewise in Syria and Lebanon. The British controlled Ibn-Saud and Saudi Arabia.

Boundary lines for these Mandatory nations were drawn under the tutelage of colonial advisors. The straight lines that define segments of the borders of Syria, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Iraq bear testimony to the artificial nature of these borders.

By this time, a third major force entered the region. Even as the colonial powers assured Arab nationalists of independence if they opposed the Ottomans during the war, they responded favorably to the claims of the Zionist movement. The movement was promised a national home in Palestine by the Balfour Declaration of 1917. The new settlers inevitably displaced Palestinian Arabs. The Question of Palestine emerged and grew to symbolize the consequences of colonialism in prominent Arab discourse.

Concomitant with these developments, the industrial engines of the 'developed' nations were exponentially increasing their demands for fuel. Oil transformed the Middle East. The Anglo-American oil conglomerate came to manipulate developments in the region. In conjunction with the colonial powers, oil interests guided the partitioning of the oilfields from the nations in which the vast majority of the Arab populace resided.

The largest oil-producing state in the region is Saudi Arabia, a nation with 25 percent of the world's proven oil reserves and about 30 percent of the sustained production capacity of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. The Saudi regime is tightly controlled by the descendents of the pro-British Ibn Saud, who later courted President Roosevelt in 1943.



Map adapted from Central Intelligence Agency Document 504371 1-80

The new guardian of Western interests in the Gulf, the United States, has consistently assured the industrial complexes of the North that the Saudi oilfields will always be under their indirect control, via the House of Saud. This covert understanding was made explicit by Jimmy Carter who expostulated in the Carter Doctrine that the United States would militarily intervene to safeguard access to Saudi oil against any external threat. The doctrine was affirmed by Ronald Reagan. George Bush may well be the American President who will uphold the doctrine with massive force.

Having briefly noted the phenomena of Arab nationalism, European colonialism, the Palestinian Question and Oil, the stage is set to examine the Gulf crisis as a study in the interaction of these forces (and their side effects such as disparities of wealth, imposition of Western culture, artificial boundaries, and population displacement).

Iraq, in this context, is the newest agent of Arab nationalism, engaged in a struggle to break the deadlock of Northern control over Arab wealth. The Palestnian Question is the critical test of any such bid to unify the Arab nation and this is reflected in the Iraqi call for an international conference on Palestinian self-determination.

Ba'athist Syria, under Hafez al-Asad, is a regional power at odds with Iraq due to an ideological split and competing aspirations for regional hegemony. The alliance with the conservative Gulf coalition is unnatural (from this perspective), and designed for temporary economic benefit, domination over neighboring Lebanon, and promotion of the destruction of Iraq.

Turkey continues to bid for incorporation with the emerging European nation, and sees political gains, as well as a presumable share in the oil-rich Northern Iraq in event of war.

Jordan is naturally linked to Iraq and may be decimated in event of conflict. The Israeli State is a major source of anxiety to the monarchy of Jordan, as is the situation in the West Bank and Gaza. Lebanon, the other small state in the region is already de-facto partitioned into Syrian and Israeli spheres of influence.

And, finally, Iran. The third potential regional power has benefited from the crisis, rebuilt diplomatic relations and obtained infrastructural aid. But it continues to resent the huge Western military presence in the Gulf.

This rapid review of the events behind the crisis should remind the reader of the depth of resentment and the transitional nature of current alliances. War after Jan. 15 will be only another bloody milestone in the efforts of the Arab people to regain control over their land and all that lies on and below it.

A different view of Kuwait for Arab masses

By HUSSEIN IBISH
Collegian Correspondant

The current military build-up in the Persian Gulf, which is occupying the minds of much of the society in the United States, is centered on the future of the State of Kuwait. But, until the invasion of this country by Iraq on Aug. 2, it is safe to assume that many people here had very little knowledge of this small Gulf sheikhdom, for which thousands of Americans may soon die.

In 1922 the modern State of Kuwait was created out of a part of the province of Basra by the British empire. The rest of Basra was joined with the province of Baghdad to form modern Iraq. This boundary drawing was performed by the British High Commissioner in Iraq during the Uqair Conference. "Sir Percy took a red pencil and very carefully drew in on a map of Arabia a boundary line . . ." [Kuwait] It is to be noted that Sir Percy's line deliberately left Iraq without adequate access to the Persian Gulf. Britain ruled Kuwait directly from this point on until independence in 1961.

As the British left Kuwait, the ruling family, the Al-Sabah clan, began to craft the socio-political structure of the new state. The resulting society has been described by the noted Arab journalist Tamman Al-Barazi (of Al-Wattan Al-Arabi) as the "Sabah apartheid regime." The main distinction upon which legal discrimination in Kuwait is based is between Kuwaiti citizens and non-Kuwaitis. A 1959 law grants citizenship status only to those people and their descendants who were living in Kuwait in 1920 and maintained residence there until 1959. It is on the basis of this distinction that Kuwait became, in the minds of many Arabs, the principle embodiment of the disparity of the "haves versus the have nots" in the Arab world.

Due to the extraordinary narrowness of this definition of citizenship, at least 65 percent of the population of Kuwait are non-Kuwaitis, and of this figure at least 35 percent have been born in Kuwait. Naturalization is restricted to 50 persons per annum and is solely at the discretion of the minister of the interior. Arab applicants for citizenship must wait 10 years before consideration, and non-Arabs a further five years after that. Naturalized citizenship is legally defined as "second class citizenship," which does not allow the holding of high political office or even the right to vote in elections before 20 years as a citizen. Naturalized citizenship can be revoked at a moment's notice at the discretion of the minister of the interior and the former citizen deported summarily. Further, such citizenship does not apply to current children or future off-spring.

The non-Kuwaiti population of Kuwait, two thirds of the population and 80 percent of the work force, has no legal rights whatsoever. They cannot own property. They may not unionize. Only Kuwaiti citizens may now enter the civil service (which was 59.8 percent non-Kuwaitis in 1976). The notorious "System of Guarantees" provides that every non-Kuwaiti must have a Kuwaiti "sponsor" who is responsible for their legal and financial affairs. Non-Kuwaitis are denied access public welfare and education. Similarly, the many revenue distribution plans were restricted to Kuwaiti citizens. All non-Kuwaitis work on a contractual basis which is subject to two months' notice. All unemployed non-Kuwaitis are deported at once. Non-Kuwaitis can be, and were, deported whenever the government felt this to be in the interest of the citizens. The last election was restricted to "natural-born literate Kuwaiti males," or 3.5 percent of the population.

Non-Kuwaitis are consistently passed over by less qualified or unqualified Kuwaiti citizens, and are subject to many other forms of workplace discrimination. The wages and salaries of non-Kuwaitis are miniscule compared with those of the Kuwaiti citizens. The average salary of Kuwaiti civil servants was 35 percent higher than their non-Kuwaiti counterparts and laborers enjoyed a 158 percent advantage. Most non-Kuwaitis, no matter how high ranking or important they were to the economy and society of Kuwait, were unable to obtain a driver's license.

The fact is that Kuwait needed these "foreigners," not only as a source of cheap manual labor but also as managers and professionals, because the Kuwaiti citizenry does not possess the skills to run their own state. For example, the professional and technical labor force is 76.6 percent non-Kuwaiti. The non-Kuwaitis, both Kuwaiti-born and those lured to come to Kuwait by the prospect of work, are better educated than the Kuwaitis.

The need for such disparity is quite obvious, the wealth of Kuwait was in this way preserved for a privileged few, defined as "citizens of the State of Kuwait." These people enjoyed a per capita GNP that is the fourth highest in the world. Kuwait's proven recoverable reserves of petroleum are at least 94,500 million barrels, or 10.3 percent of the world reserves.

On a number of occasions when "have nots" attempted to control their resources, Kuwaiti oil has been used by Western interests to undermine the attempts at economic nationalism. In cases such as the Iranian effort to control its oil in 1953 and more recent Iraqi moves, Kuwaiti oil was used as a substitute.

It is one of the most constant criticisms of Kuwait by the "have nots" of the Arab world that they have tended to invest most of their revenue in places such as Britain and the United States, rather than the Arab World. They go on to point out that this money never leaves these countries, and that on a national basis, therefore, the oil is more taken than purchased.

The nature of the relationship between Kuwait and the rest of the Arab World is defined by these issues. Questions of discrimination, submission to foreign powers, and ill-use of revenue dominate the minds of many. Many in the North have been puzzled by the reaction of the "Arab masses" to recent events. But perception of reality is shaped by often ignored factors.

■ allied money requested

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

By late January about 480,000 U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps personnel are expected to be in the area — the largest U.S. expeditionary force since the Vietnam War.

Williams also announced that the ground, sea and air forces dispatched to the gulf area from Britain, France and 24 other allied nations now total more than 220,000. He said he could not disclose how many forces were sent by each country.

Bush's decision to expand Operation Desert Shield deployments beyond the 240,000 originally planned in August threw a monkey wrench into the Pentagon's efforts to estimate future costs. And it added urgency to determining how much ore money and materials allied nations may be willing to contribute.

Williams said allies have offered $6.5 billion in assistance through Dec. 31.

"We will probably seek additional support from other nations to continue their share of the responsibility for Desert Shield," Williams said, adding that the Pentagon has not yet determined how much the operation will cost next year.

Amherst, Easthampton, Holyoke and Northampton Customers

Your neighbors aren't number one anymore, but 550 and 976 still are.

In a recent bill insert and newspaper ad we told you you didn't have to dial 1 + the number to reach certain neighboring exchanges. We incorrectly included two exchanges under Holyoke.

These exchanges – 550 and 976 – connect callers to group conversation and information program services. They can only be reached by dialing 1 + the seven digit telephone number. And be aware that charges apply in most cases to calls to these exchanges.

We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.

New England Telephone
A NYNEX Company

SEASON'S GREETINGS — SEASON'S GREETINGS

VALIC

ATTTENTION: UMASS EMPLOYEES

OPTION A, B, OR C?

WHICH STATE RETIREMENT OPTION IS BEST FOR YOU?

On Wednesdays, January 16 and January 23 at 6:30pm at our new District Office — 20 Hampton Avenue, Northampton, VALIC will present two workshops designed to provide you with sufficient information to make a more informed decision on the retirement option question.

VALIC, The Variable Annuity Life Insurance Company, is an A+ rated (by A.M. Best) thirteen billion dollar company that sells no life insurance. For more than thirty years we have specialized in providing supplementary retirement plans to employees of educational institutions.

The workshop will give each attendant a better understanding of how best to plan for their retirement.

Each workshop will be limited to twenty participants, on a first call reservation basis. Call 584-7764 as soon as possible to be assured attendance.

Refreshments will be served.

$2 off per hour Mac Rental

$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh* computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 12/31/90.

Open 24 Hours* 253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street
(across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon.

kinko's the copy center

FREE MOVIE FREE MOVIE

ALD Presents:

"Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure"

When: Sunday, Dec 16
Time: 5, 7 and 9 p.m.
Where: S.U.B.

PIZZA HUT®
NOW DELIVERS ON CAMPUS!
FAST, HOT AND FREE!

During Lab Day, Beaker Reveals his finding: Hunger = Mass Consumption!

We Now Deliver To
University of Massachusetts and Amherst College

253-3443
318 College Street
AMHERST

1-2-3-4 PIZZAS!
Get 1, 2, 3 or 4 Medium Cheese Pizzas for Just $4.00 Each
When You Buy One Medium Cheese Pizza for Just $6.49
Toppings 99¢ each covers all pizzas. Good on Delivery, Dine In or Carryout. Offer expires January 9, 1991.

SAVE $3.00!
$3.00 Off Any Large Pizza
$2.00 Off Any Medium Pizza
Valid On Regular Menu Prices Only. Good on Delivery, Dine In or Carryout. Offer expires January 9, 1991.

FREE SODA!
FREE 2-Liter of Pepsi-Cola*
With any Medium Pairs* Purchase At Regular Menu Price
Good on Delivery only. Offer expires January 9, 1991.

YOU TOP 'EM!
One Large Cheese Pizza for $7.99
Get a Second for Just $5.00 More
Toppings Extra. Good on Delivery, Dine In or Carryout. Offer expires January 9, 1991.

ARTS & LIVING

'Messiah': An excellent evening of theater

By THOMAS SCULLY
Collegian Correspondent

The Messiah is coming! The Messiah is coming! So we all hope, maybe? I don't know. Messiah by Martin Sherman is a remarkable modern play that knows where it's going and knows how to have a droll sense of humor, even while it says the unspeakable about God and such. Messiah is the true 17th century story of a self-proclaimed Messiah with feminist tendencies, Sabbetai Zevi, retold from the perspective of an ugly and forward-thinking young woman with blotches and buck teeth whose village hears about his coming, and ultimately travels to Turkey to rally behind him.

The first act is set in a small Polish village, lately ravaged by the Cossacks in a massacre which echoes the Nazi holocaust, leaving society dysfunctional and in need of a savior. The hero, Rachel, deftly played for her commonsense humor by Marissa Matrone, decides to marry a verbose, fat, smelly, old fruit merchant just as news of the Messiah begins to reach their town. The fruit merchant, Reb Elis, played by David Pasto with frantic provincialism, is an interesting character, wracked by guilt for surviving the Cossack holocaust and only able to enjoy the simple "fruit" of life, however his lip-and-stick beard depreciates him to the level of a puppet. The actors tend to slip into that whiny Brooklyn accent so usually assigned to Jews on stage and screen, and it tends to comicalize them as vaudeville figures and trivialize their plight. It makes the scenes move quickly though, as Rachel moves through marriage and steps out to chat with God between segments.

REVIEW

The second act is far more fantastical and serious, as the hero Rachel, her catatonic mother traumatized by the Cossacks, and her pious young nephew by marriage (about whom she has "impure thoughts") move to a desert hill overlooking Galipoli to wait for the Messiah. The difficulties of setting a play in a vast primordial desert are tremendous (as Shakespeare alluded to in the prologue of Henry V), but with a bit of well-draped cloth, nocturnal lights, and grotesque carnival figures out of a Turkish nightmare, the stage is more or less transformed into a cockpit of magic. In acting I do not think Tony Maestrone as Asher was the best — perhaps because he was too pious — but in any case their love scenes suffered somewhat. The character of the mother Rebecca was also exceedingly difficult to pull off convincingly for a college student. However the overall effect was totally engaging and entertaining, even during existential discourses with God, which is what most of the play amounts to. The second act particularly, is reminiscent of Wating for Godot, but while mythic visitations are sometimes difficult to grasp on the wide plane, a mysterious intimacy somehow pervaded the angst and we are buoyed along by cohesive dramatic structure — in short, an excellent evening at the theater.

A magical medieval feast

By LISA CURTIS
Collegian Staff

On Dec. 7, hundreds of people were transported back to the time of knights in glinting chainmail, nimble jesters and true feasts. The vehicle for their time travel was the 20th annual Madrigal Dinner sponsored by the University of Massachusetts Campus Center Food Services and the University Madrigal Singers.

The dinner is an actual recreation of a yuletide banquet from the time of Elizabeth I. The definition of what "madrigal" means was explained in the program as, "A part song, constructed in such a way as to make its performance enjoyable to both singer/player and listener." And, at any social gathering of the renaissance, this type of music would have had great import: every guest would have been expected to carry out his or her part with demonstrable enthusiasm. This larger connotation of "madrigal" included entertainment to delight all the senses: the food was presented with flourish; there was place for the most "artificial" music and for that in which all guests participated; jesters, dancers and mimes made their respective diversions; and there was time to renew and refresh friendships in conversation."

The dinner was held in the "Great Hall," the Campus Center Auditorium, which was adorned with garlands, banners and heraldic shields. Along the back wall a table was festooned with such delicacies as a boars head, a swan of baked bread and a seven-tiered cake. Some of the creations were used in "The March of the Comestibles" later in the series of events.

Long tables ran through the auditorium. Cloaked in festive red and green linens and laden with cheeses, cookies and wreathed candles, these lengthy tables helped to create a cozy atmosphere which enabled the guests to introduce themselves to other guests.

An average of five people per table were dressed in 16th century garb in honor of Masquers Night. A prize was awarded to the best costumes at the end of the evening.

The instrumentalists who performed at the beginning of the dinner are members of the Five College Early Music Collegium which is directed by Robert Eisenstein. The Herald Trumpeters are from the Department of Music and the studio of Professor Walter Chesnut.

The diners were treated to a musical feast in addition to the delicious meal served. The guests were serenaded by the University Madrigal Singers in Elizabethan costumes under the direction of E. Wayne Abercrombie from the Department of Music and Dance. The music consisted of 15th, 16th and 17th century Madrigals, Chansons and Carols.

The singers entered the Great Hall in a smooth processional. They took their places at the Head table on the stage where they tossed clever quips back and forth in addition to their masterful singing.

"If one did sing and was boisterous, then he would be indecorus," (in-de-chorus) joked one of the singers.

A mesmerizing performance was given by Travis Bear, the Jester. From his cocked hat to his pointy shoes, he exuded a mastery of his art. He was accompanied by more of the music appropriate to the time period. When one of the torches happened to tumble to the floor and the audience cheered him on, the merry elf admonished his viewers not to reinforce his incorrect behavior.

The dinner consisted of a delicious prime rib with oven baked potatoes and butternut squash. For dessert there was Yorkshire pudding and flaming plum pudding with hard sauce. To wrap up this Christmas feast, mulled wine was distributed, and the guests were encouraged to gather around the Wassail Bowl and sing carols.

The magical medieval evening closed with a candle lit recessional by the singers to the words of Silent Night by Franz Grueber.

AP photo

HEY, WHERE ARE ALL THE WACKY BARGAIN HUNTERS? — There were very few shoppers at the Lincolnwood Mall in Lincolnwood, Ill., last week. Some blame the economy, some blame the situation in the Middle East, but maybe the usual zany bunch o' holiday shoppers just can't deal with the malls this year.

These student dancers have got what it takes

By MELISA CANLI
Collegian Staff

Nervous faces, anxious choreographers, a panel getting ready to make the decision . . . that was the state of room 204 in Totman last week. I was invited to preview the student dance concert that will take place next semester between Feb. 28 and March 2 in Bowker Auditorium. This spring concert is a culmination of the work of junior and senior dance majors who must choreograph a dance as a graduation requirement. The auditions for dancers, the costumes, the lighting; they all depend on the student in charge.

The preview consisted of 12 pieces: a combination of jazz, modern and ballet dance. The panel's job was to select the pieces that would be performed in Bowker and those that would be performed in Hampden Theater, the former being the more prestigious location due to the size of the auditorium. The variety and talent I witnessed in this small room was overwhelming. Dancers not only choreographed their own work but also performed in each other's pieces. I cannot describe every single dance; yet, I would like to mention some of the most interesting and striking ones.

"Acapella" was a tap dance with three dancers, dancing only to the sound of the sharp metallic parts of their shoes. They alternated the speed of their footwork so well that their feet became a blur after a while and all that could be heard was the beat of the clattering.

"Genesis" was the combination of the double major of zoology and dance where the dancers bonded like the atoms of a molecule and whizzed around the room like a chemical reaction gone amok. "No one" was performed to the haunting tune of Yaz that quickened in tempo and the dancers supported each other through what seemed to be a struggle to find an identity in life. "Sound and Vision" was the type of dance one would wish to be able to display on a dance floor in a club. The dancers proved their aerobic capacity with jogs and jumps to various David Bowie songs.

In an untitled piece, the dancers used the wall as a security blanket and integrated it into their movements. The piece called "Sextet" was a group of all seniors dressed in black who told the story of an individual leaving the family nest as they rolled their heads through each other's hands and out of the nest, they became strong and independent.

After two hours of this artistic feast and being so near in proximity to these dancers I have admired since I first saw most of them on stage two years ago, I feel honored to be able to write about them from more personal viewpoint. Some of the pieces were unfinished, some needed more work and to tell you the truth, I do not know which

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

•CopyCat Print Shop•
RESUME SPECIAL
50 Copies, 50 Matching envelopes, 50 Sheets of Matching resumé paper for only $11.99 with coupon
Offer expires 1/31/91
228 Triangle St, Amherst
(413) 549-3840

Now Renting:
Bright, Spacious, 2 Bedroom Apartment-Fully Equipped Kitchen Carpeted, Storage and Laundry Facilities
LANTERN COURT
Rte 116 Sunderland 253-2515

Albion Bookshop

CASH for your BOOKS!

BUYING USED TEXTS AND PAPERBACKS

ALBION USED BOOKS

30 MAIN ST., AMHERST
Mon 9:30-6; Tues-Sat 9:30-9 p.m.; Sun 12-5

W M U A 91.1 FM
(home of the cow)
HOLIDAY SALE
holiday sale
HoLiDaY sALe
holiday sale
HOLIDAY SALE
holiDAY Sale
Today !!!!!
buy gifts right on campus!
S.U.B.
Dec. 10, 11, 12 9-4

OFF-CAMPUS RESIDENTS
Tired of the Hassles?

Are you bored with the off-campus experience? Are you stuck with bad roommates or tired of always being the one who cleans the bathroom? Are you worried about your future living arrangements? Think about returning to the convenience and spirit of living on-campus. NOW IS THE TIME TO APPLY. Applications for residence hall rooms are available in the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore, and space will be guaranteed to all whose applications are received January 4, 1991.

Questions? Call the Housing Assignment Office at (413) 545-2100, Monday through Friday, 8:30 am to 5:00 pm. Thank you!

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA FELLOWSHIPS FOR GRADUATE STUDY DURING 1990-1991

The National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta announces that fourteen fellowships for graduate study will be awarded for use during the 1990-1991 academic year. The amount of each fellowship is $3,000. Applicants will be judged on academic record, recommendations submitted, the soundness of the proposed project and its purpose, and financial need.

Any member of Alpha Lambda Delta graduating with a cumulative average of at least a 3.50 is elligible to apply. Any members of ALD who has completed at least the first semseter of the senior year is elligible to apply.

For additional information and an application, contact Cynthia George, Dean of Students Office 227 Whitmore.
Deadline is January 15, 1991

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Over 100 courses!

Almost half meet gen. ed. requirements.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 10-December 12
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 10. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 26-January 7
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 3, 1991.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Photo courtesy 20th Century Fox

OPENING THIS FRIDAY – Winona Ryder stars in Edward Scissorhands, a new film directed by Tim Burton (Batman, Beetlejuice). Ryder's real-life lust, Johnny Depp, stars in the title role, as a man with unique appendages.

'Misery's' not too miserable

By GEORGE LENTZ
Collegian Staff

Imagine hating your job and hating the fact that you're so good at it that you can't afford to quit. Imagine having nightmares about that job and living with the fear that someday those nightmares may come true. For novelist Paul Sheldon (James Caan), such an imagination has crossed the boundary to reality.

THE SCREENING ROOM

Rob Reiner's Misery does a fairly good job of stretching this initial premise into a two-hour movie about a hack romance novelist who becomes the prisoner of a deranged fan. Reiner and screenwriter William Golding are good at adapting King's prose to the screen and building the story (which drags on mercilessly in the novel) into a credible thriller. However, a problem rises in the question of what this filmed adaptation adds to the original source. The answer is: not much.

King, who once proclaimed that his books are "the literary equivalent of a Big Mac and large fries," hasn't written a novel of substantial reading since his 'Salem's Lot hit the stores well over 15 years ago. King's prosaic images are vivid enough to constitute great filmic compositions; but the weakness of his novels lies in the strain of his premises. Perhaps this explains why King's short stories and essays are of more interest than his overwrought novels. King isn't the modern master of horror so much as he is the modern master of the fast jolt — images and apparitions that flicker on the page for brief seconds to keep the reader guessing. We read King not because he's a great storyteller or great writer, but because he's a cheap thrill. You don't have to think when you read King because his novels aren't about literature, they're about aesthetic images.

The reason why most of his novels don't cross over well to the screen can be traced to this very reason: there's no substance — nothing for the filmmakers to work with to create anything of cinematic worth outside of a few strong images. Only Stanley Kubrick managed to deviate from King's original ideas with any margin of success with The Shining. The downside to that argument, however, is that Kubrick is considered by many to be a far better technician than storyteller, much like King remains in his respective medium.

With that track record, Reiner seems intent on sticking with the original work and sacrificing the benefits of the medium in which he is working. As a result, Misery bounds across the screen with enough dramatic energy (Kathy Bates keeps tensions high as the dangerously unstable fan) to keep it entertaining but not enough cinematic ingenuity to keep it interesting.

■ dance preview

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

pieces were selected to be performed where; but I do know that the talent and dedication in that room was obvious to any stranger. I admire each and every student dancer who spends hours tolling away at rehearsals to contribute to the 60 minutes of dance at a concert and who make every move seem so effortless. In my opinion, every piece deserves to be seen by an audience. My hope is that they will appreciate the blood, sweat and tears it takes a dancer to get there.

we have the Christmas Presence

Find it at Faces

amherst • northampton • open 7 days

Barsie's
Amstel Light $1.75
Draft of the Month Newcastle Brown Ale 16oz draft $2.50
Gin & Tonic $1.25
Check out other chalkboard specials
Free munchies
Don't let finals get the best of you-take a study break at Barsie's!

Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2563
Thursdays and Fridays til 8pm through Christmas

ZANNA

O COME ALL YE FAITHFUL.

Don't Miss This!
Last Three Days
LEATHER GOODS
SAVE! 50-70% OFF!
BOOK BAGS • TRAVEL BAGS & TOTES
• BACK PACKS • HANDBAGS
• BRIEFCASES • WALLETS

Book Bags SAVE 70%
Briefcases SAVE 70%
Flight Bag SAVE 70%

Wednesday, Thursday & Friday

HANDBAGS • WALLETS • PORTFOLIOS
SAVE 70%

Campus Center Concourse 10-4
Last Chance-
Shop Now for Holiday Gifts

Sponsored by UMASS Baseball

swatch®

ON TIME FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

J·RICH
CLOTHING FOR MEN
OPEN 7 DAYS

191 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst•253-2013

22 Masonic St.
Northampton•586-6336

CHINA GARDEN
(formerly Lotus Blossom)

20 % OFF
orders over $10
Dec. 1 — Dec. 30

ENJOY A TASTE OF REAL CHINESE FOOD!

•SUN.-THURS. 11:30 a.m.-9:45 p.m.
•FRI. & SAT. 11:30 a.m.-10:45 p.m.
•LUNCH HOUR: 11:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

- New Management
- New Ownership
- New Menu
- 7 Days a week
- Take-out
- Luncheon Specials $3.75 - $4.55

13 NO. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST, MA • 256-0287 256-0286

Microfridge

All in One Compact Refrigerator, Freezer and Microwave Oven

RENT ONE NOW, PAY FOR IT NEXT SEMESTER

You've probably seen one already, sleek, streamlined, matching top to bottom. You've probably used someone's already, and maybe made floormates shut their doors when they see you and your popcorn coming. You may have wished you had rented one before the supply dwindled away to nothing. NOW YOU CAN HAVE ONE FOR YOUR VERY OWN.

In an effort to meet the need of our residents who would like to rent a Microfridge but can't afford it right now, Housing Services will allow you to rent a Microfridge-and ask you to pay for it, NOT NOW, but during the first week of February.

If you would like to take advantage of this offer, stop by the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore and sign a contract.

P.S. I would hurry. Remember, it's first come, first served.

Amherst Drop Zone
ARMY/NAVY STORE

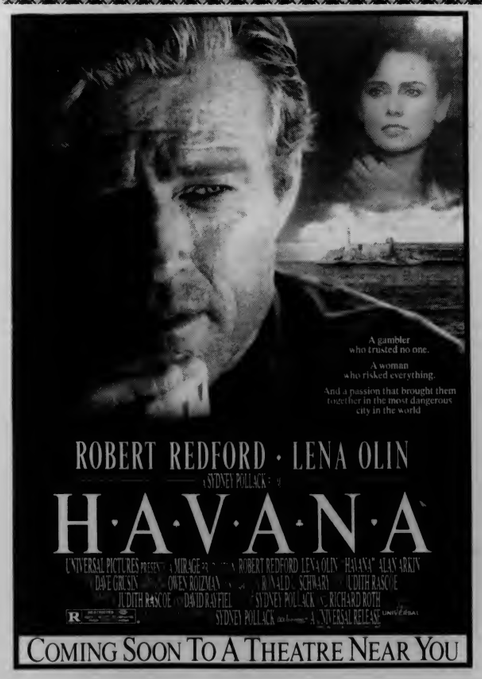
103 N. Pleasant
Amherst, 256-0039
(Behind Barts)

Rt 9
Hadley 585-5800
(Next to McDonald's)

Russian T-Shirts Direct from U.S.S.R. at $11.95

Open 7 Days
M-Sat 10-6
Sun 12-5
Nights in Hadley til 9pm

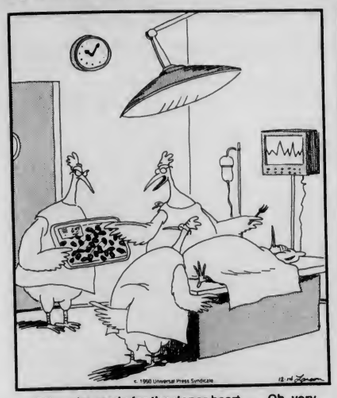
Photo:
Buck Stewart
549-5454



SALE
UP TO 50% OFF
ALL SHOES & BOOTS
Sale starts Wed., Dec. 12th

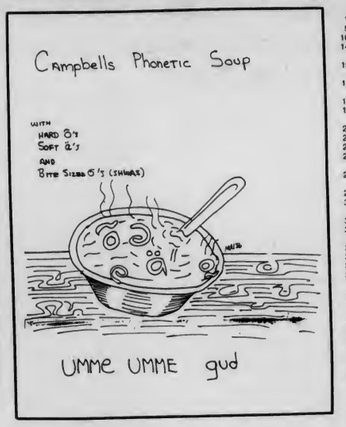
STRUT
SHOES FOR WOMEN
197 MAIN ST NORTHAMPTON

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



"OK, we're ready for the donor heart. . . . Oh, very good. I see we once again have a big selection."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

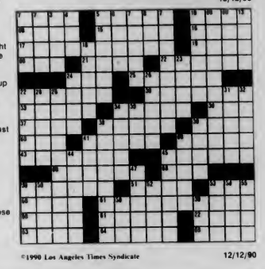
ACROSS
1 Takes to court
5 Patois
10 Predilection
14 Gudrun's husband
15 Bay of Biscay feeder
16 O'Neill's Christie
17 Lobbies
19 Novello of musical comedy
20 Heim letters
21 Legal paper
22 Needle's need
24 Hawaiian symbol
25 Actor John and family
27 Manet or Monet
30 Province in Ireland
33 Dormouse
34 Lack confidence
36 — culpa
37 Enthusiasm
38 Kind: Fr.
39 Energize, with 'up'
40 Part of USNA
41 Breathing apparatus
42 Linksman Palmer
43 Offensive sight
45 Used the blue pencil
46 Potbellies
48 Fail to keep up
49 African of great height
51 Centuries
53 Female
56 VIP of the East
57 Place for a timepiece
60 Under the covers
61 Ammonia derivative
62 Take on
63 Optimistic
64 Type of eclipse
65 Parrots

DOWN
1 Put money away
2 Utah athletes
3 Otherwise
4 Pose
5 Even though
6 Debauchee
7 Memorable comedienne Radner
8 Mine find
9 Laboratory need
10 Wee ones
11 Venture
12 Buffalo's cousin
13 Red stone
18 That is: Lat.
23 Suggestion
24 Courageous person
26 Former prime minister of S. Africa
27 Coeur d'—
28 Pass along
29 Caricatures
31 Creepy
32 — over the coals: scolded
34 Recipient of a prize
35 Assn.
38 — of the fittest
39 Irritating person
41 Creator of Lorelei Lee
42 Hersey's bell town
44 Thickset
45 Romeo or Juliet
47 Antelope of India
49 Don
50 Reading desk or pulpit
52 Sicilian sight
53 Ricochet
54 In this place
55 French summers
58 Ratite
59 Half a Latin-Amer. dance

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

R	O	T	A	S		A	B	L	E		A	R	C	S
A	B	A	S	E		L	A	I	R		T	A	R	E
B	A	C	H	E	L	O	R	P	A	R	T	I	E	S
I	N	T	E	R	I	O	R		E	A	S	E	S
			E	L	F		M	E	S	C	A	L
S	T	U	R	D	Y		B	O	S	C	H
A	R	R	A		B	A	N	T	U		D	A	A
N	I	G	H	T	S	I	D	E		T	O	W	N
D	O	E		H	O	R	D	E		A	N	O	N
		C	R	O	N	Y		S	I	N	G	L	E
	W	A	M	I	N	E		S	U	N
T	O	N	I	C		M	I	N	I	S	T	R	E	E
B	R	I	D	E	S	A	N	D	G	R	O	O	M	S
A	S	S	E	S	S	I	D	O	L		E	O	S	I	N
R	E	E	S		P	O	P	E		S	I	A	T	E

12/12/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 12/12/90

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

HEY, YO, MY OLD LADY SENT ME ONE OF THOSE TALKING CHRISTMAS CARDS, TOO!
MERRY CHRISTMAS, LOVER. YOU KNOW WHAT I'M IMAGINING RIGHT NOW? I'M IMAGINING YOU'RE...
SNAP!
THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU...
OKAY, EVERYONE CLEAR THE TENT!

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

THANKS FOR HELPING ME MAIL MY LETTER TO SANTA.
IT SURE WAS HEAVY.
THOSE BIG ENVELOPES ONLY HOLD A COUPLE HUNDRED PAGES. THAT'S WHY I USED A BOX.
I HOPE SANTA DOESN'T THROW HIS BACK OUT WHEN HE GETS IT.
ALL I CAN SAY IS, THIS YEAR SANTA HAD BETTER BRING EVERYTHING ON MY LIST! I'VE BEEN EXTREMELY GOOD ALL YEAR!
WHAT ABOUT THE NOODLE INCIDENT?
NO ONE CAN PROVE I DID THAT.!!

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

HEY TERRY. YOU LOSING WEIGHT?
WHY, DO YOU WANT TO INSULT ME?
NO, YOU LOOK REALLY GOOD.
OH THANKS THAT'S NICE OF YOU TO SAY.
YEA, YOU USTO LOOK LIKE A COW.
THANKS!!!!!

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

Hi, Gabe.
AAAAH!!! Who are you?
Why, I'm the Academic Side of you! The part you awakened by finishing all your work! Now that I exist, you can't just ignore me...
And the way I see it, we have some changes to make: Waking up at 8 A.M. to study... most nights spent at the library...
MARCUS, CAN YOU GIVE ME A HAND HERE?!
Give me a minute...
Up for a few laps, Marc-O?

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
quiche	Barbequed spare ribs
Pizza	chicken breaded tenders
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
quiche	Tri-brean casserole
Pizza	Breaded tenders

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Make the best possible use of your creative talents. Entertaining business associates in your home helps you become better acquainted with prominent people.
TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Happily, your talents and contributions receive wider recognition now. Other people rely heavily on your decisions. Show good financial judgment and cash flow will improve.
GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Chin up! Stop dwelling on past relationships and look to the future. Plan your work and work on your plan. By afternoon you will have made real progress. A personal relationship deepens.
CANCER (June 21 - July 22): This is a good day for attending classes. Wishes can come true — if you follow through. If sexual problems persist, seek advice from someone who has had more experience.
LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): You are asked to sign your name to important papers. The financial picture improves. Romance takes an serious overtones. Give your loved ones more presents. Confide in an older relative.
VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Following your intuition could pay huge dividends today. State your wishes in more practical terms and a love relationship will grow stranger. You may have to revise certain plans. Consult with mate.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Everything will work out fine if you have faith. Concentrate on routine tasks today. You and your partner need to find some common ground where damestic matters are concerned.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Concentrate on "hobby" projects today. Postpone signing an agreement until more facts and figures are available. Someone may try to deceive you. Temper your impulsive generosity with common sense.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Communicating with those at a distance may be more vexing than usual. Expect to receive good news about a credit application or an investment. Someone you meet today could bring you great happiness.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Shop for yourself today, but do not forget to buy a card for a special occasion. Tact and a show of affection will help you settle your differences with a family member.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Cultivate closer personal relationships. Be receptive to any overtones directed at you. Negotiations should be conducted in the officer closet. Give credit where it is due.
PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Good news travels fast. Your message will be very pleasing to a member of the opposite sex. Mate or partner is in the limelight. A friend may show up on your doorstep.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor.....Preston P. Forman
Layout Technician.....Terry Starmer
Photo Technician.....K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor.....Terry Starmer
Typesetter.....Kim Frisino
Production.....Tracey Richman, Steve Paris, Mark Sturm, Jen Fatkin, Sam Silverstein

WORLD & NATION

Religious clashes in India leave 10 dead

HYDERBAD, India (AP) — Ten people were stabbed to death Monday in continuing Hindu-Moslem clashes that have left at least 118 people dead in this southern city over the past four days, police said.

Police opened fire in five sections of the city to control rampaging mobs of Hindus and Moslems who defied the curfew and took to the streets, said officials who cannot be identified under briefing rules.

They said three people were wounded by gunfire and at least 17 others were injured in knife fights.

In addition to the 10 people who were killed Monday, three others died of stab wounds sustained earlier, the officials said.

A wave of stabbings, arson and looting has gripped this city of 2 million people since Thursday night.

The riots started when Hindu fundamentalists revived a campaign to build a temple on the site now occupied by a mosque in the Hindu holy town of Ayodhya, 710 miles north of Hyberabad.

The plan also triggered sectarian riots in the northern cities of Aligarh and Kanpur and in Ahmedabad in the west. At least 40 people have been killed in the past three days in Aligarh, 250 miles west of Ayodhya, news reports said.

The Hyderabad riots are the worst single outbreak of sectarian violence in India since the Ayodhya campaign started in October. At least 380 people were killed in nationwide Hindu-Moslem riots in October and November.

Hindu fundamentalists claim that Ayodhya's 16th-century Babri Masjid, of Mosque of Babar, was built on the ruins of a temple they believe was destroyed by Moslem conquerers. Moslems say the mosque was built on a vacant plot. Archeologists and historians are divided on the issue.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Chandra Shekhar has been meeting Hindu and Moslem leaders in an effort to find a solution to the dispute, which brought down the government of his predecessor, V.P. Singh, last month.

Singh's minority government fell when a Hindu revivalist party withdrew support to protest his policy of not allowing the mosque to be demolished.

Moslems account for 12 percent of India's 880 million people while Hindu's comprise 82 percent.

AP photo

JOGGER TRIAL VERDICT — Defendant Kevin Richardson arrives at court yesterday in New York with his mother Grace Cuffey before the jury came in with a verdict in the Central Park jogger trial. Richardson was was found guilty of attempted murder, rape, sodomy, robbery, assault and riot in the gang rape of the woman jogger.

Hostages held in Lebanon still 'in twilight zone'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sister of Terry Anderson said yesterday that while America rejoices over the return of its hostages from Iraq, her brother and other hostages in Lebanon "are caught up in some kind of a twilight zone where human rights don't exist."

Peggy Say said during an appearance on NBC's "Today" show that she was happy for the hostages freed by Iraq. "But I'm angry and frustrated that the Beirut hostages have been known as the forgotten hostages for almost six years now. And nobody seems to be angry about that," she said from her home in Cadiz, Ky.

"I listened to President Bush and senators and congressmen stand up on television and say America will not tolerate the holding of its citizens. And my brother has been chained to a wall in a dirty basement cell in Beirut — this will be his sixth Christmas."

Anderson, the Associated Press' chief Middle East correspondent, was kidnapped March 16, 1985. He has been in captivity the longest of the six Americans and 10 other Western hostages held by radical Moslem groups in Lebanon.

"This is not the first time, nor the second nor the third time that our families have stood back and watched other hostages situations being resolved," said Say.

Buy a LARGE Pizza for the Price Of a SMALL

DOMINO'S PIZZA

Expires 12/31/90

Not good with any other offer

256-8911
We Redeem Pizza Hut, Avanti, Bruno's Coupons

GOOD ON CARRY-OUT OR DELIVERY

$1.99 PIZZA

Buy any large pizza or 12" pan pizza at regular price, and get another with equal or fewer toppings--for just $1.99

Expires 12/31/90

Safe, Friendly, Free Delivery
Not good with any other offer

classé café
Dinner
Monster Burgers
Veggie Burgers
Mon-Sat 7am-10pm
Sunday Brunch 7am-3
168 N. Pleasant, Amherst
253-2291

December/January Break
VECTOR MARKETING CORPORATION
Vector Marketing offers full and part-time positions in public relations, marketing, advertising, sales and promotion
- Starting Pay $9.25
- 2-6 Week Work Program
- No Experience Necessary
- All Majors May Apply
- Valuable Resume Experience

Get the practical resume experience now that will separate you from the average college graduate

Interview Now-Start After Exams
(617)449-4362 Boston and Suburbs
(508) 343-7734 Fitchburg/Leominster District
(603) 891-1545 Nashua/Lowell District
(508) 687-9262 North Andover District
(207) 773-2233 Portland/Southern Maine District
(603) 964-8997 Portsmouth N.H./Newburyport District
(401) 946-0150 Rhode Island District
(508) 946-4233 Southeast Mass District
(617) 837-8855 South Shore/Plymouth District
(508) 842-4577 Worcester Country District

It's Your Last Chance to Party
Do It at Katina's
- Buses leave Haigis Mall at 8:30 on the ½ hr until 11:00 p.m. Come back all nite
- Proceeds to benefit Rosemarie's Place
- December 12th (Wednesday)
- Open to 18+ Proper I.D. required
- Refreshments provided
- Tickets: Dave 549-6614 $3 in advance, $4 at the door
- Table on the C.C. Concourse Tues/Wed

BOG

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

had any affection for Ed [Corrigan]?"

Cohen replied, "No, but for you Ted."

"Queer Nation is not in any way a part of the LBGA," stated Laura Silver, a member of Queer Nation. Silver went on to say that Queer Nation does not advocate violence or force except in self-defense.

"They [the BOG] are known for being extremely homophobic," said Silver. "They never listen to what is said rather they misconstrue everything."

Silver said the protest was a loud, visible non-violent action to show that the gay community will not tolerate further abuse.

"The gay community felt humiliated and demoralized after last Thursday's defeat," said Silver. "We are letting people know that we are organized and militant and will be there to protect our rights."

men's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

in to tie the score at 65-all with :29 on the clock.

Hughes finished with 22 points and 11 rebounds to lead Rutgers. McCoy had 16; Williams added 15 points and 8 rebounds for UMass.

Barbee's 27 points included a reverse jam on a fastbreak, two 3-pointers, 9 of 12 shooting from the floor and 7 of 9 from the foul line.

In the first half, the Minutemen led from the opening tip until the Scarlet Knights hit three 3-pointers in their final four possessions to take a 33-32 lead into the locker room. Barbee scored 15 points and was 6 of 7 from the floor.

Game notes: The sellout Cage crowd of 4,051 produced a pregame wave . . . Donnell Lumpkin missed a double-clutch jam on an uncontested breakaway early in the second half . . . Rutgers (5-0, 3-0) will play Princeton on ESPN Saturday, at noon.

FIND the FINEST...

Gifts from Glass to Gold
Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days

silverscape designs
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 | 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

GOOD CARS GOOD PRICES
PELHAM AUTO
Long known in the valley for great service on small imported and domestic cars is pleased to offer
FINE USED CARS AT REASONABLE PRICES
A sample of our selection:
1986 Chevy Nova 5 sp, A/C #10101 $3895
1987 Chevy Sprint 5/AC #1116 $2995
1315 Federal St. (Rt 9) Belchertown, MA (413) 253-9811

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE -CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30 FRI 8:30-2 •DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ONE CREDIT Baton Twirling class offered next semester. Contact Charise 546-1808

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ALPHA PHI OMEGA welcomes its newest pledges Elli and Diane to the best service fraternity there is.

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

COME AND SEE THE GIVING TREE at Heigis Mall! By donating a dollar or two, you can help prevent child abuse! For every dollar donated, a light goes on the tree. For every $2, a lego goes on the tree. All proceeds go to the MSPCC (Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children) on Thursday Dec. 13th Stop by today!!!!!!!!!!

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

FREE HOUSING RAFFLE! Check out the concourse or an OHAG Rep. sponsored by OHAG (5-1365)

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

Tonight Lambda Chi Alpha Holiday Open House. If you're interested in fraternity rush next semester then please stop by 374 N Pleasant St Wed Dec 12 6-8PM Any questions call 549-4479

AUTO FOR SALE

1974 VOLVO 2 door 142S. Asking $395. 593-6656

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands, dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent at Colonial Village. Right in front of the bus stop. One hundred dollar reward. Take over lease anytime before February first Call 253-0571. After 4:00PM

1 BEDROOM IN HOUSE on Hobart Lane. Half-mile from campus $177 a month + utilities. Call Scott 549-9380

1 BEDROOM on Main St. very quiet on bus route. Great for a couple $550 incl. heat 253-9551.

1 ROOM IN 3 BDRM Downtown NOHO 230 + Call 584-4078.

1 ROOM IN 3 BEDROOM HOUSE $183 + util Call 253-2215.

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor Take over lease Jan 1 760 a month 549-5954.

CONDO in Belchertown/Amherst 2 bdrm 475. Call 253-2362.

GREAT LOCATION Downtown Northampton 1 bedroom-$215 Jan 1st 585-8657

NEED TWO PEOPLE for spacious 4 bedroom house in Amherst. Bus stop 2 minute walk. Large yard, porch. Cool Landlord. $190 month 549-6102 John 546-3532 Frank

NORTHAMPTON APARTMENT Large, sunny apt., includes sauna, off-street parking, great kitchen. Share w/2 other men. Near bus. No smokers, no pets. Available Jan. 1, $315/mo & utilities. Call Dave or Cam 585-0292

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT Spacious 1 bedroom renovated. 586-2986 $560 Negotiable.

PRESIDENTIAL- 1 bedroom 6 min. walk, quiet Dave 549-5818 early eves.

PUFFTON 1 bdrm. Take over lease Jan 1st. Heat included. 549-1384.

PUFFTON: One bedroom for two people to share. Option to take lease. Call 549-1811

ROOM IN 2 BDRM APT in Sunderland $120 each-double, $195-single females call 546-5445

ROOMS FOR RENT 14 spots available at Delta Upsilon over intersession. $175. If interested please contact Buddy or Chris at 549-3831

SINGLE, Putton, non-smokers. Call 549-2781

SINGLE room available Amherst Center- Behind Kinko's 260 +. Preferrably female/non-smoker. Call 256-8250

STUDIO IN AMHERST $460w/util Jan 1. Call Scott 253-0820.

TAKE OVER LEASE in Jan. One bedroom apt in Col. Village. $400/mo Call 253-7843.

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352

WANTED: 2 people to share large master bedroom in beautiful new condo for spring semester, intersession optional $212.50 per person. 256-8189.

FOR SALE

AIRLINE TICKET: Roundtrip Hrtfd/Atlanta Dec 17- Dec 29 $200 or best offer. 586-8762.

C-64 System and Software over 70 disks. Call 253-9067.

GREAT DEAL!! Computer only $600 (negotiable) includes: printer, disk drive, mouse, color monitor, joystick and software Call Tina 549-7537.

IN CELEBRATING OUR FIRST YEAR in business, Metawmpe Furniture wishes to thank Dottie of the C.C.C., Gerry Quarles, S.W.A.G., Emma Cappaluzzo, The Internship Office, G.S., J.G. and especially our customers For all your Futon needs Metawmpe Furniture Sit with us, lounge with us Sleep with us 256-0646

ONEWAY, Logan to West Palm on Dec 20th. Cheap! Call 253-9929 Eric

PLANE TICKET to Denver, one-way Leaves Hartford Dec 20 A.M. Call Meg 781-0625.

SKIS Fischer Vacuum RC4 Size-180 Used 5 times Excellent condition Tyrolia 480 bindings Cost $500 new Selling for $190 because I need money to get home for Christmas Call Jon 546-7129.

FOR SALE

Terminal Modern and Printer Four Setups, ready to go. Call Rick 508-342-8274

TICKETS TO LA $350 Dec 27th to Jan 27th. Call 546-0959 betwn 6:00-8:00PM.

FOUND

KEYS on silver clip keychain found on N. Pleasant St. Call 549-1042.

LEATHER JACKET at Mike's Westview on Friday nite. You took mine by mistake. Call to exchange. 549-8254

GRADUATION SENIORS

OR EXCHANGE STUDENTS keep in touch with UMass. Subscribe to the Collegian on a daily basis. For more details stop by the Collegian offices at 113 Campus Center or call 545-3500.

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3283

CAMPUS REPS needed to promote springbreak trips to Daytone and Penema City Beach, FL. Earn free trips and money while earning valuable business experience. Call Kim at 1-800-558-3002.

FREE SPRING BREAK VACATION in Cancun! College tours, the nations largest and most successful spring break tour operator needs enthusiastic campus representatives. Earn a free trip and cash. Nothing to buy- we provide everything you need. Call Bob at 1-800-395-4896

HELP US TO HELP YOU We need students with good communication skills and lots of enthusiasm to call alumni on behalf of a special campaign to raise money for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner for financial aid. Call Jerry Joyner at 5-3509 or stop by the basement of Memorial Hall for more info.

MARKETING

Earn up to $500/week over intersession Call 617-969-4288

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beech it.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING
2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool
2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August
Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department
Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language. Classes begin January 21, 1991. Intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifics, 549-5065.

LOST

BLACK ESPRIT WALLET Fri 12/7. Please contact Judi 549-8407.

BROWN LEATHER JACKET ATR 12/7 No questions asked Reward: 546-1208.

EARRING: Sterling silver clip on. Flower with moonstone in the center. Very special. Reward offered. Call Stephanie at 367-2781

HANDMADE LEATHER CASE w/things and contents. Call LW 665-7336.

SHEPHARD BEAGLE MIX Near Logtown Rd 12/3/90 Has no tags or collar Call 256-0802

TO WHOEVER accidently took my blue wool coat in Brandywine on Friday. Please call me so I can pick it up from you ASAP. 256-0825.

WHOEVER STOLE my UMass Ski Team Sweatshirt in Boyden call 549-1987 or I dare you to wear it just one day.

NEED A PERSONAL COMPUTER?

DO I HAVE A MODEL FOR YOU! Zenith, PC Compatible W/NEC V20 Chip 640 kb RAM, 20 Meg Hard Disk, RGB Color Monitor, Clock Card, Microsoft's latest Bus Mouse, Software... Call Matt 549-5190 for more details. Leave a message. Price is negotiable.

PERSONALS

A,
I think I know who you are.
Hope to see you soon!
LO

AARON Z: Remember over break to sleep with the angels. Florida-I hope it rains! You two stink!!

ATTENTION MOORE 3 LONG Eric will be making holiday rounds today with goodies for all! Eric, make sure your Santa gets one!

BJ the Crabbree RA- You'll never know how much you cheered me up last Sunday in the Hatch. Thanks and happy holidays! -e soon to be ex-Central RA

BJORN THE LOVE GOD
Back row Anthis 522
Ill interested in some divine decadence
Friday night.
T.O.C.
Wear black.

BOBINA I miss you!

CHUNKY MONKEY,
Have a great time next semester! We'll miss you! Love, Ciara, Donna & Heather

DEAR DAMAGE INC.
You make my life so special. I love you
Merry XMas. Love, Turk

DEAR SONDRA,
Thank you for being that star that brightens my life. I love you, Honey!
-Jeff

DEBBIE KANARICK-
Congratulations on President!
You will do an amazing job.
I love you! Sharon

HAPPY EARLY BIRTHDAY ANDREA!
You're the best roomie ever. You finally got your very own personal. Have a great break!
Love Marla

JANET-
We are has-beens!
I love it! Your tevonte social

JEANMARIE,
You are gorgeous. No doubt the best looking girl on our floor!
-14th floor
Kenney

JOSHUA, STEVEN AND ANDREW- Happy Chanukah!! You guys are the greatest!
Love, Neil

KIRE,
Cheer up! No matter what you'll always be my little engineer!! I love you.
Love, Donna

MELISSA STARRETT-
It will be hard to fill my shoes, but I'm sure you will be a great social!! I'm very psyched for you. Love, Sharon.

MUFFIN,
We muh-muh-miss you!
Stop by and say hi!
-Tobey, Leihanne & Hud

MY FELLOW SIGMA KAPPAS NUEVAS
We were once pledges, then we became radishes, now we're sisters!! Congrats to Elmo, Fozzy, Mello-Yello, Pickles, Jen-Jen, Kara, Kate, Kristen, Kristina, Kelly, Denise, Trish, Ali!!! We love you Amanda and Rita Anire Conchita!

PETE CUDA Happy Belated Birthday!! Our high school hero hit nineteen!!!!
Loveya, Michelle

PEZ-
Our house won't be the same without you!! We love you- JJ Crazy, Cate the Bell, and Jess

RB
Since you're not leaving in the spring that will give you time to show me your strokes
Kat

SCHTICK!? SCHTICK!!? SCHTICKY!!!
Really movin'
I got it covered
Ricky (5¼...Sloft)

SONDRA our time as roommates has almost come to an end. But your are more than just my roommate, you are my best friend. I'll miss talking until late at night and can you believe, we never had a fight! I know it will be hard for us to part, but you will always hold a special place in my heart!
Love Kathy

TO JOHNY O'S LOVESLAVE
I know who you are
Do you know who I am?
Merry Christmas!
Love:
SS

TO THE SMITH HOUSE SIX:
Look who's in the freezer- I wanted to wish you all Happy Holidays. Thanks for the love and the friendship. Oh the Schtick! Shira you are my tomatoe/tomator! Mary B- You've been mon amie francais Merci. You women are the best possible roomies a gal could have. Thanx. Love, Brooke

VALERIE COOMBS
Hey Val! Happy 21st!! I'm psyched to go uptown, can I buy you a rum and coke? Happy Birthday! AP

WENDY- Congratulations! It was even in the Hawaiian Papers. Love, HW

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 PERSON wanted to rent a room across from Brit Man. 130/mo+ util. 253-2351

1 ROOM IN HOUSE.
$233 + utilities. Jan-June lease. Bus route 256-8979.

2 PEOPLE TO SHARE PUFFTON APT. starting Jan. Rent negotiable. Call Kathy or Jen 549-1968.

3 FEMALES looking for 4th housemate to share 4 bedroom spacious house near Amherst College. Walking distance to bus and town, nice neighborhood. Available 1/1/91-6/30/91. 253-0486.

BRANDYWINE- Roommate wanted for spring semester; male, non-smoker. Call 549-5414.

BRANDYWINE APT One space available Male. 192.50/month. Call 549-4159 anytime.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE needed to share 4 bdrm apt in NOHO. $220/mo + utilities Jan. 1- Aug. 31 1991. 586-8744

FEMALE - ROOMATE wanted for spring semester the Brook. $130 + utilities. Amy 253-2150.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. in house $200 Feb to May no lease. 253-0409

FEMALE TO SHARE ROOM in renovated Brandywine Apartment. Spring Semester only. Julie at 549-3591.

FEMALE WANTED to share room beautiful two bedroom apt. for spring semester. Five min walk only $135.00. Call 546-4173.

HOBART LANE --8
Single room next semester $210/month 549-2903

MALE ROOMMATE in house wanted Completely furnished washer/dryer cable tv 185/mo. January 1 start. 100yds from bus. I'm graduating. Must fill spot. 253-2728

MALE ROOMMATE NONSMOKER to share large bedroom Squire Village $150 665-2428

ONE ROOMMATE on bus route $170 per month starting Jan 1. Call 665-7544.

ROOM IN PELHAM HOUSE 8 minutes to campus. $190 256-1211.

ROOMMATE WANTED for Mill Valley Apt 253-5765

SINGLE ROOM in nice condo 4 miles to UMass! $230 + 253-0413

YOU'VE FOUND IT!! Single in North Amherst 2000/mo. Fireplace, free cable, cool people. 549-6383.

SERVICES

DO YOU KNOW THE TIME? Watch batteries, and full jewelry repair service Silverscape Designs, the finest gifts from glass to gold 264 North Pleasant Street, Amherst 253-3324

DO YOU NEED CHILDCARE help over Jan? Very flexible hours. Call Nina at 665-7544

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

PREGNANT?
Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services. ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area 774-6010

SUBLET

1 BEDROOM in two bedroom apt. Furnished Sunderland on busline. female grad pref. $225/mo. Susan 665-8233.

STUDENT SEEKS affordable room in South Amherst for intersession. Call 546-0247

TRAVEL

FLY SOUTH
Round Trip
Boston to Miami
Jan1-Jan20
$120
5-4882 or 8-7411

SPRING BREAK TO DAYTONA!
Travel with Yankee Line Tours via deluxe motorcoach March 15-24, 1991.
 Campus pick-up & drop-off!
 First class hotel accomodations!
 Best location, excellent nightlife!
 Only $259.00 (QUAD OCC.)
For more info contact Scott or Jim: (413)256-0029
Reserve your spot now!

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! SPRING BREAK IN JAMAICA/CANCUN FROM $449!!! BOOK EARLY AND SAVE $30. TRAVEL WITH THE BEST 1-800-426-7710

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, cases, papers. Affordable, dependable. Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING?
Fast and Accurate
Typing/Wordprocessing
Free laserprinting
Call Becca 549-4600 X433

NEXT DAY typing/wordprocessing 323-4579.

WORDPROCESSING, $1.45/pg. last, leave message 549-0484

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive. Quick and Accurate- Campus Pickup & Delivery. Call Lisa 256-8695.

WORDPROCESSING, reports, theses, graphs, laser printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

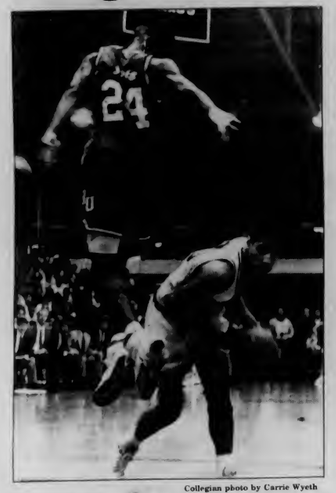
WORDPROCESSING- Term papers, etc. Fast Service, reasonable rates. Call Janet 253-3276 leave message

WANTED TO RENT

IF YOU HAVE a room to rent for winter session 546-0233

SPORTS

Rutgers crashes UMass Cage party, 67-65



Collegian photo by Carrie Wyeth

Junior forward Jim McCoy scored 16 points against Rutgers last night, while sophomore forward Tony Barbee scored a career-high 27 points, but to no avail as the Minutemen lost in the last second of the game 67-65.

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Mike Jones canned a 12-foot jumper with 1 second remaining to lift Rutgers over the University of Massachusetts 67-65 last night in the Cage in a wild game that included a career-high 27-point performance by Tony Barbee and the ejection of William Herndon following a second-half near-brawl.

The Minutemen (4-2, 2-1 in the Atlantic 10) made up a 12-point deficit in the final eight minutes of the game to tie it at 65-all, before Jones silenced a delirious sellout crowd with his game-winner at the buzzer.

"That was a very, very, big, big, big win," said Jones, a sophomore point guard known more for his defensive skills than for shooting the ball. "I was looking for [Craig Carter], but the clock was running out so I shot it. I saw the ball rolling around the rim and everybody running out on the court, so I knew it went in."

"We were on him. We were there. We had our hands up . . . the guy makes a tough shot and we lose," UMass coach John Calipari said. "We made a run . . . and you have to be happy with the fact we did it without Will Herndon."

Herndon was ejected with 14 minutes left in the game for shoving 6-foot-9 forward Keith Hughes off Jim McCoy as McCoy tangled under the UMass hoop with forward Daryl Smith after a hard foul on a Rutgers fastbreak.

"[Hughes] went after Jim, and I pushed him up and off," said Herndon, who was hit with a technical foul for 'disorderly conduct' on the play and will not miss UMass' next game, Dec. 28 against Dartmouth, as would have been mandated by the NCAA if he had been ejected for fighting.

Calipari said, "I told him he can't lose his cool, and he did."

The play was pivotal. At the time of the McCoy-Smith collision, Rutgers led 47-41. But Smith hit one free throw and Hughes hit both ends of the technical and a jumper off the resulting possession putting Rutgers up 11, at 52-41.

With Herndon out of the game, the Scarlet Knights built the lead to 12, at 63-51, on a Tom Savage layup with 8:27 to play.

From that point, until Jones' game-winner, the Minutemen made a run. McCoy hit for six consecutive points on a pair of free throws and two 15-foot jumpers. Harper Williams tipped in a Rafer Giles miss. Giles answered a Hughes 10-footer with a 3-point bomb.

After both teams missed easy baskets, Williams rebounded a Giles miss under the basket and laid the ball

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

Rutgers, 67-65

Rutgers (67) Hughes 8-18 5-6 22, Smith 1-2 1-2 3, Dabbs 5-13 2-3 12, Jones 3-5 0-0 6, Carter 3-6 1-2 8, Savage 1-2 0-0 2, Weiler 1-2 0-0 2, Drury 1-2 0-0 2, Lumpkin 4-7 0-0 10. Totals 27-57 9-13 67.
Massachusetts (65) Herndon 0-2 0-0 0, Barbee 9-14 7-9 27, Williams 7-14 1-4 15, McCoy 5-11 6-8 16, Brown 0-3 1-2 1, Giles 2-9 0-0 6, Tate 0-0 0-1 0. Totals 23-53 15-24 65.
Halftime Rutgers 33, UMass 32. Fouled out Hughes. Three-point goals Hughes, Carter, Lumpkin 2, Barbee 2, Giles 2. Rebounds Rutgers 39 (Hughes 11), UMass 29 (Williams 8). Assists Rutgers 12 (Carter 4), UMass 10 (Brown 4). Total fouls Rutgers 24 (Hughes 5), UMass 15 (Herndon, Brown 3). A: 4,051.

Minutewomen host Lowell tonight

By BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team has been experiencing the Chicago Bulls syndrome. The Minutewomen are led by their own Michael Jordan — Keyburn McCusker — who is averaging 23.2 points and 7.4 rebounds per game this season and accounted for 48.5 percent of the team's total points last week.

Nonetheless, one exceptional player doesn't necessarily lead to wins. Such is the case with the Minutewomen as they have dropped their first five games this season.

Collegian file photo

Sophomore forward Lisa Ireland (shown here) and senior center Keyburn McCusker marshall the Minutewomen's offense against Lowell tonight in the Cage. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

When they travel to Hartford tonight at 7:30 p.m. their main goal will be to look for a more balanced scoring attack according to head coach Kathy Hewelt who cited the Jordan comparison.

"Our biggest problem is that the kids on our perimeter are only shooting about 24 percent from the floor," she said. "We're struggling to get offensive production and balance."

The Minutewomen offense has adjusted in order to free the perimeter people up for the open shot but it's just a matter of the young players making the shot.

Trish Hessel, 5-foot-7 freshman guard, has provided the majority of the outside game and is averaging 8.4 points per game. Hessel also leads the team from three-point range where she is 5 for 8. Past Hessel, the Minutewomen have been relatively inconsistent. Hewelt has been rotating her guards and is looking for one to step up as an outside threat.

"We're getting the open shots," Hewelt said. "It's just a matter of us gaining the experience of being able to knock those jumpers down under the mental pressure we put upon ourselves."

Unlike UMass, Hartford doesn't have one dominant player. The Lady Hawks look to 5-foot-11 sophomore forward Lana Thomas and 6-foot-1 sophomore center Mary Jane Besselink for their scoring. Both Thomas and Besselink are averaging 10.5 points per game. Lisa Smith, 5-foot-4 junior guard, who is 4 for 11 from three-point range, is averaging 6.7 points per game.

"We need to have 4, 5 or 6 players playing well for us to play well," said first year head coach Mark Schmidt.

The Lady Hawks (2-4) are coming off an "extremely poor" performance against St. Peter's, according to Schmidt, in which they lost by 17. He said they will look to pressure the ball and score off their aggressive defense.

"It's very hard to play at Hartford," Hewelt said. "They're really aggressive, especially with the home court advantage."

Hewelt also hopes that a balanced scoring attack will lead to less turnovers. For the season, the Minutewomen have 126 turnovers to their opponents 84.

"We've got to make sure we click on both offense and defense and make it difficult for them to get into their offense," Hewelt said.

Game Notes Keyburn McCusker, who averaged 27 points and 7.3 rebounds per game in three games last week, was voted Atlantic 10 and Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Player-of-the-Week. For the season, McCusker leads the Atlantic 10 in scoring and is sixth in blocks (2 per game) and 12th in rebounding (7.4 per game).

Six-foot Lisa Ireland, who scored 14 points on Saturday in the Princeton tournament is still suffering from pain in her leg but will be available to play.

Scanning, picking upcoming games

"When you're in the saddle all day, you need something to do with your mouth besides sing 'Yippee eye oh ki yea.' That's why so many cowboys chew tobacco or puff roll-yer-owns."
— Tom Robbins from Even Cowgirls Get The Blues

The Ol' West. You come a mosey-ing into town with your six shooter a blazin', blowin' away the locals, and scaring up some grub. All you needed back then was a trusty horse and the love of a good woman. The sport: survival.

Well, sports fans and those who are just bored enough to read this, it's been a while since I've spewed out some all unimportant facts and opinions. I know you were worried but, you can stop, the PVTA just nicked me.

The Patriots, the Pats, the losers of yet another battle. This time they fell to the Steelers, which for me, is a good thing. No, a great thing. The Steel Shower Curtain is once again tied for the Central AFC Division lead. If they can only win their next three games.

Dave Szpila

Remember to watch your set this coming Saturday, as NFL action between the Bills and Giants, and the Redskins and Patriots (wait a minute, these guys are going to be on national TV?) will be coming your way. The first game should be sick but as for the second, go to a bar and forget the whole thing. 'Nuff said about 'oblong ball.'

The Trailblazers are hot, but they are playing some really weak teams, and with Indiana and Sacramento coming up this week, Portland should continue the run. Maybe they would be better challenged by the CBA boys. Yeah, I'm sure they would.

The Celtics on the other palm and digits, are facing a rough end of the week schedule. They beat Houston on Monday, and now have to face Milwaukee tonight, the team from hell (Fred Roberts . . . How?), and Detroit on Friday. 'V's' in these two games will give the Celts a most serious lift and convince me that I should be shot for any earlier cracks. Well, not shot, maybe drawn and quartered.

The rumor out of Lyon, France is that violence broke out during the world chess championship match between Anatoly Karpov and Garry Kasparov. Apparently Karpov, after making a brilliant Pincer move for a check, began to cheer and ran around the room giving out high fives to the French onlookers. Kasparov, the defending champion, took this rather seriously and threw a Knight at Karpov that landed in his eye. After emergency surgery to remove the piece from the socket, Karpov requested the match be postponed for two days. Kasparov agreed and is currently under sedation. Kasparov is currently leading the match 9.5-8.5.

Agassi has a pulled stomach muscle. Sure. He didn't want to play in the greed fest, the Grand Slam Cup, and he resorts to this. Suck it up, man. If you agree to play, then you should play. There is no room in the big scheme of things with all creatures great and small for, what's that word for cats again? I think it begins with a 'p.'

Hey, well that's all the time and space I have for now. Don't forget to catch as catch can and don't leave your house without proper protection. The demons are among us and they are not happy about the way things have been going lately. Sports is sports and that's all they is. Adios, y'all.

Dave Szpila is a* Collegian *staff member

THURSDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY THURSDAY DECEMBER 13, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 68

Amtrak/MBTA train crash injures 168 people

BOSTON (AP) — An overnight Amtrak train from Washington derailed and slammed into the rear of a rush-hour commuter train in an underground city station yesterday morning, injuring 168 passengers, officials said.

"The doors all flew open. Some windows shattered. People were all over the floor, screaming, crying," said a woman passenger from Stoughton, who likened her commuter train to a "twisted tin can."

A spokeswoman for the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority said the passengers had suffered injuries ranging from cuts and bruises to broken bones. The engineer of the Amtrak train was reported to have been critically injured.

Several people also suffered smoke inhalation from the crash, the impact of which "threw the trains in the air," and caused 1,500 gallons of diesel fuel to spill and then ignite, said John Harrison, acting commissioner of the Boston Fire Department.

The commuter train, which originated in Stoughton, south of Boston, was hit from behind by the Amtrak Night Owl out of Washington at around 8:30 a.m. at a station in the Back Bay section of the city, said Nancy Sterling Gleason, a spokeswoman for the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority.

The cause of the wreck was being investigated.

The front end of one of the trains was reported to be split open and rescuers used hydraulic tools to get their way into the cars.

Cliffard Black, a spokesman for Amtrak in Washington, said the Night Owl, which left Washington at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, apparently "derailed on a curve and went into the side of the MBTA train on an adjacent track." He said both trains were travelling in the same direction. Black said it was unnclear what caused the train to derail. Federal inspectors were duue in Boston later yesterday.

Two passenger cars and two baggage cars on the Night Owl derailed and smashed into the parked train with enough force to push two of the commuter cars onto the next track, said Brent Bahler, a spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board.

Harrison said the trains collided in the station directly under Dartmouth Street with such force that the roadway buckled.

A shopkeeper inside the station said the shelves in his store trembled and ceiling tiles fell.

"My first reaction was to cover my cup of soffee," said Jeanne Marie Hardin. "and then somebody poked their head in the store and said 'Call an ambulance.'"

The station filled with smoke after the crash.

Eyewitnesses said many passengers, dazed and covered with soot, wandered out of the station, some crying, many assisted by emergency personnel.

One elderly woman, her face black with soot and wearing no shoes, asked police: "Where's my luggage? Where's my shoes?"

AP photo

BOSTON — Passengers involved in yesterday's train collision between a Massachusetts train and an Amtrak train take oxygen.

Threats fly over verdicts

Two teenagers convicted of Central Park rape

NEW YORK (AP) — Courtroom spectators screamed threats at the judge, prosecutor and jurors when two more defendents were convicted in the attack on a jogger who was gang-raped and beaten nearly to death in Central Park.

Kevin Richardson, 16, on Tuesday became the first of five people convicted in the April 1989 attack to be found guilty of attempted murder. He also was convicted of rape, sodomy, robbery, assault and riot.

Kharey Wise, 18, was cleared of the more serious charges but found guilty of assault, sexual abuse and riot. One juror said physical evidence, like that against Richardson, was lacking in Wise's case.

The verdicts came after 12 days of deliberations in the case, which rested chiefly on videotaped statements the defendants made to police. The defense had argued that the teenagers were intimidated and told what to say by police.

Family members and other supporters erupted when the verdicts against Richardson were read, jumping to their feet, yelling threats and waving fists.

Some yelled "white justice" or "white racist" and accused the judge and prosecutor of railroading Wise and Richardson, who are black. The victim is white.

Richardson's mother, Grace Cuffey, fainted in the pandemonium, and the court was cleared so emergency workers could administer oxygen.

Assistant District Attorney Elizabeth Lederer, who won convictions against three other defendants in an earlier trial stemming from the attack, was escorted from court by police.

The case symbolized rising fears of random violence in New York City and brought the term "wilding" into the city's mainstream vocabulary. Wilding is a street term for indiscriminate rampages of violence and robberies.

Critics in the black community said the case received wide attention only because the victim, an investment banker, was white and affluent.

GSS pulls out of BOG

By CHRIS MUTHER
and TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Graduate Student Senate is withdrawing its representatives and funding from the Board of Governors in a protest against the removal of the two LBGA appointed seats last Thursday, according to the president of the GSS.

"We've always had a problem with the BOG," Pierre Laliberte, president of Graduate Student Senate, explained. "Some of our issues with them go back two or three years."

Governor Guy Glodis said the Graduate Student Senate is not representing their constituents by pulling out of the BOG.

"By simply walking out, it creates more divisions in the BOG," Glodis said. "It is a blatent negligence of their duties to pull out, they are only interested in radical issues."

Glodis said the GSS has simply pulled out because they lost a vote.

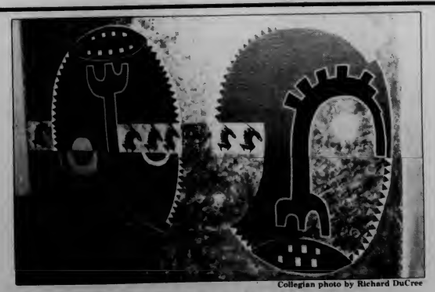
"They're a disgrace to graduate students, I'm appalled by their actions," he said.

Laliberte said the BOG and GSS negotiated a new fiscal agreement last year, but due to discrepancies between the version of the agreement ratified by GSS and the version ratified by the BOG, GSS had suspended its $8,000 BOG allocation "while we worked out our problems," Laliberte said.

"But at this point, because of the way the board has been going, we've decided to suspend the funds indefinitely," he said.

"We are basically appalled at the dissolution of those two seats," Laliberte said. "I think it's pretty inconceivable that people who go to college couldn't have the emotional maturity to deal well with gender and sexuality issues."

GSS is also pulling its representatives off of BOG, Lalibete explained. "We've had a hard time finding graduate students willing to fill those seats because the BOG is such a circus. We're all pretty disgusted with the internal politics on the board."



Collegian photo by Richard DuCree

Afro-American Art on display in New Africa House.

Voters back independents

New England election results marks change

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

The results of the November 1990 elections marked increasing support for independent parties because of public dissatisfaction with the Democrats and Republicans in New England, according to a local political activist.

The Rainbow Lobby, an independent party which co-sponsored the passage of ballot question four, calls the recent electoral surge towards independent parties "the American Electoral Revolution."

The passage of ballot question four will be used by the lobby as evidence of public support for national legislation to eliminate restrictive ballot access laws and establish uniform signature requirements for independents running for federal offices.

Kate Gardner, the regional coordinator for the lobby, said the sentiments against the majority parties have existed for some time, and people had expressed their dissatisfaction by not voting.

Now, rather than not participating in the political process, more people are registered as independent and are looking to minority parties as alternative choices.

"This past election was not a fluke, it is a trend," she said.

She said both the Democrats and Republicans have not been able to produce candidates which appeal to the progressive

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

COME CLEAN WITH US!

Campus Coin Op
107 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

SPEEDWASH
11 Pray St., Amherst
NOW OPEN 24 HOURS!

South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst
Open 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

SUBWAY

Buy One Regular Foot Long Get One Regular Foot Long FREE with purchase of a soda

Redeem this coupon at your nearest SUBWAY

Open late every night
Subway of Hadley
103 Russell St (Rt 9)
Hadley
(413)584-6695

Subway of Northampton
90 King St
Northampton
(413)586-0579

IT TAKES MONEY TO MAKE MONEY!
NATIONAL EDUCATION SERVICES
can help you find the money for the higher education that will assure you a rewarding future.
More than $4,000,000,000 in financial assistance is available to students annually.
NATIONAL EDUCATION SERVICES
can find six to 25 sources of financial assistance appropriate for you.
A new, computerized service, NATIONAL EDUCATION SERVICES has researched thousands of sources of financial aid, and fed the results of that research into its vast data banks.
When you complete a detailed NATIONAL EDUCATION SERVICES Dataform, the programmed computer gets to work selecting the sources of assistance just right for you.
Processing fee is only $59.00. Results are guaranteed.
NATIONAL EDUCATION SERVICES
the service you can't afford not to use.
For free and complete information, fill out and mail the coupon below.
Please Send Free Information
Name of Student
Address
City State Zip
Telephone Number ( )
High School Attending
Year in School
Please send this coupon to:
National Education Services
P.O. Box 4823
Springfield, MA 01101-4823
(413) 747-6622

Precious Illusions
Great Holiday Sale!
25-50% OFF
Selected lines of jewelry, pewter and crystal collectibles
See our new lines of 14 Kt Gold and Sterling
Sale Ends Dec 16
Mt. Sugarloaf Shoppes
Rts 5 & 10
665-7433

Spirit Haus Liquor Store
Beck's Beer 12 pk 12 oz bots $8.99
Bacardi Rum 1 L Silver or Amber $8.99
Frangelico Hazelnut Liquer 750 ml $14.69
Southern Comfort 750 ml $7.99
Koch's Golden Anniversary Beer cse 16 oz bots $8.99
Samuel Smith's Pale Ale, Nut Brown Ale, Taddy Porter, Oatmeal Stout six pk $8.69
Samuel Adams Boston Lager cse 12 oz bots $17.99
Michelob Dry 24 12 oz cans $11.79
Purple Passion 2.0 $3.99
338 College St., Rt. 9, Amherst, 253-5384

Preliminary Announcement
Undergraduate Commencement
Bachelor's Degree Candidates

Congratulations to the graduating seniors. Here's an announcement you've been waiting for!

The Commencement ceremony for Bachelor's Degree candidates will be on Sunday, May 26, 1991, 10:30am, at the Warren P. McGuirk Alumni Stadium, rain or shine.

Undergraduates who will complete their degree requirements in February 1991, and those who anticipate completing them by May or September, 1991 are eligible to participate in the ceremony.

If you are unsure of your academic status or have questions in this regard, please contact a member of the "Senior Staff", Records Office, 207 Whitmore.

Further details will be provided in a brochure to be mailed in March which will include, among other things, information about:

Caps, gowns, tassels, and invitations
Disability services
Parking and shuttle services
Routes to campus
Seating for graduates
Seating for guests (tickets are not required)
Where to assemble on Commencement Day (there is no rehearsal beforehand)

Inasmuch as there are three area college Commencements occurring on May 26, reservations for hotel/motel and restaurant reservations should be made forthwith.

Student Affairs Special Services
236 Whitmore

HO! HO! HO!
D.P. DOUGH
DELIVERS CALZONES
$1.00 OFF
2 Calzones
exp 1/21/91 • one coupon per 2 Calzones • Delivery Only

1. Cheese
2. Veggie
3. Sausage
4. Pepperoni
5. Steak
6. Spinach
7. Southern
8. Ham
9. Chicken
10. Combo
11. Eggplant
12. Meatball

One Calzone delivered.....$3.81
Two Calzones delivered.....$7.20
Each Additional Calzone.....$3.60
(.05 Mass Sales Tax)

256-1616

LOCAL

Photo courtesy of Michael Zide

Susan Fiske, professor of social psychology

Professor informs High Court

By SARAH DEMASTER
Collegian Staff

When Anne Hopkins sued Price Waterhouse in 1982 for sex discrimination, she was seeking a partnership.

Eight years later, after a trial and three appeals, Hopkins has been awarded a partnership, $371,000 in back pay, and participation in a legal precedent — the first time social psychology has been used to prove stereotyping in a sex discrimination case.

While social psychology has been used as evidence in race discrimination cases as early as 1954, in Brown versus Board of Education, previous sex discrimination cases have used the statistical approach, according to Susan Fiske, the expert witness in the Hopkins case.

Fiske, a professor of social pyschology at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, has been researching stereotyping for the past eight years. She was asked to testify by Sally Burns, currently an attorney with the National Organization for Women Legal Defense Fund.

"There are general stereotypes of what people particularly expect men to be like and typically expect women to be like. People typically expect women to be strong on the social dimensions. Women are generally expected to be more tender and understanding and concerned about other people, and soft," said Fiske, according to a written record of her testimony.

She further testified, ". . . If a woman behaves in a way that is, in quotes, masculine, if she behaves in a competitive, ambitious, aggressive, independent and active way, that the research shows that she is often likely to be perceived as being . . . unfeminine on the social dimension, as being not especially understanding, not especially concerned with other people and so on."

She concluded that it was stereotypes such as these which influenced Price Waterhouse's decision to not promote her.

Fiske's research began in 1978 at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Penn., where Fiske taught social psychology until December 1986. Over the years, she has developed theories about stereotyping along with five other social psychologists: Steve Neuberg, Mark Pavelchak, Janet Ruscher, Tony Riley, and Bob Schatz.

Fiske wrote in a speech she delivered last August at the American Psychological Association Convention in New Orleans, La. that, "Stereoptyping can be importantly understood as a failure to get people to pay attention to each other. It follows from this that undercutting stereotypes requires getting people to attend to the other person's evident attributes as given.

"Stereotyping today is more subtle than a simple judgment of another person as inferior because of being Black, hispanic, gay, female, disabled, old, or any other kind of 'x'," she wrote. "These are simple category-based judgments, which certainly do occur frequently. Just as frequently, I would argue, stereotyping, prejudice, and discrimination result from someone who fits a particular version of an 'x.'"

Fiske and graduate students at UMass last year conducted a study in which subjects' reactions to new people were tested. The test subjects were invited to the laboratory to work with another subject. Before they met the new subject, the test subjects were given either positive or negative stereoptypes about the new subject.

It was evidence from this type of research which Hopkins' attorneys defended in 1988 when Price Waterhouse appealed the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, after losing an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Fiske, who sat in the courtroom while the Supreme Court justices reviewed a written record of her testimony in the original trial and questioned attorneys from both parties, said the event was "exciting.

"They came across as skeptical of both sides — they're pretty tough," she said. "It was a thrill to hear my name called in the Supreme Court, and to have my testimony referred to as 'icing on the cake.'"

History Dept. expands

Central Asian Research Assoc. joins UMass

The Association for the Advancement of Central Asian Research, Inc. has recently found a new home in the University of Massachusetts history department, according to a UMass professor.

Founded in 1988, the AACAR encourages dialogue among Central Asian scholars, according to University history professor and treasurer of AACAR, Audrey Altstadt.

Altstadt notes that Central Asia has played a major role in European politics for nearly 200 years, but the United States is really "just beginning to discover the area." Already the association receives many requests for information from all kinds of groups, including business and travel organization, she said.

AACAR's main function, she said, is "to act as an information clearinghouse for scholars and persons who do research in Central Asia [regions south of Siberia and north of the Hinu-Kush mountains]."

A biannual bulletin also reaches scholars at about a dozen institutional research centers in the United States and over 1,500 individuals in 40 countries. The bulletin also contains news of upcoming academic conferences and book reviews of Central Asian history, arts, and culture, she said.

Ethnic scholars, especially from the Dazak, Uzbek and Tatar Soviet Republica, are also in touch with the AACAR and have contributed articles to the bulletin. Their loud criticisms of Moscow, reported recently in the Western press, actually go back more than a decade, she said.

These non-Russians inside the Soviet system write boldly in their active languages of the need to learn what they see as Moscow's colonial policy, she said. Besides their concern for autonomy and a better domestic balance of trade, they are also troubled about the environment.

— STEPHEN R. DAMIANI

Union: Don't buy Chinese

Students and consumers everywhere should be careful what gifts they buy for kids this year, because toys made in China are products of other young children who work long hours for very little money, according to an AFL-CIO representative.

The American Federation of Labor-Congress of International Labor and its youth organization, called "Frontlash," urges shoppers to check the boxes of toy products before purchasing them to determine if they have been made in China. If they have been, the AFL-CIO asks that consumers refuse to buy them.

A representative of Frontlash, Paula Blanchard, said many toy companies in China hire children because they are willing to work for much less than adults.

These children are often 16-years-old or younger, work 12 hours a day, seven days a week, and two times every month. They must also often work for 24 consecutive hours, she said. They earn between $10 to $31 dollars per month and are denied the opportunity to go to school or play like other children their age.

The AFL-CIO is one of a federation of labor unions, Blanchard said, and is one of the most powerful in the world. It is a non-partisan organization that advocates workers' rights, educates people in unions and disseminates information abut human rights violations around the world, she added.

One of Frontlash's main concerns is the exploitation of child labor, Blanchard said, and China has a history of child labor exploitation and infringement upon workers' rights.

For more information, write Frontlash, 815 16th St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20006, or call 1-800-833-3250.

— STEPHEN R. DAMIANI

'Fourth World' fights poverty

Poverty can be eliminated through education, according to the directors of the "Fourth World" movement.

Speaking at Hampshire College last week, Vincent Fanelli and Fanchette Clement-Fanelli, husband and wife co-directors of the United States branch of the Fourth World Movement, told of their experiences fighting to help the poor through education.

"I first met a Fourth World volunteer team on the Lower East Side of Manhattan in 1972," said Fanelli, who has been a full-time volunteer member since 1973. "It had been founded in 1956 in an emergency housing camp outside of Paris, by Joseph Wresinski, a Catholic priest."

Wresinski died in 1988, several months after presenting a proposal in February 1987 to the French Economic and Social Council on how to eliminate persistent poverty.

The Wresinski Report led to legislation, by the French government, of a guaranteed minimum income and has attracted the interest of several other national governments.

The Fourth World Movement, staffed through long-term, full-time volunteers who come from all ages and backgrounds, sends its volunteers into poor communities to live and work with disadvantaged families. They currently reach over 20 countries on four continents.

— ALEX DERING

Phon-a-thon gets $145,676

This year marked the sixth year of the Newman Center Phon-a-thon, headed by Father Quigley, Judy Smith, and the Newman Center Staff, along with 450 volunteers.

Over 95 percent of the callers were students, who took time out form their hectic schedule of classes and mid-term examinations to help the Center.

The callers made over 15,000 calls and received 4,810 pledges totalling $145,676. The UMass Greek community also participated, raising almost 50 percent of the total money raised in the phone-a-thon.

There were prizes for different accomplishemnts in the phone-a-thon. The fraternity/sorority raising the most money was Sigma Phi Epsilon, who raised $21,509. Rob Ross, who captained the winning efforts of Sigma Phi Epsilon said their prize money would be used to establish a scholarship fund.

—KATHY LEWIECKI

Toys for Tots campaign earns money for poor kids

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

On Monday and Tuesday, UMass ROTC cadets put on their sixth annual Toys for Tots campaign, which, according to Cadet Kim Stewart, raised about $1,472 for disadvantaged children. Last year's campaign yielded about $1,000.

Stewart said she was "pretty shocked" at the success of the campaign, especially since it did not last as long as last year's effort.

"We brought in more money in two days than we did in five days last year," she said. "We were overwhelmed with the participation of the campus."

Stewart also said many people supported the cause, although there were a few students who refused to contribute because the cadets were in uniform while raising funds.

Earlier, the Marketing Club held a "Giving Tree" fundraiser, in which, according to club President Ron Gendron, participants would sponsor a light or an ornament for a tree to be placed at Haigis Mall. Gendron said the group raised about $400 for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

He said the group's choice of the society for fundraising was appropriate, since the winter holidays are generally geared for children.

"People really feel good about the holidays when they see kids happy," Gendron said, "and we want to brighten a few kids' holidays."

Gendron also said the effort was successful because it raised people's awareness of child abuse and of the work of the MSPCC. "I found there was a lot of interest in the organization and how they can help out," he said.

Gendron said he found many students and area businesses could not contribute as much as he hoped this year because of financial problems. "People were just glad people were thinking of kids over the holidays," he said.

Stewart said, however, students were still able to help, despite the complaints about the economic crisis, thus bringing Toys for Tots to a new campus record in a short time. "I think that's a miracle," she said.

Gendron said the fundraising effort shows the local community students are willing to help and are "not just looking out for themselves."

election

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

voter. The progressive voter has been the force behind the surge of support for independent candidates.

In Massachusetts, she said voters had a choice between a liberal conservative, William Weld, and a conservative liberal, John Silber. Due to this lack of coherent choice between parties, she said a record number of Massachusetts voters registered as independent.

Also, ballot question number four, the citizen's initiative petition to loosen state regulations over ballot access which passed by a 52 percent majority, was also an indication that voters want alternatives, she said.

The bill had been tied up in a Congressional subcommittee for five years, she said.

She cited the victory of Lowell Weicker in the Connecticut gubernatorial race as another indication of changing voter sentiments in New England.

Weicker is a ex-Republican who created the more moderate 'Connecticut Party' which led to his significant win.

In Vermont, Bernard Sanders, a socialist who founded the Liberty Union Party of Vermont, won the only U.S. representative seat in the state.

Lucy Wyman, a Green Party candidate running as a Democrat for the state legislative in New Hampshire, won 46 percent of the vote.

"This indicates that the Democrats and Republicans no longer represent the interests of the majority of people," she said.

Great Gifts
Stocking Stuffers
Jewelry Natural Fiber Scarves
Blouses Skirts Dresses
Rings Socks Leather Sole Bracelets Mugs Earrings Chinese Shoes Sweaters Gloves Chains
Merry X'mas Cards Hawaii Posters Indonesian Prints Candles Candy Dresses India Print Toys
India Print Bedspreads Area Rugs Paper Lampshades Tins Baskets
Sale 20 to 50% off selected Clothing
9PM Nites N'hamp Dec. 4-22 Weeknights Amherst Dec.11-22
THE MERCANTILE Sun 12-5 Daily 10-6
Northampton-18 Center St. Amherst-Carriage Shops

IRELAND PUB TOURS
'Spring Break'
March 20-24
Full payment deadline Feb. 1
NEED A VACATION SPOT...
Imagine yourself in a land with more than 10,000 pubs to choose from set in a scenic landscape of rugged cliffs, beautiful bays and quaint villages for 5 days for only $599
West coast tour includes:
• AerLingus roundtrip flight from Boston
• First Class Hotels
• Trnsporation/guide throughout
• Sightseeing tours
• Breakfast and dinner
• Nightly entertainment and much more
Guarantee space with only $50 deposit
FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CALL
Rita k. Burke
549-1256
adventura travel
233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst Carriage Shops

WEDNESDAY NIGHT GRAPHICS STAFF RULES!

Gifts from 19¢ to 4.99
Find It at Faces
amherst · northampton
daily & sunday

COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley
NO FRIDAY SHOWS
Until January 25
Make reservations now
For Any Saturday
COME EARLY FOR DINNER...
It's hard to laugh with a mouthful of food!
Sat. Dec. 15 8:30 PM
From Boston
DAN MARGARITA
From NYC
Lori Shandel
Plus Special Guests
Reservations Suggested
NEW YEAR'S EVE
Special Year in Review
9 PM
Leo T. Baldwin
Chris O'Carroll
Izzy Gesell
$9 RESERVATIONS
All Comedy Info 585-8915
20% OFF DINNERS FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages - All Shows

FEDOR PONTIAC REWARDS
GRADUATING SENIORS
With 4 Ways to Save $$
1 Your $600 College Graduate Rebate combined with manufacture discounts save you up to $1,675 on '91 Grand Prix
$1,350 on '91 Firebird
$1,275 on '91 Sunbird
$1,225 on '91 GrandAm

2 NO Payments until March 1991!!
3 Generous Fedor Discounts
4 Financing as LOW as
7.9% Annual Percentage Rate for 48 months
Call Marty Fedor at 584-3544 for Details
FEDOR OLDSMOBILE PONTIAC
228 Northampton St. (Route 10 South at Academy of Music) 584-3544
Easthampton, MA

Amherst, Easthampton, Holyoke and Northampton Customers
Your neighbors aren't number one anymore, but 550 and 976 still are.
In a recent bill insert and newspaper ad we told you you didn't have to dial 1 + the number to reach certain neighboring exchanges. We incorrectly included two exchanges under Holyoke.
These exchanges—550 and 976—connect callers to group conversation and information program services. They can only be reached by dialing 1 + the seven digit telephone number. And be aware that charges apply in most cases to calls to these exchanges.
We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.
New England Telephone
A NYNEX Company

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

FOCUS

Gay life within University: students share perspectives

Editors note: The names in this article have been changed to protect the identities of those interviewed.

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

Gay students deal with many serious personal issues while in college. While the "average" heterosexual student worries about classes, grades, and money, for many lesbian, gay and bisexual students these issues are relatively minor.

Some are haunted with the fear that someone will find out that they are gay, while others live as openly gay students. But nearly all experience some anxiety about being gay on campus.

Carr is a 21-year-old gay senior who used to play football for the University of Massachusetts. Carr describes that experience as being "as scary as hell. I was leading a real double life. I would work out with the team and then go hang out with my queer friends."

Carr said he used to have nightmares about being found out by his teammates. "I used to dream I would be visiting a friend in Southwest and suddenly I would be surrounded by football players and they would beat the shit out of me."

Because he hurt his back during training Carr had to leave the team during his first year. In retrospect, Carr said he is glad that he left football. "Thank god I left when I did. It would have been hell to have gone through that for four years.

Carr says the football team was stereotypically homophobic. "The locker room scenes were just like the movies. Guys in the showers cracking fag jokes. I kept very much to myself back then, partly out of fear, and partly because we just didn't have anything in common."

Now, four years later, Carr says he is no longer afraid that any football players will see him at LBGA functions, but he still gets nervous when he's around a group of "big jocky guys."

"I can defend myself against one," Carr explained, "but I couldn't fight off a whole group."

Jim is an 18-year-old University freshman from a "traditional Irish-Catholic" family. Jim came to UMass hoping to find a strong gay community. He said his expectations were only partially fulfilled.

"The community here on campus is not quite as positive as I thought it would be. I came all eager — expecting to join the community and fight for gay rights," Jim explained, "but there's a great deal of separatism between the lesbians and gay men on campus, and the bisexuals get flack from everybody."

For Jim, the atmosphere at UMass has been fairly safe. "I haven't experienced any physical-gay bashing on this campus," he noted. But he does have to deal with homophobia.

"I've walked around on this campus holding hands and not had a problem. But I would not feel safe walking by the Republican Club door."

Jim, like many gay students on campus, is closeted from his parents. His biggest fear as an 'out,' politically active gay is that his parents will find out and take away their financial support for his education.

"When my parents came to pick me up for Thanksgiving I was terrified — before they arrived that morning I re-did my whole room." Jim said he took down "all the Mapplethorpe posters, my Rocky Horror posters, my ACT UP poster . . ."

Jim said he replaced all of his "gay" posters with posters from the "straight" world. "I put up posters of Madonna and cut out pictures of heterosexual couples from magazines and put them up. I also burned my HIV test results [they were negative] and a woman friend left a love note on my door for my dad to see."

"It takes a piece of me out of myself everytime I have to hide my lifestyle from my parents," Jim commented. "It furthers their bigotry, and it makes me so angry that I have to lie. It goes against everything I believe in, but I wouldn't be able to finish school if my father found out. He would definitely take away the money."

Eddy, another gay man at UMass, is a 19-year-old sophomore living with his lover in the dormitories. Unlike Jim, Eddy's parents have not refused to pay for his college, although they have expressed disapproval of his lifestyle. For Eddy, a major struggle is a desire to be openly gay versus his concern for safety.

"I feel sad that I can't touch my lover Pat in public," Eddy said. "I want to but he doesn't. He's afraid we may get hurt. I think there are safe places where I can be out here — unlike high school where there's no safe place to go."

But Eddy's lover Pat knows about gaybashing. One of his friends had a lover who was killed in a gaybashing incident. Because of this Pat said he is very cautious.

"I think being in a gay relationship on-campus is much different than being in a gay relationship off-campus. It's very protected here. But we have to try and not take it for granted," Pat explained. "We don't want to get in the habit of holding hands in public here and then accidentally hold hands where we shouldn't later on."

"Students are unlikely to carry guns, but in the real world an alley can be a very threatening place for us. I do worry about being gay-bashed," Pat continued. "This is a concern I try to teach Eddy and remind myself. Maybe I'm too cautious — but it would only take one time to wreck our lives."

Eddy and Pat have been in a relationship for over a year. Eddy feels that he and Pat serve as role models for many gays on campus.

"I've always wanted a relationship," Eddy explained, "I never saw myself as someone who dated around. I just wanted one person . . . I think a lot of gays admire us and I think that's nice."

Mary, a 19-year-old sophomore lesbian student at UMass, said she thinks UMass is a good place for lesbian feminists. "UMass is one of the better campuses to be on because there's a community of people here who are 'out' and supportive and there's also a strong feminist community — so it's a great place for lesbian feminists."

Her first night on campus as an incoming freshman was her first encounter with homophobia. "I overheard the guys in the room next door, they had gotten drunk and were talking about going out that night to 'beat up the new faggots on campus.' I decided real quick to get out of there. I moved out ten days later."

The LBGA support services and the weekly Lesbian Bisexual Womyn's Union meetings helped Mary become comfortable at UMass. "I came out two weeks before I left for college . . . I was really nervous. I finally went to my first LBWU meeting. I was scared that I wouldn't be accepted because I'd never been with a woman. I felt like maybe I wasn't really valid until I'd been in a relationship."

Mary said her fears were quickly alleviated after encountering people at the meeting and that she has really come to appreciate the LBGA. "The LBGA is a wonderful support service. It helps us connect with each other and it offers so much support."

Mary is concerned about "gay invisibility" on campus. "I hear comments from straight students like "gays shouldn't be so blatant," but to me, it's not blatant. I think we have a right to be as open as straight people."

Although Mary has found a supportive community of gays at UMass, she says the community is not without problems. "The thing that's most frustrating for me here at UMass in the gay community is a lot of the body image bullshit that goes on. I had this vision of this community when I came as being free of all the "isms"— especially body image stuff. It took me a long time to get comfortable with my size and get past the lookism here. It's just as present in this community as in the heterosexual community."

Kate, a 22-year-old lesbian senior at UMass, says she has had a very easy time coming out on campus. She attributes a large part of her happiness to the strong support she has gotten from her family.

"When I told my mother I was a lesbian she was delighted — she said she was so happy that I felt I could share something so intimate and personal with her," Kate recalled. "Later, she commented to me that since I've come out, she's watched me become happy."

Acknowledging that her ease in coming out is rare among gays, Kate said she believed the UMass campus and the surrounding area is a "pretty good place to come out . . . The surrounding community is definitely very supportive of lesbians."

Although Kate says she is comfortable being out at UMass, she does confess that there are places on campus she avoids. "I do get scared walking through Southwest. I mean, there are places here on campus where I do go and places that I don't. But I think I'm less paranoid than most because of the strong positive response I've gotten from my parents."

Annie is a 19-year-old sophomore who came out as a bisexual last October on campus. Annie also received strong support from both her parents, whom, she noted, are strong supporters of NOW and gay allies, "were probably very relieved that I am not heterosexual."

Being a bisexual poses special challenges, Annie noted. "People kind of assume that if you're bi it increases your chances of having a lover, and that's just not true. People think bi's are sleeping around with everyone and yet, for most of the bi's I know this really isn't true at all."

Bisexual students have difficulty being accepted by members of the gay and straight community, Annie observed. "Awareness really needs to be changed on this campus. There are a lot of bisexuals here, and it's really an up-and-coming issue, but it hasn't been flushed out yet. We need to do a lot of community-building for bisexuals here at UMass."

Susie a 21-year-old senior from India who just came out as bisexual in November. Although friends on campus have been supportive, Susie is afraid to tell her parents

CONTINUED ON PAGE 14

Collegian photo by Tom Sandys

Two men kissing in the Republican Club office during Monday's Queer Nation "kiss-in"

Collegian photo by Trystan Skeigh

Two women walking together by the Student Union

Programming decreases homophobia

By TRYSTAN SKEIGH
Collegian Staff

After a series of "disturbing" homophobic events in the fall of 1984, a report was issued by the administration the following year that detailed some of the most "highly visible and potentially violent events" that had occurred.

The report also made 15 strong recommendations for improvements in campus services for gay, lesbian and bisexual students.

Six years later, a number of changes have been made, but there is "still a problem," according to an employee of the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns.

The report, issued by the Office of the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, "The Consequences of Being Gay: A Report on the Quality of Life for Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Students at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst," was compiled by Felice Yeskel, who is currently the Director of the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Affairs.

The first event described was the decision of the Student Government Association in the Fall of 1984 to "renege on funding for gay/lesbian programming and entertaining a motion to ban future funding for any student

CONTINUED ON PAGE 7

COLLEGIAN STAFF FALL 1990

GRAPHICS

Terry Starmer
Nicole Dumas
Rick Seto
Doug Johnston
Mike Carvalho
Seth Kaye
Joanne Quimby
Sue Kent
Beth Clark
Danielle Dowling
Kim Frisino
Jennifer Arnold
Margaret Trudell
Bill Connor
Steve Paris
Jen Fatkin
Tracey Richman
Sharon Frost
Andre Busi
Jason Torla
Lynn Kilroy
Tania Ivany
Jody Trotman
Mark Sturm
Jenna Dye

Chris Demers
Julie Livingstone
Rory Rae Evans
Chrissy Girone
Susan Curry
Karen Klaiber
Karen Willworth
Sarah Smith
Jennie Neal
Jennifer Burns
Bryan Long
Brooke Burton
Penny von Kummer

NEWS

Meredith O'Brien
Sarah DeMaster
Jeremy Levinson
Chris Muther
Jody Gabin
Rich DuCree
Dawn Pierce
Minu Sebastian
Adrienne Matt
Sam Silverstein
Alex Nguyen

Pratip Dastidar
Ali Woolwich
Gayle Long
Kendra Pratt
Trystan Skeigh
Lavinia Gammon
Mark Hensley
Mark Elliot
Peter Hering
Tamara Silberman
Alex Dering
Kelly Congdon
Amy Henry
Preston Forman
Adam Stein
Reggie Santiago
Pam McCarthy
Mark Adler
Al Arpad
Bill Rosenblatt
George Lentz
Leah Ariniello
Paul DeGeorges
Lisa Curtis
Danielle Dowling
K.A. Burke
Carrie Wyeth

Dondi Ahearn
Toni Sandys
Aaron Webster
Tom Burke
Heather Norfleet
Alexandra Rizzo
Susan Cornelliussen
Jeff Holland
Eric Goldman
Tamir Lipton
Greg Sukiennik
Dan Wetzel
Brett Morris
Dave Szpila
Lior Ben-Aharon
Chris Miracle
Ken McGuire
Joe DeGloria
Keith Bennett

BUSINESS

Susan George
David Melnick
Andrea Poplstein
Rose Mendonca
Amy Kahn

Julie Goldstein
Chris Hugus
Jean Kelley
Marta Luciano
Lori Black
Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Marc Pruskin
Theresa Eastmond
Jay Yampolsky
Dena Haselkom
Pat Roblee
Shari Young
Sharon Lesser
Judy Lombardi
Randee Pastel
Jim Winterbottom
Julie Peters
Pete Kreymer
Lara Dmythyshyn
Pete Kasperowicz
Susan Kent
Kathy Lewiecki
Jeff Weiner
Beth Patterson
Lower Amarello

■ decreasing homophobia

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

group which focused on sexual preference." This action "set the tone" for the semester, the report noted.

In December of that same year, the report continued, students "organized a "heterosexuals fight back" march and rally, put up posters saying, "Finals week is Hang a Homo Week," and distributed flyers announcing "GAY BUSTERS — We're coming next semester and we're going to kick some . . ."

The report also includes a protest staged by over 200 gay, lesbian, and bisexual students and other concerned members of the University community in front of Whitmore in response to these events. The group presented the administration with a list of nine demands for change.

The creation of the report in 1985 was in response to some of those demands. Among other things, the report includes a survey of UMass students and a specific survey of lesbian, gay, and bisexual students.

A 1984 Pulse campus survey revealed that 30 percent of lesbian, gay and bisexual students reported that "they had been verbally harassed or threatened over the phone. About 44.6 percent reported that "they have been the victims of verbal threats or harassment on the UMass campus." The report noted that only 19.2 percent of the "general student population" experienced this kind of abuse.

About 21.1 percent of the lesbian, gay and bisexual students reported that they have been "the victims of physical confrontation or assault." This was in contrast to 5 percent of the general population who experienced violence.

The report also included a comprehensive survey about gay, lesbian and bisexual students' views about the adequacy of campus services in meeting their needs.

Except for the Everywomen's Center, Health Services, and the Lesbian and Gay Awareness Trainer, which has since been replaced by the Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns, in 1984 a clear majority of lesbian, bisexual and gay students were dissatisfied with on-campus services.

The on-campus services said to be lacking included: Campus Police [80 percent felt they were not adequate in meeting their needs], the Dean of Students Office [75 percent], Student Government Association [73 percent], Legal Services Office [66.7 percent], The Collegian [63.4 percent], Graduate Student Senate [63.1 percent], and many other programs.

Since 1985 a number of the issues raised in the report have been dealt with, according to Eileen Stewart, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs.

The report made 15 specific recommendations to the administration and of those, Stewart was able to identify steps that have been taken in regards to all but one suggestion, which was a call for the creation of a visiting faculty position to address gay, lesbian and bisexual issues. Some of the changes that have occurred since the publication of the 1985 report include the creation of the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns, which studies and compiles reports on homophobic incidents on campus, provides programming, and makes recommendations to the administration on how to lessen homophobic attitudes among students, faculty and staff.

The report recommended that the Collegian "ensure regular coverage of issues about and concerns of lesbians, gays, and bisexuals." A year ago an editor's post was created on the Collegian for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Issues, Stewart noted.

The report also called for staff training and workshops, which Stewart said now occur as part of staff development workshops. The report also discussed housing needs, and the Assistant Dean pointed out that Housing Services now provides a Diversity floor.

Services for the gay, lesbian and bisexual population have definitely improved over the past five years, although homophobia is still a problem, according to Chris Macek, a Teaching Assistant with the Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns.

"There is definitely still tension on campus," Macek said. "Sometimes walking around Southwest, I hear shouts of 'faggot.' It makes me flinch."

"But as far as resources, programming and goals within the administration there's definitely been marked improvement," Macek said.

"The development of this program has sent a strong message to the University community from the administration that we welcome and demand civility toward the gay, lesbian, and bisexual community on this campus," Macek said.

Faulty condoms called back

Gretchen Krull, coordinator of the Peer Sexuality Education Program at University Health Services announced that some condoms distributed by the program have been recalled by the manufacturer.

The Saftex Corporation of Colonial Heights Virginia announced November 1, according to a Health Services memo, a voluntary recall of some lots of condoms that may have exceeded the 4 per 1000 pinhole rate allowed by the FDA.

The brands recalled included:

- Saxon Spermicidal
- Saxon Wet Lube
- Embrace
- Gold Circle Coin condoms

The release stated that the recalled condoms contain any of the following letter/number sequences: D9, E9, F9, G9, H9, I9, J9, K9, L9, A0, B0, C0, D0, E0 or F0.

The release states the recall is voluntary and not mandated by the FDA.

For more information on the condom recall, call the Peer Sexuality Education Program Coordinator at the UMass Health Services at 549-2671, ext. 181. For more information on the proper use of condoms call the Peer Sexuality Education Program.

If you have bought any of the condoms which are affected by the recall at the Health Services Pharmacy, you can return them there for a free replacement.

THEY'RE OUT TO GET YOU!
Your abnormalcy is the key to a brighter future of sex, slack, bucks and "Bob".
Get the edge on the Conspiracy.
WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

Stock Up On Your Savings & Holiday Spirits at Liquors 44!!
BEER WINE LIQUORS
Prices do not include deposit

BUD LIGHT 24-12 oz. suitcase cans $11.79 + DEP
ROLLING ROCK case of 24 12 oz. bar bottles $10.49 + DEP
ST. PAULI GIRL case of 24-12 oz. bottles $16.99 + DEP
BECK'S BEER case of 24-12 oz. cans $12.99 + DEP
COORS, COORS LIGHT & COORS GOLD case of 24 12 oz. bottles $10.49 + DEP
O'KEEFE BEER case of 24 12 oz. bottles $10.99 + DEP
FALSTAFF & FALSTAFF LIGHT $7.49 + DEP case of 24 12 oz. cans
COKE CLASSIC & DIET COKE $5.99 + DEP case of 24-12 oz. cans

BERINGER WHITE ZINFANDEL $3.99 750 ML
BALLATORE GRAN SPUMANTE $3.99 750 ML
ALMADEN BAG-IN-A-BOX SALE $5.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $1.00 $4.49 4.0 L AFTER REBATE
CHABLIS, GOLDEN CHABLIS, FRENCH COLUMBARD, CHENIN BLANC, RIESLING, BURGUNDY, RHINE, VIN ROSE, BLUSH CHABLIS
August Sebastiani PROPRIETER WINES
WHITE, BLUSH, RED, CHENIN, FRENCH COLUMBARD, WHITE GRENACHE WHITE BEAUJOLAIS, GAMAY BEAUJOLAIS WHITE ZINFANDEL $4.49 1.5L
COLUMBIA CREST SEMILLON/CHARDONNAY $3.99 750ML
FREIXENET CORDON NEGRO BRUT $5.99 750ML
MANISCHEWITZ KOSHER WINE CONCORD, BLACKBERRY CHERRY $4.99 1.5L
POLAR SODA MIXERS ALL FLAVORS 59¢ + DEP 10 L

TANQUERAY GIN $21.99 1.75 L
THE FAMOUS GROUSE SCOTCH $24.99 1.75 L
CHIVAS REGAL SCOTCH GIFT TIN $14.99 750 ML
POPOV VODKA SALE $9.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $2.00 $7.99 1.75 L AFTER REBATE
Amaretto di Saronno ROSE BOX $12.99 750 ML
FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED WHISKEY SALE $11.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $4.00 $7.99 1.75 L AFTER REBATE
FRANGELICO HAZELNUT LIQUER $12.99 750 ML
Canadian Club SALE $16.99 MAIL-IN REBATE $4.00 $12.99 1.75 L AFTER REBATE

not responsible for typographical errors
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
LIQUORS 44
HADLEY Campus Plaza/Route 9 253-9344
TWO LOCATIONS
HOLYOKE 30 Lincoln St. 534-4555
SALE PRICES THURS 12/13/90 THRU WED 12/19/90
VISA MasterCard TeleCheck

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW
MT. FARMS 6 MT FARMS MALL 584-9153
DANCES WITH WOLVES KEVIN COSTNER
GHOST
A Masterful Thriller MISERY
Robert Redford in Havana
HAMPSHIRE 5 584-7550
Kristie Alley Look Who's Talking Too
THE ROOKIE
Sylvester Stallone ROCKY V
HOME ALONE
Three Men and a Little Lady
Walt Disney Pictures RESCUERS DOWN UNDER

EDITORIAL/OPINION

If women are to be safe, University must change its ways

As a rape survivor and a student, the recent news that an officer of the Escort Service, Michael Rucks, was convicted ten years ago of assaulting a woman (felony) and recently charged with rape has totally violated my trust and safety. Mistakes do happen, but there is no excuse for letting a person with his record into the University or Public Safety. Given this information he should be suspended until his record and pending charge are further investigated.

Administrators on this campus obviously do not see the hypocrisy of having a man with his record remain as an employee of Public Safety or this University. A committee of administrators, including staff from the Everywoman's Center because they are more sensitive to these issues, need to be involved in the decision making process.

Amy Henry

I do not believe suspending Rucks temporarily or permanently is in violation of his rights. The rights of students to feel safe on their campus should come first. It is totally patronizing for administrators to tell the campus community that we should feel safe because Ruck's alleged victim was not a student here. This logic is totally flawed because the issue is Ruck's potential for violent behavior not the status of the victim.

Public Safety needs to have a policy which would mandate recruitment of women escorts and have a woman escort on call at all times. This is necessary because there is an assumption by many that men are stronger and more powerful than women. Women are capable of using physical force in defending themselves and others but they do not live in a society that encourages this like it does for men. Having women escorts can empower women because they will see that they do not need to always rely on a man for protection.

Escorts should be required to be trained in issues of violence against women. Information on what background checks are being made on current escorts as well as the requirements for the qualification of an escort needs to be defined and released to the public.

The administration needs to adopt and define a 'no tolerance policy' towards violence against women. One step towards this is expelling men who are convicted of rape by the Dean of Students Office. Currently, rapists are suspended for a period of time and then are allowed to reenter the University. The University addressed some of these issues last semester in a conference, 'A Day of Action Against Date Rape.' Yet, only minor educational changes, not stricter policies surrounding violence against women, came about.

The current definition of sexual assault in the Student Code of Conduct is "any uninvited behavior" that is deficient a definition and uses victimizing language. I guess that means if I invite someone to my room and they rape me that it is my fault. Furthermore, women on this campus who are trying to combat violence against women in their own lives and in the world need to have it condemned by the University not condoned by keeping Rucks employed.

According to a study done by Mary Koss, 84 percent of the rapes that occur are perpetrated by someone the victim knows. One in four college students will be victims of attempted rape or rape by the time they graduate. Both of these statistics have come true for me. Are we going to take the chance that this could happen again to another student by not making stonger policies and allowing Rucks to stay in this community?

Amy Henry is a Collegian staff member

From the Gulf to UMass

What with everybody trying to simplify the Gulf crisis, I thought I might turn my time towards making a few clarifications: Saudi Arabia is not Vietnam, nor is it Korea. Saddam is not Hitler. Kuwait is not Panama. George Bush is not Rambo. Israel is not South Africa. In fact, all generalizations are false, including this one.

Why are we sending care packages to the best supplied army in the world? We have soldiers in every other desolate hole in the world, but they don't get Thanksgiving dinner with the President or daily interviews with Dan Rather.

Mark B. Adler

Here are some other thoughts to mull over during your generic holiday break:

• How come whenever more than three Resident Assistants get together, the conversation inevitably turns to sex?

• Why does the Tower Library close early on Friday and Saturday nights when people can't possibly find another place to study?

• 'Queer Nation' harnesses the anger of the homophobic community against it. That doesn't justify its actions. Any group which uses anger, force and is unwilling to listen to their opponents loses its credibility and I can't support it. They will delegitimize the LBGA's excellent reputation and their many years of hard work towards eliminating homophobia.

Prejudice, by definition, is the product of judging before getting facts. Once I've gathered some facts about you or your opinions, then my judgement is not prejudiced. Get it? Just because I criticize you, doesn't make me necessarily racist, homophobic, sexist or in any way bigoted.

Why didn't President-Chancellor Duffey veto the anti-LBGA motion? According to the Board of Governor's constitution, he can veto any BOG motion. Back in October, BOG Chair Sue Gordon was considering discussing this with Duffey should the occasion arise.

Those of you who are so worried about the Board of Governors, here's some advice from a former Facilities Coordinator: Don't worry about them. They can't do anything. It's just as well that they kicked out the LBGA seats; now the LBGA won't get blamed for the BOG's actions. When the BOG removes the Collegian and the LBGA from their offices, neither group should budge. There's nothing the BOG can do. It would be up to the Campus Center Administration to remove the groups and Director Bill Harris is unlikely to support such actions. This, in turn, would demonstrate to the entire campus, the impotency of the Board.

So it seems the Student Government Association will take over the BOG's functions. Frankly, I don't trust them either. In fact, I remember a little accomplishment of theirs back in September: the SGA managed to get their hands on the list of students who requested that their names, addresses and phone numbers remain private. But, many of those people requested privacy from the loonies in the SGA itself.

Bye-bye BOG.

It's token time at UMass. December is no longer the Christmas season, it's the holiday season. The distinction is made not to offend non-Christians, namely the Jews. My rabbi once told me that the Jews are seen as the official religious minority of the country. Once you've satisfied us, the other non-Judeo-Christians will follow. In fact, what does a Judeo-Christian look like and what do you get them for the holidays?

Mark B. Adler is a Collegian Columnist.

Intolerance is a problem but vigilantism is not a solution

We have made a commitment to creating a multicultural environment on this campus. To do this, each of us must respect the freedom and dignity of every human being and encourage their full participation in all aspects of campus life.

A number of events this fall have worked against our fulfilling this commitment. The most recent example is the decision of the Board of Governors to eliminate the LBGA seats on the board.

We are dismayed and deeply concerned with the action of the Board and the resulting pain, frustration and anger that this action has caused our gay, lesbian and bisexual students. We urge the members of the board to reconsider its vote and to return their attention to the governmental responsibilities with which they have been entrusted by the students of this University.

It is incumbent upon all members of this university community to foster values of respect and dignity that are the foundations of a multicultural environment.

Likewise, it is vital that all of us work to insure the inclusion of all members of the student body. Attitudes of intolerance precipitated the formation of Queer Nation on our campus, but we cannot condone retaliation and harassment in response to injustice.

We must find another way!

Violence and harassment of any kind are not acceptable here, and we will seek to punish persons identified as performing violent or harassing acts, including retaliation or those found to incite others to such acts.

We await the peaceful and civil disposition of this situation and ask that all parties work within the University system to address their concerns. Assistance may be sought through many campus agencies, including the Offices of the Dean of Students and Student Activities.

Dennis L. Madson
Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs
Rene Carew
Director of Student Activities
Jo-Anne Vanin
Dean of Students

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief ... Meredith O'Brien
Managing Editor ... Sarah DeMaster
Editorial Editor ... Jeremy Levinson
News Editor ... Chris Mather
Sports Editors ... Adrienne Matt, Sam Silverstein
Arts Editors ... Jody Gabin
Photography Editor ... Richard DuCree
Black Affairs Editor ... Dawn Pierce
Women's Issues Editors ... Minu Sebastian
Multicultural Affairs Editor ... Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor ... Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor ... Ali Woolwich
Business Manager ... Susan George
Advertising Manager ... David Melnick
Finance Manager ... Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager ... Jim Winterbottom
Subscription Manager ... Susan Kent
Promotions Manager ... Marc Pruskin
Production Manager ... Terry Starmer
Day Graphics Ad Manager ... Chrissy Girone

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business ... Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics ... Rory Evans

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

What we never learn in business school

Since I'm about to graduate, I've been reflecting on my business school education here at UMass. Disturbing as it may be to some, I feel the need to express criticism of my B-school pilgrimage.

Sitting in SOM classes is something that many argue is for the "best and the brightest." Granted, many of us are adept at quantitative analysis, but so what. The limitation of this type of thinking when not combined with critical or reflective analysis is deleterious and ramifications are manifest all around us. I do not mean in anyway imply that quantitative analysis is worthless, but there needs to be a balance taught to students. Let me explain.

John Michael Oakes

Except for a few management course, in which the teacher prompted intellectual discourse most B-school courses do not aid in the development of questioning or caring individuals; which are, and will be, criterion for successful executives as well as community leaders.

Instead the SOM is producing computer-like individuals who don't ask questions and just do the job as directed simply for the sake of the elusive dollar or maintenance of the status quo. Ironically, questioning the system is often viewed as seditious, while innovation — which is a result of dissatisfaction — is a beloved "buzz" word.

I have never heard the question raised "How will this strategy affect my children's lives." Or "Besides money, what will working 70 hours a week do for me and the community?" or "What alternatives exist for doing business differently." Such forethought is not catalyzed by many SOM professors.

Career options that do not include corporate America or pursuit of self-interest are seldom discussed and seem to be for the "under-achievers' only. What's more, I am not alone in wondering why there isn't a mandatory course in industrial history that offers alternative perspectives on why we've created society this way. To say the least, the reasoning behind these educational decisions is quite provocative.

Friends of mine have asked me if such individual thought is a good thing for graduates to posses; after all, they say, students who want to raise these questions should enter a doctoral program. Nonsense. I am not comfortable with the fact that SOM graduates are going to participate in our planet's activity — possibly in influential positions in powerful organizations — without questioning the 'whys' of it all. To continue to reproduce the mistakes of our forefathers will jeopardize the lives of our children.

As a result, I am reminded of the children's fairy tale The Emperor's New Clothes. If you recall, the townspeople were made to believe the the Emperor, in all his greatness, was wearing the finest suit in the land when in actuality he had nothing on at all. I hope my analogy is clear; we're being led to believe that questions of why, of those of moral, ethical, egalitarian, altruistic, feminist or humanist nature are silly, dangerous or not part of the business school education.

They are of vital importance and should pervade every lecture and all syllabi. Are we to be educated or merely trained to be a "cog in the machine." Our eyes deceive us . . . The Emperor is naked.

John Michael Oakes is a UMass student

Fight for freedom

Nobody ever wins any kind of war because it is the biggest destruction of human lives and it is bad for the environment. Everyone should stand against nations that go to war in order to gain land, for economic reasons, or for personal greed by oppressing the other groups.

We have seen in the past that war was needed to restore law and order. We held freedom and opportunity so dearly that some of us believe in fighting for freedom and justice to bring about peace.

Duc Van Le

SOMEWHERE IN SAUDI ARABIA...
THE SAUDI LIAISON IS HERE TO SEE YOU, SIR.
SEND HIM IN.
COLONEL, I'M AFRAID WE CAUGHT SOME OF YOUR MEN TRYING TO SMUGGLE THESE RELIGIOUS SYMBOLS INTO OUR COUNTRY.
UH-OH.
RELIGIOUS SYMBOLS? THERE MUST BE SOME MISUNDERSTANDING. WHAT YOU HAVE THERE ARE MERCHANDISING GIMMICKS FROM AMERICAN SHOPPING MALLS.
YOU MEAN THESE HAVE NO SPIRITUAL CONNOTATIONS?
OH, OF COURSE NOT. THEY REPRESENT THE IMPORTANCE OF THE 'RETAIL SECTOR IN OUR ECONOMY.
NOT PEACE ON EARTH?
OF COURSE NOT.
NOT GOODWILL TOWARD MEN?
NOPE. PURE, UNADULTERATED GREED.
FOR EXAMPLE, THIS FELLOW IN THE RED SUIT IS SUPPOSED TO BRING ALL THE PEOPLE WHATEVER THEY ASK FOR.
WHAT? A COMMUNIST AS WELL AS A BLASPHEMER! I WILL NEVER UNDERSTAND AMERICANS!

Many people say that Saddam Hussein is another Hitler because what kind of a person would use lethal gas and chemicals on his own people. He created a country armed with dangerous weapons and chemicals that could wipe out a large portion of the global population at anytime.

The invasion of Kuwait threatens world peace and democracy. The U.S. (with the largest force) along with 27 other countries have untied to stand against the threat. Just imagine what he would do next and to Kuwait's people if all the forces are to back off now. He has been known to use gas on his own people.

What would prevent him from using it against the Kuwaiti people?

People are saying, "We don't want another Vietnam!" Well, this is not another Vietnam. During the Vietman War, there was very low morale among the people which lead to low fighting spirit among the troops. The soldiers did not have the support of the American people. They were spat on when they came back. Many Americans thought that the war was their fault.

Contrary, it was the fault of the politicians in Washington. What the American people should have done was protest their political leaders who were sitting home making the decisions instead of the soldiers who were fighting.

When the U.S. pulled out of Vietnam, the Communists were left with an obvious victory. This act of abandonment allowed the North Vietnamese communists the freedom to oppress and kill many innocent people who opposed living under their harsh regime.

Since the war ended in 1975, millions of people risked their lives on the oceans in their little boats in search of freedom. Many have died in vain trying to escape and many still are to this day.

If the troops withdraw from Kuwait now, it will be another disaster like Vietnam in the context that many innocent people will suffer under Saddam and he will be an absolute ruler. It will be chaos because many people will try to escape his oppression. Will it surprise anyone then if he decided to use gas on those who oppose him?

The UN Resolution gave Hussein a choice to pull out of Kuwait by Jan. 15, 1991. He has no business being there in the first place. This man is a threat to the freedom of the people of Kuwait and to world peace.

The silent majority of the people on this campus support U.S. involvement and the troops because they understand the aftereffect on the international level. While the few protesters at UMass use oil as a cheap excuse to object.

If you are going to protest, please protest where the decisions concerning the war are made like in Washington! These protesters are probably the same people who protested the returning Vietnam soldiers 15 years ago. People on this campus also protested DOD research claiming that is inhumane to use the anthrax virus to kill.

Why don't they protest Saddam who is using gas and chemicals to kill the people? And where were these patriotic Americans when the Indians were attacked by the Canadian government? We live in a free nation where everyone is free to protest and voice their opinions. These people should be grateful that they are not over there fighting and they should use their freedom of expression to voice their support for the troops.

I oppose killing or oppressing people. But as a citizen of a free country, I hold freedom and opportunity dearly. I am willing to fight for freedom and the pursuit of happiness for everyone!

"Give me liberty or give me death!"

Duc Van Le is a UMass student

A dictator, but he's our dictator

Is there any difference between Hafez-al-Assad of Syria and Saddam Hussein of Iraq?

Both Arab tyrants murder and torture their respective citizens, invade their neighbors, threaten to destroy Israel, take American hostages, train terrorist gangs, buy military hardware and raw materials for chemical and biological weapons from the West and the anti-Semitic Russian empire called the Soviet Union.

They execute their friends, foes and relatives alike, and systematically use Palestinians as front line artillery during invasions of Arab neighbors.

Yes, there is a difference. Mr. Hussein is our enemy, Mr. Assad is our ally. How did this madness come about? The United State's government falling victim to the State Department version of an age-old Middle Eastern cynicism: the enemy of my enemy is my friend.

Time after time, this "pragmatism" works against the national interest of America, not for it. Instead U.S. should tell the world and its people the truth — we need Mr. Assad for time being, but like yesterday and even now the leader of Syria is a butcher of Lebanon, kills as many Palestinians as Lebanese and cultivates, produces and distributes illegal narcotics (as documented by a 1983 report by the Drug Enforcement Agency).

After this short-term "pragmatism," the rationalization sets in. The leader of Syria cannot be that bad after all, you can do business with this fellow, he is not like others. What is said about Mr. Assad was said about Saddam Hussein and "moderate Iranian politicians."

Like native American politicians, their liberal Israeli counterparts have started whispering, that Mr. Assad is a reasonable type. He will forget the Golan Heights, if, we forgive his bloody excursions in Lebanon. There is a long list of American and Israeli politicians who were willing to ignore Mr. Assad's brutality for the dream that they could pacify him.

Saddam Hussein is a dictator, but Mr. Assad is no less. They are not creatures of aberrations, typical of modern Middle East Arab rulers. Since greater Iraq collides with the ambitions of greater Syria, Mr. Assad is our ally, nothing more. He is just waiting for his turn to make his kill.

Dictatorships are inherently unstable. With huge armies, unstable dictators are an ever present threat and inherently dangerous. We forget that and arm them to kill us.

With enough precedents, we learned it again with Saddam Hussein. One day, we will learn it still again, from Hafez-al-Assad.

Pat Sitaraman
Amherst

A note of thanks for support from the Everywoman's Center

On behalf of the Everywoman's Center, I would like to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all the individuals and groups on campus who have rallied in support of the center over the past weeks in response to the budget crisis.

Due in great part to their efforts, Everywoman's Center's survival and eventual restoration of some of the lost programming has been assured by the University administration, barring further cuts to the University by the state legislature.

We wish to recognize the Student Government Association, the Graduate Student Senate Executive Committee, the Graduate Student Senate, and individual students for their consistent support and encouragement.

In particular, we wish to to acknowledge Natasha Diephius, SGA president; Sarah Lyon, GSS executive Officer; Larissa Diephius, Binky Feldman, Gina Gombar, Swati Joshi, Rua Kelly, and Maggie Magner, for their leadership and tremendous expenditure of time and energy on behalf of the Everywomen's Center.

We also wish to thank Amy Henry and Julie Livingstone for their support and assistance with Collegian coverage.

Your tireless efforts have contributed to an improved outlook for the Everywoman's Center as well as an uplifted morale amongst the women working here.

Thank you again, from all of us.

Carol S. Wallace
Director of Everywoman's Center

Write for this page. Write a letter. Write a column. After all how many opportunities do you get to communicate with 21,000 people? Remember, the value of this page depends on you — students, workers, teachers and residents. Will you take the time? Bring any and all columns and letters to the Collegian office next semester in the Campus Center basement.

Pay student athletes

It has just been released. The University of Massachusetts has just signed the top high school basketball player in the country to a five year, $40,000 contract. It was reported that they outbid UNLV and Duke University to get the 7'2' center to come to their school.

Imagine reading this in the paper? Maybe it isn't as far fetched as it sounds.

Steve Gniadek

With college recruiting violations more apparent year after year, something has to be done about them. Some suggest building up an investigation force. Others feel that we should give collegiate programs professional status.

If college players are receiving illegal funding anyhow, why not pay everyone and make it public?

Most of today's collegiate programs are breeding grounds for the professional ranks. The NFL does not have a minor league system. Most of their players come from the college programs. The same can be said about the NBA. They have semi-minor leagues but not to the extent of Major League Baseball.

This so called professional status would not be rival leagues to the professionals. It would simply be a sound minor league program for them.

Many athletes in college today aren't there for academic purposes. Some don't even know what courses they are enrolled in. Their main purpose is to improve their game and hopefully become professionals. Shouldn't they be paid for this?

Illegal payments to athletes across the nation are made everyday. This could end by setting standards and rules to make them legal. Booster and alumni association money, along with revenues that these programs bring in, could be paid directly back to the athletes.

These athletes could be made to sign contracts to be fulfilled within five years for a certain amount of money. The most sought after athletes would receive more money because more colleges would be trying to sign them. The person with the best deal would win the contract.

Another way of doing this could be having the professional teams take over the contracts with college athletes signing a five to eight year contract. When their college eligibility was up, the professional teams would take over their contract. In return, the college would receive additional funds from the pro team taking over the contract.

This may sound ridiculous. College recruiting violations are an obvious problem today. Professional status isn't a bad idea. Collegiate athletes are to pro basketball and football what minor leaguers are to professional baseball. Paying them would deter violations by college recruiters. It may change the way people look at the games, change the tradition of the games, but it could also save the games.

Steve Gniadek is a UMass student

The Collegian plays its role well

I want to tell you how much I admire the work you have done this semester to make the Collegian a reliable and responsible source of news and information for our campus.

I appreciate especially the diligent work you have done to keep us informed about the large, but often unreported, role the military plays in our daily lives. You have consistently raised the political, ethical and human issues that involvement entails, an essential task in our democracy that few national journals have done as consistently as you.

Your thoughtful reporting of the discriminatory Department of Defense policy that bars lesbian and gay students from the ROTC has shown careful research and hard-nosed investigative follow-up that keeps us in touch with this difficult issue as it winds its way toward Faculty Senate consideration.

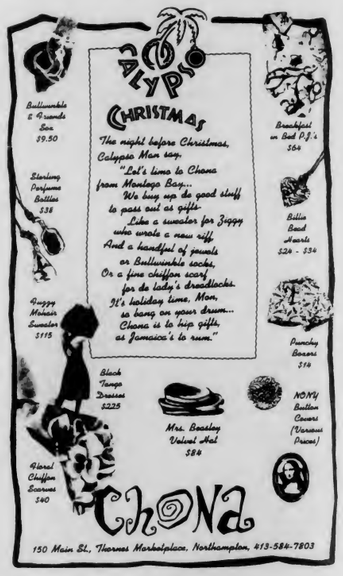
While I do not agree with your editorial position calling for expulsion of the ROTC, your honest concern assures me that this important subject will not be buried or forgotten until it has received a full and open hearing. In this, you are playing the active role of a free press that our society depends upon for its health and survival. Thank you very much and keep up the good work.

Richard Trousdell
Professor of Theater

THORNES
MARKETPLACE
UNLIMITED PARKING IN ATTACHED GARAGE!
Five floors of wonderfully festive shops, restaurants, galleries and a gym.
Holiday Hours: Mon-Sat 9:30-9:00
Sun 12-6:00
150 MAIN STREET NORTHAMPTON

25 CENTRAL
CLOTHES THAT FIT YOUR LIFE!
Thornes Marketplace 150 Main St./Northampton 586-8017

GIFTS FOR OUR SHINING STARS
bodywear • footwear
sport & activewear
fashions & basics
(413) 586-8050
2nd floor, Thornes Marketplace
150 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON, MA



CALYPSO
CHRISTMAS
The night before Christmas, Calypso Man say,
"Let's time to Chona from Montego Bay...
We buy up de good stuff to pass out as gifts
Like a sweater for Zippy who wrote a new riff
And a handful of jewels or Bullwinkle socks,
Or a fine chiffon scarf for de lady's dreadlocks.
It's holiday time, Mon, so hang on upon dreem...
Chona is to hip gifts as Jamaica's to rum."
Chona
150 Main St., Thornes Marketplace, Northampton, 413-584-7803

JAZZ • AFRICAN SOUL • COUNTRY REGGAE • BLUES ROCK N' ROLL CLASSICAL • FOLK
JAZZ • AFRICAN SOUL • COUNTRY REGGAE • BLUES ROCK N' ROLL CLASSICAL • FOLK DYNAMITE RECORDS
NEW & USED
WE BUY USED LP's, TAPES & CD's
MAXELL XLII 90
$18.00 / CASE OF 10
MOST COMPACT DISCS
$14.50
584-1580
THORNES
150 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON OPEN 7 DAYS
JAZZ • AFRICAN SOUL • COUNTRY REGGAE • BLUES ROCK N' ROLL CLASSICAL • FOLK
JAZZ • AFRICAN SOUL • COUNTRY REGGAE • BLUES ROCK N' ROLL CLASSICAL • FOLK

BLACK AFFAIRS

Signed away to Gulf

It's a shame. It's a crying shame! Looking through the New York Times, The Boston Globe, and The Boston Herald, I could not find one article on the conditions of the soldiers, African Americans in particular. However, I did find article outlining President George Bush's lame excuses for having our men over there.

Monique Tabon

Bush makes it sound as if the United States hadn't intervened, than madman Saddam Hussein would endanger the lives of millions of people. Since when did George Bush become so concerned with the lives of millions of people? Right here in America, there are millions of people, African Americans in particular, who are suffering from all kinds of inhumane treatment: poverty, racism, homelessness, unemployment, and a disillusionment with life. As if this weren't enough, Bush has the nerve to say "human rights are gaining ground the whole world over. Nowhere is that situation more tragic and more urgent today than in Kuwait. We must speak out and stand up for the Kuwaiti people, a people whose very nation is now in the grasp of a tyrant unmoved decency."

Well now, how about that. Bush is more concerned with people over the ocean and through the desert and to Hussein's house our soldiers go . . . let's get real. Bush isn't fooling anyone. He would not be spending nearly $30 billion dollars to save millions of people in Kuwait unless there was something in it for him. He's got what's left of our community over in the Middle East, trained, dehumanized, and ready for combat over oil. Then even still the issue isn't really oil, it's power.

Once again the White man feels threatened because his grip on someone else's property has been pried apart. To rectify the situation, he sends Black men and women to fight "Brown" people all in the name of self-righteous White people.

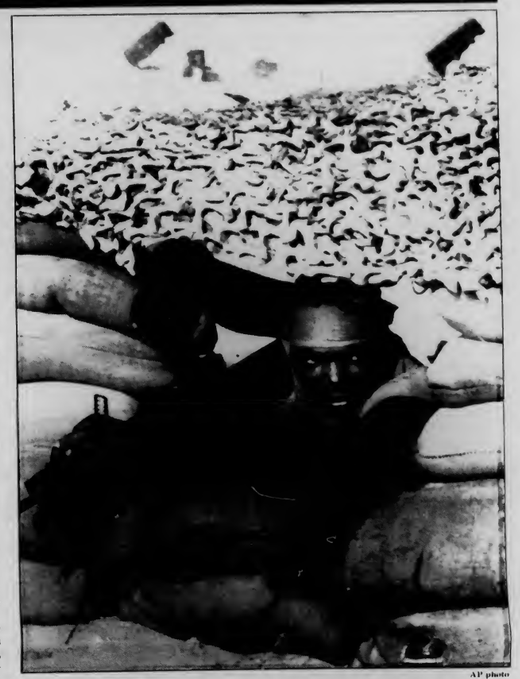
Yet the irony of it all is that when it comes to fighting inhumane treatment here, there is never any money for medical care for the poor, job training programs, building more efficient low income housing, etc.

Since we were first brought over here we have been exploited, disrespected, and neglected. We barely have any representation and as we move more and more toward the 21st century, the less we are going to be represented, nevermind acknowledged. The irony further still is that our sons and daughters are being sent to fight for a country that refuses to recognize them. There is something like 30 percent of African American soldiers already there in Saudi Arabia. As of Dec. 10, 1990, there were another 24,000 U.S. Marines getting ready to be shipped away from Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

Doesn't anyone care? Those in the military signed their lives away, not as indentured servants, but as Uncle Sam's personal slave troops. They are now stuck in a foreign land with the threat of war in the desert air hanging over their heads. They are most likely alone, hot as hell, and scared shitless. Those brothers and sisters aren't strangers, they are our sons, daughters, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, and cousins. They are part of our community. Don't you realize that we don't belong over there? Don't you know that we will most likely suffer the greatest fatalities, just like in Glory, on the front lines?

It was not my intention to debate the issue for or against U.S. presence in the Persian Gulf. My only concern is my community and its deterioration. I see our brothers and sisters over in the Middle East as another tactic aimed at mass execution of our people. If one half of the species needed to reproduce is extinct, then our existence becomes extinct. Black folks, I cannot urge you enough to become involved. Speak out against these injustices. Right now we are the only hope of ever seeing our loved ones come home.

Monique Tabon is a UMass student



AP photo

SAUDI ARABIA — A U.S. serviceman peers out of a foxhole at a base in the desert recenty las part of the U.S. military buildup in response to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait.

BMCP: 'Keeping Black music alive' at UMass

By SONDRA SUTTON
Collegian Correspondent

The Black Mass Communications Project, or better known as BMCP, is a Black organization here at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. BMCP has been active since 1969.

Although created primarily for communication majors, its members have majors which range from Afro-American history to zoology.

One of the many important aspects of BMCP are their disc jockeys which display their talent on the University's radio station, WMUA 91.1 FM. Perhaps you have tuned in your radio one Saturday night and listened to the funky sounds of "Saturday Nite Hype" with Kenley Obas as "D.J. Knock Out" and the "Underground Sounds" with James Robins as the "Dark Overlord." These programs are followed by the house sounds of "D.J. Kevy-Kev" with "Kevy-Kev Goes House."

To cool things down, stay tuned for the seductive sounds of "Saturday Seduction" with "Colette." Just when you think things couldn't get anymore mellow, your ears are caressed with the tender pulsating notes of the "Dark Overlord," as he spins "Love's Interlude."

These are just a few examples of the multi-talented Black disc jockeys here at UMass. A few other disc jockeys are "D.J. K.C." Keith Campbell, as he takes you on a trip to the best of the worlds of "Rock and Soul," on Friday nights. Wednesday nights are filled with the sounds of D.J.'s like "D.J. K-NYCE" and "Kausin Kaoss."

BMCP also offers the best in jazz music on Monday nights with the one and only "D.J. Rick Townes" as he brings you "All That Jazz." Tuesday nights are also pumping as "D.J. P.ZO" "Sets It Off"

Last but not least "D.J. Mello V." puts you in the mood to relax and unwind from a fast-paced weekend, and prepares you for the hectic weekdays with the soft sounds of "Mellow Madness."

BMCP welcomes all minority students who are interested in becoming members of the project. The project also sponsors the annual "Jeans and Tee Shirts" and "Funk-A-Thon" jams. BMCP in addition to these events, invite various minority speakers to give lectures to the minority student body. The project also has its annual communication conference for minority students interested in pursuing careers in the field of communications.

Many BMCP members agree that the project is great in forming close relationships, as well as learning the ins and outs of the communication major. For additional information about BMCP, call 545-2426, or stop by the office located in room 402 Student Union.

Especially for You
Haircare & Beauty Boutique
specializing in Afro-American Hair Care and Beauty Products
206 Russell St., Rt. 9
Hadley; 586-6622
Free Delivery within 5 College Area

Where were YOU?

As of the end of fall semester 1990, I have resigned my position as the editor of the Black Affairs Page. Reflecting back on my experiences I will admit that there have been some good and bad aspects.

Dawn Pierce

Speaking specifically to those students of the Black community to which I have served for the past two semesters, you have not only disappointed me with your lacking involvement but the absence of your concern in the page's production reflects negatively on OUR image as a community. As you all know [those of you who even take time to read this page] there have been numerous advertisements on this page urging and encouraging your support and contributions.

Where was it? The most ironic circumstance surrounding the issue, is that some of you even have the NERVE to ask me, "Hey Dawn, I haven't seen the page for a while, what's going on?" To those of you who have posed this "insightful" question to me I have only one answer for you: hey, what's going on with you? Where are the articles that you SHOULD have been contributing in order to support a page that has been in production in this paper for over a decade to serve your LAZY, SELF-CENTERED EXISTENCE?

Don't get me wrong, there are a FEW of my brothers and sisters who have contributed and have continuously been supportive. I THANK YOU. Without your support, the page would not exist. However, I do not look toward the future with a negative perspective. I have faith that there will continue to be others here at UMass that do care about their community and will give their time and effort to make a difference. In closing, I must congratulate the new Black Affairs Page editor for spring semester 1991 — Sondra Sutton. I wish you good luck on your endeavors. Keep a creative mind, but a realistic perspective.

Dawn Pierce is a UMass student.

GREAT GIFTS!

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS has great gifts at all prices.

Great gifts for everyone in the family.

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS has the lowest prices in the valley.

Gifts that that special person will cherish!

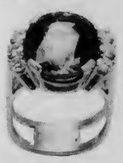
Open every evening till 9:00
Sundays til 6:00

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
Route 9 Hadley, MA (413) 586-2323
Elliot St. Brattleboro, VT (802) 254-4133

HAPPY CHANUKAH

FIND the FINEST...

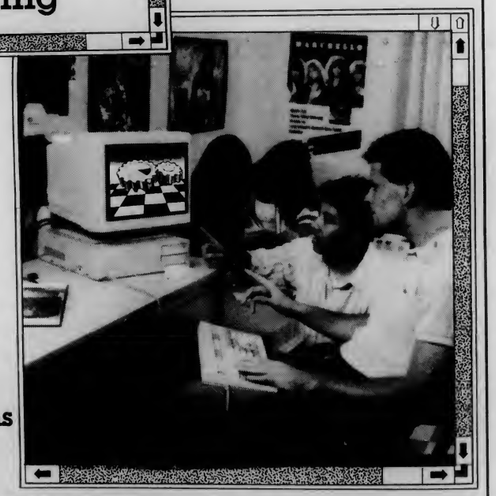
Gifts from Glass to Gold
Lazare Diamonds - Gems
Engagement Ring Sets
Custom 18k gold
Both galleries open 7 days



silverscape designs
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 | 177 Main St., Northampton 584-3324

Monday-Thursday 5-8 p.m.
All you can eat
BUFFET $5.99
COMEDY RESERVATIONS
586-1202 585-8615
11:30-3 p.m. All You Can Eat
SUNDAY BRUNCH $6.99
PEKING GARDEN, Rt. 9, Hadley

You Deserve A "Plus" In Campus Computing



Reward Yourself With A New Zenith Data Systems LP-Plus

The Z-286LP Plus™ is the 12 MHz desktop computer that excels at coursework. This system now comes pre-loaded with MS-DOS® 4.01 and Microsoft® Windows™ version 3.0. Its standard features include 1MB of RAM, a choice of hard drives, a floppy drive and a Microsoft Mouse® Most importantly, the Z-286LP Plus® can be upgraded to an Intel386SX® system by simply changing one card. So don't settle for just any 286 system, reward yourself with a Z-286LP Plus!®

ZENITH data systems
Groupe Bull

Z-286LP Plus is a registered trademark of Zenith Data Systems.
Microsoft DOS, Microsoft Windows and Microsoft Mouse are registered trademarks of Microsoft Corp.
Intel386SX is a registered trademark of Intel Corp.
Graphics simulate Microsoft Windows, a product and registered trademark of Microsoft Corp.

For More Information, Please Contact:

John Lewis
Zenith Data Systems
Student Representative
545-2619

WE WOULD LIKE TO WISH ALL A VERY HAPPY HANUKKAH, MERRY CHRISTMAS, HAPPY KWANZA, AND A MERRY BOB

Now Renting:
Bright, Spacious, 2 Bedroom Apartment-Fully Equipped Kitchen Carpeted, Storage and Laundry Facilities
LANTERN COURT
Rte 116 Sunderland 253-2515

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS JUICE LABEL?

IF SO, THEN ASK FOR IT IN THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Tea with Company values your opinion

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM
Tel: 549-2692

Seasons's Greetings!
From Scott's Liquors

Budweiser Suitcase
Reg-Lt-Dry
24-12 oz cans
$11.99+dep

Schaefer Suitcase
24-12 oz cans
$7.99+dep

Zarkoff Vodka
1.75 L
$8.99

Kahlua Liquer
750 ml
$11.49

Cuervo Gold Tequila
750 ml
$8.99

Codorniu Champagne
750 ml
$5.49

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE
6 University Drive, Newmarket Center, Amherst
Diagonally Across from the UMass Stadium
Plenty of FREE Parking
Telecheck for Your Personal Check
MEGABUCKS We Have It
We now have all Mass Lottery games!

SPRING BREAK
Cancun and Bahamas
Complete, Guaranteed Packages from $299
Reserve by Jan 1st and Save $30.00
Call Jon or Matt at 546-2335

NEW SPECIALS!
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY
2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1	SUPER PRINTS .37 SAVE .13 PER PRINT	2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
AT TIME OF DEVELOPING REGULAR SIZE ONLY	AT TIME OF DEVELOPING ONLY	AT TIME OF DEVELOPING REGULAR SIZE ONLY
THURSDAY	FRIDAY	EVERYDAY SPECIAL
2nd SET OF PRINTS FOR ONLY .10 PER PRINT	REPRINT DAY 3 1/2X5 .30 ea. 5x7 .99 ea. 8x10 3.50 ea. NO CROPPING, FULL RES ONLY	2nd SET OF PRINTS REGULAR 18 ea. SUPER 29 ea.
AT TIME OF DEVELOPING REGULAR SIZE ONLY		AT TIME OF DEVELOPING ONLY

FILM IN BY 10:00 a.m.
PRINTS OUT BY 4.00 p.m.
ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE UNTIL 3:00 p.m.
The Foto Factory
224 1/2 FEDERAL STREET GREENFIELD
257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
62 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON

BUY ONE DINNER
GET ONE AT ½ PRICE
NO RESTRICTIONS! OFFER GOOD THRU 1/7/91
DEERFIELD FISH & LOBSTER CO. & THE NEW CHOWDER HOUSE Restaurant
"Wholesaler to the Valley's finest restaurants"
65 So. Main St., South Deerfield 665-8333 Open 7 Days for Lunch & Dinner

College Pizza
Fall Special
Small Cheese Pizza $3.50
Large Chees Pizza $5.99
2 Toppings $1.00 extra
549-6098 549-6073
Must mention this ad
no coupons with the special

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style—especially for you!
• Ample Free Parking
• Major Credit Cards Accepted
• Full Liquor License
• Open 7 Days A Week
• Take-Out Service Available
• No MSG
585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

Albion Bookshop
CASH for your BOOKS!
BUYING USED TEXTS AND PAPERBACKS
ALBION USED BOOKS
30 MAIN ST., AMHERST
Mon 9:30-6; Tues-Sat 9:30-9 p.m.; Sun 12-5

■ gay life on campus

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

or most of her friends back home.

"I don't think I'll ever tell my parents, at least not until I'm on my own and financially independent, maybe then I'll tell them," Susie said. "I really don't know what my parents would do if they knew — I'm not even sure they would understand the meaning of the term 'bisexual.' They would either decide I was gay or straight. They'd probably try to set me up with tons of men."

"My parents had no concept of lesbianism before coming to this country," Sie said. "Bisexuality is simply not known or understood in India. So, I'm not sure I can ever get them to understand," she added, "But someday I'll try."

Susie said she is thankful for the large and supportive community at UMass. "It was good coming out here — compared to my friends' colleges, it seems that there's a really unusually open and supportive community here. I was already involved with some of the progressive groups on campus, so I had lots of friends it was safe to tell."

Bob is a 22-year-old junior who is leaving campus after this semester. Bob kept his bisexuality pretty closeted until this semester, when he decided to move to the diversity floor in the Central dormitory complex. "I was tired of playing games and being closeted," Bob explained, "I heard about the diversity floor and I decided to move there for this semester. I wanted to use it as a stepping stone for coming out."

"I consider myself completely out now. I don't advertise, but I don't hide either. If someone asks me I tell them."

The homophobia that Bob said he perceives on the campus makes him uncomfortable. "Sometimes I still get scary feelings because there's such a large conservative student body on this campus. I mean, I was here first semester during the straight pride rally, and I read a lot of homophobic statements. I think if I lived in any other dorm than this one I would still be closeted. But here on the diversity floor I feel basically pretty safe."

Bob said he believes that many gays are afraid to come out because of the strong homophobia they perceive on campus. "I think there's definitely a lot of oppression on this campus that keeps a lot of gay people in the closet. Some people move to this floor to come out, but others are afraid to come here because they know they'll be labeled gay just for living on the diversity floor. Even though not everyone who lives here is gay."

Bob said he suspects part of his burn-out in school is due to stress from the pressures he faces for being out. "Mostly I'm just tired of school — but I wouldn't be surprised if part of my burn-out comes from the every day stress of being a gay on a straight campus. I think gays deal with much more stress on a daily basis than other students."

The little things start to build up inside, Bob said. "Like today, I heard these two guys making fun of Queer Nation in the cafeteria. I felt all this rage building up inside of me, but I didn't say anything, as usual. It's the little things that happen every day that get on your nerves, after awhile it makes you want to scream inside."

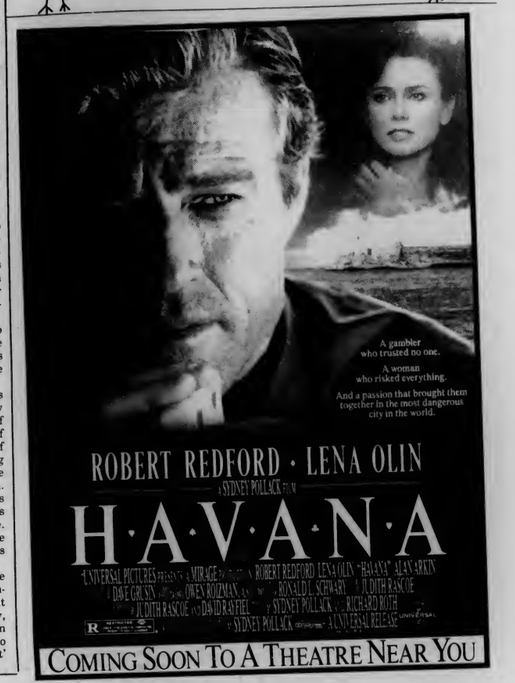
It's better for gays to live off-campus, Bob feels. "I know when I come back I'll live in an apartment. It's so much safer. This floor is the only place on-campus I feel safe from attack."

Gays, lesbians, and bisexuals on campus said they generally feel there is a strongly supportive community on the University of Massachusetts campus. But almost all of them acknowledged a daily awareness of possible threats against them for being homosexual. The fears seemed to be stronger among the men than the women.

Some gay, lesbian, and bisexual students have not come out to their parents, and this is an enormous emotional drain for some. Jim and Susie are afraid they will lose the money for their education if their parents find out about their lifestyles.

On the other hand, some students have immersed themselves in the campus community and feel extremely positive about being out on-campus. According to Mary, Annie, and Kate, the positive support from their parents has greatly contributed to their feeling comfortable about being 'out' on-campus.

We heart clams



A gambler who trusted no one.
A woman who risked everything.
And a passion that brought them together in the most dangerous city in the world.
ROBERT REDFORD · LENA OLIN
A SYDNEY POLLACK FILM
H·A·V·A·N·A
UNIVERSAL PICTURES PRESENTS A MIRAGE PRODUCTION ROBERT REDFORD LENA OLIN "HAVANA" ALAN ARKIN
DAVE GRUSIN OWEN ROIZMAN RONALD L. SCHWARY JUDITH RASCOE
JUDITH RASCOE DAVID RAYFIEL SYDNEY POLLACK RICHARD ROTH
SYDNEY POLLACK A UNIVERSAL RELEASE
R
COMING SOON TO A THEATRE NEAR YOU

Specials

Natural Light $7.99 cse 12 oz cans

Bud Dry $11.99 cse

Knickerbocker $3.99 12 pk. 12 oz cans

Rolling Rock $10.99 cse 12 oz bots

Bass Ale $4.99 6 pk

Miscellaneous Specials

Mondavi White Zinfandel	750 ml	$4.99
Mount Gay Ellipse Rum	750 ml	$10.99
Four Seasons Vodka and Gin	1.75L	$8.99

FOUR SEASONS
Wines/Liquors
ROUTE 9, HADLEY • 584-8174
Between Burger King and Dunkin' Donuts!

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA FELLOWSHIPS FOR GRADUATE STUDY DURING 1990-1991

The National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta announces that fourteen fellowships for graduate study will be awarded for use during the 1990-1991 academic year. The amount of each fellowship is $3,000. Applicants will be judged on academic record, recommendations submitted, the soundness of the proposed project and its purpose, and financial need.

Any member of Alpha Lambda Delta graduating with a cumulative average of at least a 3.50 is elligible to apply. Any members of ALD who has completed at least the first semseter of the senior year is elligible to apply.

For additional information and an application, contact Cynthia George, Dean of Students Office 227 Whitmore.
Deadline is January 15, 1991

Railroad Stores SALVAGE — SALE ENDS DEC 20TH

NEWSPAPERS, PLEASE INSERT CORRECT ADDRESSES

DeMet's TURTLES 10.4 OUNCES VALUE $4.95 NOW $2.99

BRACH'S CHRISTMAS CANDY NORMALLY $1.50-$3.99 NOW 79¢ TO $1.99
• CHRISTMAS NOUGAT • JELLY BEANS • SNOW BASE JELLIES • MINT FILLED STRAWS • FILLED RASPBERRIES • HOLIDAY MINTS • FANCY CREAMS & JELLIES • CHRISTMAS MINT PATTIES • PEANUT BUTTER SNOW MEN • 1 LB. BOX FILLED CHOCOLATES

MENS AND LADIES WATCHES
RUBIE BOUGHT 1,000'S FROM SEIKO · HELBROS & CITIZEN
DIVER STYLE $18 | FASHION RHINESTONE $28 | INCLUDES DIAMONDS $38 | CITIZEN & SEIKO $48 | SEIKO $68
ORIGINAL PRICES $49.95 TO $295

HOLIDAY GIFT BOXES • 4 PACK LINGERIE • 3 PACK SHIRT • 2 PACK ROBE VALUES FROM $1.69-$1.79 YOUR CHOICE $1.00 PACK

HOLIDAY WRAP 30 SQ. FT. JUMBO ROLL VALUE $2.00 NOW 85¢

24" ILLUMINATED SANTA CLAUS MUSICAL ANIMATED VALUE $89.95 $38

COZY FLANNEL AND POLY/COTTON PAJAMAS OR NIGHTSHIRTS VALUES FROM $12-$18 NOW $7.00 EACH

STANLEY HAND TOOLS — CHOOSE FROM OUR ENTIRE STOCK! SELECTION MAY VARY FROM STORE TO STORE — SAWS, 12' TAPE MEASURES, HAMMERS, PLIERS & MORE — 30% OFF OUR PRICES — DOES NOT INCLUDE ELECTRONIC TAPE MEASURE OR CORDLESS SCREWDRIVER

POWER EQUIPMENT TOYS REMOTE CONTROL VALUE $59.95 NOW YOUR CHOICE $18 — FACTORY RENEWED — 20" EXCAVATOR 20" FRONT END LOADER

INDOOR/OUTDOOR CHRISTMAS LIGHTS 100 LIGHTS · EZE-ADD-A-LITE™ #2122 WITH END CONNECTORS COMP VALUES $9.99-$14.99 NOW $6.50

13" CRYING DOLL BLONDE HAIR BLUE EYES • CRIES WHEN YOU REMOVE HER PACIFIER ASSORTED OUTFITS VALUE $28.95 $6.88 #1303-05 BATTERIES NOT INC.

POLY/COTTON PASTEL BLOUSES ASSORTED STYLES LADIES 4-18 VALUE $18 NOW $5

28½" FIRE ENGINE INFRARED REMOTE CONTROL VALUE $98 15 FUNCTION $38.88 FACTORY RENEWED

17" · 18 WHEEL · HIGHWAY HAULER BATTERY OPERATED · REMOTE CONTROL $7.88 VALUE $15.95 BATTERIES NOT INCLUDED

EXTRAORDINARY 18" DOLL • FEEDS HER AND HER MOUTH OPENS & CLOSES • STAINS HER DIAPER VALUE $34.95 $11.88 #1793-05 BATTERIES NOT INCLUDED

SWEATSHIRTS CREWNECK LONG SLEEVE MENS S·M·L·XL POLY/COTTON VALUE $12 EA NOW 2 FOR $11

SILVER RAIL BATTERY OPERATED TRAIN SET 3 POSITION SWITCH CONTROL VALUE $89.95 NOW $28.88 — FORWARD REVERSE STOP — 7'x4' EASY SNAP TRACK • 12 CURVED PCS • 4 STRAIGHT PCS • 2 SWITCH CONTROLS — FACTORY RENEWED

ROBOT TO CAR JET ACTION CORVETTE · NISSAN CAMERO · TRANS AM YOUR CHOICE VALUE $6.96 NOW $1.99 • #1201-4

KIDS BOYS AND GIRLS SIZES 4-7 PULLOVER SWEATERS SOLIDS · PRINTS · ACRYLICS VALUE $15.00 NOW $7.00

RUBIE BOUGHT OVER 3000 MAN-SIZED RECLINERS NOW $99 VALUES FROM $159-$199 OTHERS AT $119 - $199

FIRST QUALITY · BLACK & WHITE 12" TELEVISION MAGNAVOX • 100% Solid-State Chassis • UHF/VHF detent tuning • Preset VHF fine tuning • Brightness control • Contrast control • 3" speaker • Monopole antenna VALUE $98.00 NOW $48.88 AC/DC FOR HOME, GARAGE, DORM, AUTO OR BOAT

DANCING MARIONETTE TAPPER™ VALUE $29.95 AGES 5 AND UP COMES ALIVE WITH THE FLICK OF YOUR WRIST NOW $8.88

6'x9' AREA RUGS • BOUND ON FOUR SIDES OVER 50% OFF VALUE IF PERFECT $59.95 NOW $28.88 EACH

4 PC BEDROOM BLACK LACQUER — NIGHTSTAND AVAILABLE — VALUE $495 NOW $348

5 PC DINETTE SET IN 3 COLOR CHOICES • ELLIE • GRANNIE • JED — VALUE $399.95 — $258

MACHINE WASHABLE

LADIES WALTZ LENGTH FLEECE ROBES SNAP FRONT 2 POCKETS S·M·L·XL VALUE $20.00 NOW $12

MicraWare Supreme 1 QT. ROUND CASSEROLE THEIR PRICE $9.99 NOW $4.48

SIZES 1X TO 3X VALUE $22 NOW $14

LOOK FOR OUR 16 PAGE CHRISTMAS CIRCULAR

swatch®

ON TIME FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

J·RICH
CLOTHING FOR MEN
OPEN 7 DAYS

191 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst•253-2013

22 Masonic St.
Northampton•586-6336

MBL's winter signings

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 22

Dodgers will be in the race at the end.

There will probably be a few more trades and Welch and Clark still must sign but many teams are done dealing. I am just hoping the Red Sox are not one of them, because Dana Kiecker will not win 20 games. Keep the faith, baseball fans, because spring training starts in less than two months.

Dan Wetzel is a Collegian staff member

Buy a LARGE Pizza for the Price Of a SMALL

DOMINO'S PIZZA®

Expires 12/31/90
Not good with any other offer

256-8911
We Redeem Pizza Hut, Avanti, Bruno's Coupons

GOOD ON CARRY-OUT OR DELIVERY

$1.99 PIZZA

Buy any large pizza or 12" pan pizza at regular price, and get another with equal or fewer toppings--for just $1.99

DOMINO'S PIZZA®

Expires 12/31/90

Safe, Friendly, Free Delivery
Not good with any other offer

we have the Christmas Presence

Find it at FACES

amherst • northampton • open 7 days

LOOK GOOD FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

104 Russell St.
Elmwood Shops
Hadley, MA

Patrick & Co.
Distinctive Hairstyling For Men & Women

Appointments
Or Walk-Ins

586-7477

$3.00 OFF Haircut
With Val-Pak® Coupon
Expires Jan. 30, 1991

$10.00 OFF Perm & Haircut
With Val-Pak® Coupon
Expires Jan. 30, 1991

$10.00 OFF Haircut & Hi-Lighting
With Val-Pak® Coupon
Expires Jan. 30, 1991

©Val Pak, 11/1990 Val-Pak of Western Massachusetts, No. 24158-70 NH

STOCKING STUFFERS...

Out of Ideas? We're Not. Come see hundreds of clever and affordable Gifts.

DAILY 10-8
SAT. 10-5:30
SUN. 12-5:00

Compliments

71 N. Pleasant St. (Above Cafe DiCarlo)
Amherst 256-1551 • Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30
MC Visa Amex • 1(800) 542-8327

RUSSELL'S
Discount LIQUORS Discount

18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Featuring Samuel Adams Winter Lager
$17.99 case

Bacardi Rum Reserve 500 ml $4.99

Glacier Bay 12 pk $4.99

AFTER FINALS 'BUBBLEY'
Codorniu Brut Classico $4.99 750 ml
Korbel Brut Extra Dry $8.99 750 ml

200 ml 'Spectacular'
Leroux Applemint or Cranberry Schnapps 99c
Pastene Deluxe Brandy 80° $1.50
Bacardi Gold Reserve $2.99

Vodka 80° 1.75 L $8.99

All Samuel Adams six pk $4.99

Many More In Store Specials (especially on wines)

★ Delivery Available ★ All beers plus deposits

Pearl Street

'TIL TUESDAY

The Vestrymen
Fri., Dec. 14 7:00pm
$9 adv., $10 at the door
Advance Tix available at Pearl St.
For the Record in Amherst,
Strawberries Record Stores,
Ticketron (800) 382-8080

10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

Tick, tick, tick...

Hampshire Mall Holiday Shopping Hours

December 1—December 21
Monday–Friday . . . . . 10:00am to 10:00pm
Saturday . . . . . 9:00am to 10:00pm
Sunday . . . . . 12:00pm to 6:00pm

December 22
8:00am to 10:00pm

December 23
12:00pm to 8:00pm

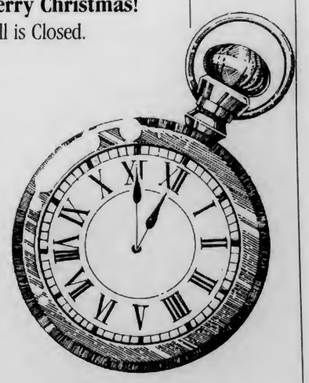
December 24—Christmas Eve
8:00am to 5:00pm

December 25—Merry Christmas!
Hampshire Mall is Closed.

December 26
9:00am to 9:30pm

December 31—New Year's Eve
10:00am to 5:00pm

January 1—New Year's Day
Noon to 5 p.m.



For the best of times, shop Hampshire Mall.

Hampshire Mall

Route 9, Hadley
Information/Customer Service (413) 586-5700

Tree farmer crushed firs can't go to soldiers

By MICHELLE LOCKE
The Associated Press

CHICOPEE, Mass — Christmas tree farmer George Kedzierski said yesterday he's crushed that his plan to ship evergreens to U.S. troops stationed in Saudi Arabia was felled by restrictions.

"It's a real blow," said Kedzierski, who got the idea to donate 40 firs from his tree farm in Southwick after seeing television reports of British shipments of the seasonal greenery.

"I felt very strongly that the troops at the front lines at Christmas time should have some kind of a symbol, a connection with their home," he said.

But officials at Westover Air Force Base said the shipment ran into a snag after they learned that foreign religious symbols were not being encouraged in the Islamic country and that the shipment of the live trees would violate agriculture restrictions.

Military spokespersons said the question of practicing other religions in Saudi Arabia, site of the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina, is a sensitive one.

"The Saudis apparently are turning their heads at some things," said Gordon Newell, Westover spokesperson.

At the Pentagon, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Ken Satterfield said there is no official ban on Christmas trees.

"It's not a function of offending any kind of moral values. It's more of a function of practicality," he said.

Services will be held to celebrate the holidays, he said.

"There is no attempt by our military or the Saudi government to throw a damper on the Christmas holiday for our forces over there. However, one has to remember that our forces are not there in what we call an exercise or training environment, they're there to carry out a real mission," he said.

In the meantime, the 40 trees will find a home at Westover, the nations's largest Air Force reserve base and home to 16 of the huge C-5A Galaxy transports. The trees are slated for the passenger terminal used by troops shipping out.

Microfridge

All in One Compact Refrigerator, Freezer and Microwave Oven

RENT ONE NOW, PAY FOR IT NEXT SEMESTER

You've probably seen one already, sleek, streamlined, matching top to bottom. You've probably used someone's already, and maybe made floormates shut their doors when they see you and your popcorn coming. You may have wished you had rented one before the supply dwindled away to nothing. NOW YOU CAN HAVE ONE FOR YOUR VERY OWN.

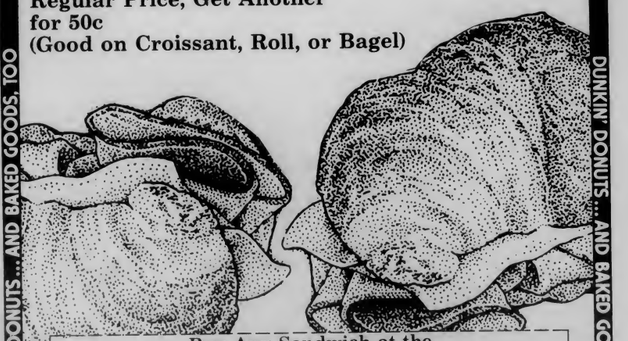
In an effort to meet the need of our residents who would like to rent a Microfridge but can't afford it right now, Housing Services will allow you to rent a Microfridge-and ask you to pay for it, NOT NOW, but during the first week of February.

If you would like to take advantage of this offer, stop by the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore and sign a contract.

P.S. I would hurry. Remember, it's first come, first served.

POOL TABLES
Now in Stock!
For Immediate Delivery
$125.00 OFF ANY POOL TABLE
$10.00 OFF ANY POOL CUE
HOLIDAY SPECIAL
BROWN'S 8 BILLIARDS
MT. FARMS MALL • HADLEY MA • 584-0916
4 FREE STREET • WESTFIELD MA • 562-9028

CopyCat Print Shop
RESUME SPECIAL
Have your resumé typeset in 3 business days (1st proof) AND recieve 25 Copies of your resumé all for only..
Offer expires 1/31/91 $17.99
228 Triangle St, Amherst
(413) 549-3840

DUNKIN' DONUTS...AND BAKED GOODS, TOO
Buy Any Sandwich at the Regular Price, Get Another for 50c (Good on Croissant, Roll, or Bagel)


Buy Any Sandwich at the Regular Price, Get Another for 50c (Good on Croissant, Roll, or Bagel)
One coupon per customer per visit. Available at participating shops. Offers cannot be combined. Shop must retain coupon. Taxes not included. Limit 1 offer
Offer good thru 12/17/90
Open 24 Hours 7 days a week
DUNKIN' DONUTS It's worth the trip.
Offer Good at Rte 9 Hadley Shop Only (Next to Four Seasons Wines & Liquors)
DUNKIN' DONUTS...AND BAKED GOODS, TOO

THE PUB
Fun. Food & Spirits
Friday and Saturday
Celebrate Our New Menu
Any Menu Nachos $2.00
Buffalo Chicken Wings $2.00 8:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.
Pitchers of Miller Lite $4.50
Our Famous Jello Shots $1.00
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT·AMHERST

Secretary of Education quits

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Lauro F. Cavazoz, the first Hispanic American ever appointed to the Cabinet, resigned today as secretary of education.

He is the second member of President Bush's Cabinet to depart in recent weeks.

There was no immediate reason given for Cavazos' decision to resign, and the resignation letter did not say what Cavazos plans to do.

Administration sources said that Cavazos had tired of criticism aimed at his performance behind the scenes by White House Chief of Staff John. H. Sununu. His critics had faulted the education chief as an inadequate salesperson for the administration's policies, who never mastered television skills.

Cavazos, 63, has led the Department of Education since 1988. He was appointed by former President Reagan and was held over in the job by Bush.

The resignation was announced at a meeting of Bush's Cabinet today.

Cavazos did not attend the Cabinet meeting. He is out of town, a White House official said.

Bush, in a letter accepting Cavazos' resignation, said: "For more than two years, and under two presidents, you have distinguished yourself through your devotion to imporing the education of our nation's children."

Cavazos, in his own letter, said he was stepping down effective Dec. 15.

"I am especially proud of the contribution I was able to make in expanding choice in education, promoting the executive order on excellence in education for Hispanic Americans, and raising awareness of the growing diversity of America's student population," said Cavazos, former president of Texas Tech University.

"I have only the greatest expectations and highest hopes that each child in America will be educated to his or her fullest potential," said Cavazos.

Cavazos' departure had long been rumored. He was one of the lowest profile members of Bush's cabinet and was considered by many in the education community to be ineffective.

William Bennett, Bush's drug policy director, also resigned last month, but subsequently agreed to become the next chairman of the Repulican National Committee. Bennett, Cavazos' predecessor at the Department of Education, did not hold Cabinet rank.

Cavazos was a far less controversial secretary of education than Bennett, who warred with teacher unions and was an acerbic critic of America's universities.

Ex-hostage discredits sanctions

By MAUD S. BEELMAN
The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, Germany — Economic sanctions will not force Saddam Hussein to back down because his legions looted enough from Kuwait to sustain Iraq for years, a Canadian businessperson who fled the captive nation said early yesterday.

The Baghdad-born executive said he was "utterly amazed by the over-simplification of the issue . . . that economic sanctions will have their effects on Iraq."

"What has been looted from Kuwait is enough to last the system for up to 10 years," the 50-year-old businessperson said.

In addition to computers, cars, and other consumer goods, he said the amount of food taken from Kuwait could last Iraq at least two years. "This issue of starvation is highly exaggerated."

The University of California at Berkeley graduate lived in Kuwait 11 years and through his work was closely connected to Kuwaiti and Western businesses. He spoke on condition that he and his company not be identified for fear colleagues in Kuwait would be harassed.

There is widespread debate over whether the U.N. embargo on trade with Iraq could by itself force Saddam to back out of Kuwait.

The trade cutoff has shut down Iraq's oil exports and food imports, but Baghdad has taken measures toward achieving self-sufficiency.

The Canadian was among 14 people who landed in Frankfurt late Tuesday. The group included seven Americans, two Britons, two Canadians, an Irishman, an Italian, and an Australian.

Their U.S.-chartered Boeing 707 was one of three jetliners delivering former hostages from Iraq on Tuesday. Two others flew to Bankok and London.

U.S. consulate spokesperson Craig Springer said the men would take commercial flights to their destinations.

Saddam announced last week that he would free all those trapped by the Aug. 2 invasion, and more than 170 former hostages arrived in Frankfurt on Monday in the blanket release's first wave.

Another flight, believed to be the last, is expected in Frankfurt on Thursday, carrying the U.S. ambassador and embassy staff from Kuwait.

Most of the former hostages looked tired and refused to speak to waiting reporters.

BOSTON BARTENDERS SCHOOL OF AMERICA

IF YOU ARE OVER 18 BE A BARTENDER!
LOCAL/NATIONAL PLACEMENT ASSISTANCE
DAY/EVENING ONE WEEK
747-9888
New Classes Starting January 7th
1655 MAIN ST.. SUITE 202, SPRINGFIELD, MA 01103

HAPPY HOLIDAYS
CHRISTMAS PARTY
Wed. Dec. 19th
9-BALL TOURNAMENT
EAT, DRINK, AND BE MERRY
HOLIDAY SPECIAL
1/2 PRICE Off Playing Time
WITH THIS COUPON
Monday-Friday before 6 pm
BROWN'S BILLIARDS
POOL ROOM OPEN NOON - MIDNIGHT
7 DAYS A WEEK

40—80 % OFF
Publisher's Original List Price On All BOOKS

Recent Titles • Remainders
Bargain Editions • Reprints

Several Calendars and Date Books Too

VALLEY BOOKS

Downtown Amherst
Open weeknights 'til 7:30
Sat. 10-5 Sun. 12-5

Visa/MC/Check

DON'T STAY HOME

Round trips from NY starting @

London	$412
Paris	480
San Jose,C.R.	390
Bangkok	959
Hong Kong	879
Tokyo	759

Student Faculty Fare
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. Fares subject to change. One ways available. Work/Study abroad programs International student and teacher ID.
EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
Free student travel catalogue

Council Travel

GOOD LUCK ON FINALS.
HOPE WE SEE YOU IN THE SPRING. ☮

AMHERST CINEMA

Now Playing

MILLERS CROSSING

Mon-Thurs
One Show 7:30

Fri-Sun
7:00 and 9:15

GOOD CARS GOOD PRICES

PELHAM AUTO

Long known in the valley for great service on small imported and domestic cars is pleased to offer

FINE USED CARS AT REASONABLE PRICES

A sample of our selection:

1986 Chevy Nova 5 sp, A/C #10101 $3895
1987 Chevy Sprint 5/AC #1116 $2995

1315 Federal St. (Rt 9) Belchertown, MA (413) 253-9811

湘園
PANDA EAST
CHINESE RESTAURANT

We bring Chinatown to you

Open Hours: Mon-Thurs. 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri. & Sat. 11:30am-11:00pm
Sunday 2:00pm-10:00pm

Lunch Hours: Mon.-Sat. 11:30am-3:00pm

103 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-8923 (413) 256-8924

ATTENTION STUDENTS WHO MAY BE CALLED TO ACTIVE MILITARY DUTY

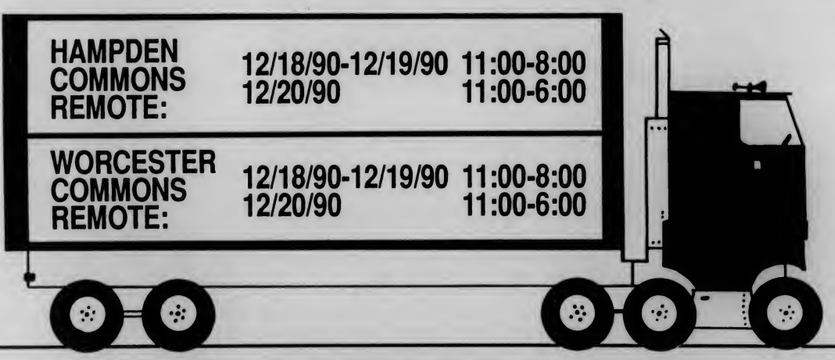
The Board of Regents has issued a policy statement concerning students who are called to active military duty.
The policy covers issues such as:

- Tuition & fees refunds
- Nonpunitive withdrawals from courses
- Assistance in filing mitigating circumstances forms
- Priority in enrollment upon return to school

For more information, or for assistance come into the Dean of Students Office, 227 Whitmore (5-2684).

SELL YOUR TEXTBOOKS FOR CASH
HAMPDEN & WORCESTER COMMONS

HAMPDEN COMMONS REMOTE:	12/18/90-12/19/90 12/20/90	11:00-8:00 11:00-6:00
WORCESTER COMMONS REMOTE:	12/18/90-12/19/90 12/20/90	11:00-8:00 11:00-6:00



ALSO AT...
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
12/12/90-12/14/90 9:00-4:00
12/15/90 10:00-3:00
12/16/90 CLOSED
12/17/90-12/21/90 9:00-4:00

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

"Would you look at that? . . . By thunder, you couldn't do that in our day — yessiree, the rocks were just a lot heavier back then."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

GOT A MOMENT, GENERAL?
WHAT IS IT, BILLY?
SIR, ARE YOU AWARE OF THESE TALKING CHRISTMAS CARDS THE MEN HAVE BEEN GETTING?
I AM. IS THERE A PROBLEM?
YES, SIR. I THINK WE OUGHT TO START INTERDICTING THEM. SOME OF THE CARDS HAVE CREATED REAL MORALE PROBLEMS...
EDDIE? I'M LEAVING YOU FOR A PILOT.
NOTHING PERSONAL, GUY.

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

THIS WHOLE BUSINESS OF SANTA REWARDING GOOD KIDS AND NEGLECTING BAD KIDS REALLY BUGS ME.
..NOT THAT I HAVE ANYTHING TO WORRY ABOUT, OF COURSE.
A PARAGON OF VIRTUE, THAT'S YOU.
RIGHT! BUT SEE, THERE ARE CERTAIN THINGS A GOOD KID COULD DO THAT MIGHT LOOK BAD IN A CERTAIN LIGHT, IF ONE DIDN'T CONSIDER ALL THE MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.
LIKE KEEPING AN INCONTINENT TOAD IN YOUR MOM'S SWEATER DRAWER?
EXACTLY. IF I WAS BEING RAISED IN A BETTER ENVIRONMENT, I WOULDN'T DO THINGS LIKE THAT.

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY

Wednesday Nights
Seth Kaye

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

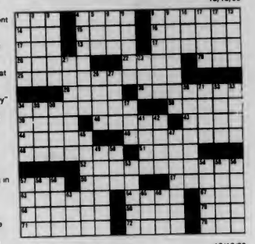
ACROSS
1 Have a late meal
4 Bivalve
8 Sissy, the actress
14 In Roma, one
15 Julia Ward or Elias
16 Printing errors
17 AMA members
18 Mimic
19 Alias Ensign Pulver
20 Fabulist
22 Lockmaker Linus
24 Compass pt.
25 Disjointed
28 Rip
29 First Republican presidential candidate: 1858
34 Boxing practice
38 Object
39 Pueblo dweller
40 Takes it easy
43 Part of a bowling alley
44 Lavin role
46 Afternoon event
48 Time to do the laundry
51 Actor Richard
52 Not involved
57 No good
60 Ice-cream treat
61 Ball flower?
62 Incarnation
64 "Elephant Boy" star
67 The Greatest
68 Soprano Tebaldi
69 Layer
70 Come upon
71 Master of "Jeopardy"
72 Leave rolling in the aisle
73 Some

DOWN
1 Shrubby tree
2 Beneath
3 Oater group
4 Division
5 Cut off
6 Wonderment
7 Actress Streep
8 Merchant
9 Prepared for a date
10 Limb
11 Arrived
12 British public school
13 Role for Welles
21 Big bird
23 TV extraterrestrial
26 Come up short
27 Florence's river
30 Medley
31 Sultanate
32 — Dimitris: prayer
33 Ash
34 Novelist Irwin
35 Silent vamp Negri
36 Sacred bull
37 Channel
41 Yard parts
42 "The Forsyte —"
45 Inform
47 SW Connecticut city
49 Hooded jacket
50 Desire
53 Safe havens
54 Andean animal
55 Actress Burstyn
56 God
57 A Simpson
58 Claim
59 Hamlet, for one
63 Hunter
65 Sicken
66 Rue and Betty's partner

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

S	U	E	S		A	R	G	I	O	T		F	I	A	R
A	T	I	N		L	O	U	R	E		A	N	N	A
V	E	S	T	I	B	U	L	E	S		I	V	O	R
E	S	T	E		D	I	E	G	O		T	I	M	E	A	D
			N	E	T		A	S	H	T	I	N	S
A	R	T	I	S	T		M	U	N	S	T	E	R	A
L	E	N	O	T		D	O	U	B	T		M	E	A
E	L	A	M		S	O	A	R	E	S		P	E	R	K
N	A	V		D	U	N	G	S		A	N	N	I	E
E	V	E	S	D	R	O	P		E	D	I	T	E	D
		S	T	O	V	E	S		L	A	G
W	A	T	U	S	I		A	E	O	N		S	P	E
E	M	I	R		V	E	S	T	P	O	C	K	E	T
A	B	E	D		A	M	I	M	E		M	I	R	E
R	O	S	I	N	Y		L	U	N	A	R		A	P	E	S

12/13/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

12/13/90

MENU

LUNCH
Tuna Noodle Casserole
Grilled Turkey Swiss Sandwich

DINNER
Rotini
Scrod

BASICS LUNCH
Tuna Noodle Cassreole
Grilled Turkey Swiss Sandwich

BASICS DINNER
Rotini
Scrod

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Refuse to let others tell you how to live your life. Be honest with your business and romantic partners. Do not run unnecessary errands. Spend more time with your loved ones tonight.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Do not despair if someone fails to live up to a promise. Look for other alternatives. A legal question will be settled in your favor. Negotiate behind closed doors for the best results.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Sending out positive vibrations will promote harmony. You can win new friends and business opportunities by working behind the scenes. An upbeat group will invigorate you tonight.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Children and significant domestic changes are part of the big picture. Break the shackles of self-doubt. A new beginning is possible and could prove profitable. Build savings.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A new project needs to be given a second look. Accept your mate's or partner's offer of assistance. News from abroad sounds promising. Plan recreational activities for the whole family.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Stay calm if you are faced with delays. A hobby or avocation could steer you in a new career direction. Be willing to roll with the punches. Do not reveal any secrets now.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Shop or sell – you can do both well. A communications mix-up could jeopardize progress at work. You have a talent for prophesy – use it as your guiding light.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You have a knack for getting others to follow your lead. The business climate is friendly. Confiding in VIPs proves beneficial. Look for ways to bring greater beauty and comfort to your home.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An old secret is brought out into the open. The action you decide to take will depend on your family's reaction. Keep spending within limits. Ask questions to clarify a message.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be cautious about making arrangements that involve others; you could be barking up the wrong tree. All work and no play is difficult, but perhaps necessary. Spend the evening with congenial folks.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A self-improvement project will boost your ego. Seek mate's opinion before starting a diet. Romance looks more promising than in the recent past. Choose your confidants with greater care.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Try not to incur unnecessary expenses. Dismiss the idea that you must "keep up with Joneses." Romance is looking good. Shower your loved ones with affection and they will reciprocate.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor... Sarah L. DeMaster
Copy Editor... Kendra Pratt
Layout Technician... Michael J. Caravella
Photo Technician... Rich DuCree
Production Supervisors... Mike ...
Typesetter... ...
Production... ...
Jean Libby Nicole Himes
Lee Kane Mason Frost
Terry Summer Mike Caravella

Amherst skater places third in NEs

By KEN MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

Katarina Witt. Debbie Thomas. Michelle Hendrick. Michelle Who?

University of Massachusetts sophomore Michelle Hendrick has been figure skating for 10 years and has battled her way back from serious injuries to become one of the best in New England.

She recently placed third in the New England Figure Skating Championships, which qualified her for the Eastern Championships, to be held Jan. 8-12 in Rochester, N.Y.

An Amherst native, Hendrick, 19, is the only woman from the Amherst Skating Club to ever qualify for the Easterns.

"Michelle was a little disappointed with her finish in the NEs," her mother, Ana Hendrick said. "She thought she had a good chance of winning, but came down with the flu 10 days before."

The road to success has not been an easy one.

Five years ago, Hendrick broke a vertebra while practicing a difficult move and was forced to wear a brace for six months, according to her mother. Last May, she suffered two stress fractures in her left leg, which sidelined her for six weeks.

Hendrick's main goal right now is to qualify for the National Championships this spring in Minneapolis, Minn., according to her mother. To do so, she must place in the top four of her division.

Hendrick started skating at age eight when a friend invited her to the Amherst Skating Club and competed for the first time eight months later in Lake Placid, N.Y., according to Mrs. Hendrick. Soon she was skating year round and Mrs. Hendrick found herself driving to Springfield twice weekly since the A.S.C. closes in March.

"She has been in so many tournaments, I can't remember them all," Mrs. Hendrick said. "She has a big bag full of medals; golds, silvers, bronzes."

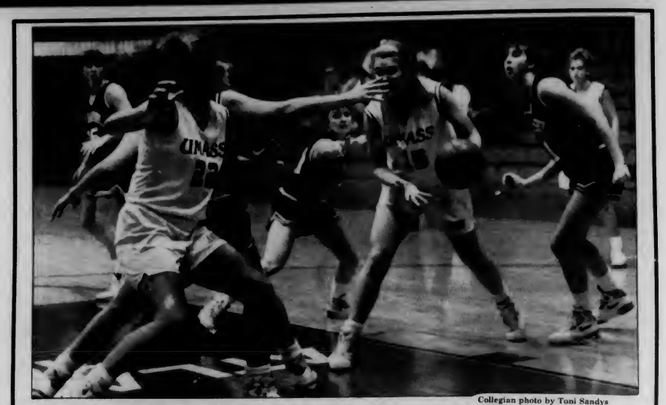
Mrs. Hendrick said her daughter has always dreamed of making it to the Olympics, however, she said she realizes it is a longshot.

"After all her injuries and setbacks, she realizes it will take a lot of luck to get there," she said.

Hendrick has been offered a job as a performer in professional show, but it does not interest her, according to her mother. She said her daughter wants to concentrate on competitions.

Hendrick trains about 20 hours per week, which includes traveling to Boston on Tuesdays and Thursdays, where much of her competition practices, also according to Mrs. Hendrick.

Hendrick, a theatre major, would like to pursue acting after her skating career is over, her mother said. Hendrick turns 19 today but barely has time to celebrate due to her training.



Collegian photo by Toni Sandys

Senior forward Keyburn McCusker passes to sophomore forward Kim Kristofik in a game against New Hampshire.

Baseball players do the picking and choosing

In the past, the Major League Baseball winter meetings were dominated by major trades, now the meetings are a free agent shopping market. The spending spree has gotten out of control since it is no longer just the big name players that bring in the cash but anyone who can pitch or hit.

Relief pitcher Dan Schatzeder signed a $700,000 contract with Kansas City even though he was 1-2 with no saves last season.

Kevin Gross pitched so bad last year for Montreal, that the pitching-poor Expos barely made him an offer. Gross ended up signing a three year deal worth $6.4 million with Los Angles.

Neither Gross nor Schatzender should make much of an impact on their respective teams but many teams have made some big changes.

Dan Wetzel

Starting in the American League East, I was impressed that the Red Sox signed Matt Young. I was expecting to see Lou Gorman at spring training telling everyone that he just couldn't pull the trigger on a deal. Gorman, however, would assure us not to worry because Dana Kiecker would win 20 games so there was no need to sign anyone.

Sweet Lou can, on occasion, pull off a good trade but he is terrible with free agents. Losing Mike Boddicker puts a monstrous whole in the rotation, a whole that Matt Young will not fill. As for signing Roger Clemens, Gorman told Rocket that he would talk with him AFTER signing Greg Harris. It is not a good idea to insult Mr. Clemens that way. The Sox must sign Bob Welch, no matter what the price, if they want to contend next year.

Toronto made a blockbuster trade with San Diego sending All-Stars Tony Fernandez and Fred McGriff for All-Stars Joe Carter and Roberto Alomar. I think the Blue Jays gave up too much talent but it will bring much needed change to the Sky Dome. Carter is a Red Sox killer but McGriff will hit more homers overall. Fernandez is so good defensively that his lack of power does not matter but Manny Lee should do fine at shortshop for the Jays.

The Yankees blew it by letting Dave Righetti get away and although Steve Farr can still pitch, I have little faith in Tim Leary. It does not look good for New York.

In the AL West Kansas City and Chicago have made major gains. Kansas City now has a tremendous rotation and a solid bullpen, add to that Kirk Gibson and a rejuvenated George Brett and the Royals are for real.

Chicago has already picked up Cory Snyder, still a dangerous hitter, and if they get Welch away from Oakland than they should be the preseason favorite for the division.

Oakland may have gotten Willie Wilson but they lost Willie McGee. Losing Welch would be a major blow but any team their talent can not be taken lightly.

In the National League East the Mets will miss Darryl Strawberry's bat but not his ego. Vince Coleman will fill in nicely and but they still need another bat (Jack Clark).

In the West, San Francisco made the most moves. They traded away reliever Steve Bedrosian (to Minnesota for P. John Ard) but they signed Righetti and Bud Black to the bullpen. Willie McGee can help them at the plate, on the base paths and in the field. He may be the biggest pick up of the off season.

Los Angeles picked up an offensive force in Strawberry and it will be interesting how Tommy Lasorda deals with the big guy. If Orel Hershiser can return to form the

CONTINUED ON PAGE 16

$2 off per hour Mac Rental

$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh* computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 12/31/90.

Open 24 Hours* 253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street (across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon.

kinko's the copy center

ACADEMY-MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
ONLY AREA SHOWING, ENDS FRI DEC 14
Curtain Daily 6:45 & 9:00
COMPLETELY UNCUT IN ITS ORIGINAL VERSION.
"AN EROTIC MASTERPIECE. Remarkable. A genuinely erotic film that celebrates a woman's sexual awakening with unabashed enthusiasm."
Henry & June
The Story of Henry Miller, Anais Nin, and Miller's wife June in Paris in the early 30's
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

Pearl Street
this week..
Thur., Dec. 13—7:00pm WRSI Hindu Love God WARREN ZEVON Treat Her Right
Fri., Dec. 14—7:00pm 'TIL TUESDAY The Vestrymen
Sat., Dec. 15—8:30pm RONNIE EARL, SUGAR RAY & THE BROADCASTERS The Bullhorns coming...
Fri., Dec. 21—8:30pm THE STEAM ROLLERS Ray Mason Band
Sat., Dec. 22—8:30pm JOHNNY COPELAND
Fri. Dec. 28—8:30pm THE BREAKDOWN
Sat., Dec. 29—8:30pm THE OUTLAWS New Year's Eve- WHO'S KIDDIN' WHO DANCE on the Area's largest dance floor from Wednesday through Saturday
413 584-7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

ARE YOU PREGNANT & IN NEED OF HELP? Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
Same Day Results
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
a non alternative to abortion

LANGUAGE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS
English as a Second Language
Intensive Day Classes
Part Time Eve. Classes
TOEFL Preparation
Classes begin 1/21/91
Registration 12/3-1/14/91
Amherst Creamery Bldg.
150 Fearing St. Ste. 29
549-5065

Need cash? Own any gold?
CASH FOR GOLD
Progressive Gold Recycling
256-0842
Highest offers in the state!

Reid receives Coach-of-the-Year

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 24

our program since I've been the head football coach," Reid said. "It's really a program of the year' award that includes coaches, players and administration. I'm extremely proud of the staff and the University. I want everyone on campus to share in this."

Reid has also been named 1990 University Division 1-AA Coach-of-the-Year by the New England College Football Writers Association. Reid previously won the award in 1988.

This year UMass finished 8-1-1 in the regular season, won the Yankee Conference Championship outright and advanced to the Division 1-AA playoffs.

Under Reid, the Minutemen have won three Yankee Conference Championships in five years, and have been to the playoffs twice. Reid's career record as head coach is 32-22-2.

"What I'm particularly proud of is our continuing improvement. We had a number of second- and third-team guys thrown into some big games, like Delaware, Villanova and Connecticut, and they got us to a championship. We were the definition of team, team, team."

Reid will receive the Football Writers Coach-of-the-Year award and the annual New England Football Writers/Captains Recognition Banquet in Cambridge today.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—ROOM 113 MON.-THURS. 9:00-5:00 FRI. 9:00-4:00 TO PLACE YOUR AD IN AMHERST'S #1 WORD DAILY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

GET INTO VIDEO! Check out the Union Video Center SUB behind the Hatch Get involved next semester

ONE CREDIT Baton Twirling class offered next semester Contact Charise 546-1808

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST downtown ideal visiting parents friends 549-0733

COME AND SEE THE GIVING TREE at Hegis Mall! By donating a dollar or two, you can help prevent child abuse! For every dollar donated, a light goes on the tree. For every $2, a lego goes on the tree. All proceeds go to the MSPCC (Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children) on Thursday Dec. 13th. Stop by today!!!!!!!!!

CONGRATULATIONS to A.A.S.A. Womens Volleyball Team for winning the Intramural Volleyball Womens Division Let's do it again next year!

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext 50

GET YOUR CAFFEINE FIX for Finals! Greenough Snack Bar will be open from Sunday to Wednesday 8:30 to midnight.

HEY ALL YOU AXO LEAVING US NEXT SEMESTER: Julie G, Julie P, Chrysei, Weedy, Jami, Laura N, Andrea R, Andrea C, & Lisa- We'll miss you all, but have a blast!

OIL CO-OP Join OCHO Oil Co-op and save money. Register at 428 Student Union or call 545-0865.

SPRING BREAK TRAVEL FAIR Don't be left out in the cold! Feb. 14th

AUTO FOR SALE

1977 CAMARO 308 w/Cragars. Good parts car. Many extras. Best reasonable offer. Call Jason 546-8124.

1985 CHEV CAVALIER Conv.t 2 8L, all opts AC & Tape Equalizer, 4sp silver/blue one own, mint, $4750, Mr. Collins, 549-0041 day 256-0066 eves.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...

RACK-A-DISC the best entertainment DJ's, video, bands; dorm/house specials call 586-9900 anytime

FOR RENT

1 BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent at Colonial Village. Right in front of the bus stop. One hundred dollar reward. Take over lease anytime betora February first. Call 253-0571. After 4 00PM

1 BEDROOM IN HOUSE on Hobert Lane. Half-mile from campus. $177 a month + utilities. Call Scott 549-9380.

1 BEDROOM on Main St. very quiet on bus route. Great for a couple $550 incl. heat 253-9551

1 ROOM efficiency, on Belchertown Rte. 300 sq. ft., all util. Included 400.00/mo. I am graduating and I need someone to take over lease. Call Jeff eve 253-2893 day 545-5726

1 ROOM IN 3 BDRM Downtown NOHO 230 + Call 584-4078

2 BEDROOM BRANDYWINE quiet clean completely furnished 2 spaces avail $182.50/mo Female, serious, student pref. Avail. immed 549-2786 or 545-6072

BRANDYWINE APT 2 bedroom 3rd floor. Take over lease Jan 1. 760 a month 549-5954.

CONDO in Belchertown/Amherst 2 bdrm. 475. Call 253-2352

GREAT LOCATION Downtown Northampton 1 bedroom-$215 Jan 1st 586-8657

NEED TWO PEOPLE for spacious 4 bedroom house in Amherst. Bus stop 2 minute walk. Large yard, porch. Cool Landlord. $190 month. 549-6102 John 546-3532 Frank

NORTHAMPTON APARTMENT Large, sunny apt., includes sauna, off-street parking, great kitchen. Share w/2 other men. Near bus. No smokers, no pets. Available Jan. 1. $315/mo & utilities. Call Dave or Cam 585-0292

NORTHAMPTON CENTER APARTMENT Spacious 1 bedroom renovated. 586-2986 $560 Negotiable

PRESIDENTIAL- 1 bedroom 6 min. walk, quiet Dave 549-5616 early eves.

PUFFTON: One bedroom for two people to share. Option to take lease. Call 548-1611

ROOMS FOR RENT 14 spots available at Delta Upsilon over intersession. $175. If interested please contact Buddy or Chris at 549-3831.

SINGLE, Pulton, non-smokers. Call 549-2781.

STUDIO IN AMHERST $460w/util. Jan 1. Call Scott 253-9820.

TAKE OVER LEASE in Jan One bedroom apt in Col. Village $400/mo. Call 253-7843

TOWNHOUSE- 2 bedroom, 1½ bath apartment on bus route North Amherst 1-567-1352.

WANTED: 2 people to share large master bedroom in beautiful new condo for spring semester, intersession optional $212.50 per person. 256-8189.

FOR SALE

AIRLINE TICKET: Roundtrip Hfd/Atlanta Dec 17- Dec 29 $200 or best offer 586-8762

C-64 System and Software over 70 disks Call 253-9067.

GREAT DEAL!! Computer only $600 (negotiable) includes: printer, disk drive, mouse, color monitor, joystick and software Call Tina 549-7537.

IN CELEBRATING OUR FIRST YEAR in business, Metawampe Furniture wishes to thank Dottie of the C.C.C., Gerry Quarles, S.W.A.G., Emma Cappaluzzo, The Internship Office, G.S., J.G. and especially our customers. For all your Futon needs Metawampe Furniture Sit with us, lounge with us Sleep with us 256-0646

ONEWAY, Logan to West Palm on Dec 20th. Cheap! Call 253-9929 Eric

TICKETS TO LA $350 Dec 27th to Jan 27th. Call 546-0969 betwn 6:00-8:00PM.

ZENITH COMPUTER, VGA Monitor, printer. $1100. Call Danny MSDOS GWBasic. 546-5374.

FOUND

KEYS on silver clip keychain found on N. Pleasant St. Call 549-1042.

LEATHER JACKET at Mike's Weetview on Friday nite. You took mine by mistake. Call to exchange. 549-5254

COLLEGIAN BUSINESS BOARD

TO THE DEDICATED, HARDWORKING, insane managers and associates in the business office: You are the best team I could have ever asked to work with- I look forward to next semester with abated breath. Thank you for everything! Your Faithful Business Manager. Suzanna Trump

COLLEGIAN STAFF

I JUST WANTED TO THANK ALL OF YOU for the support you've given me this semester. We all know how rough it's been, everyone has witnessed Gayle reging through the newsroom, people's buns getting chapped...While I can't say I'll really miss the job, I will miss working with you guys! I couldn't have pulled through without you! Love, the editor-in-hell.

GREEK AREA

 HAPPY HOLIDAYS  to the entire Greek Area. Wishing you a safe and Happy New Year too! See you in the Spring! ALPHA CHI OMEGA

GRADUATION SENIORS

OR EXCHANGE STUDENTS keep in touch with UMass. Subscribe to the Collegian on a daily basis. For more details stop by the Collegian offices at 113 Campus Center or call 545-3500.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!!! to the best roomies I could have ever hoped for: Mary, Kathy, Sharon Thanks for a great semester! Love yah, Tara

HELP WANTED

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free 1-800-395-3393.

AMUSEMENT PARKS, Holiday Resorts, Disneyland, 6 Flags, are hiring. Great fun and get paid too! Reserve position by calling 1-805-682-7555 Ext K-1370.

CAMPUS REPS needed to promote springbreak trips to Daytona and Panama City Beach, FL. Earn free trips and money while earning valuable business experience. Call Kim at 1-800-558-3002.

CHOCOLATE MOLOKO

HELP US TO HELP YOU We need students with good communication skills and lots of enthusiasm to call alumni on behalf of a special campaign to raise money for financial aid. Call Jerry Joy- e/ at 5-3509 or stop by the basement of Memorial Hall for more info.

INTERSESSION SALES REPS NEEDED. Several locations in New England, New York and New Jersey. $250-$1000 week commission. Must have a car. Send resume to: Tour Promotions International PO Box 169 South Deerfield, Ma 01373

MARKETING

Earn up to $500/week over intersession. Call 617-969-4286

SHIPPING AND RECEIVING, Framingham State College Bookstore, from late December to late January. Full or part-time $5.50 per hour. Call 508-872-3658 Ask for Dave

SPRING BREAK IN Cancun or Bahamas from $299.00! Includes air, 7 nights hotel, cruise, beach parties, free lunch and much more! Call 1-800-Beach 4

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT SCUBA DIVING 2 credit basic and advanced courses offered both semesters at Curry Hicks pool 2 credit sport courses to Key Largo during intersession, spring break, and end of August! Register for all courses through the General Physical Education Department Further information at Curry Hicks pool Monday through Thursday 7PM-10PM or call Project Deep 549-8401

ENGLISH as a second language. Classes begin January 21, 1991 Intensive day, part-time evening, and TOEFL preparation. Three levels. Register now! Language Pacifica, 549-5065.

LOST

BLACK ESPRIT WALLET Fri 12/7. Please contact Judi 549-8407.

BROWN LEATHER JACKET ATR 12/7 No questions asked. Reward. 546-1208

EARRING: Sterling silver clip on. Flower with moonstone in the center. Very special. Reward offered. Call Stephanie at 367-2781.

HANDMADE LEATHER CASE w/fringe and contents. Call LW 665-7336

SHEPHARD BEAGLE MIX Near Logtown Rd 12/3/90 Has no tags or collar Call 256-0602

WHOEVER STOLE my UMass Ski Team Sweatshirt in Boyden call 549-1987 or i dare you to wear it just one day.

"SWEETUMS" SUKIENNIK

WHAT? It's been a month? I am so happy now. You have been so sweet, kind, and understanding, what can I say but that I Love You! Love, Kethy

SNOOGUMS

HERE'S YOUR PERSONAL Kathy! You've made me so happy this month- I hope you feel the same way. I'll miss you! I Love You. Greg P.S. -See? I told you I would.

TO THE ENTIRE COLLEGIAN STAFF

WELL, THE SEMESTER'S ABOUT OVER. But before we go, let me just say that I think you are all awesome. Every one of you. It's amazing what three departments, working together, can do. We may not be very popular, but we get the job done. I'm glad I got to come back. Kathy, the newsgeek

PERSONALS

BECK Thanks for being my best friend. Do you have any bruises I should know about? EEEEE! We were separated at birth, but we'll never be separated again. I Love Ya! Sandi

BUNNI, Thanks for the best semester! Can't wait for next semester, and then sixty years or so. I love you! Bunny

CHIEF CLIFFY! You pinhead! A year! You will be missed, trust me. Panda

CHRISTINE- Statistically speaking I fill my pants more than the average guy.

CISCO Happy 21ST Birthday!!! Try not to hurt yourself. Love Always, Michelle P.S. Looking forward to January!

DEAR DAMAGE INC. You make my life so special. I love you. Merry XMas. Love, Turk.

HAPPY EARLY BIRTHDAY ANDREA! You're the best roomie ever. You finally got your very own personal. Have a great break! Love Marla

ERIC, The countdown is finally over! Have a great 21st birthday! Love, Lisa

DAN K Should we answer your phone? Even though we caused so many problems, we know you'll miss us. We'll miss you too. Mavericks! Love, Carrie and Michele PS Never take Shumway!

DEE HELIN AND JULIE LANDERS Congrats ! will miss you both in Sigma. Love Laurie Ford

ED AND ERIC: If you know me...my whipped cream fantasy is...what??

FRED FORD Happy Birthday! Behave yourself. Love Laurie and Jane.

GABBY AND JANICE- Happy 21st! It's a little early, but January's going to be great. Look out for dishwashers and paper bags, and Remember- Only the good die young! Love Melissa

HAPPY EARLY BIRTHDAY J.J.!! Be P-Ness, No S-Ness Love Maria Andrea Barry

TO THE SMITH HOUSE SIX: Look who's in the freezer- I wanted to wish you all Happy Holidays. Thanks for the love and the friendship. On the Schlice! Shira you are my tomatos/tomatoe! Marry B- You've been mon amie francais Merci You women are the best possible roomies a gal could have. Thanx. Love, Brooke

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TAMMI Good luck on finals! Love, Jason

HEY ABBY Good Luck on your finals! PS What would you like for Christmas? Love, Claude!

HEY GOLDILOCKS, Happy Anniversary. You're the best! Love, Freakler

HI GUYS! Merry Christmas!! Thanks for everything from an awesome break, and then only one more semester! You guys are the best! Pop and Tony, Happy Birthday one day early! PS Goodluck on finals.

HI SUE Have a nice XMAS Love Duc

Jen Thank You for making my semester so special. The Virgin Islands are only five weeks away. I can't wait. I love you. Kenny

JEFFREY, I love you! Scooby Dooby! Sandra

JEN B Can't wait to see you in the 60s over Spring Break I miss you Jimmi Hendrix

JIMMY BLACK Happy 2 year Anniversary, Happy Birthday and Happy Valentine's Day since you won't be here next semester to celebrate I wish you all the luck in the world, but just remember...I'll be waiting!!! I love you Melissa

J.J. HAPPY BIRTHDAY! Love, Me Remember only the Candy Man Can.

 JONNY O  Happy One Year Annuversary!!! Love You-Always Melissa

KIRK My Meine Man Good Luck I'll miss you Love Helene

LAUREN & ANDREA I'm glad we're ending on good notes. May the 3 Schwartzes be with you!! I Love You!! -Michelle

LIME Squeeky chairs and going public. Heh Heh. Boy we're brazen. Happy Holidays! Eskimo Pig

LISA MALONEY You are leaving UMass! I will miss you. Good luck with everything from your friend from home, school and everywhere. Love Ellen

MEG, SUE, MIKE, CARL, Jeffrey, Randy, Pams, Doug, Wemi, Adam. Thank You for making my last semester wonderful! I'll miss you all terribly! (but at least I'll be tan) Love, Mindy

MERRY CHRISTMAS NUMBER 4!!!! Hoping your holidays are filled with many surprises! Love, a swimmer

MIKE PATRIDGE- Have fun down under! We'll miss you. Love, Michele, Carrie, Margo, Todd, Mark, and Pat.

MORRISON IS GOD, and he's teaming up with ...the Phantom! I must apologize- the personals have been inspiring! Way to pull it out of a hat, UMass. I never thought I'd say this, but I feel I know you well enough now. I'm psyched! Super-Psyched! Wicked Super Way Psyched! -The Phantom P.S. Bose! Now you know.

MORRISON IS GOD: If you refuse to worship Jim Morrison, the lord and savior, you will suffer a violent and torturous death. I will not hesitate to use the holy hand grenade. The evil Anti-Jim must be stopped. Thank you Jim for showing us the way. Until next semester... Break on Thru!

PAT MC. Happy Birthday to the New Year's Baby (and I do mean "baby"- just kidding!) Just think only one more year to go! Love me

PEBBLES Kitty litter, noisy neighbors, 8 o'clocks, stress, TD, roomate game, fartsmellers, big words, secrecy, disco, pizza puke, hairballs, "feels good". We made it through another semester! Friends Forever! D.J.

RB Have a record? Let's make one of our own! KAL

RICH- THETA CHI Thank you for sharing the past year with me I love you. Kelly

ROBYN OF TRI-SIGMA—You're it!!! Happy Hanukah!! Love, Michelle

SHERYL L. Happy Hanukah! Luv Heather

SUE FROM SDT You are an awesome sister and friend. I'm going to miss you next semester GDLK! -Lisa

TAMARA R. Good luck on your finals! Merry XMas. Take care. Love your roomate

TO THE "EVIL TWINS"! Merry Christmas! Have an AWESOME time in Puerto Rico- don't do anything I wouldn't do. I'm looking forward to our week in Florida- yes Kim, this is your formal invitation!!! I'll see you guys over intersession when I come up to visit. Love you- M.A.

TO THE RANGER PLATOON Happy Hu-ahldays Have a great break Love Connie and Ali

TO MY ROOMIES—You guys have been great this semester (except for rattling food and slackness). Register, everything will work out soon, you'll see. Things will be better before you know it. And Gaylee, try not to let your head explode next semester, or let your rate at the "Stompers" prompt you to bash Mr. Maltone's head in with a bottle. Have a great break! Love the queen anti-semite

TO THE OLD CREW Sean, Jon, Reggie, Bob, Gloria, Anthony, Amy, Kim, Miriam, Garrett Happy Holidays! Love Rose

TRACY Happy One yr Anniversary! Good luck on your finals. Have a Merry and Wonderful XMas -Love Danny

U'S AMY: Thanks for being a "mica" friend. Good luck on finals & Feliz Navidad -Sabe

YO! Hot-to-trot Woman, Thanks for the long nights, the early mornings, and the icecream. Love, Animal

RANDEE PASTEL

THANK YOU for being so patient and dedicated. I love working with you and I cherish our friendship as well. You will truly be an asset to the paper in my position next year and I look forward to telling you as much as I can about what may lay ahead Susan

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 ROOM IN HOUSE. $233 + utilities. Jan-June lease. Bus route. 256-8979

BRANDYWINE- Roommate wanted for spring semester: male, non-smoker. Call 549-5414.

BRANDYWINE APT One space available. Male. 192.50/month. Call 549-4159 anytime

FEMALE HOUSEMATE needed to share 4 bdrm apt in NOHO. $220/mo + utilities Jan. 1- Aug. 31 1991. 586-8744

FEMALE ROOMATE wanted for spring semester the Brook. $130 + utilities. Amy 253-2150

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring sem. in house $200 Feb to May no lease. 253-0409.

FEMALE TO SHARE ROOM in renovated Brandywine Apartment. Spring Semester only. Julie at 549-3591

FEMALE WANTED to share room beautiful two bedroom apt. for spring semester. Five min walk only $135.00 Call 546-4173.

HOBART LANE -8 Single room next semester $210/month 549-2903

HUGE ROOM 1½ mi from campus. Great housemates. Old farmhouse. 275 single 300 us double. Directly across from UMass Hornsfarm 549-8117.

MALE ROOMMATE in house wanted Completely furnished washer/dryer cable tv 185/mo. January 1 start. 100yds from bus. I'm graduating. Must fill spot. 253-2728

MALE WANTED to share room in a two bedroom house in Amherst Center. Only $163 + a month. 253-4079

MALE ROOMMATE NONSMOKER to share large bedroom Squire Village $150 665-2428

NEED A PLACE to stay for wintersession Stay at Pi Kappa Alpha. Very reasonable rates! Call David at 549-2951 or 549-7383 for more info

ROOM in beautiful Levarett home. Avail. Jan 1 female pref. $250/mo. Call now! 548-9905

ROOM IN PELHAM HOUSE 6 minutes to campus. $190. 256-1211.

ROOMMATE (MALE) to share one bedroom apt. in downtown Amherst. 215 $/mo. Call (508)872-5973.

ROOMMATE WANTED for Mill Valley Apt 253-5765

SINGLE ROOM in large house bordering campus. Move in now or next semester. 45 Phillips St. $250 549-5985.

SINGLE ROOM in nice condo 4 miles to UMass! $230+ 253-9413.

YOU'VE FOUND IT!! Single in North Amherst 200/mo. Fireplace, free cable, cool people 549-6383.

SERVICES

DO YOU KNOW THE TIME? Watch batteries, and full jewelry repair service Silverscape Designs, the finest gifts from glass to gold. 264 North Pleasant Street, Amherst 253-3324.

HOLIDAY BOOKING selling out! Campus Travel on Campus 545-0500

PREGNANT? Need a pregnancy test, information or support? Call for free and confidential services ALTERNATIVES 33 Main St. Northampton 586-3000 or Greenfield area. 774-6010.

SUBLET

1 BEDROOM in two bedroom apt. Furnished Sunderland on busline. female grad pref $225/mo. Susan 665-8233.

STUDENT SEEKS affordable room in South Amherst for intersession. Call 546-0247.

SUNNY ROOM downtown Amharst, Wintersession $250 including heat, water. Kathryn 256-8610.

TRAVEL

CHRISTMAS, SPRING BREAK, SUMMER TRAVEL FREE. Air couriers and cruiseship jobs. Call 1-805-682-7555 ext. F-1426.

FLY SOUTH Round Trip Boston to Miami Jan1-Jan20 $120 6-4882 or 6-7411

PLANE TICKET to Denver Dec 20 75$ Ed at 6-0487/ 253-7502

SPRING BREAK TO DAYTONA! Travel with Yankee Line Tours on the deluxe motorcoach March 15-24, 1991  Campus pick-up & drop-off!  First class hotel accomodations!  Beat location, excellent nightlife!  Only $259.00 (QUAD OCC.) For more info contact Scott or Jim: (413)256-0029 Reserve your spot now!

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

WORDPROCESSING: Dissertations, theses, papers. Affordable, dependable. Mac/LP on-campus. Nancy 584-7924.

TYPING

ARE YOU SICK OF TYPING? Fast and Accurate Typing/Wordprocessing Free laserprinting Call Becca 549-4600 X433

NEXT DAY typing/wordprocessing 323-4579

WORDPROCESSING, $1.45/pg, fast, leave message 549-0484.

WORDPROCESSING Inexpensive, Quick and Accurate- Campus Pickup & Delivery Call Lisa 256-6695

WORDPROCESSING, reports, theses, graphs, laser printing. Call Rosemary 259-1786

WORDPROCESSING- Term papers, etc. Fast Service, reasonable rates. Call Janet 253-3276 leave message

SPORTS

Hartford takes control, ousts UMass, 59-42

Collegian photo by Toni Sandys

Sophomore forward Kim Kristofik (22) shoots here against New Hampshire. The Minutewomen lost to the Lady Hawks last night in Hartford 59-42. Kristofik scored 8 points and contributed 6 rebounds.

By BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

HARTFORD, Conn. — Two different halves, two different teams.

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team appeared to be on the way to its first victory of the season, but Hartford turned on the burners and outscored UMass by 25 in the second half, resulting in a 59-42 Lady Hawk victory last night at Hartford.

In a change of pace, UMass dominated the first half, leading by 8. Nonetheless, Hartford (3-4) turned their sloppy first half play into an up-tempo aggressive game and out-hustled UMass to win.

"It was very clear what we had to do and, we didn't get it done," said UMass coach Kathy Hewelt. "I wish I had the answers . . . same kid, same gym."

Harford's Lana Thomas' 10-foot jumper at 11:03 in the second half started a streak of 22 unanswered points. In that time, Thomas' steals (6) lead to fast breaks. Combined with UMass' inability to get around a tight man-to-man defense, Hartford capitalized.

"When the game becomes fast, we run into execution problems," Hewelt said. "We run into disorganization and frenzy on offense."

Two free throws by Trish Hessel tied the score at 10 in the first half, prompting Hartford's first five-minute scoring drought. She had 6 points for the night, bettered by teammates Keyburn McCusker (19) and Kim Kristofik (8).

"We played much better defense in the second half," said Hartford coach Mark Schmidt. "In the second half we came out and denied the penetration. We were more assertive and looked to go to Thomas."

Thomas scored a Lady Hawk-high 15 points, with 7 rebounds and 2 assists.

"Everything she did gave everyone else confidence," Schmidt said. And so it seemed as Mary Jane Besselink scored 10 for Hartford, but fouled out along with Kem Crimmins.

UMass had its own foul trouble with Lisa Ireland retiring after 21 minutes of play.

Hartford, 59-42

Hartford (59) Thomas 4-10 7-10 15, Besselink 5-14 0-0 10, Crimmins 2-4 3-4 7, Smith 3-5 1-3 7, Esposito 0-7 0-0 0, Broderick 0-1 0-1 0, Anderson 3-6 1-2 8, Ball 1-1 0-0 2, Rodgers 2-4 4-4 8, Bundy 1-2 0-0 2, Penwell 0-4 0-0 0. Totals 21-58 16-24 59.
Massachusetts (42) Kristofik 3-6 2-2 8, Ireland 1-4 0-1 2, McCusker 9-18 1-3 19, Schusler 0-1 0-0 0, Hessel 2-7 2-2 2, Moran 0-0 0-0 0, Valentine 1-1 0-0 2, Pemberton 1-1 0-0 2, Nevarez 0-2 1-2 1. Totals 17-44 8-12 42.
Halftime UMass 23, Hartford 15. Fouled out Besselink, Crimmins, Ireland. Three-point goals Anderson. Rebounds Hartford 41 (Besselink 13), UMass 32 (Ireland 8). Assists Hartford 13 (Smith, Esposito, Anderson 3), UMass 10 (McCusker 3). Total fouls Hartford 19, UMass 22. A: 121.

Minutewomen (0-6) host Harvard in Cage

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

The Harvard Crimson women's basketball team remembers Curry Hicks Cage well. Very well.

Two years ago, as the University of Massachusetts women's basketball coach Kathy Hewelt explained, Tricia Riley's 55-foot desperation heave at the buzzer went in, giving UMass a 70-67 win over the Crimson. Last year the Minutewomen got 20 points from Helen Freeman as UMass won, 78-74.

"UMass versus Harvard is always a tight game," said Hewelt of tonight's contest, which tips off at 7:30 p.m. in the Cage. The Minutewomen do, however, own a 7-0 series record against their Ivy League rivals.

The Crimson, 2-5 pending a game with Central Connecticut State last night, are led by seniors Beth Wambach and Jen Mazanec. Wambach, a guard, averages 14.1 points a game, while Mazanec has been posting per-game averages of 12.3 points and 9.0 rebounds. Erin Maher, Heidi Kosh and Deb Flandermeyer round out the probable starting lineup for Harvard, with Heather Harris and Maura Healy being he first two players off the bench.

"Wambach can really shoot the threes," said Hewelt of Harvard's top scorer. Wambach is currently 24 for 48 from beyond the three-point line. Maher complements her from the land of the threes, having hit 14 bombs so far at a 30 percent clip.

Hewelt is also wary of Mazanec, a 5-foot-10 forward who scored 19 points in an 8 for 9 performance in last year's win. Mazanec has a team-high 65 rebounds for the Crimson and shoots at a 38.2 percent clip.

"Those kinds of things hurt us," commented Hewelt of Mazanec's scoring outburst last season. "Last year they gave us fits — they really go to the boards hard."

"We need to play good basketball against Harvard," said Hewelt. "We'll have to move well, and get in the face of their good shooters. It should be a close game."

If you're in town, stop by and visit: When UMass' season resumes in January, they'll be playing home games against the Atlantic-10's top three teams. They'll host Rutgers Jan. 3, George Washington Jan. 5, Penn State Jan. 17, St. Bonaventure Jan. 19 and St. Joseph Jan. 29.

Paul Mayberry named All-American

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Senior guard Paul Mayberry has been named to the Walter Camp Division 1-AA All-American team. The Walter Camp Foundation, based in New Haven, Conn., is named after the former coach at Yale.

Mayberry had been selected earlier to the All-Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference first team, and to the Yankee Conference's second team.

Collegian photo by Aaron Webster

Senior guard Paul Mayberry

"Excellent, excellent, excellent," Mayberry said upon congratulations of the honors. "That's all I can say."

From the left guard position on UMass' offensive line, Mayberry anchored a rushing attack that finished tops in the Yankee Conference and ninth in the nation at 293 yards per game.

"It's something I can attribute to the whole team, the whole offensive line," he said. Asked if any one player in particular helped him get through the years at UMass, he said Al Pogarian really helped him out. "There were times I really needed him for moral support, he was there."

Mayberry, who was a Shriners All-Star and a three-sport athlete at Waltham High School, recovered from injuries to both of his knees to play in every game this season.

"I felt he was back in spring football," coach Jim Reid said. "We took some weight off him and he ran great. Nothing could have pleased us more. He could have gone to a Division I school but he chose us and he did a great job. He's really a great player."

"Coach Reid did a great job recruiting me out of high school," Mayberry said of Reid who was a UMass assistant coach at the time. "There were a few things I was looking for in personnel — loyalty and honesty, and he was both."

As a sophomore in 1987, Mayberry was a first team All-Yankee Conference, third team All-New England and and honorable mention All-American pick.

Off-season arthriscopic knee surgery slowed Mayberry in 1988, and reoccurring knee problems sidelined him for the last eight games of the 1989 season.

This fall, Mayberry returned to a Minuteman team that finished 8-2-1, won the Yankee Conference title and appeared in the Division 1-AA playoffs.

"It's a great honor," Mayberry said. "But the biggest honor of all was being captain [for a game] of the UMass football team."

Staff member Adrienne Matt contributed to this story

Jim Reid receives Coach-of-the-Year

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Jim Reid, coach of the University of Massachusetts football team, has been named Kodak Region 1 [Northeast] Coach-of-the-Year by the American Football Coaches Association.

The pick means Reid is one of five coaches in the running for Kodak National Coach-of-the-Year honors.

"This is the biggest honor that's been bestowed on

CONTINUED ON PAGE 23

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

Football coach Jim Reid

THIS WEEKEND

Snappy gift ideas for savvy shoppers

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

The economy sucks. No one has any money. Finals are here, stress levels are up and your laundry has not been done in weeks.

Really puts you in some holiday shopping mood, eh?

Well, if you, sitting there with lint-filled pockets and overloaded Visa bills, are struggling with ideas of what to purchase your friend, loved one or annoying family member for the holidays, the Collegian has the answers for you.

It is relatively simple to come up with some clever gift ideas that won't strain your strapped financial state and leave you with no money for the take-out food you'll need during finals.

With a bit of creativity and a lot of caffeine, Collegian staff members have compiled a list of neat holiday gift suggestions for all of those lucky people you plan to spend your skimpy savings account on:

* Tickets to a home UMass men's basketball game, available at the Ticket Office in Boyden. Friends and family members will screech with delight when they open the "ticket" to UMass victory;
* Give your friends a gift that really shows you care — the safe sex Santa ornament currently being sold in the Campus Center;
* Feeling patriotic? How about Old Glory condoms for frisky friends who are fond of the flag?
* Have a friend who would love a gift that would make Jesse Helms' glasses shatter? Madonna's scandalous, MTV-banned, "Justify My Love" video will steam up those windows on a cold, winter night;
* For that sports buff who doesn't want to go to the UMass basketball games — a Sports Illustrated subscription, minus the "Swimsuit" issue of course;
* There must be a hip Twin Peaks fanatic somewhere in your list of friends and relatives. Collegian experts highly recommend Special Agent Dale Cooper's recordings of his memos to his secretary Diane. Available at all major bookstores, except, of course, the University Store;
* Great green thumbs in your midst? Give the gift of life to your dearest plant lover — the Chia Pet is sure to please;
* The Clapper — a must for lazy slackers who don't want to get up off their chapped buns and turn off the switch;
* There's a little kid in every one of us. For the "kid" in your giddy recipients, an Etch-a-Sketch and that soothsaying Magic 8 Ball [by Ideal toys] make perfect gifts;
* Not enough money to heat your apartment? Fundy-undies, underwear for two, will bring that holiday spirit and warmth to any home;
* Got a sexy man on your list? Adidas cologne will be sure to keep his homefires burning;
* But you mustn't neglect your favorite vegetarians on your list. The latest, high-tech advancement in cooking makes a great gift — the battery-operated Salad Shooter;
* And before you bid your farewell to UMass for intersession and enjoy your holiday festivities, our staff has one more gift suggestion — don't buy anything that you have to plug in.

Only a schmuck would buy something that plugs in.

Neurotic Collegian staff members Jody Gabin and Gayle Long contributed to this article

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

Warren Zevon, with special guests Treat Her Right, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton. Doors open at 7 p.m.

Christmas Vespers, a festival of lessons and carols offering the message of hope in a demented world, will be held at UMass in the Campus Center Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Language of Movement Studio Performance, an informal showing of works developed in Amherst College Theatre and Dance Language of Movement class, will take place at Amherst College in the Gym Dance Studio at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Herschler Bros. will play at Sheehan's Cafe in Northampton.

Sound the Trumpet, a program for trumpets and chamber orchestra featuring pieces by Bach and Hadyn, will take place at UMass in Benzanson Recital Hall at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Keramos Holiday Pottery Sale will take place at UMass right near the Cage from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. This event will be repeated on Friday at the same time.

Open House, the annual end-of-the-year open house for the Women Studies Department, will take place at UMass in Bartlett 208 from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

Crimes and Misdemeanors, a film directed by Woody Allen starring Alan Alda, will be shown at Hampshire College in Adele Simmons Hall, Hammen Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Edgemere will play at UMass in the Hatch from 8 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

Aki will play at UMass in the Hatch from 9:30 p.m.-12 a.m.

LOG LADY

Collegian Holiday Bash will take place at Sam's house. Theme: "A semester spent in a very strange place." Be there. Festivities start at 9 p.m.

University Dancers Concert, featuring the work of five college students, will be performed at UMass in Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m. with a repeat performance on Friday at the same time and at 10:30 a.m. For more information call: 545-2413.

FRIDAY

New Impressions in Paper will be on exhibit at UMass in the Fine Arts Center, Rooms 444-445 until December 19. There will be an opening reception from 5 p.m.-7 p.m.

Fall 1990 Studio Show, a BFA thesis exhibition featuring works by Matthew Cloner and Michael Maher, will be on display at UMass in the Art Barn, which is located next to the Textbook Annex, until December 18. There will be an opening reception from 6 p.m.-8 p.m.

Edward Scissorhands premiers in theatres across the country.

Judas Mccabaeus, a piece by George Frederick Handel, will be performed by the Hampshire Choral Society at Smith College in John M. Greene Hall at 8 p.m. Tickets will be $3 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

Santa Claus Motor Scooter Racing will take place in Wuerzburg, Germany this weekend. Ich denke, das wir verruckt bin, dies zu tun, aber Jody wollte mich dies schreiben. Sie dachte, das es gut ware, wenn wir diese zwei Manner an dem Motorrad zogen.

Annie Hall, the hilarious and touching Woody Allen comedy starring Diane Keaton, will be shown at Amherst College in the Campus Center Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. with repeat showings on Saturday and Sunday at the same time. Admission is $1.50.

The Flirtations, an acapella group composed of five homosexual men from New York City, will perform at the Iron Horse in Northampton. Doors open at 7 p.m. Tickets are $10 in advance.

'Til Tuesday, with special guests the Vestrymen, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton. Doors open at 7 p.m.

A Christmas Carol, the classic Dickens play, will be performed by the Hampshire Shakespeare Company at Grace Church Parish Hall in Amherst at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Saturday at the same time and at 4 p.m. and on Sunday at 4 p.m. Tickets are $6.

Mad Dog Blues will play at Sheehan's Cafe in Northampton.

Freaky Friday, a film starring Barbara Harris and Jodi Foster, will be shown at mount Holyoke College in Gamble Auditorium at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Admission is $2.

SATURDAY

The Holmes Brothers, a New York City trio that serve up a pleasant mixture of blues, gospel and sweet soul, will play at the Iron Horse in Northampton. Doors open at 7 p.m. Tickets are $8 in advance.

Rockin' Dave and the Rent Party will play at Twister's Tavern in Amherst.

Sex Kitchen, with special guests the Vestrymen and Sad Cafe, will play the People's Institute on Gothic Street in Northampton at 8 p.m. It will be an all-ages show.

Ronnie Earl, Sugar Ray and the Broadcasters, with special guests the Bullhorns, will play at Pearl Street in Northampton. Doors open at 8:30 p.m.

Comedy Zone, featuring the comedic talents of Dan Margarita, will take place at Peking Garden Restaurant in Hadley at 8:30 p.m.

Annual Open Studio and Sale, featuring the pottery of local artists Steven Schiffer, Diane Travis, Miriam Friedman and Hiroshi Nakayama, will take place at Sunderland Pottery on 101 Plumtree Road in Sunderland from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. This event will be repeated on Sunday at the same time.

SUNDAY

Messiah Sing-a-long, presented by the Commonwealth Opera, will take place at St John's Episcopal Church in Northampton. Admission is free.

Chris Polland, former guitarist for Megadeth, will play at Katina's in Hadley.

Weenie Roast against the War, featuring Free Press, will take place at Westover AFB from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. This event is sponsored by Daniel Shay's Patriotic Front.

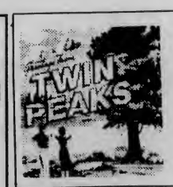
Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure will be shown at UMass in the Student Union Building at 5 p.m., 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Admission is free. This event is sponsored by Alpha Lambda Delta.

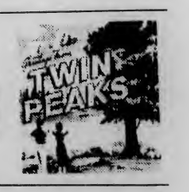
Steve Forbert will play at the Iron Horse in Northampton. Doors open at 7 p.m. Tickets are $11 in advance.

TUESDAY

The Bhundu Boys, a five member band from Zimbabwe, will play at the Iron Horse. Doors open at 7 p.m. Tickets are $14 in advance.

Main St RECORDS
SON OF Main St RECORDS
RECORDS • CASSETTES • COMPACT DISCS
IMPORTED, INDEPENDENT & DOMESTIC
MON - WED 9:30 - 6 SUN 12 - 5
THURS - SAT 9:30 - 9
213 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-5726
COLLECTABLES • USED MANUFACTURER'S OVER-STOCKS
MONDAY - SATURDAY 10 - 5:30
THURSDAYS 10 - 9 SUNDAY 12 - 5
21 STATE ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-1707





HOURS: SUN-THURS 7am-3pm
FRI-SAT 2am-3pm/10pm-3am
Homemade Soups, Muffins, Desserts
Specials
Daily Specials Offered
Take Out Welcome
MYERS EATERY
NORTHAMPTON
88 Pleasant St.
584-4145

THINK
SPRING BREAK
VACATION
—FROM HARTFORD—
MAR 16- BAHAMAS FROM $549.00
MAR 16- CANCUN FROM$499.00
MAR 16- MAZATLAN FROM $649.00

CALL 586-8953
OTHER CHARTER DESTINATIONS AVAILABLE FROM BOSTON
YOUR PARTNERS IN TRAVEL
MAPLEWOOD SHOPS-NORTHAMPTON, MA 01060
"CHOOSE THE PROFESSIONALS"

FREE MOVIE FREE MOVIE
ALD Presents:
"Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure"
When: Sunday, Dec 16
Time: 5, 7 and 9 p.m.
Where: S.U.B.

Musicians to exist for

By JEREMY R. BROWN
Collegian Correspondent

Life is indeed bleak. The season of final exams and bitter cold is upon us. But former Golden Palomino voice Syd Straw has given me some words of encouragement for you, my friends, ahem: "I recognize the life-saving properties that music can impart."

Straw has a new record for us, titled Surprise (Virgin). Her bio calls it, "A treasury of 11 special songs, most written or co-written by Syd." Big deal, I said. You could also say that about To The Extreme. Futhermore the record features another former Palomino, Michael "Your Film equals Rattle 'n Hum" Stipe, a bad sign indeed. To be honest, the only thing that makes me want to take notice of Straw or the LP is her connection to the "well-moulded" drummer Anton Fier. Or perhaps her support set with Camper Van Beethoven at Pearl Street last year.

But I can't resist this record. It's perfect to listen to during this miserable weather. It provides a nice alternative to Here Comes the Groom or perhaps Johnny "Guitar" Watson records. Straw has a unique yet smooth voice, which makes her ballads quite digestible. But it's the straight-ahead rock tracks that have changed my mind about Syd Straw.

Also performing on Straw's LP is guitarist/Jazz Passenger Marc Ribot. There are very few guitarists alive today who perform in a fashion which can't easily be mimicked by your average 15-year-old with 13 guitar lessons, a used Ibanez Roadstar, and a can of Schlitz. You know who I'm talking about. Pentatonic scale masters. Hammer-on kings. Losers.

This is definitely not the case with Marc Ribot. As you may recall, at the heart of the hip band the Lounge Lizards, was John (did you see his cameo in David Lynch's Wild At Heart?) Lurie and guitarist Marc Ribot. You may also remember Marc from Tom Waits' Rain Dogs, Frank's Wild Years and Big Time albums, as well as from Elvis Costello's Rude 5 tour. If you don't remember these things, then you'd better catch up fast. Check out his solo on Tom Waits' "Hang on St. Christopher".

For lack of a more eloquent description, Ribot is the man. Unlike his cohort of New York's downtown music scene, John Lurie, Ribot doesn't define style. Instead he defines a new breed of guitar brillance. His most recent project is a self-titled album on Island Records with his band, The Rootless Cosmopolitians (name from the Ginsberg poem). Put this album on one morning and you may never make it to your exam.

The album features the usual Cosmopolitians, as well as guitarist Arto Lindsay, percussionist Michael Blair, bassist Melvin Gibbs, saxists Ralph Carney and Roy Nathanson and trombone Curtis Foulkes. The album can best be described by pointing out that absolutely no musical impulses are discouraged at any point in time during the songs. He plays free-range music, in a style which is truly brilliant and well-versed. Ribot claims that "the sound you use matters a lot more than the actual play." This philosophy creates a noisy crunch which seems to effortlessly coincide with things like African polyrhythms, Django Reinhardt-esque progressions and walls of distortion. And every one of Ribot's impulses translates into his playing but he never lets one instinct take over throughout a song or the album.

The album also features two great covers — "The Wind Cries Mary" and "While My Guitar Gently Weeps." Ribot challenges three so-called "guitar-Gods" (Harrison, Clapton and Hendrix) by covering these two songs, and he pulls it off at a temperature 10,000,000 degrees hotter than Idol's boring "L.A. Woman*," or perhaps Edie Brickell's "A Hard Rain's Gonna Fall," two recent big airplay (or should I say "teleplay") babies.

Ribot says that he likes playing covers because it lets him "do a duet with people's memories." Other tracks we like are "A Mind is a Terrible Thing to Waste," "Nature Abhors a Vacuum Cleaner," "Friendly Ghosts," and the digital bonus track, "Have a Nice Day." In a year when choreography became more important than content, it's very nice to listen to songs like these.

Syd Straw and Marc Ribot will be performing at the Iron Horse on Wednesday, Dec. 19. Showtime is 7 p.m.

Photo courtesy Island

Hip guitarist Marc Ribot (pictured above) plays with Syd Straw at the Iron Horse on Wednesday, Dec. 19.

Largest College Daily in New England

THE MASSACHUSETTS Established in 1890

DAILY COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1991 ISSUE 70

Students band together against war

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

College students around the nation decided to wage a different kind of war by staging a march in Washington for peace in the Middle East this past Saturday.

The National Network of Campuses Against the War is composed of 85 anti-war groups and 60 different schools (including Hampshire, Smith, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Harvard, Clark, Assumption, Holy Cross, Worcester State and Worcester Polytechnic Institute).

The first objective of the march is to bring the troops home "right away," according to Bill Stant, a professor at Loyola University of Chicago and a member of Loyola's U.S. Out of the Gulf Coalition.

"[By going to Washington] we're hoping to shake up the government," Stant said. "We hope to let the government know that they flouted the will of the American people by sending troops to the Middle East."

The Network convened in Chicago on Jan. 19 and voted to hold a national student conference in Chicago the weekend of March 2-3.

It was also decided that Feb. 1 will be a day of student action on campuses across the country.

"We hope students will organize what they feel is the appropriate way to protest and demonstrate against the war," Stant said.

The Network has five stated objectives:

- To stop the war;
- To get U.S. troops out of the Middle East immediately;
- To divert money going to the military to education and human needs;
- To end racism at home and abroad;
- To not allow a poverty draft or a legal draft.

"The greatest support for the troops is for them to see a vibrant response calling for the government to bring the troops home, that means continued protest," said Nick DeGenova of the Committee Against U.S. Intervention in the Middle East at the University of Chicago.

"This rally-around-the-flag phenomenon which is going on in the United States will be disrupted and sooner or later the censorship of news in the Middle East will be stopped and thousands of dead bodies will be shown," Stant said. "Why are they afraid to show us what is really going on? I think we should have cameras on the front line."

DeGenova said he is upset that so many of the soldiers fighting this war are minorities or poor, working class, young people who joined the military to help pay for their college education.

"I am very confident that troops being used are aware [that many soldiers] joined the Army because of the lack of educational opportunities presented to them," DeGenova said. "I'm confident that many of the soldiers are petrified. There's nothing heroic about dying in the desert."

Asked how we should assemble an army if the voluntary forces being utilized now run low, DeGenova said, "That's a weighty question. Different people will have different answers. Let George Bush go, let Neil Bush go, let the people whose interests are being served go fight."

If Iraqi President Saddam Hussein is able to maintain control of Kuwait's oil supplies, Stant said, "America's economy will go down the drain because of the corporate idiots who got us into the war, not because Iraq has more oil. The Arab people should decide what to do with Hussein, not the Americans."

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

Local protesters listen to a speaker at a recent anti-war rally at Westover Air Force Base in Chicopee.

Three top-level administrators leave for new posts

Collegian file photo

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

Three top-level administrators resigned over intercession after accepting offers for new positions at out-of-state schools.

The resignations of Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson, Assistant Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs William H. Weitzer and the Director of the Office of Third World Affairs Sherwood Thompson, were all accepted by the University administration.

Dennis Madson

Madson, who has served for 12 years at the University, will leave in early March for a senior administrative position at Lewis and Clark College, a 3,200-student liberal arts college in Portland, Ore.

In a press release, Provost Richard O'Brien said that Madson would be greatly missed at the University.

"Denny Madson has put together a highly successful Student Affairs Group, many parts of which have become national models," O'Brien said. "He is imaginative and forward-looking...His leaving will be a great loss."

Madson said in a written statement that being a part of the "University's drive for quality" has been "wonderful" and says the University continues to be an excellent school.

"We continue to be a 'best buy' when compared with peer institutions," Madson continued. "We have so far succeeded in maintaining our academic excellence despite budget cuts, and we offer tremendous learning opportunities both in and out of the classroom."

"The University of Massachusetts is a treasure, and I hope the state invests in it wisely so that Massachusetts may continue to reap its benefits in the years ahead," he added.

As Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, Madson oversees seven divisions which provide services in public safety, housing, student activities, and student discipline.

William H. Weitzer

Weitzer, Madson's assistant, left the University on Jan. 4 for a position as assistant provost at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn. Some of his responsibilities are currently being assumed by Dean of Students JoAnne Vanine who was unavailable for comment.

Hired in 1985, Weitzer oversaw emergency response and long range planning, program evaluation and liason work with other offices on campus for his division.

Weitzer originally came to the University in 1976 and earned a master's degree in psychology and a doctorate in environmental psychology. He then headed the Student Affairs Research and Evaluation Office before assuming his position as assistant vice chancellor.

Sherwood Thompson

On Jan. 18, Sherwood Thompson, the director of the Office of Third World Affairs left the University to become the director of the Office of Minority Affairs at the University of Kansas.

Because of the hiring freeze at the University, Thompson will not be immediately replaced although Student Activities Director Irene Carew said they will apply for a waiver.

Carew said the Student Activities Office

CONTINUED ON PAGE 18

Former football coach, 77, dies

Vic Fusia served as Minuteman coach from 1961-70

Vic Fusia, 77, the winningest coach in University of Massachusetts football history, died Friday, Jan. 18, in Amherst.

Fusia coached at UMass from 1961-70, compiling a 59-32-2 record.

He was named New England Coach of the Year in 1964, when the Minutemen finished 8-2 and played in the Tangerine Bowl against East Carolina.

The 1963 Minutemen outscored their opponents 265-12 during an 8-0-1 season.

Fusia was a 1938 graduate of Manhattan College and a Navy Veteran of World War II. He was born in Wilkinsburg, PA.

Before coaching at UMass, Fusia coached five years in the Pennsylvania state high school system and was an assistant coach at Brown and the University of Pittsburgh.

After retiring from coaching, Fusia remained with the UMass athletic department until 1982.

Fusia leaves his second wife, the former Harvelene Gates; two sons, G. Michael of Hadley, and Mark J. of San Francisco; a daughter, Carol Fusia Campbell Ramsay of Amherst; a brother, Richard of Ligonier, PA.; and two sisters, Katheryn Fusia Catino of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Elizabeth Fusia Ortale of Addison, Ill., and one grandchild.

Fusia's first wife, the former Joan Cunningham, died in 1981.

Funeral and Memorial services were held in Amherst Tuesday, Jan. 22.

INSIDE:

Page 3: Dean of Engineering resigns.
Page 9: Columnist Gayle Long writes a letter to the mother of a solder.
Page 14: Five UMass professors win Fulbright grants.
Page 20: School of Management wins national acclaim in Business Week.

Do you like our new look?

The Collegian has redesigned our masthead, section and page headlines to save space and give our readers more information in the newspaper.

THE MASSACHUSETTS
DAILY COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief....Terry Starmer
Managing Editor....Jody Gabin
Editorial Editor....Jeremy Levinson
News Editor....Gayle Long
Sports Editor....Adrien Matt
Arts Editor....Danielle Dowling
Photography Editor....Kim Burke
Black Affairs Editor....Sondra Sutton
Women's Issues Editors....Rua Kelly
Multicultural Affairs Editor....Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor....Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor....Trystan Skeigh
Business Manager....Susan George
Advertising Manager....Dave Melnick
Finance Manager....Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager....Jim Winterbottom
Subscriptions Manager....Stacy Rogers
Promotions Manager....Marc Pruskin
Production Manager....Nicole Dumas
Day Graphics Manager....Jenn Burns

PROFFESIONAL STAFF

Business....Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics....Rory Evans

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor....Meredith O'Brien, Sam Silverstein
Copy Editor....Jody Gabin
Layout Technician....Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician....Kim Burke
Production Supervisor....Nicole Dumas
Typesetter....Danielle Dowling, Terry Starmer
Production....Rick Seto, Seth Kaye, Terry Starmer, Mark Sturm, Jen Fatkin

Circulation: 21,000. New England's largest college daily newspaper. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

identity crisis

CLAM MAN

For Your Information

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30

Print Sale — WMUA 91.1 FM is sponsoring a print sale in the Student Union Ballroom through Feb. 1, from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Senate Meeting — The SGA will be holding a meeting in Campus Center 163C from 7 p.m.-12 a.m.

Voter registration — Amherst residents can register to vote in the Amherst Town Clerk's office from 8 a.m.-10 p.m. for the Feb. 19 Town Caucus.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31

Film — The Science Fiction Society will show The Yellow Submarine in the Campus Center Auditorium. Show times are 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The cost for the first screening is $1.50, and the remaining showings will cost $2.

Meeting — The Residential Recycling Program will discuss semester activites in CC 811 from 6:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1

Dance — Iota Phi Theta is sponsoring a dance in the Campus Center Auditorium, from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Admission is $4.00 for students and $5 for non-students.

Coffee Social — The LGBA coffee social will take place in CC 803 from 3 p.m.-6 p.m. Admission is free.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3

Teach-in and Discussion — The Civility Commission, the Student Activities Office and Office of Human Relations is holding a teach-in and discussion on the Middle East Crisis from 7 p.m.-10 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Admission is free.

Rush Fair — A Greek Rush Fair, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, will be held in the Campus Center Auditorium from 6 p.m.-9 p.m.

Rush Orientation — The Panhellenic Council is sponsoring a rush orientation in CC 163C from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. Admission is free.

ARE YOU EXPERIENCED IN COMPUTER SYSTEMS?

The Collegian is looking for a SYSTEMS MANAGER which requires an interest in computers, good communication skills, and a flexible schedule. Applications are available at the Collegian and must be submitted by Friday, February 8.

The Collegian is an E-O-E

WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

SONY • JVC • TECHNICS • AIWA • PANASONIC • SHARP • TDK • MAXWELL

STEREO BLUES? UNDERGROUND SOUND CAN HELP

UNDERGROUND SOUND has been an expert, cost effective repair service for home audio, car audio, video components and musical instrument amplifiers since 1981. We also sell new and used components and install car audio systems at competitive rates. Stop procrastinating—Get It Fixed—Listen to Music—Be Happy.

UNDERGROUND SOUND • 104 NORTH PLEASANT STREET, AMHERST MA • 253-9507
WE ARE LOCARED BENEATH PANDA EAST RESTAURANT

ARE YOU PREGNANT & IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
FREE PREGANANCY TESTING
Same Day Results
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
an alternative to abortion

WE'RE SORRY
our amherst store is closed our amherst store is closed

WE'RE GLAD
our northampton store is open our northampton store is open

Visit our Northampton store 20% Discounts with college ID.

Offer good through 2/7/91

Main Street Northampton Faces

"SPRING BREAK 91"
CANCUN, MEXICO
FEATURING THE OASIS CANCUN HOTEL

STARTING MARCH 16, 1991
THRU MARCH 23, 1991

FROM $399 COMPLETE

PRICES BASED ON QUAD.

CARIBE INTERNATIONAL	$399
MARGARITA HOTEL	$449
CALINDA QUALITY HOTEL	$469
TERRAMAR HOTEL	$509
AQUAMARINA HOTEL	$549
OASIS CANCUN HOTEL	$569
HOLIDAY INN CROWN PLAZA	$599
MELIA TURQUESA	$599

ADVANCE TRAVEL SERVICES, INC.

COMPLETE PARTY WEEK INCLUDES:
R.T. AIRFARE (FROM SELECT CITIES), R.T. TRANSFERS, 7 NIGHTS HOTEL, 3 HOUR CRUISE, BEACH PARTIES, FREE ADMISSION INTO NIGHTCLUBS, ALL HOTEL TAXES, AND ADVANCE TRAVEL TOUR HOSTS ON LOCATION.
* PRICES BASED OUT OF N.Y. ADD $20.00 FOR BOSTON.
ALL MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL
TOLL FREE 800-283-8767

LOCAL

Amherst Town Meeting backs peaceful Gulf settlement

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

On the eve of the UN deadline for Saddam Hussein to withdraw Iraqi troops from occupied Kuwait, Amherst Town Meeting members overwhelmingly passed a resolution asking President Bush to pursue more negotiations instead of initiating military action.

With surprisingly little debate, more than 130 town meeting members voted on the resolution after about 45 minutes of discussion.

Many members, who said they were not surprised at how quickly the vote was taken, wanted the resolution sent to the president as soon as possible, hoping that the nationwide call for peace could thwart war.

The resolution was sent by fax machine to the president, Congressional leaders and Massachusetts Congressmen by the town clerk on Jan. 15, the day before the massive Allied air attack against Iraq commenced.

Judy Brooks, member of the Amherst Select Board, urged members to vote against the war saying war is not the answer to problems in the Middle East.

"War is not inevitable, it is insane," Brooks said. "This impending war is madness. . .The incentive to stop it must be ours."

Elisa Campbell, chairperson of the Select Board, said the town meeting members had already made up their minds on the resolution after watching the Congress debate the issue on television. On Jan. 13, Congress voted to support President Bush's use of force against Iraq.

"Most of us have already listened to as much as we could," Campbell said, adding that members came to the meeting ready to vote quickly.

There was some degree of controversy about the Town Meeting members taking a vote on a foreign policy issue, according to Town Meeting member Dee Sutton.

"A lot of people objected to the Town Meeting taking stands on national issues," Sutton said.

Sylvia Cuomo, also a Town Meeting member, said, "Any other time we voted on national issues was at a regular town meeting." But because this meeting was called

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

Engineering dean resigns

James John leaves for GMI Institute

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

Having brought the University of Massachusetts' College of Engineering to national recognition, Dean James John is leaving the University on July 1 to assume the presidency of the GMI Engineering and Management Institute in Flint, Michigan.

In a press release, President-Chancellor Duffey said he accepted John's resignation with deep regret, adding that he understood why John took the attractive position at GMI.

"Jim has done an outstanding job here," Duffey said. "During his years at the University, the College of Engineering has made tremendous advancements working with many outstanding members of the faculty. He has guided the school into the first rank of engineering colleges in the nation."

John said he enjoyed working with the "outstanding" staff, students and faculty, and thinks that despite the difficult fiscal situation, the college has enough stability to prosper.

"There is a lot of momentum in the College which will allow it to continue to succeed," John said. "[The program] enjoys the support of alumni and industry and business throughout Massachusetts and the nation. I appreciate the support we have received from President-Chancellor Duffey and the administration."

John said his departure has nothing to do with the current fiscal crisis plaguing UMass and the state economy, it is merely an excellent opportunity for him.

"This will give me a chance to run my own show which I've wanted to do for a long time," he added.

According to the UMass press office, the College of Engineering has grown impressively during the seven years of John's leadership. In that time, it has tripled its research budget to $10 million and graduate enrollment has doubled to 700.

With John's support, the College has also developed programs for minorities and women in engineering which have achieved national prominence.

Other accomplishments during John's tenure include the building of an Engineering Student Center and construction of the $5.1 million Knowles Engineering Building which will house office and laboratory space for the electrical and computer engineering department. Neither project involves the expenditure of state funds.

In addition, the College now boasts one of the best computer facilities in the country which includes the Video Instructional Program that allows students outside the classroom to benefit from the College's course offerings.

John holds bachelor's and master's degrees in aeronautical engineering from Princeton University as well as a doctorate in mechanical engineering from the University of Maryland.

GMI, where John will assume his new position, is a smaller independent institution with 3,000 undergraduates and 750 graduate students which was established by General Motors in the 1930s.

UMass Press Office photo

James John

Construction begins on Mullins Memorial Center

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

Construction on University of Massachusetts' 10,214 capacity William D. Mullins Memorial Center commenced early this month. Suffolk Construction Co. Inc., submitted a low bid of $38.48 million for the project and was awarded the contract by the University of Massachusetts Building Authority.

Suffolk, a Boston-based company, is the fourth-largest construction company in New England.

Suffolk's safety record was recently marred by several incidents in the West Springfield area, including when a 36-foot cinder block wall collapsed in July of 1990 behind the Riverdale Shops.

According to a report by Robert Raichle, vice president of Professional Engineers in Massachusetts, "The wall was simply blown over. This is in spite of the fact that the winds were light."

During the same West Springfield project, Suffolk cut through a 13,800-volt power line, causing 40 shops in the Riverdale Mall to lose power for an hour.

"I personally was unaware of any of these mishaps," said Jake Bishop the director of procurement at the University of Massachusetts.

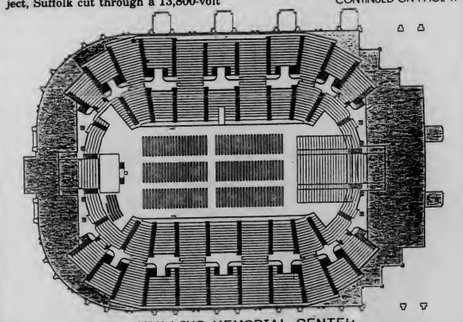
"Suffolk was cleared by the Division of Capital Planning and Operations as a qualified bidder, and a safe constructor," Bishop continued. "Under [Massachusetts General Laws] Chapter 149, we were required to choose the low bidder."

The construction of Mullins Memorial Center is slated for a 1993 completion.

The project represents a major step forward in further developing the University of Massachusetts athletic department, according to Athletic Director Frank McInerney.

There are plans to revitalize the hockey program which was abandoned several years ago. "Everyone in this Commonwealth says that we should

CONTINUED ON PAGE 19



MULLINS MEMORIAL CENTER

Richard Jones, UMass dance director, 53

Richard Jones, 53, an assistant professor of dance and the artistic director of the University Dances for the past 12 years, died Jan. 20 in his home.

Jones had been performing in Canada before coming to teach dance at the University in 1973. A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, he was a graduate of Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn., and New York University.

He had previously taught at New York University, as well as various dance schools in Europe and the United States.

A memorial service will be at Douglass Funeral Home of Amherst at a later date.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Richard Jones Memorial Dance Scholarship, care of Marilyn Patton, 11 Totman, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA. 01002.

Homeless children get companions

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Homeless children staying in a local shelter will soon be able to take their minds off the bitter cold and the tumult of life on the streets to enjoy time with newly-found friends.

The Amherst Companion Program, a 16-year-old program that has provided area children with volunteer companions, recently kicked off a new program to find companions for children from homeless families.

The Amherst Resource Center, which sponsors the Companionship Program, recently received a $16,000 grant from Carlisle Services, Inc. of Framingham, to hire a part-time employee to screen, recruit and train volunteers to serve as companions for local homeless children.

Ruth Harms, director of the new program, said children aged five-18 whose families are staying at Jessie's House, a Northampton homeless shelter, and plan to settle in this area will be placed with companions as soon as volunteers are available.

Homeless families can stay in Jessie's House for up to 90 days, but Harms wants companions for the homeless children to stick with them for at least a year to help them through the rough period of moving from a shelter to independent living.

"The idea of companions specifically for homeless children comes out of a need to help them through the transitional period," Harms said.

"Other children [in the Companionship Program] might have [family] ties or someone with them," she continued. "For many of the homeless children, this will be a new experience."

Harms said having the children go out and do things with their companions will help relieve the stress on homeless parents looking for jobs and places to live. "This will give parents a break and give the kids an activity that they otherwise wouldn't have," she said.

Harms said the families in Jessie's House are "very excited" about the program, adding there are currently four children waiting for companions.

"We would like to have a pool of volunteers as more children come into Jessie's House," she said.

While Harms said the program is actively looking for volunteers, it has traditionally had problems finding male volunteers.

"A lot of these families are headed by single mothers," she said, "and the one thing their sons need and haven't gotten are male role models. Some people don't even want to bother if they can't get male volunteers for their sons."

Three times as many women volunteer to be companions as men, Harms said.

Harms said many people get the wrong idea about volunteering, thinking they have to spend a lot of money on activities with the children.

"In fact, we encourage companions to do activities that don't cost anything, like tossing around a football or even

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

WAR IN THE GULF

Press accused of negative war coverage

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The White House is asking the press a question that government asks at times like these: Whose side are you on?

After several days of skirmishing with reporters looking for more details about the effectiveness of allied bombings in Iraq, the administration opened counterattack last Wednesday.

It accused reporters of unnecessary negative coverage and suggested that one of the country's most respected war correspondents had become a conveyor of propaganda.

"I don't know why you're so intent on proving massive failures of some kind," President Bush's spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, told reporters while complaining about a report broadcast by Peter Arnett of Cable News Network.

"We must point out once again that any reports coming out of Baghdad are in effect coming from the Iraqi government," Fitzwater said, suggesting that Arnett's reporting was aiding Iraq.

"I think it's fair to the American people to know that when they hear these reports, exactly what it is they're are seeing," he added.

In his report, Arnett, the only Western reporter permitted by Iraq to remain in Baghdad, said that in August he toured in Iraqi facility which manufactured baby formula. He said he had been taken back after the allied bombing started and found the facility in ruins.

"The machinery inside was a molten pile. The intact signboard at the entrance to the factory read, 'Baby Milk Plant' in English and Arabic," Arnett said.

The American military responded vigorously it had targeted a civilian facility. The only place in Iraq, Arnett said he had been told, capable of producing infant formula in a country that has been subjected to a five-month embargo.

"I can assure you our targeting is strictly limited to military targets," Lt. Col. Mike Scott told reporters in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Air Force Lt. Col. Mike Gallagher said the facility was heavily fortified with "Military guards around it, a barber fire fence."

"Numerous sources have indicated that the facility is associated with biological warfare production," Gallagher said.

Later, in Washington, Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said, "It is not an infant formula factory no more than the Rabta chemical plant in Libya (bombed by the United States as a nerve gas factory) made aspirin."

Added Powell: "It was a biological weapons facility, of that we are sure, and we have taken it out."

AP photo

News vendor Fred Cohen of the "Out of Town" news stand at Harvard Square in Cambridge sets out a line of newspapers that announce the start of the Gulf war.

SPECIAL CUSTOMER SERVICE HOURS

OFFERING ALL OF YOUR BACK TO SCHOOL NEEDS

UNIVERSITY STORE Hours	TEXTBOOK ANNEX Hours
Mon. Jan. 28 9-5	9-5
Tue. Jan. 29 9-7	9-9
Wed. Jan. 30 9-7	9-9
Thur. Jan. 31 9-5	9-9
Fri. Feb. 1 9-5	9-5
Sat. Feb. 2 10-3	11-5

MINI STORE HOURS M-F 7:30-10 Sat.-Sun. 8:30-10

MUNCHY STORES Franklin M-F 7:30-9 Hampden M-F 8-9 Worcester M-F 8-9 (All Munchys open weekends 12-8)

UNIVERSITY STORE

PLEASE RECYCLE!

HAMPSHIRE FITNESS CLUB

Get A Free Hampshire Fitness Club T-Shirt!

With any 3, 6, 9 or 12 month Membership Hurry Supplies are limited.

Our New Treadmill is Here

- Pool
- Racquetball
- Sauna
- Massage
- Computerized Bikes
- StairMasters
- Aerobics & Aqua-Aerobics
- Nautilus
- Tennis
- Jacuzzi
- Free Weights
- Rowing Machines

at Echo Hill Gatehouse Road
Amherst • 256-6446

Railroad Salvage Stores

SALE ENDS JAN 31ST

HADLEY STORE ONLY

FORCED TO VACATE Sale

TOTAL LIQUIDATION

HAMPSHIRE MALL
HADLEY, MASS.
MONDAY - FRIDAY 10-9
SATURDAY 10-9
SUNDAY 12-5

LOOK FOR "MARKDOWN" ITEMS FOR GREATER DISCOUNTS*

A substantial number of items were marked down prior to this sale. Those markdowns are still in effect ... ONLY NOW, YOU WILL RECEIVE AN ADDITIONAL 25% DISCOUNT ON THEM ... regardless of how big their original markdown!

YOU GET TOTAL SAVINGS UP TO 65% AND MORE

HERE'S A PARTIAL LIST
FURNITURE • MATTRESSES • DINETTES
LIVINGROOMS • RECLINERS • CARPET
VINYL FLOORING • FLOOR TILE • PAINT
PLUMBING • ELECTRICAL • HAND TOOLS • AUTOMOTIVE • CURTAINS
SHEETS • PILLOWS • WINDOW SHADES
TABLECLOTHS • SHOES • SNEAKERS
BOOTS • HOUSEWARES • GLASSWARE
PLASTICS • GIFTWARE • LUGGAGE
FOOTLOCKERS AND CLOTHING FOR THE ENTIRE FAMILY AND MORE

MINIMUM SAVINGS

UP TO 25% 65%* OFF EVERYTHING

FAMOUS BRANDS
- Fruit-of-the-Loom
- Gitano • Lane-Bryant
- Levi • Wrangler
- Cannon • J.P. Stevens
- Louisville Bedding
- Springmaid
- Talan American
- Olympic • Satco
- Toastmaster
- Stanley • Generac
- Anchor Hocking
- Libbey • Pyrex
- Sterolite • Suberbonite
- Tucker • Armstrong
- Caraway • Cassard
- Cramco • Douglas • Hart
- Pilliod • Sauder • Singer
- American Tourister
- Leeds • Samsonite
- Seward
- Collins & Aikman
- Shaw • Congoleum

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTIES VALID ON ALL APPLICABLE ITEMS

Quantities Limited to Stock on Hand.

Due to the Nature of this sale - ALL SALES ARE FINAL! NO LAY AWAYS

We will accept Cash, Personal Checks and MasterCard VISA DISCOVER

Protesters keep 'peace'

Lawyers, volunteers keep anti-war ralliers orderly

By CECI CONNOLLY
Associated Press

BOSTON — When protesters descended on the Mall in Washington D.C. last weekend to speak out against the Persian Gulf war, several hundred volunteers were be on hand to keep heads cool, fists low and the police well-behaved.

The volunteers, called peacekeepers and legal counselors, are being trained in several major cities this week for the massive rally. They have also been monitoring smaller events in places like Boston, San Francisco and New York.

Also known as monitors or marshals, the volunteers are part choreographer, part traffic cop, part mediator, and part witness. Activists first devised the idea of bringing their own marshals to rallies during Vietnam protests, but the volunteers are now a formal arm of many organizations. Between 300 and 500 are expected in Washington, including a delegation from the United Auto Workers in New York.

"Their major function is to keep the march going," said Phyllis Engelbert, coordinator of the Washington Peace Center. "But they're also there in case any incidents start up."

Legal counselors — attorneys or law students — are watchdogs. These members of the National Lawyers Guild watch for police brutality, make certain police wear badges and represent demonstrators in court.

Michael Levi, a peacekeeper trainer at the Non-Violence Coalition in Washington said demonstrators are more receptive to intervention by fellow activists.

"Police are not unpredictable; sometimes they're allies and sometimes they're not," he said. "We are the same people."

In Boston, the volunteers' skills have already been put to the test.

Just ask Andrew Schwartz, an elfin man who thrust his 5-foot-5 stocking-capped frame in the midst of two screaming groups at a downtown rally last week.

"What do we want? Victory. When do we want it ? Now," taunted a group of war supporters who crashed a peace rally.

"Victory is peace," the ralliers retorted, some waving fists.

"Hey, hey, let's keep calm," Schwartz said.

In this post-yuppie era the volunteers are well-organized, better-trained and use the legal system to ensure their activist friends stay out of trouble while making a statement.

"I was brought up a pacifist and as a conscientious objector to Vietnam," said Joe Wyse, a 39-year-old peacekeeper. "This is the real thing for me; I'm here to wage peace."

Marty Kantrovitz, a Boston attorney in charge of the local legal corps, said he works with police supervisors to keep officers in line.

"I went over three or four times to calm

CONTINUED ON PAGE 14

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

Air Force security personnel guard the Westover Air Force Base [and the John Denver sign] against protesters at a recent anti-war rally.

湘園
PANDA EAST
CHINESE RESTAURANT
We bring Chinatown to you
Open Hours: Mon-Thurs. 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri. & Sat. 11:30am-11:00pm
Sunday 2:00pm-10:00pm
Lunch Hours: Mon.-Sat. 11:30am-3:00pm
103 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-8923 (413) 256-8924

DOUBLE ROOM AVAILABLE IN TOWNHOUSE
CALL A.S.A.P.
549-2824

WELCOME BACK!

Counseling Psychology

Boston-Bouvé College of Human Development Professions at Northeastern University offers part-time and full-time graduate degree programs in the areas of Counseling Psychology. Students may work toward a Master's degree, a Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study, or a Doctoral degree.

All counseling courses are taught by licensed psychologists. Class size is limited to encourage individual participation. The curriculum includes analytical and theoretical courses as well as practice-oriented courses. In addition to classroom work, all programs include applied experience in a supervised clinical environment.

For more information and a free brochure on the Graduate Programs in Counseling Psychology call (617) 437-2708. Or write to Graduate School, Boston-Bouvé College of Human Development Professions, 107 Dockser Hall, Northeastern University, Boston, MA 02115.

Northeastern University
An equal opportunity/affirmative action educational institution and employer

Cruise Ship Jobs
HIRING Men - Women. Summer/Year Round. PHOTOGRAPHERS, TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL. Excellent pat plus FREE travel. Caribbean, Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico.
CALL NOW!Call refundable. 1-206-736-7000 ext.c402

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11am
7 days a Week
Kitchen open til midnight
Game Room with 2 pool tables
Tonight Beer Steamed Baby Franks
Drinks of the Week:
Charlie's Punch $1.50 French Mocha Coffee $1.95
Food Giveaways
Mon. 10 cent Mozzarella Sticks 9pm-12am
Tues. 10 cent Buffalo Wings 9pm-12am
Wed. 25cent Pizza Slices and 99 cent Nachos 9pm-12am
Thurs 10 cent Beer Steamed Baby Franks 9pm-12am
Sunday 10 cent Potato Skins 9pm-12am
WE ACCEPT MC-VISA-AMEX

Main St RECORDS
SON OF Main St RECORDS
RECORDS • CASSETTES • COMPACT DISCS
IMPORTED, INDEPENDENT & DOMESTIC
MON—WED 9:30-6 SUN 12-5
THURS—SAT 9:30-9
213 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON
586-5726
COLLECTABLES • USED
MANUFACTURER'S OVER—STOCKS
MONDAY—SATURDAY 10-5:30
THURSDAYS 10-9 SUNDAY 12-5
21 STATE ST., NORTHAMPTON
586-1707

HAPPY $19.91!
Great Mock Turtlenecks in solids & stripes for only $19.91 in honor of the New Year.
J·RICH
CLOTHING FOR MEN
191 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst•253-2013
Mon.-Sat. 10-6
22 Masonic St.
Northampton•586-6336
Mon-Sat 10-6 Sun 12-5
Thursday 10-9

AEROBICS
MORE NAUTILUS
Computerized aerobic machines than any club in the Valley.
Stairmasters • Lifecycles • Gravitron • Biocycle • Treadmills
New • New • New • Life Rower • New • New • New
BETTER MASSAGE
Special suspended oak wood floor • Certified Instructors
• Bench Step • Low Impact • High/Low • Boxercise • Stretch
KARATE SAUNA
Total body conditioning plus the skill of selfdefense.
Largest full-time Karate studio in Western Mass.
AMHERST ATHLETIC CLUB 460 West St.
South Amherst 256-0080
KARATE HEALTH & FITNESS CENTER

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store
Welcome Back Students!
Milwaukee's Best case 12oz bots $8.99
Miller Genuine Draft 12 pack bots $6.39
Budweiser 12 pack cans $6.99
Beck's Beer case 12 oz bots $18.99
Kahlua Coffee Liquer 750 ml $11.99
Captain Morgan Spiced Rum 750 ml $7.49
Popov Vodka 1.75 L $10.39
Samuel Adams Lager cse 12 oz bots $18.79
338 College St. (Rt. 9) Amherst 253-5384

WANTED
Assistant Business Manager
Assistant Finance Manager
EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.
We are looking for:
Ambitious
Responsible
Organized
SOPHOMORES
with good communications skills.
Applications are available at the Collegian — 113 Campus Center and must be submitted no later than Friday February 8. 1991.
The Collegian is an E·O·E

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

War no more

After the rebellion against the King of England, our government was designed as a series of safeguards against the concentration of power in the executive. Now, President Bush has completed a full circle in the history of the nation. He has effectively usurped the power to make war. This irony is also present in the ostensible goals of the Gulf War: To protect one monarchy and restore another.

These bizarre claims reveal themselves as little more than confused rhetoric. For most Americans and citizens of other nations, this war is a catastrophe that will haunt the world.

FOREIGN POLICY:

The federal government has brought to the fore of its policy an insidious practice. It nurtures dictatorships until they outgrow the collar and leash of sponsorship. The United States then uses any means possible to replace them, using military force to reverse past mistakes without learning from them.

THE NEW WORLD ORDER:

Like the old world order, the new one is intended to ensure that the United States and allies remain in control of world resources.

The modern history of the Middle East has been that of the Arab people struggling to attain control over their region's vast resources. Years of colonialism have denied this goal. The New World Order by way of Kuwait and Iraq is nothing more nor less than the reassertion of the industry's control of world resources.

KUWAIT:

Called "an oil company with a flag," Kuwait was a reliable enclave of colonial domination in the region. President Bush is interested in reinstalling the faithful monarchy for obvious reasons. His sudden sensitivity to human suffering must be contrasted with images of carpet bombing in Iraq and Kuwait.

The people of Kuwait have been the victims of a very complex situation. Any resolution of their plight must deal with these complexities and thus requires an Arab solution. The United States, however, prefers to hammer out a 'solution' by force. No doubt that the "liberated" Kuwait will be a field of ashes and rubble suitable only for helping to line the pockets of the small cliques that control the regions' wealth.

THE COALITION:

President Bush has allied the United States with several brutal governments, most notably Syria and Saudi Arabia. This unholy war alliance sacrifices principles that should guide our national policy. Also, the rapid polarization of Arab governments guarantees a turbulent future for the Middle East.

ISRAEL:

Israel is in a difficult position. The right-wing Likud government is attempting to steer a course between independence from and dependence on the United States. The Western powers are determined to ensure Israel's security as an outpost in the Arab world. Her thinly-veiled independence does not fool most Arabs. Israeli intervention in neighboring nations and her occupation of Arab land places her in the middle of the middle east situation.

What the Bush and Shamir administrations call the "linkage" of unrelated issues was actually a unique opportunity to win a degree of trust and stability. As long as Israel continues to play the role of colonial outpost and as long as she holds Arab land, she will be "linked" to the instability of the Middle East.

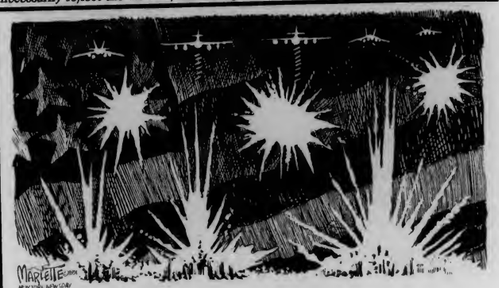
PATRIOTISM AND THE WAR:

Captain Lynn Epperson, Army recruiter for Western Mass., admits that the number one reason that people enlist is to earn money for college. To call this "voluntary" recruitment is farcical.

In short, the men and women of the United States military are being used as cannon fodder — they are as much victims as anyone else. They are being asked to kill and die for goals that will benefit only the smallest portion of the nation. The fact that the United States' forces are made up disproportionately of the poor and people of color intensifies this disaster.

This war must end. And, we must all make it end.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Board of Editors



Gave Proof Through The Night...

Notes from the Basement

If you like parking, all-day pickup basketball in Boyden, getting a booth at Barsie's or graduating on time, then intersession is for you. It turns out Amherst is a pretty nice town when you clear all of us crazy college kids out. Strangest moment: Driving by Amherst College during the first snowfall of the year and finding it barren except for a couple of children with sleds.

UMass during January suddenly becomes a small school, full of familiar faces, and it's kinda nice.

Sam Silverstein

* * *

Ironically, campus was quiet the day after the Allied bombing of Iraq and Kuwait began. UMass is berzerk every other day of the year, but on the first day there was an actual war to get excited about, there weren't enough students around to do much of anything one way or another.

On the PVTA that morning, three young boys with lunchboxes and rubber boots babbled excitedly.

"I was watching Belke and his cousin when the newsman came on."

"Iraq has Scud missiles."

By noon, the Cape Cod Lounge was knee-deep in newspaper. Students sat cross-legged on couches, staring long-faced at the Boston Globe or New York Times.

It was standing room only all day in front of the television mounted on the wall downstairs in the Campus Center.

* * *

UMass football coach Jim Reid on why he never describes football in military terms: "I really despise it because of exactly what's happening right now. No matter how intensely you love the game of football, it's still a game, and nobody gets killed. . . I just don't think it's right to equate football with war because of the finality of what war is all about."

* * *

Stuff you've got time to track down during intersession: Each year the UMass Parking office hands out between $500,000-$700,000 worth of parking tickets, according to campus Parking Manager Lynn Braddock. [All the money, except for a few administrative costs, goes into the Parking Scholarship Fund administered by the Financial Aid Office.]

Last year, the Parking Office's 11 full-time officers handed out a total of 60,000 tickets. The all-time record fine piled up by one person was between $3500-$4000, paid last summer by someone who Braddock mercifully did not name.

And another thing: It is not true that you must pay your parking tickets to receive your diploma (tickets are not considered a "University debt.") You do have to settle up, however, before your next trek to the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Sam Silverstein is a Collegian columnist

Everyone has something to say. The trick is finding a place to say it. 21,000 people read this paper daily and they are waiting to read what you have to say. This page welcomes letters and columns from any and all members of the community. Letters should be less than than 50 lines and columns should be between 50 and 70 lines. All submissions should be typed (we have a typewriter you can use) and double-spaced. Please include a phone number where we can reach you. All submissions should be brought or sent to the Editorial Editor at the* Collegian *office in the basement of the Campus Center.

•••

The Editorial Editor is looking for an associate editor. Duties include helping choose and edit submissions, page-layout and other facets of instruction. We are looking for someone concerned with the affairs of the community and the views of the people who live there. Creativity a plus. Mid to late afternoon hours are preferred but there is some flexibility. The job entails about 10 hours of work a week. It's great experience and you get to meet all sorts of interesting and famous people.

"YOU IDIOT!... THIS IS THE BANK OF NEW ENGLAND!"

Bush-league war

Dear George:

You sent college newspapers a letter, and made a speech, trying to con us into believing that you are bombing Baghdad into a pile of charred cinderblocks for democracy. You cited the human rights abuses of Saddam Hussein. (By the way, George, the accent in 'Saddam' is on the second syllable.) These included torture, the death penalty and arrest and imprisonment without trial. You exhorted the sovereignty of Kuwait.

George, if you're so concerned about a nation's sovereignty, why does the CIA (you remember, the organization you used to be in charge of?) engineer the overthrow of any Central American leader we don't agree with? In the 50s, we helped to overthrow Jacobo Arbenez, a democratically elected leader in Guatemala. (Our government found it inconvenient that he was into land reform.) Since then, we have seen to it that dictators who do what we tell them stay in power. So much for a country's sovereignty.

Pamela McCarthy

Now, George, let's move on to human rights abuses. Question: What country has death squads that rape, torture, mutilate, and kill civilians? What nation is known for its dubious highway decor of piles of corpses by the roadside? Hint: We support them. It's El Salvador. So much for human rights.

George, say the rest of the planet got a little bit angry about our policy and behavior in Central America. Picture them bringing sanctions against us, and sending troops to Mexico. Picture them bombing Washington until we stopped what we are doing. Would you be pleased? How would you defend our actions?

You blast Saddam Hussein for gassing the Kurds. That's funny, considering the fact we defended him when the United Nations wanted to condemn him. The CIA trained him, George. We sold him weapons when he was fighting with Iran, because we didn't like Iran. Saddam was our darling — until he didn't do as we told him.

George, if we are so concerned about a people's sovereignty, take a look at this place. We stole this land from the Native Americans. By the way, the horrors we put them through make Saddam look like a Mr. Rogers in comparison. And what about South Africa? The United States said sanctions would hurt the Black people (the original inhabitants of that country, might I add) who were systematically murdered, tortured, imprisoned without trial, and banished to wastelands by the White minority.

You say that Saddam Hussein is a Hitler, and we shouldn't appease him. Puerto Rico, the Phillipines, Central America . . . nah, we don't take over nations smaller than us, do we? Remember the blitzkrieg, George? You must; we are currently turning Baghdad into a pile of ashes. Just like Hitler did. Hitler had concentration camps for those people who were not White. We put Japanese-Americans in concentrations camps for "security reasons." Strange. We didn't think that the blond-haired, blue-eyed German-Americans were a enough of a security risk to lock up in a prison camp. We're not like Hitler, are we, George?

You said in your speech following our blitzkrieg that this would not be another Vietnam, that our troops would be able to fight without one hand tied behind their backs. That's not why we said it's going to be another Vietnam, George. You see, Vietnam was a stupid war. No one knew why they were fighting it.

This current war is a stupid war. This time, we do know why we are over there; lower gas prices and control over more of the world's natural resources.

If we kept out of it, the Arab nations may have been successful in getting Saddam out. But face it, George, we aren't popular there. He's not going to listen to any countries backed by us. The Arab nations may have all banded together. It is their business. They are adults, they can take care of it.

You want to go in and crush Saddam. You will end up beating down innocent civilians and Americans who joined the army out of necessity. I know people in the army. I am scared for them. While part of me wants us to win, it may be better for us if we don't. We'd think next time before we did something so pointless and moronic.

Then again, this is not a war that will have any winners — except, perhaps for morticians.

Pamela McCarthy is a Collegian columnist

All the way from Riyadh, Saudi Arabia — it's war live!

"So where were you," your children will ask, "when the Gulf War began?"

Well, I was in a car going to my friend's apartment. We had been debating when or if the United States would attack Iraq, and what would happen to the coalition if Israel was dragged into the war.

Just the night before, at midnight on Jan. 15, everyone we knew had been anxiously glued to their televisions to watch the war begin. At 12:01 a.m., many wagered, one minute past the United Nations' deadline for Saddam Hussein to withdraw Iraqi troops from Kuwait, we would attack. But we didn't.

We attacked the next night, Jan. 16, "officially" at 7 p.m.

As we walked into the apartment, I dropped my stuff on the couch and sat down to watch the news. Peter Jennings was sitting there calmly announcing that we had gone to war.

I looked at the clock. Seven ten. A time I'll never forget.

I was stunned. We'd actually done it. We'd actually started a war.

"It's started," I yelled to my friend. "I can't believe it," I muttered under my breath.

For the rest of the evening, the two of us and a few friends sat virtually attached to the TV. We watched in awe. We watched our country go to war. We saw bombs being dropped.

Meredith O'Brien

Some of the news anchors were actually pretty comical. It was like "Amateur Hour;" obviously they had never broadcast a war LIVE before. They were kind of sloppy and very nervous. We could see Jennings' hands shaking as he saw his colleagues flee for safety.

We stayed up until about 1:30 a.m., when the commentators seemed to be repeating the same news over and over again.

The next day the TV went on again. We were addicted to the news, eager to know what had happened. Had there been casualties? What did the Iraqis do? Was anybody else attacked?

After numerous press conferences and Pentagon briefings, we learned that the first of a massive campaign of Allied air attacks against Iraq and Baghdad had been relatively (reportedly) successful, with only one lost American fighter plane.

But we wanted more. We wanted to know. We felt compelled to watch the real-life drama going on before our eyes instead of turning to, what appeared to be by comparison, rather meaningless chores. Our own lives were put on hold for something that seemed much more important.

For the entire day we watched, and waited, and silently prayed for the war to end quickly.

Later, after vowing we would not spend another night sitting in front of the TV, we turned on the TV for a "quick" update and saw journalists running and donning gas masks as Israel was attacked by Iraqi missiles. Our troops in Saudi Arabia were also being threatened by imminent attack. Again we were witnesses to the real life terror of war. We heard the anxiousness in the voices of the commentators as they watched their friends and co-workers in the midst of an attack.

It was all too strange. It was too weird to be able to sit in my living room and watch a war — on LIVE TV. Granted, the television audience had not seen the carnage, had not seen the damage (at least not immediately), but they could feel the fear, they could see it in the faces of those who were actually there, experiencing it first-hand.

The next day, while eating lunch, I decided to turn on CNN, just to see if anything new had happened. (I was gradually breaking my addiction. I hadn't watched the news in at least 12 hours.) While watching the Israeli foreign minister being interviewed in Jerusalem, air raid sirens went off in the background as the CNN reporter announced that Israel was under a second attack. The broadcaster broke to the Saudi Arabian correspondent where similar sirens were going off warning of imminent attack. The reporters were running around again, grabbing their gas masks and heading toward sealed-off rooms. (These turned out to be false alarms. The second Israeli attack didn't occur until later that night. The attack on Saudi Arabia didn't happen until the next day.)

This was not fiction, not a soap opera or a mid-day movie. It was real and I could not believe it was happening.

"I was in the car," I will tell my children, "when 'The Living Room War' began."

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

We used to finger-paint together and now he is off to war

Dear Mrs. Asher — the mother of a soldier,

It seems yesterday when your son Jeff and I shook hands with the Bishop to receive our diplomas a few years ago. It doesn't even seem that far back when Jeff and I had gym class in junior high school or even rode the same bus to take us to middle school.

Time passes so quickly, but not enough to erase the memories of the people of your class — even the memories of a kindergarten class when I met your son for the first time, and spent 13 years in the same school or even the same classroom with him.

Gayle Long

The time I got in trouble for throwing clay at Jeff never really seemed to matter until now. Because Jeff is somewhere in Saudi Arabia. I wish we were still throwing clay instead of bombs.

Now that Jeff has gone to serve his nation and fight for our country, I cannot help but to think of the boy I knew in that kindergarten class and throughout our schooling at home.

Jeff and I were not the best of friends and went our own separate ways after graduation, but there is still the attachment of people you know, even though you may not see them for years.

The war in the Gulf and the departure of so many service men and women to the Persian Gulf is something unforeseeable to most, not just here but all over the world. For my peers, born towards the end of the Vietnam War, stories of war were as horrific as it got. There were no wars to wage during our lives, and the children of Baby Boomers thought themselves relatively safe.

The hostage crisis in Iran (when Jeff and I were an innocent 10-years-old) frightened Americans, and TV pictures of the battles in Afghanistan, Northern Ireland, South Africa and Nicaragua only made Americans feel more secure of their own country.

Now, MY generation is leaving to fight. We have to fight for our future. There is no going back.

Many people in the United States do not support the war in the Gulf. People block the morning traffic and block access to federal buildings in an attempt to get the government to listen to them. They want to be heard and it is their right.

The veterans of the Vietnam War were never given a homecoming, and perhaps these protestors would suggest the soldiers returning from the Gulf not given a welcoming upon their return either.

I want to be the first one to welcome Jeff home. I will tell him how the people of the United States could be nothing but proud of the young people who risked their lives in a situation they did not initiate.

For even if I do not agree with the reasons behind our presence in the Gulf, the real people of the war — not the politicians — deserve the utmost respect from the real people they represent. And Jeff represents you and your family. He does not fight for George Bush. He fights for the thought of coming home to his family and those he loves.

I still will think of Jeff as the little boy with a cow-lick, wearing blue corduroys and t-shirts, the high school student in oxford and tie. But now I also see him in his fatigues fighting for his love of home.

I have more respect for him than any politician or general. He has the integrity and commitment of the strongest and wisest.

Please know my thoughts and prayers are with him always.

Gayle Long is a Collegian columnist

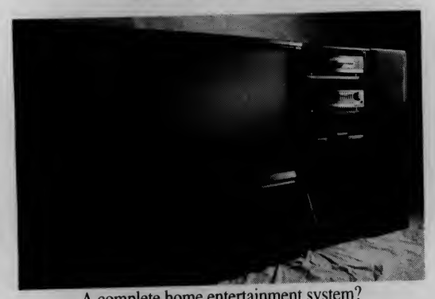
Unity is the key

Unfortunately, the winds of war are upon us. The time for debate, division and dissention amongst the public should be in the past. The United Nations unanimously approved the use of force, there is a 26 nation world force opposed to Saddam Hussein, our president has committed the use of force, and Congress has voted to permit military engagement. Now that war is upon us, let's not make the same mistake the Vietnam generation made. Let's stand strong and united behind out foreign policy. Protest and division will only weaken and damage the possibility of a fast, decisive and effective outcome to this tragic war.

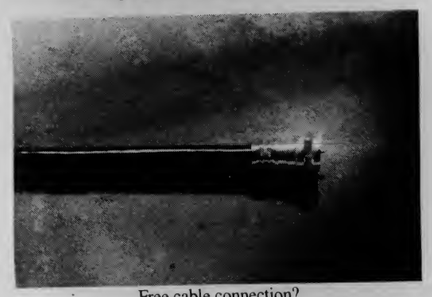
Kuwaiti independence, resistance to inhumane and barbaric atrocities against mankind, opposition to an evil dictator, prevention of Iraqi nuclear capability, and the overall success of Desert Storm ulimately rests in the hands of the American public.

Guy Glodis
S.G.A. Senator/Governor

IF YOU COULD HAVE ANYTHING IN THE WORLD, WHAT WOULD IT BE?



A complete home entertainment system?



Free cable connection?
(when you order a premium channel)

Dinner with Elvis?

TWO OUT OF THREE AIN'T BAD.

Okay, maybe we can't give you everything. But what we do have to offer comes pretty close.

It's Dimension Cable's "Anything You Want" Sweepstakes. And you could end up with a cutting-edge Pioneer Foresight home entertainment system. Or one of several other great prizes.

When you enter now, you'll also get a free cable connection. Just order any one of our premium channels.

Like HBO, Showtime or The Disney Channel.

And it all comes with a free VCR connection and a 30-day money-back guarantee.

You'll get all the entertainment and information that comes with cable. Like 24-hour-a-day news on CNN. Sports on ESPN. Education and entertainment for kids on Nickelodeon. And science, history and nature on The Discovery Channel.

So call the number below, enter the sweepstakes, order your premium channel and your free connection.

And if you do happen to see Elvis, be sure to let us know.

DIMENSION CABLE SERVICES

Something For All Of You.

Call 256-4123 for connection

© 1991 Times Mirror Cable Television, Inc. All rights reserved. Offer applies to standard connection only. All services not available in all areas. Specific exceptions and money-back guarantee apply to service charge only. Offers available only in Dimension Cable areas where system has been activated for at least 60 days. Other restrictions may apply. Call for specific details. Sweepstakes rules available at Dimension Cable.

■ Amherst votes for peace

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

specifically to vote on the war in the Persian Gulf, Cuomo said some members of the Amherst community did not believe a vote should have been taken.

The Amherst Town Meeting has a history of coming out against war dating back to 1812. The Town Meeting has opposed U.S. involvement in the War of 1812, the Civil War, the Vietnam War and in Central American conflicts.

A local group called the Committee on the Middle East Crisis, which has been meeting daily for the past three months planning anti-war protests across Western Massachusetts, petitioned Amherst to hold this special town meeting.

Amherst is one of five area communities that voted to oppose war in the Persian Gulf. Northampton, Cummington, Conway and Huntington all backed a peaceful resolution to the Middle East crisis.

■ program for children commences

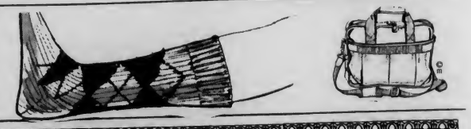
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

going to the park and feeding the ducks," she said.

Over the past year, the Companionship Program has placed 75 children with companions, although well over 100 children still remain on a waiting list.

After an interviewing, screening and training process, volunteer companions are assigned to a child. Companions must periodically report to Resource Center supervisors and go through a series of workshops, including some on homelessness.

For more information on the Companionship Program, call Ruth Harms at 253-2591.



ATTENTION PHOTOGRAPHERS:

There will be a mandatory meeting for all Collegian Photo Staff at 3:00 on Wednesday, January 30 in the Photo Department.

Main Attractions

584-9982

HAIR & TANNING SALON

Featuring:
precision cutting design perm wrapping dimensional coloring hair weaving tanning

24 Main St., Northampton

Good Things

For 18 Years and We're Still Here!

Blouses Skirts Dresses

Great Gifts & Cards

THE MERCANTILE

Sun 12-5
Daily 10-6

Northampton-18 Center St.
Amherst-Carriage Shops

The Massachusetts DAILY COLLEGIAN

IS HIRING FOR THE FOLLOWING POSITIONS:

	Contact
Night Graphics Staff	545-1864
Systems Manager	545-3500
Typist	545-3500

ALSO NEEDED:

WRITERS & CARTOONISTS

Arts
News
Sports
Editorial
Photography
Black Affairs
Women's Issues
Multicultural Affairs
Third World Affairs
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues

Come down to 113 Campus Center or call 545-3500

Two Exciting Programs at the University!

BIG COUNTRY! Discover it through The National Student Exchange Program

The National Student Exchange Program transports you to new and exciting places that will transform your educational experience forever!!! Students can spend a semester or year at over 94 participating colleges and universities across the country, paying in-state tutition, fees, room and board directly to the host school or paying tuition and fees to UMass with room and board to the host institution.

Interested??? Our first information session will be on Monday, Feb. 4, in room 803 Campus Center, from 4-5 PM. Places and dates for more info. sessions will be posted in our office . For applications, brochures, and catalogs, contact us at E-26 Machmer Hall (office hours posted).

AND

Try The Greener Grass On The Other Side

5 COLLEGE INTERCHANGE

The Five College Interchange enables undergraduates in good academic standing at one of the five colleges to take courses for credit at the other four. There is no extra tuition! Eligibility begins after the first semester of freshman year.

REGISTRATION THROUGH THE 11TH

5 College Interchange Office
E-26 Machmer Hall
Hours Posted

DELANO'S
57 North Pleasant Street 253-5141

Welcome Back Students!

Come celebrate the month of February with us...

sunday	monday	tuesday	wednesday	thursday	friday	saturday
	DRINK SPECIALS WEEKLY	FOOD SPECIALS WEEKLY	February is Celebrity Birthday Month at Delano's		1 Friday Inflation Fighters Franks & Beans with Brown Bread $1.99	2 LET'S
3 Pool Tournament sign up by 7:30 Delano's Gift Certificate to winner	4 Trivia Giveaway Prizes	5 Taco Tues. Free to Delano's customers, 9-??	6 Clark Gable lookalike night FREE fried Chicken 9-?? $50.00 Delano's Gift Certificate to winner	7 Jake & Chick Suprise Night	8 Meatloaf & Mashed Potatoes $1.99	9 HAVE
10 Pool Tournament sign up by 7:30 Delano's Gift Certificate to winner	11 Trivia Giveaway Prizes	12 Taco Tues. Free to Delano's customers, 9-??	13 Farrah Fawcett lookalike night FREE angel hair pasta dish 9-?? $50 Delano's gift certificate to winner	14 Jake & Chick Surprise night Believe it!	15 Hot Turkey sandwich with mashed potatoes $1.99	16 FUN
17 Pool Tournament sign up by 7:30 Delano's Gift Certificate to winner	18 Trivia Giveaway Prizes	19 Taco Tues. Free to Delano's customers, 9-??	20 Buffalo Bill lookalike night FREE Buffalo wings 9-?? $50 Delano's gift certificate to winner	21 Jake & Chick Surprise night You Bet!	22 Philly Steak sub with fries $1.99	23 SPRING
24 Pool Tournament sign up by 7:30 Delano's Gift Certificate to winner	25 Trivia Giveaway Prizes	26 Taco Tues. Free to Delano's customers, 9-??	27 Liz Taylor lookalike night FREE b-b-q 'pork' ribs 9-?? $50 Delano's gift certificate to winner	28 Jake & Chick Suprise Night		'91

Mail linked US POWs with local students

PEPPERELL, Mass. (AP) — Eighth-graders who had corresponded with two Marines were shocked when they learned their pen pals were among the pilots being held captive in Iraq.

The class teacher, Tricia Erwin, learned of the downed pen pals when she saw Lt. Col. Clifford M. Acree's face on television during a news report, looked across her kitchen and saw his photo taped to her refrigerator.

"It sort of hit home. The children took it very seriously today when I brought it to their attention. There was a little bit of disbelief," she said Tuesdav.

Acree, 39, and Chief Warrant Officer Guy L. Hunter, Jr., 46, are among three American captives identified Sunday in an Iraqi television broadcast as captured allied pilots.

The capture brought the war home to the students, Mrs. Erwin said.

"It's not just something they are going to watch on television," she told the Telegram and Gazette of Worcester on Tuesday.

Acree was commander of a Marine Observation Squadron to which eighth-graders and other students at the Varnum Brook Middle School sent letters and gifts after the unit was sent to Saudi Arabia from Camp Pendleton, Calif.. Mrs. Erwin said Acree wrote back, sent photos of squadron members, thanked the students, and described the unit's role.

"Every part of your care packages were put to good use by the Marines," Acree wrote. "It is very encouraging to know that America's future leaders are fully aware of this crisis and support us in such a positive fashion."

Mrs. Erwin, who lives in Fitchburg, Mass., got to know Acree and other squadron members when she visited her daughter, Marine Lance Col. Kimberly Erwin, 21, at Camp Pendleton last summer. Ms. Erwin is now stationed in Okinawa.

She said her students want a quick raid to bring the downfall of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein after watching television reports on the captured pilots and seeing bruises on their faces.

"They realize fully it's not quite that easy. They are very upset to look at the pictures and to note the men are being beaten," she said.

Students began writing to the Marines last October and sent five boxes of lip balm, sunscreen, soap, small toys and other items. More items were sent at Christmas, and the fliers sent letters in appreciation.

"The responses have been overwhelming I have a display of them in our lobby and the letters keep coming," Mrs. Erwin said.

The students have a feeling of powerlessness after seeing their pen pals being held captive, she said, and expressed sympathy for the pilots' relatives.

They were heartened by the rescue Monday of a Navy pilot in the Iraqi desert, she said.

Students also questioned why some of the downed pilots made statements criticizing the war, and were told the statements probably were made under pressure.

The war has interested students not ordinarily concerned with global news, Mrs. Erwin said, and the treatment of women in the Arab world was been discussed.

"We've tried to discuss how many Americans didn't learn their lesson with the energy crisis in 1973, and now there is going to be a great loss of life," she said.

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

UMass students Jim McComb (left) and Mike Stebe (right) discuss the Gulf war outside of the Whitmore Administration building.

NAME THAT SUB-GENUI

Styles By Deborah

The Spa For Hair & Skin Care
549-5610
65 University Drive • Amherst

FREE TANNING SESSION
With Any Salon Service And This Coupon
Expires 2-10-91

$3.00 Off
Professional Consultation and Style Cut
(Regularly $16.00 to $18.00)
First Time Customers Only Expires 2-28-91

$5.00 Off
Any Perm, Facial or Highlighting
First time customers only Expires 2-28-91

$10 Off Tanning Pkg. of 10 expires 2-28-91

AIM HIGH

SEE YOURSELF IN AIR FORCE ROTC FOR THE PICTURE OF SUCCESS.

See yourself becoming a leader, graduating from college as an Air Force officer with fully developed qualities of character and managerial ability.

Notice, too, the opportunities: like eligibility for scholarship programs that can pay tuition, textbooks, fees. . .even $100 in tax-free income each academic month.

Visualize a crisp uniform that reflects your pride in yourself and your ability to accept challenge. Get the picture? Now make a call:

DEPT OF AEROSPACE STUDIES
(413) 545-2451

AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

AL-BUMS NEED EXTRA CASH?
WE BUY*SELL*TRADE
USED CDs, LPs & CASSETTES

All Used Sales Guaranteed.
HIGH QUALITY•EXTRA STURDY
WOOD FURNITURE
Bookcases•LP Shelves•Tables•Stereo Centers
CD & Cassette Racks•Coffee Tables and More!
ALL SHAPES AND SIZES
Hours Mon.-Sat. 10-6 Sun 12-6 181 n. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-7137

SUBWAY®

DAILY SPECIALS:
$2.99 for certain foot long subs!

STARTING FEBRUARY:
TWO for TUESDAY
BUY ONE Foot Long, get one FREE (higher price prevails)

BUY ONE Regular Foot Long, get one Regular Foot Long FREE with a soda (higher price prevails)

EXOTIC FISH & PET WORLD
49 Russell St., Rt. 9
Hadley - At the Village Barn Shops
586-3362

FRESH WATER FISH Hundreds of Types In Stock
MARINE FISH The Areas Largest Selection

A FULL SELECTION OF QUALITY DRY GOODS & SUPPLIES FOR YOUR PET ... AT EXCELLENT PRICES!

REPTILES A Separate Room Full - Don't Miss Seeing Our Own 14' Python!
SMALL ANIMALS & BIRDS From Parakeets to The Unusual - Some Already Tame!

OPEN SAT, SUN, MON: 10-6
TUES-FRI: 10-9

Five professors receive Fulbrights

Grant winners come to University from China, Morocco

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

Five University of Massachusetts professors have received Fulbright grants for the academic year 1990-91, and the University will host seven international Fulbright scholars.

Fulbright scholarships are international exchange programs which allow travel for graduate students and professors to study, teach and do research abroad.

Professor Thomas R. Schneeweis from the department of general business and finance, will travel to France to study the country's financial institutions.

Associate Professor Ann L. Marston of landscape architecture and regional planning, will be studying sites adjacent to the Berlin Wall.

Sociology Professor Randall G. Stokes went to Thailand to research adaptation to change.

Department of Marketing Professor Jack S. Wolf went to Spain to lecture in Madrid on monetary theory, economics and statistics.

Lastly, School of Public Health Associate Professor Richard B. Saltman traveled to Finland to study comparitive health organizations.

Joining the University faculty as exchange professors this year are:

Professor Mirko Bunc of the University of Maribor in Yugoslavia, an economic professor; Maitre Assistant Mohamed Elmedlaoui of the Faculty of Letters in Morocco, who lectured in the department of linguistics; and Vice Chairman Gao Feng of Nankai University, People's Republic of China, researching an economics concentration.

Also visiting the University are researcher Jose Antonio Garcia Lillo of the University of Allicante, Spain, who is working on the cloning of biosynthetic genes; Associate Professor Ahmet Turan Gurlanli of Ondokuz Mayis University, Turkey, in the department of mathematics; Associate Professor Muhammad Yar Khuhawar of the University of Sindh Jamshoro in Pakistan in the department of chemistry; and Senior Lecturer Donald C. Mitchell of the University of Exeter, United Kingdom, who will be working in the department of psychology.

■ protesters organize

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

one police officer down," he said after a rally of about 600 people. "One female cop grabbed a client by her ponytail and dragger her."

In San Francisco, where as many as 40,000 demonstrated last weekend, monitors have meant the difference between a peaceful march and violent scuffles, said San Francisco Police Officer David Ambrose.

"When we have (monitors) things go along smoothly," said Ambrose. "Without the monitors, two major bridges were shut down and demonstrators have thrown things at us."

Peacekeepers describe themselves as buffers, literally throwing their bodies in the middle of an angry mob. Often, they form a circle around one group to protect it from another.

Last week, poised in front of the White House, the ecumenical organization Sojourners launched into a rendition of "Amazing Grace" when another group started chanting anti-government slogans, said Spokesman Jim Rice.

At other times, peacekeepers take disrupters aside and simply listen. "It's a cathartic chance for them to vent," he said.

Sojourners is urging members to make a long-term commitment to non-violence training, including increasing its peacekeeping ranks.

"That suggests the need for a cadre of trained people to shape not just our image, but the tone of the whole movement," Rice said.

GRAPHICS WORK IN

THORNES MARKETPLACE

AN INVITED PARKING IN ATTACHED GARAGE!

Five floors of wonderfully festive shops, restaurants, galleries and a gym.

HOURS
M,T,W,SAT 9:30-5:30
TH&F TIL 9:00
SUN 12-5:00

150 MAIN STREET NORTHAMPTON

25 CENTRAL
Thornes Marketplace
150 Main Street
Northampton, MA 01060
413-586-8017

A-Z
A world of discovery
Field Guides
Dinosaurs
Fossils
Books
Rockets
T-Shirts
Posters
Globes
A-Z Science and Nature Store
Thornes Marketplace 150 Main Street
Northampton MA (413) 586-1617

ONE-HOUR PROCESSING
Bring your film to our Fuji minilab, and we'll have your photos ready in a flash.
You'll appreciate the QUALITY, CONVENIENCE and PERSONAL ATTENTION of our ONE-HOUR service!
(Most color film processing done on premises.)
IRIS photo
Thornes Market
150 Main St., Northampton
586-8417

DYNAMITE RECORDS
NEW ● USED ● BUY ● SELL

PICCADILLY STREET
Women's Clothing
ONE WAY STREET TO FASHION
EVERYTHING ON SALE
40% to 70%
off
EVERY ITEM ON SALE
IN STORE
ALL SHIRTS, BLOUSES, DRESSES, ETC.
2nd Floor Thornes Market 584-4896

CHANGES
FULL SERVICE SALON FOR MEN & WOMEN
A GIFT OF CHANGES
With a student ID, this certificate is redeemable for $5 off any service anytime at the salon. Please call for your appointment. Then relax and enjoy!
Valid with Jill, Michelle or Jack.
Expires April 1, 1991

Old Graphix Staff
4:00 p.m. TODAY
You know where
Be there

I have FOOD
Thanx,
Nicole

Flex Fitness Center
Come see and feel the difference at the area's newest, largest gym. Full line Polaris, Free weights, lifecycles and liferowers.
Lifesteps arriving soon!
SEMESTER SPECIAL
$139
1. Walking Distance to UMass
2. On Bus Route.
3. Extensive Hours.
Mon-Fri 6am-10pm
Sat 9am-5pm
Sun 10am-2pm
Price Chopper Plaza
175 University Dr. Amherst
253-FLEX
THE BEST IS THE CLOSEST

The Valley's Computer Resource Center is also
The Valley's Computer Rental Center
Don't let the sagging economy and high tuition costs prevent you from enjoying the benefits and freedom of having a personal computer right at your finger tips. Rent an IBM compatible PC from Validata for as low as $45.00 per month.

Or maybe you have some work to do but just don't feel like making the trek down to the campus computer room. Then...
DON'T
Instead, why not rent a terminal from Validata and RELAX! Prices start at $18.00 per month. Come see us in the Mountain Farms Mall or call us at 586-7405 and ask for Jim.
*Start-up costs and security required, call for details.
VALIDATA:
Mt. Farms Mall
Hadley, MA 01035
(413) 586-7405
*Includes monochrome monitor, dual floppy peripherals available at additional cost. $180 security deposit required

WHAT A TRIP...
(only two minutes)
Hampshire Mall
Monday through Saturday 10 am-9 pm
Sundays 12 pm-5 pm
South Maple Street, Rte. 9, Hadley, MA
Information/Customer Service (413) 586-5700

Now Open in Town!
Indian Palace Restaurant
Accept Visa/MC
Reservations Accepted

28 Main Street, Northampton, MA
584-4892

$2 off per hour Mac Rental

$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh® computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 2/15/91
Open 24 Hours*
253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street
(across from Carriage Shops)
kinko's the copy center
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon.

WINTER SALE
savings to 50% off shoes, boots, clothing
ZANNA
Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2503

You can't dance with a corpse

This is a paid advertisement

Need A Job Skill That Pays?
Call us today and find out how we can help you make it as a bartender. CNCEUs available.
call today
(617) 247-1600
811 Boylston Street
Boston, MA 02116
New England Bartenders School
We Help You Make It.™
Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education.
Accredited by the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education & Training.

Interested in being a...
University Tour Guide
Admissions Representative
Summer Counselor
Applications available at the University Admissions Center

Who's been making Amherst's finest pizza since 1967?
BELL'S Pizza
Yes, it's our 24th year!
Bell's Pizza House
549-1311 253-9051
65 University Drive, Amherst

Mike's Kitchen Now Serving...
MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE
- Pizza Burgers
- Bacon Cheese Burgers
- Turkey Sandwich with homemade stuffing
- Philly Cheese Steak
- Vegetable Melt
- Chef Salad
- Mike's Antipasto
- Mozzerella Sticks
- Chicken Fingers

Famous Friday Smorgasboard 5:00pm
Weekly Beer Special
Busch Pitcher $4.50
Lunch Hours: Mon-Thurs 11:30—7:00, Fri 11:30-3:00, Sat&Sun 12-8:00
Bar 11:30am-1:00am daily

If you care, take the time to listen.

Are you looking for a challenging, rewarding profession? You'll find it, and more, while learning to help people with speech, language and hearing disorders.
Boston-Bouvé College at Northeastern University offers two exciting master of science programs in Speech-Language Pathology or Audiology (the only one of its kind in the Boston area). Both programs are accredited by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.
You'll have the opportunity to gain practical experience in our on-campus speech clinic. In addition, both programs include clinical practice in many of Boston's prestigious medical institutions. Graduate assistantships and other financial aid are available.
Call (617) 437-2708, or write Graduate School, Boston-Bouvé College of Human Professions, 106 Dockser Hall, Northeastern University, Boston, MA 02115. Because some people's problems are worth listening to.
Boston-Bouvé College
Northeastern University
An equal opportunity/affirmative action university.

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM
Tel: 549-2692
Welcome Back... Enjoy this Semester!
Golden Anniversary Beer
Koch's Golden Anniversary Beer 24 16 oz. bottles $8.99 +dep.
Budweiser Reg-Light-Dry 12 12 oz cans $6.79 +dep.
Ruble Vodka 1.75 L $8.99
Kahlua Liquer 750 ml $11.99
Knickerbocker 12 12oz. cans $4.49 +dep.
Kegs Starting at $35.00
Captain Morgan Spiced Rum 750 ml $7.99
WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE!
Plenty of Free Parking•Diagonally Across from UMass Stadium
•Next toThe Laundry Club
6 University Drive
at Newmarket Center, Amherst
Tele-check for your personal check
Scott's Gift Certificates
Mass lottery Season tickets
MEGABUCKS We Have It
We now have all Mass Lottery games!
Not responsible for Typographical Errors

CAFE DICARLO
The Ultimate In Casual Italian Dining
Accepting reservations for Valentine's Day
Open Daily @ 11:30 a.m.
71 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
253-9300

ATTENTION
ALL INTERESTED
ARTISTS

The Collegian is accepting submissions for new student cartoons through Sunday, Febuary 3.

Drop off samples
(with address and phone –)

To Managing Editor
545-3500

The Collegian is an E.O.E.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

In sudden disgust, the three lionesses realized they had killed a tofudebeest — one of the Serengeti's obnoxious health antelopes.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Everything's within walking distance if you've got enough time."

— Andrew Payson, '91

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

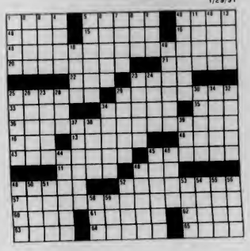
ACROSS
1 Settled a debt
5 Region in SE France
10 Sacred bull of Egypt
14 Unit of land
15 Instrument for Andre Watts
16 Telegram
17 He played Captain Bligh
20 Singer Toni
21 Laughing
22 Pub quaff
23 Ember
25 Superior of a convent
29 Approves
33 French composer
34 Sign of the Zodiac
35 Actor McKellen
36 He played Dr. Gillespie
40 Rile
41 House and garden
42 Double reed instrument
43 Toothless
45 West Point students
47 Up in — ready for battle
48 Bakery item
49 Hold steady
52 Most soiled
57 He played Hamlet
60 North Sea feeder
61 Very cross
62 Jason's vessel
63 Legal paper
64 Kind of bear
65 Great White Way light

DOWN
1 Treaty
2 Yearn for
3 Shiraz's location
4 Bruce of the screen
5 Takes turns
6 Theater part
7 Singer Jerry
8 Three — match
9 — Belong to Me
10 Short time
11 Pocket bread
12 Kind of grip or hand
13 Mailed
18 A division of the Jurassic Period
19 Like a fawn
23 Fibers from coconuts
24 Rare bird
25 Kate's TV friend
26 Father of television
27 Gent
28 Ages and ages
29 Wading bird
30 Mythological weeper
31 Fortune-teller's card
32 Snicks and —
34 Edges on
37 Dinner course
38 Rich soil
39 Wish it
44 Lined with pearl
45 Ringlet maker
46 One against
48 Flora and fauna
49 Rain as madras
50 Earl anagram
51 Serve treater
52 Business transaction
53 Tsar of Russia 1533-84
54 Leprechaun land
55 Lily of the West
56 Disney sci-fi film
58 Tiny taste
59 — Magnon

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	I	B	S		R	O	S	A		A	P	S	O
I	N	R	E		E	V	A	D	E		P	R	O	P
B	O	A	T		M	E	L	O	N		A	R	E	A
I	N	N	U	M	E	R	A	B	L	E		F	A	N
			P	A	D		M	E	A	N	D	E	R	S
A	D	D		L	I	S	I	T	O	R
L	O	B	S		A	H	S			E	N	A	C	T
P	O	T	A	B	L	E		P	A	R	A	B	L	E
S	M	A	L	L		R	A	S		S	U	E
		I	S	I	S		O	A	S	I	S		E	N
O	R	N	A	M	E	N	T		E	N	D
P	E	A		P	R	E	S	E	N	T	A	B	L	E
E	L	A		B	L	U	E		M	O	O
R	E	T		S	L	A	V	E		O	L	A	N
A	T	E	E			S	T	E	R		N	A	N	A

1/29/91



CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

PETER, I'M HERE AT KING KHALID COUNTRY CLUB, TALKING TO MAJID AL KAKI, ONE OF MANY YOUNG ARABIAN MEN WITH NO INTEREST IN DEFENDING THEIR OWN HOMELAND!
MAJID, WHAT'S THE STORY HERE? SOLDIERS FROM A DOZEN COUNTRIES, INCLUDING FELLOW ARAB NATIONS, ARE OUT IN THE DESERT, PUTTING THEIR LIVES ON THE LINE...
...AND YET HERE YOU ARE, FAR FROM THE FRONT, SIPPING A FROSTY BEVERAGE BY THE POOL OF AN EXCLUSIVE COUNTRY CLUB!
AS ARE YOU, ALLAH IS GENEROUS.
ALLAH, HELL. I'M WORKING, BUDDY!

JIM'S JOURNAL
By JIM

I'm Jim.
This is the journal of my day-to-day life.
Today I went to class. It was okay.
I came home and watched TV even though I didn't feel like it.
Then I ordered a pizza and it really hit the spot.

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

Look how hard it's snowing out there, Marcus! It's time to run outside to do my three-minute cry of Jubilance!
Let me guess— You choked on the snow.
SHUT UP! NEVER SPEAK AGAIN!!

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Quiche	Beef Strudel
Chicken Cutlet	Italian Sausage
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Quiche	Squash Bake
Chicken Cutlet	Hi-Protein Spaghetti

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21- April 19): Wise choices put you in charge of your own destiny – at least for now. Bargains are available if you shop around. Let romance cool off and then see how you really feel.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A project handed to you now is sufficiently complex to require all your finesse. Give it your best shot and you will emerge a winner! Share good news with your mate or partner.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Running against the crowd could make you a hero in business today. A dazzling performance will solve any financial problems. A love relationship undergoes positive changes. You feel optimistic.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Given you track record, you will succeed at a new assignment. Others are anxious to join your team; welcome them if they will be an asset. Quit hiding the facts from a child.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Better cash management is the key to improving your finances. Keep spending under control and leave your options open. Romance looks more promising than in the recent past.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A long-range financial plan merits your close attention today. You have considerable influence. Use it judiciously. A longtime relationship will respond to more nurturing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Keep an eye on your co-workers – there could be treachery afoot. Avoid getting caught up in office politics. Patch up a quarrel. Taking someone out to dinner will make a nice statement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A roadblock to career progress is removed, thanks to a new agreement or policy. Someone who enters your life now could be a source of financial backing. Be candid with a teenager.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You are riding the crest of popularity now. Vits gladly take you into their confidence. Be discreet. Something transpires behind closed doors that works to your advantage. Be upfront with your loved ones.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A large degree of cooperation is necessary to maintain rapport with your co-workers. Seek experts' advice about legal or financial matters. Domestic events could alter your social plans.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Curb a tendency to be extravagant. Ostentatious spending could mar your image. Become the sensitive person other people want to be around. A new romantic prospect should be pursued.

■ three administrators resign

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

will be working with the Third World Caucus in researching the needs of minority students on campus and redefining Thompson's position. She hopes to begin the hiring process in September.

Appointed in 1983, Thompson worked to promote student leadership, a multicultural environment on campus and served as an advocate for students of color.

Thompson, who earned a master's and doctoral degree in higher education at the University of Massachusetts, has served as coordinator of minority programs at the American College Unions International Association and has testified before Congress on school segregation policies.

WAS: COLLEGIAN IS: COLLEGIAN

Counseling & Advising for Older Students

HELP is Available!

* Open Course List *

Information on Services

Information on Registration

MACHMER, E-21 545-5338

Open Jan. 29 to Feb. 1 8:30-10:00 AM and Noon-1:00 PM

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF Theater

BLOOD WEDDING BY FEDERICO GARCÍA LORCA	DON JUAN BY TIRSO DE MOLINA	THE BLACK WOMEN'S SURVIVAL KIT BY ANDREA HAIRSTON
FEBRUARY 27-MARCH 2 AND MARCH 5-9	APRIL 4-6 AND APRIL 10-16	MAY 1-4 AND MAY 7-11
LORCA'S POETIC DRAMA PITS LOVE AND HONOR AGAINST PASSION AND VENGEANCE IN A SPANISH VILLAGE.	WHAT PRICE WILL DON JUAN HAVE TO PAY FOR HIS LIFE OF SEDUCTION AND CONQUEST?	A FLEDGLING FILMMAKER AND AN AGING CLEANING WOMAN SHARE THEIR SECRETS IN A VIBRANT NEW PLAY.

FOR INFORMATION ON TICKETS, MATINEES, AND SEASON SUBSCRIPTIONS, CONTACT THE FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE, 545-2511

Spring 1991

Free Speech.

If you're an off-campus student, get the AT&T Calling Card and your first call is free.

There's no better time to speak your mind. Because now when you get your free AT&T Calling Card, you'll get your first 15-minute call free.*

With your AT&T Calling Card, you can call from almost anywhere to anywhere. And you can keep your card, even if you move and get a new phone number.

Our Calling Card is part of the AT&T Student Saver Plus program, a whole package of products and services designed to make a student's budget go farther.

So look for AT&T Calling Card applications on campus. Or call us at 1 800 525-7955, Ext. 655.

And let freedom ring.

AT&T. Helping make college life a little easier.

AT&T The right choice.

*A $3.00 value for a coast-to-coast Calling Card call. Applies to customer dialed calls made during the AT&T Night/Weekend calling period, 11pm to 8am, Sunday through Thursday and 11pm Friday through 5pm Sunday. You may receive more or less calling time depending on where and when you call. Applications must be received by June 30, 1991.

IRELAND PUB TOURS

'Spring Break'

March 20-24

Full payment dadline Feb. 1

NEED A VACATION SPOT...

Imagine yourself in a land with more than 10,000 pubs to choose from set in a scenic landscape of rugged cliffs, beautiful bays and quaint villages for 5 days for only $599

West coast tour includes:

- AerLingus roundtrip flight from Boston
- First Class Hotels
- Transportaion/Guide throughout
- Sightseeing tours
- Breakfast and dinner
- Nightly entertainment...and much more
- Call now to reserve your seat Space is limited
- Final payment due 8 Feb. 91
- Legal age 18

Rita k. Burke 549-1256

adventura travel

233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst Carriage Shops

The 1991 MCAT Will Be An All New, Completely Revised Test.

Stanley H. Kaplan Is Ready.

Students planning on applying to medical school will be facing a completely revised Medical College Admission Test (MCAT) starting in April 1991. The Association of American Medical Colleges has announced that the new MCAT will measure a broader range of skills.

Fortunately, the test makers aren't the only ones making changes. Stanley H. Kaplan, the first name in MCAT prep, has already designed a brand new course to help students get ready for the brand new test. All our lessons, home study notes, practice tests, and review will reflect the latest MCAT format and content.

Does Kaplan preparation work? Over HALF the students in medical school today are Kaplan alumni. New test? No problem.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

Classes begin:

Feb. 16 at Mt. Holyoke

Feb. 17 at Smith College

Feb. 20 in Amherst

549-5780

Jews travel to Israel despite warnings

BOSTON (AP) — Jewish leaders, young volunteers and Israeli nationals anxious to rejoin their families are flying to Israel despite the dangers of missile attacks and State Department warnings to stay out.

"People are calling and coming in and asking what they can do," said Ephraim Zinger, New England regional director for the Israel AVLIYAH Center. "We're all the same family. In normal times, sometimes you don't talk to your brother for months, but when he needs your help, you go."

The World Zionist Organization in Los Angeles has received 400 to 500 calls this week from Americans who want to help, said Spokesman Uri Dromi, a retired Air Force colonel. About 250 have been places on a list for possible Israeli military duty.

"It makes you feel like you're not alone in this world," said Dromi.

At the U.S. headquarters for Volunteers for Israel in New York, which is sending 100 Americans to work in Israeli army installations, "The phones are ringing off the hook," board member Arthur Stern said last Wednesday.

The agency has taken 700 calls in the last week, Stern said. A flight of volunteers was scheduled to leave last weekend. Stern said most of the volunteers are young and many are non-Jews.

"Philip Bloom, one of the volunteers who will be on the flight to Israel, said, "At a time like this, when Israel feels most isolated, it's important for Jews to make a positive statement."

Two influential delegations of American Jews have been hastily assembled to make trips to Tel Aviv. The first departed from Boston last Wednesday and the second was scheduled to leave from New York during last weekend.

"This has brought home to many people the importance of Israel, and the realities of the dangers she faces," said Malcolm Toenlein, executive director of the Council of Presidents of American Jewish Organzations, which arranged the weekend trip. "It has heightened the sense of identity."

Toenlein said there weren't enough seats on the plane for Jewish leaders, who manned the phone lines after Tuesday's fatal Iraqi missile attack on Tel Aviv.

"It's an expression of the deep concern, the frustration, the anger over the attacks," he said.

Boston-area Jewish leaders traveled to Israel last Wednesday to meet with government and military officials and survey missile damage.

"The Israeli people must feel very isolated at a time when they're subject to terror attacks from Saddam Hussein against civilian populations," said Mitchell Bohnen, president of the Jewish Relations Council of Greater Boston and a leader of the fact-finding trip. "We are going to show our solidarity."

Israeli nationals in the United States are also returning home.

"People are going to show that it is safe," said Livia Givoni, managing director of the Israel Travel Center in Boston. "We're the little guy, but we have the right to survive and nothing and no one is going to scare us."

Givoni said she feels safer in Israel than in the United States, where Americans are naive about domestic terrorism that the war might bring.

■ Mullins construction

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

have a hockey team, and now we're finally going to have one," McInerney said.

When asked how much it would cost to start such a program, McInerney said he had "no idea."

[The Campus Chronicle estimated the cost of starting a hockey program to be in the one million-dollar range].

UMass spokeswoman Karin Sherbin said the total capacity of the arena will be 10,214 but will vary depending on the event. Basketball games are expected to seat 9,296 people, hockey 8,134, while theatre events may hold as few as 4,280.

Because the Legislature granted UMass $40 million for the project and the bid for the construction came in at $38.48 million, the extra $1.5 million is being spent on additional features, including racquetball courts and stage lighting.

According to the Campus Chronicle, Mullins will include a multi-use arena and a separate ice skating rink. Both buildings will be air conditioned, with steam from the campus' central power plant being converted to hot water and circulated to heat the facility.

The building will also be capable of being hooked-up to a proposed solar heating plant, if the project ever develops.

The Building Authority mulled over eight other bids [the highest $41.44 million coming from Daniel O'Connell's Sons, Inc. of Holyoke] before awarding Suffolk Construction the contract.

Mullins is expected to be the site of Commencement ceremonies in May 1993.

WINTER SESSION GRADE REPORTS

will be mailed to students' current local addresses the week of February 11.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

COMPLETE OPTOMETRY EXAMS

AT THE UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES

We offer...

... quality, comprehensive vision care at a reasonable cost.

... courteous, friendly, professional staff

... reduced rates on eye glasses at participating opticians with a complete optometric examination at the University Health Services for Student Plan members.

UHS EYE CARE PROGRAM

Convenient hours and convenient on campus location.

For questions or appointments, call 549-2671

FREE POOL

21 and over MON — TUE

WED — THUR 21 and over

ROLLING ROCK BOTTLES $1.50

- Five 9ft. Championship Tables
- Four Large Screen TVs with your favorite sports action
- Full Bar
- Drafts in ice cold mugs
- 25 cent hot dogs
- Pizza and burritos
- Full appetizer menu
- Weekly giveaways
- Great for couples

CASH PRIZES Pool Tournament Thursday Nights 7:30

Open
Mon-Thurs 5pm-1am
Fri 5pm-1am
Sat-Sun 1pm-1am

MICHAEL'S Billiard Room And Sports Bar

Rt. 9, Amherst, 256-8284

(Next to Hunan Garden)

Special offer for UMass students!

Student checking free for a year!

Open a BayBank checking account today, and you'll pay no normal monthly service charges for one full year. Plus, you'll enjoy the unmatched convenience of the BayBank Card—chosen by more Massachusetts students than any other. Only the BayBank Card lets you—

- Bank 24 hours a day at over 1,000 X-Press 24* banking machines on campus and around the state.
- Access up-to-the-minute account information with unique Card features like Account Update™ and Check Update.™
- Get cash where you shop, with over 200 BayBank X-Press 24 CASH* machines at convenience stores and supermarkets in Massachusetts.
- Get cash when you travel at over 50,000 NYCE* and CIRRUS* automated teller machines nationwide.

So look for us on campus—or stop by our Amherst office and open your free account today!*

* Offer good Monday, January 21 through Friday, February 15, 1991.

Limited time offer!

NOBODY DOES IT BETTER.™

Amherst office:
75 East Pleasant Street
(corner of Triangle and East Pleasant Streets)
24-Hour Customer Service Center:
586-8600

Member FHC

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Chris Lathan, a graduate student in molecular cell biology, takes his mind off his work by playing video games.

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

For your convenience the Textbook Annex will be open:

JANUARY/FEBRUARY HOURS

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
JAN. 27 CLOSED	28 9-5	29 9-9	30 9-9	31 9-9	FEB. 1 9-5	2 11-5
3 CLOSED	4 9-5	5 9-5	6 9-5	7 9-5	8 9-5	9 CLOSED
10 CLOSED	11 9-4	12 9-4	13 9-4	14 9-4	15 9-4	16 CLOSED
17 CLOSED	18 CLOSED	19 9-4	20 9-4	21 9-4	22 9-4	23 CLOSED
24 CLOSED	25 9-4	26 9-4	27 9-4	28 9-4	MAR. 1 9-4	2 CLOSED

REGULAR HOURS:
MONDAY-FRIDAY: 9:00 am-4:00 pm

LOCATED ON THE TOP FLOOR, EAST SIDE OF THE PHYSICAL PLANT BUILDING

SOM lauded in national publications

By GAYLE LONG
Collegian Staff

The School of Management at the University of Massachusetts has been ranked No. 2 in the East by Business Week magazine in a newly published book, Business Week's Guide to the Best Business Schools.

The School of Management was tied with the Tuck School of Dartmouth College for having the second-most selective Master's of Business Administration program in the country.

"Business Week's survey salutes all those who have built our University and the School of Management," said Thomas O'Brien, dean of the School of Management.

Business Week editors described the University's program as "small and selective" and "a bargain," revealing that nearly all full-time MBA students work as research or teaching assistants, which takes away the cost of tuition and allows for stipends.

The Amherst campus accepts only 13 percent of the MBA program applicants, according to University sources. The median GMAT score for the 70 students in the full-time program is 625.

The University's School of Management was also cited this year for excellence by New York Times Guide to Colleges by Edward Fiske; How to Get an Ivy League Education at a State University, by Martin Nempko and Rugg's Recommendations on Colleges. These books have labeled University of Massachusetts School of Management as having one of the 50 top research programs in American business schools.

In evaluating the the University's MBA program, Business Week's editors noted that 34 of the nation's corporations recruited on campus last year, and the network of contacts established by the School includes more than 15,000 alumni.

AIDS protest disrupts CBS, PBS news

By SCOTT WILLIAMS
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Ten protestors chanting "Fight AIDS, not Arabs!" broke into the studios of CBS' "Evening News" and PBS' "MacNeil-Lehrer Newshour" to demand more media attention to the deadly disease.

Four other protestors were arrested last Tuesday evening after they tried to get into the "NBC Nightly News" studios, officials said.

Seven protestors from the AIDS activist group ACT UP entered the MacNeil-Lehrer studio. They carried a sign which read, "Act up, fight back, not AIDS, not Iraq," said Susan Assadi, a spokeswoman for the PBS broadcast.

"Three of them chained themselves to the desk. One attempted to chain himself to (anchor) Robin MacNeil," she said. Washington-based anchor James Lehrer told viewers there was a demonstration in progress and to cut to a news report.

CBS viewers saw one of three protestors on camera shortly after the broadcast began. He was quickly pulled off the set while anchorman Dan Rather broke to a commercial. The protestors chanted, "Fights AIDS, not Arabs."

"The protestors used fake ID cards to get in through the main entrance," said CBS spokeswoman Donna Dees. They were removed from the studio and held in the main lobby, where they chanted "AIDS is news!" she said.

Rather refered to the protest later in his newscast: "I want to apologize to you for the way the program started. There were some rude people in the studio but they were ejected."

The incident was edited out of the program's West Coast version, which airs later, but was mentioned during the newscast.

The four protestors who tried to enter NBC's studios were stopped by NBC security guards and turned over to the police, a network spokesman said. The four left the building in handcuffs.

There was no demonstration reported at ABC, which also originates its evening news shows live from New York City.

All 14 protestors were charged with criminal trespassing, said police spokesman Officer Fred Weiner.

Laurie Kotter, a spokeswoman for ACT UP, said the disruption at CBS was "secretly planned" by some members of the New York organization.

She said the organization did not officially endorse the action, but "we support what they've done. We feel that's the only way AIDS gets in the news."

GRAPHICS DEPARTMENT

Back to School

Beth Emming, 1984

Donna Bowman, 1985

Protect it? Or burn it?

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

Burn Baby Burn
2 Black 2 Strong/MMG
In-Effect/Clappers Records

They say that when the amount of body bags coming back to America from the Gulf multiplies, the present patriotic fervor will wane and many Americans will become disillusioned with their government. There will be protests, sit-ins, and perhaps even flag burnings.

Burn Baby Burn, the debut EP from New York City rappers 2 Black 2 Strong/MMG, has excellent timing.

One can summarize the central theme of their lyrics with one word — anger. They're angry at system that they feel has shafted their people. They're angry that this same system will deny them the right to freely express their anger by not allowing them to burn the flag in order to make a statement against the policies of or transgressions committed by this country.

continued on page 3

. . .As we slide into war
all the young killed things are turned into the same element, no-colored, like wind or water;
they color everything we taste
as tongue and skin turn to metal and they make up our world now; they are become the rain—maybe they always were.

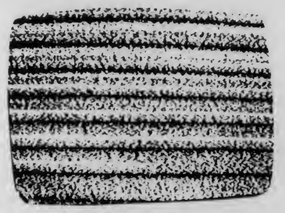
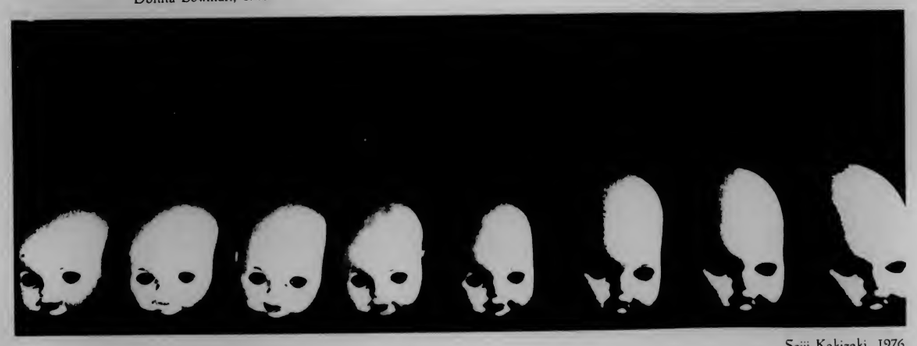
Alison Luterman, 1981



If T.V. contributes to the way we view the world, then it matters whose image of the world it promotes and whose interest it serves.

Don Desmett

Tony Biladeau, 1985



Seiji Kakizaki, 1976

Art work courtesy of Spectrum

ARTS & LIVING

Rambling on about a winter ghost town

By NOA CHRISTINE BEN-YEHUDA
Collegian Staff

Where were you? Two weeks earlier you had all haunted the town and campus, your red eyes propped open with toothpicks and protractors, your ashy faces expressing the gloom of exams to come and exams gone.

The evacuation of Amherst was a quick and thorough affair. When the last packed Peter Pan emitted its final putrid puff of exhaust, Amherst let out a sigh. Kind of like post-poof whoopie cushion, everything sort of flattened out after that.

"Fwa-appt."

And I started going to the movies. Video sickness came later.

The day Amherst Cinema let Ghost go, they decided to turn on the heat. But my movie partner and I didn't know that until we reached the cinema, clad in our warmest longjohns and a hidden thermos of spiked hot chocolate. A note hanging behind the gangly ticket-seller spoke to us, "Due to the rising costs of heating, the Amherst Cinema has no other choice but to raise the price of tickets by $.50."

If you have been wondering what the point of my rambling is, you just read it. Now it will cost you a whopping THREE DOLLARS to catch a film at Amherst Cinema (with a valid student ID). Bring your longjohns and a thermos too because it ain't any warmer since they turned on the heat. On with the rambling. . .

James Spader and Susan Sarandon had sex in different positions for us and then the movie was over. We left the cinema and again found ourselves in a ghost town. A black three-legged dog howled at the trees in the common and a unseasonal warm breeze blew at our longjohnned knees. This very same spot, two weeks later would be the sight of an anti-war protest/anti-war protester protest which I happened upon on the way to the video store.

Little odd kids ran amuck in the traffic of pro and anti-war warriors. It was a big crowd of people all in their woolens (it had snowed). The intersecting cars were the unsuspecting enemies. And I was just on my way to rent Scanners and pick up some strawberry-flavored Quick.

"Honk," said a car for the 10th time.

"Honk," went a protesting man's nose into his napkin which he'd received with his coffee to go from Bonducci's.

"Yak Yak. . .We won't go!. . .What does that spell?. . .Bla, bla, bla, you commie hippie republican ex-patriot nose picker. . .," said the mob to the mob.

"Scanners please," I said to the video store clerk. Heads and veins blew up for me in the privacy of my own home while the same was about to happen in the streets of Bagdad. Mazel tov to all the reporters who finally have the story of a lifetime, World War III.

All this 24-hour news coverage made it very difficult for me to break the video habit. Being a junkie isn't so bad (that's video junkie please, I don't even like looking at needles) and I wasn't really trying to break the habit. Actually the 24-hour news coverage gave me an excuse to pursue my addiction with less guilt. I mean, I had begun to count all of Tom Brokaw's new gray hairs.

But you were doing the same wherever you were. The news was impossible to escape, kinda like your parents. . .right. I have been overhearing little tales of parental woe, fraying nerves, etc. Just take this moment to thank your lucky moons that you are here reading this, not there taking that.

So it was Quick and Taxi Driver one night, then Ringness and The Tin Drum the next. Then I began taking advantage of two-for-one night. I made it into four-for-two night.

"How about a quadruple feature?," I sez to myself one night. And in return I sez, "Sounds great."

*Frances, Radio Days, Babbette's Feast, La Dolce Vita. . .*Could we squeeze in City of Women and Matador too? Heh Heh. Su-u-ure!

My retinas became square and I soon noticed that the zombies pacing the video store were afflicted with the same addiction. Sometimes I would see them at the convenience store, the same square-eyed junkies picking up the staples: microwave popcorn, big bags of gold foil wrapped kisses, baby oil and of course strawberry-flavored milk. I never wanted to say "hi" to one of them. Suspicious looking devils.

'Course there I was, Henry: Portrait of a Serial Killer in the crook of my arm, a box of straws in my clutch, slipping sweet-n-low packets into my pockets with my free hand (for the punch).

I wouldn't talk to me if I weren't me.

Rehabilitation began with intersession. Some of you came back then. Thank you, you round retina-ed souls. Mine are still square. I slip into the video store still whenever funds allow, but the big red required textbook was costly. I even had to cut down on midnight calamari.

Now you are all back. Amherst Cinema has a new film playing, Tom Brokaw finally went to bed and I have this job at the Collegian to help sustain my habits. Yippeee! How doth the whoopie cusion inflate!

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

BOO-HISS — Amherst Cinema raises ticket prices to $3.

Council Travel
Cheapest Fares to
LONDON
FRANKFURT
PARIS
ATHENS
TOKYO
AMSTERDAM
AUCKLAND
HONG KONG
•EUROPE
•ASIA
•AUSTRALIA/ NEW ZEALAND
Plus raispasses, international student ID, tours and much more Ask for our free catalog
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA 01002

THE LOG LADY SAYS:
WELCOME BACK-TO-COLLEGE

What a profound philosophy:
Affordable Video Rentals
• Free memberships
• After hours drop slot
• Great prices on audio and video accessories
• VCR rentals—no deposit
• 3 day 2 night rentals
• Open everyday 10am to 10pm AND MUCH MORE!
NEWS ARRIVALS
The Freshman
Hardware
Young Guns II
Die Hard II
Navy Seals
Delta Force 2
SOUNDS EASY VIDEO
The Intelligent Choice
Amherst 6 University Drive 549-5200
Greenfield 21 Mohawk Trail 772-2141
Northampton N. King St. Hamp Plaza 586-7260

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
ADVOCATE ★BEST★ THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1990
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style — especially for you!
•FULL LIQUOR LICENSE•
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•No MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

Problem Skin?
come to
Aesthetics
For an alternative skin care treatment
Deep pore cleansing facials
Lash and brow tinting
Hair removal with wax
lip, brow, bikini, legs, etc.
34 Main St. • 253-9879

Domino's Pizza
Amherst/Hadley
256-8911
South Hadley
535-1111
Buy ANY Large Pizza GET A SMALL 1-ITEM PIZZA for only .30c
Expires 3-30-91
1 coupon per order
Buy ANY-Pizza Get a 2nd of equal or lesser value for only $1.99
expires 3-30-91
1 coupon per order
Buy ANY-Large Pizza for the PRICE OF A SMALL PIZZA
expires 3-30-91
not good with any other offer

MUSIC

Venus Beads offer luke warm satisfaction

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

Transfixed
Venus Beads
Emergo Records

Photo courtesy Emergo Records

Venus Beads

You are surrounded by a wall of sound. Moody, psychedelic noise attacks every pore of your body. You reach out to touch this wall and suddenly scream out, "Hey wait a minute! This isn't real brick! It's foam rubber!"

Those who lust for new, bold and brazen noise rock may feel the same way when they listen to the debut EP entitled Transfixed by Venus Beads. The London-based quartet deliver decent material reminiscent of groups like Husker Du, the Pixies, Sonic Youth, the Cure and the Replacements. But there lies the problem. There's nothing particularly new in what they do, albeit it's satisfying.

The first track, "Heaven and Back," continually bursts with fits of post-psychedelic moodiness and chaos and contains some really good melodic grunge. "One Way Mirror" attacks you with a frenetic pace keeping the psychedelic mood of their sound. The main body of "Wolf on a Chain" is the catchiest and most melodic.

As for individual performance, Robert Jones delivers gritty vocals with just a hint of an English accent. Anthony Price plays a rapid fire guitar to match the frantic skin bashing of Mark Hassall and Stephen Bolt's bass work on "Heaven and Back" definitely sets a moody tone for the piece, although, like most bassists, most of his work just blends into the background.

Lyrically, the words create as much of a mood as the music does. It seems that they are fond of metaphors and similes since they make frequent use of them, as evidenced in "Cold Inferno:" "Repeatedly stabbed with all your twisted reasons that cut like splintered glass/You're turning the knife distorting the real meaning with fragile alibis/Poisonous words carved and whirling iron spikes."

The band expect to release a full-length LP in April. With this EP, they show some promise.

1990 saw jazz looking back rather than moving forward

By BILL ROSENBLATT
Collegian Staff

1990 was a strange year for jazz. As in other recent years, there were no real signs of musical progress. With the continued rise of the Wynton Marsalis-led neo-traditionalist movement, the alarming number of deaths among the older players and the expansion of "repertory" groups and programs, the focus was definitely on the past rather than the future.

Valley Jazz

Marsalis was clearly the most important single figure of the year. Although he had begun over a decade ago as a brash, big-mouthed, flashy chopsmeister, he continued to soften his public image (no more Miles-bashing) and to attempt to respond to the critics who said he couldn't play blues or ballads. He acquired a bizarre kind of fame that could be described as halfway between fusion star and classical music prodigy. He achieved a peak a few months ago by being the first jazz musician since Thelonious Monk to appear on the cover of Time magazine.

However, Wynton's music continued to lack substance and innovation. His three album releases of the past year found him mired in concept-land: The Majesty of the Blues, including an 18-minute "sermon," was preachy and dirgy; The Resolution of Romance, an all-ballad album with his pianist father Ellis, was a somnolescent bore; his soundtrack to the offbeat film Tune In Tomorrow was perfunctory, ingenuous pastiche of Ellington and the New Orleans style.

No, Wynton's real "innovation" was to bring back the idea of the traditional/acoustic/serious jazz artist — as opposed to the commercial fusioneer — as entertainer. Remember that jazz was popular music until the bebop revolution of the 1940s, and remained so to some extent until the "free" movement of the 60s made the music rarified. Late-60s fusion was an earnest attempt to bring it back to the people.

Of course, "fusion" has become a dirty word. It created a schism between its fans and self-styled "purists" that has only deepened during recent years, and it resulted in such commercial tripe as Kenny G and Spyro Gyra. It has retained its popularity but, thanks in no small measure to Wynton, traditional jazz is coming up from behind.

The past year saw continued growth in the number of young, traditionally-minded musicians settling into lucrative careers. Although many of these players sound like clones of each other, a few are beginning to stand out as they find their own voices. Trumpeter Roy Hargrove, tenor saxophonists Ralph Moore and Dale Barlow, pianists Mulgrew Miller, Geri Allen and Donald Brown, and drummers Ralph Peterson, Lewis Nash and Marvin "Smitty" Smith are among them.

Most astoundingly, the music is starting to find its way onto the playlists of contemporary jazz and Urban Contemporary radio stations. Although the "heavy" stuff isn't there yet, the trend is encouraging. Spike Lee's film Mo' Better Blues, about a jazz trumpeter, deserves some credit here too: the soundtrack, performed by Branford Marsalis' band, was a perfect bridge between Black popular culture and traditional jazz. Even CD 101, the New York station that jazz purists love to hate, is now playing some traditional jazz.

Wynton's carefully-constructed image, however, is the primary reason for this — mainly the "don't worry, it won't bite you" image he currently projects, which attracts the pop audience. Other "entertainment-oriented" artists have come up (such as the Harper Brothers) or come back (such as trumpeter Clark Terry); conversely, fusion stars like George Benson, Donald Byrd, Grover Washington and Chick Corea have all recorded traditionally oriented albums.

As a result, the neotraditionalist movement is in an excellent position to capitalize on their public recognition and move the music forward — finally. Now that they have the public's ear, take 'em somewhere new! This is exactly what John Coltrane and Miles Davis did in the 50s and 60s. Let's hope that today's young lions take advantage of this opportunity — as Miles and Trane did — in the coming year.

■ 2 Black 2 Strong-MMG

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Voice and author of Burn Baby Burn, Johnny "2 Black 2 Strong" Mars, claims, "I came up with the concept and the lyrics of Burn Baby Burn when I saw what the system was doing to protect this piece of cloth. They were trying to change the Bill of Rights, alter the First Amendment, change the Constitution. . .all this fit their needs, while slowly but surely taking away the people's rights. I felt I had to do something to discourage the people from going along with this apparent theft of our freedom of speech."

The title track, a good tune with a cool, somewhat mellow jam, brazenly protests, "You gave me freedom of speech in the First Amendment/So why the fuck are you trying to scold me?/When I'm torching the flag I'm only doing what you told me I could. . .See I made up this new rule and I want you to learn it/Strike up a match to the American Flag and burn it."

2 Black 2 Strong/MMG join the growing ranks of rap artists such as Public Enemy and NWA who making their anti-establishment sentiments painfully and controversially clear. Thankfully they can express their opinions in this country and hopefully their right to speak their minds will never be taken away.

Photo courtesy In-Effect Records

2 Black 2 Strong/MMG show how they feel about the flag.

WWIII theme music, skullflowers and more

By MARK STURM
Collegian Staff

Bemeseed is a sort of ambient guitar sound project largely funded by the copious bankroll of the now heavily corporate endorsed Butthole Surfers. This would be more of a surprise to the outsider if the Surfer's ex-naked go-go dancer were not the front piece. Although I was unimpressed with the band's first vinyl effort, God Inside, on Blast First records, I must recommend their latest, Lights Unfold on No. 6 records to the potential record buyer. No. 6 co-released the Neil Young cover thing a while back, then unfortunately followed suit with the exceptionally boring Bewitched before proceeding with Chrystalized Movements' solid LP This Wideness Comes, and then, of course, Bemeseed.

Forced Exposure recently released a Chrystalized Movements supplement single, which I have yet to acquire, but assuredly plan to. I have heard the new Love Child single on Forced Exposure. Buy it. Of all the cookie ideas in the music industry: Indie pop rock; pseudo stars; the likes of Love Child playing the songs of the notorious monk like underground freak jazz freak Moondog. Forced Exposure has also released a new Skullflower single, which thoroughly satisfies in the true tradition of Skullflower.

The Skullflower discography has also been beefed up a bit by the release of the "Xaman" 12" EP on the British label, Shock. This EP showcases the longest Skullflower space jams this eager listener has enjoyed to date. Shock has also recently released a Ramleh 7", which for the most part sounds like Skullflower. Both Ramleh and Skullflower could be described as bands which share all of the favorable attributes of the Britpop Spacemen 3 trio; drawn out near visual loopy guitar structures without the gratuitous "Oh gee I'm so glad to be a pop star" overlays. Would give just the right particle spins to that nasty apocalypse culturoid who's just eaten six hits of acid and sat back to watch the end of the world on CNN.

Country Music In The World Of Islam is the title of the new CD only release by Eugene Chadbourne on Fundamental records. On this release Chadbourne is backed by psychojazzishist Elliot Sharp as well as the always pleasing Sun City Girls. If you're not sold yet or are unfamiliar with Chadbourne's brand of humor let me give you a small backdrop. The man often plays electrically modified rakes and plungers, once recorded a country version of the Butthole Surfer's now classic anthem "The Shah Sleeps In Lee Harvey's Grave," labeled that Country Music In The World Of Islam is part of his "ethnic series," and all graphics are by Matt Groening a.k.a. Akbar And Jeff.

"The sport is war, total war, when victory is a slaughter, the final swing is not a thrill, it's how many people I can kill." I don't care how many times you've listened to the new Slayer LP Seasons In The Abyss, it's strengths are re-highlighted with respect to the current international news events. Turn on your television, select the channel or network showing the best high-tech air embarkments and sorties to suit the cynic rubbernecker in you, turn the volume down or off, turn your stereo up near the pain threshold, and let rip with Slayer.

STILL NEED A COURSE?
PH 129*
HEALTH CARE FOR ALL: MYTHS AND REALITIES
Tu-Thurs 11:15-12:30PM Morrill 1 N329

Learn about the health care system, which is the largest single industry in the U.S. Specific topics include socio-cultural views of health and illness, the unequal health status of minority groups, and taking care of the elderly; among others.

Instructor: Prof. Paula Stamps, Ph.D.
School of Public Health
(formerly PH 190A) Meets SBD designation

Up and coming events

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

It's a lazy Saturday afternoon.

You lie in bed watching candle pin bowling on Channel 40 as you try to recover from the overindulgent antics of the night before. You contemplate what exciting adventures the nighttime will bring. Will you head for the nearest keg party where fighting your way to the keg, waiting for hours to get your hands on a precious cup of beer, losing facilities to move or breathe with ease are but simple ways of life? Will you get together with a small group of your closest friends and play a game of naked Crisco twister?

The possibilities are endless. However, if you would like to steer clear of the mundane sex and alcohol antics of college life maybe just for one night, there exists a vast wealth of intellectual and cultural entertainment in the Five College area.

Here is but a meager listing of some upcoming events:

JAZZ

Feb. 3 Saxophone Recital - Benzanson Recital Hall, UMass
7 Barbara Higbie - Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom
9 Sun Ra - Iron Horse, Northampton
9 6th Annual All-Senior Honor Band - Fine Arts Center, UMass
10 Don Cherry Quartet - Iron Horse, Northampton
14 Ricky Ford Quartet - Hampden Theatre, UMass
19 Jeff Holmes - Bowker Auditorium, UMass
26 Birelli Lagrene - Iron Horse, Northampton
28 Branford Marsalis - Fine Arts Center, UMass

BLUES

Feb. 3 John Hammond - Amherst College Campus Center Frontrooom
11 Johnny Winter - Iron Horse, Northampton

CLASSICAL

Feb. 1 Winter Morning - Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College
3 Sonata Ricordati - Benzanson Recital Hall, UMass
8 Hermann Prey - Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College
12 Dang Thai Son - Benzanson Recital Hall, UMass
15 Larry Bell - Benzanson Recital Hall, UMass

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

Photo courtesy Roadrunner Records

The Neighborhoods, a straightforward rock-n-roll quartet from Boston, will play at Katina's in Hadley on Wednesday.

See What You Hear!

18 Great Ways to Get Your Video & Audio Together.

1.) Pfanstiehl stereo cables. For as little as $3.89, connect sound from your VCR or TV to your present stereo.
2. & 3.) Tera and Proton high resolution monitors. The two best pictures on the market —we sell and service both!
4.) JVC VCR's — from the inventor of VHS. From $299. Hifi/stereo VCR's from $399.
5.) JVC 31", 32", & 35" big-screen TV's — high resolution, low price. From $1,299, delivered.
6.) The NAD MR-13A Monitor. Simply the best small TV. $399.
7.) Sony's MDP-333 multi-disc player. Plays all formats of audio and video discs. $499.
8.) The Sony TAE-1000 ESD Digital Signal Processing preamp. Dolby Pro-Logic, Parametric EQ, Digital Soundfield Control. The one and only. $899.
9.) Boston Acoustics loudspeakers, shielded video speakers, designer series in-wall speakers, and subwoofers. Top-Rated! From $143/pair.
10) Snell Acoustics speakers — chosen by Lucasfilm for the Lucas THX surround system.
11.) Lexicon sound processors —the state of the art for Dolby Pro-Logic and ambience retrieval.
12.) Onkyo Dolby Pro-Logic receivers. Full-featured, high current, discrete outputs, & reliability. From $540.
13.) Denon AV amplifiers — High-power surround and full AV (audio/video) switching. From $465.
14.) Velodyne subwoofers — amazing bass how sweet the sound!
15.) The HTS Mastermind remotes — the only remote you'll ever need ! Operates from any angle from any room, no wires, no hassles! $199.
16.) Video laser discs — the area's widest selection. Theater sight and sound for the price of a movie & popcorn. From $24.95.
17.) Videonics DirectED PLUS. Make your own movies! It's a video editor, title generator and special effects generator.
18.) CWD audio/video furniture. Beautiful solid hardwoods or new living colors, designed to compliment any system & decor.

Delivery & installation available.
Factory authorized service.

Sound & Music
Millbank Place • 351 Pleasant • Northampton • 584-9547 • VISA & MasterCard accepted

College Blowout
featuring Road Runner Recording Artists
THE NEIGHBORHOODS and ONE EYED JAKE
Wed. January 30
live at
Katina's
18 and over welcome
Free bus service from UMass Campus (Southwest Horseshoe)
$1.00 off with college I.D.
Route 9, Hadley
586-4463

Daisy's
HOURS
MON-SAT 5am-3pm
SUN 5am-3pm
1185 North Pleasant St.
AT THE NORTH AMHERST LIGHTS
WELCOME BACK STUDENTS
To A Great Breakfast of Homemade Bread & Pastries
Present this ad and receive 10% off
One per customer please
Offer good Mon.-Fri.
ON THE BUS ROUTE PAST GRAD TOWERS

A friendly guide to psychological therapy

By JAY ALLAIN
Collegian Correspondent

On Being A Therapist
Jeffrey A. Kottler
Jossey-Bass Publishers

Counseling. For many of us, the mere mention of the word evokes vague and unsettling images. Even academians — who earn a living, in part, by being able to classify diverse phenomena — are uneasy about where to situate this most human of endeavors. Is it science? Or should we speak of the art of counseling? Various critics have labelled it a hoax, paid friendship, or an oppressive tool to foster adjustment to a sick society. But what is counseling really all about?

Like the parable about the blind person who touched various anatomical features of an elephant and reported widely varied creatures depending on whether he encountered the ears, the trunk, the tusk or the legs, so too counseling escapes easy definition. However, On Being a Therapist can serve as an essential guide book to the extremely diverse terrain that is created when a helper and a helpee encounter each other. For anyone who has ever been put off by the jargon of modern psychology or anyone who has even dimly thought of becoming a therapist, this book will astound you with its accessibility, candor and warmth. For example, right off Kottler makes an announcement that is both demystifying and startling. He writes, "It is not what the therapist does that is important — whether she interprets, reflects, confronts, or role plays — but rather who she is. A therapist who is vibrant, inspirational, charismatic; who is sincere, loving and nurturing; who is wise, confident and self-disciplined will have a dramatic impact by the sheer force and power of her essence, regardless of her theoretical allegiances." Now here's an insight that one might find skirted in even graduate level psychology coursework. In fact, such remarks may prompt considerable debate among professionals in the field and clients themselves.

Yet unlike most popular psychology books, Kottler's exploration of the intimate nuances of therapy is buttressed by the repeated use of key studies in the field. Carl Rogers, Albert Ellis, Sydney Jourard and other less well-known counselors and theorists are drawn upon. But Kottler's inclusion of such studies is never pretentious; in fact, his erudition is so unobtrusive and effective as to be all but imperceptible.

At times the author's overview of the demands of being a therapist provides unexpected guides for living. With his usual candor, Kottler admits that regardless of the specific issues with each client, therapists repeat certain themes. Among my favorites are: "Feeling powerless is a state of mind." And the classic, albeit sobering, 'You will never have your parents' approval.'"

Overall, On Being A Therapist is an invaluable book for anyone considering this particular calling. It would be nearly impossible to read this book and come away without a far richer appreciation of the range and complexity that confronts the therapist — theoretically, professionally and personally. For example in a section on difficult clients, Kottler cites a study which encourages clinicians to explore their fantasies concerning the client with this person. He writes, "Whether these fantasies are primarily rescue-orientated, sexual in content, or expressive of rage, frustration and anger, most therapists entertain fantasies and daydream about many of their clients." In a chapter entitled, "Boredom and Burnout," Kottler identifies some of the potentially debilitating aspects of being a therapist which range from a nonsupportive home life, the "political wars" of many mental health facilities and the therapists own unexamined agenda. On a final note he notes, "Some professionals invest their egos too intensely in the outcome of their work, an outcome that depends very much on the client's motivation and behavior. Therefore, they may attempt to do too much in the sessions, taking too much responsibility for filling silences, providing immediate relief of symptoms and generating insight."

Insight is one quality that is evident in On Being A Therapist. Even the lay person may find this work intriguing.

AEROBICS
MORE NAUTILUS
Computerized aerobic machines than any club in the Valley.
Stairmasters • Lifecycles • Gravitron • Biocycle • Treadmills
New • New • New • Life Rower • New • New • New
BETTER MASSAGE
Special suspended oak wood floor • Certified Instructors
• Bench Step • Low Impact • High/Low • Boxercise • Stretch
KARATE SAUNA
Total body conditioning plus the skill of selfdefense.
Largest full-time Karate studio in Western Mass.
AMHERST ATHLETIC CLUB 460 West St. | South Amherst 256-0080 | KARATE HEALTH & FITNESS CENTER

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
Featuring the latest works from Valley area artists.
15 percent off selected items with this ad
REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
At the Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant Street
Downtown, Amherst
Hours Sun.-Mon.-Tues 12-5
Weds.-Sat. 10a.m.-6p.m.
549-7373

Dance Stuff '91
Shoes for Tap, Jazz, Acro, Lyrical
Bloch's soft leather and canvas Ballet
for women, men, and children
Freed, Chacott,& Capezio pointe shoes
Exercisewear, Accessories
220 N. Pleasant St. (rear)•Amherst•253-5201

LOTS for LITTLES
TOYS·RECORDS·BOOKS
Plus new and recycled
CHILDREN'S CLOTHING
201 N. Pleasant Amherst, Mass. 01002
Consignments 256-6925
Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5:30
Sun. 12:00-5:00
Sale: All winter consignments ½ Price · Starts Feb 1

ALL AGES—ALL SHOWS
AT THE COMEDY ZONE
FRIDAY & SATURDAY 8:30 pm
When you want the BEST*
Fried Rice • Spare Ribs • Buffet
•Live Comedy•
*Advocate 'Best of the Valley' reader poll 1990
Mon-Thurs 5pm-8pm: ALL YOU CAN EAT BUFFET $5.99
11:30am-3pm: ALL YOU CAN EAT SUNDAY BRUNCH $6.99
20%
OFF DINNER for Comedy Patrons
Comedy info & reservations 585-8615
PEKING GARDEN
Mandarin/Szechuen Cuisine
Open 7 Days
Route 9-Russell St. Hadley 586-1202

JUST BECAUSE YOU SKI ALL WEEK DOESN'T MEAN YOU'LL TURN INTO A POOR STUDENT.

$10 COLLEGE DISCOUNT.
Stratton has a lower price for anyone pursuing a higher education. $22 midweek. $28 on weekends and holidays. So you can save $10 any day and every day with a current college I.D. And you get 92 exciting trails, a 12-passenger gondola, plus all the extracurricular fun you can handle. Now, how's that for financial aid?
Stratton VERMONT
Call 1-800-843-6867 or 1-802-297-2200.

ALL THE CLAMS SAY:
WRITE FOR ARTS
WRITERS MEETING
THURS. 4 p.m.
113 Campus Center
FREE MUNCHIES

■ events

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 4

17 Aspects of Love - Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College
23 Five College Choral Festival - John M. Greene Hall, Smith College
26 New England Camerata Concert - Benzanson Recital Hall, UMass

ROCK/POP/MISC.

Jan. 30 The Neighborhoods/One Eyed Jake - Katina's, Hadley
Feb. 1 Glenn Campbell Good Time Hour - Fine Arts Center, UMass
1 John Cafferty and the Beaver Brown Band - Katina's, Hadley
3 Judgement Day/Moriah - No Name, Greenfield
8 -Ska Fest with Bim Skala Bim/(bop)Harvey/Hi-Hats - Bluewall, UMass
8 The Vestrymen - Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom
17 Chris Smither - Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom
19 Take 6 - John M. Greene Hall, Smith College

FOLK

Feb. 10 Bill Morrisey - Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom
24 Shawn Colvin - Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College

COMEDY

Feb. 2 The Certs College Comedy Competition - UMass
2 Earl Reed - Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom
23 Louie C.K. - Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom

DANCE/THEATRE

Jan. 31 Fried or Boiled - Hallie Flanagan Studio Theatre, Smith College
Jan. 31 Watermelon Woman - Thornes Market, Northampton
Feb. 6-7 Peter Panic: Flying Underground - Hampden Theatre, UMass
7-9 Pains of Youth - Mendenhall for the Performing Arts, Smith College
8-9 Present Co., Inc. - Kirby Theatre, Amherst College

Talent contests

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

Suffering from low self-esteem? Need to achieve something to spruce up your otherwise drab existence?

Well if have a talent for writing radio scripts or putting together a film, there are two contests that could improve your condition if you win or worsen it if you lose.

American Radio Theatre, based in California, is sponsoring the eighth annual Radio Script Writing Competition. It is held as a means of encouraging both established and beginning writers to create work for the radio theatre medium.

"Writing for the audio medium may be one of the most challenging things a writer can attempt. You must depend on your personal ability to create pictures with word and sound in the minds of your audience," American Radio Theatre President Eugene Shaw claims.

A $500 prize will be rewarded to the entry which makes the most imaginative use of the medium. The winning entry will also be presented on the group's anthology series A.R.T. Presents. . . ., which will be available for use by non-commericial radio stations.

Entries will be accepted between January 1 and June 30, 1990. To obtain entry forms and writer's guidelines send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: American Radio Theatre, 1615 West Victory Blvd. Suite 104, Glendale, CA 91201.

The deadline is fast approaching for those who wish to enter the 1991 New England Film and Video Festival. This regional competition, presented by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education, University of Massachussetts at Amherst and sponsored by the Boston Globe, recognizes outstanding independent and student film and video.

This year cash and service prizes have increased to $9,100. Award categories include: Outstanding Narrative, Outstanding Social Documentary, Outstanding Student Video and Outstanding Independent Video. The two top awards, the Boston Globe Critic's Choice and Best of the Festival, give $2,500 each to its winners.

Entry deadlines are February 1 for independent entries and February 8 for college/university student entries. The festival will take place in Boston on May 16, 17 and 18.

For entry forms and information contact: NEFVF, Arts Extensino Service, Division of Continuing Education, 604 Goodell Building, UMass, Amherst, MA 01003, or call 413-545-2360.

ANDY'S PIZZA
256-8147
256-8148
University Drive, Amherst
free delivery beginning 11am large two item pizza $8.00+tax small two item pizza $4.50+tax
Call and ask for our specials

PAUL'S OLD TIME FURNITURE
New mattress and box sets
New pine book shelves
"We're overflowing with Old Time Bargains for every room and budget"
"Quality Used Furniture"
57 Pleasant St., Amherst 549-3603
Open 10:30-5:00 M-F, Sat. 11-4
We Buy and Sell, Pick-up and Deliver

Cooking at your table
SPECIAL
Tues.-Wed.-Thurs.-Fri. & all day Sunday
Two Dinners for $15
Steak & chicken combo
Two Dinners for $18
Shrimp & Scallop Combo
Both include soup, salad, vegetables, noodles, steamed rice, tea, & ice cream
Full Bar • Exotic Specialties
Reserve now for Christmas parties
Gift Certificates Available
Goten OF JAPAN
Rt. 116, Sunderland 413-665-3628
Open Tues.-Sat. at 5pm, Sun at 2
Reservations welcomed

USED & DISCOUNT PAPERBACKS IN MOST SUBJECTS.
FICTION, DRAMA, SCIENCE, HISTORY, PHILOSOPHY, RELIGION, ART, PSYCHOLOGY.
SAVE ON BOOKS
VALLEY BOOKS
199 N. Pleasant St.
Downtown Amherst.
M-F 10:30-5:30
Sat 10-5, Sun 12-5
256-1506
Visa/MC

Dellaria Salons invites you to visit our Amherst Salon anytime Monday through Wednesday and save $5.00 on Haircuts, or receive a Haircut & Perm for $50.00. You need only present your student ID.
26 Main Street, Amherst 256-8331
Not valid with other promotions
DELLARIA SALONS
BOSTON • SOHO • LOS ANGELES

Albion Bookshop
BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!
Why Pay Full Price?
We May Have What You Need!
Albion Used Books
Also...cash for your used texts and paperbacks
30 Main St., Amherst
Mon 9:30-6; Tues-Sat 9:30-9pm; Sun 12-5

FILMS

Bittersweet Awakenings stirs the emotions

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff
and SCOTT WEISS
Collegian Correspondent

Awakenings, based on a true story, tells how a quiet and reserved doctor (Robin Williams) "revives" Leonard Lowe (Robert DeNiro) and 12 other patients from their unresponsive catatonic state, giving them the opportunity to experience life once again.

★★★★

O'BRIEN: This was an incredibly emotional, bittersweet film that really touched me with not only its message, to appreciate the little things in life, but with the wonderful acting jobs done by Williams and DeNiro.

WEISS: I agree that Williams and especially DeNiro were great in this film. DeNiro's performance was reminiscent of Dustin Hoffman in Rainman. I believe that DeNiro will definitely be considered for an Oscar for his performance. However, I think the first half of the movie had a typical plot that we've seen many times before. . .

O'BRIEN: No, this movie was not predictable or like other films. Of course there will be some similarities drawn between this and Rainman, only because it deals with a relatively unknown affliction where a person unfamiliar with it tries to help. Aside from the obvious "awakening" of DeNiro, the rest of the story surprised me.

WEISS: I didn't say the whole movie was predictable, stop trying to pre-empt me. I did, however, have a good feeling from the beginning, how things were going to go. What I meant by a "typical plot" was that the unwilling hero, Dr. Sayer (Williams) sees hope in an otherwise hopeless situation, and is prevented by the system from doing any good. The acting and directing is enough to keep the audience entertained, and the film does take an unexpected turn which keeps it in touch with reality.

O'BRIEN: When you say you got a "good feeling from the beginning" about the movie what did you mean?

WEISS: The movie was rather predictable from the beginning. It's obvious that Dr. Sayer is going to accomplish some miracle, by simply seeing the first few events in the movie and from the title itself.

O'BRIEN: Of course you know that something is going to happen, that DeNiro will awaken, but that's not the point. The way they portrayed Sayer's progress, being the newcomer to a hospital full of people who are either certifiably insane or catatonic, was hardly predictable. Yes, you do expect him to have some success in helping these people but it's the way that he succeeds that cannot be predicted. One of my favorite scenes is when he realizes that this one patient, who is seemingly in an unresponsive trance, starts catching things that Williams throws to her. . .

WEISS: Don't get me wrong, I enjoyed the movie very much and not every scene was predictable. I especially liked the character development of Dr. Sayer. The way. . .

O'BRIEN: Williams was the best part of this movie. His mild-mannered charm and warmth were exceptional. He made, what could have been portrayed as a thin, cardboard character come to life. If we were going to draw comparisons between him and Tom Cruise's role in Rainman. . .

WEISS: There is no comparison between Williams and Cruise. The movies are completely different and Williams, unlike Cruise, portrays a real, believable character. I'm not a big fan of Cruise in Rainman. I think we're talking about Rainmain way too much.

O'BRIEN: What I just wanted to say was that if you liked Rainman, you'll love Awakenings. I'd give it thumbs up.

WEISS: I'd reccommend this as well. Thumbs up.

Photo courtesy Columbia Pictures

Robert DeNiro (right) and Robin Williams (left) star in Awakenings, a film based on the true life story of Dr. Malcolm Sayer.

Zefferelli's Hamlet entertains

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

Every time I go to see a movie, I buy one of those huge Cokes. You know, the 72 ounce size. And of course, by the end of the movie, I have to take a wicked piss. I stand on this incredibly long line while my eyes bulge and water and I do a little dance.

When I went to see Hamlet, it was no different. There I was waiting on this long line, tapping my toe and squirming about. And as I stood there, I overheard a conversation between the two women in front of me.

"I can't believe they left out the scene where Polonius picks his nose," one commented.

"And I don't think they should have filmed it in Scotland. That wasn't real enough for me. They should have filmed in Denmark," the other added. "Oh, the film was so bourgeoise."

Photo courtesy Warner Brothers Pictures

Mel Gibson plays a playful and passionate Hamlet.

Suddenly, I envisioned Shakespeare himself coming up to these two pretentious twits and bashing them over their heads with a rubber chicken.

Purists will argue that Franco Zefferelli's version of Hamlet was not all it could have been. He did have to slice a four hour play down to a one-hour-and-45-minute film. However, I believe Shakespeare would have loved this version of Hamlet because it does what so many high school English teachers have failed to do over the years — it made Shakespeare fun and exhilarating.

What made this film so intriguing was the acting performances handed in by Mel Gibson, Glenn Close and Helena Bonham Carter. The sheer poetry of Shakespeare's words came shining through their performances. Hanging onto to every word, one couldn't help but be swept away by the lyrical sounds and passion, although at most times the common man needed an interpreter to understand what the hell was spoken.

The fine acting performances of Glenn Close and Helena Bonham Carter came as no surprise. Like most people, I questioned Mel Gibson's ability to portray Hamlet considering his past roles. Could he match the performance of Sir Laurence Olivier? That question I cannot answer for sure, but Mel Gibson's performance was spectacular. He was passionate, perhaps sometimes over passionate, playful and ever so neurotic which figures in perfectly with his character.

Glenn Close played a dignified and somewhat understandably baffled Gertrude with a dazzling finesse. Her superb performance in Dangerous Liasons left no doubt in my mind that she could competently portray Gertrude.

Helena Bonham Carter is perfect as Ophelia. She shines with innocence trying in vain to understand the affections of her love, Hamlet, and then draws upon the viewer's pity as madness afflicts her when her love kills her own father, Polonius.

The cinematography also served to intrigue. The vast, open landscape of the Scottish countryside, the pagentry and splendor of the palace — it was overwhelming and breathtaking. It was as if someone breathed life into the imagery of a fairy tale land.

I have but one complaint. As I sat there, engrossed by words and images, there was a nagging little voice in my head saying, "When is someone going to say, 'There's something rotten in Denmark.'" Those words were never spoken and it was somewhat disappointing since that is a very famous quote from the play.

That petty complaint aside, overall the film is excellent. Yes, it was cut down for mass consumption. It has an all-star cast. It left out some important scenes and quotes. But, it has the power to capture the most impatient audience. It brings to the viewer a new appreciation for Shakespeare's art. And when you think about it what is more important — a film version of a Shakespearean play that is exact to the most painstaking detail or one that leaves the viewer in love with Shakespeare?

Films for February

For movie buffs, here's a few films coming to a theater near you this February:

L.A. Story: Steve Martin plays an out-of-work Los Angeles weatherman, who lets unemployment get the best of his love life. Directed by Mick Jackson, written by Martin.

The Marrying Man: Neil Simon's tale of an extremely wealthy man who (briefly) marries a lounge singer. Starring Alec Baldwin and Kim Basinger. Directed by Jerry Rees.

The Silence of the Lambs: Billed as one of the most disturbingly terrifying films of the year, director Johnathan Demme's (Married to the Mob) new effort stars Jodie Foster as an FBI agent tracking down a serial killer. Co-starring Anthony Hopkins.

He Said, She Said: Kevin Bacon and Elizabeth Perkins star as two competitive Baltimore Sun columnists trying to work out a problematic marriage. Directed by Ken Kwapis and Marisa Silver.

Object of Beauty: Andie MacDowell and John Malkovich play a wealthy couple who get to know each other in the confines of a ritzy London hotel. Directed by Michael Lindsay-Hogg.

Mortal Thoughts: Glenne Headly plays a wife who murders her cheating husband. Demi Moore helps her cover up her crime. Also starring Bruce Willis. Directed by William Kervin.

Class Action: Gene Hackman and Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio play a father/daughter lawyer set who wind up on opposite sides of the same case, and wind up patching up their stormy relationship.

Defending Your Life: Meryl Streep, Rip Torn and Buck Henry star in producer/director/screenwriter Albert Brooks' new flick about the afterlife.

Sleeping With the Enemy: Julia Roberts stars as a young woman who takes on a new identity to escape from an obsessive, abusive husband (Patrick Bergin). Directed by Joe Ruben.

Queens Logic: A tale of love, friendship, marriage and success in working-class Queens, New York. Ken Olin, Chloe Webb, Kevin Bacon, Jamie Lee Curtis, John Malkovich, Tom Waits, John Malkovich and Joe Mantegna make up the ensemble cast. Directed by Steve Rash.

Valkenvania: Chevy Chase and Demi Moore are travelers who take a wrong turn and end up in a bizarre town in the middle of nowhere. Also starring Dan Aykroyd and John Candy. Written and directed by Aykroyd.

This information provided courtesy Premiere Magazine.

— JODY GABIN

THE GLOBE BOOKSHOP

fine new, used & children's books
European, art & literary periodicals
publisher's overstocks at 30%-80% off
special orders•out-of-print searches

Open 7 Days•Mon-Sat 9-9;Sun 10-5•38 Pleasant St., Northampton MA 584-0375•586-5838

ATTENTION ALL U-MASS STUDENTS!
Explore the Self and re-enact past conflicts through PSYCHODRAMA. Share experiences in a safe, confidential setting. Group begins 2-12-91 for 10 weeks every Tuesday, 7 to 8:30pm. NO FEE REQUIRED.
Call Mark locally at 665-3678 after 6pm to register.

COLUMBIA ARTISTS FESTIVALS PRESENTS
THE
GLEN CAMPBELL
Goodtime Hour
REVISITED
with Mr. Campbell's special guest stars
JIM STAFFORD
JOHN HARTFORD
NICOLETTE LARSON
and the JEFF DAYTON BAND
FRI. FEB. 1, 8pm
FAC CONCERT HALL
CALL 545-2511
Special thanks to the Advocate Newspapers for their support.
THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Throughout your college years, make A.J. Hastings your headquarters for School Supplies!
Count on us for everything from your first freshman notebook to your final thesis paper...plus all those years of pens, pencils, paper clips, typewriter ribbons, etc., in-between!
A.J. Hastings, Inc.
"Conveniently located in the center of Amherst"
45 South Pleasant Street
OPEN: Weekdays 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Seven Os
Sunderland's Spot for Live Music
THERE'S NEVER A COVER!!
Thurs. January 31 9pm—1am
The HALBENOIT BAND
Friday and Saturday February 1st and 2nd 9pm—1am
WILDCAT O'HALLORAN
Sunday 8pm—12am
OPEN MIC NIGHT with MARK SNOW
THURSDAYS OPEN 9pm—1am
Route 116 Sunderland 665-8788

The Creative Needle
Mid-Winter Sale
20%—50% Off
Door Prizes
Entire Stock
Sale Ends Sunday, Feb. 3
The Carriage Shops, 233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst
549-6106
Open Mon.—Sat., 9:30-5:30, Sunday 1-5
KNITTING IS THERAPEUTIC

50c OFF any Calzone — One coupon per order - Expires May 31, 1991
50c OFF any Calzone — One coupon per order - Expires May 31, 1991
50c OFF any Calzone — One coupon per order - Expires May 31, 1991
50c OFF any Calzone — One coupon per order - Expires May 31, 1991

La Cucina di PINOCCHIO
PIZZA & SUBS
FREE DELIVERY (limited delivery area)
1177 N. Pleasant St.
N. Amherst
Coupons valid for delivery or pick up only.
549-3669

$1 OFF any Large Pizza
Limit of one coupon per pizza
Coupons for pick-up or delivery only
Expires May 1, 1991

$1.50 OFF any Large Pizza with 2 toppings
Limit of one coupon per pizza
Coupons for pick-up or delivery only
Expires May 1, 1991

La Cucina di PINOCCHIO
PIZZA & SUBS
FREE DELIVERY (limited delivery area)
1177 N. Pleasant St.
N. Amherst
Coupons valid for delivery or pick up only 549-3669

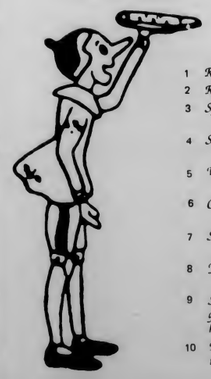
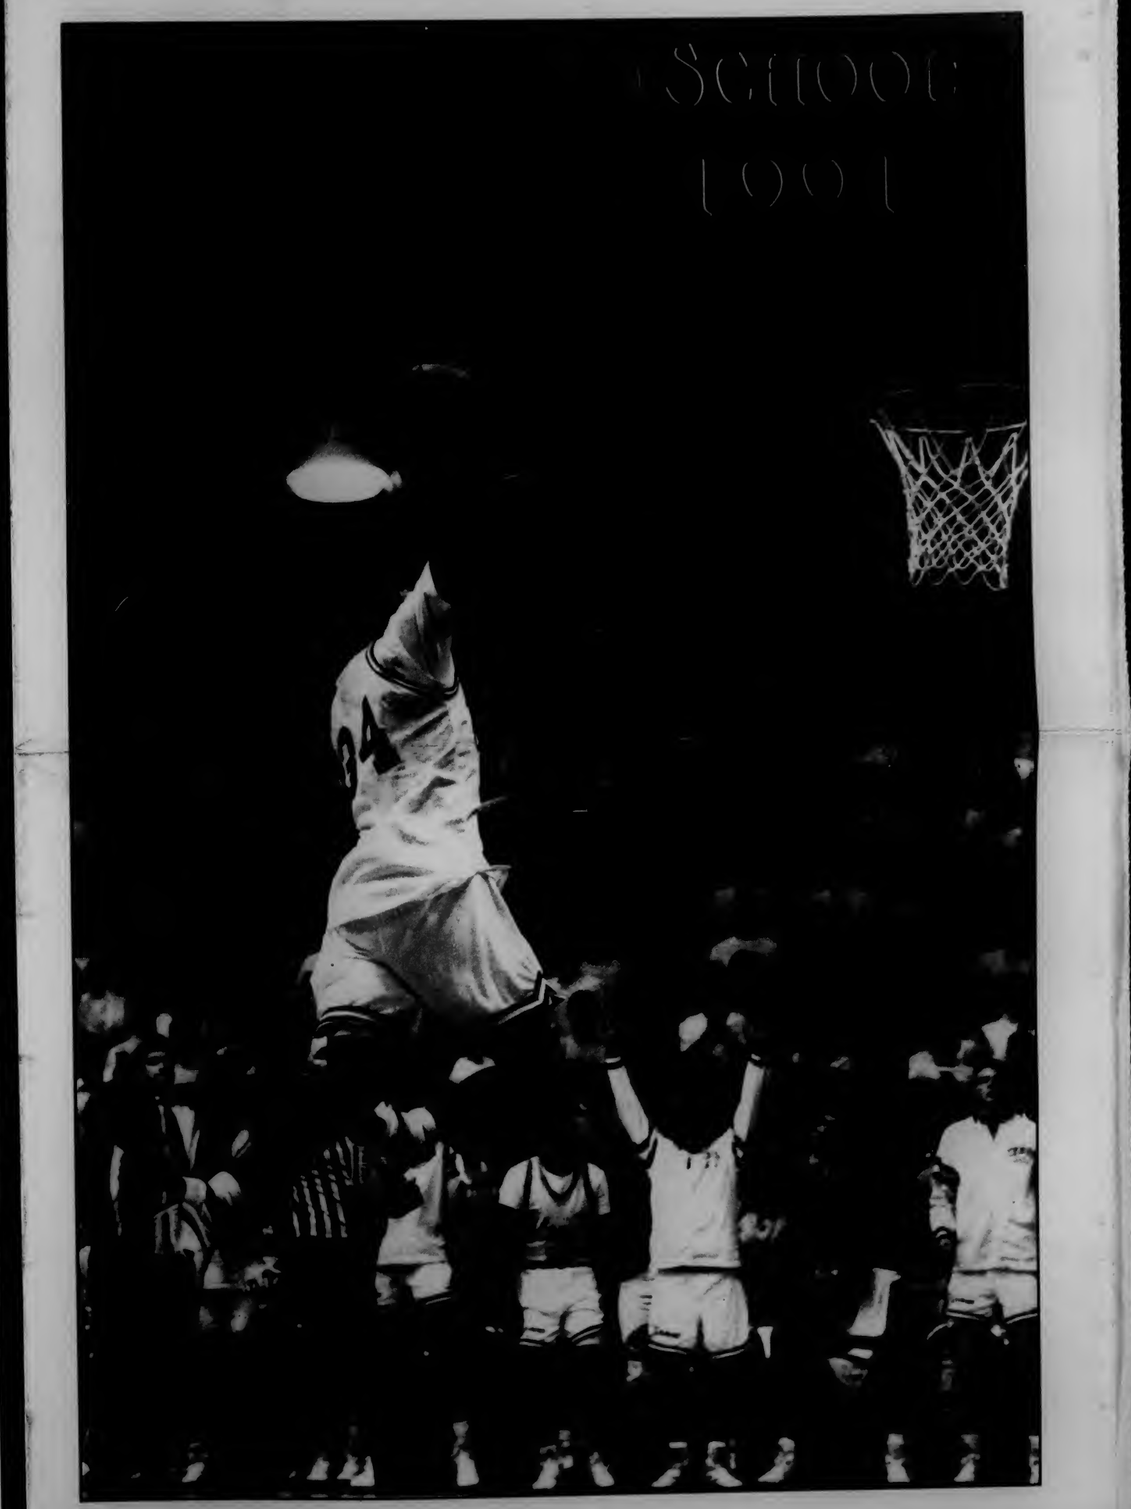
★Twin Special★
2 Large Cheese Pizzas
$11.00 (plus tax)
Additional items $1.20 per pizza
Coupons for pick-up or delivery only
Limit 1 coupon per customer. Expires May 1, 1991

★Twin Special★
2 Large Cheese Pizzas
$11.00 (plus tax)
Additional items $1.20 mper pizza
Coupons for pick-up or delivery only
Limit 1 coupon per customer. Expires May 1, 1991

La Cucina di Pinocchio
549-3669
New Item
Fast Free Delivery or Pick-up
1177 N. Pleasant Street
Amherst, Massachusetts
Hours
Weekday - 4 pm to 2 am
Saturday - 4 pm to 3 am
Sunday - 4 pm to 1 am



Calzones
1 Ricotta, Ham, Salami, Mozzarella 3.95
2 Ricotta, Mozzarella, Provolone, Swiss 3.95
3 Spinach, Garlic, Mozzarella, Parmigiana (Popeye Special) 3.95
4 Steak & Cheese (your choice green pepper, mushroom, onion, hot pepper) 3.95
5 Vegetarian Delight (broccoli, spinach, ricotta, eggplant, mozzarella) 3.95
6 Chicken Parmigiana (breaded chicken breast, mozzarella & sauce) 3.95
7 Sausage Parmigiana (sweet sausage with mozzarella & sauce) 3.95
8 Yuppie Calzone (smoked mozzarella, goat cheese, broccoli & pesto) 3.95
9 Steak & Cheese Bomb (steak, mushroom, green pepper, onion, salami, ham & hot peppers with cheese) 3.95
10 Pesto Calzone (mozzarella, swiss cheese, ricotta, fresh pesto) 3.95



Minutewomen facing difficult season

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

Injuries, inexperience and a tough schedule can each make a basketball team's season difficult.

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team has had to deal with all three factors at the same time.

Injuries to Keyburn McCusker, Trish Hessel and Trish Riley, a schedule that included most of the Atlantic 10's top teams (and the No. 1-ranked team in the nation, Penn State), and a roster made up of inexperienced, young players are a triple whammy that would knock any team for a loop.

The Minutewomen, who had an 0-13 overall, 0-5 A-10 record at press time, had a rough winter break. It started with two home losses, an 81-31 defeat at the hands of Rutgers, the No. 3 team in the nation, and a 54-28 loss to George Washington.

Rutgers' starting forwards, Vicky Picott and Tanya Hansen, combined for 33 points and 13 rebounds to lead the Lady Knights. Rutgers got off almost twice as many shots as UMass (64-34), held UMass under 20 points in both halves and benefitted from 36 Minutewomen turnovers.

Kim Kristofik scored 9 points and grabbed 6 rebounds to lead UMass in its first game of the new year.

Kristofik continued to lead the Minutewomen against George Washington, as she hauled down ten boards and scored 12 points. However, UMass lost its shooting touch completely, hitting 3 of 20 shots in the first half en route to a 9 of 43 shooting night, a 20.9 percent showing. A three-game road trip resulted in a 68-47 loss at Duquesne, a 92-35 defeat at the hands of West Virginia and a 74-44 loss to Dartmouth.

The WVU game proved to be especially costly, as McCusker and Hessel were both injured against the Lady Mountaineers.

The Duchesses of Duquesne got double-figure scoring from three starters to offset a tremendous performance by UMass forward Lisa Ireland. Ireland, a sophomore, scored 11 points and snared 16 rebounds, but Duquesne hit four 3-pointers, stole the ball 15 times and was helped by a 24-6 turnover margin as it pulled out the win.

The games against Dartmouth and West Virginia followed roughly the same pattern as the Duquesne loss. In both losses, UMass was outshot by a wide margin and did not take good care of the basketball.

West Virginia put five players in double figures, led by 17 points from Lori Quertinmont. McCusker led UMass with 12 points. Two days later, Dartmouth's Sara Bone led all scorers with 18 as the Big Green took advantage of Hessel and McCusker's absence, coming up with 15 offensive boards. Kristofik was high scorer for UMass with 13 points and 8 rebounds.

Returning home, the Minutewomen ran into a Penn State team which had just lost its No. 1 ranking. The Lady Lions, now ranked fourth, put on a clinic, winning 95-27 in a balanced effort that saw all but one of their players break into the scoring column. Penn State shot nearly 60 percent for the game. Jenny Moran scored 6 points for the Minutewomen.

Yet, as both coach Kathy Hewelt and team captain McCusker pointed out, team morale is still good. The Minutewomen are still working hard and turning adversity into a learning experience from which a better future may arise.

"No one's given up yet," said McCusker before the St. Bonaventure game. "Everyone's pretty psyched for our game tomorrow against St. Bonnie — we'll be able to compete with them and maybe pull out a win."

"It's a challenge every day," said Hewelt of her team's efforts to stay focused and upbeat. "The kids are working very hard to keep their heads up. We're working very hard to keep their confidence intact and to build on it."

McCusker was first injured in the Duquesne loss, suffering a black eye from an inadvertent elbow and what was thought to be a jammed finger. A second blow to that finger forced her out of the West Virginia game, and x-rays revealed a spiral fracture.

McCusker estimated she may return for the GWU contest in Washington D.C. on Jan. 31.

The WVU game claimed another UMass victim five minutes into the contest, as starting guard Trish Hessel suffered a deep muscle/bone bruise just above the knee.

"She got bumped above the knee by someone else's knee on a pick," explained Hewelt. "It's not a serious injury, but it is a very painful one that limits her mobility considerably. She's being treated daily, but it's a slow recovery process that should take one to two weeks."

Riley, who was redshirted last season with a painful back condition, has not played since early in the season due to the same condition. She spent the winter break in her hometown of Altoona, Pa. to receive treatment.

"Trish's status is day-to-day," explained Hewelt. "We're not expecting a physical contribution from her this year." Hewelt indicated further that Riley may be able to return next year if her condition improves.

While the opposition often racked up the statistics against the Minutewomen, there has been steady improvement in UMass' game, according to Hewelt.

"Since we've been overmatched, it's important for us to set realistic goals for ourselves for each game," noted Hewelt. "For example, we followed our game plan for 40 minutes against Rutgers, and we handled the ball much better than we had in the past. At this point, the disparity in the score is something we can't allow ourselves to focus on."

"You can see and feel the improvement even though the statistics don't show it," pointed out Hewelt. "We're continuing to execute the fundamentals. We can tell by looking at our kids that mentally they're handling it better."

Hewelt put it all in perspective with regards to the team's improvement and the quality of opposition it faces.

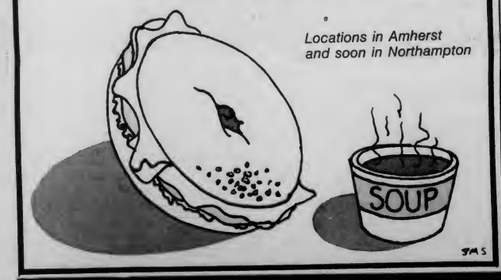
"We're playing in one of the top leagues in the country in terms of quality. Penn State's a phenomenal basketball team. They were No. 1 in the nation, they beat Virginia (the current No. 1 team) — that puts our game with them in perspective. And Rutgers beat Penn State — they've been moving up through the ranks all season. We're putting freshmen on the court against these teams while their freshmen are on the bench."

"Our kids are working hard every day," continued Hewelt. "We will improve — but we're starting at the bottom. This program had averaged 10 wins a year for 10 years — we're where the dominant teams in our conference were a decade ago right now. It's a painful but necessary step. We've been without an experienced point guard for two years, we lost our starting number two guard — right now it's baptism by fire."

The Minutewomen traveled to Philadelphia, Pa. to face St. Joseph's and Temple after the deadline for this issue of the Collegian. Their next home game will be Jan. 29 at the Cage against St. Joseph's. Tip-off is at 7:30.

Bruegger's Bagel Bakery

Come in from the cold
and warm up with a
Bagel Sandwich
and our
Homemade Soup of the Day



Locations in Amherst and soon in Northampton

RUSSELL's
Discount LIQUORS Discount
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441
Featuring BUSCH Suitcase $9.99
Ringness Beer or Ale 6 pk. $3.99
Russell's January Wine Sale 10% plus off six bottles or more!! (mix or match)
Narragansett case/cans $7.99
Captain Morgan 750 ml $7.99
Sutter Home White Zinfandel $3.99 750ml
Vodka 80° Liter $5.99
Many More In Store Specials (especially on wines)
★ Delivery Available ★
All beers plus deposits

GIVE US $20, AND WE'LL GIVE YOU THE RUNS.
$20 MID-WEEK LIFT TICKET.*
Mount Snow, Vermont is giving all you college students a run for your money. In fact, we're giving you all 84 runs—everything from our six new Sunbrook intermediate trails to the North Face expert terrain. And all for $20. Firm.
For a taped ski report, call (802) 464-2151. For more information, call (802) 464-8501.
Mount Snow.
When It Comes To Big Mountain Skiing, No One Else Is Close.
*Offer good Monday through Friday, non-holiday with a current college ID. ©Mount Snow Ltd. 1990

Men's hoop wins seven of nine

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team won seven of nine games over break. UMass holds an overall record of 11-4 and is in second place in the Atlantic 10 at 6-2.

[Since this edition went to press the Minutemen played A-10 games at Temple and George Washington, and a non-conference game against Holy Cross at the Cage].

Anton Brown tore ligaments in his left knee two days after Christmas when he collided with John Tate in practice. Though it was first feared Brown would miss up to eight weeks, he returned on Jan. 7 against St. Joseph's wearing an enormous brace on his knee and played 17 minutes.

Rafer Giles proved himself a capable replacement at point guard, averaging 8.5 points and 3.4 assists per game. Giles, who is closing in on his 1,000th point at UMass, has kept his starting spot since Brown's return.

Jim McCoy scored a season-high 30 points Jan. 12 at St. Bonaventure, and was named A-10 Player of the Week. McCoy's 30 moved him past Horace Neysmith into fourth place on the all-time UMass scoring list.

Following his 27-point outing against Rutgers at the Cage in late December, Tony Barbee was named A-10 Player of the Week. Barbee scored a career-high 29 points Jan. 15 at Xavier.

Reserve Francois Firman, a junior walk-on, was nominated for A-10 Freshman of the Week honors after a 2-point, 1-assist effort vs. St. Bonaventure... All three games at the Cage were sellouts.

The Minutemen received one vote in the Associated Press Top 25 poll for the week ending Jan. 20... Harper Williams twice upped his career-best in rebounding, grabbing 15 vs. Dartmouth and 16 against St. Joseph's... Tom Pace made his 1990-91 debut with a 5-minute appearance at Penn State Jan. 3. Pace, who has battled knee and weight problems all winter, has not played since.

A recap (through Tuesday, Jan. 22):

UMASS 80, DARTMOUTH 66

December 28 — In the first round of the Abdow's Hall of Fame Classic in Springfield, Jim McCoy scored 26 points and Harper Williams added 15 of his 21 in the second half as the Minutemen beat the Big Green.

Williams also snagged 15 rebounds, blocked 2 shots and had a pair of steals in 27 minutes of playing time.

The Minutemen led by two at halftime, at 39-37, then ripped off a 15-2 run midway through the second half and cruised to a 14-point win.

UMASS 83, BOSTON COLLEGE 81

December 29 — Rafer Giles hit a leaning 10-foot jumper on the right baseline with nine seconds left to carry the Minutemen over Big East's Boston College in the Championship game of the Abdow's Hall of Fame Classic in Springfield.

BC trailed by 20 midway through the second half before freshman Bill Curley carried them back to a 79-all tie with 1:47 to play. Curley scored 15 points in the game's final 12 minutes, including 7 in BC's last 4 possessions.

Tony Barbee scored a game-high 27 points, shooting 9 for 11 from the field and 9 of 10 from the free throw line.

"This is the type of win that brings our program to the next level," coach John Calipari said.

"This says we can play with the Big East," said Giles, who subbed for injured starter Anton Brown at point guard and finished with 19 points, 3 steals and 3 assists.

PENN STATE 65, UMASS 64

January 3 — This one hurt. John Tate bumped PSU's James Barnes in the act of shooting and Barnes sank the resulting pair of free throws with four seconds left to hand UMass an Atlantic 10 loss at University Park, Pa.

An identical foul on a Penn St. player went uncalled at the buzzer, according to coach John Calipari, as UMass' Tom Pace tried to launch a shot.

UMass' frontline of Tony Barbee, Will Herndon and Tate fouled out, leaving behind Jim McCoy to carry the Minutemen at game's end. McCoy scored UMass' last seven points and finished with a game-high 20.

"It was ugly. They took it from us down the stretch, but that happens on the road," said Calipari, who had to be restrained by Tate as he chased the referees off the floor after the game.

Penn State comes to the Cage Feb. 16.

UMASS 82, St. BONAVENTURE 55

January 5 — All five UMass starters finished in double figures and every player on the roster except Tom Pace scored as the Minutemen romped over Atlantic 10 foe St. Bonaventure at the Cage.

Jim McCoy scored 16 to pace UMass, and William Herndon had 13. Tony Barbee, Harper Williams and Rafer Giles added 10 each.

Jason Brower scored a game-high 17 points for the Bonnies, who entered the game as the last-place team in the league and with starters Dan Putney and Michael Burnett out with injuries.

UMass, which out-rebounded the Bonnies 27-19 and scored 18 points off turnovers, held a 30-point lead with 1:38 to play.

UMASS 68, St. JOSEPH'S 60

January 7 — William Herndon scored 22 points and Harper Williams muscled a career-high 16 rebounds as the Minutemen collected an Atlantic 10 win from St. Joseph's at the Cage.

Herndon's game-high total included a breakaway dunk over three backpedalling St. Joe's defenders with 1:53 left that snapped a 5-point Hawk run and opened up a 61-54 lead for the Minutemen.

The Hawks pulled back to within four, at 63-59, on a Rap Curry 3-pointer with :28 to play, but UMass made 7 of 8 free throws in the last minute to seal the win.

Williams added 10 points to his 16 boards, and Herndon had 8 rebounds, 2 steals and a block.

UMASS 81, DUQUESNE 75

January 10 — Behind Jim McCoy's game-high 25 points, UMass outlasted Duquesne at the Cage in a game that featured six ties and 14 lead changes.

The Dukes led 70-69 with 5:21 to play after freshman Effrem Whitehead hit a 10-foot jump shot over three UMass defenders.

From that point on, however, the Minutemen

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

Swimmers make dash for top of poll

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

A 3-1 January should see the University of Massachusetts women's swimming team jump from its No. 8 slot in the Northeast poll.

The Minutewomen beat No. 2 Providence and come closest of any team in school history to defeating the top program in the region, Boston College.

UMass (6-2) swam to a 158-142 win over Northeastern Jan. 5, lost to BC Jan. 14, 160-193, and toppled Rhode Island (163-77) and Providence (128-114) Jan. 19.

Of the three wins, Providence provided the biggest lift, coach Bob Newcombe said. And losing to BC wasn't so bad, either.

"Providence was a huge boost to everyone's ego and morale," Newcomb said, "and we came as close as we've ever been to beating BC."

The Jan. 19 event was a unique 'coed double-dual meet," described Newcomb, that featured Parent's Day festivities and three teams competing in both men's and women's events simultaneously.

"That meet produced lifetime bests virtually across the board. It turned into everything we hoped it would. There was a lot of great swimming and a lot of fun for the parents," Newcomb said.

"We're swimming just the way I want them to. Everyone says they're tired and sore, but their still swimming season-bests."

Against URI and Providence, senior Denise Reimer "kept herself among the top three or four in New England" in the 50 and 100 meter freestyle, Newcomb said.

Junior Kiri Binning won the 200 free and placed second in the 200 backstroke, and freshman Kim Broad chipped in strong performances in the 500 and 1000 free.

Diver Allison White ran her record to 7-1 in 1-meter events, and UMass' No. 2 diver Stephanie Tuttle improved her performances in 3-meter diving events.

Maureen Murphy uncorked a career-best in the 1000 free, at 11 minutes, 18.93 seconds.

Minutemen aim for fifth New England title

By RICK SETO
Collegian Staff

As the University of Massachusetts men's swimming team approaches the backstretch of their schedule toward their fifth consecutive New England Championship, head coach Russ Yarworth sees his young squad coming together.

In their last meet on Jan. 19 before press time of this issue, the Minutemen romped over Rhode Island, 181-63, and Providence, 157-86, at Boyden Pool. In their prior intersession meets, the Minutemen downed Northeastern, 140-103, on Jan. 5 and Amherst, 151-131, on Jan. 16.

When asked to compare this year's team to his previous championship clubs, Yarworth said, "It's a little different. The first year [1987] we won New Englands, we had that big freshman class and they did carry the team. This team came in last year and got to ride on the coattails of the seniors and there wasn't that much pressure on them."

But the Minutemen have worked well together, running up their record to 7-1 and setting themselves up for another successful postseason.

"It's a real team effort, and that's the only way you can win a New England championship," Yarworth said. "Even if you have five or six really good swimmers who can win events for you, you're still not going to beat a team with 17 or 18 kids who can place."

Yarworth, who is in his 12th year and owns an impressive 95-33 (.742) career mark, senses differences in the way he has to coach a team top-heavy with freshmen and sophomores.

"I have to be a little easier on them. They're not as mature and they don't quite respond when they're tired. So I have to treat them with kid gloves, but they're really developing a killer attitude. And they started showing that side of them this weekend."

Besides swimming at home on Parents' Weekend, one reason for the lopsided routs was the fact that Yarworth rested his "kids" one day before the tri-meet.

"I may have rested the kids more than I wanted to as a coach, but mentally the kids needed that rest and the chance to perform well."

Yarworth explained the rest was necessary in light of the normal intersession training cycle.

"They're a little out of shape when we come back Dec. 27, but their spirits are high because we're going on a trip [to Puerto Rico as part of their annual winter training] and they're ready to work hard.

"It was a little down last week because they were tired. They were flat because of the heavy training and being here. In the middle of January, they'll hit the doldrums a little bit.

"And then school gets closer and they begin to see the light at the end of the tunnel, they start to get more pumped up. This is starting to happen right now. I anticipate a real good week of practice."

Right now, Yarworth is in the process of finalizing his 18-man roster for the New England Championships at URI from Feb. 21-23.

"I've got 14 of the spots picked, and the divers and swimmers are fighting for the last four spots," said Yarworth. "Everybody deserves to go, but it's unfortunate that there is a roster limit."

The Minutemen's first meet after the beginning of classes against the University of New Hampshire (Saturday, Feb. 2, 1 p.m. at Boyden Pool) will be the last competition for nine swimmers who are vying for the remaining New England roster spots. Yarworth plans to "shave" those nine swimmers in a technique used to reduce the swimmers' friction with the water and thus better their times.

One of those headed for the New Englands is tri-captain Jimmy Robertson. After being in and out of the water in the fall with pneumonia and a scratched cornea, the senior recently has been on a torrid streak, capturing five first-place finishes in his last five races over the last two meets.

"He's setting himself up to have an opportunity to win New Englands in a couple of events if he keeps this up," Yarworth said. "He can swim sprints or any distances."

Another standout has been sophomore Jay Peluso, who won the 200 individual medley (swimming 50 meters in all four strokes) and the 200 breaststroke.

"He didn't have a great freshman year, but he's starting to gain a little bit of the confidence he lost. I perfectly expect him to be a New England champion in at least one event."

Others who are swimming well are freestylers Scott Reed and Pete Hursty and backstrokers Mark Stoelting and Frank Sampson.

Reed, the son of the Brown coach [Ed], is described by Yarworth as "one of the best

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

The University of Massachusetts men's swimming team are looking toward their fifth consecutive New England championship. The Minutemen face the University of New Hampshire Saturday in Boyden Pool at 4:30 p.m.

Beat The January BLAHS
AUDIOVOX $99
AM/FM Auto Reverse Cassette w/spkrs. Installed
Panasonic CQH15 From $199 Installed
"Upgrade your Factory System"
Panasonic CX-DP15 12 CD Disk Changer
•Quadruple Oversampling Digital Filter
• 2 Digital to Analog Converters
Includes 100 watt amp with most factory systems
$699
Cellular Phones
Technophone 905 or Uniden CP 1500
BUY 1 GET 1 FREE
Call for complete details
*with min. 6 months metro mobile service activation
Auto Security Systems
CLIFFORD THE ULTIMATE IN AUTO SECURITY
•Many models available •Up to 20% ins. disc •Shock sensor •125 dB siren •Remote transmitter
From $199 Installed
THULE SKI RACKS
More than just a ski rack! Carry Luggage, Bikes, Canoes, Lumber. You Name IT! Highest quality available. All model in stock and a perfect gift guranteed!
Layaways and Instant Financing Available
CUSTOM CAR SOUND
573 RIVERDALE ST. W. SPRINGFIELD 734-4995
141 DAMON RD. NORTHAMPTON 586-5258

WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN
WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN
WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

Minutemen edged by Navy

Men's gymnastics look to rebound against Springfield

By RICK SETO
Collegian Staff

Ouch. This one had to hurt.

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team was literally edged by Navy, 257.05-256.65, in their first meet of the season on Jan. 19.

The loss by four-tenths of a point represented the difference between a fall or legbend on any one of 30 scores.

"There aren't too many meets where you lose by that little," head coach Roy Johnson said. "But I can feel good."

After the Minutemen's six gymnasts combined for only 38.45 on the pommel horse, UMass fought back valiantly by winning four of the next five events, including two 42s and three 44s.

"I was really happy with how our team performed in the last three events," Johnson said. "They really did a good job."

After a disastrous performance in the pommel horse, the Minutemen nearly rallied from a two-point deficit. Or was it three? Four?

According to Johnson, Navy did not post the overall score, which was an NCAA violation. Johnson did know that his team was behind, but it would have been advantageous to be aware of the score, especially during a comeback.

"It helps relax the gymnasts and gives them the excitement that they might need to perform better," Johnson said. "So I was a little disappointed that they didn't post the score."

Johnson explained the difficulty of working the horse. "You have to have a long, stretched body. Once you start to get nervous, you get shorter and then you don't swing as well.

"I think the guys were nervous because it was the first event of the first meet."

UMass also had four gymnasts who finished first in four events. Sophomore Steve Christensen won the pommel and high bar with identical scores of 9.35. Senior Dave DiNucci won the vault with a 9.3 and sophomore Rob Thomas captured a first with a 9.35 in the floor exercise.

"No question our strengths are the floor, vaulting and the high bar," Johnson said. "We scored 44s in those events, but they should be 45s soon. But pommels is a strong event for us as well — we just had a bad day."

As the Minutemen prepare for their next meet against Springfield College tomorrow night at Boyden Gym (7 p.m), the 13th-year coach is optimistic about his young squad.

"We have a talented team, and a team that's really committed to doing well. I think going against Springfield, we can hit 265. I think against Southern Connecticut (Feb. 12) and Temple (Feb. 16), we could approach 270, and that should give us a Top 10 ranking in the East."

Springfield will enter Boyden Gym with a 1-1 record, pending the outcome of their meet at Army on the 25th. The Chiefs competed against Navy the same day UMass did, but did not want to compete in a tri-meet.

The Chiefs only scored 239.35 against Navy, and appear not to be in the same caliber of schools as UMass.

"Springfield should be a good meet and we should be able to try some new things," Johnson said.

But the close loss to Navy still lingers.

"We're going to catch them again at the EIGLs (Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League)," Johnson said. "We'll be a little more ready for them."

Great Savings.....
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!
$3.00 OFF ON PROCESSING A 36 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY
$2.00 OFF ON PROCESSING A 24 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY
$1.00 OFF ON PROCESSING A 12 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY
$1.00 OFF ON PROCESSING YOUR FILM FOTO FACTORY
EXPIRES: FEBRUARY 28, 1991
COUPONS NOT VALID WITH MONDAY OR WEDNESDAY SPECIALS
THIS COUPON VALID WITH MONDAY & WEDNESDAY SPECIALS ONLY
257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
62 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON
224 1/2 FEDERAL ST. GREENFIELD
The Foto Factory
FILM IN BY: 10:00 am
PRINTS OUT BY: 4:00 pm
ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE

Gymnastics ready to roll

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team opened its season against Cornell Saturday at Boyden. Results were not available as of press time.

Last winter, the Minutewomen finished second in the Atlantic 10 and third in the Northeast, at 13-2 overall.

From that team, senior Lynn Morris graduated and fifth-year senior Erika Baxter completed her eligibility. Baxter has returned to the program this fall as an assistant coach.

Coach Alfie Mitchell said he is expecting instant contributions from five freshmen who have arrived to fill the void, including Margaret Furtado and Angela Jent.

"We have a pretty strong team," Mitchell said. "It's young in a lot of places, but it's basically the same team as last year's.

"We expect to do as well as last year if not better, which will be hard. Doing better in the Atlantic 10 means winning it."

Returnees include senior Kristin Turmail, juniors Kim Grady and Erin Kleir, and sophomore Tammy Marshall.

Marshall is coming off a sensational freshman campaign, capped with an appearance at the National Championship meet.

Mitchell pointed to a Feb. 10 meet at Towson State with West Virginia and Northern Illinois as a key to the Minutewomen's season.

Mitchell said other important matchups are Pittsburgh Feb. 2, Yale Feb. 13, A-10 rival Temple Feb. 24, and New Hampshire March 10.

The Pittsburgh, Yale and Temple meets will be held at Boyden.

WINNERS' ATHLETIC CLUB
Check Out Our New Student Special
Join Now and Get
1 Month Free
4 months for the price of 3
$130
Includes...
• Nautilus Machines • Lifecycles • Stairmasters • Ski conditioning • Club Cafe
• Aerobics • Liferowers • Saunas • Big Screen Satelite TV • Pro Shop
EXTRA VACATION BONUS
Become a member and recive a FREE vacation voucher. Stay a week in your own condominium (sleeps 4) anywhere you choose for only $295 per week!
Perfect for Spring Break
Call 549-4545
Rte. 116, Sunderland (Opposite Bub's BBQ, on Bus Route)
Open 7 Days • 7:00 a.m.-11:00 p.m.
CALL TODAY FOR A FREE TOUR!

AIM HIGH
Allied Health Professionals & Administrators
Discover a challenging future with opportunities to advance. Serve your country while you serve your career with:
• great pay and benefits
• normal working hours
• complete medical and dental care
• 30 days vacation with pay per year
Find out how to qualify as an Air Force professional. Call
USAF HEALTH PROFESSIONS TOLL-FREE 1-800-423-USAF
AIR FORCE

■ men's swimming

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

in New England." Hursty is a freshman who has pleased Yarworth with his progress and development.

After some injury problems, Stoelting has been tagged by Yarworth as one of the favorites to win the New Englands in the backstroke as a freshman. Sampson, a senior, is another up-and- coming backstroker who won the 200-meter event at the tri-meet.

As for the divers, juniors Steve Myers and Bill Rozen are scoring consistently on the 1- and 3-meter boards. In the formula used to determine the New England roster, three divers are equivalent to one swimmer.

Yarworth said of the decision to include three divers on the roster, "It'll be whether I think the divers can score more points than an 18th swimmer."

In preparing the Minutemen for the New Englands, Yarworth knows that he will have to treat this young team slightly different than his past squads.

"They're a little more sensitive than some of my other teams," Yarworth said. "They're not used to the heavy training. Once they understand that they might not feel good in the water all the time but know they'll feel good at the end of the year, then they're set."

But when it comes time to compete, swimming ultimately is the same, whether one is a freshman or a senior. And it will have to be the upperclassmen who provide the leadership in forming the right frame of mind for the New Englands.

"Swimming is a very individual sport, but you need that team support and attitude to help you succeed," Yarworth said. "Once you believe in yourself and believe that you're going to excel at the end of the year, then you have the opportunity to be a champion. I think we have that opportunity now."

An enthusiastic Yarworth concluded, "Yeah, baby."

$2.00 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area
PIZZA Bruno's SUBS
SALADS LASAGNA
WE DELIVER QUALITY
call us at 256-0222
and WE'LL BRING LUNCH to YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!
Limited Area
FREE DELIVERY
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m.
$1.00 OFF ANY MEDIUM PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

American Express Announces A Great New Travel Program.

Now students can get the Card and get 3 roundtrips on Continental Airlines, for only $129 or $189 each.

There's only one way to cover a lot of territory without spending a lot of money. And that's by getting the American Express® Card. It's the only card that offers an exciting new travel program exclusively for students—including three roundtrip certificates on Continental Airlines.

Just look at the map and pick the place you'd like to visit. If it's on your side of the Mississippi River, you can use a certificate to fly for only $129 roundtrip. Or, you can cross the Mississippi for $189 roundtrip.

You have your pick of more than 150 cities in the 48 contiguous states. And you can fly almost anytime—because there are no blackout dates. But you must make your reservations within 14 days of the day you leave. And the maximum stay is 7 days/6 nights and must include a Saturday night.

In addition to this great travel program, you'll also enjoy all the benefits of Cardmembership as well as other exclusive student privileges. They include a quarterly magazine filled with informative articles on summer jobs, careers, campus life. Plus valuable discounts from leading retailers.

But remember, there's only one way to get all this—and that's by getting the American Express Card. Just call us (have your bank address and account number on hand). What's more, with our special student offer, it's easier to get the Card now while you're still in school than it may ever be again.

So get the Card. And get ready to cover new territory on either side of our Great Continental Divide.

Membership Has Its Privileges®

CALL 1-800-942-AMEX
If you're already a Cardmember, there's no need to call. Information about your certificates will be arriving soon.
TRAVEL RELATED SERVICES An American Express company
CONTINENTAL
Complete terms and conditions of this travel offer will arrive with your certificates. Continental Airlines alone is responsible for fulfillment of this offer. American Express assumes no liability for Continental Airlines' performance. © 1991 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

Minutewomen qualify 7 for New Englands

By RICK SETO
Collegian Staff

Julie LaFreniere once again has had the benefit of working with some great athletes. The head coach of the University of Massachusetts women's track team has seven qualify for the New England Championships and two qualify for the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Championships.

The Minutewomen have competed in two non-scoring invitationals at Brown and Harvard as well as the New England Track Athletic Congress meet.

Lee Ann Ambrose and Becky Johnson have been the team's standouts thus far, with both qualifying for the ECACs in their respective events.

Ambrose has qualified for the ECAC 400 and 500 with times of 55.3 and 74.35 seconds as well as the New England 55, 400 and 500. The holder of school records in the indoor 200 and 400 meters as well as the outdoor 400, the junior is being tried at the 800 in hopes of qualifying for the NCAAs.

"She's an ECAC-level kid in the 400," LaFreniere said. "But with more training and endurance, she can move onto Nationals in the 800. By next year, I think she could run a 2:07 [the NCAA qualifying standard] only if she's serious and works at it during the summer."

Johnson has qualified in the 800 and 1000 for both the ECACs and the New Englands. Despite running poorly at the TAC meet, the sophomore showed her true ability by running 13 seconds faster (a 2:13 half-mile) at Harvard.

Kelly Liljeblad and Lennice Johnson have both qualified in two events for the New Englands. Liljeblad recently has been ill, but was able to run a 5:04.4 mile and 10:08 in the 3000.

Johnson has qualified for the New England 400 and 500 with 59.1 and 78.03, and is only two-tenths of a second from reaching the ECAC 400 standard.

"Lennice is working hard and looking great," the fourth-year coach said. "She's a lot stronger than she was last year and she has got a great attitude."

Among the throwers, Simone Marisseau and Diane Ozzolek already have respectively qualified for the New Englands in the shot put and the 20-pound weight.

"They're both ECAC-level kids," LaFreniere said. At the Harvard Invitational, Marisseau and Ozzolek both set personal bests. The former heaved the shot 41 feet, 3 inches and the latter threw the weight 44 feet, 8 inches.

In addition, Wendy Gillette qualified in the 55 with a 7.3-second run. The 4 x 400 relay team of Becky and Lennice Johnson, Ambrose and Dana Smith has qualified for New Englands

Ex-UM mentor named new Pats coach; Reid to stay

Three Minutemen named all-New England

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts football coach Jim Reid will not leave Amherst to join former boss Dick MacPherson as an assistant coach with the New England Patriots, Reid announced recently.

MacPherson, who was head coach at UMass from 1971-77 and hired Reid as a graduate assistant in 1973, was named head coach of the Patriots January 6.

MacPherson contacted Reid soon after, but talks between them "never came down to anything too serious," Reid said.

"We're really good friends. We talked for about an hour and discussed a potential job for five minutes of that conversation," Reid said.

"Once you're a head coach, its just tough to work for anybody. . . I just like it where I am."

Reid has compiled a 32-22-2 record in five years as head coach at UMass, guiding the Minutemen to three Yankee Conference Championships and two Division 1-AA playoffs appearances.

Following this fall's 8-2-1 campaign, Reid was named Yankee Conference Coach of the Year, New England Coach of the Year and Kodak Coaches Division 1-AA Northeast Region Coach of the Year.

Reid had previously been named Yankee Conference Coach of Year and New England Coach of the Year in 1988.

* * *

MacPherson compiled a 45-27-1 record as coach of the Minutemen between 1971-77.

In 1972 the Minutemen posted a 35-14 win over California-Davis in the Boardwalk Bowl. After guiding UMass to an appearance in the newly-formed Division 1-AA playoffs in 1977, MacPherson left to join the Cleveland Browns of the NFL as an assistant coach.

MacPherson was head coach at Syracuse from 1980 until he was hired by the Patriots in January.

* * *

Senior guard Paul Mayberry, senior punter/placekicker Marco Gabrielli and junior defensive tackle Rich Kane were named to the New England Football Writers All-New England Team.

ANNUAL JANUARY IMPORTED BEER SALE!

Rolling Rock Bar Bottle	$12.99cs
Glacier Bay 12 pack	$5.49
Captain Morgan 1L	$10.69
Baccardi 750ml	$8.69

FREE ICE with ¼ or ½ barrel kegs

"A New Family Owned Business"

Four Seasons WINES & LIQUORS

ROUTE 9, HADLEY, Between Burger King and Dunkin Donuts • 584-8274

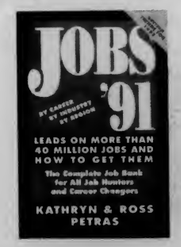
Where to find the best job now!

National Bestselling Career Guide – Library Journal

Here's the hottest career guide of the nineties. This is the place to look for the best positions, the best salaries, the best opportunities by occupation, by industry and by region coast to coast.

JOBS '91 is an up-to-the minute guide that features all the information you need to know:

- Hundreds of company listings and millions of jobs
- The top companies in more than twenty different industries
- Inside scoop on thousands of major employees
- Quick facts and top-ten lists based on salary levels, working conditions and job security



JOBS '91
LEADS ON MORE THAN 40 MILLION JOBS AND HOW TO GET THEM
The Complete Job Bank for All Job Hunters and Career Changers
KATHRYN & ROSS PETRAS

Plus, a realistic look at the economy of the '90s

JOBS '91 — a complete employment service at your fingertips!

Available at your college bookstore and bookstores everywhere.

PRENTICE HALL PRESS Simon & Schuster A Paramount Communications Company

Note

Vic Fusia, 1914-1991

Vic Fusia, head coach of the University of Massachusetts football team from 1961-70 and the winningest football coach in school history, died Friday, Jan. 17, in Amherst. For a complete obituary see local section.

Old Graphix Staff
4:00 p.m. TODAY
You know where
Be there
I have FOOD
Thanx, Nicole

is there someone else living in this room?

安城中國飯店
Amherst Chinese Food
Homestyle Cooking
Fresh vegetables from our own farm
DO NOT USE MSG
Open 7 days a week
253-2813 253-7835
62 Main Street Amherst

MIT loss shows men's track in strong shape

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's indoor track team returned to action after a five-week layoff with a 75-52 loss Jan. 18 at MIT.

Saturday UMass traveled to Bowdoin for a dual meet with Bowdoin College and Springfield. Results were not available at press time.

At MIT, the Minutemen (0-2) hung close hoping for a shot at their favored hosts, until MIT pulled out of sight in capturing the 200-meter dash.

"I was hoping to stay within 13 or 14 points going into the last two events, because I felt we could make that up," coach Ken O'Brien said. "But they caught us in the 200 meters, and that threw it out of reach.

"I was disappointed because we lost and I think we had a chance to win, but what I saw in terms of fitness was encouraging. The majority of the kids have kept themselves in generally good shape over Wintersession."

The Minutemen spent the month practicing outdoors when weather permitted, and at Amherst and Smith colleges.

Top finishers for the Minutemen included sophomore Matt Simon, who captured his second-consecutive 1500-meter race with a time of 4 minutes, .19 seconds. Brown was followed in second place by senior Jon Corso.

Junior Steve Brown won the 400 meters with a time of :50.10.

Bill Wallace took the 800 in 2:00.20, and sophomore high-jumper David Borges captured a first place finish with a leap of 6 feet, 5 inches.

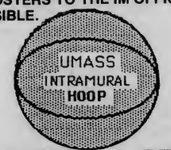
Senior Gerry Squires finished first in the 3000 with a time of 8:52.75.

The Minutemen as a team won the two-mile relay with a time of 8:21.50.

Jeff Peterson gave what O'Brien described as an "outstanding" effort, finishing second in three competitions: the shot put, 35-pound weight toss and triple jump.

HEY SPORTS FAN !!

DID YOU MISS THE BASKETBALL ENTRY DATE? IT'S NOT TOO LATE. BRING YOUR MEN'S, WOMEN'S OR CO-REC TEAM ROSTERS TO THE IM OFFICE, 215 BOYDEN, AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.



INTRAMURAL SPORTS 215 BOYDEN 5-2693/5-0022

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Think Spring!

A perfect time for renewal and new beginnings.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Spring 1991

Renew your life goals, your career, or your personal life. Over 200 fresh credit courses and Adventures in Lifelong Learning workshops are being hatched at UMass this spring.

Late register through February 11.

Classes start January 29.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Call Opticians

Registered Opticians • Hearing Aids

30%off non-prescription sunglasses

Vuarnet•Bolle•Ray Ban•Serengeti

Ski Goggles Available in Prescription

Fashion Eyewear•Prescriptions filled•Repairs done on premises

178 North Pleasant St., Amherst
253-7002 256-6375
Parking Available•Handicap Accessible

PARSONS SCHOOL OF DESIGN

Special Summer Programs

PARSONS IN PARIS June 29-August 12
Paint on the Left Bank, explore prehistoric caves in the Dordogne, visit the masterpieces of renaissance art in Tuscany. Courses include painting, drawing, art history and the liberal arts. Students may choose to spend the last two weeks of the program in the Dordogne or Cortona, Italy.

PHOTOGRAPHY IN PARIS June 29-July 29
Study both the aesthetics and the craft of photography in the city that has inspired great photographers for 150 years. Guest lecturers and visits to Parisian galleries supplement the curriculum.

FASHION IN PARIS June 29-July 29
Study the history and contemporary trends of French fashion design through visits to Parisian museums and costume collections. Guest lecturers and visits to design studios and retail outlets are part of the program, as are daily classes in fashion illustration.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE & DECORATIVE ARTS IN PARIS June 29-July 29
Offered in collaboration with the renowned Musee des Arts Decoratifs, this program focuses on the history of French architecture and European decorative arts. Excursions to points outside of Paris are included; last summer, students visited Versailles, Vaux le Vicomte and Fontainebleau.

MODERN PARIS June 29-July 29
Combining architectural history with drawing, this program focuses on the development of Paris in the modern period (1830 to the present).

PALEOLITHIC ART & ARCHAEOLOGY OF THE DORDOGNE July 28-August 12
Daily class sessions near the town of Les Eyzies de Tayac, in southwestern France, are devoted to lectures and guided visits to the areas famous and less well-known prehistoric caves, living sites and archaeological excavations.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE IN ITALY June 29-July 28
The architectural heritage of Italy is studied in Rome, Florence and Venice, where on-site presentations are made by Parsons faculty.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE & DECORATIVE ARTS IN GREAT BRITAIN July 5-August 4
This four-week curriculum, covering the years 1600-1900, is offered in London, with several excursions to nearby towns and country houses.

PARSONS IN WEST AFRICA MALI: July 2-July 24 IVORY COAST: July 25-August 23
Workshops in ceramics and fibers will introduce students to artists and artisans in several Ivory Coast villages, where these crafts can be studied in their original context. A photography curriculum examines techniques of documentation and reportage in regions of great natural beauty and cultural diversity. The history of African art and architecture also is offered. A separate curriculum in Mali is available.

All programs include round trip airfare, accommodations and land transfers. Academic credit is available to qualified students. For more information, please return the coupon or call.

(212) 741-8975, Ext. 17

Parsons School of Design
Office of Special Programs
66 Fifth Avenue, N.Y., N.Y. 10011

Please send information about:

☐ Parsons in Paris
☐ Photography in Paris
☐ Fashion in Paris
☐ Architecture & Decorative Arts in Paris
☐ Modern Paris
☐ Paleolithic Art
☐ Architecture in Italy
☐ Architecture in Great Britain
☐ Parsons in West Africa

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
CP 40

men's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

dominated, getting a fast-break layup from Williams and hitting 6 of 8 free throws during an 11-6 game-winning run down the stretch.

Whitehead led Duquesne with 20 points. For UMass, John Tate scored 8 points — including two key second-half baskets off the offensive boards — and grabbed 8 rebounds.

UMASS 95, St. BONAVENTURE 86

January 12 — Jim McCoy scored 30 points and Harper Williams and Tony Barbee chipped in 25 each as the Minutemen built a 25-point first-half lead, then preserved a 9-point bulge over the final 1:14 to grab an Atlantic 10 win in Olean, N.Y.

The Bonnies made it respectable by taking advantage of a late-game defensive lapse described by coach John Calipari as "embarrassing." St. Bonaventure made 22 of 34 shots in the second half.

XAVIER 71, UMASS 66

January 15 — Xavier reserve Maurice Brantley led four Muskateers in double figures as a flu-weakened UMass team saw a four-game winning streak snapped in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Brantley, a 6.6-points a game scorer, scored 15 of his 16 points in the first half as Xavier built a 34-30 lead.

UMass led briefly in the second half, at 50-49 with 12:20 to play, before Xavier retook the lead for good with a 10-3 run.

Tony Barbee scored a career-high 29 points and Jim McCoy added 17. Harper Williams, one of five UMass players suffering from the flu, played 12 scoreless minutes before fouling out.

Xavier, which entered at 9-2, was an NCAA Tournament "Sweet Sixteen" team last year. The loss evened UMass' road record at 3-3.

UMASS 62, VERMONT 58

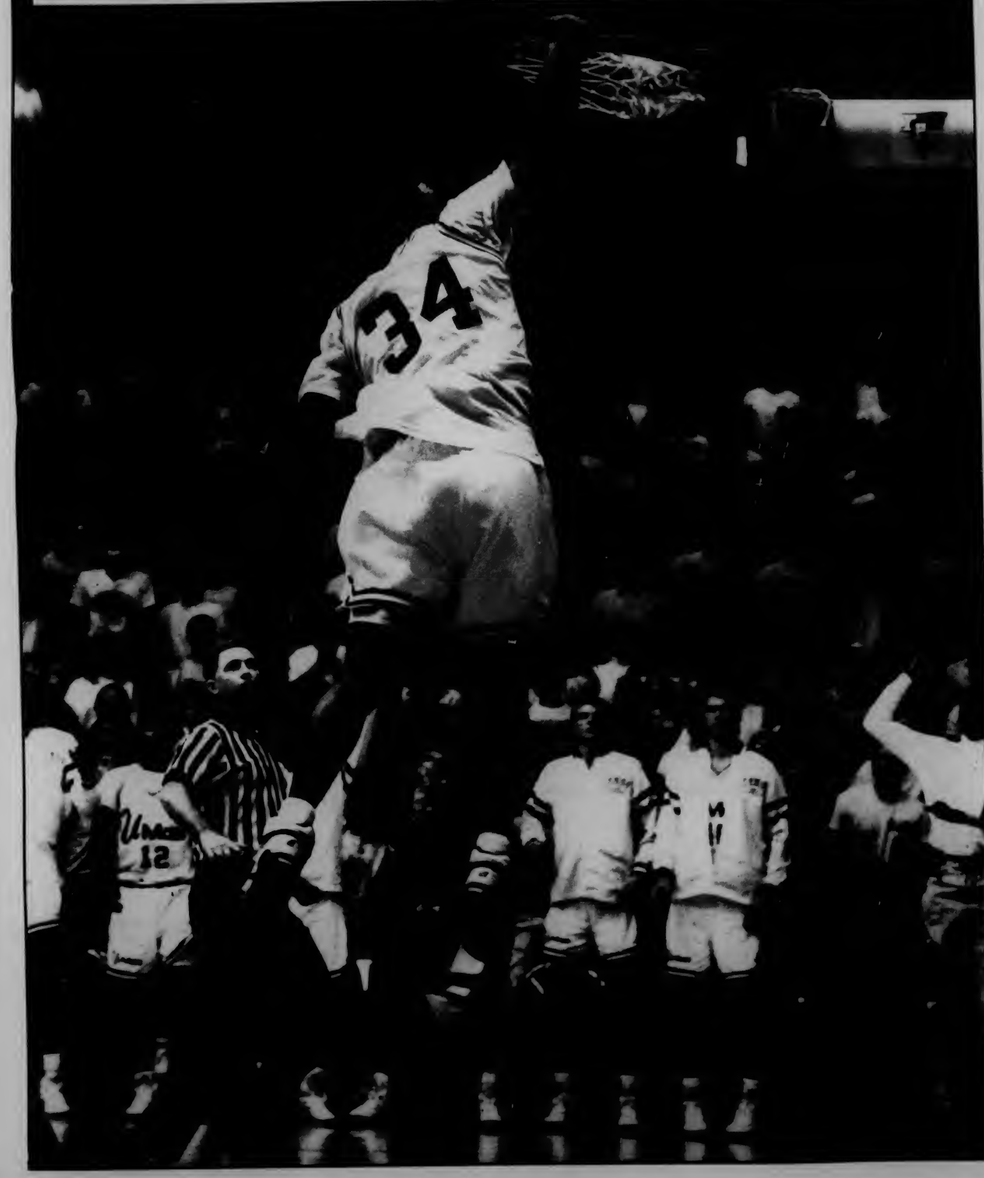
January 21 — The Minutemen weathered a 12-point, 16-rebound, 6-block performance by UVM's Kevin Roberson and got some late-game heroics from Anton Brown and John Tate to beat the Catamounts in Burlington, Vt.

With less than a minute to play and UMass clinging to a 58-55 lead, Brown stripped UVM guard Matt Johnson, raced the length of the court for a layup, was fouled and hit the free throw, giving the Minutemen a 6-point lead.

Kenny Smith answered with a 30-foot 3-point bomb to pull UVM back within three, but Tate rebounded Brown's miss on the front end of a one-and-one with four seconds left to clinch the win.

Jim McCoy led UMass with 18 and Tony Barbee added 12. Tate finished with a career-high 14 rebounds.

Roberson, a 6-foot-7 junior, entered the game as the fifth-ranked shot blocker in the nation.



Largest College Daily in New England

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN Established in 1890

VOLUME C WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1991 ISSUE 71

Iraq claims POW killed in allied air attack

By FRED BAYLES
Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Iraq claimed yesterday that an Allied POW was killed in a Coalition air raid, apparently while being held as a "human shield." The United States vowed to shoot down any Iraqi planes that try to rejoin the war after taking refuge in Iran.

The official Iraqi News Agency did not give the nationality or name of the captured airman it said had died. It said the airman had been killed during an allied attack on Baghdad.

There was no independent confirmation of the report. Army Brig. Gen. Pat Stevens IV, at a briefing in Riyadh yesterday, told reporters he was unaware of the report and could not comment.

Last week Iraq said it would it would send allied POWs to strategic targets, and yesterday it said some captive allied airmen were injured in bombing raids.

Yesterday's report, monitored in Cyprus, said the Allied POW was killed in one of 65 air raids on Iraq Monday night and yesterday morning.

"One of the raids hit one of the departments of the Ministry of Industry, killing one of the captured foreign pilots, who had been evacuated to that department," said a military statement carried by the Iraqi News Agency.

On Monday, in his first interview of the Persian Gulf war, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein hinted to Cable News Network that Iraqi air force planes leaving for Iran might return to action during the war. And he showed no sign of backing down in the face of nearly two weeks of Allied assaults.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater dismissed Saddam's comments. Judging from initial reports, Fitzwater said, "It appears to be the standard propoganda

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

AP photo

Crewmen at a Persian Gulf air base give their planes and pilots a rousing send-off on their bombing missions against Iraq last week.

War criticized at teach-in Faculty debate issues

By MADANMOHAN RAO
Collegian Staff

Nearly 500 students and community members packed the Student Union Ballroom Monday night to listen to area professors giving a three-hour analysis of the war in the Persian Gulf.

The "teach-in," designed to put forth a variety of different viewpoints and issues concerning the Gulf War, was organized by University of Massachusetts faculty and staff.

Michael Klare, director of the Peace and World Security Studies Program at Hampshire College, said the "real war" has not even begun, adding that the situation could get very "ugly."

"The war will be decided only when our soldiers cross the desert," he said. "The single most important question is, what is the morale and the fighting spirit of the ordinary Iraqi GI?"

"If he [the soldier] decides to stand his ground and make the U.S. pay, we are going to be in for a very ugly, very bloody, very gruesome war," Klare continued.

This is the first time since 1945 that the U.S. Army is facing an evenly-matched military organization, Klare said. "Iraq has more tanks, more and better artillery, and lots of defenses. However, even if the Iraqis fight well, the U.S. will prevail, because they have more of everything."

Addressing the military consequences of the war, Klare said: "The political forces set in motion will not settle for decades. There have been upheavals all the way from Morocco to India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Malaysia, and Indonesia. Turkey, Syria, and Iran will be left as regional powers, and will engage in rivalries."

The involvement of pro-U.S. Arab leaders will haunt countries allied with the United States, Klare said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Duffey, O'Brien to cut $2.4 million, layoffs expected

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

President-Chancellor Duffey and Provost O'Brien announced yesterday a plan to cut $2.4 million from the current University of Massachusetts budget.

The plan, intended to eliminate the last of the budget shortfall incurred during the former Governor Dukakis' administration, was formulated by University deans, vice-chancellors and directors of administrative departments.

The largest share of the cuts, totalling $1.4 million, will come from the personnel accounts, mainly as a result of the 2-year old hiring freeze at the University. The budgets of the schools, colleges and other academic areas will be reduced by 1 percent and administrative areas will be cut by 2.6 percent.

Duffey said he did not think the cuts would have a "major effect for the average student" and that although students don't always get the classes they want, "everybody who needs classes for graduation appears to be getting them."

For the remainder of the fiscal year, Duffey said funds to replace old equipment, for maintenance and other extraneous expenditures would be reduced in an effort to avoid laying off full or part-time employees during the remainder of the fiscal year.

Some "minimal" department layoffs can be expected before July 1, the administration said in a press release.

Duffey said administrators will have to begin working immediately on a new budget-reduction plan for next year. He added that he did not know whether more budget cuts were in store for higher education.

"I think [Gov. William] Weld is going to have to do some more cuts in state government although he has said he will not cut higher education," Duffey said.

A reduction in enrollment and a more even distribution in class sections have allowed academic departments to hire fewer part-time faculty this semester while still honoring class commitments.

Currently unfilled senior administrative positions will remain vacant at least during the rest of the fiscal year, the administration said. These positions include: deputy provost, associate vice chancellor for administration and finance, director of financial aid, director of the CCEBMS program and assistant vice chancellor for student affairs.

Reduced support services will mean less clerical assistance for professors, delays in purchasing and repairing equipment, longer lines in the Whitmore Administration building and a delay in bill processing and other services.

Reductions in maintenance and repair accounts will also delay repairing the roof of Hasbrouck Laboratories, the cooling towers at Chenoweth and the floors in Draper Hall.

Gulf War dominates address

Bush says Saddam "dead wrong" on abuse of POWs

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Bush confidently assured Americans last night that the war against Iraq will be won and the recession at home will end in short order. "We stand at a defining hour," the President said in his State of the Union address.

"For two centuries, we've done the hard work of freedom. And tonight, we lead the war in facing down a threat to decency and humanity," Bush said in a nationally broadcast address to a joint session of Congress.

It was the first wartime State of the Union address since the dark days of Vietnam. Extraordinary security precautions enshrouded the Capitol, a bow to threats of terrorism.

He won a long standing ovation when he praised U.S. forces in the Persian Gulf as "truly America's finest" and again when he predicted "we will prevail" over Saddam Hussein.

"As Americans, we know there are times when we must step forward and accept our responsibility to lead the world away from the dark chaos of dictators, toward the brighter promise of a better day," Bush said.

The president delivered a terse assessment of the war to date: "I'm pleased to report that we are on course. Iraq's capacity to sustain war is being destroyed.

"Time will not be Saddam's salvation."

With Americans' attention focused on the almost half-million troops risking their lives in the Persian Gulf, Bush devoted the heart of his annual address to the two-week-old battle to force Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait.

He also paid tribute to the democratic aspirations of the people of the Soviet Baltic states and said he remained "deeply concerned" about the Kremlin's crackdown.

Bush, who met Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Alexander Bessmertnykh, said the Soviet leadership had

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

INSIDE:

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1991

Page 3: 'Violence Against Women' Act proposes doubling penalties for rape.

Page 7: A student bids adieu to departing UMass administrators.

Page 16: Men's hoop looks to the NCAA's after beating Holy Cross.

WEATHER

Wet snow will turn to rain and fog by mid-afternoon, with temps in the upper-40s.

Raytheon increases security

BOSTON (AP) — Raytheon Co., makers of the Patriot anti-missile system used to counter Iraqi attacks on Israel and Saudi Arabia, is trying to ease worries about security at several Massachusetts plants.

"We did talk today [Tuesday] and are continuing to talk to workers informally to reassure them appropriate security measures are in place," Raytheon Spokesperson Ed Powers said last week.

Because Raytheon is a government contractor, it has long had to meet certain safety standards, Powers said.

"We stepped up security measures recently. . .in conjunction with world events, Operation Desert Shield and Desert Storm," he said.

Powers does not expect any additional security changes. But with publicity surrounding the Patriot system on the rise, officials have tried to downplay the precise location of Raytheon plants.

Workers in the Quincy plant, which employs 800, signed a petition calling for increased security and submitted it to union officials.

Joseph Kelleher, business agent of local 1505 of the International Electrical Workers, told the Patriot Ledger he submitted the petition to management but added the petition did not have union backing.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

THE MASSACHUSETTS
DAILY COLLEGIAN

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief ..... Terry Starmer
Managing Editor ..... Jody Cabin
Editorial Editor ..... Jeremy Levinson
News Editor ..... Gayle Long
Sports Editor ..... Adnen Matt
Arts Editor ..... Danielle Dowling
Photography Editor ..... K.A. Burke
Black Affairs Editor ..... Sondra Sutton
Women's Issues Editors ..... Rua Kelly, Monique Tabon
Multicultural Affairs Editor ..... Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor ..... Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor ..... Trystan Skeigh
Business Manager ..... Susan George
Advertising Manager ..... Dave Melnick
Finance Manager ..... Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager ..... Jim Winterbottom
Subscriptions Manager ..... Stacy Rogers
Promotions Manager ..... Marc Pruskin
Production Manager ..... Nicole Dumas
Day Graphics Manager ..... Jenn Burns

PROFFESIONAL STAFF

Business ..... Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics ..... Rory Evans

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor ..... Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor ..... Pam McCarthy
Layout Technician ..... Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician ..... K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor ..... Nicole Dumas
Typesetter ..... Terry Starmer
Production ..... Seth Kaye, Mark Sturm, Jen Fatkin, Mike Carvalho

For Your Information

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30

Print Sale — WMUA 91.1 FM is sponsoring a print sale in the Student union Ballroom through Feb. 1, from 9 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Senate Meeting — The SGA will conduct a meeting in Campus Center 163C from 7 p.m. to 12 a.m.

Voter Registration — Amherst residents can register to vote in the Amherst Town Clerk's Office from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. for the Feb. 19 Town Caucus.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31

Film — The Science Fiction Society will show The Yellow Submarine in the Campus Center Auditorium. Show times are 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The cost for the first screening is $1.50, and the remaining shows will cost $2.

Meeting — The Residential Recycling Program will discuss semester activites in CC 811 from 6:30 p.m. - 7:30 p.m.

Panel — Peace and World Securities hosts a Five-College faculty panel on the War in the Gulf at 8 p.m. in the main lecture hall of Franklin Patterson Hall at Hampshire College.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1

Dance — Iota Phi Theta is sponsoring a dance in the Campus Center Auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $4 for students and $5 for non-students.

Coffee Social — The LGBA coffee social will take place in CC 803 from 3 p.m. - 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Lecture — "Are You Ready for the Draft?" Speaker Bill Gavin of the American Service Committee will speak in Stern Auditorium, Amherst Collegeat 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3

Teach-in and Discussion — "The Middle East Crisis" will be sponsored by the Student Activities Office, the Civility Commission and the Office of Human Relations in the Student Union Ballroom, from 7 p.m.-10 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Rush Fair — A Greek Rush Fair, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, will be in the Campus Center Auditorium from 6 p.m.-9 p.m.

Rush Orientation — The Panhellenic Council is sponsoring a rush orientatyion in CC 163C from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. Admission is free.

Teach-in — At Hampshire College in the East Lecture Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Community Forum — "The Relationship of the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict to the War in the Gulf," at Wright Hall, Smith College, 4 p.m.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4

Teach-in — Fanklin Patterson Hall, Hampshire College 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Call 549-6502 for more details.

Information Session — National Student Exchange will give an information session in CC 803 from 4 p.m. - 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Senior Portraits — Index will be taking photos in CC178 from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. The cost is $5/ sitting.

An Evening with Gentle George — sponsored by the Black Mass Communications project in Bowker Auditorium from 8 p.m.- 10 p.m. Admission is $2.

Colloquim — UMass Psychology Colloquim Committee presenst Dr. Travis Thompson and a presentation "Behavior Disorder: Environmental and Neurochemical Mechanisms" in Tobin 521B at 3:30 p.m.

Math Anxiety Workshop — sponsored by Counseling and Advising for Older Students, will be in LGRT 1634 from 4:30 p.m. - 6 p.m.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Lecture — Harold Jordan on "African Americans, Women, Gays and Lesbians in the U.S. Military" in the SBA Auditorium at 4 p.m. Sponsored by the STPEC, Women's Studies and African-American Studies Departments.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m.- 4 p.m.

Brown Bag Discussion — sponsored by the Women's Studies Deptartment, CC904 at 12:15 p.m.

Movie — "Jacob's Ladder," will be sponsored by the Racquetball Club in the CC Auditorium. Show times are 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The first show will cost $2, the remaining times will cost $3.

General Meeting — Japan American Club will meet in CC165-69 from 7 p.m.- 11p.m.

Draft Counseling — Every Wednesday at the Unitarian Church at 7 p.m.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7

Movie — "Total Recall" is being offered by SCUM in the CC Auditorium at 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The first showing costs $2, and the remaining shows cost $2.50.

Film — Sponsored by the LGBA in CC 803 from 7 p.m. - 9 p.m.

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8

Dance — sponsored by the Asian Student Association in the CC Auditorium from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. The cost is $2 for members, $4 for non-members

COME WORK IN THE GRAPHICS DEPARTMENT

•Berkshire East•
The most challenging mountain in Southern New England!
STUDENTS SKI
•Monday-Friday (day session) only $9
•Thursday-Saturday (night session) only $7
•WEEKENDS (Day Session) only $22
Use this ad and receive $4 off weekend day session rates!
Take I-91 North to Exit 26 (Greenfield) west for 17 miles to Charlemont Rt. 2 W

WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN
WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

"It's Not How Much Brains You've Got, It's What You Do With It That Counts"
Suki Gaines

$2 off per hour Mac Rental
$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh® computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 2/15/91
Open 24 Hours* 253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street (across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon.
kinko's the copy center

Dance Stuff '75
Shoes for Tap, Jazz, Acro, Lyrical
Bloch's soft leather and canvas Ballet for women, men, and children
Freed, Chacott,& Capezio pointe shoes
Exercisewear, Accessories
220 N. Pleasant St. (rear)•Amherst•253-5201

WHAT A TRIP...
(only two minutes)
Hampshire Mall
Monday through Saturday 10 am-9 pm
Sundays 12 pm-5 pm
South Maple Street, Rte. 9, Hadley, MA
Information/Customer Service (413) 586-5700

FIRST ANNIVERSARY
CELEBRATION 20% Off Storewide EXCEPT SALE MERCHANDISE
THURS. FRI./SAT. JAN. 31 - FEB. 2
Compliments
Gifts, Gift Baskets, Decorative Accessories
71 N. Pleasant St. (Above Cafe DiCarlo) Amherst / 256-1551 • Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30
MC/Visa Amex

ALLIANCE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Welcome Back to UMASS
For more information call Jim or Beth 253-7206

LOCAL

New bill stirs controversy

'Violence' act to double rape penalty

By RUA KELLY
Collegian Staff

The appearance of the "Violence Against Women" Act in Congress seems to indicate that times may be changing.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Joseph Biden (D-Maryland) is designed to attack "the problem by offering a comprehensive solution."

"It makes violent crime against women a major law enforcement priority and at the same time, it takes aim at the kind of attitudes that nurture violence," Biden said recently.

According to Lourdes Rivera of the National Women's Law Center, the bill would "[provide] tremendous amounts of money for victims services" as well as promote civil rights for women.

Portions of the bill have come under fire, such as doubling the penalties for rape.

Some advocates for women worry that prevention of violence against women may suffer due to the bills strength for political considerations.

Joan Zorsa of the National Center for Women and Family Law said she worries the bill "will not protect women who have to flee over state lines in case of domestic violence [they cannot] take their children."

However, support for the bill has crossed racial, sexual and political boundaries. (A multi-racial task force is working to eliminate differing opinions and controversial portions of the bill.)

This bill was killed during last year's Congressional session and has met with opposition from a new coalition calling themselves "men's rights activists."

The "men's rights" coalition sees the focus of the "Violence against women" as sexist against them and attempts to portray women as the detrimental sex in society.

Dr. Roy Schenk, a self-proclaimed men's rights expert, claims that the U.S. justice system is biased against men.

In an interview, he claimed that the Act, "extends the definition of rape to the point of which almost anything a man does is rape anymore, even men looking lustfully at women. Many women look at men lustfully in terms of terms of economics."

When asked how the world could be sexist against men, he warned that "oppressed people buy into the value systems of oppressors."

■ Gulf war 'teach-in' draws 500

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Troops will be needed permanently to protect them [pro-U.S. Arab leaders] from revolts and uprisings," he said. "There will be increased tension between Israel and the Palestinians. We at home will pay by higher taxes."

Hagit Borer, UMass linguistics professor, said she was outraged by the missile attacks on Israel, but said the "terror that is inflicted on the people of Israel" is negligible when compared to the nightly terror that must be plaguing the residents of Baghdad.

She said Israel is not "an innocent bystander" as it is sometimes portrayed to be.

"Israel has long been a central actor on the Middle East scene," she added. "The unresolved Palestinian issue is at the heart of every Middle East conflict."

However, Borer said, "Saddam did not invade Kuwait for the Palestinians. But Saddam has become a rallying point for Arab anti-colonial sentiments. In the conflict between Arab nationalism and the West, Israel has always played a central role."

Israel missed a golden opportunity to prevent this war, she said, adding that its government could have proposed a peace conference of its own accord.

"Not only did it not make such a move but its leaders could scarcely hide their enthusiasm at the failure of all diplomatic contacts at trying to avoid this war," she said. "Israel is not retaliating because there is not much that they can do, and because they are getting paid not to."

After the war, the United States will possibly be driven to reevaluate its relationship with Israel, she said. "For me and for many other Israelis, the solution to the Palestinian problem really has to be part of any new Middle East order."

Hormoz Shahdadi, assistant professor of International Relations at Mount Holyoke College, said Americans have shown a tremendous lack of vision in evaluating the war.

"Missiles and gadgetry won't work, because wars are fought mostly by men and by what they believe. I don't see any idealism in the U.S. position," Shahdadi said. "It is a war which shows in raw terms strategies of power. They don't let you think about what this war is for."

Speaking about the role of Saddam Hussein, Shahdadi said: "They are turning Saddam into a hero, and hero he is, because by example he is saying that weapons don't work. What is significant is his insistence to resist? He is rejecting the carefully nurtured image of an Arab that the West has manufactured over the past years."

He said that Saddam has essentially already won the war because "wars are not won by military victory."

"Saddam has turned himself into a martyr and a cause, for Muslim Arab nationalism. The United States is now bombing Najaf and Karbala too, which contain holy shrines for the Shiite Muslims," Shahdadi said.

He said while the Arab world is "actually boiling over," the Arab masses are getting more and more restless and united.

He also questioned the goals of the United States in initiating hostilities in the area.

"What is the U.S. trying to achieve? To reduce the Western civilisation and all its philosophy and literature to B-52 bombers?" Shahdadi asked. "If that is the goal, they are indeed succeeding."

Karen Pfeiffer, Smith College associate economics professor, said after her recent trip to Jordan, she realized that while "Saddam's human rights record is no secret in the Arab world" virtually everyone opposes the United States in this conflict.

"During the carving up of the Ottoman Empire at the end of World War I, Britain, which acquired a mandate over Iraq, scooped out the portion that is now Kuwait. This denied Iraq easy access to the Gulf, and control of the oil in Kuwait," she said. "In the Arab view the whole region is a mass of such problems."

She said another problem in the region is the vast inequalities created and perpetuated by oil.

"The Arabs are frustrated at the waste of oil wealth," she said, adding that there is also a division between the state and the people.

Pfeiffer said 80-90 percent of Syrians are opposed to the sending of Syrian troops.

The United States, like the British before them, would like to see the Arabs divided and fighting, she said. "The U.S. wants to keep the region underdeveloped, and use it as a market for their industries."

Sut Jhally, UMass communication studies professor said a "brilliant public relations campaign" has been conducted by the Pentagon which has succeeded in severely censoring the media's coverage of the war.

"Reports from the front are censored by the military," Jhally said. "The only pictures of casualties came from Iraqi television, and they were dismissed as propaganda."

The media should be acting not as "cheerleaders," Jhally said. They should simply be "providing information for us to judge our actions by. There is no debate about the war."

UMass Economics Professor Samuel Bowles said an attempt to reassert U.S. military power on a global scale seems inevitable.

"The economic signs on the roadway to a renewed U.S. imperialism point to disaster," he said. "Whatever reasonable objectives this war might have, and certainly its wholly justified stated objectives — to end the Iraq occupation of Kuwait — could have been achieved by other means, notably by the use of economic sanctions."

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

SO MUCH FOR READING — What used to be the music part of the reading room is now in the process of being transformed into a graduate student lounge.

Weld hints at possible workweek as a way to combat budget crisis

By EVE EPSTEIN
Associated Press

BOSTON — Gov. William Weld last week refused to say whether he will impose an unpaid furlough on 63,000 state workers, but hinted he could spread a furlough over 10 weeks by imposing a four-day work week.

"I'm not saying we're going to do this. [This] week we'll put the package out," Weld said.

"But we have to close an $850 million deficit in 1991 and if a furlough of that duration were adopted the paycheck would keep on coming. It would be a little bit lower for those 10 weeks and it would save the state $90 million," Weld said.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Paul Cellucci said administration officials are also considering trying to get loans to help pump cash into state coffers for the remainder of the fiscal year that ends in June, by putting up state buildings to gain equity financing. The buildings would be sold in fiscal 1992.

"These things are on the table. They are under discussion," he said.

The state's depressed real estate market, which has hurt some area banks and resulted in a credit crunch, might mean the state would have to look for loans elsewhere.

"Perhaps we would have to outside of New England and find people who would be willing to make those loans. It could be banks, it could be insurance companies," Cellucci said.

The Boston Herald reported that a proposal for a two-week unpaid furlough was presented to the governor's cabinet during its weekly meeting Wednesday morning.

Sources told the newspaper that in a confidential memo given to each of Weld's 10 cabinet secretaries, employee furloughs were described as an "Unfortunate but necessary part of the budgetary crisis plan of action."

Weld pointed out furloughs might save some state jobs. "Some people could argue the furlough would be preferable to a commensurate number of layoffs representing the same dollar amount," he said.

Weld said that if he decides to impose a furlough, even top members of the cabinet — even the governor and lieutenant governor — would have to take the unpaid leaves.

The memo said the Weld administration is in the process of "working through the legal and contractual issues surrounding the implementation of furlough programs."

Unions representing state workers reacted angrily to reports a furlough might be part of the governor's budget-cutting plan.

"Any plan to furlough state employees must be negotiated," said Sandy Felder, president of the Service Employees International Union. "The Commonwealth has an obligation to bargain with us."

Tom O'Connor, a spokesman for the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees questioned the wisdom of furloughing people during a recession.

Noting the state deficit is partly the result of a drop in sales tax receipts, O'Connor said, "Let's put thousands of more people out there and see what happens."

O'Connor said Weld would have to negotiate an agreement on the furloughs with public employee unions. Failing that, Weld would need to go through the Legislature for approval, O'Connor said.

Massachusetts AFL-CIO President Joseph Flaherty also expressed disappointment with the proposal. He blamed the suggested furlough on Stephen Tocco, a top Weld aide.

"The Tocco proposal is an attempt to balance the budget on the banks of working families," Flaherty said.

Weld is also expected to propose across-the-board mass transit hikes as part of his budget package, the Boston Globe reported last week.

The proposed fare hikes could push the price of a subway token to $1, raise bus fares for the first time in 10 years and increase the fare for the elderly and disabled from 10 to 50 cents, the Globe reported.

AP photo

Palestinians at a Baqaa refugee camp in Jordan gather around store fronts to listen for war updates from state-run Baghdad Radio.

Latvian police show support for the Kremlin

By ALAN COOPERMAN
Associated Press

RIGA, USSR — Hundreds of Latvian police officers who support the Kremlin jeered the republic's president Tuesday, reflecting the deep division in local law enforcement ranks over the issue of independence.

In the Lithuanian capital of Vilnius, about 1,000 of the republic's television workers rallied to demand their jobs back. The workers have been locked out of work because of the Soviet military takeover on Jan. 13 of the republic's TV facility, in which 14 persons were killed.

On Sunday night, Soviet Interior Ministry troops firing shots seized two Lithuanian customs posts and ordered them shut permanently, a government spokesperson said. A spokesperson, Audrius Azubalis, said the troops seized the customs posts near the Belorussian border, confiscating documents, breaking windows and beating several customs officers.

About 30 custom checkpoints were created after the Baltic republic declared independence in March to prevent non-Lithuanians from taking scarce goods to other republics.

Lithuania's Parliament Tuesday denounced as "a crude human rights violation" two new Kremlin decrees under which joint military-police patrols will be instituted in major cities and the KGB and Interior Ministry will be given sweeping search-and-seizure powers at sites where economic sabotoge is suspected.

President Vytautas Landsbergis of Lithuania, reading the statement that was passed unanimously by Parliament, called the actions provocative. The statement reiterated that such decrees have no validity in Lithuania.

In Estonia, the leadership of the republic's Parliament gave initial approval to holding a referendum on independence before a Kremlin-sponsored referendum planned for March 17 on whether to leave the Soviet Union.

[The Lithuanian Interior Ministry said that an aircraft dropped a bomb near a Lithuanian village Tuesday, damaging a farm but causing no casualties, Reuters reported. A ministry spokesperson said the episode did not appear to have been related to the Soviet military crackdown. Heavy concentration of Soviet forces are stationed in Lithuania and accidents frequently occur during exercises.]

In Riga, 500 to 800 Latvian police officers, most of them ethnic Russians, jammed an auditorium at the University of Latvia for a four-hour meeting with the Baltic republic's leaders, including their boss, Latvian Interior Minister Alois Vaznis, as well as President Anatolijs Gorbunovs and Prime Minister Ivars Godmanis.

Gulf War update

Compiled from AP wire reports

Here is a look at the latest developments in the Persian Gulf war as of last night:

● Iraq claimed yesterday that Allied prisoners of war were hit in coalition air raids and that at least one was killed in an attack on a government building.

● An estimated 100 Iraqi aircraft have flown to sanctuary in Iran, the U.S. military said yesterday. Iran has vowed to remain neutral in the war, and says it will not permit the planes to leave before the war ends.

● In an interview with CNN, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein hinted that the planes might somehow return to battle.

Also in the CNN interview, Saddam refused to comment specifically on whether Iraq had dumped millions of barrels of Kuwaiti oil into the Gulf. But he was quoted as saying: "If Iraq uses oil in self-defense, including in the sea, they would be justified in taking such action."

● The U.S. Central Command said yesterday that the oil slick appears to be breaking up in the Persian Gulf. The spill is estimated at 460 million gallons.

● Patriot missiles Monday knocked out an incoming Iraqi Scud on the outskirts of the Saudi Arabia capital of Riyadh. Parts of a Scud rocket landed on Arab villages in the occupied West Bank of Israel. No deaths or injuries were reported.

● The Pentagon acknowledged Monday that seven American airmen who had been listed as missing in action are now considered prisoners of war.

● The Nikkei Stock Average closed at 23,460.12, down 109.32 points, or 0.46 percent on the Tokyo Stock Exchange yesterday.

● The stock market was modestly lower yesterday amid continued nervousness over the Persian Gulf war.

ARE YOU EXPERIENCED IN COMPUTER SYSTEMS?

The Collegian is looking for a SYSTEMS MANAGER which requires an interest in computers, good communication skills, and a flexible schedule. Applications are available at the Collegian and must be submitted by Friday, February 8.

The Collegian is an E-O-E

ATTENTION PHOTOGRAPHERS:

There will be a mandatory meeting for all Collegian Photo Staff at 3:00 on Wednesday, January 30 in the Photo Department.

Great Savings.....

SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!

$3.00 OFF	$2.00 OFF	$1.00 OFF	$1.00 OFF
ON PROCESSING A 36 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY	ON PROCESSING A 24 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY	ON PROCESSING A 12 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY	ON PROCESSING YOUR FILM FOTO FACTORY
EXPIRES FEBRUARY 28 1991	EXPIRES FEBRUARY 28 1991	EXPIRES FEBRUARY 28 1991	EXPIRES FEBRUARY 28 1991

COUPONS NOT VALID WITH MONDAY OR WEDNESDAY SPECIALS

THIS COUPON VALID WITH MONDAY & WEDNESDAY SPECIAL ONLY

257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
62 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON
224 1/2 FEDERAL ST. GREENFIELD

The Foto Factory

FILM IN BY: 10:00 am
PRINTS OUT BY: 4:00 pm

ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE

" Do I have a case? "

The attorneys at your Legal Services Center (LSC) can answer fee-paying UMass students' questions on a variety of legal problems, including:

Housing, criminal, University-related problems, civil rights, consumer, labor relations, personal injury, and family law.

The LSC is funded by student fees, and has been offering free legal services to fee-paying UMass students for over a decade.

" Do I need a lawyer? "

The LSC is your first source of law-related assistance. Whether you need information, advice or referral, call 545-1995 for an appointment.

Located in Room 922 of the Campus Center, the Legal Services Center is handicapped-accessible, and is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

■ Bush addresses Congress

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

made promises which "would result in the withdrawal of some Soviet forces, a reopening of dialogue with the Republics and a move away from violence." Administration sources said the United States was expecting a "substantial withdrawal," and some rollback had already been detected.

Bush also announced he was refocusing the decade-old Strategic Defense Initiative to protect against limited ballistic missile threats, rather than an all-out nuclear war. He praised the success of Patriot anti-missile missiles, a Star Wars-style weapon that has killed dozens of Iraqi Scud missiles.

"Let us pursue an SDI program that can deal with any future threat to the United States, to our forces overseas, and to our friends and allies," he said.

For the first time, Bush acknowledged without qualification that the nation is in a recession. "People are in genuine economic distress. I hear them," he said.

But he said, "There are reasons to be optimistic about our economy" — citing low inflation and record export levels by U.S. firms.

"We will get this recession behind us, and return to growth — soon," Bush promised, stopping short of offering a blueprint for recovery.

Constrained by huge budget deficits, Bush offered only a modest list of domestic priorities.

He briefly mentioned plans still under wraps for a national energy strategy, an overhaul of the banking system, education initiatives and a proposal to transfer $15 billion worth of federal programs to the states with grants to fund them.

Once again, Bush proposed a controversial cut in taxes on capital gains — an initiative denounced by Democrats as a tax break for the rich. This time, however, Bush suggested that lawmakers join in a study, led by Federal Reserve Chairperson Alan Greenspan to resolve differences "so that we can return to unproductive partisan bickering."

Details of some of Bush's proposals will come Monday, when the White House submits a $1.4 trillion federal budget to Congress. The budget will project a $138 billion deficit for the current year, even before $1 billion a day war costs are considered.

Along with the Cabinet, lawmakers and the diplomatic corps, there was a special guest in the audience: Mrs. Norman Schwarzkopf, wife of the commander of Desert Storm.

Harkening to the start of World War II, his own generation's war, Bush said, "Almost 50 years ago we began a long struggle against aggressive totalitarianism. Now we face another defining hour for America and the world."

The world wonders, Bush said, said what Saddam in thinking. "If he thinks that by targeting innocent civilians in Israel and Saudi Arabia, that he will gain advantage.

"If he thinks that he will advance his cause through tragic and despicable environmental terrorism — he is dead wrong.

"And if he thinks trhat by abusing the coalition POWs, he will benefit — he is dead wrong.

"We will succeed in the Gulf," Bush vowed.

To the chamber filled with Washington officialdom, Bush said, "I come to this house of the people to speak to you and all Americans, certain that we stand at a defining hour."

Despite the clouds of war and recession, Bush said, "If anyone tells you America's best days are behind her, they're looking the wrong way."

On the domestic side, Bush proposed a "crime summit" of the nation's top law enforceent officials and said he would resubmit legislation to expand the use of the federal death penalty, particularly for drug-related crimes.

Bush said he wanted "to put more power and opportunity" into the hands of the poor and advocated programs to make it easier for public housing tenants to buy their homes and to give inner-city businesses special tax breaks.

Bush also said his administration was proposing aggressive new health-prevention initiatives "to promote a healthier America and to help keep costs from spiraling."

35% OFF Everything Winter

J•RICH CLOTHING FOR MEN

191 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst•253-2013
Mon.-Sat. 10-6

22 Masonic St.
Northampton•586-6336
Mon.-Sat 10-6, Thu til 9
Sun 12-5

USED & DISCOUNT PAPERBACKS IN MOST SUBJECTS.

FICTION, DRAMA, SCIENCE, HISTORY, PHILOSOPHY, RELIGION, ART, PSYCHOLOGY.

$AVE ON BOOKS

VALLEY BOOKS
199 N. Pleasant St.
Downtown Amherst.

M-F 10:30-5:30
Sat 10-5, Sun 12-5

256-1508
Visa/MC

Council Travel

LONDON FRANKFURT PARIS SYDNEY TOKYO AMSTERDAM AUCKLAND HONG KONG

Cheapest Fares to:
•EUROPE
•ASIA
•AUSTRALIA/ NEW ZEALAND

Plus railpasses, international student ID, tours and much more. Ask for our free catalog

413-256-1261

AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

Throughout your college years, make A.J. Hastings your headquarters for

School Supplies!

Count on us for everything from your first freshman notebook to your final thesis paper...plus all those years of pens, pencils, paper clips, typewriter ribbons, etc., in-between!

A·J·Hastings, Inc.
"Conveniently located in the center of Amherst"
45 South Pleasant Street
OPEN: Weekdays 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Submit
Art Poetry
Prose Photography

Spectrum
Magazine

406E Student Union
University of Massachusetts
10—4 Mon — Fri
Tel 413.545 2240
Deadline: February 4, 1991

ROLL UPS
SANDWICH SHOP
331 Russell St., Rt. 9, Hadley
(next to Dunkin' Donuts)

Grand Opening Specials
Over 25 sandwiches all under $3.99 such as...
• Philly Roast Beef • Wrangler
• Veggie Delight w/ avacado AND MORE!...
• Tuna/Hold the Line

WOW coupon
FREE SANDWICH
Buy One Get One Free!!
(Lower priced sandwich is free)
One coupon per person per order
Not valid between 12:30-2:00 daily exp.2-28-91
coupon

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
586-8255

安城中國飯店
Amherst Chinese Food
Homestyle Cooking
Fresh vegetables from our own farm
DO NOT USE MSG
Open 7 days a week
253-2813 253-7835
62 Main Street Amherst

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11am
7 days a Week
Kitchen open 'til midnight
Game Room with 2 pool tables
Tonight 25c Cheese Pizza Slices & 99c Nacho Platters
9:00p.m. — 12:00a.m.
Drinks of the Week:
Charlie's Punch $1.50
French Mocha Coffee $1.95
Food Giveaways
Mon. 10 cent Mozzarella Sticks 9pm-12am
Tues. 10 cent Buffalo Wings 9pm-12am
Wed. 25cent Pizza Slices and 99 cent Nachos 9pm-12am
Thurs 10 cent Beer Steamed Baby Franks 9pm-12am
Sunday 10 cent Potato Skins 9pm-12am
WE ACCEPT MC-VISA-AMEX

Albion Bookshop
BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!
Why Pay Full Price?
We May Have What You Need!
Albion Used Books
Also...cash for your used texts and paperbacks
30 Main St., Amherst
Mon 9:30-6; Tues-Sat 9:30-9pm; Sun 12-5

■ Raytheon raises security

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I wouldn't consider the Quincy plant easy to get into," he told the Ledger.

Kelleher could not be reached for comment.

Powers could not confirm or deny a petition had been submitted.

Workers leaving the Quincy plant last week told the newspaper the number of guards had been doubled and entry was limited to one door.

Raytheon, which employs 30,000 people in Massachusetts, has gained worldwide attention in the past week as the Patriot missile system has been effective in intercepting Iraqi Scud missile system cities in Israel and Saudi Arabia.

The government asked Raytheon to speed up production after Iraq invaded Kuwait in August.

This led the company to add abut 200 people to the work force at its Andover plant, which was already working 24 hours a day on the project, Powers said.

"The accelerated production continues," he said last week.

David Harris, spokesperson for the Army Missile Command in Huntsville, Ala., which oversees development of the Patriot system, said, "they are making the missiles as fast as they can make them."

■ US POW reported killed

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

speech in which he again threatens to kill Americans and undertake all sorts of despicable acts of war."

Allied officials have said as many as 100 Iraqi planes, which combat and transport aircraft, have taken refuge in Iran, which has declared its neutrality in the gulf war. Iraq has about 700 planes in its air force.

The Tehran government has promised to impound the planes until the war's end.

But Saddam, asked about the planes, told CNN that, "Iraq and Iran are neighboring Muslim countries, and regardless of the circumstances of the past, they both see the current confrontation here as a battle between faith and the infidel." Iran and Iraq fought an eight-year war which ended in 1988.

Asked if the planes would be used in the current conflict, Saddam said: "Each case in its own circumstance."

Fitzwater said the U.S. military knows where the Iraqi planes are. "They watched them go in," he said. "They'll attack them when they come out."

His remarks were echoed by Stevens. Pressed by reporters about the departure of Iraqi planes to Iran, he said any aircraft would be shot down over Iraq.

POSTER SALE

Most Images Only $5 and $6

Over 1000 Different Selections

Featuring Works By: WARHOL, DALI, MONET, ANSEL ADAMS, TALBOT, M.C. ESCHER, VAN GOGH, PICASSO, ROCKWELL, MATISSE, DEGAS, WYETH

Sponsor WMUA 91.1 FM
Date Wed. Jan. 30 thru Fri. 1
Time 9 A.M. - 4:30 P.M.
Place Student Union Ballroom

BIGGEST & BEST SELECTION

What a profound philosophy:

Affordable Video Rentals

- Free memberships
- After hours drop slot
- Great prices on audio and video accessories
- VCR rentals—no deposit
- 3 day 2 night rentals
- Open everyday 10am to 10pm AND MUCH MORE!

SOUNDS EASY VIDEO

The Intelligent Choice

Amherst, 6 University Drive, 549-5200
Greenfield, 21 Mohawk Trail, 772-2141
Northampton, N. King St. Hamp Plaza, 586-7260

AEROBICS

MORE NAUTILUS

Computerized aerobic machines than any club in the Valley.
Stairmasters • Lifecycles • Gravitron • Biocycle • Treadmills
New • New • New • Life Rower • New • New • New

BETTER MASSAGE

Special suspended oak wood floor • Certified Instructors
• Bench Step • Low Impact • High/Low • Boxercise • Stretch

KARATE SAUNA

Total body conditioning plus the skill of selfdefense.
Largest full-time Karate studio in Western Mass.

AMHERST ATHLETIC CLUB 460 West St. South Amherst 256-0080 KARATE HEALTH & FITNESS CENTER

"SPRING BREAK 91"

CANCUN, MEXICO

FEATURING THE OASIS CANCUN HOTEL

STARTING MARCH 16, 1991
THRU MARCH 23, 1991

FROM $399 COMPLETE

PRICES BASED ON QUAD.

CARIBE INTERNATIONAL	$399
MARGARITA HOTEL	$449
CALINDA QUALITY HOTEL	$469
TERRAMAR HOTEL	$509
AQUAMARINA HOTEL	$549
OASIS CANCUN HOTEL	$569
HOLIDAY INN CROWN PLAZA	$599
MELIA TURQUESA	$599

COMPLETE PARTY WEEK INCLUDES:
R.T. AIRFARE (FROM SELECT CITIES), R.T. TRANSFERS, 7 NIGHTS HOTEL, 3 HOUR CRUISE, BEACH PARTIES, FREE ADMISSION INTO NIGHTCLUBS, ALL HOTEL TAXES, AND ADVANCE TRAVEL TOUR HOSTS ON LOCATION.
• PRICES BASED OUT OF N.Y. ADD $20.00 FOR BOSTON.
ALL MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED.

ADVANCE TRAVEL SERVICES, INC.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL TOLL FREE 800-283-8767

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

True American killers

Barraged with images of protest movements, I cannot help but feel sickened by the inherent hypocrisy of any statements about peace. After the second full week of bombing against Iraq, how can any logical person feel that s/he represents peace?

We are Americans. We are violent people. And we couldn't care less about the Iraqi people. Does anyone have the guts to approach Iraqi citizens who just lost their families, homes (and, in the near future, possibly their leader) and say, "I just want peace, really I do. I just want to put sanctions on your country, so you can die of starvation instead." We are at war. It is about killing and death, and we are the ones who started it. Let's face the facts.

Minu Sebastian

This obviously is not another Vietnam. During the anti-war period of that time, there were some who spoke sense. Remember the words of Stokely Carmichael, a Black activist: "We are not reformers. . .we do not wish to be part of the government of the U.S.A. or the American regime. We are revolutionaries."

"Like the Vietnamese, we want to stop cold the greatest destroyers of humanity, the American leadership." And Cleveland Sellers, vowed to help Vietnam "fight to keep America from taking her tungsten, tin and rubber." What has happened to these leaders?

What about we minority Americans? Do we have a right to claim to be against the United States? Why is it that most of us spend our time complaining about how oppressed we are and how racist this society is? And, now some estimates indicate that 40 percent of the forces in Saudi Arabia are from minority groups.

Do we have any dignity or self-respect? How can it be that we are killing Third World people? Those people represent our roots. Whose side are we on, anyway?

Some people say they joined the Army for economic reasons. Does that make us any less responsible for the killings of Arab people? When will we be able to face the truth?

We are minority Americans. Who are our leaders? We don't have any. But who cares, the liberals will save us. They'll provide the guilt that is necessary for us to survive, no problem. We just want a piece of the pie. It's owed to us.

What about those immigrant families who bring up their children with shameless and integrationist values? What is their motive? A chance at the good life. Now we too can aspire to live stable, pathetic and shallow lives.

We can't even ally ourselves with any Third World struggle.

We're not from the Third World. We are simply foolish people hoping that no one will see through our sham. We just want equal rights, equal opportunity and equal access to the power in this country. But of course it's not our fault we are killing Third World people.

We're no different than any other American in this country. We may not have White skin, but we continue to perpetuate every despicable thing that this country, our country, is about. Why?

When it comes down to it, our only identity is that of being American. We share the values, the material wealth and the bullshit. Forget about pride, identity and the cultures that we are descendants of. We are not part of them.

The line has been drawn.

We are the killers.

Minu Sebastian is a Collegian columnist

JAN. 14TH 1991
DEAR EDITOR:
THIS IS A PICTURE OF ALL THE ARMY MEN AND WOMEN QUITTING THE ARMY AND FLYING BACK TO THE U.S.A.!
ALL WE ARE SAYING IS GIVE PEACE A CHANCE
NIKHIL MELNECHUK
292 PELHAM RD.
AMHERST
6 YEARS OLD

Anyone who has had five columns printed and wishes a weekly or biweekly spot needs to attend the following meeting or notify Editorial Editor, Jeremy Levinson. 5:30 PM, Thursday, January 31 in the* Collegian*'s newsroom.

• • •

Work for the Ed/Op page! The editorial editor is looking for an associate editor and editorial cartoonists. Please come down to the* Collegian *and fill out an application.

• • •

All submissions to the Ed/Op page should be typed, double spaced and include a phone number. A letter is less than 50 lines and am column between 50 and 70. Get on it.

Messrs. Madson and Weitzer — 'Rats' leaving a sinking ship

"It is a sad man who feeds the alligators hoping only to be eaten last."

There is a shake-up happening at Fort Whitmore this semester because two senior administrators, the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Dennis Madson and his assistant Billy Weitzer have quit their jobs here at UMass to go work at other colleges. Now that we are moving into our fourth consecutive year of budget cuts, the administration and faculty are coming to grips with the fact that their strategy, or lack thereof, for dealing with the crisis has been a dismal failure.

The departure of these two is proof of something that everyone knows but won't say publicly: The University is a sinking ship and the only thing left to do now is to get out while it still maintains some respect nationally.

But, leaving exposes the Big Lie that administrators like Billy and Denny have been propagating for the last few years. Throughout the budget crisis, they have been running around campus telling the different campus constituencies — the unions, the undergrads, and the grads — that we are all in this together. One big, happy "community" free of individual interests.

The truth is though that each constituency is part of a hierarchy on campus. At the top sit the administrators, who want everyone to sit tight, take the budget cuts on the chin and not make any problems.

Just below the administrators, comes that army of generals, also known as the faculty, who haven't yet learned that effective organizing takes more than passing resolutions at Faculty Senate meetings and rubbing elbows with Bill Cosby at a thousand-dollar-a-head fundraiser.

Below the faculty are the staff and grad students. These are the working people of the University. They feed us, they clean up after us and they teach us. The only thing keeping these two groups from being completely powerless is that they have unions.

Ted Chambers

Finally at the very bottom are the undergraduates, who, for the last four years or so, have been powerless when it comes to protecting their interests. Sure, they have the Student Government Association, but the problem there is that it is filled with middle class kids who are virtually untouched by budget cuts because their parents have plenty of money to send them here. They can afford to screw around in the Student Senate and fight about nothing because they don't need to work to put themselves through school.

Meanwhile, the administration and the faculty at UMass are among the highest paid public employees in the state. So, when it comes to fighting budget cuts, they are dependent upon the students to do all of the activism for them. As one prominent faculty member put it to me during the student strike last year, "It is awful hard to tell the public that you are not getting enough money when the average professor here makes over $50,000 a year and three of the top five public employees in the state are working at Whitmore."

The point is that the undergraduates are getting used. They have been the backbone of this campus' effort to fight the budget cuts. As a constituency, they have given more time and resources than other. They rallied, they lobbied, they organized against Citizens for Limited Taxation, they called their parents and our legislators and yet every semester, the cost of attending UMass gets more and more out of reach.

We have suffered disproportionately from the budget crisis because the administration and other campus constituencies have used the undergrads as a buffer against the budget cuts by raising our tuition and fees 65 percent over the last three and a half years. And, because people like Denny Madson and Joe Duffey believe that undergrads' parents can afford to pay more, we can expect the increases to continue.

It's time for undergrads to bite the hand that feeds them shit. They have to organize and take advantage of the administration's ineffectiveness. And, more importantly, undergrads have got to start letting them know that raising fees and tuition is not an option.

This semester, the war is bound to pit students against students. But, remember that there is one issue that we can all stand side by side on. If you are an undergraduate, the fight against budget cuts begins right here on campus, and it's time to start making it happen.

As for Messrs. Madson and Weitzer, your incessant foot dragging and bad faith negotiations will not be missed. And, please gentlemen don't let the door hit you in the ass on the way out.

Ted Chambers is a UMass student

In trying times, dean extends welcome

On behalf of the staff in the Dean of Students office, I welcome you back to campus. We're glad your here.

Normally a letter such as this would express the wish that you've had a restful and fun break from your studies; and that you've returned invigorated and ready to take on a challenging semester.

Sadly, that is not the situation we find ourselves in. January 1991 has been a distressing and sobering time for our country. Whatever one's views about the rightness of what's happening in the Persian Gulf, no one welcomes war and the destruction it brings.

As each of us reflects, evaluates and perhaps takes action upon our beliefs and feelings, I ask that we remember this community's standards of civility and free and open discourse. If we are to learn and better understand what is happening, truly we need not only to speak and be heard, but also to stop and listen.

The University is already planning a number of forums to address the Persian Gulf Crisis. One event is scheduled for February 3, 7 p.m., in the Student Union Ballroom. Watch for additional activities in the coming weeks.

To those of you with family and friends in the Gulf, you have our heartfelt support.

If their are ways in which the community can address your needs, I hope you will let us in the Dean of Students Office know.

Jo-Anne Thomas Vanin
Dean of Students/Associate Vice Chancellor

I'll bring home the bacon, you fry it

Mother gave me a pink apron for Christmas. My reply was, "Thanks Ma, it will look nice on my future husband." What never ceases to amaze me in these liberal days of feminist freedom are those who insist on giving mixed messages. My mother, for example, is a woman who has prided herself on being a single parent and maintaining her career.

From my earliest recollection she taught me a maxim: "Never rely on a man." Then, paradoxically, she gives me a pink apron and inquires about the progress of my love life. Although she grew up with the women's movement, when I declare that I want a "wife," she doesn't know what I'm talking about.

Most of us realize that women have suffered a great deal due to the traditional "June Cleaver" stereotype instilled by men. Despite greater awareness and meager improvements, patriarchy prevails in our society.

Now, we have a mentality that "allows" a woman to work, but still expects her to cook and clean and take care of children. Today, the belief is that women can "have it all" while most men go on doing what they've been accustomed to doing all along — relying on women.

However, women are beginning to wise up. They no longer want to "have it all" in terms of: Career + Homemaker = Headache.

I believe the next decade will re-define modern man in order to accommodate the working women. Hopefully this will encourage men to enroll in cooking classes, as TV dinners get more expensive. A man who can't cook today is like a girdle, outdated; and will probably be without a date in the 1990s. So, please guys, do your part and learn to make something besides pasta. As for my apron, I'm hanging it up.

J. Brittany Ham
Amherst

Mother writes tune to soldiers

By MICHELLE LOCKE
Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD — The day her friend sobbed out her fears for the safety of a son in the Persian Gulf, Mikki Viereck sat down at her kitchen table and wrote a ballad about the anguish of sending children to war.

Three weeks later, the shoestring-budget single is getting regular play on local radio stations and had attracted national attention, an unexpected success that has Viereck shocked but happy.

"You can't imagine how exciting this is. I can't even eat or sleep or anything," Viereck said yesterday.

"I'm a housewife from Springfield, who happened to write a song that kind of vents the emotions that moms feel in something like this. I know other moms feel this way or otherwise this song wouldn't be so popular right now. You want to protect them from the world forever," she said.

Married and the mother of 18-year-old Lino and 13-year-old Zack, Viereck has been singing local gigs with her band Mikki and Co. for two decades.

The song that has been brought her interviews on national television was written in about one hour in early January after a visit from a friend upset about her son, a Marine stationed in the Gulf.

"She said a lot of things that brought really motherly emotions out of me because moms always want to fix everything," Viereck said.

After writing the song, Viereck's friend and composer Steve Moser write the music and they reworked some of the lyrics together. The song was recorded "for almost nothing," at Lion Recording, a Southwick company.

"The night the war started is when we were sitting in the studio just beginning to record. It was really weird," she said.

The song made its debut on Springfield radio station WMAS-FM and has been played on several stations.

WMAS Program Director Ed Kelly said he has since mailed off several copies of the tape, including to stations in Texas and Wisconsin.

Bill Hess, program director for another Springfield station, WHYN-FM, said he has received calls from stations in Arizona and Nevada looking for copies of the tape, which is being distributed by Strawberries, a Milford-based record store chain.

"We get calls every time we play it," he said.

Sales figures were not available, but initial responses has shown strong reaction, said Paul Grasso of Strawberries' Milford office.

'It's very relevant to what's going on, clearly and makes (listeners) feel good to be a part of it," he said.

The song, which begins with the lines "Oh I wish that I could fix this," is from a mother to her child and includes the refrain of:

"But a mother knows when her baby's heart is hurting,
A mother knows that no child should have to fight.
But a mother knows when our country comes a-calling,
That our children have to do what they think is right."

Viereck says there's no political message behind the song and she wants it to stay that way.

"I'd like it to be kind of neutral," she said.

"My honest opinion is I wish to God we didn't have to do this but this is our country and I just feel like that guy would have been right at our back door really soon," she said.

So far, Viereck and Moser haven't made "penny one," but if sales continue strong, Viereck plans to donate some of the proceeds to a charity benefiting veterans.

Dems meet with Weld

Majority leaders discuss budget proposal

BOSTON (AP) — Senate President William Bulger predicted yesterday the Legislature would have a "heavy debate" when it takes up Gov. William Weld's deficit reduction package.

Weld briefed Bulger, House Speaker Charles Flaherty (D-Cambridge) and other Democratic legislative leaders on the package, but Flaherty and Bulger said the Republican governor did not provide them with details on many of the proposals.

Weld's plan, to be unveiled fully Thursday, is aimed at erasing a projected deficit of $850 million for the current fiscal year and a $1.8 billion shortfall for the fiscal year 1992, which starts July 1.

"I think there will be heavy, heavy debate. There are vast and profound philosophical questions to be answered," Bulger said. Bulger (D-Boston) declined to specify what those questions are, saying that he would consult with fellow Senate Democrats before taking a stand on the package.

Flaherty said, however, the Legislature will have no options but to vote for a cuts package, although he said he might be different from the one presented by Republican Weld.

"There are only two ways to balance a budget for fiscal '91, through cuts or additional taxes or a combination of the two. I think everyone agrees that there will be no possibility of additional revenue," Flaherty said.

"We are in a narrowed field of options these days," Bulger said.

The two top legislative leaders and Weld agreed the meeting was cordial and was a briefing, rather than a debate over the plan's specifics.

"We weren't really getting into the substance or the merits of the various proposals," Weld said at an impromptu news conference.

"They weren't swarming out of the room. On the other hand, the speaker made the point that silence is not to be taken as acceptance."

Weld's top fiscal advisor, Administration and Finance Secretary Peter Nessen, said he also expected intensive debate.

College
Blowout
featuring Road Runner Recording Artists
THE NEIGHBORHOODS and
ONE EYED JAKE
Wed. January 30
live at
Katina's
Route 9, Hadley
586-4463
18 and over welcome
Free bus service from UMass Campus (Southwest Horseshoe)
$1.00 off with college I.D.

WANTED

Assistant Business Manager
Assistant Finance Manager

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

We are looking for:
Ambitious
Responsible
Organized
SOPHOMORES
with good communications skills.

Applications are available at the Collegian — 113 Campus Center and must be submitted no later than Friday February 8. 1991.

The Collegian is an E-O-E

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Think Spring!

A perfect time for renewal and new beginnings.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Spring 1991

Renew your life goals, your career, or your personal life. Over 200 fresh credit courses and Adventures in Lifelong Learning workshops are being hatched at UMass this spring.

Late register through February 11.

Classes start January 29.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

THIRD WORLD AFFAIRS

13. Behold this is the Word That distinguishes (Good From Evil) :[6076] ۱۳- إِنَّهُ لَقَوْلٌ فَصْلٌ ۝

14. It is not a thing For amusement. ۱۴- وَمَا هُوَ بِالْهَزْلِ ۝

15. As for them,[6077] they Are but plotting a scheme, ۱۵- إِنَّهُمْ يَكِيدُونَ كَيْدًا ۝

16. And I am planning A scheme.[6078] ۱۶- وَأَكِيدُ كَيْدًا ۝

17. Therefore grant a delay To the unbelievers: Give respite to them Gently (for awhile).[6079] ۱۷- فَمَهِّلِ الْكَافِرِينَ أَمْهِلْهُمْ رُوَيْدًا ۝

Al-Quran
Sura LXXXVI
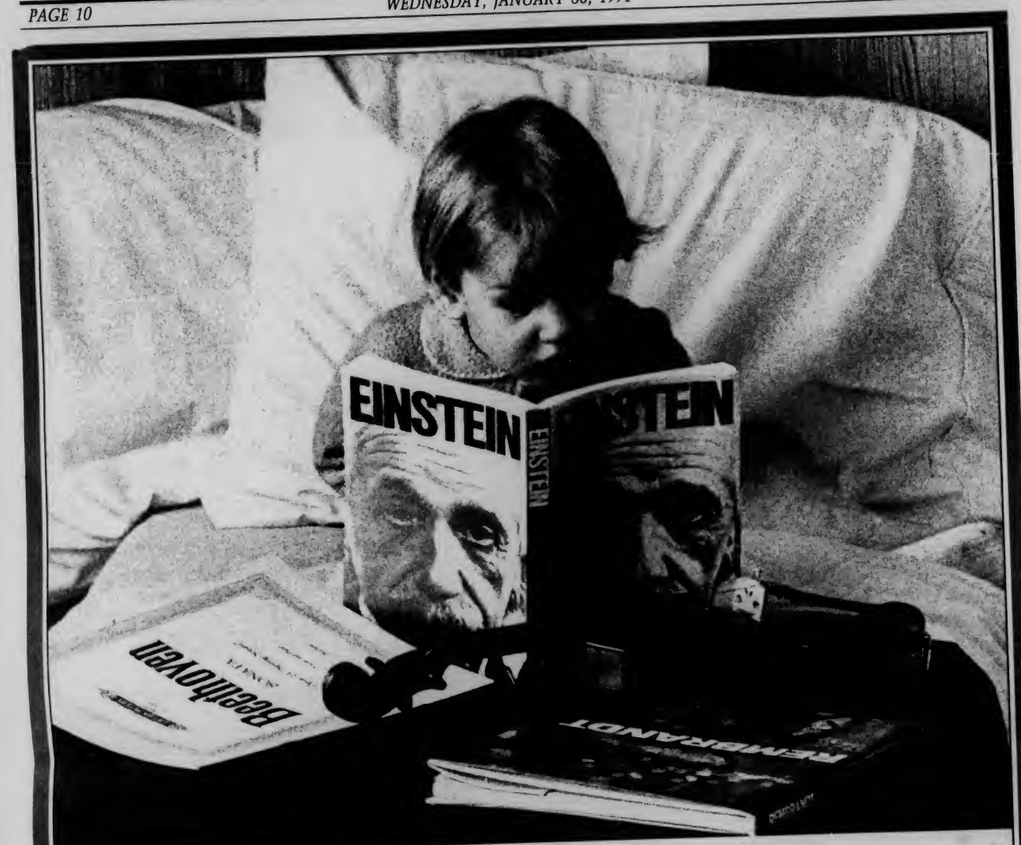
Tariq — The Night Visitant 13-17



You're never too young to change the world.

We're attracted to college students for what they haven't learned: limitations. Systems to applications, multimedia to networking, you won't find any limitations at Microsoft. What you will find are small teams and immediate responsibility for important projects.

We're out to revolutionize the world with our vision of personal computing. And we're looking for the brightest technical minds to do it. Many of them already work here as Software Design Engineers and Program Managers—learn how you can join them.

If you are pursuing an MS or PhD degree in Computer & Information Science, Math, Electrical Engineering or a related technical area, then let's talk about your programming experience, design skills and/or exposure to managing projects. We're having a company presentation the night before our on-campus interviews. We're looking forward to talking with you there—even if you're NOT signed up on our interview schedule. Relocation is available for summer positions.

We are an equal opportunity employer and are working toward a more culturally diverse workplace.

Company presentation
Feb. 6, 1991 7:00 p.m.
The Mather Career Center
Interviews for summer
SDE Program Managers
Feb. 7, 1991
See your Career Center
for details

Microsoft
Making it all make sense™

ARTS & LIVING

They won't grab you, but may grow on you

By PAMELA McCARTHY
Collegian Staff

They Eat Their Own
They Eat Their Own
Relativity Records

There are some bands that just grab you, and make you want to listen to their songs until your brain melts out of your ears and your hair turns grey. They Eat Their Own isn't one of those bands. Thank God, since no one would look all that good with their grey matter dripping on the floor, anyhow.

They Eat Their Own's self-titled album will grow on you. By all rights, it shouldn't. They are at the junction between mainstream metal and college alternative — enough to make anyone cringe, but Laura B. manages to pull off such a usually awful combination with style. You even get to like it. Or at least, I did.

The songs in the album are catchy — a few times I had to fight the urge to skip rope. Usually, I would be saved from such a healthy activity by a change in the beat, a drop in the voice, and a changing of the harmony. Good, keep 'em guessing.

Vocalist Laura B. wrote most of the material. Lyrics, music, and everything. You know what her political views are after listening to the songs — very, very politically correct. And while some of the songs are almost annoyingly so, there are a couple of bursts of good quality music and lyrics.

The first cut, "Better Now," was energetic and hard-edged. The lyrics were bleakly ironic, and had a message without shoving it in your face. The music rolled along smoothly, but not too smoothly; this isn't supposed to be an easy ride. Laura B. used her voice by increase pitch and volume to add to the jolts. Definitely a good tune.

"Like a Drug" is the song that has gotten the most airplay of any of the other songs on the album. Once I heard it, I could see why. The song is about a relationship that Judy Tenuta must've been thinking of when she said, "Did you ever start dating someone because you were too lazy to commit suicide?" Yeah — neurtoic and psychotic significant others from hell, and the idiots who stay with them because it provides drama in their boring lives.

Thankfully, Laura B. doesn't winge and whine like Pat Benatar did when she sang about her destructive relationships. The song is tight, and carries you through. The lyrics are simple and direct, something more songwriters need to master. Also, it's a brutally honest song, which is refreshing considering They Eat Their Own was created in Hollywood, city of lies and glitz.

"Why Don't You Disagree?" is the only other relationship song (I'm so glad she kept it to a minimum — I could really care about how every break up in a singer's love life is like). The lyrics are bitingly funny and sad at the same time. The beat is fast, and the melody is gripping.

Somehow, they make you like them. The album is flawed, but it is entertaining, and has originality.

Porter tunes to benefit AIDS

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Red, Hot and Blue
Various Artists
Chrysalis Records

Cole Porter wrote smooth, swinging, flowing pop. Songs that are perfect for the warblers and synth-pop wizards of the 90's. Red, Hot and Blue merges the two effortlessly together in a collection to raise proceeds for AIDS research.

AP Photo

Neneh Cherry gives an interesting rendition of "Under My Skin" by Cole Porter.

The twenty track album boosts a wide variety of performers, encompassing many tastes. It kicks off with a Neneh Cherry reworking of "I've Got You Under My Skin." Cherry adds her own twist to the track, rapping about the tragedy of AIDS.

The songs on the album are not simple cover versions of Porter's songs but in most cases elaborate reworkings and rewriting. There are four tracks by female artists that stick to the traditional Porter arrangements, of the four, K.D. Lang's "So In Love," is a clear stand-out.

Her haunting, powerful vocals and sparse musical accompaniment brings out the beauty of her voice. The other women belting out ballads include disco diva Lisa Stansfield with "Down In The Depths," Sinead O'Connor's smooth "You Do Something To Me," and pop-dance queen Jody Wately with "After You Who."

The Thompson Twins are another stand-out with their dance-trash version of "Who Wants To Be A Millionare." Deborah Harry and Iggy Pop camp it up with the track "Well, Did You Evah!" in which they the trash "Hollywood Scene."

Kristy MacColl and the Pogues team up again after their 1987 hit "A New York Farie Tale" for "Miss Otis Regrets, Just One Of Those Things." The song moves from Celtic-hillbilly strains to heavy Pogue-trash.

Fine Young Cannibals offer their first new song since 1989's The Raw and the Cooked. "Love For Sale," an acoustic, beatnik style rythmic song.

Gay disco favorites Erasure and Jimmy Somerville each turn out burning dance versions. Erasure's cautioning "Too Darn Hot," and Somerville's sexy "From This Moment On" are both clever updates of Porter tunes.

David Byrne turns the country-western favorite "Don't Fence Me" into an international-flavored percussion-heavy song that sounds amazingly like Paul Simon's new single.

Others on the collection include U2, the Neville Brothers, Aztec Camera and Tom Waits.

ACADEMY of MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
NOW-The Only Area Engagement
Curtain Daily 6:30 and 9:00
Rostand's classic romantic adventure with GERARD DERPARDIEU as the "DEFINITIVE CYRANO"—N.Y. Times
"MAGNIFICENT A HUGELY ENTERTAINING SPECTACLE!" —Peter Travers, ROLLING STONE
"IT'S A REALLY ROMANTIC AND FUN MOVIE" —Siskel & Ebert
"GLORIOUS" —Richard Schickel, TIME
CYRANO DE BERGERAC
A film by JEAN-PAUL RAPPENEAU
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

Seven Os
Sunderland's Spot for Live Music
THERE'S NEVER A COVER!!
Thurs. January 31 9pm—1am
The HALBENOIT BAND
Friday and Saturday February 1st and 2nd 9pm—1am
WILDCAT O'HALLORAN
Sunday 8pm—12am
OPEN MIC NIGHT with MARK SNOW
THURSDAYS OPEN 9pm—1am
Route 116 Sunderland 665-8788

THE GLOBE BOOKSHOP
fine new, used & children's books
European, art & literary periodicals
publisher's overstocks at 30%-80% off
special orders•out-of-print searches
Open 7 Days•Mon-Sat 9-9;Sun 10-5•38 Pleasant St., Northampton MA 584-0375•586-5838

Interested in being a...
University Tour Guide
Admissions Representative
Summer Counselor
Applications available at the University Admissions Center

Domino's Pizza
Amherst/Hadley
256-8911
South Hadley
535-1111
DOMINO'S PIZZA

Buy ANY Large Pizza
GET A SMALL 1-ITEM PIZZA
for only 30c
DOMINO'S PIZZA
Expires 3-30-91
1 coupon per order

Buy ANY-Pizza
Get a 2nd of equal or lesser value for only $1.99
DOMINO'S PIZZA
expires 3-30-91
1 coupon per order

Buy ANY-Large Pizza for the
PRICE OF A SMALL PIZZA
DOMINO'S PIZZA
expires 3-30-91
not good with any other offer

An entertaining night of ska

By BROOKE R. BURTON
Collegian Correspondent

Baba Yaga
The Iron Horse
Monday, January 28

What does good ska music and a witch that lives in a house with chicken feet have in common? Not to confuse the reader, I divulge the answer which is not a punch line. Baba Yaga is the name of the UMass band which has borrowed its title from Russian folklore and has taken a step towards making it big in the happy valley after their Iron Horse performance on Monday.

The Umass based band consists of Tom Adams on drums and back-up vocals, Andy Bergman on sax and other wind instruments, Pete McCauley on guitar and lead vocals, and Adam Putnam on bass.

The first set opened up with the energetic solo performance of Pete McCauley on guitar. McCauley, who is influenced by Jimi Hendrix, Michael Hedges, and Stevie Ray Vaughan, performed an hour of originals and Paul Simon's "Me and Julio Down by the School Yard" and the Police's "Da Doo Doo" with a new angle that was full of happiness and energy.

McCauley's original lyrics are those of a story teller. He sings of war, peace, friends, Shell Silverstein's "The Giving Tree", and most commonly — women. McCauley's lyrics speak directly to the audience's hearts which are torn by the terror of war and the pain associated with love. McCauley entertained his audience with his exhilarating and energized music which is reminiscent of Sting in his early club days.

After a twenty minute intermission which gave the audience a chance to enjoy the candle lit atmosphere, the four person band of Baba Yaga claimed the stage as their own with their opening piece "38 Maple Wood Drive" which with its driving beat brought the full house crowd to its feet as the song talked of the journey of Odysseus.

The sound of the group certainly has a jazzy under tone with Bergman's saxophone and Putnam's bass line. Adams' drumming and McCauley's guitar kept the music up-beat and happy. Most of Baba Yaga's set were originals which the band have been putting together as drummer Tom Adams says, "as they come upon them."

The music ranges from a driving jazzy ska, to a danceable "P.C." beat. After their debut at the Iron Horse on Monday, the music of Baba Yaga and Pete McCauley has captured an audience with their lyrics, exciting rhythm, and entertaining style.

ARTS & LIVING

WRITERS MEETING
THURSDAY
4 p.m.
FREE MUNCHIES
COME ON DOWN AND EXPAND YOUR INTESTINES

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
ADVOCATE ★BEST★ THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1990
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style — especially for you!
FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•NO MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

Now Open in Town!
Indian Palace Restaurant

Accept Visa/MC
Reservations Accepted
28 Main Street, Northampton, MA
584-4892

AL-BUMS NEED EXTRA CASH?
WE BUY*SELL*TRADE
USED CDs, LPs & CASSETTES
All Used Sales Guaranteed.
HIGH QUALITY•EXTRA STURDY
WOOD FURNITURE
Bookcases•LP Shelves•Tables•Stereo Centers
CD & Cassette Racks•Coffee Tables and More!
ALL SHAPES AND SIZES
Hours Mon.-Tue. 10-6 Sun. 12-5 181 n. Pleasant St. Amherst 253-7137

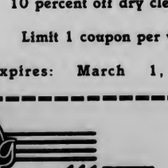
SUBWAY®
DAILY SPECIALS:
$2.99 for certain foot long subs!
STARTING FEBRUARY:
TWO for TUESDAY
BUY ONE Foot Long, get one FREE (higher price prevails)
BUY ONE Regular Foot Long, get one Regular Foot Long FREE with a soda (higher price prevails)

IRELAND PUB TOURS
'Spring Break'
March 20-24
Full payment dadline Feb. 1
NEED A VACATION SPOT...
Imagine yourself in a land with more than 10,000 pubs to choose from set in a scenic landscape of rugged cliffs, beautiful bays and quaint villages for 5 days for only $599
West coast tour includes:
• AerLingus roundtrip flight from Boston
• First Class Hotels
• Transportaion/Guide throughout
• Sightseeing tours
• Breakfast and dinner
• Nightly entertainment ..and much more
• Call now to reserve your seat Space is limited
• Final payment due 8 Feb '91
• Legal age 18
Rita k. Burke 549-1256
adventura travel
233 N Pleasant St., Amherst Carriage Shops

THE LAUNDRY CLUB
The Most Fun You Can Have in a Laundromat!
8 am-11 pm ● 7 days
★ Coin Operated Washers and Dryers
★ State of the Art Machines
★ Snack Bar
★ Big Screen T.V.
★ Pool Table and Video Games
★ Senior Citizen Discount
COUPON
$1.00 off any size washer
Limit 1 coupon per visit
expires: March 1, 1991
COUPON
10 percent off dry cleaning
Limit 1 coupon per visit
expires: March 1, 1991
Dry Cleaning
6 University Drive—Next to Louis Foods—Amherst (413) 549-2640

Montgomery's Florist
Valentines Day
Thursday, February 14
a rose is a rose is a rose?

Montgomery's Florist
Finest Quality Roses available whether it's an impressive dozen or a romantic single rose— Montgomery's is the place for roses.



Teleflora
584-3798
350 Russell St. Hadley
(Rt. 9, across from Burger King)

ATTENTION
ALL INTERESTED
ARTISTS
The Collegian is accepting submissions for new student cartoons through Sunday, Febuary 3.
Drop off samples
(with address and phone –)
To Managing Editor
545-3500
The Collegian is an E.O.E.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Running is an unnatural act, except from enemies and to the bathroom."

— Unknown

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

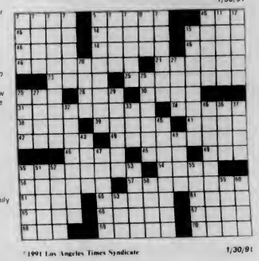
ACROSS
1 Wharf
5 Squeeze
10 European blackbird
13 Essence
14 Poe bird
15 Meerschaum
16 Where Priam ruled
17 Foe
18 — Wonderful Life
19 John Wilkes Booth, e.g.
21 Doughnut eater perhaps
23 Revue part
24 Intrude
26 Holiday's Alice role
28 The troops (ex-short)
30 Threelree
31 Award
34 Corridor
38 Ingenuous
39 Flynn
41 Sports overseer Abbr.
42 Alight
44 Demanding
46 Etta
48 Novelist Umberto
49 Ballet step
50 Folks at ease?
54 Coup d' —
56 Offered a view
57 Of a demesne
61 Gimlet
62 Yemenites
64 Pale tan
65 The — of March
66 Northern French city
67 Zola heroine
68 Actor Beatty
69 Shoe parts
70 Baseball family name

DOWN
1 Information
2 Belongs to us
3 Bridge
4 Eskimo craft
5 Dissection
6 Far East queen
7 Happening
8 Theological inst.
9 Former Tomorrow host
10 Big Bear Mike
11 Recesses
12 Determinates
15 Be precise
20 Symptom
22 U.S. Open sponsor
25 Quietude
26 Broadway bomb
27 Pinto's gait
29 Copyist
32 Tends
33 Samovar
35 Doubting
36 A Turner
37 Diner sign
40 Permits
43 Leveret
45 Red pitcher Mario
47 Heroes rewards
50 Sign of spring
51 Lyric poem
52 Worn down
53 Petite
55 Bullring
58 Competent
59 Florence's river
60 Kauai get-together
63 Wayne's — Bravo

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

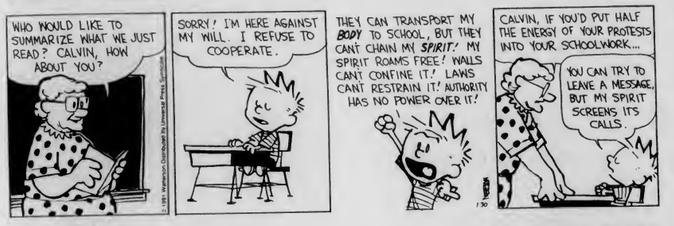
P	A	I	D	■	S	A	V	O	Y	■	A	P	I	S
A	C	R	E	■	P	I	A	N	O	■	W	I	R	E
C	H	A	R	L	E	S	L	A	U	G	H	T	O	N
T	E	N	N	I	L	L	E	■	R	I	A	N	T	■
■	■	■	A	L	E	■	C	O	A	L	■	■	■	■
A	B	B	E	S	S	■	C	O	N	S	E	N	T	S
L	A	L	O	■	A	R	I	E	S	■	I	A	N	■
L	I	O	N	E	L	B	A	R	R	Y	M	O	R	E
I	R	K	■	N	O	U	N	S	■	O	B	O	E	■
E	D	E	N	T	A	T	E	■	C	A	D	E	T	S
■	■	■	A	R	M	S	■	B	U	N	■	■	■	■
B	R	A	C	E	■	■	D	I	N	I	E	S	T	■
L	A	U	R	E	N	C	E	O	L	I	V	I	E	R
E	L	B	E	■	I	R	A	T	E	■	A	R	G	O
D	E	F	D	■	P	O	L	A	R	■	N	E	O	N

1/30/91



"1991 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 1/30/91

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



WHO WOULD LIKE TO SUMMARIZE WHAT WE JUST READ? CALVIN, HOW ABOUT YOU?
SORRY! I'M HERE AGAINST MY WILL. I REFUSE TO COOPERATE.
THEY CAN TRANSPORT MY BODY TO SCHOOL, BUT THEY CAN'T CHAIN MY SPIRIT! MY SPIRIT ROAMS FREE! WALLS CAN'T CONFINE IT! LAWS CAN'T RESTRAIN IT! AUTHORITY HAS NO POWER OVER IT!
CALVIN, IF YOU'D PUT HALF THE ENERGY OF YOUR PROTESTS INTO YOUR SCHOOLWORK...
YOU CAN TRY TO LEAVE A MESSAGE, BUT MY SPIRIT SCREENS ITS CALLS.

DILBERT
By SCOTT ADAMS

FREEZE!!! I'M A DOG CATCHER!
WHAT, NO COLLAR? YOU'RE GOING TO THE PUPPY PENITENTIARY, PAL!
YOUR HUMAN TURNED YOU IN?
HE DIDN'T THINK A PIT BULL SHOULD WEAR HIS HAIR THIS WAY.
© 1990 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Hamburger	Chicken Fajitas
Clam Roll	Kielbasa Dog
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
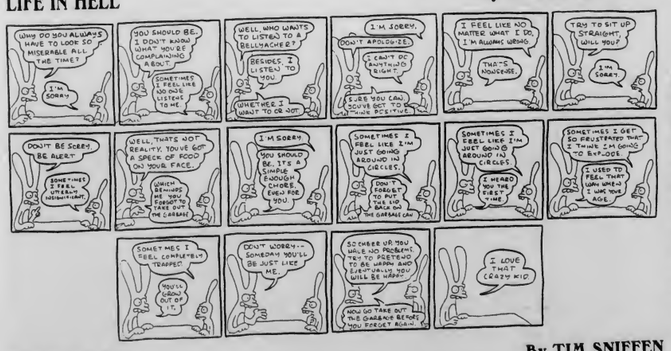
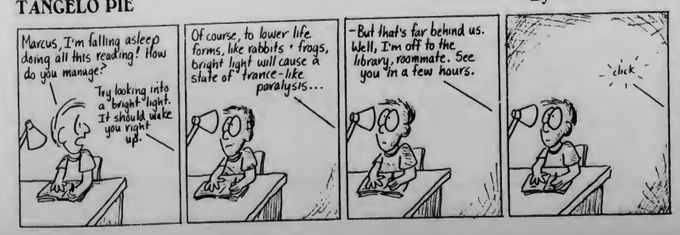
Oatburgers	Tofu Pattie
Clam Roll	Chicken Fajitas

LIFE IN HELL
By MATT GROENING



WHY DO YOU ALWAYS HAVE TO LOOK SO MISERABLE ALL THE TIME?
I'M SORRY
YOU SHOULD BE. I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE COMPLAINING ABOUT.
SOMETIMES I FEEL LIKE NO ONE LISTENS TO ME.
WELL, WHO WANTS TO LISTEN TO A BELLYACHER?
BESIDES, I LISTEN TO YOU.
SOMETIMES I WANT TO OR NOT.
I'M SORRY.
DON'T APOLOGIZE.
I CAN'T DO ANYTHING RIGHT.
I FEEL LIKE NO MATTER WHAT I DO, I'M ALWAYS WRONG.
SURE YOU CAN. SOMEBODY'S GOT TO STAY POSITIVE.
THAT'S NONSENSE.
TRY TO SIT UP STRAIGHT, WILL YOU?
I'M SORRY.
DON'T BE SORRY. BE ALERT.
SOMETIMES I FEEL UTTERLY INCOMPETENT.
WELL, THAT'S NOT REALITY. YOU'VE GOT A SPECK OF FOOD ON YOUR FACE.
WHICH REMINDS ME. YOU FORGOT TO TAKE OUT THE GARBAGE.
I'M SORRY.
YOU SHOULD BE. IT'S A SIMPLE, BUDGET CHORE. EVEN I'D ENJOY DOING IT.
SOMETIMES I FEEL LIKE I'M JUST GOING AROUND IN CIRCLES.
DON'T FORGET TO PUT THE LID BACK ON THE GARBAGE CAN.
SOMETIMES I FEEL LIKE I'M JUST GOING AROUND IN CIRCLES.
I HEARD YOU THE FIRST TIME!
SOMETIMES I GET SO FRUSTRATED THAT I THINK I'M GOING TO BURST.
I USED TO FEEL THAT WAY WHEN I WAS YOUR AGE.
SOMETIMES I FEEL COMPLETELY TRAPPED.
YOU'LL GROW OUT OF IT.
DON'T WORRY! SOMEDAY YOU'LL BE JUST LIKE ME.
SOMEWHERE, YOU WILL NO PROBABLY TRY TO PRETEND TO BE WARM AND FRIENDLY. YOU WILL BE HARDLY.
NOW GO TAKE OUT THE GARBAGE BEFORE YOU FORGET AGAIN.
I LOVE THAT CRAZY KID

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN



Marcus, I'm falling asleep doing all this reading! How do you manage?
Try looking into a bright light. It should wake you right up.
Of course, to lower life forms, like rabbits + frogs, bright light will cause a state of trance-like paralysis...
-But that's far behind us. Well, I'm off to the library, roommate. See you in a few hours.
click

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A scholarly saga gets the attention you have been seeking. A financial blockbuster is possible! Family differences could slow progress. Romance is sweeter the second time around.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Lighten up and everyday life will become more rewarding. In business, rely on yourself more than your friends. You will vanquish an opponent if you use your brain.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Make certain your name is synonymous with excellence and sales will improve. Those in the arts could benefit from a government grant. New technology helps you do more and earn more.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A visit to the bank or an accountant will give you the answers you need. Save for the future. Do not be tempted to gamble on what friend calls a "sure thing."

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): The patterns you set now will let you attain important goals later on. A financial situation can be improved if you listen to advisers. Something special comes out of a social event.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Expand your repertoire, and people who have wealth and power will begin to help you. You may want to work with different supplies. A community project brings you together with a loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Get the complete picture and make up your own mind. Cutting corners is unthinkable. Invest in yourself. By creating a masterpiece, you will find both fame and contentment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your ship comes in! An outstanding purchase is possible. Your home can be easily beautified. Something you read or hear today sends your spirits soaring. Romance looks terrific. Dress to impress this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Snafus are possible at work. Use utmost care in correspondence and schedules. A serious issue demands prompt attention. It is within your power to impress those in authority.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A timely telephone call could lead to an inspiring meeting. Shared pursuits make romance more meaningful; be available. If red tape prevails, be prepared to move on.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your forces may be scattered now. Be careful not to push the panic button. Hot tempers can be can be contagious. Why not maintain a low profile? A telephone call revives a long-cherished hope.

PICES (Feb. 19-March 20): It will be easy to put your finger on what is wrong if you check things out for yourself! Your finances will improve if you heed expert advice. Group activities are favored tonight.

Hardly a dull moment in the year in music

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

I'm not going to go into what kind of year 1990 was, it was pretty self-explanitory. But I will say there was hardly a dull moment. Black people nearly went to prison for singing about private parts on a record, while a particular White man made millions for doing the same thing. Madonna, upon her discovery that divorce made her even hornier, finally got her hands slapped by MTV. And Milli Vanilli got their just rewards. Tension was turned into an art form, and it reflects this listeners ears' top ten list of 1990.

AP Photo

Luther Campbell of 2 Live Crew

1) Ride — Smile and Nowhere (Creation). The best thing to come out of England in years. To hell with all this Stone Roses/ Soup Dragons hype, this is a really impressive band! Each slab of vinyl they put out is worth more than ten times its weight in gold, which is pretty remarkable for a group who've only been together for a year and aren't even 20 years old yet. Highly reccomended!

2) Public Enemy — Fear Of A Black Planet (Def Jam). In what has to be one of the top ten records that ever hit the shelves, P.E assault the corruptors and address the real issues that have for years been deliberately shoved under the carpet. This record chews you up and spits you out, leaving you drained of any and all emotion. Powerful stuff!

3) The Boredoms — Soul Discharge (Shimmy Discs). Noise makers from Japan. It sounds like they took tons of acid, went into an 80 track studio and wrote the loudest and most talentless drivel ever in the history of music. This is a must for anyone who can fall asleep to Sebadoh (or anyone who hates their neighbors that much).

4) The Cows — Effette and Impudent Snobs (Reptile Anphetamine). Whatever possessed these guys to pick up instruments is beyond me, but I'm glad they did in any case! Not as brutal as on the ears as Soul Discharge, the first song off of this platter is remarkable, three and a half minutes of psycho sound. If their next record is as good as this one, I'll have to stop listening to the Gordons all the time. Cool, cool, mega-cool!

5)New Kids On The Block — Step By Step (CBS). Forget what I said about 'em earlier, NKOTB are a daring invention, and Step By Step is a dream come true. They can dance, sing, rap, inform, pose, fall through stages durring concerts, get the girls to scream, get the girls, drink beer and get fresh, spend money, and about a million other things I've always found characteristic of a great band. NKOTB are too good for kids. Underneath all of the pre-pubecent hype, this is a very grown up and intelligent record.

6) Cop Shoot Cop — The 7 (Vertical). Someone did the right thing and put these guys on a label. Perhaps the most disturbingly original band of the year, these people make the perfect 90's inner city dance music that you dance to in cheapo clubs with your gas mask on. Get a copy with the pigs blood on it.

7) The Jungle Brothers — Done By The Forces Of Nature (WB). A fine production by enlightened homeboys whom at one point made really silly house records. A very impressive and socially conscious slab of chrome that tied us over long enough until Fear Of A Black Planet was released, which then promptly blew it out off the face of the map.

8) Lush — Gala (4AD). While the majority of pretentious pop clones were falling in love with The Sundays, I was pricking up my ears to a two man/ two woman quartet called Lush. Their first EP Scar tops anything Throwing Muses ever considered putting out. Five beautifully written tunes about love and relationships. At times it's pristine and colorful, and at other times it's screaming and gut wrenching. This is the kind of harmless pop I'd like to hear on the upper end of the radio dial a bit more often. It's a good bargain too! Three EPs on a healthy sized disc.

9) Ice Cube — AmeriKKKa's Most Wanted (Profile). When Ice Cube left NWA because Eazy-E was too preocupied with ripping him off and singing about bitches and ho's, NWA dug their own grave. Ice Cube made that band, and with the exception of "Fuck The Police," every song on this album blows away anything he ever did with NWA. Ice Cube is angry, and here he blows off all the steam bottled up inside of him, and as a result the entire surrounding neighborhood goes up in flames with him.

10) Sonic Youth — Goo (DGC). Proof that if you really work at it, you can sign to a major label and still sound cool. Of course it doesn't live up to their classics Bad Moon Rising, or EVOL, but it's still intense. Urban decay at its best. The sound of yuppies looking for cheap apartments.

Bubbling under: Buffalo Tom — Birdbrain. I call it shit pop turned tasty. J Mascis just calls it the same old shit. The Velvet Monkeys — Rake. New York superscum write songs about Don Flemming's penis and take lots of drugs in the process.

Most Annoying Record of The Year: Sinead O'Connor. Listening to that record was like listening to nails scraping against a chalkboard for 48 solid minutes. So needlessly dramatic and dull.

And a big fk you to Andrew Dice Clay and 2 Live Crew. As an American I defend your right to be stupid. But be forewarned that there are some "bitches" and "faggots" out here who can and will kick your ass!

Trend prediction for 1991: Dancing to militant rap music in clubs with your gas mask on.

Have a good year and don't get too depressed by the war.

Photo courtesy Beggars Banquet/RCA

Buffalo Tom deliver crappy pop turned tasty, just add milk.

LSAT
GMAT
MCAT
GRE

LSAT classes begin Mar.10-Mar.25
MCAT classes begin Feb. 16-Feb.20
GMAT classes begin Feb. 7
GRE classes begin Feb.26
549-5780

Scholarships available
for financial aid students

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

WINTER SESSION
GRADE REPORTS
will be mailed to students' current local addresses the week of February 11.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

ACADEMICS: DATE
OTHERS WHO WORK
IN ACADEME
• Low-cost network serving Amherst and other areas in Northeast.
• Run by Ph.D.'s.
• Information is sent in a plain envelope; privacy assured.
Academic Companions•P.O. Box 193
Clinton, NY 13323

The INDIA HOUSE
RESTAURANT
Serving in the same location on State St. since 1984
DINNER for 2
$13.95 COMPLETE
ENTREES CHANGE DAILY
SUNDAY—THURSDAY
5 P.M. — 9 P.M.
45 STATE ST.
NORTHAMPTON, MA
586-6344

Lose 4" to 14" in one hour
Our Unique Program Helps:
•Restore elasticity to loose flabby skin •Lose unsightly cellulite
•Contour your body •Lose from problem areas
Bring a friend(s) special-$30 each
2 or more people (reg $40 each)
Styles by Deborah
The spa for hair and skin care
65 University Drive, Amherst
549-5610

Sullivan resigns as GM, Patriots, Kiam look on

By HOWARD ULMAN
Associated Press

CAMBRIDGE — Patrick Sullivan resigned last night after eight seasons as general manager of the New England Patriots and one month after they finished their worst season ever.

Sullivan, who survived several other occasions when his job was in jeopardy last season said, "Now is the time for both the Patriots and I look forward to an exciting future."

In a prepared statement, he said, "As always, I wish only the best for the New England Patriots now and in the future." The statement did not elaborate on the reasons for leaving with six years left on his contract.

But his duties had diminished since Sam Jankovich became the team's chief executive officer on Dec. 20 and was given complete control of the organization by owner Victor Kiam.

"The New England Patriots are grateful to Patrick Sullivan for his three decades of his contributions to the club," Kiam said.

Sullivan, 38, is the son of William H. Sullivan, Jr., the team's original owner when the franchise was founded in 1960. The elder Sullivan, beset by family financial problems, sold the team to Kiam in October 1988.

Pat Sullivan had been with the team since its inception, serving as a ballboy when he was eight years old. He joined the team on a full-time basis in 1976 and filled a variety of roles — ticket sales, stadium operations, publicity assistant, assistant general manager and others.

But the 1990 season was the worst in club history, as it lost its last 14 games to finish 1-15.

The Patriots ended their season on Dec. 30 with a 13-10 loss to the New York Giants, who won the Super Bowl on Sunday.

Sullivan's departure effectively ends his family's input into the organization. His father remains as club president in a largely ceremonial role.

"Given the countless hours of commitment on the part of my family to the New England Patriots," Pat Sullivan said, "it is difficult, at best, to contemplate the idea of leaving the organization.

"However, I have come to the conclusion that it is in the best interest of my family as well as the Patriots that I now move on. Additionally, I have always said that Victor Kiam has treated my father with an abundance of dignity and respect, and I intend to assure that relationship remains intact."

Sullivan's problems began on Sept. 17 when Boston Herald reporter Lisa Olson was sexually harassed by several Patriots in the team's locker room.

On Sept. 30, Kiam tried to suspend Sullivan. But NFL Commissioner paul Tagliabue told Kiam not to take any action until the league's special counsel had completed his investigation of the incident.

The counsel's report criticized Sullivan and Kiam.

On Dec. 12, with Kiam courting Jankovich to become the team's executive officer, Sullivan said, "I'm at the stage where my whole career is being judged on the basis of this one year and it's unacceptable to me because it's a reflection of my entire life."

After meetings involving Jankovich, Sullivan and Kiam, Jankovich became CEO on Dec. 20. At the time, Kiam said, "This is Sam Jankovich's era."

But Sullivan was retained as general manager, although his duties changed.

"I'm very excited about the way everything has worked out," he said at the time. "Every member of this organization needs some revitalization."

Jankovich and Sullivan reportedly agreed that if their relationship was not working, an agreement would be reached for Sullivan to leave.

The changes in the Patriots organization continued when Rod Rust was fired as coach on Jan. 4 and replaced three days later by Dick MacPherson, former head coach at Syracuse.

MANDATORY SPORTS STAFF MEETING at SPORTS DESK WEDNESDAY, FEB 6, 4 p.m.

NEW WRITERS/COLUMNISTS WELCOME

■ men's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

grabbed a career-high 14 rebounds.

The win cemented Temple's spot atop the A-10, and extended the Owls winning streak against UMass to 19 games.

'Zapped' by George Washington

The Temple game left the Minutemen physically and emotionally drained as they faced George Washington Saturday, described coach John Calipari.

"We didn't have the mental toughness. Temple just zapped us of the energy and enthusiasm we needed to get by George Washington. We were spent," Calipari said.

A 61-59 UMass loss was the result. The Minutemen led 30-26 at the half and by four, at 57-53, after a William Herndon jumper with 2:28 to play, only to get lapped at the end.

Sophomore Sonni Holland (game-high 26 points) hit a lay-up off an Ellis McKennie feed and followed a Rodney Patterson miss with a short jumper for a two-point GW lead with :29 left. Patterson sealed the win with a pair of free throws with nine seconds left.

A Rafer Giles layup at the buzzer shrank the final margin to two.

Return to form vs. Holy Cross

A return to the Cage after a two-game skid, a return to an up-and-down the court offense, and the return of a boisterous student body from winter break added up to a 98-94 win Monday night over non-conference Holy Cross.

The Minutemen pushed the ball up the court at every chance, and it paid off. Herndon's team-high 23-point outing included a bushel of easy baskets in the open court, as all five UMass starters finished in double figures.

"The George Washington game showed us that we're not going to win playing a halfcourt game," Calipari said.

"Part of our problem is that we haven't been running. We haven't been pushing the ball and getting enough shots off. When you get in the league sometimes you get a little conservative . . . We've just got to worry about playing our way, and if that's good enough to win, fine."

The win helped soothe the team psyche as well. Said Herndon, "It was important to see if we were going to fold, or try to win the Atlantic 10."

As they were unable to do in losing close games to Rutgers, Penn State, Temple and George Washington, the Minutemen took over in the final minutes.

The Crusaders, down 96-90 with :36 to play, forced the Minutemen to win it at the line. The Minutemen went the final 3:30 without a field goal but hit 11 of 16 free throws, including a pair by Giles with three seconds left, to seal the win.

"Our team gets teams down, and they just won't step on them. We should have been up 15 at halftime," Calipari said. "But the good news is we played good down the stretch . . . We needed to play another close game and win one."

Collegian photo by Eric Goldman

Minuteman Rafer Giles retains possession of the ball and shows other skills against Duquesne during an Atlantic 10 Conference game this January during winter break.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON — THURS 8:30-3:30 ● DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION ● CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

MODEL U.N. Attn. Harvard Delegates! Meeting 7PM tonight Campus Center Concourse -Mandatory- Updates have arrived. Call Chris 6-2632 or 6-3799.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3-CREDIT RECYCLING COURSE TuTh 9:30-10:45 153 Totman. Go to class to add or call Jim or Kathleen at 545-1153.

BED AND BREAKFAST- downtown ideal for visiting parents and friends- 549-0733.

BEST FUNDRAISERS ON CAMPUS! Is your fraternity, sorority or club interested in earning $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a one-week, on-campus marketing project? You must be well-organized and hard working. Call Christine at 800-592-2121.

CARIBBEAN- $169! Tha warmth of the Caribbean or Mexican coast for a week. RT Air Sunhtch + m 212-864-2000

HEY! Get your recycled note pads loose-leaf and spiral notebooks at the Residential Recycling Program Table on the Campus Center Concourse. All proceeds benefit the expansion of the Recycling Program in the Residence Halls. Call S-1153 for more info.

MAKE A DIFFERENCE! Volunteer with the Residential Recycling Program Bottles and Cans Pilot Project, Recycling Runs Education and the Blue Box Brigade! Sign up at this Recycling Table on the concourse or come to the first volunteer meeting on Thurs Jan 31st from 6:30 to 7:30 P.M. in Campus Center Room 811. For more info call 545-1153.

AUTO FOR SALE

IS IT TRUE.....Jeeps for $44 through the U.S. Gov't? Call for facts! 504-649-5745 Ext. S-598

CHEN STYLE TAI CHI

COME LEARN THIS earliest form of T'ai Chi which features slow/fast, soft/vigorous, empty/solid movements. Class begins Feb 5 and 7. Call 253-4057.

COLLEGE PRO PAINTERS

IS SEEKING highly motivated UMass Students who would like the opportunity to earn $10,000 this summer running their own painting business. No previous painting experience is required and all majors are welcome to apply. There will be an informal information session on Tuesday Feb 5 at 7PM in Campus Center room 811. For more details call 1-800-346-4649.

FOR RENT

FREE color television or large microwave with this signing of a twelve month lease. 2 and 3 bedroom apartments on free bus route with swimming pool. 6 month leases available. 665-3856.

LARGE ROOM with walkin closet available Puffton Village. 268 month includes heat and H20. Call: 567-3827. Ask for Lynda.

HELP WANTED

APPLICATIONS now being accepted at Admissions Center for Tour Guides, Student Admissions Representatives and Summer Counselors.

DREAM JOBS NOW! Spring/Summer want a paid vacation in paradise? Hawaii, Calif., Fla., Cruise Ships, Nati Prks and more. 100's of address/tel.-s guaranteed. Call 1-900-226-2644 $3/min.

EARN $500-$1500/WK part-time, stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. Box 4645 Dept P145 Alburquerque NM 87196.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA ect. Now hiring Call 1-805-962-8000 Ext. K-9616.

LOVING, DEPENDABLE PERSON to care for adorable 2 and 4 year old girls. MWF AM. Own car required 549-6318.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B-281.

NATIONAL MARKETING FIRM seeks mature, student to manage on-campus promotions for top companies this school year. Flexible hours with earning potential to $2,500 per semester. Must be organized, hardworking and money motivated. Call Christine at 800-592-2121.

ON-CAMPUS FUNDRAISER
Needed: Organized and industrious fraternity, sorority, or student group to earn hundreds of dollars for an on-campus marketing project. Call 1-800-NOW-POST.

SELF-EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY! Earn cash distributing credit card applications on campus. Positions available for table and/or posting reps. Call Collegiate Poster Network Today at 1-800-869-7678.

SEVERAL ENVIRONMENTALLY conscious individuals needed to help promote emfissions reducing product as part of national clean air campaign. Experience in PR/Marketing. Helpful-Training provided 15-30 hrs per week, good pay and rewarding bonus prg. and travel benefits. Not canvassing, call 9-12 pm and eves- 9pm 586-7583.

WANTED: Spring Break Sales Reprasentatives. Excellent opportunity to earn money and free trips, work flexible hours and acquire useful work expeariance. Call Horizon Unlimited Travel. 800-232-3999.

WE NEED SELF-MOTIVATED STUDENTS Earn up to $10/hr. Market credit cards on campus. Flexible hours. Only 10 positions available. CALL NOW 1-800-950-8472 ext.20 AL

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT learn to Scuba Dive. Basic Classes held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday 7-10PM in Curry Hicks Pool. Open Water II class held during Spring Break in Kay Largo, FLA. Advanced Class held in New England in April. For further information call 549-8401, or drop by Curry Hicks starting 2/4/91.

GUITAR LESSONS with Doug Hewitt. Rock, Blues, Folk, Acoustic or Electric. Improv., Theory, Reading, Songwriting, many new songs -plus singing. Studio on 3 bus lines. 549-1938.

LOST

STOLEN from Hicks last semester- 2 gold chains, locket, opal ring, jewish star. Please call. They have santimental value. 546-5323.

MICHELLE MONTEITH

CONGRATULATIONS to Ms. Michelle Monteith- Winner of two round trip Continental Tickets in our "Grand Get To Know You" Raffle. Come to Campus Travel for your prize. Thanks to everyone else for entering- Watch for our Spring Break Raffle! Campus Travel 545-0500 Welcome Back!!!

PERSONALS

BETH- No one is happier to have you back than I -Love, Brad

 HELLO AGAIN ***
to the roomies and neighbors! Get ready for Spring Semester & avoid all forests!!
Love Me

INTERESTED in Christian Fellowship? The Alliance Christian Fellowship welcomes you! More info: Jim or Beth 253-7206

IF WE WEREN'T
Largest College Daily
in New England
WOULD YOU BE READING
THIS RIGHT NOW?

SPORTS

St. Joe's claws Minutewomen to 69-48 loss

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Eric Goldman

UMass' Jessica Schusler scored an unprecedented 15 points in 15 minutes, but to no avail as the Minutewomen fell to St. Joe's Hawks, 69-48, last night in the Cage.

In Philadelphia, there's a saying about St. Joseph's University sports teams that goes, "The Hawk never dies."

Last night at Curry Hicks Cage, the Hawk survived a strong first-half showing from the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team, pouring in 43 second-half points to defeat the Minutewomen 69-48 in an Atlantic 10 Conference contest.

"The tempo got away from us," UMass coach Kathy Hewelt said of the second half. "It got much faster, and that's not in our favor."

Other factors not in the Minutewomen's favor included Hawk guards Cindy Anderson and Katie Curry. They combined for 41 points, setting the pace for an increasingly aggressive St. Joe's.

Curry led all scorers with 24 points, including 15 in the decisive second half, while Anderson chipped in a career-high 17.

Hewelt was quick to credit St. Joe's second-half defense and Hawk coach Jim Foster for taking the Minutewomen out of their tempo.

"He came out and started pressuring us man-to-man," Hewelt said. "We had trouble."

There was every reason to believe in the early going that the Minutewomen, now 0-17 overall and 0-9 in the A-10, looked unorganized on defense and had problems finding the bottom of the net, UMass was hustling everywhere and executing their offense efficiently.

"We were stagnant on offense in the first half," said Foster said, "and we had didn't adjust well to their offensive sets."

Jessica Schusler led UMass with 15 points in an unprecedented 15 minutes of play. Cherrie Muza scored all six of her points in the first 10 minutes to give UMass a 16-8 lead.

Then Curry and Anderson took matters into their own hands to bring the Hawks, now 11-7 overall and 5-4 in the A-10, back into the game. Curry awakened her teammates by canning a three-point shot with three seconds remaining on the shot clock. Anderson followed with a three of her own and a jumpshot to make the score 18-16.

Two Curry jumpers later, the Hawks had taken a 20-18 lead.

The Minutewomen responded, closing the gap to 26-24 at halftime courtesy of a Schusler jumper and a Maleeka Valentine lay-up made possible by Schusler's steal.

St. Joseph's, 69-48

St. Joseph's (69): Dougherty 1-1 O-O 2; Balaban 1-2 O-O 2; Brink 5-12 2-2 13; Anderson 7-11 O-1 17; Curry 11-21 1-2 24; Harmon 1-3 O-O 2; Bostick 3-5 O-O 6; Codner 1-6 1-2 3. Totals 27-60 4-7 69.
Massachusetts (48): Kristofik 1-3 O-O 2; Ireland 2-12 2-5 6; Muza 3-8 O-1 6; Schusler 5-8 1-1 15; Hessel 1-1 O-O 2; Moran 1-3 O-O 2; Valentine 2-4 O-O 4; Nevarez 1-3 O-O 2; Pemberton O-O O-O 0; McCusker 3-3 1-2 7. Totals 21-45 4-9 48.
Halftime St. Joseph's 26, Massachusetts 24. Three-point goals Anderson (3), Schusler(2), Curry. Fouled out Kristofik. Rebounds St. Joseph's 29 (Dougherty 5), Massachusetts 34 (Ireland 7). Assists St. Joseph's 16 (Anderson 4), Massachusetts 12 (Valentine, Ireland 3). Total fouls St. Joseph's 14, Massachusetts 14. A - 115.

UMass exchanged leads with the Hawks for the first four minutes of the second stanza, taking a 31-30 lead on two Lisa Ireland free throws. Those free throws were the last points UMass would score for close to seven minutes. The Hawks came out of their 3-2 zone and slapped a full-court man-to-man defense on UMass, causing turnovers and mistakes.

Foster credited his defense with fueling the Hawk's offense, as well.

"In the second half, we came out and played pressure defense, and the defense keyed the offense," he said.

Anderson and Curry took charge for St. Joe's. When the smoke had cleared at the four minute mark, St. Joe's had outscored the Minutewomen 26-9 over a 12 minute span. UMass was never closer than 15 points for the remainder of the contest.

"The defensive change really bothered us a great deal and we didn't step up," Hewelt said. "That's when they made a great run and we didn't have enough gas to counter that."

The Minutewomen next face George Washington University this Thursday in Washington, D.C.

Game Notes: Last night's contest marked the return of UMass center Keyburn McCusker. McCusker, who had suffered a spiral fracture of a finger against Duquesne over winter break, was cleared to play yesterday, according to UMass assistant coach Louise McCleary.

Men's basketball still on the A-10 rebound

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The goal is still to reach the NCAA tournament, and the goal is still within reach.

But a pair of losses last weekend at Temple and George Washington dropped the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team from second to fifth place in the Atlantic 10 and put the Minutemen in a hole. UMass is now 12-6 overall and 6-4 in the A-10.

As UMass' Jim McCoy explained it,"We're going to have to beat somebody we shouldn't in the Conference, like Rutgers at Rutgers [Feb. 24], if we want to be in it at the end."

The Minutemen have eight A-10 games left — five against teams above them in the standings — in which to jockey for the best possible position heading into the A-10 tournament. The tournament's winner collects an automatic bid to the NCAAs.

Loss at Temple

Vic Carstarphen clanked home a 12-foot, off-balance jumper with :02 on the clock to lift the Owls, who trailed by as much as 11 points in the first half, to a 55-53 win Thursday at McGonigle Hall.

UMass was on fire early. The Minutemen raced to a 22-12 lead with a 9-2 run capped by a Rafer Giles three-pointer. The Minutemen harassed the Owls into shooting 32 percent from the floor and took a 36-29 lead into the locker room at halftime. Harper Williams had five rebounds and three blocks in the half, and Tony Barbee scored nine points.

Then the Owls unleashed a half-court press on the Minutemen in the early moments of the second half, and the game turned.

Mark Macon hit a lay-up, four free throws and stole a pass as Temple knotted the score at 36 less than two minutes into the second half.

The Minutemen righted themselves momentarily, surviving a pair of dunks by Temple forward Mark Strickland and reclaiming a 44-42 lead on a Harper Williams hook with 11:20 to play.

The game swayed back and forth, with neither team building more than a two-point lead from that point until Carstarphen's game-winner at the final buzzer.

Macon finished with a game-high 17 points, but shot a glaring 5 for 21 from the field along the way. McCoy led UMass with 13 points, and Barbee had 12. John Tate

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

Atlantic 10 Men's Basketball Standings

(as of 1/28/91)

Team	Atlantic 10 Record	Atlantic 10 Pct.	Overall Record	Overall Pct.
1. Temple	8-1	.889	14-4	.778
2. West Virginia	6-2	.750	10-6	.625
3. Rutgers	7-3	.700	12-6	.667
4. Penn State	5-4	.556	12-6	.667
5. Massachusetts	6-4	.600	12-6	.667
6. Rhode Island	5-5	.500	9-9	.500
7. George Washington	4-5	.444	10-7	.588
8. Duquesne	4-5	.444	6-11	.353
9. St. Joseph's	3-8	.272	6-12	.333
10. St. Bonaventure	0-11	.000	4-15	.211

Gymnasts to host Springfield

By ADRIEN MATT
Collegian Staff

Although they beat them soundly last year, the University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics coach Roy Johnson does not want to sound too cocky.

"We're not taking them lightly," he said of Springfield College. The Minutemen host SC in their home opener at 7 p.m. tonight in Boyden Gym.

The team has met Springfield already this season during a tri-meet held at Navy. Johnson said two of Springfield's best performers were out due to food poisoning and that two others performed even though they suffered stomach pains the night before the meet.

"I will expect a much better team tomorrow night," Johnson said of SC's performance. "They could score what we usually do, the 260 [point] range."

Despite losing three key starters, co-captain Mitch Hall, co-captain Bill Sayman, Rob Thomas, Dave DiNucci, Steve Christianson and Any Sullivan all return. Joe Haran, Glen Stubbs, Tim Sullivan and Adam Gould will compete as freshmen.

DiNucci and Haran will compete as all-arounds and Tim Sullivan will compete in five of the six events. Haran won the Mass. State Championship title as an all-around competitor in high school.

Springfield performers Johnson will be watching include Ricardo Portalatin and Rick Hoag. Johnson said the two had impressive scores at the Navy meet.

Collegian file photo

UMass gymnast Andy Sullivan shows strength and concentration while competing on the still rings. The team will host Springfield College at their home-opener at 7 p.m. tonight in Boyden Gym.

Largest College Daily in New England

THE MASSACHUSETTS Established in 1890

DAILY COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1991 ISSUE 72

US Marines killed in first ground combat

By EDITH M. LEDERER
The Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — U.S. Marines fired anti-tank weapons and called in air strikes to repel a three-pronged attack by tank-led Iraqi forces yesterday. Eight to 10 Marines were killed and heavy Iraqi casualities were reported, U.S. military officials said.

The Marines were the first American ground forces to die in battle in the two-week-old war with Iraq. The clash, which started Tuesday night, began when Iraqi tanks were spotted moving into Saudi Arabia and was the heaviest ground fighting so far in the Persian Gulf War.

By late afternoon, about 50 Iraqi troops in armored personnel carriers were holding the central part of the Saudi Border town of Khafji, U.S. Marines and Saudi troops deployed on the outskirts said. It was the first time Iraq held any Saudi territory since the war began.

As the ground battle broke out, air-sea clashes were reported in the gulf, and bomb-laden allied warplanes thundered off runways in Saudi Arabia to strike targets deep in Iraq.

A Pentagon source characterized the Iraqi ground action as a "probing attack" aimed at assessing allied strengths and weaknesses.

Reports from Marines on the ground spoke of the street fighting in Khafji. Marine Lt. Col. Cliff Myers described the fighting as "hellacious" as the Marines battled Iraqis in the moonlight in freezing temperatures.

About 20 Iraqi armored vehicles were destroyed and 25 Iraqi soldiers were reported captured, according to pool reports.

Marines in a small weapons and scouts platoon said the two sides exchanged artillery and small arms fire throughout the day. The Iraqi forces also fired rockets toward the rear positions of the allied units around the city, the Marines said.

Platoon commander, Lt. Michael Ragoza, 26, vowed the allies would push the Iraqis out of Khafji. "If they control the town for the moment, it's only going to be for the moment," he said.

The battle began about midnight when a small Iraqi force crossed the Kuwait border into Khafji, where they were engaged by troops from the tiny gulf state of Qatar. The Qataris destroyed two Iraqi tanks and took 10 prisoners, preliminary reports said.

The heaviest fighting was right at the Saudi-Kuwait border, according to the pool dispatches by reporters in the area. They said when the Iraqi assaults began the allies had troops patrolling Khafji but there were no soldiers stationed in it.

Marine units from the 1st Marine Division rushed to the outskirts of the deserted border town and began lobbing artillery at the approaching Iraqis, pool reports said.

Marines also apparently engaged a larger Iraqi force with TOW-firing vehicles and air support from Air Force A-10s, Marine A-6 bombers and Marine AH-1 Cobra attack helicopters.

The Marines then pulled back and Saudi soldiers were sent in to take over the fighting, a senior U.S. military official in Riyadh said.

A third Iraqi incursion began around noon today as a force of up to 80 Iraqi armored vehicles and 3,000 to 4,000 men approached Saudi positons, pool reports said.

By mid afternoon, some Iraqi soldiers remained holed up in Khafji, and the Saudi troops were "trying to talk them into surrendering," the U.S. military official in Riyadh said.

The Marines lost two armored vehicles in the battles, and the Iraqis lost 20 T-55 tanks and armored personnel carriers, Marine officers told pool reporters. Myers said much of the Iraqi armor was destroyed by TOW anti-tank missiles fired by Marine ground units.

AP photo

BACK AT BASE — U.S. flight crews arrive back at their air base in the Persian Gulf last week after bombing raids against Iraq last week.

Duffey wanted?
Chancellor a finalist at A.U.

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

President-Chancellor Duffey is one of four finalists for the presidency of American University in Washington D.C., The Boston Globe reported Tuesday.

Duffey, who last year became president of the University of Massachusetts, a three-campus system, would not comment on the report. He has been chancellor of the Amherst campus since 1982 and also oversees the Worcester and Boston campuses.

He is married to Anne Wexler, a top lobbyist in Washington.

Top UMass administrators said they had no information regarding Duffey's alleged candidacy but recall-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Collegian file photo

President-Chancellor Joseph P. Duffey

Faculty discuss effects of oil spill

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

The vast quantities of oil pumped into the Persian Gulf last week — now considered one of the greatest ecological disasters of all time — has caused damage to wildlife, water, and the coastline, said several University of Massachusetts scientists and professors.

Iraqi troops reportedly started releasing oil from tankers docked in Kuwait and a pipeline on the shore around Jan. 20, creating a spill 10 miles wide and 30 miles long. The spill contaminated the ecology for wildlife and water for the surrounding countries including Saudi Arabian desalination plants.

Steve Simkins, assistant professor of Plant and Soil Science, said the successful use of fertilizers on contaminated soil in Alaska from the Valdez spill will probably be used to help clean up the Gulf.

"A greasy fertilizer can be used when the oil washes up on the beach. It allows bacterial Fungi and microbes to eat the oil," he said. "It is much like when a person eats a hamburger. The body's bacteria breaks down the oil."

Tom Potter, who works at the Chenoweth lab, said oil that reaches the Saudi Arabian desalination plants could be harmful to the plants which use membranes to filter the salt water into fresh water.

Because water is such a scarce and important commodity in the area, polluting the supply will not only cause public health problems but also will complicate the war effort, he said.

In the years to come, the oil could cause more problems because it will probably be incorporated in the sediments which could include rocks, sand and silt, Potter said.

"For example, if a worm lives in the mud and feeds off of contaminated food, a fish could eat it and become exposed to contamination as well," he said.

Wildlife Research Unit, said there are several ways oil can impact surface and marine wildlife.

The spill yields two major effects, she said: the detrimental effects on the land and the chemical effects on the animals.

"Any wildlife in a food chain are likely to be affected by the spill," she said. "How much just depends on where the food is in their environment."

The oil spill will effect residential and migratory birds in the Gulf, which she said is considered an important area for migratory birds to stop.

"The effects of oil on reproduction can be devastating," she said. "There have been studies that showed that not much oil on the outside of the egg shell can kill the embryo. It depends on the amount and freshness of oil. Egg shells are porous and a lot of oil could suffocate the chick inside."

INSIDE:

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1991

Page 3: SGA to ask administrators to shut the student government down.
Page 7: President Bush addresses college students in a letter.
Pullout: You aren't ready for the weekend unless you've read our zany weekend pullout section.

WEATHER

No more puddle stomping! Morning clouds, possible flurries later in the day. Temps 35-40.

For Your Information

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31

Film — The Science Fiction Society will show The Yellow Submarine in the Campous Center Auditorium. Show times are 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The cost for the first screening is $1.50, and the remaining shows will cost $2.

Meeting — The Residential Recycling Program will discuss semester activites in CC 811 from 6:30 p.m. - 7:30 p.m.

Panel — Peace and World Securities hosts a Five-College faculty panel on the War in the Gulf at 8 p.m. in the main lecture hall of Franklin Patterson Hall at Hampshire College.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1

Dance — Iota Phi Theta is sponsoring a dance in the Campus Center Auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $4 for students and $5 for non-students.

Coffee Social — The LGBA coffee social will take place in CC 803 from 3 p.m. - 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Lecture — "Are You Ready for the Draft?" Speaker Bill Gavin of the American Service Committee will speak in Stern Auditorium, Amherst College at 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3

Teach-in and Discussion — "The Middle East Crisis" will be sponsored by the Student Activities Office, the Civility Commission and the Office of Human Relations in the Student Union Ballroom, from 7 p.m.-10 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Rush Fair — A Greek Rush Fair, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, will be in the Campus Center Auditorium from 6 p.m.-9 p.m.

Rush Orientation — The Panhellenic Council is sponsoring a rush orientatyion in CC 163C from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. Admission is free.

Teach-in — At Hampshire College in the East Lecture Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Community Forum — "The Relationship of the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict to the War in the Gulf," at Wright Hall, Smith College, 4 p.m.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4

Teach-in — Fanklin Patterson Hall, Hampshire College 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Call 549-6502 for more details.

Information Session — National Student Exchange will give an information session in CC 803 from 4 p.m. - 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Senior Portraits — Index will be taking photos in CC178 from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. The cost is $5/ sitting.

An Evening with Gentle George — sponsored by the Black Mass Communications project in Bowker Auditorium from 8 p.m.- 10 p.m. Admission is $2.

Colloquim — UMass Psychology Colloquim Committee presenst Dr. Travis Thompson and a presentation "Behavior Disorder: Environmental and Neurochemical Mechanisms" in Tobin 521B at 3:30 p.m.

Math Anxiety Workshop — sponsored by Counseling and Advising for Older Students, will be in LGRT 1634 from 4:30 p.m. - 6 p.m.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Service for Life, Prayer and Peace — a service will be held in Memorial Hall from 12 p.m - 1 p.m. for peace in the Gulf.

Lecture — Harold Jordan on "African Americans, Women, Gays and Lesbians in the U.S. Military" in the SBA Auditorium at 4 p.m. Sponsored by the STPEC, Women's Studies and African-American Studies Departments.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6

Movie — "Jacob's Ladder," will be sponsored by the Racquetball Club in the CC Auditorium. Show times are 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The first show will cost $2, the remaining times will cost $3.

Draft Counseling — Every Wednesday at the Unitarian Church at 7 p.m.

A memorial service for the late Richard Jones, a dance professor at the University of Massachusetts, will be held at 1 p.m. on Sunday, February 10 in Bowker Auditorium.

THE MASSACHUSETTS
DAILY COLLEGIAN
New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 19,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief ... Terry Starmer
Managing Editor ... Jody Gabin
Editorial Editor ... Jeremy Levinson
News Editor ... Gayle Long
Sports Editor ... Adnen Nait
Arts Editor ... Danielle Dowling
Photography Editor ... K.A. Burke
Black Affairs Editor ... Sondra Sutton
Women's Issues Editors ... Rua Kelly, Monique Tabon
Multicultural Affairs Editor ... Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor ... Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor ... Trystan Skeigh
Business Manager ... Susan George
Advertising Manager ... Dave Melnick
Finance Manager ... Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager ... Jim Winterbottom
Subscriptions Manager ... Stacy Rogers
Promotions Manager ... Marc Pruskin
Production Manager ... Nicole Dumas
Day Graphics Manager ... Jenn Burns

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business ... Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics ... Rory Evans

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor ... Nana Sacchetti
Copy Editor ... Yana Bazooo
Layout Technician ... Seth Kaye
Photo Technician ... K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor ... Seth Kaye
Typesetter ... Joanne Quimby
Production ... Lisa Jezowski, Steve Luhan, The Rickster, Nicole Dumas

ILLEGAL SUBSTANCES

100% COTTON SOLID SHAKER SWEATERS $29.50
Great Price, eh?
J·RICH CLOTHING FOR MEN
191 N. Pleasant St. Amherst 253-2013 M-Sat 10-6
22 Masonic St. Northampton 586-6336 M-Sat. 9-6, Thu til 9 Sun 12-5

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
Featuring the latest works from Valley area artists.
15 percent off selected items with this ad
REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
At the Carriage Shops
333 N. Pleasant Street
Downtown, Amherst
Hours:Sun.,Mon.,Tues.12-5
Weds.,Sat. 10a.m.-6p.m.
549-7373

USED & DISCOUNT PAPERBACKS IN MOST SUBJECTS.
FICTION, DRAMA, SCIENCE, HISTORY, PHILOSOPHY, RELIGION, ART, PSYCHOLOGY.
SAVE ON BOOKS
VALLEY BOOKS
199 N. Pleasant St.
Downtown Amherst.
M-F 10:30-5:30 Sat 10-5, Sun 12-5
256-1508 Visa/MC

THE GLOBE BOOKSHOP
fine new, used & children's books
European, art & literary periodicals
publisher's overstocks at 30%-80% off
special orders•out-of-print searches
Open 7 Days•Mon-Sat 9-9;Sun 10-5•38 Pleasant St., Northampton MA 584-0375•586-5838

WHAT A TRIP...
(only two minutes)
Hampshire Mall
Monday through Saturday 10 am-9 pm
Sundays 12 pm-5 pm
South Maple Street, Rte. 9, Hadley, MA
Information/Customer Service (413) 586-5700

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
THE RUSSIA HOUSE
starring
Sean Connery & Michelle Pfeiffer
Mon-Thurs.
One show 7:30
Fri, Sat, Sun
7:00 and 9:15

Styles By Deborah
The Spa For Hair & Skin Care
549-5610
65 University Drive•Amherst
FREE TANNING SESSION
With Any Salon Service And This Coupon
Expires 2-10-91
$3.00 Off
Professional Consultation and Style Cut
(Regularly $16.00 to $18.00)
First Time Customers Only
Expires 2-28-91
$5.00 Off
Any Perm, Facial or Highlighting
First time customers only
Expires 2-28-91
$10 Off Tanning Pkg. of 10 expires 2-28-91

ARE YOU EXPERIENCED IN COMPUTER SYSTEMS?
The Collegian is looking for a SYSTEMS MANAGER which requires an interest in computers, good communication skills, and a flexible schedule. Applications are available at the Collegian and must be submitted by Friday, February 8.
The Collegian is an E-O-E

LOCAL

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Washington Residence Hall in Southwest is slated to close next year for renovations.

Tower to close for renovations

By MARK HENSLEY
Collegian Staff

George Washington Residence Hall, one of five 22-story high rises in Southwest will close next year to undergo $1.2 million in renovations, including the installation of a sprinkler system, school officials said.

The residence hall, which houses more than 500 students, will be the second to receive the sprinkler system, which state regulations mandate must be installed in all high rise buildings by 1993, said Joseph Zannini, director of housing services.

A high-rise is classified as any building over 70 feet tall, he said. Eventually all eight high-rise dormitories in the Sylvan and Southwest residential areas will have the sprinkler system installed.

Washington residents or students who planned to move there will have to seek other options, but Zannini said housing services will offer assistance. Residents will not lose their seniority points and will be given first priority if they want to return after renovations.

"There is that natural resistance to moving and we understand that," he said. "We will give people all priorities possible."

A lower occupancy rate in UMass residence halls because of decreased enrollment is allowing housing services to do the work during the school year rather than in the summer, he said.

This is not only cheaper, but also is necessary because there are not enough summers left before the 1993 deadline to install the sprinklers in all of the high rises, Zannini said.

In the past, the occupancy rate averaged 97 percent over the school year, but Zannini said it is only 91 percent this year and is expected to be even lower next year.

Although contractors are not yet bidding on the job, Zannini said that the sprinkler system would cost $700,000 and that $500,000 would be spent on new carpeting, tiling and door refinishing.

Doing the cosmetic renovations at the same time as the sprinklers would be more efficient than closing down the dorm twice, Zannini said. Although state money had originally been allocated for the job, it is not available because of the state fiscal crisis. The cost will be taken out of the $82 increase in this year's housing services fee.

Because of the size of the project, housing services is not directly responsible for the work but is working with the University's building authority in designing the system.

Officers want University to take control of SGA

By MARC ELLIOT
and AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

In a desperate attempt to curb inefficiency they say has plagued the Student Government Association, the president and the student trustee said last night they will ask University of Massachusetts administrators to shut their government down.

The administration has the power to suspend the governing body, which include the Undergraduate Student Senate, residential area governments, the Student Judiciary, and the Board of Governors, which oversees the Campus Center.

SGA President Natasha Diephuis and Student Trustee Angus McQuilken, flanked by their top officers, including Senate Speaker Dan Chesnicka, said infighting and a lack of influence over campus policy has rendered the SGA useless and a commission, whose membership remained unclear, should be formed to restructure it.

"Campuswide issues, the issues that really affect all students on this campus, are left behind," Diephuis said. "I would like to stress that individual senators are not to blame for this, it is the structure that is to blame."

McQuilken said the SGA has no power over University policy because it is not recognized as a government by the UMass Board of Trustees, which oversees the University.

"As academic programs are slated for elimination our entire structure of undergraduate student governance plays no role whatsoever in the process of choosing which programs will be cut," he said.

They said they did not want their decision to affect registered student organizations and programming for residential communities and the Campus Center/Student Union by area governments and the BOG Program Council.

Students will continue to receive paychecks while administrators consider the proposal, said SGA Treasurer Karen Talbot.

The Senate overwhelmingly opposed the action last night after the officers announced their plans at the first weekly senate meeting of the semester. Many accused the officers of ignoring the wishes of both the SGA and the undergraduate community.

"These people, including Senate Speaker Chesnicka and Trustee McQuilken, said that they were going to defend the student government, work with the student government, and make it better. Now, they're trying to destroy it," said Sen. Guy Glodis (Commuters).

Sen. Jeff Turco (Brown) said, "The senate leadership has lost touch with the senate and the student body as a whole. The administration has consistently burnt them all year long and now they're going to turn to the administration that's been killing them all year and say 'we need your help.'"

Some senators, however, said they were happy with the actions.

"I'm proud of what they've done," said Bethany Coleman (Commuters). "I think it's about time that someone's done it. The administraton isn't all evil. They aren't out to grab student government, to strangle us. They want us to have a voice."

But Sen. Kevin Noonan (Johnson) said the SGA needs new leadership, not structure.

War always on his mind

Hoop player worries about brother in the Gulf

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

When the national anthem is played before Friday night's University of Massachusetts-Rhode Island men's basketball game at the Cage, some minds will wander.

A coach will think about his game plan. A police officer will bend over to tie his or her shoe. A fan will scan the crowd, looking for friends.

Anton Brown will think about his brother, Angelo, who is stationed in Saudi Arabia with the U.S. Army.

"It's on my mind a lot on the court and off the court," said Brown, a junior point guard on the UMass basketball team. "Every five minutes on TV you hear about the problems over there...My father tells me I've got to keep my mind on basketball and not really think about my brother, but it's not that easy."

Angelo Brown, 22, is a corporal in the Army. He has been in Saudi Arabia since August, maintaining motor vehicles used in the allied war with Iraq.

Though Angelo is stationed behind the front lines, he is not far from danger. Last week an Iraqi Scud missile directed at his location was knocked down overhead by a Patriot defense missile.

When his brother phoned home to Columbia, South Carolina from the Middle East Monday, he told their father "he's not getting too much sleep, because they're on alert almost 24 hours a day now," Brown said.

Angelo had once hoped to be home in time to attend the UMass-Temple game in late February, which now seems impossible. He will get to see his brother play on videotape; Saturday's UMass-Boston University game at the Cage will be shown on national television via ESPN.

"My father tells me I've got to keep my mind on basketball and not really think about my brother, but it's not that easy," Anton Brown

Their father, Clarence, who is a Vietnam veteran, plans to send Angelo a videotape of the game.

"I'm going to play real hard on Saturday night," Brown said.

It had already been a difficult winter for Brown before the war in the Gulf started in mid-January. At the start of preseason practice in October, Brown's grandmother died. Two days after Christmas, he tore ligaments in his knee and missed seven games.

"I was really close to my grandmother and I was dedicating my season to her. It was hard having her on my mind and playing basketball too. Hopefully nothing will happen to my brother. I don't think I'm ready for another tragedy."

Brown returned to action in early

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

US denies bombing two Iraqi towns sacred to Shiites

NEW YORK (AP) — To some religious believers, certain places take on a sanctity of their own. That's the case with some Muslim sites in Iraq, which that country claims were attacked. Allied officers bluntly deny it.

Involved are shrines of the smaller, touchier Shiite wing of Islam, historically in conflict with the greatly predominant, steadier Sunni branch. Baghdad radio said "blind malice" of attackers "reached its peak when they deliberately fired their malicious shells at the sacred sites" of Islam, arousing the "strength of holy anger" against the "criminals and murderers."

Iraq's charges, obviously intended to stir resentment among Muslim populations of countries allied with the United States, were firmly repudiated by U.S. officers. However, a town in the vicinity was damaged.

Marine Maj. Gen. Martin Brandtner told a news briefing in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, that reconnaissance flights over the area showed "no religious sites have been hit."

In Washington, Defense Department spokesman Pete Williams said, "We have examined very carefully the sites at both cities and have concluded without doubt that there was no damage to those shrines."

The two towns involved were Karbala and Najaf, both south of Baghdad. The U.S. military says weapons production facilities in those areas were targeted, but the shrines avoided. Cable News Network showed some houses damaged.

Najaf is the site of the tomb of Ali, assassinated son-in-law of Islam's founding prophet Mohammed, while Karbala is the site of the tomb of Ali's son, Husayn, a grandson of the prophet. Both are especially revered by Shiite Muslims.

Scholarly accounts say Shiites perpetuate a theme of persecution by Sunni opponenets, beginning with the rejection of Ali as the first successor to Mohammed. Shiites call Ali the "King of Sanctity."

Instead of him, however, Aou Bakr was chosen as Mohammed's successor, or caliph, regarded the viceroy of God, followed by Umar, then Uthman.

Ali eventually was elected in 656 but immediately faced a series of armed revolts, and in 661 was assassinated at Kufah in Iraq.

Shiite tradition says his body, at his wish, was placed on a camel and the place it knelt four miles away - at Najaf - became the burial place. Shiites call the shrine there "the wondrous place of martyrdom."

Kerbala is where Ali's son, Husayn, who also briefly held the caliphate, was killed in 680 in battle against a revolt fomented by the family of former caliph Uthman.

Husayn's tomb repeatedly was destroyed by Sunni rulers to "remove the focus of Shiite agitation" but was always rebuilt, according to the Concise Encyclopedia of Islam.

Clay from Karbala, considered sanctified by the "blood of martyrdom" is stamped into small cubes on which "Twelve-Imam Shiites," their main division, rest the forehead during prostration in prayer.

The main differences between Sunni Mulsims and the Shiites is that Sunnis adhere to no religious authority other than the heritage of Islamic law, while Shiites exalt superior personal authorities.

Highest of these at present are called ayatollahs.

An even more mystical authority is given by Shiite "twelvers" to 12 imams - Ali and his successors - considered channels of special graces essential to salvation and as redemptive intermediaries between man and God.

Such quasi-messianic overtones are alien to Sunnis, who see salvation as coming from direct submission to God without intermediaries. To them, the term "imam" simply means prayer leader.

Duffey

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

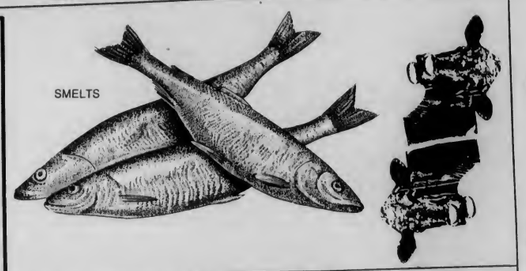
ed that this is not the first time Duffey has been recruited by another university.

In previous years Duffey has been a candidate for the presidencies of Northeastern University and the University of Delaware.

Several UMass administrators said they feared the fiscal crisis in Massachusetts higher education is encouraging administrators to look for out-of-state positions.

The news comes after the recent resignations of three administrators: Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis L. Madson, his assistant, William H. Weitzer, and Sherwood Thompson, director of the Office of Third World Affairs.

The administrators left for positions at out-of-state schools, but each said they did not resign because of the fiscal crisis here.



I'M WORKING IN GRAPHICS AND I CAN'T GET OUT

$2.00 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

PIZZA SUBS
Bruno's 193 MAIN ST AMHERST
SALADS LASAGNA
WE DELIVER QUALITY
call us at 256-0222
and WE'LL BRING LUNCH to YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!
Limited Area
FREE DELIVERY
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m.

$1.00 OFF ANY MEDIUM PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

FRIENDLY
...service,
...people,
...prices.
all under one roof.
Close to Brittany Manor and Riverglade
R&P PACKAGE STORE
505 West St. AMHERST 253-9742

Albion Bookshop
BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!
Why Pay Full Price?
We May Have What You Need!
Albion Used Books
Also...cash for your used texts and paperbacks
30 Main St., Amherst
Mon 9:30-6; Tues-Sat 9:30-9pm; Sun 12-5

What a profound philosophy:
Affordable Video Rentals
• Free memberships
• After hours drop slot
• Great prices on audio and video accessories
• VCR rentals—no deposit
• 3 day 2 night rentals
• Open everyday 10am to 10pm
AND MUCH MORE!
NEWS ARRIVALS
The Freshman
Hardware
Young Guns II
Die Hard II
Navy Seals
Delta Force 2
SOUNDS EASY VIDEO
The Intelligent Choice
Amherst 6 University Drive 549-5200
Greenfield 21 Mohawk Trail 772-2141
Northampton N. King St. Hamp Plaza 586-7260

$2 off per hour Mac Rental
$2 off per hour on self-service Macintosh* computer time rental. One coupon per customer. Not valid with any other offer. Expires 2/15/91
Open 24 Hours* 253-2543
220 North Pleasant Street
(across from Carriage Shops)
*Closed Saturday midnight until Sunday noon.
kinko's the copy center

WINNERS' ATHLETIC CLUB
Check Out Our New Student Special
Join Now and Get 1 Month Free
4 months for the price of 3
$130
Includes...
• Nautilus Machines • Lifecycles • Stairmasters • Ski conditioning • Club Cafe
• Aerobics • Liferowers • Saunas • Big Screen Satelite TV • Pro Shop
EXTRA VACATION BONUS
Become a member and recive a FREE vacation voucher. Stay a week in your own condominium (sleeps 4) anywhere you choose for only $295 per week!
Perfect for Spring Break
Call 549-4545
Rte. 116, Sunderland (Opposite Bub's BBQ, on Bus Route)
Open 7 Days • 7:00 a.m.-11:00 p.m.
CALL TODAY FOR A FREE TOUR!

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
ADVOCATE ★BEST★ THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1990
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style — especially for you!
FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•No MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

Soviet troops reportedly withdrawing from Lithuania

By JOHN DANISZEWSKI
The Associated Press

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. — Two convoys of Soviet troops left the Lithuanian capital yesterday and the republic's president said a withdrawal could set the stage for new talks between Moscow and the breakaway republics.

The death toll in the Baltics, meanwhile, rose to 20 when Jonas Tautkus, 20, died from a gunshot wound to the head he suffered a day earlier at a military checkpoint. Lithuanian officials said the apparent draft-dodger was shot when he refused to get out of his car; military officials said he was hit by a ricochet.

Soviet Interior Minister Boris Pugo said all paratroopers have already left the Baltic region and two-thirds of the "black beret" Interior Ministry troops had also been withdrawn.

Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis said Kremlin promises to remove at least some troops were a good sign, but Soviet forces still occupied Lithuania's buildings and a propaganda war was being waged against the republic.

Responding to President Bush's announcement that Moscow had conveyed a willingness to 'move away from violence,' Landsbergis said the United States should be wary of Soviet promises.

AEROBICS
MORE NAUTILUS
Computerized aerobic machines than any club in the Valley.
Stairmasters • Lifecycles • Gravitron • Biocycle • Treadmills
New • New • New • Life Rower • New • New • New
BETTER MASSAGE
Special suspended oak wood floor • Certified Instructors
• Bench Step • Low Impact • High/Low • Boxercise • Stretch
KARATE SAUNA
Total body conditioning plus the skill of selfdefense.
Largest full-time Karate studio in Western Mass.
AMHERST ATHLETIC CLUB 460 West St.
South Amherst 256-0080
KARATE HEALTH & FITNESS CENTER

PLEASANT ST. THEATER 27 Pleasant St./Northampton
Theater Office: 413-586-5828
The Most Controversial Film In Years!
Hidden Agenda
weekdays at 7 and 9:10
Friday at 5:40, 7:50 and 10
Sat and Sun at 3:30, 5:40, 7:50 and 10
"A COMIC MASTERPIECE!" Michael Rechtshaffen, HOLLYWOOD REPORTER
"HILARIOUS AND DELIGHTFUL!" Judith Crist
THE TALL GUY
MIRAMAX
weekdays at 7 and 9
Friday at 5:50, 8 and 9:50
Sat and Sun at 3:45, 5:50, 8 and 9:50

Council Travel
LONDON FRANKFURT PARIS SYDNEY TOKYO AMSTERDAM AUCKLAND HONG KONG
Cheapest Fares to •EUROPE
•ASIA
•AUSTRALIA/ NEW ZEALAND
Plus railpasses, international student ID, tours and much more. Ask for our free catalog
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St Amherst, MA 01002

HILLEL'S ONE CREDIT COURSES FOR SPRING 1991
All courses will meet in the Hillel House Conference Room
CONTEMPORARY JEWISH WOMEN WRITERS #403956–J.S.192E
Alternate Mondays, 7:00-9:00pm
Instructor: Rosemary Horowitz
Explore the writings of Ozick, Piercy, Rich, Paley, Kay-Kantrowitz, and others
BIBLICAL WELLSPRINGS OF ISRAELI POETRY #403658–J.S. 192C
Tuesdays 1:15 pm-2:15pm
Instructor: Yehudit Heller
Explore how ancient images speak to modern day experiences.
CALL 549-1710 for Information and Registration
FOOD, SEX, SABBATH, SPIRITUAL CELEBRATIONS #403507–J.S. 192B
Tuesday 2:30-3:30pm
Instructor: Rabbi Saul Perlmutter
This course will focus on the Jewish perspective about these basic life issues.
MIDRASH #404259–J.S. 192G
Tuesday, 7:00pm-8:00pm
Instructor: Rabbi Phil Cohen
We will study the ancient process of interpretation and have a chance to create our own midrash.
100 YEARS OF ZIONISM #403805-J.S. 192D
Alternate Wednesdays, 3:00-5:00pm
Instructor: Micha Balf (Kibbutz Rep. to N. E.)
This course deals with the ideas and struggles that led to the founding of the state of Israel through the events of the last decade with particular emphasis o the development of the Israel/Arab conflict.
READING THE BIBLE J.S. 192H
Thursday 1:15-2:15pm
Instructor: Ellen Robbins
Reading of the weekly Torah portion with Rashi's commentary in translation.

Paint the town Greek!
ΣΚ ΚΚΓ ΔΖ ΣΔΤ ΧΩ ΣΧ ΙΓΓ ΑΕΦ ΑΧΩ ΣΣΣ
Sorority Rush sun. Feb 3rd
Spring 1991 Orientation
Campus Center rm. 163
registration begins at 5:45 pm.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Will the winds of war bring with them a military draft?

With voluntary enlistments in the armed forces down sharply and the prospect of heavy casualties in the war with Iraq, reinstitution of the draft seems increasingly inevitable.

It is unlikely the current all-volunteer service can meet the staffing needs required by a permanent U.S. military presence in the region.

The Pentagon has already placed a ban on the release from active duty of all currently enrolled army personnel — including those volunteers whose tours of duty are scheduled to end in the months ahead. If voluntary enlistments do not increase soon, this form of compulsory service will inevitably be followed by a resort to the draft.

The apparent collapse of the all-volunteer service should not come as a surprise, given the underlying presumptions that kept it going since 1972. In essence, the service represents a marriage of convenience between the armed services and unskilled, U.S. youths: In return for several years' enlistment, recruits receive job training and acquire some technical skill in demand by the civilian economy.

The prospect of extended combat duty in a remote and inhospitable locale was simply never factored into the equation. Now that it has arisen, it is souring many active-duty soldiers on the merits of military service and is discouraging many more U.S. youths from volunteering in the first place.

Although Army enlistments were up slightly in August — reflecting the rally-round-the-flag atmosphere that followed Iraq's invasion of Kuwait — they have been dropping ever since. In September, Army enlistments were 28 percent lower than the projected figure; in October, they were down 24 percent; and in November, they were down a sharp 32 percent. The Air Force and Marine Corps have so far been able to meet their smaller recruitment targets for the period, but the Navy has also experienced a significant downturn.

Michael Klare

To reverse the decline, Army recruiters have been offering substantial bonuses — up to $6,500 — for those who enlist in such frontline combat units such as infantry, artillery and tank forces. These are the units that will probably suffer the highest casualties in the Gulf. Big bonuses are also being offered to potential volunteers in such war-related occupations as helicopter mechanics, chemical warfare specialists and mortuary personnel.

Current enlistees are also being told that if they enlist now, they will not be assigned to a combat unit for several months.

For now, Pentagon officials are insisting that a draft is not needed. "I've seen no discussion of reimposing the draft," Defense Department spokesperson, Pete Wilson avowed in November. But the Selective Service System is standing by in case it is called into operation, and officials say that the first draft notices could go out within days of a go-ahead order from President Bush and Congress.

Many military experts say a draft will be essential for the Pentagon to sustain a major ground offensive against dug-in Iraqi troops in Kuwait. "We cannot maintain the size of our commitment in the Middle East for much longer without running into problems of human endurance," former Secretary of the Navy James H. Webb, Jr. told the Senate Armed Services Committee in November. "Proper planning for a ground offensive should include an immediate call for the draft."

The racial composition of the all-volunteer service could also increase pressure for reinstatement of the draft. Overall, Blacks make up about 20 percent of all active-duty personnel, but their percentage is higher among the enlisted grades, especially in the Army and particularly in frontline combat units like the infantry and tank forces.

This means that African Americans — about 12 percent of the U.S. population — "could become 25 percent of the U.S. casualties in a massive ground conflict with Iraq," notes Edwin Dorn of the Brookings Institute in Washington. "This is a bitter prospect for those who believe that Blacks did more than their fair share of dying in Vietnam."

Even if Saddam Hussein does not hold on to Kuwait, a draft may be needed to sustain the administration's plans for a permanent U.S. military presence in the Persian Gulf.

Michael T. Klare is a Five-College professor of Peace and World Security Studies. This has been reprinted with permission of the Pacific News Service.

Glib rallying cries bore me

A complex world is very difficult for many of us to understand.

Understanding complexity implies that we have an inherent intelligence capable of reading, analyzing and studying data and reaching a conclusion based on rational judgement, not just knee-jerk reactions or prejudiced biases. If all that was too tricky for you to understand, then you must have already passed judgement on the War; and if so, then your opinion is going to be firm, resolute and unchangeable. I respect you for your ability to make decisions on what amounts to very little information.

Mark Adler

We need this war for two very good reasons. First of all, the conservatives need to rally around the flag again. It has been a long time since the United States has been at war. Now they can sing "God Bless America" with feeling. The simplicity of their outcries is annoying.

The second reason for the war is the void that the liberals have been feeling since the fall of Saigon in 1975. Remember the good old days of protesting and burning draft cards? Isn't it great! Now we can live out the stories that our parents tell us of their youth. However, the amazing thing about the Vietnam War protests, was that they were original. Nobody had ever done things like that before. As soon as the Gulf War started, all the closet liberals jumped on the "Make Love Not War" bandwagon, much to the chagrin of the Vietnam War protestors. By reducing the war to a simple slogan, these peaceniks have ruined the cause of those who truly have good reason to oppose the war.

Folks, nothing bothers me more than the two mottos of the War: 'God bless our troops!' and 'No Blood For Oil!' Hear me out: God never blesses people who kill. Using God to condone murder is not only unjustified, but it is also cheap. If one can't rationalize one's actions, then invoking God will not help. Now don't get me wrong. I fume every time I hear "No Blood For Oil!" "Hell no! We won't fight for Texaco!" or other witty slogans created some late night after too many bottles of cheap wine. If you want to convince me to oppose the war, then you should do just that, convince me.

No witty chant will get me to change my mind, one way or another.

Now is the time for all Americans to make valuable decisions based on facts and figures. So we, the self-proclaimed intellectuals, cry out for facts and information. Granted, it is very difficult during a war to gather accurate statistics, untainted by propaganda or military censors.

During the first forty-eight hours of the war, while our air force set out over Iraq and the first Scuds flew to Tel Aviv, I discovered that the fast-breaking events were inaccurate and hyped. I soon decided to skip the play-by-play and go out for beer.

I found it more effective to read about the news in the Times the next day. But I digress...

"Another Vietnam" is another quote I heard during January. It certainly won't be another Vietnam because it is not Vietnam. Nor is this World War Two. No matter how imperative Mr. Bush makes it out to be. It is dangerous to jump to comparisons. History is full of dissimilar events. In fact, the more we learn about the 'Persian Gulf War' the more we realize that we are not learning about the War.

Mark Adler is a Collegian Columnist.

"After all it's only love"

"I just wish gays didn't have to be so blatant," is a statement most homosexuals have heard at some point in their lives. It reflects an insensitive, hypocritical attitude held by some people who aren't yet open to the fact that affection and love exists in many, wonderfully different forms between human beings.

Many gay, lesbian, and bisexual students I've interviewed have mentioned being afraid to hold hands on campus. We're not talking about really heavy-duty physicality here—just the freedom to make a simple, quiet gesture of mutual affection. This is something most heterosexuals on this campus take for granted.

Trystan Skeigh

Reflecting upon this and last semester's crisis around the BOG's removal of two appointed LBGA seats and the related homophobic and heterophobic incidents surrounding the event, I thought about two New Year's resolutions for 1991.

The first resolution was about refusing to submit to the bigotry of social opinion that says some forms of love are acceptable and others are not. The love we feel toward our lovers, our friends, our families, is the same powerful force within all of us, regardless of whether we're straight or gay. The sources of our inspirations may differ, but the spirit of love is a constant that unifies us all.

The second resolution was to resist the temptation to counter homophobia with heterophobia. I don't believe two wrongs can ever create a right. Violence and anger just breeds more violence and anger.

In a book called Gay Spirituality, Roger Lamphear, a gay meditation teacher and healer, describes a life transforming experience in which he was confronted by a very angry, drunken neighbor who yelled threats at him from the doorway of a neighboring cabin while brandishing a rifle.

Lamphear felt that his life was endangered. He had already lost two friends to gaybashing incidents. Lamphear went upstairs and began to pray and meditate on love. He overcame his fear and anger toward the drunken man outside and was able to feel love for this person.

As Lamphear focused on sending love energy out, the drunk quieted. Lamphear believes that at that moment he directly experienced the power of love overcoming bigotry and hatred.

Like Lamphear, I too, have an abiding faith in the power of love to overcome anger and prejudice. Mahatma Gandhi believed that love was a greater revolutionary force than violence, as did Martin Luther King, Jr., who envisioned a world where people of all colors could 'sit at the table of brotherhood' together. I have a similar vision, but it includes people of different sexual orientations as well.

At the last BOG meeting of the Fall Semester, Ted Maravelias stood up and reminded everyone about a teaching by Jesus Christ.

Marvelias said that gays and straights needed to think about loving their neighbors.

I was very surprised and heartened by Maravelias' statement.

It served as a powerful reminder that both sides of that night's stand-off are capable of sensitivity and insight. Perhaps an impasse between the two groups can be avoided. It is certainly possible if everyone takes Maravelias' advice. Especially Maravelias.

As we usher in the new year and a new semester, I hope that students on this campus will commit to tolerance and compassion for each other. We all have many wonderful things in common. And our differences are just as wonderful. No one should have to feel condemnation for their sexual orientation. Like Holly Near sings in a beautiful song about gay love in a straight world: "Afterall, it's only love."

Trystan Skeigh is a Collegian staff member

Anyone who has had five columns printed and wishes a weekly or biweekly spot needs to attend the following meeting or notify Editorial Editor, Jeremy Levinson. 5:30 PM, Thursday, January 31 in the* Collegian*'s newsroom.

* * *

Work for the Ed/Op page! The editorial editor is looking for an associate editor and editorial cartoonists. Please come down to the* Collegian *and fill out an application.

* * *

All submissions to the Ed/Op page should be typed, double spaced and include a phone number. A letter is less than 50 lines and am column between 50 and 70. Get on it.

Bush reaches out to students and gets his hand bitten

• Good vs. Evil

If armed men invaded a home in this country, killed those in their way, stole what they wanted and then announced the house was now theirs — no one would hesitate about what must be done.

And, that is why we cannot hesitate about what must be done half-way around the world: In Kuwait.

There is much in the modern world that is subject to questions or doubts — washed in shades of grey. But, not the brutal aggression of Saddam Hussein against a peaceful, sovereign nation and its people. It's black and white. The facts are clear; the choice, unambiguous.

The terror Saddam Hussein has imposed upon Kuwait violates every principle of human decency. Listen to what Amnesty International has documented: "Widespread abuses of human rights have been perpetrated by Iraqi forces...arbitrary arrest and detention without trial of thousands...widespread torture...imposition of the death penalty and the extrajudicial execution of hundreds of unarmed civilians, including children."

Including children. There's no horror that could make this a more obvious conflict of good vs. evil. The man who used chemical warfare on his own people — once again including children — now oversees public hangings of dissenters. And, daily his troops commit atrocities against Kuwaiti citizens.

If we do not follow the dictates of our inner moral compass and stand up for life, then his lawlessness will threaten the peace and democracy of the emerging New World Order we now see.

I have been in war. I know the horror of combat. I tell you this with all my heart: I don't want there to be a war ever again. I am determined to do everything possible in the search for a peaceful resolution to this crisis — but only if the peace is genuine, if it rests on principle, not appeasement.

But, while we search for that answer, in the Gulf, young men and women are putting their own lives on hold in order to stand for peace in our world and for the essential value of human life itself. Many are younger than my own children. Your age, most of them. Doing tough duty for something they believe in.

Let me tell you about one of the soldiers over there, S.F.C. Terry Hatfield. He sent me a Christmas card. And, this is what he wrote: 'Mr. President, I just wanted you to know my soldiers and I are ready to do whatever mission you decide. Freedom as we know and enjoy has been taken away from another country and must be restored. Although we are separated from family, friends, loved ones, we will do what must be done...We stand ready and waiting. God bless you and the U.S.A.

Terry understands the moral obligation that has compelled our extraordinary multi-national coalition to make this stand in the Gulf. To look this terrorist in the eye and say: No concessions. To proclaim: No compromises. To bear witness by our presence to the fact that aggression will not be rewarded.

Terry waits thousands of miles from the White House, yet we share the same thoughts. We desperately want peace. But, we know that to reward aggression would be to end the promise of our New World Order. To reward aggression would be to condone the acts of those who would desecrate the promise of human life itself.

And, we will do none of this. There are times when we confront values worth fighting for. This is one such time.

Each day that passes means another day for Iraq's forces to dig deeper into their stolen land. Another day Saddam Hussein can work toward building his nuclear arsenal and perfecting his chemical and biological weapons capability. Another day of atrocities for Amnesty International to document. Another day of international outlaws, instead of international law.

I ask you to think about the economic devastation that Saddam Hussein would continue to wreak on the world's emerging democracies if he were to control one-fifth of the world's oil reserves. And, to reflect on the terrible threat that a Saddam Hussein armed with weapons of mass destruction already poses to human life and to the future of all nations.

Together, as an America united against these horrors, we can with our coalition partners, assure that this aggression is stopped and the principles on which this nation and the rest of the civilized world are founded, are preserved.

And, so let us remember and support Terry Hatfield, all our fine servicemen and women, as they stand ready on the frontier of freedom, willing to do their duty and do it well. They deserve our complete and enthusiastic support — and lasting graditude.

George Bush
President of the United States

• Double-talk and hypocrisy reign

In his recently published "Open Letter to College Students" President Bush has appealed for student support of the war in the Middle East on the simple basis of right versus wrong. His letter is insulting in tone; asking us to follow his command rather than question the issues surrounding the war. We are against the war and deplore the rhetorical tactics that he uses in attempting to win us over to his position.

First, Bush's use of facts from Amnesty International to support and justify his use of violence in the Gulf is inherently hypocritical. Bush says that we should go to war to stop Saddam Hussein's terrible violation of human rights. War is the most dangerous violation of human rights possible; for all sides. The United States government turned a blind eye to Hussein's use of chemical weapons against the Kurds while they were living within Iraq's borders. The U.S. government continues to support Apartheid in South Africa. The Bush Administration continues diplomatic relations with China, even after the brutal repression of democracy in Tiananmen square. President Bush says in his letter that "aggression will not be rewarded," however, we see it rewarded in countless situations when the aggression protects economic or political interests of the United States.

Secondly, President Bush's use of the word 'Peace' is a dangerous example of manipulative language. Bush says "we desperately want peace. But we know that to reward aggression would be to end the promise of our New World Order." How could a New World Order, founded on the ideals of peace and democracy, take for its first action the killing of hundreds of thousands of people?

Thirdly, we do not appreciate the President's condescending tone when he refers to S.F.C. Terry Hatfield's letter. He claims that "Terry understands the moral obligation that has compelled" our government to military action in the Gulf. Bush implies that Sergeant Hatfield is the model we should follow as young adults. The choice is simple: follow Bush's command or be unpatriotic.

In addition, Bush quotes Hatfield as saying "freedom as we know and enjoy has been taken away from another country and must be restored." Kuwait was a monarchy. The freedom that its people enjoyed was far from the kind of freedom that we have access to in this country. It is misleading for Bush to imply that the United States is acting on behalf of lost freedom that did not exist in the first place.

The underlying attitude of Bush's letter is that the United States is morally superior to other parts of the world. Bush states that by forcing Hussein's unconditional withdrawal "The principles on which this nation and the rest of the civilized world are founded are preserved." All nations of the world are not founded on the same principles. To enforce our principles globally is to deny the cultural differences that separate the United States from the Middle East. Bush further insinuates that since Iraq is not part of the civilized world, the saturation bombing of Baghdad is acceptable.

If the reasons for this war are not, as Bush argues, the defense of human rights, the preservation of democracy, or the curbing of "naked aggression," what are they? What are the economic reasons that the United States is in the Gulf? Is there any way to end our country's dependence on oil? Will winning a war with Iraq really stabilize the region? How will we police this area in the future? How many domestic programs will need to be cut to pay for this? What kind of message does this war send to other nations around the world? How is a democratic New World Order possible when Bush's motto is "no compromises"?

As students, we tend to agree with Bush's statement that "There is much in the modern world that is subject to doubts and questions — washed in shades of grey." However, he does go on to say that in this case, "It's black and white[an] obvious conflict of good vs. evil." Nothing can be reduced to black and white, especially war. We must examine the grey areas of this war in order to make our personal decisions.

The questions surrounding this crisis are confusing, difficult, and real. The issues of this war are not dead. The political, social, and economic implications of this war will extend far into our future. We must delve into these grey areas and keep the discussion of these issues alive in order to make that future a livable one.

Liana Baldonado
Students for a Counter-Perspective,
University of Calif. at Santa Cruz

Bush's gibberish reminiscent of Vietnam

When President Bush states that the war in the Persian Gulf will not be another Vietnam, and that the events there are being played out under a new world order, don't be fooled. Pax Americana it's not. The United States as a nation has apparently learned almost nothing from the mistakes in Southeast Asia, nor for that matter about armed conflict in the arena of the Middle East.

To begin with, just as President Johnson lied to the Congress concerning the Gulf of Tonkin, so too has President Bush distorted key issues involving Iraq. As Knut Royce points out in a recent Newsday article, Bush has consistently stated that:

David Holper

- Iraq's invasion of Kuwait was unprovoked.
- Iraqi President Saddam Hussein also planned to invade Saudi Arabia.
- Iraq used chemical weapons against its indigenous Kurds.

Royce debunks these myths in good order. To begin with, he points out that Iraq may have had very good reason to invade Kuwait. Prior to the invasion, Kuwait had been reportedly cheating on its Organization of Oil-Producing Countries quota, thereby costing Saddam Hussein billions of dollars. Considering Iraq's 15 billion dollar war debt to Kuwait, Saddam Hussein could not help but view Kuwait's tampering with OPEC pricing as overt aggression.

Royce also points out that the majority of Western intelligence sources (including the CIA's) agreed that Iraq's aggressive intentions went no further than Kuwait. Bush, however, ignored these estimates in favor of his own scenario, a scenario which now seems little more than posturing in order to launch an offensive strike against Iraq. Particularly ironic is how Bush has recently cited Iraqi atrocities in Kuwait, while he declined to comment on last year's Amnesty International report on the torture of children in Iraq.

Finally, Royce points out that the U.S. Army War College studied all the available information concerning the two apparent Iraqi attacks on the Kurds and concluded that, 'we find it impossible to confirm the State Department's claim that gas was used (late August 1988)."

But distorted administration claims aren't the only similarity between this war and Vietnam. For just as Presidents Kennedy and Johnson failed to understand the motivations, history, and culture of the Vietnamese (see Frances Fitzgerald's Pulitzer Prize winning book, Fire in the Lake), so too have the Reagan and Bush administrations largely ignored how Hussein has spent 22 years preparing his nation for such a war. In fact, they so misunderstood his goals and his desire for a Pan-Arabic coalition (under his control), they helped arm him.

Particularly disturbing has been Bush's current metaphor calling Saddam Hussein a Hitler. This comment in particular largely ignores the fact that Hafez Assad (our current ally!), Syria's President, comes from the same cookie cutter as his neighbor. What was the Reagan/Bush team saying when Assad slaughtered nearly 40,000 of his own people in Hama, Syria in 1982? Or for that matter what was the White House reaction when Israeli troops allowed Christian Phalangists to routinely kill approximately 1,000 Palestinians and Shiite Muslims in the Sabra and Shatilla refugee camps in Lebanon? Former President Reagan responded by sending in U.S. Marines, who were later blown to pieces for posing as neutral U.N. Peacekeepers while backing the Christians in a longstanding civil war!

Unfortunately, if anything has been learned by the current administration and the Pentagon about Vietnam, it's how to utilize a disinformation campaign by keeping the press corps clear of all military action, thereby shielding the public from the bloody truth of conflict, and replacing this truth with sanitized statistics about a hi-tech war. However, when the dust settles, force and lies alone will not restore balance in the Middle East.

As a citizen of the United States, I will not revel in watching President Bush and others learn these difficult lessons.

Dawid Holper is a veteran of the U.S. Army's Military Intelligence Corps, a UMass graduate student and TA.

War now or pay later

The occasional reference by some of our national leaders to the tragic series of events of the 1930s in Europe and Asia leading to World War II seems little understood by many of us today. Perhaps it's the lack of historical knowledge and understanding, recently well documented in a series of studies and surveys, that causes some to call for immediate withdrawal of Allied forces from the Persian Gulf and the subsequent appeasement of Iraq's dictator. But, for the student of history, the events of the late 1930s in Europe, cannot be forgotten. Fearing war, Britain and France, backed out of their committment to protect a small country and, in the Munich Pact, gave the western half of the country to Hitler. Events followed from there to what Winston Churchill refered to as "the most avoidable war in history." Gaining "peace in our time" in 1938, the world was a few years later engulfed in a catastrophe that took the lives of 60 million!

Following WWII, Winston Churchill wrote a history of that conflict: "It is my purpose, as one who has lived and acted in these days, to show how easily the tragedy of the Second World War could have been prevented; how easily the malice of the wicked was reinforced by the weakness of the virtuous; how the structure and habits of democratic states, unless they are welded into larger organisms, lack those elements of persistence and conviction which alone give security to humble masses; how, even in matters of self-preservation, no policy is pursued for even ten or fifteen years at a time. We shall see how the counsels of prudence and restraint may become the prime agents of mortal danger; how the middle course adopted from desires for safety and a quiet life, may be found to lead directly to the bull's eye of disaster. We shall see how absolute is the need of a broad path of international action pursued by many states in common across the years, irrespective of the ebb and flow of national politics."

The nations of the world have united against the threat of Iraqi aggression. Those of us, however, who counsel for withdrawal, must realize that, sadly, this conflict may not at this time be side-stepped. To attempt to do so now means that, when the Arab nations of the Persian Gulf are engulfed by the ever-stronger and eventually nuclear-armed Iraqi military machine (fed by revenues we pay for oil), we will be facing a monstrous conflagration that will make us nostalgic for days of the Cold War.

The responsible nations of the world have made this choice and, to them and especially, to the members of our armed forces upon whom this burden falls heavy, we must offer our support.

Richard Colton
Department of biochemistry

Photo courtesy of Sports Information
Anton Brown

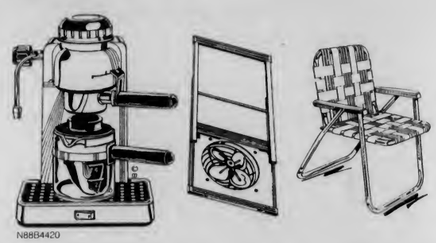
Brown

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

January, and has played his best basketball of the season in recent weeks. Against Vermont Jan. 21 Brown insured a 62-58 win for the Minutemen with a steal, layup and free throw in the game's final minute.

Brown is averaging four points a game, and is ranked 10th in the Atlantic 10 at 3.5 assists per game.

"I've got my confidence back, and I'm feeling better about my knee...adversity happens, you just try to work with it, I guess," Brown said. "I hope that everybody, not just him, comes home safely."



N88B4420

Dance Stuff

Shoes for Tap, Jazz, Acro, Lyrical
Bloch's soft leather and canvas Ballet
for women, men, and children
Freed, Chacott,& Capezio pointe shoes
Exercisewear, Accessories
220 N. Pleasant St. (rear)•Amherst•253-5201

Interested in being a...
University Tour Guide
Admissions Representative
Summer Counselor
Applications available at the University Admissions Center

TOWER Theaters
THE VILLAGE COMMONS • SOUTH HADLEY • 533-2663

"A BRILLIANT THRILLER! Suspenseful and erotic." Peter Travers, ROLLING STONE
JOHN CUSACK · ANJELICA HUSTON · ANNETTE BENING
THE GRIFTERS
R
weekdays at 3, 6:45 and 9
Friday at 4:25,6:40 and 9:05
Sat and Sun at 2:15, 4:25,6:40 and 9:05
2 for 1 on Mon. Night on this film only

weekdays at 3, 7 and 9:10
Friday at 4:25, 6:40 and 9:05
Sat and Sun at 2:15, 4:25, 6:40 and 9:05
Sorry, no 2 for 1 on this film
THE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW Starts Feb. 8 Fridays at Midnight

ALLIANCE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Welcome Back to UMASS
For more information call Jim or Beth 253-7206

CHANGES
FULL SERVICE SALON FOR MEN & WOMEN
A GIFT OF CHANGES
With a student ID, this certificate is redeemable for $5 off any service anytime at the salon. Please call for your appointment. Then relax and enjoy!
Valid with Jill, Michelle or Jack.
Expires April 1, 1991

WANTED

Assistant Business Manager	Assistant Finance Manager

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

We are looking for:
Ambitious
Responsible
Organized
SOPHOMORES
with good communications skills.

Applications are available at the Collegian — 113 Campus Center and must be submitted no later than Friday February 8. 1991.

The Collegian is an E.O.E

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store
Welcome Back Students!

Milwaukee's Best case 12oz bots $8.99

Miller Genuine Draft 12 pack bots $6.39

Budweiser 12 pack cans $6.99

Beck's Beer case 12 oz bots $18.99

Kahlua Coffee Liquer 750 ml $11.99

Captain Morgan Spiced Rum 750 ml $7.49

Popov Vodka 1.75 L $10.39

Samuel Adams Lager cse 12 oz bots $18.79

338 College St. (Rt. 9) Amherst 253-5384

ARTS & LIVING

Iron Maiden brings them to their feet in Providence

By MATT COHEN
Collegian Correspondent

Iron Maiden/Anthrax
Providence Civic Center
Friday, January 25

Iron Maiden has released eight ferocious studio albums since 1980. Their music has always been full of mayhem and mysticism set to a sound that's not found in other bands. The uniqueness of their music comes from the galloping rhythms written by bass guitarist Steve Harris, the band's founding member. As unique as their music is, the sources for their songs are even more diverse. Inspiration for their songs has come from such works as Children of the Damned, an English horror film, the poem, The Rhime of the Ancient Mariner, Frank Herbert's science fiction saga Dune and the ancient Egyptians. These sources have been the framework for a number of heavy-metal classics written and performed by Iron Maiden. With all of their attention to lyrics, the band has never lost track of the importance of the live performance.

"No Prayer on the Road" is Iron Maiden's eighth tour and they have showed their fans in Providence, Rhode Island that they haven't lost the fire that was lit fifteen years ago in London's East End. Their pounding brand of heavy metal fused with classical guitar scales boomed through huge amps and kept the audience on it's feet for over an hour and a half. The music, played with precision by drummer Nicko McBrain, lead guitarists Dave Murray and Jannick Gerrs (Adrian Smith's replacement) and bass guitarist Steve Harris was accompanied by exciting visuals and their notorious 15 foot mascot, Eddie.

Iron Maiden's 16 song set began with "Tailgunner," a tune from their latest album, No Prayer for the Dying. "Tailgunner" is a World War II bomber pilot song with a theme not unlike "Aces High" from their 1984 album entitled Powerslave. It was an explosive opening song and set the mood for a night of classics and songs that soon will be.

All of Iron Maiden's songs sounded top notch. Bruce Dickinson's singing was properly blended with the volume of the band's instruments. There was no problem hearing the words of a man whose capacity for loudness has been compared to an air raid siren. Unfortunately, it was not always as easy to hear Joey Belladonna, lead singer of the opening act, Anthrax. He was often drowned out by his own band.

When Joey could be heard, Anthrax sounded great. Of the eight or nine songs that they performed "Antisocial," from their 1988 release State of Euphoria, and "Got the Time," from their latest album Persistence of Time, sounded the best. For rather obvious reasons "Antisocial" was dedicated to the current leader of Iraq. "I'm the Man," the band's old reliable from an EP released in 1987, was brought out for the encore number and was even zanier than the recorded version.

The majority of Iron Maiden's material was from the new album and 1982's Number of the Beast. The new material, in conjunction with their new guitar player gave the show an added dose of liveliness that they didn't even need. They've always performed at a frenetic pace. Their 1988 album Seventh Son of a Seventh Son was represented by only one song, "The Clairvoyant." No songs were performed from 1981's Killers album. A slight suprise, since the title track and "Wrathchild" are two of their most popular songs, but with a repertoire of nearly one hundred songs it would be hard to perform everyone's favorites. However, judging by the audience's reaction to Iron Maiden I doubt anyone would have minded if they did perform all of their songs.

Iron Maiden's current set design is fairly simple. It was just the band, a stage and some fantastic backdrops, which were enlargements of the original single covers painted by longtime Maiden artist, Derek Riggs. Most of these paintings I had never seen before, because to my knowledge Iron Maiden singles have never been released in the United States. Artistically speaking, that's a shame. These backdrops, which must have been at least 40 feet across, came down during the appropriate song and brought forth thunderous applause from the audience. The only actual set construction was a giant stone casket that rose behind Nicko McBrain during the band's hallmark song, "Iron Maiden." Eddie burst through the casket and his ghoulish hands dangled above the drummer's head.

On the last tour the band performed on what looked more like a castle than a stage. Bass guitarist Steve Harris noted that they would have performed "The Rise and the Fall of the Roman Empire" in order to have a more complex set than the one used for "The Seventh Son of a Seventh Tour" show.

Keeping the set to a minimum, Iron Maiden let the music do the talking. And it talked loud enough for the audience to

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

DEBATE UNION MEETING
Wednesday, Feb. 6
7:00 pm — New Members
7:30 pm — Regular Meeting
Debate Trailer No. 3
(behind Thompson)
For further information call 545-2055

The UMass Science Fiction Society presents:
THE BEATLES in YELLOW SUBMARINE
TONIGHT in the Campus Center Auditorium
5:00 at $1.50; 7:00, 9:00, 11:00 at $2.00

WINTER SESSION GRADE REPORTS
will be mailed to students' current local addresses the week of February 11.
DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

ROLL UPS
SANDWICH SHOP
331 Russell St., Rt. 9, Hadley
(next to Dunkin' Donuts)
Grand Opening Specials
Over 25 sandwiches all under $3.99 such as...
• Philly Roast Beef • Wrangler
• Veggie Delight w/ avacado AND MORE!...
• Tuna/Hold the Line
WOW coupon FREE SANDWICH coupon
Buy One Get One Free!!
(Lower priced sandwich is free)
One coupon per person per order
Not valid between 12:30-2:00 daily exp.2-28-91
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
586-8255

RUSSELL's
Discount LIQUORS Discount
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441
Featuring BUSCH Suitcase $9.99
Ringness Beer or Ale 6 pk. $3.99
Narragansett case/cans $7.99
Russell's January Wine Sale
10% plus off six bottles or more!!
(mix or match)
Captain Morgan 750 ml $7.99
Sutter Home White Zinfandel $3.99 750ml
Vodka 80° Liter $5.99
Many More In Store Specials
(especially on wines)
★ Delivery Available ★
All beers plus deposits

A night of hilarious hippie harmonics

By NOA CHRISTINE BEN-YEHUDA
Collegian Staff

Rick Danko
Buckley Recital Hall
Saturday, January 26

Shecky Williams? Shreddy Wallace?

Relic from the days of Dylan, Rick Danko, performing for a packed audience last Saturday night at Buckley Recital Hall, was accompanied by SOMEBODY. Some wirey half lidded bell bottom body with a harmonica in hand and the breath to blow in it.

You remember Danko...from The Band? Well at least you would recognize the songs. As Danko and his compliment Shecky or Shreddy settled into a steady set of heartfelt harmonics and hard hitting howling harp solos,the audience became visibly moved by the memories conjured.

The two aged hippie music veterans did a fine job of recreating The Band favorites like "Twilight," "It Makes No Difference," "The Shape I'm In," and of course "Stagefright," sans the rest of the band.

Danko had to break only once during the set to replace his B string, leaving Shreddy all alone on the stage. It was cruel. Danko left the stage promising the audience that Mr. Williams would entertain them with a joke. Wallace shuffled and pocketed his hands, shrugged, reached for his harp and said, "Here's a joke for ya." He played, lifting his knees convulsively when the music so moved him, oblivious to Danko who, freshly re-strung gee-tar in hand, was mimicking him at stage right.

Though it was amusing, the audience was like a flock of Gee-raff—inaudable neck extenders. "Those boring, immelodious fouls!" said one man in the rear.

Danko, in his good natured manner kept insisting that this dudley audience sing along with him as he lisped and strummed his way through a exceptionally bluesy set. But, alas, he was on his own dishing out "Spoonful," "Walkin' Blues," "Little Red Rooster," and Danko's own homage to the catalytic powers of coffee, 'Java Blues.'

The standing ovation brought Danko back for the two songs that most aroused the audience. As he started "Take a Load off," a lone strong voice joined him from across the room. Danko, shading hand on forehead, scanned the posh interior of Buckley for the brave face attached to that one voice, and smiled. Soon the whole room was singing along (including Shreddy, learning the words as he went).

The harmonizing of one hundred voices and the sweetness of hippie memories made everyone look glowy and fond. For this they had come.

■ Iron Maiden

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

demand four encores. Each time the band had apparently left the stage they were brought back by the deafening chant of "Maiden! Maiden!" until they finally ended the show with "Run to the Hills," a worldwide favorite about the struggle between European settlers and Native Americans.

Iron Maiden's tremendous music and unofficial motto of "no plastic hair, no fake tattoos" has served them well. I know I'll be waiting for them to come back to New England.

LOG LADY

ACADEMY OF MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
NOW-The Only Area Engagement
Curtain Daily 6:30 and 9:00
Rostand's classic romantic adventure with GERARD DERPARDIEU as the "DEFINITIVE CYRANO"—N.Y. Times
"MAGNIFICENT A HUGELY ENTERTAINING SPECTACLE!" —Peter Travers, ROLLING STONE
"IT'S A REALLY ROMANTIC AND FUN MOVIE" —Gene Siskel & Roger Ebert
"GLORIOUS" —Richard Schickel, TIME
CYRANO DE BERGERAC
A film by JEAN-PAUL RAPPENEAU
PG
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

SUBWAY
DAILY SPECIALS:
$2.99 for certain foot long subs!
STARTING FEBRUARY:
TWO for TUESDAY
BUY ONE Foot Long, get one FREE (higher price prevails)
BUY ONE Regular Foot Long, get one Regular Foot Long FREE with a soda (higher price prevails)
90 King St. Northampton

IRELAND PUB TOURS
'Spring Break'
March 20-24
Full payment dadline Feb 1
NEED A VACATION SPOT...
Imagine yourself in a land with more than 10,000 pubs to choose from set in a scenic landscape of rugged cliffs, beautiful bays and quaint villages for 5 days for only $599
West coast tour includes:
• AerLingus roundtrip flight from Boston
• First Class Hotels
• Transportaion/Guide throughout
• Sightseeing tours
• Breakfast and dinner
• Nightly entertainment...and much more
• Call now to reserve your seat.Space is limited
• Final payment due 8 Feb '91
• Legal age 18
Rita k. Burke 549-1256
adventura travel
233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst Carriage Shops

WORD'S OUT
Katina's
18 and over
The Premier Nightclub in the 5 College Area!
Featuring Live National and Regional Acts Every Friday and Sunday
Select Production Party — Every Thursday Alternative Night — Every Saturday
w/ WMUA's Christina Rosetti
$1 off with College I.D.
Upcoming in February
John Cafferty & the Beaver Brown Band — Friday 1
Columbia Recording Artist-Heaven's Edge — Sunday 3
Sigma Alpha Mu Back to School Blowout — Friday 8
Brightside and Uproar — Sunday 10
Physical Grafitti — Friday 15
Chucklehead — Saturday 16
FREE! Shuttle Bus Service Every Thursday-Saturday Pick-up on the hour from the Southwest Horseshoe
Rt. 9 Hadley 586-4463
$1.00 Scotch Drinks every night
50c Drafts every night

Dellaria Salons invites you to visit our Amherst Salon anytime Monday through Wednesday and save $5.00 on Haircuts, or receive a Haircut & Perm for $50.00. You need only present your student ID.
26 Main Street, Amherst 256-8331
Not valid with other promotions
DELLARIA SALONS
BOSTON • SOHO • LOS ANGELES

New security system irks some students

By LARS KROLJER
Collegian Staff

Upon returning to school this semester most University of Massachusetts students living on campus probably found the new security system, which allows only one major entrance to the residence halls, an irritating inconvenience

All residence halls are now locked 24 hours, instead of the previous lockout which began at 8 p.m. Only the main entrances of the buildings may be used; the rest have been turned into emergency exits complete with alarms at $200 a door.

Senior Jerome Bledsoe said the new system is a waste of both time and money and added that people will simply use the emergency doors anyway because it is unlikely that they will be caught. "We are paying our money to live here - we should have more than one entrance or exit," he said.

But Larry Moneta, associate director of housing services, said the new system, costing $200 per door, is necessary to protect the students and increase campus security.

"There have been an increasing number of non-students on campus involved in theft in residence halls," Moneta said. "With only one entrance we can increase security significantly. I would rather do this before there is a victim."

But sophomore Beth Boisvert, who lives in Thoreau Residence Hall, said the system could be dangerous when students have to walk around buildings late at night to reach main entrances. She said the alarms should be used only when night security starts.

"This would limit the trouble during the day, but still protect us against intruders at nights when it is most urgent," she said.

But Moneta said students would not get used to the system and continuously set off alarms. "It is not right outside, but inside the residence halls there are problems which is where we now bolster security," he said. "A little loss in convenience is worth a great increase in safety."

CONTACT LENS CARE
AT THE UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES
• We take great pride in being able to fit many people who have had difficulty in the past wearing contact lenses.
• We offer a broad array of contact lenses with a large In-house inventory.
• We now offer the new daily wear disposable contact lenses.
• All fittings are done by our eye doctors with experience in contact lens care and solving contact lens problems.
• Emphasis is placed on your ocular health and professional service.
UHS EYE CARE PROGRAM
Convenient hours and convenient on campus location.
For questions or appointments, call 549-2671

GIVE US $20, AND WE'LL GIVE YOU THE RUNS.
$20 MID-WEEK LIFT TICKET.*
Mount Snow, Vermont is giving all you college students a run for your money. In fact, we're giving you all 84 runs—everything from our six new Sunbrook intermediate trails to the North Face expert terrain. And all for $20. Firm.
For a taped ski report, call (802) 464-2151. For more information, call (802) 464-8501.
Mount Snow.
When It Comes To Big Mountain Skiing, No One Else Is Close.
*Offer good Monday through Friday, non-holiday with a current college ID. © Mount Snow Ltd. 1990

The INDIA HOUSE
RESTAURANT
Serving in the same location on State St. since 1984
DINNER for 2
$13.95 COMPLETE
ENTREES CHANGE DAILY
SUNDAY—THURSDAY
5 P.M. — 9 P.M.
45 STATE ST.
NORTHAMPTON, MA
586-6344

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11am
7 days a Week
Kitchen open 'til midnight
Game Room with 2 pool tables
Tonight 10c Beer Steamed Baby Franks
9:00p.m. — 12:00 a.m.
Drinks of the Week:
Charlie's Punch $1.50
French Mocha Coffee $1.95
Food Giveaways
Mon 10 cent Mozzarella Sticks 9pm-12am
Tues. 10 cent Buffalo Wings 9pm-12am
Wed. 25cent Pizza Slices and 99 cent Nachos 9pm-12am
Thurs 10 cent Beer Steamed Baby Franks 9pm-12am
Sunday 10 cent Potato Skins 9pm-12am
WE ACCEPT MC-VISA-AMEX

Great Savings.....
SAME DAY PHOTO PROCESSING
and money-saving DAILY SPECIALS!
$3.00 OFF ON PROCESSING A 36 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY — EXPIRES FEBRUARY 28, 1991
$2.00 OFF ON PROCESSING A 24 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY — EXPIRES: FEBRUARY 28, 1991
$1.00 OFF ON PROCESSING A 12 EXP. ROLL OF FILM FOTO FACTORY — EXPIRES: FEBRUARY 28, 1991
$1.00 OFF ON PROCESSING YOUR FILM FOTO FACTORY — EXPIRES: FEBRUARY 28, 1991
COUPONS NOT VALID WITH MONDAY OR WEDNESDAY SPECIALS
THIS COUPON VALID WITH MONDAY & WEDNESDAY SPECIAL ONLY
257 TRIANGLE STREET AMHERST
62 KING STREET NORTHAMPTON
224 1/2 FEDERAL ST. GREENFIELD
The Foto Factory
FILM IN BY: 10:00 am
PRINTS OUT BY: 4:00 pm
ONE HOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
Think Spring!
A perfect time for renewal and new beginnings.
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Spring 1991
Renew your life goals, your career, or your personal life. Over 200 fresh credit courses and Adventures in Lifelong Learning workshops are being hatched at UMass this spring.
Late register through February 11.
Classes start January 29.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.
DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

■ women's hoop wrapup

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

The loss to the Lady Bonnies tarnished an otherwise incredible night for Ireland. The UMass forward poured in 26 points with 10 for 14 in field goals and 6 for 9 from the line. If that weren't enough, she also grabbed 12 rebounds. However, no other UMass player made it into double figures. Over 30 turnovers and 30.3 percent second-half shooting hurt the UMass cause.

"Missing Keyburn really cost us in this game," said Hewelt. "She averages 15 to 20 points a game, and when you figure in the other ways she affects a game, we might have come close or changed the outcome had she been able to play. Her presence would have been a big boost for us."

Three days later, the Minutewomen traveled to Philadelphia to face St. Joseph's University. The Hawks blazed out to a 37-23 halftime lead, shooting 51.7 percent from the field and 71.4 percent from the foul line.

While the Hawks cooled down in the second half, their defense tightened, doing in the Minutewomen as Hewelt explained.

"We had a lot of trouble with their one-three-one halfcourt trap," said Hewelt. "We went into a scoring drought, they went on a run, and that was the margin right there.

The result was a 67-45 St. Joseph's win. Jessica Schusler led the Minutewomen with 16 points against the Hawks, including a 9 for 10 mark from the charity stripe. Ireland managed to chip in 12 points and 10 rebounds despite her illness. Wendy Brink led the Hawks with 17 points.

Two days later, UMass was still in Philladelphia to face Temple's Lady Owls. Temple played a smothering defense, keeping all UMass players out of double figures and restricting the Minutewomen to 13 for 49, a poor 26.5 percent shooting for the game.

Hewelt was impressed by the Lady Owls' tenacious defense.

"They played incredible defense," she said. "They forced a lot of turnovers, which they converted on, and we were struggling to get into our rythym on offense."

The Lady Owls scored 35 points off of UMass turnovers and stole the ball from the Minutewomen 24 times en route to a 76-33 shellacking. Tania Koel led all scorers with 17 points, while Kim Kristofik and Ireland notched 8 points apiece for UMass.

■ women's swimming

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

the Wildcats, taking the 200M breastroke in 2:34.42.

Besides their record, the Minutewomen have another reason to be proud this year as 24 out of 27 members of the team have already qualified for the New England Championships.

Bold Strokes: UMass' Denise Reimer, an Allentown, Pa. native, won nine first places in the Minutewomen's meets with Boston College, Providence College and Rhode Island over intersession.

She took the 50M freestyle in a time of 25.33 as well as the 100M freestyle in 55.00

Boston campus loses money

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
The Associated Press

BOSTON — State mismanagement has cost the University of Massachusetts at Boston about $650,000, but a university official says efforts are already in place to correct the problems.

State Auditor A. Joseph DeNucci said Tuesday that an investigation of a theft of $120,000 from the university's branch Bursar's Office led to the discovery of a loss of about $530,000 in parking fees.

"At a time when our system of public higher education is being threatened with debilitating budget cuts, it is the university's responsibility to protect its limited resources," DeNucci said in a statement. "I expect UMass-Boston will begin to do that through tighter administrative and accounting controls."

Jean MacCormack, vice chancellor of administration and finance, said Tuesday the university had already taken steps to comply with the auditor's recommendations, which resulted from a 1989 audit and officially released last week.

She questioned the timing of Tuesday's statement, the day before the administration was to announce a new cost-cutting budget proposal.

"It's frustrating for me, it's taken so long for all of this to be resolved," she said. "For many people won't believe it's resolved because of the harshness of the language" in DeNucci's written statement.

MacCormack said the university disputes the amount of money lost through uncollected parking fees, and contends the Bursar's Office had taken adequate precautions to protect cash.

"We believe our internal controls are strong and it was our internal controls that discovered the [$120,000] theft," she said. The theft remains under investigation.

According to DeNucci, the theft was possible because the Bursar's Office kept excessive cash on hand and had no formal controls in place to limit access to the money.

About $228,000 was kept on hand by the office, and funds not kept in tellers' drawers were bagged and kept in a vault that was frequently left open, according to DeNucci. Anyone with access to the office had access to the vault, DeNucci said.

MacCormack said the UMass branch needs large amounts of cash on hand because the office cannot write checks, a policy she hopes to soon change.

She contends that while the vault was often open because it also contained financial records, cash was kept in a locked safe.

TURKEY WHITE MEAT ROAST

LEAF BLOWER

AEROBICS
FREE WEIGHTS
NAUTILUS
CARDIOVASCULAR
FITNESS

College Student Special
$99 Membership
(exp. 5/2191)

Daily Aerobics Classes
Reebok Step Classes
Olympic Free Weights
Stairmasters • Lifecycles
Special Rates
Walk-Ins Welcome
Tanning • Massage • Saunas
Day Care • Open 7 Days

NORTHAMPTON NAUTILUS
& ATHLETIC CLUB
216 N. King Street
Northampton - 584-4975

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

For your convenience the Textbook Annex will be open:

JANUARY/FEBRUARY HOURS

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
JAN. 27 CLOSED	28 9-5	29 9-9	30 9-9	31 9-9	FEB. 1 9-5	2 11-5
3 CLOSED	4 9-5	5 9-5	6 9-5	7 9-5	8 9-5	9 CLOSED
10 CLOSED	11 9-4	12 9-4	13 9-4	14 9-4	15 9-4	16 CLOSED
17 CLOSED	18 CLOSED	19 9-4	20 9-4	21 9-4	22 9-4	23 CLOSED
24 CLOSED	25 9-4	26 9-4	27 9-4	28 9-4	MAR. 1 9-4	2 CLOSED

REGULAR HOURS:
MONDAY-FRIDAY: 9:00 am-4:00 pm

LOCATED ON THE TOP FLOOR, EAST SIDE OF THE PHYSICAL PLANT BUILDING

ATTENTION
ALL INTERESTED
ARTISTS

The Collegian is accepting submissions for new student cartoons through Sunday, Febuary 3.

Drop off samples
(with address and phone –)

To Managing Editor
545-3500

The Collegian is an E.O.E.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

Innovative concepts in exposing city kids to nature

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Life is what happens to you while you're busy making other plans."

— John Lennon

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

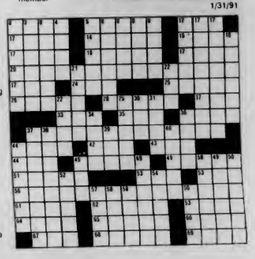
ACROSS
1 Russian inland sea
5 Beside, at sea
10 U.S. humorist, George
13 Leningrad's river
14 Triangular letter
15 Hue
17 202, to Caesar
18 Walking — elated
19 Baltic native
20 Treat for Jack Horner
23 Sioux
24 London's prov.
25 Strict
26 Musical pauses
28 — Mountains of Missouri
32 Family rm.
33 Female ruff
35 Room in a harem
36 Man, for one
37 Treat for a queen
41 Vegetate
42 "I like —"
43 Pose
44 "L.A. Law" character
45 First-raters
47 Misplaces
51 Pit
53 Strange prop
55 Chicken — king
56 Treat for Miss Muffet
61 Silkworm
62 — We All?
63 Roof part
64 Faithful, to a Scot
65 Serenity
66 — Rabbit
67 Genes carrier
68 Rooter
69 Without

DOWN
1 News person
2 Speak a piece
3 Dispatch boats
4 Not of the cloth
5 Bedeck
6 Mussolini
7 Guido's high notes
8 Keep — persevere
9 School ending
10 Nuclear trial
11 Scatter
12 Totally
16 From there
21 Minor prophet
22 Question
27 Waste allowance
29 City planner, perhaps
30 Extend
31 Cheers
34 Do a publishing job
36 Occupied with
37 "Bewitched, — and Bewildered"
38 Civic club member
39 Alias, e.g.
40 Squirted the squeaks
41 Biologist Carson
45 Dallas inst.
46 Position
48 Largest desert
49 Gridiron number
50 Mystery author Dorothy L.
52 La — Milano
54 Stage direction
57 Engrossed
58 Three, in Trier
59 Emblem
60 Fly catchers

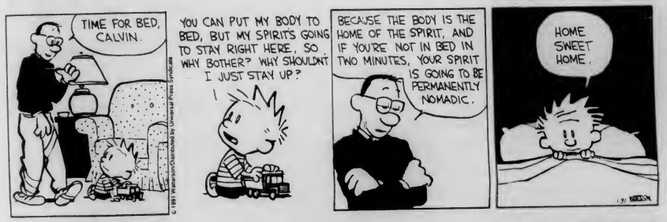
ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

D	O	C	K		P	R	E	S	S		D	A	W
A	U	R	A		R	A	V	E	N		P	I	P	E
T	R	O	Y		E	N	E	M	Y		T	S	A
A	S	S	A	S	S	I	N		D	U	N	K	E	R
		S	K	I	T		P	R	E	S	P	A	S
F	L	O		C	I	S		E	R	G	O
L	O	V	I	N	G	C	U	P		A	I	S	L	E
O	P	E	N		E	R	R	O	L		N	C	A	A
P	E	R	C	H		I	N	E	S		S	T	E	R
		L	A	M	B		C	O		P	A	S
R	E	T	I	R	E	E	S		E	T	A	T
O	P	I	N	E	D		M	A	N	O	R	I	A	L
B	O	R	E		A	R	A	B	S		E	C	R	U
I	D	E	S		L	I	L	L	E		M	A	N	A
N	E	O			S	O	L	E	S		A	L	O	U

1/31/91



CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



TIME FOR BED, CALVIN.
YOU CAN PUT MY BODY TO BED, BUT MY SPIRITS GOING TO STAY RIGHT HERE. SO WHY BOTHER? WHY SHOULDN'T I JUST STAY UP?
BECAUSE THE BODY IS THE HOME OF THE SPIRIT, AND IF YOU'RE NOT IN BED IN TWO MINUTES, YOUR SPIRIT IS GOING TO BE PERMANENTLY NOMADIC.
HOME SWEET HOME.

ROBOTMAN
By JIM MEDDICK

GARY, THE POLICE ARE BEHIND US!... I TOLD YOU YOU WERE SPEEDING.
RELAX...I'LL HANDLE THIS... THE MAIN THING IS TO STAY CALM.
HUMMA...UM ...UMMA... UH...HUMMA...
BOB, IT LOOKS LIKE WE'RE GONNA NEED THE BREATHALYZER!...
HE'S NOT DRUNK OFFICER...JUST DANGEROUSLY STUPID...
HONK

ROBOTMAN
By JIM MEDDICK

YOUR ERRATIC BEHAVIOR SUGGESTS YOU'RE CONCEALING VAST QUANTITIES OF ILLEGAL SUBSTANCES. THIS DOG IS TRAINED TO SNIFF THEM OUT...
SNIFF SNIFF
OFFICER, YOU'RE MAKING A BIG MISTAKE!
YOU DON'T KNOW GARY, YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT HIS...
SNIFF SNIFF
POOR THING DIDN'T STAND A CHANCE...

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

—What's that you say? You think I'm an incompetant fool? Less intelligent than a bucket of Lincoln Logs? Well, perhaps I can clear things up...
CRUSH

MENU

LUNCH
Pizza
Deli Beef Sandwich

DINNER
Egg Roll
Mac & Cheese

BASICS LUNCH
Pizza
Eggplant Casserole

BASICS DINNER
Egg Roll
Mac & Cheese

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A handsome, tailored look will impress conservative clients. A friend could be entirely aff-base. Rely on your intuition. Romance gives you a feeling of deep contentment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You may have to handle a "hot potato" at work today. A competitor is "crazy" like a fox. Stay alert! Family members will help reduce financial pressures. Enjoy a quiet evening at home.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Top-quality sale items can brighten up your wardrobe. Be more considerate of your mate and you will re-establish you old rapport. Tend to the needs of an older person without complaint.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Be careful not to overstep your bounds at home or work. Acting on impulse could create havoc. Good things come to thase who wait. Refrain from taking too many financial gambles right now.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Do not let uncertainty over a personal matter put you off your stroke. Now is the time to consider wide-ranging business proposals. A sudden windfall means you can spend extra money on your family.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your partner is more tuned in to your needs today, but your offspring will keep you busier than ever. Think creative ways for them to use up all that boisterous energy!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): An innovative idea pays handsome dividends. Your flair and imagination help you decorate your home in a way everyone will aamire. Share secrets with a trusted loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Other people come through with funds or ideas just when you need them the most! Show your gratitude in tangible ways: be mindful of possible snags where travel is concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Focusing on long-term work goals is vital today. Be certain that you have the latest available information to give to VIPs. Romance enjoys highly favorable influences tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be careful not to shake the foundation of your professional or personal life. It is possible that you are barking up the wrong tree. Ease up; you cannot fare the pace of progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A patient, mature approach is vital today. Do not let your temper get the best of you. Count to 10 when things go awry. Making low-key, constructive suggestions wins you widespread respect.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Ignore those who make negative comments. Concentration is the key to advancement at work. A secret desire will soon be fulfilled. Pursue romance in a glamorous setting

Sports Notice

Sold Out? If you could not get tickets to the men's basketball game Saturday, Twister's Tavern (30 Boltwood Walk, Amherst) has a solution. The UMass-Boston University competition will be telecast live at midnight on ESPN from the Curry Hicks Cage and Twister's will remain open until the end of the game. Unfortunately, due to Mass. state laws, alcoholic beverages will not be served after 1 a.m.

UMass Lacrosse Club The team will meet today at 4:30 p.m. in Boyden room 253. Coach Dietei says the timed two-mile run will start at 4:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 1 in the Curry Hicks Cage. Call 545-6353 or 545-2590 for more info.

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Proposals are solicited for consideration as Student Commencement Speaker

Eligibility: Graduating University senior

Format: 3-4 "typed" pages, double-spaced (equivalent of 3-4 minutes speaking time); original and one copy.

Include your name, local address and telephone number on a separate, attached cover sheet.

Subject matter: The text should concern education and be relevant to the University and your experience(s) here.

Selection process: Entries will be reviewed by the Student Commencement Speaker Selection Committee, which consists of students, staff, and faculty. (Author's name will be removed before being given to the committee to ensure objectivity.)

Ratings will be assigned and selected authors will be invited to "audition" before the committee. The committee will make the final selection.

Deadline: Thursday, February 21, 1991, not later than 4:30pm

Submit proposals to: Paul R. Appleby, Director, Disability Services, 231 Whitmore (545-0892)

WHAT'S ON SALE? EVERYTHING WINTER!
J·RICH CLOTHING FOR MEN
191 N. Pleasant St. Amherst 253-2013 M-Sat 10-6
22 Masonic St. Northampton 586-6336 M-Sat 10-6, Thu til 9 Sun 12-5

Problem Skin?
come to Aesthetics
For an alternative skin care treatment
Deep pore cleansing facials
Lash and brow tinting
Hair removal with wax
lip, braw, bikini, legs, etc.
34 Main St. • 253-9879

Beat The January BLAHS
AUDIOVOX $99 AM/FM Auto Reverse Cassette w/spkrs. Installed
Panasonic CQ-H15 From $199 Installed
"Upgrade your Factory System"
Panasonic CX-DP15 12 CD Disk Changer •Quadruple Oversampling Digital Filter • 2 Digital to Analog Converters Includes 100 watt amp with most factory systems $699
Cellular Phones
Technophone 905 or Uniden CP 1500 BUY 1 GET 1 FREE Call for complete details 1 with min. 6 months metro mobile service activation
Auto Security Systems
CLIFFORD THE ULTIMATE IN AUTO SECURITY From $199 Installed
•Many models available •Up to 20% ins. disc •Shock sensor •125 dB siren • Remote transmitter
THULE SKI RACKS
More than just a ski rack! Carry Luggage, Bikes, Canoes, Lumber. You Name IT! Highest quality available. All model in stock and a perfect gift guaranteed!
Layaways and Instant Financing Available
CUSTOM CAR SOUND
573 RIVERDALE ST. W. SPRINGFIELD 734-4995
141 DAMON RD. NORTHAMPTON 586-5258

Domino's Pizza Amherst/Hadley 256-8911 South Hadley 535-1111
Buy ANY Large Pizza GET A SMALL 1-ITEM PIZZA for only 30c Expires 3-30-91 1 coupon per order
Buy ANY-Pizza Get a 2nd of equal or lesser value for only $1.99 expires 3-30-91 1 coupon per order
Buy ANY-Large Pizza for the PRICE OF A SMALL PIZZA expires 3-30-91 not good with any other offer

Welcome Back Students!!
BEER WINE LIQUORS
Prices do not include deposit
FALSTAFF & FALSTAFF LIGHT case of 24-12 oz. cans $8.79 + DEP
COORS, COORS LIGHT, COORS GOLD 12 pack bottles $6.99 + DEP
BUSCH & BUSCH LIGHT suitcase cans $10.49 + DEP
BECK'S BEER case of 2-12 pk bottles $17.99 + DEP
BACARDI Breezer TROPIC, PEACH, LIME, BERRY $4.49 + DEP 4 pk bottles
COKE, DIET COKE SPRITE case of 24-12 oz. cans $5.99 + DEP
GLEN ELLEN WHITE ZINFANDEL $3.79 750ML
INGLENOOK CHENIN, FR. COL. RHINE. BURGUNDY, ROSE. CHABLIS. BLANC DE BLANC. BLUSH. WHT. GRENASH $6.99 3.0L
FOLONARI SOAVE $5.49 1.5 L
SEBASTIANI PROPRIETOR WINES WHITE. BLUSH. RED.CHENIN. FR. GOLOMBARD. GAMAY $5.49 1.5L
COOKS CHAMPAIGNE BRUT, X-DRY $3.49 750 ML
J&B. Rare Scotch. $24.99 1.75L
Seagram's V.O. $16.99 1.75 L
Captain Morgan ORIGINAL SPICED RUM $15.99 1.75L
BAILEY'S IRISH CREAM $14.99 750 ML
POPOV. VODKA $10.49 1.75 L
JACK DANIEL'S $20.99 750 ML
not responsible for typographical errors
LIQUORS 44
HADLEY Campus Plaza/Route 9 253-9344
TWO LOCATIONS
HOLYOKE 30 Lincoln St. 534-4555
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
SALE PRICES THURS. 1-31-91 THRU WED. 2-06-91
TeleCheck

Perseverence pays off for Giles as he nears 1,000 points

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Rafer Giles would never miss on purpose. It's against his nature. Rafer Giles, a senior point guard on the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team, hates to miss.

But it would be nice if he scored his 1,000th point Saturday night on national TV, wouldn't it?

Giles is 15 points shy of the 1,000-point plateau as UMass heads into a pair of games at the Cage this weekend, against Rhode Island Friday and Boston University Saturday.

Saturday's game will be televised nationwide on ESPN.

"My friends and my family could see it, and I could look at it on videotape," said Giles, a native of Richmond, Va. "But if I've got the shot Friday night, I'll take it."

When he does, it will be the third time Giles has scored 1,000 points in organized basketball; Giles scored over 1,000 points in middle school and at Henrico High School in Richmond.

Along the way Giles has shown himself to be a fearless and, in streaks, a brilliant shooter. He's made 182 three-pointers in his career, and was a 42-percent shooter from the floor (37 percent from three-point range) entering this season.

"When he gets it going, he can score with the best of them," coach John Calipari said.

"When you're on, you can feel it in your body," Giles described. "It's really after two or three go in that you know you've got it that night. The first shot really doesn't mean much."

"The kid has taken advantage of every opportunity he's had...He's been ready when we needed him to play. That's a lesson to some of the other kids on this team."—John Calipari

Giles himself describes his shooting style as a little unorthodox.

"It's a Bob Cousy set shot," he said. "I've been doing it since I was little."

Reaching 1,000 points is as much a result of Giles' work ethic as his shooting touch. Giles has started only occasionally since arriving from Fork Union Military Academy in Richmond, Va. in 1987, but has made a career of being ready when the coach calls his number.

"The kid has taken advantage of every opportunity he's had," Calipari said. "He's going to score 1,000 points in a backup role, and that's amazing. He's started, but always by default. He's always been ready when we needed him to play. That's a lesson to some of the other kids on this team."

It's a knack Giles said he developed at Fork Union, a prep basketball powerhouse, where 13 of Giles' 15 teammates landed Division I scholarships after a 29-0 season.

"You had to always be ready because you never knew who was going to start. Once you got your chance, that's when you had to prove it."

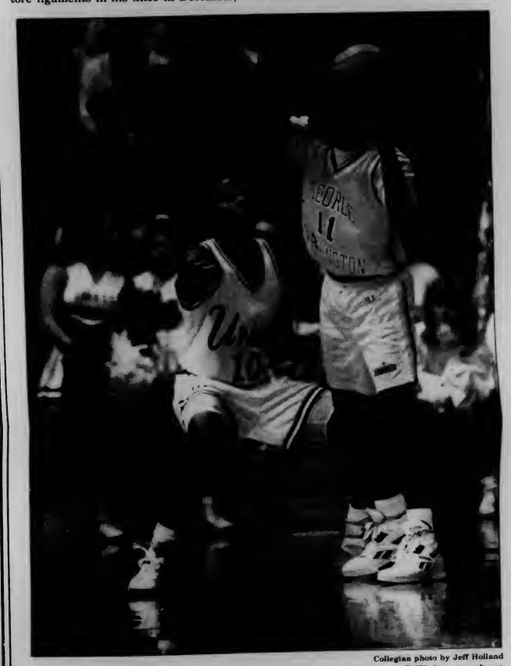
This season, when starter Anton Brown tore ligaments in his knee in December, Giles got a chance to play point guard for the first time since his freshman year.

Three nights later, Giles buried Boston College with a running 10-foot jumper with nine seconds left.

The shot had a special significance for Giles because the game was played in Springfield, the city where his father, Bill, had died suddenly three years earlier during a visit to see Rafer play.

"I thought afterwards maybe that's why I hit that shot. The play wasn't supposed to go to me . . ." Giles said.

"My Dad's on my mind just about every day, before every game. When he died, I dedicated each one of these seasons to him. He's the one that got me where I am, he got me thinking about going to college, going to Fork Union, playing basketball...I'm getting 1,000 points for him."



Collegian photo by Jeff Holland
Senior guard Rafer Giles displaying his defensive capabilities against George Washington, will be aiming for his 1,000 point mark this weekend in games against Rhode Island and Boston University.

WE'RE SORRY
our amherst store is closed our amherst store is closed
WE'RE GLAD
our northampton store is open our northampton store is open
Visit our Northampton store 20% Discounts with college ID.
Offer good through 2/7/91
Main Street Northampton
Faces

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON — THURS 8:30-3:30 ● DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION ● CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

IF YOU LIKE music you'll love UPC. First meeting Thursday Jan 31st 904CC. Be there! 8:30PM For info call 545-2892.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3-CREDIT RECYCLING COURSE Tu/Th 9:30-10:45 153 Totman. Go to class to add or call Jim or Kathleen at 545-1153

BED AND BREAKFAST- downtown ideal for visiting parents and friends- 549-0733.

CARIBBEAN- $169! The warmth of the Caribbean or Mexican coast for a week. R/T Air Sunnitch + m 212-864-2000.

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM $1000 in just one week. Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization Plus a chance at $5000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 50

HEY! Get your recycled note pads loose-leaf and spiral notebooks at the Residential Recycling Program Table on the Campus Center Concourse. All proceeds benefit the expansion of the Recycling Program in the Residence Halls. Call 5-1153 for more info.

HEY STUDENT VALLEY Production Goons- Meeting Thurs 5:30PM RM 08FAC- Discuss future plans and help eat the munchables! All are welcome!!

MAKE A DIFFERENCE! Volunteer with the Residential Recycling Program Bottles and Cans Pilot Project. Recycling Runs Education and the Blue Box Brigade! Sign up at the Recycling Table on the concourse or come to the first volunteer meeting on Thurs. Jan 31st from 6:30 to 7:30 P.M. in Campus Center Room 811. For more info call 545-1153.

OPEN THE DOOR to an exciting and challenging career. Let CIGNA Corporation show you how as we discuss Actuarial Career Opportunities To learn more about this challenging field, plan to attend a meeting at which Life Actuaries will discuss career opportunities at CIGNA. Members of all classes are welcome. Limited Summer Intern and full-time positions in both Connecticut and Philadelphia are available. Pizza and Refreshments will be served. Dress is casual. Date: February 5, 1991 Time: 7:00-9:30 PM Place: Mather Career Center

RACQUETBALL TEAM MEETING TONIGHT! 7:00PM in basement of Wheeler. All are welcome for mens and womens team.

AUTO FOR SALE

FREE! 1978 BUICK CENTURY Runs Great but low gas mileage. Also 1981 DODGE COLT Great mileage. Runs great. $300. 253-3908.

1986 PLYMOUTH HORIZON 66K, excellent condition, going overseas, asking $1600, call 549-6337

1987 HONDA CIVIC CRX. Emaculate condition, 67000miles, moon roof, Blaupunct Stereo, New Tires, $4300. Call Mec 253-4070.

CHEN STYLE TAI CHI

COME LEARN THIS earliest form of T'ai Chi which features slow/fast, soft/vigorous, empty/solid movements. Class begins Feb. 5 and 7. Call 253-4057.

COLLEGE PRO PAINTERS

IS SEEKING highly motivated UMass Students who would like the opportunity to earn $10,000 this summer running their own painting business. No previous painting experience is required and all majors are welcome to apply. There will be an informal information session on Tuesday Feb 5 at 7PM in Campus Center room 811. For more details call 1-800-346-4649

FOR RENT

SINGLE BEDROOM in Sunderland House on bus line. Share house w/3½ undergrads. 170/month or B.O. Brian 323-6658. Leave message

WINTER SPECIAL! 1 month rent 99 cents with one year lease. 2 bedroom- $450 3 bedroom- $537 Sunderland, Free bus route, laundry facilities, swimming pool, garden plots, short term leads available. 665-3606.

FOR SALE

FUTONS Sleep with Metewompe Lowest Prices Best Quality 256-0646

LETTER QUALITY PRINTER Mint condition Print Buffer Daisy Wheel 35LPS Citizen 120 Dolumns Ask $325 Call: Wayne 584-7648

STEREO YORK New remote, 8 watts speakers, bonus 2 extra speakers. $100/BO. 253-0644

HELP WANTED

APPLICATIONS now being accepted at Admissions Center for Tour Guides, Student Admissions Representatives and Summer Counselors

EARN $500-$1500/WK part-time, stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. Box 4645 Dept P145 Alburquerque NM 87196

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches US Customs, DEA ect. Now hiring. Call 1-805-962-8000 Ext. K-9618

LOVING, DEPENDABLE PERSON to care for adorable 2 and 4 year old girls. MWF AM. Own car required 549-8318.

WE NEED SELF-MOTIVATED STUDENTS Earn up to $10/hr Market credit cards on campus. Flexible hours. Only 10 positions available. CALL NOW 1-800-950-8472 ext.20 AL

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT learn to Scuba Dive. Basic Classes held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday 7-10PM in Curry Hicks Pool. Open Water II class held during Spring Break in Key Largo, FLA. Advanced Class held in New England in April. For further informtion call 546-8401, or drop by Curry Hicks starting 2/4/91

GUITAR LESSONS with Doug Hewitt Rock, Blues, Folk Acoustic or Electric Improv, Theory, Reading, Songwriting, many new songs -plus singing. Studio on 3 bus lines 549-1938.

MICHELLE MONTEITH

CONGRATULATIONS to Ms. Michelle Monteith- Winner of two round trip Continental Tickets in our "Grand Get To Know You" Raffle. Come to Campus Travel for your prize. Thanks to everyone else for entering- Watch for our Spring Break Raffle! Campus Travel 545-0500. Welcome Back!!!

PERSONALS

 CHAD ***
My boyfriends back
He's gonna save my reputation
Hey-Ls Hey-Ls
My boyfriends back!
Welcome back! I love you, Wendy

KIMBERLY, TRACIE & RACHAEL
Have a great week! We are really proud of you!
Love, Your Angels

LBO!
Here's to the best semester and the best roommate!
Love you!
RoommateChic!

Michelle Livernois
Good luck this week!
I'm cheering for you!
Love, your Big Bro

INTERESTED in Christian Fellowship? The Alliance Christian Fellowship welcomes you! More info: Jim or Beth 253-7206

SERVICES

GERMAN STUDENT Female is looking for job: Babysitting/Child Care/ help in household. Experience as Au-Pair in GB Alexandra 549-7515

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

ATTENTION UMASS STUDENTS
Explore self and personal issues through psychodrama in a safe confidential setting. Group meets Tuesdays 7-8:30PM starting 2/12/91 for 10 weeks. No fee. Register--Call Mark locally at 665-3678.

TRAVEL

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! Spring Break '91!! Jamaica/Cancun from $468.00!! A week of fun and sun! The hottest destinations 1-800-426-7710.

TYPING

WORD PROCESSING SERVICES - Will type papers, manuscripts, ect. $1.50 per page. Excellent spelling and grammer guaranteed, References. Flexible hours - evenings-weekends. For information 548-9753.

SPORTS

Gymnastics cleans up Springfield

By TOM QUINN
Collegian Correspondent

In front of a very enthusiastic crowd, the University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team defeated Springfield College, 253.85-241.35.

UMass swept five of six events, as Springfield's Ricky Hoag took the parallel bar.

Portalatin competed in five of the six events, managing fourth place on the floor.

First place was evenly distributed among the Minutemen, two freshmen coming up with winning numbers on the horse and on the floor.

Floor excercises were one of UMass' stronger events, freshman Jason Braud's performance brought the team the most points.

Collegian photo by Carrie Wyeth

UMass' David DiNucci concentrates on his horse performance last night against Springfield College. DiNucci edged out SC's Rick Hoag (8.7) to win the event with a score of 8.9.

"The floor is my favorite event," Braud said. "I work on it a lot."

Sophomore Robert Thomas performed a solid floor routine, finishing second.

Another UMass freshman, Adam Gould, faired well, winning the horse with a score of 8.6.

Senior Andy Sullivan and sophomore Steve Christensen had solid performances on the grueling rings, placing first and second, respectively.

"The rings are still the weakest event, but Andy and Steve had good routines for us," said Johnson.

The meet was neck and neck leading up to the vault competition, and that is where the Minutemen took-over.

David DiNucci (8.9) captured the vaulting event from Springfield's Ricardo Portalatin (8.7) with an explosive performance. UMass freshman Tim Sullivan (8.75) worked the crowd into a frenzy after his performance.

"DiNucci and Sullivan had good performances," Johnson echoed. "I think the vault was one of the strongest events in the meet."

Springfield did not give up after the vault. Ricky Hoag worked the parallel bars fluently and effectively, winning the event (8.9). Despite Bill Sayam's second place showing, the Minutemen had some difficulty on the bars.

"We weren't that smooth on the parallel bars tonight," Johnson said.

Senior Mitch Hall attacked the horizontal bar from beginning to end and nailed his dismount to seal the victory.

Springfield's Hoag made his presence felt throughout the meet, winning all-around with a total score of 50.75.

"We want to catch Army and Temple," Johnson said of upcoming meets, "and to do that we need to get crisper on our routines."

Swimmers host UNH in Boyden

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's swim team will be back in action this Saturday as they take on the Wildcats of New Hampshire at 1 p.m. in Boyden Pool.

The Minutewomen can enjoy their standing right now, coming off an emotional 128-114 win over Providence College to improve their record to 6-3 overall (5-3 in the New England Women's Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Association).

UMass also moved from the eighth to fourth in the Northeast rankings. Boston College still remains ahead of the pack followed by Connecticut and Northeastern.

"Physically we're tired, but emotionally we're on a high," said UMass coach Bob Newcombe. "We're up for it since UNH rubbed our faces in it when they beat us last year."

The Wildcats (3-7) will be looking to get back on the winning track to improve their dismal record. UNH suffered their most recent loss to Maine (112-125).

UNH swimmers to watch out for include Shannon Doherty, a junior independent medley/backstroker, Maureen Hartnett (IM/breastroke) and Meghan McCarthy (freestyle/back).

"UNH is a talented team," Newcombe said."They have a couple of good sprinters led by McCarthy, but on the whole UMass is a better team."

During their meet against Maine, Doherty lead her team, winning both the 200- and 500-meter freestyles with times of 2:00.97 and 5:20.45, respectively.

McCarthy also had her day in the sun as she took first in the 50M freestyle (25.93). Hartnett added another first for

CONTINUED ON PAGE 12

Women's basketball prepares for George Washington

By BRETT MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

It seems as if everyone is going to the Nation's Capital lately; foreign dignitaries, war supporters, protesters, military aides and even the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team.

The Minutewomen will be there for other reasons than most though, to face the George Washington Colonials at 6 p.m. in the Charles E. Smith Center.

The Minutewomen, winless this season, are coming off Tuesday's 21-point loss on Tuesday to St. Joseph's.

And they are still plagued by injuries. Keyburn McCusker, the team's leading rebounder and scorer is limited due to a spiral fracture of her right index finger. In addition, several members have been hampered by the flu.

The Minutewomen have been averaging a meagre 43.5 points per game with 36 percent shooting. Additionally, they average over 30 turnovers a game.

George Washington, 14-3 overall (7-1 in the Atlantic 10) have been a surprise so far this season. The Colonials, undefeated at home, have won 10 of their last 11. Their only loss in the Conference was to Rutgers who remains ranked in the top 5 nationally.

George Washington has a balanced scoring attack with four starters averaging in double figures in points. They are led by 5-foot-10 sophomore forward Jennifer Shasky who is averaging 17.5 ppg and 5.4 rebounds. Mary Nordling, a 6-foot-3 junior center, has a team-leading average of 3.1 blocks per game, as well as 13.6 ppg. Junior forward Kristin McArdle, leads the team with 4.2 assists per game and averages 11.4 ppg.

Second-year coach Joe McKeown has started the same five in all 17 games this season. Four of the five starters have led the team in points at least once.

McKeown said he looks to his team's aggressive man-to-man defense, which has caused opponents to turn the ball over an average of 23.9 times per game, providing opportunities on the offensive end.

"We try to keep up the pressure on defense in order to have the opportunity to run on offense," he said.

The two teams met earlier this month. In that contest, Massachusetts' Kim Kristofik led all scorers with 12 points. Senior guard Anne Riley led the Colonials with 11 points. Massachusetts had difficulties getting through their tight defense and scored a season-low 28 points.

Game Notes: Minutewoman Keyburn McCusker has 989 career points, 11 shy of the 1,000 point plateau...GWU was predicted to finish sixth this season in the Atlantic 10, however, they are currently in second place and have been receiving votes in the AP and UPI top 25 polls.

Collegian file photo

The Minutewomen, hampered by bouts with the flu as well as injuries, prep for George Washington's Colonials. GWU hosts UMass in Washington, D.C. at 6 p.m. tonight.

Team survives winter competition

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

The absence of Keyburn McCusker from the starting line-up and an outbreak of the flu were factors in three Atlantic 10 Conference losses during the last week of winter break, according to University of Massachusetts women's basketball coach Kathy Hewelt.

"If you look at those three games, you see a pattern developing," noted Hewelt, whose team faces George Washington in an A-10 match-up tonight in Washington, D.C.

"In all three games, we played well in the first half. But because of our lack of depth, the loss of Keyburn and Trish Hessel to injury and the flu affecting Lisa Ireland and Cherrie Muza, we start to tire in the second half and the other team makes a run. And we're not physically able to counter that."

In the first of these three games, against St. Bonaventure on Jan. 19, the Minutewomen held the Lady Bonnies to 36 percent shooting in the first half and trailed 34-28 at halftime. The day before the game, McCusker had said that UMass was psyched up to face the Lady Bonnies, and UMass' first half stats proved her right. The Minutewomen hit nearly half of their shots and went 61 percent from the foul line in the first half.

St. Bonaventure turned the tables on UMass in the second half, however. They outscored the Minutewomen 44-21 in the half, hitting 15 of 22 foul shots in the second session to pull away for a 78-53 victory. Four of five Lady Bonnie starters hit for double figures, led by 15 points from Sue Shay.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 12

THIS WEEKEND

A night of cheap laughs and free breath mints

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

Have you always had the knack for making people laugh so hard that they leave wet spots on your couch?

Well if you are that kind of person you may want to invest in an air freshener company, but in the mean time you may want to check out the Certs College Comedy Competition to be held at UMass on Saturday.

The competition is a 75-school search for the funniest college student in America. This is the fifth year for the competition, sponsored by the tasty breath mint company.

All full-time and part-time students who wish to enter should prepare a three-minute comedy routine and sign up to compete in Campus Center Room 817. People will be able to sign up at this location until 8 p.m, an hour before showtime.

All contestants will be videotaped as they perform. The winner will have his or her clip evaluated by the national judge. This year the judge happens to be Jerry Seinfeld, renown for his NBC series, Seinfeld, and frequent appearances on Late Night with David Letterman and The Tonight Show.

Three regional finalists will be picked and then flown with a friend to Daytona Beach, Florida to compete in the national finals, also judged by Seinfeld, at Spring Break. The person who Seinfeld dubs "The Funniest College Student in America" will fly to New York City to perform at famous comedy clubs such as The Comic Strip and Catch A Rising Star.

Hosting the competition at UMass will be comedian Patrick McGreal. The Chicago native spent time with the Just Kiddin' Comedy and Improvisation Company and has appeared at Catch A Rising Star, The Comic Strip and The Improvisation. This is MacGreal's second year of touring with the Certs Comedy Competition.

If you not inclined to tickle someone's funny bone and would rather have your funny bone tickled for you, then you too are encouraged to come, the enticement being free Certs Mints.

The Certs Comedy Competition will be held at UMass in the Hatch, located in the basement of the Student Union Building. The competition will begin at 9 p.m. on Saturday, February 2.

The bizzare fantasy of Ulrike Ottinger

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

A naked male dwarf standing on a street, his body painted to match the fur coat of the dog next to him which he holds in one hand with a leash and the banner that he holds in the other hand.

Two old men sitting on a sculpture of some kind wearing beautiful black debutant gowns and pulling at each other's beards.

These are the images found in Ulrike Ottinger's films.

Ottinger, a filmmaker from Germany, is hailed as the "queen of the Berlin underground." Trained as a painter and photographer, she came to the New German cinema scene in the early 70s. She is known for her almost gothic instinct for the grotesque and the sublime. Her earlier films incorporated performance art and "happenings" by such artists as Yvonne Rainer and Wolf Vostell. But as her work developed, Ottinger took a growing interest in how culture defines its foreigners.

One of her best known works is Madame X — An Absolute Ruler (1977), which achieved cult status as a lesbian pirate film. Some of her other films include: Ticket of No Return (1979); Freak Orlando and China — The Arts, The People. Her most recent film is entitled Johanna d'Arc of Mongolia.

She has been well rewarded for her work. The Image of Dorian Gray in the Yellow Press (1984) was awarded the special prize for overall artistic conception at the Florence Film Festival. China — The Arts, The People was given the German Film Critics' Award in 1986. Usinimage (1987) was awarded with the HDF short film prize in 1989. And her most recent film won three honors: Federal German Film Gold Ribbon for Artistic Realization; The Alcan Prize of the Public of the International Womens' Film Festival Montreal and Outstanding Film of the Year London Film Festival.

She described her art by saying, "I exaggerate so that the viewer will see, otherwise no one will notice what I want to show . . . Today it is no longer sufficient just to show things in a film . . . You have to make reality conscious, not simply steal it by means of tape recorders and cameras."

An Ottinger retrospective, co-sponsored by the Goethe Institute Boston, the Pleasant Street Film Foundation, the Five College Film Council, the UMass Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures and the UMass Interdepartmental Program in Film Studies, will begin on February 1 and continue until February 10. Her films will be screened both at UMass and at the Pleasant Street Theatre in Northampton.

The schedule of events is as follows:

Friday, Feb. 1 — Madame X — An Absolute Ruler — 7:30 p.m. — Herter 231, UMass — Free

Saturday, Feb. 2 — Joan of Arc of Mongolia (Ottinger will be present for discussion) — 10 a.m. — Pleasant Street Theatre, Northampton — $2 donation

Saturday, Feb. 2 — China — The Arts, The People — 6 p.m. — Herter 231, UMass — Free

Friday, Feb. 8 — The Enchantment of the Blue Sailors and Laokoon and Sons — 7:30 p.m. — Herter 231, UMass — Free

Saturday, Feb. 9 — The Image of Dorian Gray in the Yellow Press — 10 a.m. — Pleasant Street Theatre, Northampton — $2 donation

Saturday, Feb. 9 — Berlin Fever and Ticket of No Return — 7:30 p.m. — Herter 231, UMass — free.

Sunday, Feb. 10 — Superbia Pride, Usinimage and Freak Orlando — 10 a.m. — Pleasant Street Theatre, Northampton — $2 donation.

Ottinger is also expected to speak at a public roundtable on her work on the afternoon of February 2.

Photo courtesy World Sales

Two old gentleman pull at each other's beards in Ulrike Ottinger's Freak Orlando.

Pearl Street

this weekend...

Thurs. Feb. 1 — 8:30pm
MINIBUS SANDWITCH
BORDERLAND

Fri., Feb. 1—8:30pm
PAJAMA SLAVE DANCERS
Sings In The Rain

Sat. Feb. 2 — 8:30pm
THE SIGHS
Electric Boots

coming...

Fri., Feb. 8—8:30pm
WHO'S KIDDIN' WHO

Sat. Feb 9th—9:30pm
JAMES COTTON BAND
King Cod and the Blue Shacks

Thurs. Feb. 14 — 8:30pm-1a
DRIVIN' 'N' CRYIN'
The Vestry Inch
Thos. Mellvins

Thurs. Feb. 21 — 8:30pm-1a
CORDELIA'S DAD
Sad Cat

Fri., Mar. 1 — 7:00pm
LADYSMITH BLACK
MAMBAZO

Pearl St. introduces 18 Thursday Nights in our Dance Club. Doors open at 8:30 Wed.—Gay Night Thurs.—18 WHMP Fri.&Sat.—Top 40 House music with DJ Job

413 584-7771

10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA

ATTENTION ALL U-MASS STUDENTS!

Explore the Self and re-enact past conflicts through PSYCHODRAMA. Share experiences in a safe, confidential setting. Group begins 2-12-91 for 10 weeks every Tuesday, 7 to 8:30pm. NO FEE REQUIRED.

Call Mark locally at 665-3678 after 6pm to register.

Seven Os

Sunderland's Spot for Live Music

THERE'S NEVER A COVER!!

Thurs. January 31 9pm—1am
The HALBENOIT BAND

Friday and Saturday February 1st and 2nd 9pm—1am
WILDCAT O'HALLORAN

Sunday 8pm—12am
OPEN MIC NIGHT with MARK SNOW

THURSDAYS OPEN 9pm—1am

Route 116 Sunderland 665-8788

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM Tel: 549-2692

Welcome Back...
Enjoy this Semester!

Koch's Golden Anniversary Beer
24 16 oz. bottles
$8.99 +dep.

Budweiser Reg-Light-Dry
12 12 oz cans
$6.79 +dep.

Ruble Vodka
1.75 L
$8.99

Kahlua Liquer
750 ml
$11.99

Knicker-bocker
12 12oz. cans
$4.49 +dep.

Kegs Starting at $35.00

Captain Morgan Spiced Rum
750 ml
$7.99

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE!
Plenty of Free Parking • Diagonally Across from UMass Stadium
• Next to The Laundry Club
6 University Drive
at Newmarket Center, Amherst

Tele-check for your personal check
Scott's Gift Certificates
Mass lottery Season tickets
MEGABUCKS We Have It
We now have all Mass Lottery games!

Not responsible for Typographical Errors

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

Auditions will be held for the Five College Early Music Collegium at Hampshire College in the Music Room from 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Heildelberger Romanze will be shown at Amherst College in Merrill II at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Auditions for Cabaret, a Smith College Theatre production, needs singers, dancers and rock musicians to come to UMass in Fine Arts Center Room 204 from 7 p.m.-10 p.m.

Visions of an Ancient World, a modern adaptation of greek mythology centering in on the aftermath of the Trojan war and featuring music by groups like the Talking Heads, will be performed at Stagewest in Springfield, located on One Columbus Center. The performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. with repeat performances on Sunday at the same time and on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. There will also be a matinee performance at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Admission for students is $10.

Fried or Boiled, a play to be performed by the London-based physical theatre company, will be performed at Smith College in the Hallie Flanagan Studio Theatre at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday. Tickets are $2 for students and senior citizens and $4 for the general public.

Watermelon Woman, a dance concert choreographed by Susan Waltner with vocal and instrumental music by Agnes Zsigmondi, will be presented at Thornes' Market at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday.

Minibus/Borderland will play Pearl Street in Northampton. The 18-and-over show will be $4.

Orgasmo Adulto Escapes from the Zoo, a one-woman show which tells the explosive stories of several Italian women and comments on their domestic and political positions in society, will be performed at the Northampton Center for the Arts at 8 p.m. with repeat performances on Friday and Saturday.

FRIDAY

Saffire, the uppity blues woman, will play at the Iron Horse in Northampton at 7 p.m. Tickets are $8 in advance.

New Music Festival, a tribute to the 25th anniversary of the Five Colleges, will take place at Amherst College in Buckley Recital Hall at 8 p.m. A second concert will take place on Saturday at Mount Holyoke College in Abbey Memorial Chapel at the same time.

Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour Revisited, a reprise of his highly successful television series which aired in the early 70s, will take place at UMass in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall at 8 p.m. Tickets are $29, $27 and $25.

The Breakdown will play at Pearl Street in Northampton.

The Wildcat O'Halloran Band will play at Seven O's in Sunderland with a repeat performance on Saturday.

John Cafferty and the Beaver Brown Band will play at Katina's in Hadley.

SATURDAY

Orleans will play at the Iron Horse in Northampton at 7 p.m. Tickets are $10 in advance.

Certs Comedy College Competition will be held at UMass in the Hatch at 9 p.m.

Fools Cafe, featuring artist Gideon Freudmann, will be held at the Unitarian Society from 8 p.m.-11 p.m. Open mike sign-up will be at 7:30 p.m. All donations will go to the Unitarian Homeless Fund.

Earl Reed, a stand-up comedian, will perform at Amherst College in the Campus Center Frontroom at 9 p.m. Admission is $1 for students, faculty and staff with Amherst College ID and $5 without.

SUNDAY

A Winter Wonderland of Music will fill the air with solo, duo and trio performances at UMass in the Benzanson Recital Hall at 3 p.m.Donations accepted at the door.

Judgement Day/Moriah will play at The No Name in Greenfield from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Adrianne Greenbaum will play a concert of 20th-century music on the flute accompanied by Ailisa Lesier on the piano and the Wall Street Chamber players. The event will take place at Mount Holyoke College in Pratt Auditorium at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Faculty Recital, featuring the talents of UMass professors Lynn Klock on saxophone and Nadine Shank on piano, will take place at UMass in the Benzanson Recital Hall at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

John Hammond, regarded as the most outstanding solo blues artist on the scene today, will perform at Amherst College in the Campus Center Frontroom at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1 with Amherst College ID and $8 without.

Heaven's Edge will play at Katina's in Hadley.

安城中国饭店
Amherst Chinese Food
Homestyle Cooking
Fresh vegetables from our own farm
DO NOT USE MSG
Open 7 days a week
253-2813 253-7835
62 Main Street Amherst

Need A Job Skill That Pays?

Call us today and find out how we can help you make it as a bartender. CNCEUs available.

call today
(617) 247-1600
811 Boylston Street
Boston, MA 02116

3 New England Bartenders School
We Help You Make It.sm

Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education.
Accredited by the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education & Training.

Now Open in Town!
Taj-e-Mahal Palace Restaurant
Accept Visa/MC
Reservations Accepted

28 Main Street, Northampton, MA
584-4892

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!

Call Today For Fast, Free Delivery:

253-3443
College Street
Amherst

Pizza Hut DELIVERY

For Dine-In Or Carryout Call:
253-9787
424 Russell Road
Hadley

WELCOME BACK TO OUR KIND OF FUN!

MIX AND MATCH!
Get One Medium Specialty Pizza
$7.99
Get A Second For Just $4.00 More
Good On Delivery, Carryout Or Dine-In
Offer Expires: February 28, 1991
Pizza Hut DELIVERY
Please mention coupon when ordering. One coupon per party per visit at participating Pizza Hut® restaurants and Delivery units. Not valid with any other offer. Limited Delivery Area.
©1991 Pizza Hut, Inc. 1/204 cash redemption. 441

YOUR CHOICE!
One Large One-Topping Pizza
$6.99
Get A Second For Just $6.00 More
Good On Delivery, Carryout Or Dine-In
Offer Expires: February 28, 1991
Pizza Hut DELIVERY
Please mention coupon when ordering. One coupon per party per visit at participating Pizza Hut® restaurants and Delivery units. Not valid with any other offer. Limited Delivery Area.
©1991 Pizza Hut, Inc. 1/204 cash redemption. 351

Sampling the fine delicacies of art exhibits

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

There's nothing like digesting fine art. Burp. So if you are one who is enamored with the fine delicacies of paintings, sculpture, mixed media and various other art forms, the following listing may delight your taste buds.

Fez Restaurant, Northampton:
The restaurant will be displaying works by Anthony Zito and Beth O'Rourke, both UMass art students, until February 12. For more information call: 586-8011.

Hampden Gallery, UMass:
Located in the Southwest residential area, the gallery is open Monday-Friday from 3 p.m.-7 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 p.m.-5 p.m. Family Portraits by Susan Eve Jahoda and Ceramic Sculpture by Nancy Frommer La Pointe will be on display from February 6 until March 8.

Hampshire College:
Hisako Yokoyama, a contemporary Japanese calligrapher, will have an exhibition of new work in the Main Gallery of the Harold F. Johnson Library Center until February 19. Gallery hours are Monday-Friday from 10:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and Sunday from 2 p.m.-5 p.m.

Herter Art Gallery, UMass:
Located in Herter Hall, the gallery is open Monday-Friday from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. and Sunday from 2 p.m.-5 p.m. Paintings by May Stevens, featuring large scale paintings and intimate collages, will be on display from February 5 until February 27.

Mead Art Museum, Amherst College:
Located off the east side of the college quadrangle, the museum is open Monday-Friday from 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and on weekends from 1 p.m.-5 p.m. Elegant Impressions: Surimono from the Collection of William Green, featuring elaborate prints combining poetry and visual symbols, will be on display until February 10.

Mount Holyoke College Art Museum:
The museum has two exhibitions on view at the moment: From Site to Sight: Anthropology, Photography and the power of Imagery until March 3 and Protection, Preservation and Analysis: Recently Conserved Works in the Mount Holyoke College Art Museum until March 15. Call 538-2245 for more information.

New Africa House, UMass:
The Augusta Savage Gallery, open Monday and Wednesday from 1 p.m.-7 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., has on view Metal Metamorphosis, featuring sculptures by Caroline Ayres and Susan Korzenowski. But today is the last day, so if you miss that don't miss the gallery's exhibit of paintings by Brenda Jones, which will start on February 7 and continue until March 7.

Northampton Center for the Arts:
Located on New South Street, the center has east and west galleries open Tuesday-Friday from 12 p.m.-5 p.m. and on weekends from 2 p.m-5 p.m. The center will open two exhibits on February 12: in the east gallery Monotypes by Joyce Miller and in the west gallery Places Real and Imagined featuring ceramic sculpture by Mariana Rilleau. Both exhibits will be on display until March 10.

Smith College Museum of Art:
The museum has four exhibitions on display: Rail Wall Neon Light Sculpture by Janna Longacre and Joseph Upham until March 15; Secrets, Dialogues, Revelations: The Art of Beyte and Alison Saar until March 3; Dead Reckoning by Vernon Fisher until March 15; and Les Noirs: Lithographs by Odilon Redon until March 15. The museum is open Tuesday-Saturday from noon-5 p.m. and Sunday from 2 p.m.-5 p.m.

Student Union Art Gallery, UMass:
Located in the Student Union Building, the gallery is open Monday-Friday from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. The gallery will present Metaphysical Constructions, an exhibition of monoprints by Janet Walerstein Winston, starting on February 5 and will continue until February 21.

University Gallery, UMass:
Located on the lower level of the Fine Arts Center, the gallery is open Tuesday-Friday from 11 a.m.-4:30 p.m. The main gallery will be temporarily closed until April 6 due to renovations. The gallery is currently displaying Patterns and Rhythms: Photographs from the Permanent Collection, a collection of black and white and color photographs in which the design element is emphasized.

Wheeler Gallery, UMass:
Located in the Wheeler Residential Hall across from New Africa House in the Central Residential Area, the gallery hours are: Monday-Thursday from 4 p.m.-8 p.m. and Sunday 2 p.m.-5 p.m. From February 13 to March 3 the gallery will be displaying a UMass Alumnae Show.

We want you to write for the Arts & Living Section
So come on down to the newsroom of the Collegian

FREE FOOD

TODAY at 4 p.m.
for a very exciting writers' meeting

The Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies presents:

PAWSS

A Five College Faculty Panel on the Persian Gulf Conflict with:

Asoka Bandarage, Mt. Holyoke College
Ahmad Dallal, Smith College
Vinnie Ferraro, Mt. Holyoke College

Thursday, January 31st, 8:00pm
Main Lecture Hall, Franklin Patterson
Hampshire College

This event is free and open to the public.
For more information call PAWSS at 549-4600 x 519.

湘 園
PANDA EAST
CHINESE
RESTAURANT

We bring Chinatown to you

Open Hours: Mon-Thurs. 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri. & Sat. 11:30am-11:00pm
Sunday 2:00pm-10:00pm

Lunch Hours: Mon.-Sat. 11:30am-3:00pm

103 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-8923 (413) 256-8924

POSTER SALE
Most Images
Only $5 and $6

Over 1000 Different Selections

Featuring Works By:
WARHOL, DALI, MONET, ANSEL ADAMS, TALBOT, M.C. ESCHER, VAN GOGH, PICASSO, ROCKWELL, MATISSE, DEGAS, WYETH

Sponsor WMUA 91.1 FM
Date Wed. Jan. 30 thru Fri. 1
Time 9 A.M. - 4:30 P.M.
Place Student Union Ballroom

BIGGEST & BEST SELECTION

Largest College Daily in New England

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN Established in 1890

VOLUME C FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1991 ISSUE 73

Saudi, U.S. troops recapture Khafji

By FRED BAYLES
Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Saudi troops backed by U.S. Marines today took back the coastal town that saw the Persian Gulf War's first sustained ground fighting, the Saudi military said. But frontline commanders said they suspected the Iraqis were planning an even larger attack.

The U.S. military command said two U.S. soldiers, a man and a woman, apparently were missing. The two were not directly involved in the fighting at the northern Saudi port of Khafji, Brig. Gen. Pat Stevens IV told reporters.

In Washington, a Pentagon source said a U.S. plane had been shot down. Stevens said U.S. officials were checking an unconfirmed report that the plane was a C-130 transport.

By midmorning in Khafji, the remnants of an Iraqi armored column were cornered and under siege by U.S. artillery. By evening, Saudi forces had completed the recapture of the town, allied officials said.

According to initial reports, 160 Iraqi soldiers were captured in the battle, Stevens said. Saudi officials said a large portion of their tanks and equipment were destroyed.

Iraq's official news agency today quoted the newspaper of Iraq's ruling Baath party as saying the ground fighting was a prelude to a far bigger battle. The paper, Al-Thawra, called it "the beginning of a thunderous storm blowing on the Arab desert."

Marines on the outskirts of Khafji said they have been told five or six Iraqi divisions — at least 60,000 troops — were massing near the Saudi town of Wafra, about 25 miles to the west. and are believed to

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

AP photo

Bundeswehr Sergeant Carsten Zitlav demonstrates the operation of a "HAWK" ground-to-air missile launcher during a recent press performance. Germany plans to possibly deploy these launchers next week in Diyarbakir, Turkey, near the Iraqi border.

BOG refutes SGA decision to disband student government

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

While the Board of Governors last night passed a motion to withhold support of the Student Government Association's recent decision to dissolve student government, about 20 students stood by to protest the BOG's removal last semester of the two Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay seats.

The motion, read by Gov. Bill Hewitt, was a reaction to a request by SGA officers this week at a press conference calling for an independent commission to be set up to restructure the student governing bodies. The decision made by the officers is not binding until a University response is made.

Hewitt said, "I can't believe we have the SGA officers calling for an end in student decision-making on the allocation of funds that we pay. [The SGA officers] we elected are handing over our power," he said.

Laura Silver, LBG, said the governors were acting like "kids in a sandbox" who were angry that their toy was being taken away and were now having a tantrum.

"If you're not meeting students' needs you should be disempowered," she said.

Sue Gordon, BOG chairperson, said, "I didn't agree with last semester's motion that was passed removing the LBG seats but I believe the BOG should still exist so that students have a voice in decisions governing the Campus Center."

Among the several signs held by protesters one read: "Why must you flaunt your heterosexuality? It's just so uncalled for — Queer Nation." Kelly Hayes, of Queer Nation, said, "We want our presence felt in regards to past actions — we won't just sit and let them do what they want."

Bill Harris, BOG director said, "I'm concerned that the students have a voice in the happenings of the Campus Center. I think this is an appropriate way for student voices to be heard."

Gordon said the BOG does many positive things for the students including taking care of vending machines, which fund student programs and keep prices affordable in the Campus Center.

Gordon said all those who do not think the BOG should exist should work to get students elected as governors who represent their interests. "I want to depoliticize the Board so that motions can focus on students' rights, not internal mechanisms."

In other business:

- The Board passed a motion proposed by Gov. Guy Glodis to support U.S. and Allied troops in the Persian Gulf.

Gov. Weld unveils new budget plan

Proposal to cut funds to some state agencies, replenish others

By DANIEL BEEGAN
Associated Press

BOSTON — Gov. William F. Weld unveiled a deficit-reduction package today that aims at closing an $850 million deficit for this fiscal year and a $1.82 billion deficit next year with deep spending cuts and some fee increases.

"This proposal is a 17-month plan to close the fiscal 1991 deficit and to resolve the structural deficit for fiscal 1992 and the years following," Weld said in a summary of the plan.

A portion of the plan will be presented to the state Legislature next week. The remainder will be included in the fiscal 1992 budget, which will be filed with lawmakers in late February.

Weld acknowledged that some of the cuts will involve pain.

"However, they are preferable to raising taxes, which could destroy our already troubled economy, throwing thousands of Massachusetts citizens out of work," Weld said.

He reiterated the plan includes repealing the now-delayed extension of the sales tax to business and professional services and said the costs, $27 million for the remainder of this fiscal year and $136 million for fiscal 1992, have been factored into the deficit figures.

The measure would also repeal the universal health care laws mandate that most businesses, as of Jan. 1, 1992, either provide employees with health insurance or pay a $1,680 fee to the state.

The proposal also includes modest increases for a handful of social programs, and some $8 million for programs for pregnant women and teen pregnancy prevention and for AIDS patients. The plan also includes $4 million more for home health care for the elderly — an increase which Weld said was actually a savings because it helps prevent the need for nursing home care.

It also includes $4 million in increases each for corrections and tourism.

The plan does not call for any cuts in aid to cities and towns for this fiscal year, but calls for a cut of $270.6 million in fiscal year 1992.

But Weld said that increases in lottery revenues and removal of some spending mandates would result in a net loss of $75.2 million.

Weld said he is proposing eliminating the Board of Regents and the Board of Education and placing them both under an education czar in his cabinet.

He said the plan would result in the eventual closing of some state college campuses, a 35 percent increase in tuition and converting the existing scholarship program into a loan fund.

Weld also called for an experimental "choose-a-school" program, a voucher system favored by Senate President William M. Bulger.

The bill would cut $618 million from human services programs in 1992.

The cuts include consolidating some mental hospitals and public health hospitals, a move that will close some facilities.

As in college campus closings, the closing recommendations would be made by an independent commission, Weld said.

The bill also calls for closing 18 of the 37 branch offices of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, laying off 6,000 state workers and auctioning off 1,000 state vehicles.

In the huge Medicaid program that pays medical bills for the needy and for many nursing home residents, Weld proposes counting the houses of the elderly as an asset in determining eligibility.

That move has been opposed in the past by the Legislature.

Weld proposed an increase in subway fares from 75 cents to $1 and MBTA bus fares from 50 cents to 75 cents.

INSIDE:

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1991

Page 3: UMass students organize campaigns for 11 peers running for town meeting seats.

Page 5: Jeremy Levinson criticizes SGA decision to dissolve student government.

Page 12: ESPN, URI, BU, all to visit the Cage this weekend.

WEATHER

You made it through the first week! Sunny skies today, temps will be 20-25 degrees.

Man hit by vehicle after exiting bus

Yesterday morning, at approximately 11:08 a.m., a man was hit by a Chevrolet Blazer on Governors Drive in Amherst.

The man exited a Pioneer Valley Transit Authority bus and ran in front of the oncoming vehicle, according to Chris Catalano, an assistant manager of the PVTA.

He was taken to Cooley Dickinson hospital in Northampton. Neither the University of Massachusetts police nor the hospital would release his name or his condition.

The matter is still under investigation, according to University police.

— TAMIR LIPTON

Jewish students voice their reactions to Persian Gulf War

By ALISON BUCKHOLTZ
Collegian Correspondent

From the moment Iraq invaded Kuwait on August 2, issues of war for Jewish Americans at the University of Massachusetts entered a complex, more difficult phase.

Echoes of history and worries about how today's Middle East activity will affect tomorrow's Israel have forced many UMass Jews to reevaluate concepts like the injustice of war. Some find the situation is no longer as clear-cut as the media — or their peers — would want.

"When Saddam Hussein first invaded Kuwait, I disagreed with our involvement. I thought we were butting in where we had no business," said Roni Glass, a senior who is Jewish.

"But later I began to wonder what would've happened if we had 'butted into' Germany's invasion of Poland in 1939," she said. "Millions of lives could've been saved. We didn't know what was ahead then, just like we don't know what's ahead now."

What's ahead, many believe, is unlooked-for trouble in Israel. Although there is no single "Jewish" opinion on the war, most Jewish students on campus, whether or not they describe themselves as political, religious, or secular, expressed concern for Saddam Hussein's first Scud target.

"Israel's stability affects me personally," said junior

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

For Your Information

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1

Dance — Iota Phi Theta is sponsoring a dance in the Campus Center Auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $4 for students and $5 for non-students.

Coffee Social — The LGBA coffee social will take place in CC 803 from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Lecture — "Are You Ready for the Draft?" Speaker Bill Gavin of the American Service Committee will speak in Stern Auditorium, Amherst College at 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3

Teach-in and Discussion — "The Middle East Crisis" will be sponsored by the Student Activities Office, the Civility Commission and the Office of Human Relations, in the Student Union Ballroom from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Rush Fair — A Greek Rush Fair, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, will be in the Campus Center Auditorium from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Rush Orientation — The Panhellenic Council is sponsoring a rush orientation in CC 163C from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Admission is free.

Teach-in — At Hampshire College in the East Lecture Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Community Forum — "The Relationship of the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict to the War in the Gulf," at Wright Hall, Smith College, at 4 p.m.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4

Teach-in — Fanklin Patterson Hall, Hampshire College 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Call 549-6502 for more details.

Information Session — National Student Exchange will give an information session in CC 803 from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Senior Portraits — Index will be taking photos in CC178 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The cost is $5 per sitting.

An Evening with Gentle George — sponsored by the Black Mass Communications project in Bowker Auditorium from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Admission is $2.

Colloquim — UMass Psychology Colloquium Committee presents Dr. Travis Thompson and a presentation "Behavior Disorder: Environmental and Neurochemical Mechanisms" in Tobin 521B at 3:30 p.m.

Math Anxiety Workshop — sponsored by Counseling and Advising for Older Students, will be in LGRT 1634 from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Service for Life, Prayer and Peace — a service will be held in Memorial Hall from 12 p.m to 1 p.m. for peace in the Gulf.

Lecture — Harold Jordan on "African Americans, Women, Gays and Lesbians in the U.S. Military" in the SBA Auditorium at 4 p.m. Sponsored by the STPEC, Women's Studies and the African American Studies Department.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Brown Bag Discussion — sponsored by the Women's Studies Deptartment, CC904 at 12:15 p.m.

Movie — "Jacob's Ladder," will be sponsored by the Racquetball Club in the CC Auditorium. Show times are 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The first show will cost $2, the remaining times will cost $3.

General Meeting — Japan American Club will meet in CC165-69 from 7 p.m. to 11p.m.

Draft Counseling — Every Wednesday at the Unitarian Church at 7 p.m.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7

Movie — "Total Recall" is being offered by SCUM in the CC Auditorium at 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The first showing costs $2, and the remaining shows cost $2.50.

Film — Sponsored by the LGBA in CC 803 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Blood Drive — in the Student Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Lecture — "The New European Order and the U.S." will take place in Converse Hall at Amherst College at 8 p.m.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8

Dance — sponsored by the Asian Student Association in the CC Auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The cost is $2 for members, $4 for non-members.

THE MASSACHUSETTS
DAILY COLLEGIAN

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 19,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief ..... Terry Starmer
Managing Editor ..... Jody Cabin
Editorial Editor ..... Jeremy Levinson
News Editor ..... Gayle Long
Sports Editor ..... Adnen Matt
Arts Editor ..... Danielle Dowling
Photography Editor ..... K.A. Burke
Black Affairs Editor ..... Sondra Sutton
Women's Issues Editors ..... Rua Kelly, Monique Tabon
Multicultural Affairs Editor ..... Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor ..... Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor ..... Trystan Skeigh
Business Manager ..... Susan George
Advertising Manager ..... Dave Melnick
Finance Manager ..... Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager ..... Jim Winterbottom
Subscriptions Manager ..... Stacy Rogers
Promotions Manager ..... Marc Proskin
Production Manager ..... Nicole Dumas
Day Graphics Manager ..... Jenn Burns

PROFFESIONAL STAFF

Business ..... Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics ..... Rory Evans

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor ..... Sarah DeMaster
Copy Editor ..... Lavinia Gammon
Layout Technician ..... Nicole Dumas
Photo Technician ..... K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor ..... Nicole Dumas
Typesetter ..... Kim Frisino
Production ..... Brad Hutchison, Chris Prell

Beat The January Blahs
AUDIOVOX $99
AM/FM Auto Reverse Cassette w/spkrs. Installed
Panasonic CQ-H15 From $199 Installed
"Upgrade your Factory System"
Panasonic CX-DP15 12 CD Disk Changer
•Quadruple Oversampling Digital Filter
•2 Digital to Analog Converters included. 160 watt amp with most factory systems
$699
Cellular Phones
Technophone 905 or Uniden CP 150C
BUY 1 GET 1 FREE
Call for complete details
*with mo. 6 months metro mobile service activation
Auto Security Systems
CLIFFORD THE ULTIMATE IN AUTO SECURITY
•Many models available •Up to 20% ins. disc •Shock sensor •125 dB siren •Remote transmitter
From $199 Installed
THULE SKI RACKS
More than just a ski rack! Carry Luggage, Bikes, Canoes, Lumber. You Name IT! Highest quality available. All model in stock and a perfect gift guaranteed!
Layaways and Instant Financing Available
CUSTOM CAR SOUND
573 RIVERDALE ST. W. SPRINGFIELD 734-4995
141 DAMON RD. NORTHAMPTON 586-5258

AEROBICS
FREE WEIGHTS
NAUTILUS
CARDIOVASCULAR FITNESS
College Student Special
$99 Membership
(exp. 5/29/91)
Daily Aerobics Classes
Reebok Step Classes
Olympic Free Weights
Stairmasters • Lifecycles
Special Rates
Walk-ins Welcome
nning • Massage • Saunas
Day Care • Open 7 Days
NORTHAMPTON NAUTILUS & ATHLETIC CLUB
216 N. King Street
Northampton - 584-4975

WINTER SALE
savings to 50% off shoes, boots, clothing
ZANNA
Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2503

CHANGES
FULL SERVICE SALON FOR MEN & WOMEN
A GIFT OF CHANGES
With a student ID, this certificate is redeemable for $5 off any service anytime at the salon. Please call for your appointment. Then relax and enjoy!
Valid with Jill, Michelle or Jack.
Expires April 1, 1991

TOWER Theaters
THE VILLAGE COMMONS • SOUTH HADLEY • 533-2663
"A BRILLIANT THRILLER! Suspenseful and erotic."
JOHN CUSACK ANJELICA HUSTON ANNETTE BENING
THE GRIFTERS
R
weekdays at 3, 6:45 and 9
Friday at 4:25,6:40 and 9:05
Sat and Sun at 2:15, 4:25,6:40 and 9:05
2 for 1 on Mon. Night on this film only
ALICE
weekdays at 3, 7 and 9:10
Friday at 4:25, 6:40 and 9:05
Sat and Sun at 2:15, 4:25, 6:40 and 9:05
Sorry, no 2 for 1 on this film
THE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW Starts Feb. 8 Fridays at Midnight

LOCAL

Students support peers

Plan campaign to gain town seats for students

By HEATHER BELL
Collegian Correspondent

A group of about 20 University of Massachusetts students had its first meeting last night to plan their campaign strategy for students running for town meeting seats in Amherst.

The group hopes to give students a voice in town politics, according to Ted Chambers, president of the Commuter Area Government, and the organization's leader.

Due to the financial crunch Amherst is experiencing Town Manager Barry Del Castilho has recommended massive cuts in the town budget. One of the many things slated to be cut is the Housing Review Board.

The Board controls rents in Amherst preventing landlords from passing their mortgages on to tenants. If it is eliminated rents in the area may rise sharply in the near future. Keeping the Review Board in place is of primary concern to many students who live off campus, according to Chambers.

Candidates also hope to address a number of other issues. Among them are: problems with students disrupting the town; possibly forming a student/town committee; and establishing a polling site on the UMass campus to encourage student registration and voting.

There are eight seats open in each precinct, and precincts 2, 3, 4, 9, and 10 cover various parts of the campus. Many of the canidates live in the dorms and will be leading efforts to educate the residents about the election to be held on March 26. Any student registered to vote may run for Town Meeting.

The first objective of the group is to publicize a massive voter registration drive for Feb. 20 and 21 at UMass sponsored by the Commuter Area Government. The group hopes to register at least 2,000 voters in the town of Amherst. Anyone interested in helping the campaign can attend the next meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 6 in the SGA office at 6 p.m. For more information, contact Ted Chambers at OCHO, 545-0865.

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

ICE AND CUBES — A familiar sculpture rises above the snow-covered banks of the Campus Pond.

SOM students volunteer for VIBES program

By JOY EVANS
Collegian Correspondent

Babysitting, bingo, and business degrees — although not usually associated together, the Volunteer Initiative Blending Education and Service, tries to combine these items in an attempt to break the stigma of the self-centered, career-oriented college student.

"Students don't really know how easy it is for them to make a difference," said Brit Alschuler, the program's original coordinator.

"This whole generation of students has a stigma that we are greedy and only interested in ourselves. That's not true. That stereotype can be a self-fulfilling prophecy."

VIBES is a two-year-old program within the School of Management that matches students with volunteer work at more than 50 local service organizations similar to the national Big Sister/Big Brother program, or assisting in other projects.

"Run by students and funded primarily through alumni donations, VIBES has placed more 200 students in volunteer positions throughout the Pioneer Valley this year, nearly doubling last year's involvement.

Other VIBES projects have included a Halloween party for children from Holyoke and Northampton with trick-or-treating in a residence hall and a visit to a haunted house at a University sorority, organized by David Shaw, coordinator of children's activities.

A lot of people admit that they come in because it's another line to stick on their resume. But you go ahead and volunteer and all of a sudden you realize that it changes you," he said.

Alschuler proposed starting a student-run volunteer program two years ago to Thomas O'Brien, dean of the School of Management.

"I love when people ask 'Why business students?' Why? Because these students are the same as others in their motivation to help the world," he said.

The VIBES program is not only available for business students, but to anyone interested in volunteering ther time to children, the elderly, or to veterans.

Most of the people in the program are enrolled in the School of Management, but a committee has been established to coordinate similar programs on a campus-wide level, said Karan Checani, one of this year's five coordinators.

■ reaction

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Amy Shrager. "As a Jew, I have ties to and feelings for it that a non-Jewish person wouldn't have. When I first heard Saddam attacked Israel, I wanted to cry. It wasn't the same emotion I had when the war started."

Other Jewish students expressed anger at the U.S. government, claiming the war is a misguided effort characterized by hypocricy. "[George Bush] dragged Israel into a war that didn't have to happen," said senior Andy Sirulnik. "Now Bush is using American Jews as a political tool to gain support for his policy."

Just as Jewish support is misplaced, Sirulnik said, so is anti-war anger. "A lot of anti-war activists are blaming Israel for a role it doesn't have," he said. "It's not, and has never been, a central player in Mid-East politics."

Campus teach-ins aim to fill in the gaps for students who need more information. But many Jewish students said they feel these events provide misinformation, biased opinion, and propaganda.

Some speakers were described as "offensive, inaccurate and callous," by Michelle Weinstock, a senior. "[Speakers] take something with a grain of truth and twist it into an illogical conclusion."

For instance, Weinstock said, speakers claimed "Israel could have prevented the war by brokering a peace conference . . . but Israel was not responsible for Iraq's invasion of Kuwait," no matter how it is phrased, Weinstock said.

Hillel Rabbi Saul Perlmutter agreed the emotion of the current conflict clouds a wider, more objective vision. "Jewish students, and all students, should educate themselves not just about the events of today but the history that led up to it," he said. "A historical perspective gives everyone a more objective, well-rounded view."

Even if one does not know "every historical footnote," Perlmutter said, often the nature or tone of misinformation is offensive. "You can still tell the person, 'I feel this way about what you said,'" he said. "Feelings are still legitimate."

Believing that Jewish concerns about the war are not being addressed, the Jewish Community of Amherst has organized a community meeting about the conflict to "provide a safe place for Jewish people to talk," Perlmutter said.

The meeting, Monday at 7 p.m. in the Hillel House, aims "not to convince anyone, but to allow people to express distress or fear, and translate that into positive action," according to Perlmutter. "They will also be able to receive support from one another, regardless of political perspective."

■ plane

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

be preparing for an attack.

The four-pronged Iraqi attack that began Tuesday evening and appeared to end yesterday involved only about 1,500 ground troops and 50 tanks and was considered a probe to test allied strength.

The fighting resulted in the first American ground casualties. The U.S. military command said today in Rivadh that 11 Marines were killed. It had earlier said that 12 were killed.

Staff officers at the Marine's 1st Division's headquarters said the Marines were killed late Tuesday evening along Kuwait's southwestern border in the desert about 15 miles west of Khafji. Stevens said three light armored vehicles were lost, but did not say whether the Marines killed were in the vehicles.

Al-Thawra boasted that Baghdad, not the allies, would set the timing of the ground confrontation.

Robot aides Mount Holyoke computer teacher

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

You probably knew it was just a matter of time before robots started taking over the classrooms as teachers. At Mount Holyoke College, "Susan B," the one-eyed, armless, two-foot tall teaching assistant arrived on campus in November.

"Susan B" is a new project being used at Mount Holyoke to teach students how to "drive a robot" through the use of computers, according to Claude Fennema, the assistant professor of computer sciences at Mount Holyoke.

A television camera mounted in the silver dome of its "head" feeds the picture it sees back to a computer program. The robot steers itself by analyzing the pictures from its television camera.

Students may watch a TV screen to see where the robot is going and what it sees as it rolls along on its wheels. The job of the students this semester is to create a program which teaches the robot how to move itself, and avoid hitting any unexpected obstacles, according to Fennema.

"Put a rolled-up paper to your eye and a magazine picture close to the end of it. Then try to guess what the picture is, looking at it bit by bit. This is how a robot 'sees', " Fennema said.

The robot will go down the hall and into an office by itself, according to its "representational memory." This mechanism allows it to navigate by discerning features in rooms, such as walls from doors. However, it is easily

CONTINUED ON PAGE

Now Open in Town!
Indian Palace Restaurant
Accept Visa/MC
Reservations Accepted
28 Main Street, Northampton, MA
584-4892

WORK FOR THE COLLEGIAN

POSTER SALE
Most Images
Only $5 and $6
MOVIE POSTERS
Romance
DANCE
Travel
Old Masters
SKIING
Baryshnikov
Einstein
Marilyn Monroe
Music
Originals
Rock Posters
Photography
"JAMES DEAN"
Scenic Landscapes
SPORTS
Floral
BEATLES
Over 1000 Different Selections
Home
Cars
Featuring Works By:
WARHOL, DALI, MONET, ANSEL ADAMS, TALBOT, M.C. ESCHER, VAN GOGH, PICASSO, ROCKWELL, MATISSE, DEGAS, WYETH
Sponsor WMUA 91.1 FM
Date Wed. Jan. 30 thru Fri. 1
Time 9 A.M. - 4:30 P.M.
Place Student Union Ballroom
BIGGEST & BEST SELECTION

◄◄◄ATTENTION►►►
STUDENTS LOOKING FOR PART TIME
NON WORK STUDY, ON OR OFF CAMPUS
ATTEND ONE OF THE "JEMS" WORKSHOPS
(Job Employee Matching System)
Workshops will be held February 4th in Rm 165 & February 5th in Rm 917 at the Campus Center.
Times: 11:30, 2:30, 4:00, & 6:30
Workshops sponsored by the Student Employment Office
243 Whitmore Administration Bldg 545-1951

DEBATE UNION MEETING
Wednesday, Feb. 6
7:00 pm — New Members
7:30 pm — Regular Meeting
Debate Trailer No. 3
(behind Thompson)
For further information call 545-2055

THE PUB
fun. food & spirits
Saturday Feb 2
UMASS Basketball v B.U. at Midnight
--Join Us--
UMASS Pre-Game Party
8-11
WHMP 99.3 FM
Live Remote Broadcasts Before the Game
FREE PRIZES
• UMASS Tickets • AMC Movie Passes
• Pub Gift Certificates • T-Shirts
FOOD SPECIALS
From Our New Menu
8-11 p.m.
Any Menu Nachos
$2.00
Buffalo Chicken Wings
$2.00
DRINK SPECIALS
Pitchers of Miller Lite
$4.50
Rolling Rock and Miller Genuine Draft
12 oz Bots
$1.25
SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT·AMHERST

Paint the town Greek!
ΣΚ ΚΚΓ ΔΖ ΣΔΤ ΧΩ
ΣΙΓΜ ΑΕΦ ΑΧΩ ΣΣΣ
Sorority Rush
sun. Feb 3rd
Spring 1991
Orientation
Campus Center rm. 163
registration begins at 5:45 pm.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

When the going gets tough, the gang of five takes off

It has been a long time since student government made itself relevant to the lives of students. There are few left at the University of Massachusetts who remember the era when the UMass student government deserved its reputation as one of the strongest in the nation. We've come a long way baby.

On the night of Wednesday, Jan. 30, history was made here at UMass. The cabal of officers of the undergraduate Student Government Association, frustrated by what they call futile attempts at government reform, announced that they had effectively suspended the SGA constitution and asked the University administration to dissolve student government. Furthermore, they requested that the administration take the lead in the formulation of a new government.

At first glace, this unprecedented action is a failure of the SGA elite to ram through their own agenda. Probing deeper we find that this backhanded coup d'etat signifies a complete and total failure of leadership.

This clique, President Natasha Diephuis, Trustee Angus McQuilken, Speaker Dan Chesnika and Registrar Rebecca Rudko and Treasurer Karen 'Alexander Hamilton' Talbot, have been consistent in their inability to bring order and effectiveness to student government. Rather than assuming the responsibility of their positions — and the hard work implied — they handed the government over to the administration. No, Trustee McQuilken, getting your picture in three newspapers on the same day does not constitute 'Hard work.' This is a political version of "If we don't play my way, I'll take my ball and go home."

The SGA has suffered from almost total ineffectiveness over the last few years. Indeed, organizing a group of several hundred people to work effectively is a tremendous task. It calls for understanding, persistence, cooperation and hard work. These officers assumed power unaware of this, with a narrow preconception of their roles. Apart from the sense of self-importance that comes from being able to call an administrator by his or her first name, they have completely failed the 18,000 undergrads that need effective representation. Moreover, by establishing this shameful precedent, they have jeopardized the needs of generations of undergraduates to come.

Jeremy P. Levinson

There is a tangle of important issues here. Firstly, the elitist style of so-called leadership that has been the rule since this group came power has been one of the most destructive forces in student government. In organizational dynamics, it is common for a small group to assume all de facto-decision making power and then turn around and chastize the disempowered for not doing their part. Such has been the case — Diephuis and McQuilken inherited a mess and, in their egoism, made it worse.

Their request for intervention by the administration is shocking. One need not be a campus politico to realize that the interests of the undergraduates and the administration often clash. But this kind of politics isn't appealing to these political wanna-be's. They have struck a back-room deal with the administration. Asking the administration to restructure student government is akin to empowering big business to design the unions for their employees.

Trustee McQuilken and Speaker Chesnika further soiled themselves. McQuilken stated that this move was partially out of responsibility to the segments of the student community most subject to discrimination and abuse — as if the administration has shown itself to be effective in guaranteeing the rights of students. Chesnika compared the officers' previous strategy of change to that of Dr. Martin Luther King and the current one to Malcom X's. This exploitation of the needs of certain communities is appalling and demonstrates these 'leaders' distance from the reality of the situation.

For the petty comforts of their positions, this Gang of Five has abandoned the undergraduate community at a time when leadership is most needed. What is worse, they have virtually guaranteed the absence of such leadership in the future.

Chuckled one staunch critic of the SGA leadership, "You know all the predictions of disaster that we made? Even we didn't expect them to come true.

They did.

Jeremy Levinson is a Collegian columnist

George Bush's 'New World Order': How do we get from here to there?

George Bush's frequent evocation of the phrase "New World Order" is one which merits closer analysis. Has the war in the Persian Gulf signalled the advent of an international system where peace and freedom and respect for law are the norm? Or is this so-called "New World Order" simply the perpetuation of the ancient adage, "Might makes right"? Simply articulating noble ideals hardly proves they sway in the real world.

Jay Allain

For such values to actually become the cornerstone of U.S foreign policy, drastic changes would have to occur in the way this country perceives itself — from policymakers, to media specialists, to the average citizen. It is ironic that in the president's State of the Union address he mentioned returning power "to the hands of the people."

The deepening recession at home and widespread feeling of being alienated from the government suggest that millions of U.S. citizens feel unable to impact events within their own lives. The Gulf war may have provided a nearly total diversion from problems at home. Yet even the media's Pavlovian backing of the U.S. war effort — with dissent being relegated to the sidelines — cannot obscure the fact that the United States is showing all the symptoms of a declining empire.

Whereas the ancient Romans had their Colosseum, we have the Super Bowl and the telegenic war. Excessive reliance on military might and the neglect of their own populaces are one feature that both empires have in common.

Media coverage of the Gulf War, besides revealing the pervasiveness of the television in modern life, also suggests its unmatched ability to frame the news, thereby manipulating human thought. Who among us has not found him or herself sometimes transfixed by reports on the war? Yet we are hardly getting the whole story.

Traumatized by the drawn-out conflict in Vietnam the Pentagon has learned that subsequent wars must be brief, all scenes of U.S. casualties must be censored, and we must win.

Thus, in many ways, this was America's war from the beginning. Living in the most violent society, we have been conditioned for war; we have squandered much of our national wealth preparing for war; and fixated on a World War Two mindset — we still crave the unambiguous war which pits good (us) against evil (an aggressor).

From this perspective, Saddam Hussein was the Pentagon's dream; in fact, we spent the Eighties sharing some of our military technology with him.

For any breakthrough in the way nations settle their conflicts, the "New World Order" spoken of earlier, we may find that leadership in the United States comes "from the bottom up." Without being isolationist, the citizenry must insist that we focus on our own internal problems.

A strengthened United Nations with a formidable peacekeeping force as a final resort should be assigned the task of reconciling differences between nations. The American people should also insist on a coherent energy policy to reduce reliance on foreign oil, cutbacks in the bloated Pentagon budget and an examination of domestic problems as a function of class.

For example, a volunteer army that is disproportionately represented by people of color tells us that opportunities were simply scarce at home. The higher infant mortality rates and shorter life spans for these people and the poor, generally show that quality medical care is accessible only to those with money. And we should insist, despite the one-sidedness of the media and the understandable concern of citizens for our fighting men and women, that the whole story be told.

Jay Allain is a Collegian correspondent

Work for the Ed/Op page! The editorial editor is looking for an associate editor and editorial cartoonists. Today is the last day to apply for associate editor. Please come down to the* Collegian *and fill out an application. Cartoonists are always welcome — share your work with millions: Submit it to this page.

* * *

You will submit. All submissions to the Ed/Op page should be typed, double spaced and include a phone number. A letter is less than 50 lines and a column between 50 and 70. We can't publish all submissions but we sure try. So, get on it.

Saddam's mean streak

In response to the heavy anti-war sentiment throughout the Collegian editorials, I write in defense of United States involvement in the Middle East.

Last July, William Safire wrote an editorial abhorring the murder of a British journalist.

He was hung by the Iraqi government in front of a crowd in Iraq.

Last August, Iraq invaded Kuwait. The United States mobilized after the invasion of Kuwait.

Saddam Hussein ordered the killing of 30,000 people in Northern Iraq.

On 60 Minutes, a former security guard of Saddam Hussein said that when Hussein saw a human being being thrown to his death in burning acid, it "made him happy."

Another report said that one of Saddam Hussein's advisers suggested an idea that was not in line with Hussein's policies and was killed, cut up, put in a bag, and sent to the widow.

My argument is my perspective. I do not see this as a war simply over oil. Saddam is a butcher, but no one wants to rehash these facts. The United States was guilty when we did not intervene to help the Jews who were being exterminated in World War II. Now people are angry that we are intervening. People have the right to protest the war, but unfortunately Saddam will not stop his quest for power even if the Allied troops packed up today. Saddam Hussein is not a nice guy.

John Sutton
Amherst

The decision to go to war is my own

The war in the Middle East has touched off much discussion of a possible draft. As a 20-year-old male I can say with 100 percent conviction that I will refuse to fight in any way against Iraq.

I say this because I am in deep opposition to this war. It is a war which has little to do with restoring Kuwaiti sovereignty or cheap oil. Rather, it is a war for control over natural resources vital to the world's economy.

George Bush has sent half a million troops to Saudi Arabia because Iraq has challenged United States influence in the region by overrunning Kuwait, a close ally to American oil interests.

The natural expression of power is the struggle to maintain and expand itself. This is what we are witness to as we watch the U.S. Air Force pulverize Iraq.

The question we must now ask ourselves is: Can we support our government's desire to forcefully increase its control over the natural resources of another people?

I say we cannot.

We must instead demand a peaceful resolution to the crisis that would leave Kuwait free of Iraqi troops and Saudi Arabia free of U.S. troops.

For those of us facing a potential draft it is essential that we question the actions taken by our government at every step. In this questioning, if an individual's moral code cannot find harmony with the demands and actions of the state, the individual must follow his own path.

If we fail to do this we cannot escape becoming a pack of mindless creatures ready to devour any propaganda no matter how false, or follow any order no matter how cruel.

Will Antebi
Northeast

The INDIA HOUSE
RESTAURANT
Serving in the same location on State St. since 1984
DINNER for 2
$13.95 COMPLETE
ENTREES CHANGE DAILY
SUNDAY—THURSDAY
5 P.M. — 9 P.M.
45 STATE ST.
NORTHAMPTON, MA
586-6344

Poll: limit media access in Gulf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Americans believe the military should increase its control over reporting of the Persian Gulf war, according to a poll released yesterday by a news organization.

The Times Mirror Center for the People and the Press asked people whether they thought the military should exert more control over how news groups report about the conflict.

Fifty-seven percent said yes. Thirty-four percent said the decision about how to report the war should be left to the news organizations. Nine percent said they didn't know.

The public views clashed with the views of many news organizations, which have argued that they have not been given adequate access to information about the fighting.

It also contrasted with a poll taken by the Times Mirror in 1986 about whether the government should have more control over how news organization report on terrorist incidents.

At that time, only 29 percent said the government should have more control.

The new poll was conducted Jan. 25 to 27 by telephone among 924 adults.

Princeton Survey Research Associates, which directed the poll, said it was subject to a sampling error of plus or minus 4 percentage points.

Asked whether they believed the military was hiding bad news, 78 percent said they did not.

Similarly, 72 percent believed news organizations were trying to give an objective picture of the conflict. Sixty-one percent said the coverage has been accurate for the most part.

The poll showed sharp difference between women's and men's reactions to the war coverage.

Sixty-four percent of the women said the war depressed them, compared to 33 percent of the men. Among women, 21 percent said they had trouble sleeping because of the war. Among men, it was 4 percent.

Overall, 79 percent approved of the way President Bush is doing his job. His approval rating was 76 percent among women.

Meanwhile, Iraq, which ordered almost all Western reporters out after the war began Jan. 17, has begun allowing a small number of journalists from Europe back into Baghdad.

The Iraqi Embassy in Amman issued visas yesterday to 24 journalists, none of them representing American news media.

■ robot

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

stalled by obstacles that it does not recognize in its memory, according to Fennema.

"Susan B" was created by Mac Tech, a Boston-based company.

Fennema is new to Mount Holyoke this semester. He worked in robotics in private industry and in academia. He went on to pursue a doctoral degree in computer science from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Domino's Pizza
Amherst/Hadley
256-8911
South Hadley
535-1111
DOMINO'S PIZZA

Buy ANY Large Pizza
GET A SMALL 1-ITEM PIZZA
for only .30c
DOMINO'S PIZZA
Expires 3-30-91
1 coupon per order

Buy ANY-Pizza
Get a 2nd of equal or lesser value for only $1.99
DOMINO'S PIZZA
expires 3-30-91
1 coupon per order

Buy ANY-Large Pizza for the
PRICE OF A SMALL PIZZA
DOMINO'S PIZZA
expires 3-30-91
not good with any other offer

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
Think Spring!
A perfect time for renewal and new beginnings.
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Spring 1991
Renew your life goals, your career, or your personal life. Over 200 fresh credit courses and Adventures in Lifelong Learning workshops are being hatched at UMass this spring.
Late register through February 11.
Classes start January 29.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.
DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Dellaria Salons invites you to visit our Amherst Salon anytime Monday through Wednesday and save $5.00 on Haircuts, or receive a Haircut & Perm for $50.00. You need only present your student ID.
26 Main Street, Amherst 256-8331
Not valid with other promotions
DELLARIA SALONS
BOSTON • SOHO • LOS ANGELES

ARTS & LIVING

Designs for future NEA project complete

By DANIELLE DOWLING
Collegian Staff

It will be composed of metal sculptural elements ranging in height from 12 feet to 24 feet. The elements will be aligned on angles of the sunrises and sunsets, on the solstices and equinoxes, and the North-South axis. One of the structures will create the illusion that the sky has been brought down to earth. Views from various vantage points will emphasize the interrelationships between art elements and the earth.

It is entitled The Sky's the Limit, and is a public art project funded by the National Endowment for the Arts. The project area is at the heart of the UMass campus; located between the Student Union, Campus Center and the campus pond. The project has just completed the design phase. The construction date has yet to be set.

The designs were completed through a collaborative effort between internationally renown artist Nancy Holt and the distinguished Walker Kluesing Design Group.

Holt, originally from Massachussetts, has had her work exhibited in major museums throughout the United States and Europe.

The Boston based Walker-Kluesing Design group, a landscape architecture, site planning and urban design firm, has served major museums, libraries, hospitals, corporate headquarters, colleges and universities.

This project is supported by a grant from the NEA with additional financial support from the UMass Arts Council. The proposal is dedicated in memory of Cherie L. Kluesing, who was a partner in the firm and a vital force in this project.

Photo courtesy Hampshire College

"Ki" is the title of this work by calligrapher Hisako Yokoyama.

Student Union Gallery to exhibit monoprints

Metaphysical Constructions.

That is the title of an exhibition of monoprints by Janet Walerstein Winston coming to the Student Union Art Gallery at UMass.

For the past thirty years Winston has dabbled in paint. She started in the abstract expressionist school and has since experienced cycles of increased realism and even surrealism, emphasizing nature and the human form.

This exhibit marks her first attempt at using the monoprint technique. It is a body of work that was first inspired by watching a group of contact improvisation dancers.

Her subsequent monoprint work contrasts organic figure shapes with geometric hard edges to duplicate the intertwining of science with human life. As she created these prints, Winston allowed the textured shapes to dictate the direction she pursued.

The exhibition will open at the gallery, which is located in the Student Union Building, on Tuesday, February 5 with a reception for the artist from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. The show will run until February 21. Gallery hours are Monday-Friday 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

— DANIELLE DOWLING

Correction

There were two grievous errors made in the Art Gallery article in Thursday's newspaper. An exhibit of Natalie Coletta's work will also premier at Hampden Gallery on Feb. 7 and the hours for the Augusta Savage Gallery in New Africa House are Monday and Wednesday from 1 p.m.-5 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 3 p.m.-7 p.m. We are sorry for these mistakes.

ACADEMY-MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
NOW-The Only Area Engagement
Curtain Daily 6:30 and 9:00
Rostand's classic romantic adventure with GERARD DERPARDIEU as the "DEFINITIVE CYRANO"—N.Y. Times
"MAGNIFICENT A HUGELY ENTERTAINING SPECTACLE!" —Peter Travers, ROLLING STONE
"IT'S A REALLY ROMANTIC AND FUN MOVIE" —Siskel & Ebert
"GLORIOUS" —Richard Schickel, TIME
CYRANO DE BERGERAC
A film by JEAN-PAUL RAPPENEAU
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

$2.00 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's 193 MAIN ST. AMHERST
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

PIZZA Bruno's SUBS
193 MAIN ST. AMHERST
SALADS LASAGNA
WE DELIVER QUALITY
call us at 256-0222
and WE'LL BRING LUNCH to YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!
Limited Area
FREE DELIVERY
OPEN DAILY 11 a.m.

$1.00 OFF ANY MEDIUM PIZZA
One coupon per pizza please
Not valid in conjunction with other specials
FREE DELIVERY
Bruno's 193 MAIN ST. AMHERST
CALL 256-0222
Limited Delivery Area

Submit
Art Poetry
Prose Photography
Spectrum
Magazine
406E Student Union
University of Massachusetts
10 [illegible]
Tel: 413 [illegible] 2405
Deadline: February 4 1991

"WHAT'S LEFT" Sale
Savings to 70% off winter shoes, boots, clothing and accessories.
ZAMA
Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zama • 18 N. Pleasant Street • Amherst
Monday-Saturday 10-6 Sunday 12-5
413 253 2561

More than a typical industrial dance band

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Meat Beat Manifesto
99%
Mute Records

One and a half years ago the art of the sound byte was heavily altered, leaving it to be yet topped by any other artist working in this field of experimental music. Storm The Studio hit the dance charts by force leaving behind what has to be one of the finest examples of militant (for lack of any other better term) dance music that the Chicago based Wax Trax records has ever put out.

Two sides of scratching, sound byting, short wave radio sampling, screeching, screaming, rapping, and various other forms of aural assault. Their homemade sound effects, in any slab of vinyl they may put out, mold their sound into something so unique, so destructive, and so original (in a medium that is hurtin' for something different), that you can't put these guys down. They demand your attention and if you have half a brain you'll listen.

99% does just this. There are some tracks off this album that are so good, and so agile to diverse dance club going crowds, that I'm surprised area club D.J.'s haven't picked up on it. Some claim that they're too hardcore, that their compositions range far beyond anything mainstream. But how can a club claim not to get people on the dance floor with slammin' tunes such as "Deveate (DV8)," or "Helter Skelter." They try to add a little bit of flavor to dance drudge, and try to disspell the tedium of the typical 4/4 beat that almost anyone can create with a MIDI and a computer operated drum machine.

"Hello Teenage America" is a song far too short. Psychedelic hip-hop at it's trippiest! Taking a Miles Davis riff and adding something that even Kraftwerk couldn't have dreamed up, is my idea of fun. At their recent show in New York last spring, they took all their tunes far beyond what could have been felt on recording. They don't want you to just listen and say "cool," they want you to feel everything in your guts. When the beat goes down, they want you to become helpless, as if you were in an earthquake; constantly vibrating.

Apart from some problems with 99% (mostly those being the continual rehashing of old material), it's a product far above their contemporaries such as Front 242, or Skinny Puppy. They're good too, mind you. But considering the feel and aural magnitude of the contents of this record, Meat Beat Manifesto are in a category all by themselves.

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM Tel: 549-2692

Welcome Back... Enjoy this Semester!

Koch's Golden Anniversary Beer
24 16 oz. bottles
$8.99 +dep.

Budweiser Reg-Light-Dry
12 12 oz cans
$6.79 +dep.

Ruble Vodka
1.75 L
$8.99

Kahlua Liquer
750 ml
$11.99

Knickerbocker
12 12oz. cans
$4.49 +dep.

Kegs Starting at $35.00

Captain Morgan Spiced Rum
750 ml
$7.99

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE!
Plenty of Free Parking•Diagonally Across from UMass Stadium
•Next toThe Laundry Club
6 University Drive
at Newmarket Center, Amherst

Tele-check for your personal check
Scott's Gift Certificates
Mass lottery Season tickets
MEGABUCKS We Have It
We now have all Mass Lottery games!
Not responsible for Typographical Errors

AMHERST CINEMA
Now Playing
THE RUSSIA HOUSE
starring
Sean Connery & Michelle Pfeiffer
Mon-Thurs.
One show 7:30
Fri, Sat, Sun
7:00 and 9:15
student discount with valid I.D. $3.00

WANTED

Assistant Business Manager
Assistant Finance Manager

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

We are looking for:
Ambitious
Responsible
Organized
SOPHOMORES
with good communications skills.

Applications are available at the Collegian — 113 Campus Center and must be submitted no later than Friday February 8. 1991.

The Collegian is an E-O-E

HILLEL'S ONE CREDIT COURSES FOR SPRING 1991

All courses will meet in the Hillel House Conference Room

CONTEMPORARY JEWISH WOMEN WRITERS #403956–J.S.192E
Alternate Mondays, 7:00-9:00pm
Instructor: Rosemary Horowitz
Explore the writings of Ozick, Piercy, Rich, Paley, Kay-Kantrowitz, and others

BIBLICAL WELLSPRINGS OF ISRAELI POETRY #403658–J.S. 192C
Tuesdays 1:15 pm-2:15pm
Instructor: Yehudit Heller
Explore how ancient images speak to modern day experiences.

Call 549-1710 for Information and Registration

FOOD, SEX, SABBATH, SPIRITUAL CELEBRATIONS #403507–J.S. 192B
Tuesday 2:30-3:30pm
Instructor: Rabbi Saul Perlmutter
This course will focus on the Jewish perspective about these basic life issues.

MIDRASH #404259–J.S. 192G
Tuesday, 7:00pm-8:00pm
Instructor: Rabbi Phil Cohen
We will study the ancient process of interpretation and have a chance to create our own midrash.

100 YEARS OF ZIONISM #403805-J.S. 192D
Alternate Wednesdays, 3:00-5:00pm
Instructor: Micha Balf (Kibbutz Rep. to N. E.)
This course deals with the ideas and struggles that led to the founding of the state of Israel through the events of the last decade with particular emphasis o the development of the Israel/Arab conflict.

READING THE BIBLE J.S. 192H
Thursday 1:15-2:15pm
Instructor: Ellen Robbins
Reading of the weekly Torah portion with Rashi's commentary in translation.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

The growing field of animal liposuction

Hooting excitedly, primitive scientists Thak and Gork try out their new "Time Log."

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON

THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW AGAINST HAVING SCHOOL ON DAYS WHEN THERE'S ENOUGH SNOW TO PLAY IN.
OF COURSE, I DON'T THINK THERE SHOULD BE SCHOOL IN THE FALL EITHER... AND SUMMER'S OUT ALREADY.... AND THEN THERE'S SPRING..
I GUESS I'D GO TO SCHOOL A DAY IN NOVEMBER AND A DAY IN MARCH.
BY SECOND GRADE, YOU'D BE PACKING YOUR LUNCH BOX WITH DENTURE CLEANERS.
AND BEFORE I GOT TO THIRD GRADE, I COULD RETIRE.

ROBOTMAN
By JIM MEDDICK

DAD, I GOT MY FIRST SPEEDING TICKET TODAY. BUT IT WASN'T MY FAULT. I WAS LISTENING TO A HEAVY METAL CASSETTE...
THE BEAT GOT TO ME... AND THE SUBLIMINAL LYRICS... I... I COULDN'T CONTROL MYSELF. ...I...I...!
SAY NO MORE, SON... I KNOW WHAT TO DO...
Kickin' down the cobblestone... Lookin' for fun an' feelin' groooooovy!...
SIMON AND GARFUNKEL'S GREATEST HITS?
I DON'T WANT TO TALK ABOUT IT.

ROBOTMAN
By JIM MEDDICK

HOUSEHOLD CLEANSER MAN! LONG TIME NO SEE!
HELLO, MY ANDROID FRIEND. I THOUGHT I'D DROP BY AND...
WAIT A MINUTE... IS THAT...? YES, IT IS! MY KEEN EYES HAVE SPOTTED A DISTRESS CALL...
THE SIGN IN THAT WINDOW READS, "HELP WANTED."
I MUST GO NOW!
BUT THAT'S JUST THE LOCAL CAPTAIN BURGER!
YOU HEARD ME! DROP THAT SWORD OR I SHALL BE FORCED TO BEND IT LIKE CARDBOARD!
BUT IT IS CARDBOARD!

TANGELO PIE
By TIM SNIFFEN

five dollars, please.
Why not five thousand?
Look-- the last time I tried that, they abducted my roommate!
-Clerical error. Never happen again.
JUST GIVE ME MY FIVE BUCKS BEFORE I KICK YOUR USER-FRIENDLY BUTT TO HELL + BACK!!
OKAY! OKAY!
Damn Age of Technology.
Yeah, well THANKS FOR USING SHAWMUT! MAY YOU CHOKE ON A PAPER CLIP + DIE!

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"The best way to get praise is to die."

— Italian proverb

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

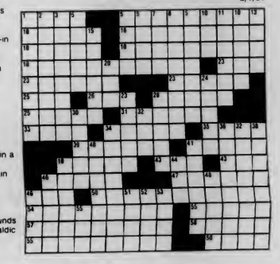
ACROSS
1 Reddish-brown chalcedony
5 Scold
14 Pas de —
16 City in Wisconsin
17 "It's — Unusual Day"
18 Small brook
19 Likenings
21 Printing measures
22 Peaks
23 Day of the wk.
25 Small island
26 American Indian
28 Wharves
29 British good-byes
31 One of the acting Plummers
33 Bullfight cheers
34 For — at very low prices
35 Cartoonist Thomas, 1840-1902
39 Go — decay
41 Lassoer
42 Track tipsters
43 Presidential nickname
45 Holiday lead-in
46 Magnetic needle point
47 Devices, in a weigh
49 Gas. Comb. form
50 Separation
54 Rector's residence
56 Flower part
57 Estranged
58 Derogatory in a nasty way
59 Clothes again
60 Looks at

DOWN
1 Detached musical sounds
2 Having heraldic bearings
3 Private sleeping car area
4 Med. distribution places
5 — Amaz song
6 Pied Piper followers
7 Continent: Comb. form
8 Smelling
9 Cut slits in
10 Beavers domain
11 Houston footballers
12 Small songbirds
13 Court dividers
15 — quo
20 From Q to U
24 Heavens: Comb. form
27 Makes more comfortable
28 Zoo favorite from China
30 Movie star Mary or John Jacob
32 A Stooge
34 — a rail
36 As American as —
37 Lover's evening song
38 Railway bridge supports
40 Surpassed
41 Class break
42 Very hot
44 College deg.
46 Football Hall of Famer "Greasy"
48 Last words
49 On — with: equal to
51 Big tubs
52 Curved molding
53 Burgundy and claret
55 Cont. story

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

A	R	A	L		A	B	E	A	M		A	D	E
N	E	V	A		D	E	L	T	A		T	I	N	T
C	I	I			O	N	A	I	R		E	S	T	M
H	I	S	C	H	R	I	S	T	M	A	S	P	I	E
O	T	O		O	N	T			S	T	E	R	N
R	E	S	T	S		O	Z	A	R	K		R	E	C
		R	I	E		M	O	D	A		I	S	L	E
	B	R	E	A	D	A	N	D	H	O	N	E	Y
R	O	O	T		I	K	E		S	I	T
A	T	T		S	T	A	I	R	S		L	O	S	E	S
C	H	A	S	M			T	E	E		W	A	L	A
H	E	R	C	U	R	D	S		A	N	D	W	H	E	Y
E	R	I	A		A	R	E	N	T		E	A	V	E
L	E	A	L		P	E	A	C	E		B	R	I	E	R
O	N	A		T	I	L	E	R		S	A	N	S

2/1/91



MENU

LUNCH
Meatball grinder
Seafood pasta primavera

DINNER
Tuna melt
Savory baked chicken

BASICS LUNCH
Vegetable grinder
Tofu pasta primavera

BASICS DINNER
Tuna melt
Savory baked chicken

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be prepared to deal with obstacles or intricate details. A change in office personnel puts you in line for o promotion. Follow your game plan, displaying your talents to best advantage.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Differences of opinion with your co-workers could lead to a stressful situation. Diplomacy helps you avoid a scene. Watch the stock market carefully but leave investing to the experts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Putting more effort into your work will be royally rewarded. Avoid all forms of financial speculation. Those in love look forward to announcing an important date. Share good news with relatives.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Travel is highly recommended now. Keep expenses in check and sove receipts. Self-improvement projects will boost your confidence. Romance intensifies. Real estate is still on excellent investment.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): Distant affairs become more profitable. A chance encounter with a member of the opposite sex could lead to a happy romance. Co-workers could be testy–give them space.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): Give others the benefit of the doubt, but keep o tight hold on your personal strings. Your powers of concentration ore excellent. Ask important questions of experts. A new approach may be necessary.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 22): The spotlight is on your relationship with someone who makes you feel comfortable. A member of the opposite sex offers constructive advice–follow it to the letter.

SCORPIO (Oct 23-Nov 21): Impulsive acts could lead to embarrassment. Consult o lawyer regarding contracts. An energetic, forceful person helps you put your affairs in order. Go slow in romance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22-Dec 21): Refuse to be pushed into making a promise. Unexpected developments involving a relative or neighbor could affect your business dealings. Keep your professional and personal affairs separate.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Eliminate the frills in order to reduce household expenses. Weigh the pros and cons of making a job change. Attending a social event is more fun than anticipated. Listen to a teenager's problems.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb 18): A good day to spruce up your home. Write overdue letters and make strategy phone calls. Your income rises, thanks to the efforts of family members. Show your gratitude.

PISCES (Feb 19-March 20): You can make great strides on the job front today. Showcase your skills and someone will see you in o new light. Conversations with VIPs win you praise. Romance could be rocky.

CONSIDERING LAW SCHOOL?

Consider this.

Just 4 months of graduate-level study in The Philadelphia Institute's nationally acclaimed ABA-approved legal assistant program will prepare you for a successful career in one of many dynamic specialties of the law.

- ☐ Administrative and Public Law
- ☐ Corporate Finance and Business Law
- ☐ Employee Benefit Plans
- ☐ Fiduciary Management
- ☐ General Practice
- ☐ International Trade Law and Business
- ☐ Litigation Management
- ☐ Real Estate Law

Housing, Financial Aid, Merit Scholarships available. Nationwide Job Placement.

"The 'Harvard' of Paralegal Training" – The New York Times Career Planner

For more information, return this coupon or call 1-800-289-6321.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____
State _____ Zip _____
Phone _____ College _____ (Yr. of Grad)

Mail to: The Philadelphia Institute
1926 Arch St., Philadelphia, PA 19103

An equal opportunity educator R

THE PHILADELPHIA INSTITUTE

OPEN HOUSE April 29

WELCOME BACK !

Spring is coming
- it's time to get going with the
Mather Career Center!

☞ For Seniors

Interview opportunities are still available with

Pfizer	for CHEM, BIOCHM, BIOL
Merck Co.	for ANSCI, BIOCHM, CHEM, MICBIO
CIGNA	for ACCTG, ACTSCI, MATH, PHYSIC, STATIS
Naval Underwater Systems	for ENVENG

Contact the Recruiting Office to sign up for an interview

☞ For all Students

Workshops are being offered in Field Experience Planning, Resume Writing, Interviewing Skills, and Campus Recruiting starting next week. Get your copy of the schedule at the Mather Career Center or at the Satellite Office in Room 16 of Curry Hicks. Don't miss out!

THE MATHER CAREER CENTER
Career Planning and Placement • Cooperative Education • Internships
Fraternity/Sorority Park - on the Orchard Hill bus route. (413)545-2224.
Where Careers Take Off!

■ women's basketball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

ed 11 points and eight rebounds.

Team depth was a problem for the Minutewomen, as Ireland, Kristofik, Maleeka Valentine and Trish Hessel all played over 30 minutes. Keyburn McCusker only played 14 minutes as she continues to readjust to playing in her second game since returning from a broken pinkyfinger on her right hand.

"We tried to rest our starters as best we could," said Hewelt, "but the bench didn't step up. The starters were out there hustling and we stuck with them."

Saturday, UMass travels to New Jersey to face nationally-ranked Rutgers. Tip-off is at 2 p.m.

George Washington, 74-42

Massachusetts (42)
Kristofik 5-10 7-8 17; Valentine 0-3 1-2 1; Ireland 5-10 1-5 11; Hessel 2-11 1-2 5; Muza 1-2 0-1 2; McCusker 1-3 1-4 3; Nevarez 0-0 0-0 0; Schusler 0-0 0-0 0; Moran 0-0 1-2 1; Pemberton 1-3 0-1 2; Richard 0-1 0-0 1. Totals 15-43 12-26 42.
George Washington (74)
McArdle 1-5 3-4 5; Shasky 6-10 4-6 18; Nordling 7-12 0-0 14; Riley 4-6 2-5 10; Lanham 2-2 0-0 4; Dolphin 0-5 0-4 0; Mercer 1-5 1-2 3; Phillips 4-9 2-2 12; Lee 1-2 0-0 2; Franklin 0-2 2-5 2; Siefert 0-1 2-2 2; Nixon 0-2 2-2 2. Totals 26-61 18-34 74.
Halftime Massachusetts 22, George Washington 36. Three-point goals Shasky (2), Phillips (2). Fouled out Ireland. Rebounds Massachusetts 45 (Ireland 8), George Washington 47 (Lee 7). Assists Massachusetts 6 (Valentine 3), George Washington 10 (Riley 4). Total Fouls Massachusetts 23, George Washington 20. A - 231.

Good Things

For 18 Years and We're Still Here!

Blouses Skirts Dresses

India Print Bedspreads · Earrings · Mugs · Rings · Bracelets · Chains · Chinese Shoes · Pants

Area Rugs · Happy B'day Cards · Hawaii Posters · Candles · Tie-Dye · Incense Toys

Sale 20 to 50% off selected Clothing

Great Gifts & Cards

THE MERCANTILE Sun 12-5 Daily 10-6

Northampton-18 Center St.
Amherst-Carriage Shops

WMUA NEW-PERSON MEETING

WMUA 91.1

RADIO CALLING

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4TH, 7 PM
CAMPUS CENTER ROOM 168
• all are welcome •
for more information call 545-2876

Track, field prepare for dual meet

By KEITH BENNETT
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's track team will travel to the University of New Hampshire tonight to compete against UNH and Holy Cross.

The UNH Wildcats come into the meet with a 3-1 record following victories against Rhode Island, Bowdoin and Colby and a close loss against Maine earlier in the season.

UMass coach Ken O'Brien describes New Hampshire as a pretty tough team who rarely has a weakness. O'Brien said that he expects the Wildcats to come to the meet with a very balanced team and two or three top-level athletes.

Holy Cross will feature several top-level athletes and a number of events in which they are very strong. O'Brien said he expects Holy Cross to pick up a number of points in the pole vault, which he perceives to be their strongest event, and the sprinting events, where Adrian Bonner is expected to dominate.

O'Brien described Bonner as "untouchable" and said he picks Bonner as the favorite to win the 55-meter dash at the New England Championships this year.

Although Holy Cross has a number of outstanding athletes, O'Brien does not expect them to have the depth that UNH and UMass have.

O'Brien said he sees the meet as being a very tight contest between three teams who match up on paper very closely. The deciding factor in this meet, according to O'Brien, should be simply whichever team can manage to sweep or take first and second place in a number of the events in which the teams appear to be evenly matched.

Of his own team, O'Brien said his athletes had kept themselves in fairly good condition over winter break and that he had seen a lot of improvement in the team between their loss to MIT on Jan. 18 and their victories over Bowdoin and Springfield on Saturday.

O'Brien called this meet "a nice tune-up" for the Eastern Conference Championship Feb. 9. UMass finished third in last year's Conference meet just ahead of UNH and Holy Cross, who finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

Team fares well, evens up record

By KEITH BENNETT
Collegian Correspondent

After dropping their first two meets of the season, the University of Massachusetts men's track team evened their dual-meet record at 2-2 with victories against Bowdoin and Springfield on Saturday.

The Minutemen earned six first places, nine second places and five third place finishes in the meet, totalling 71 points. Springfield placed second with 51 points and Bowdoin took third with 37.

Senior Jon Corso won the 1500-meter race in a time of 3 minutes, 57.29 seconds. Sophomore Matt Simon finished just .65 seconds behind Corso to capture second.

Sophomore David Borges captured the high-jump with a leap of 6 feet, 4 inches. Brian Bednarek finished second at 6-2.

Bednarek and Borges flip-flopped their finishes from the high-jump in the pole-vault competition. Bednarek captured the event with a clearance of 13 feet and Borges added a second place clearance of 12-6.

Jeff White won the 55M hurdles race in a time of 8.16, just ahead of teammate Paul Doyle, who finished second in 8.38.

Junior Steve Brown won the 400M run in 50.13.

The 4 x 800-meter relay team also took first with a time of 8:15.95.

Second place performances were turned in by Jeff Peterson in the triple-jump, Don Caporotti in the long-jump, Kevin Walters in both the 55M dash and the 200M run, and the 4x400-meter relay team.

Finishing third for UMass were Marc Dematteo in the triple-jump, Joe Kourafas in the long-jump, Caporotti in the dash, Brian King in the 800M and Pat Ryan in the 3,000M.

■ men's hoop preview

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

the Minutemen to emerge with a 77-74 win.

"They've got good talent and come at you athletically," Calipari said.

The Boston University team, with which the Minutemen will share the camera Saturday, was rocked by the loss of two members of the Jarvis family this fall: coach Mike Jarvis left to join George Washington and the A-10 in the off-season, and nephew Russel Jarvis, a 6-foot-7 junior center, quit the team in late November. Senior guard Reggie Stewart has carried BU (6-11) since, scoring 17.6 points per game. Stewart scored 30 points in consecutive games last week, against Maryland and Vermont.

In the Maryland game, an 85-59 loss at College Park, Stewart scored the Terriers' first 14 points and 20 of BU's 26 first-half points.

■ silent Cager

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

the excitement level was astronomical. Articles were appearing in the sports magazines, and Tom Garrick, 'Silk' Owens and Kenny Green became household names.

The other factor not allowing me to root against Rhode Island is that my URI roommate and I became really good friends with Rhode Island's star guard, Eric Leslie.

He is an incredible player and I hope he is given a chance to try and make it to the next level.

I hope you can understand my reasons for not being able to root against URI. I honestly want UMass to win and start on their way to the tournament, but I just won't be vocalizing it tonight.

Stephen Katsoulis is a Collegian correspondent

Council Travel

LONDON · FRANKFURT · PARIS · SYDNEY · TOKYO · AMSTERDAM · AUCKLAND · HONG KONG

Cheapest Fares to •EUROPE
•ASIA
•AUSTRALIA/NEW ZEALAND

Plus railpasses, international student ID, tours and much more. Ask for our free catalog

413-256-1261

AMHERST

79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

charlie's

1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11am
7 days a Week
Kitchen open 'til midnight
Game Room with 2 pool tables

Sunday 10c Potato Skins
9:00p.m. — 12:00 a.m.

Drinks of the Week:
Charlie's Punch $1.50 French Moca Coffee $1.95

Food Giveaways
Mon. 10 cent Mozzarella Sticks 9pm-12am
Tues. 10 cent Buffalo Wings 9pm-12am
Wed. 25cent Pizza Slices and 99 cent Nachos 9pm-12am
Thurs 10 cent Beer Steamed Baby Franks 9pm-12am
Sunday 10 cent Potato Skins 9pm-12am
WE ACCEPT MC-VISA-AMEX

WINTER SESSION GRADE REPORTS

will be mailed to students' current local addresses the week of February 11.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

AL-BUMS NEED EXTRA CASH?
WE BUY•SELL•TRADE
USED CDs, LPs & CASSETTES
All Used Sales Guaranteed.

HIGH QUALITY•EXTRA STURDY
WOOD FURNITURE
Bookcases•L.P. Shelves•Tables•Stereo Centers
CD & Cassette Racks•Coffee Tables and More!
ALL SHAPES AND SIZES

Hours: Mon.-Fri. 10-6 Sun. 12-5 181 n. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-7137

Local Colors
An arts and crafts gallery
Featuring the latest works from Valley area artists.

15 percent off selected items with this ad

REAL PRICES FOR REAL PEOPLE
At the Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant Street
Downtown, Amherst
Hours: Sun.,Mon.,Tues. 12-5
Weds.,-Sat. 10 a.m.-6p.m.
549-7373

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON — THURS 8:30-3:30 ● DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION ● CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

25 + CLUB BUSINESS MEETING. Tuesday, 2/5, 7PM, Campus Center Room 802.

LESBIAN BISEXUAL GAY ALLIANCE General Meeting, Feb. 5, 8:15PM, Campus Center. Check schedule by elevators for room. All welcome!

THINK SPRING BREAK!
Think Equalities!
Come hear the band and book your Spring Break packages. Feb 14 SUB

WELCOME BACK BRUNCH! Good food, good fun, with old and new! Sunday, Feb 3, 1:00PM. Hillel House Lounge.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST- downtown ideal for visiting parents and friends- 549-0733.

CARIBBEAN- $189! The warmth of the Caribbean or Mexican coast for a week. INT Air Sunhitch + m 212-864-2000

HEY! Get your recycled note pads loose-leaf and spiral notebooks at the Residential Recycling Program Table on the Campus Center Concourse. All proceeds benefit the expansion of the Recycling Program in the Residence Halls. Call 5-1153 for more info.

NEED BUSINESS EXPERIENCE? Volunteer at the UMass Student Federal Credit Union Info Session Sunday February 3 7PM CC811B.

AUTO FOR SALE

1986 PLYMOUTH HORIZON 6GK, excellent condition, going oversee, asking $1600, call 549-6537.

1987 HONDA CIVIC CRX, Emaculate condition, 87000 miles, moon roof, Bleupunct Stereo, New Tires, $4300. Call Mac 253-4070.

CHEN STYLE TAI CHI

COME LEARN THIS earliest form of T'ai Chi which features slow/fast, soft/vigorous, empty/solid movements. Class begins Feb 5 and 7. Call 253-4057.

COLLEGE PRO PAINTERS

IS SEEKING "highly motivated UMass Students who would like the opportunity to earn $10,000 this summer running their own painting business. No previous painting experience is required and all majors are welcome to apply. There will be an informal information session on Tuesday Feb 5 at 7PM in Campus Center room 811. For more details call 1-800-346-4649.

FOR RENT

LARGE BEDROOM in 3 bedroom apt- Putton Village 235/month 1 or 2 people (women preferred). Call 549-5947 Poonam or call-soon 549-3745 and leave message on machine.

ONE BEDROOM available in Gilreath Apt. $175/mo. + utilities. Preferably undergrad male. Call 549-1691.

ROOMATE NEEDED for large bedroom in Puffton. $151.00/month. Very low electric bill. Heat included. Call 549-2930, ask for Mark.

SINGLE ROOM in beautiful house 1.5 miles from campus. All appliances. Study hard, party hard with us. Non-smoker. 230 + util. 549-4211.

WINTER SPECIAL: 1 month rent 99 cents with one year lease.
2 bedroom- $450
3 bedroom- $537
Sunderland. Free bus route, laundry facilities, swimming pool, garden plots. short term lease available.
665-3856.

FOR SALE

BROKEN MINOLTA EP350 Photocopier for sale! Approx. $200 to repair. Best offer. Call Jeff at 6-4630 or OHAG 5-3185.

DORM-SIZED REFRIGERATOR $39. Call 549-8417, Leave message.

FUTONS
Sleep with Melawampe
Lowest Prices
Best Quality
256-0648

LETTER QUALITY PRINTER
Mint condition
Print Buffer
Daisy Wheel 35LPS Citizan
120 Columns Ask: $325
Call: Wayne 584-7648

STEREO YORK New remote, 8 watts speakers, bonus 2 extra speakers $100/BO. 253-0644.

HELP WANTED

9-$15 HOURLY AVERAGE
Sell art reproduction (prints)
part time st school, low key, management at some schools, National publisher. Call collect 207-363-4730.

APPLICATIONS now being accepted at Admissions Center for Tour Guides, Student Admissions Representatives and Summer Counselors

EARN $500-$1500/WK part-time, stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. Box 4645 Dept P145 Alburquerque NM 87196.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS All branches US Customs, DEA ect. Now hiring Call 1-805-962-8000 Ext. K-9616.

INSTRUCTION

EARN CREDIT learn to Scuba Dive. Basic Classes held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday 7-10PM in Curry Hicks Pool. Open Water II class held during Spring Break in Key Largo, FLA. Advanced Class held in New England in April. For further information call 549-8401, or drop by Curry Hicks starting 2/4/91.

GUITAR LESSONS with Doug Hewitt. Rock, Blues, Folk Acoustic or Electric. Improv., Theory, Reading, Songwriting, many new songs -plus singing. Studio on 3 bus lines. 549-1938.

LOST

BLACK W/GREEN LEATHER WALLET
Possibly lost in Salem Place P-Lot
If found please call 256-3437.
No questions asked
Please call there are sentimental pictures inside

INTERESTED in Christian Fellowship? The Alliance Christian Fellowship welcomes you! More info: Jim or Beth 253-7206.

PERSONALS

DEAR ANDREA
Have a Happy Annversary
and a great semester!
WOW! Eleven wonderful months
I love you very much!!!
Love, Scott

DEAR TODD, Like a potato has a sack, like a hen has her rooster, I have my toad back!
Love, Jennifer

TRI/SIGMA welcomes UMass students back! Have a great semester!

UMASS BEWARE!! Sue Bromberg
B-R-O-M-B-E-R-G, is finally here!! We're so psyched you're with us. Get ready for an awesome weekend!!
Love-
Karen Allison

ANNA KRUSPER
I missed you and I'm so happy you're back!
As for good times of the past and future,
"it's all part of the plan . . ."
Love, Kimber

ROOMMATE WANTED

NEED A PLACE to live? 1 space in Puffon -275 to share with male non-smoker fairly conservative easy-going. Rent $150 month. 549-0053 or 549-2930

YOU MALE ROOMMATE WANTED to share Brandywine apt
$193.75/mo. Heat/hot water incl. Be koool 549-0181.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

ATTENTION UMASS STUDENTS
Explore self and personal issues through psychodrama in a safe confidential setting. Group meets Tuesdays 7-8:30PM starting 2/12/91 for 10 weeks. No fee. Register--Call Mark locally at 665-3678.

TRAVEL

FLORIDA'S NEWEST HOT SPOT
Panama City-$139
World's Biggest Beach PARTY
Daytona Beach-$188
Call Erika + Julie at 546-0649
or Siobhan + Terri at 546-5079

WAKE-N-BAKE!!! Spring Break '91!!
Jamaica/Cancun from $459.00!!
A week of fun and sun! The hottest destinations 1-800-426-7710.

SPORTS

Men's hoop serves double duty

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Oh, there's also going to be a basketball game tonight. And it happens to be an important one.

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team will try to block Saturday night and ESPN's TV lights out of its mind and concentrate on playing basketball tonight at the Cage against Atlantic 10 competitor, Rhode Island (9-9 overall, 5-5 in the A-10). Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

The Minutemen enter at 12-6 overall and 6-4 in the Atlantic 10, off a 98-94 non-conference win over Holy Cross Monday at the Cage.

Collegian photo by Toni Sandys

Junior Amye Lord puts the finishing touches on classmate Joe Harrold's face.

Prior to that, UMass dropped two straight A-10 games at Temple and George Washington last weekend, slipping from second to fifth place in the conference.

UMass has eight league games left to make a late run at the top of the standings and the Minutemen cannot afford to overlook any of them, according to coach John Calipari.

"The way the league is shaping up, every game's an important one from here on out. We're all bunched up . . . the whole league's wacked out," Calipari said.

This weekend gives the Minutemen a second chance to tune their rejuvenated fast break game before facing a Loyola-Marymountesque West Virginia twice next week.

Against the Crusaders, UMass pushed the ball up the court on offense at every opportunity and finished two points short of the century mark and with five starters in double figures.

"We've gotten back to challenging the kids to push it every time," Calipari said about UMass' practice routine of late. "We were walking it up the floor [against Temple and George Washington]."

The Rams bring to town the No. 2 scorer in the A-10, senior guard Eric Leslie, and one of the league's top five rebounders, junior center Jeff Kent.

Kent, at 6-foot-9, 245 pounds, has played well since stepping into the void left by the graduation of Kenny Green, last season's A-10 Player of the Year who led the nation in blocked shots.

In a 76-61 loss at Temple Monday, Kent scored 15 points and grabbed 10 rebounds for his fifth double-double of the year.

Leslie transferred from Villanova three years ago and sat out a year, then debuted with back-to-back 34-point nights in URI's first two games last winter. Leslie has scored at a 20.3-points per game pace this season, including a trademark 34-point outburst in a wild 78-76 brawl-marred loss to Providence in early December.

Leslie, 6-foot-3, turned in a 22-point, 10-rebound performance in URI's one-point loss at Rutgers last week.

Six-foot-7 freshman Andre Samuel has chipped in 13 points and 5.6 points per game in a starting role.

When the Rams last visited, it took two overtimes for

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

One step beyond: Madness on ESPN

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Call your friend in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Guadalupe, Mexico or Eugene, Ore.: The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team is going to be on TV.

Saturday night's UMass-Boston University game at the Cage will be broadcast live on ESPN, beginning at midnight. ESPN reaches 57.2 million homes in the United States and is also shown in Canada, Mexico and Puerto Rico.

Cage doors will open between 10 p.m and 10:30 p.m. Saturday night, according to acting Athletic Ticket Manager Thor Bjorn. Students with valid student IDs will be admitted for free as usual. But this game will not be 'as usual.' Midnight is not when people usually play basketball.

"It's important to the program, and it's the first step," coach John Calipari said. "When ESPN leaves here, I want them to say 'Wow, they've got a good, clean crowd.' Then we'll get more games during regular hours."

Other differences: There will be six TV timeouts during the game; two in the first half and four in the second. Each team will be allotted one less time out to call on their own. And there will be double the normal amount of security officers on duty.

The game gives those Minutemen from far-flung home towns a chance to play in front of friends and family. The two Minutemen furthest from home are Tom Pace, from Denver, Co., and freshman Jeff Meyer, from Wausau, Wis.

"I'm excited because my parents are going to be able to watch," Meyer said, ". . . and my younger brother and sisters are excited because they'll get to stay up late."

The national telecast will be the first in the 60-year history of the Cage and will be UMass' first regular-season coast-to-coast appearance. Last year's 53-51 loss to Temple in the Atlantic 10 Tournament Championship in Philadelphia was on ESPN

Dick Vitale is not coming.

The only silent one at the Cage

Tonight a full house will be on hand, at the Cage, as UMass takes on Rhode Island. For most fans the game will contain the usual excitement of die-hard rooting for us and anything to distract the Rhody Rams. But I am hear to tell you there is, believe it or not, one UMass fan who will not have his heart set on a UMass win. That fan is me.

Two and a half years ago I transferred here from the University of Rhode Island. I spent one year at Rhode Island in which I lived through what every UMass basketball fan is thirsting for, a Cinderella trip in the NCAA tournament.

There are many similarities between what happened at URI during the 1987-1988 season and what has happened at UMass in the past year. The rivalry both schools built with Temple is one.

Both teams came within seconds of beating Temple and winning the Atlantic 10. Oddly enough, neither team has been able to beat Temple — period.

Fan support for both teams is overwhelmingly similar. At URI, like UMass, face painting came of age. Also signs, slogans and nicknames were plentiful (I'm not afraid to admit that when UMass came to visit Keaney Gymnasium I shouted anti-Minutemen slogans).

I am now a full-fledged UMass fan. I spent all break having anxiety attacks waiting for halftime of ESPN games so I could find out how they did. Being a college basketball buff, I am especially excited about the prospects of this year's team. If they play well for the rest of the season they have a good chance to make the tournament. And here's what you have to look forward to.

Stephen Katsoulis

First, the chance to play the big teams. Chances are, if they make it that far, they would be a low seed and play a top team.

Rhode Island played Missouri and beat them and then shocked the nation by upsetting Syracuse. Imagine UMass playing, never mind beating, Syracuse. This place would be in Bedlam. It was a tremendous feeling when URI beat Syracuse. They became the darlings of the tournament and national fame was soon to follow.

The media was always at URI. Big screen TVs were set up in the gym and

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Colonials route Minutewomen

By GREG SUKIENNIK
Collegian Staff

When your basketball team coughs up 22 turnovers in the first half, hits just nine shots in that same span of time, and is up against a team which recently was ranked among the top 35 teams in the nation, chances are a loss is imminent.

Unfortunately for the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team, the above scenario set the scene for a 74-42 loss to George Washington University last night at the Smith Center in Washington, D.C. UMass fell to an 0-18 overall, 0-10 Atlantic 10 conference record. The Colonial Women improved to 15-3 overall and 8-1 in the A-10.

Up 36-22 at halftime, the Colonial Women started the second half with 16 unanswered points to start the second half, erasing all doubt about the outcome.

"At the start of the second, we were shaken up," explained UMass coach Kathy Hewelt. "They forced a lot of turnovers [42 for the game] in the first half and played like GWU can play — they're a very talented team.

"They opened the second half by hitting a three-point shot, then hit another two minutes later and it was 'game over,'" she said.

Hewelt gave credit to GWU's pressure defense and the play of forward Kristin McArdle as the Colonial Women's keys to the victory

As Hewelt explained, GWU started the game in a fullcourt man-to-man pressure defense that the Minutewomen had trouble handling. UMass also struggled with GWU's two-three match-up zone.

"We have a lot of young kids in the backcourt, and all you can do is coach them every day. It's baptism by fire," said Hewelt. "When you look at that and look at how GWU played defense tonight, you can pretty much figure out what's going to happen."

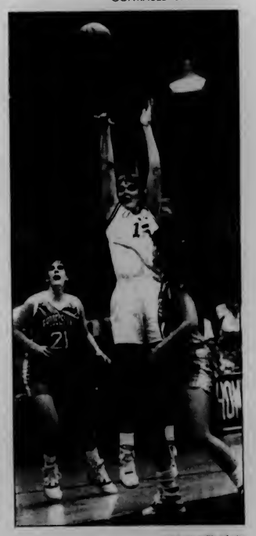
McArdle, a 5-foot-10 junior forward, only finished with five points and three assists. But according to Hewelt, that dosen't explain the entire story.

"She played like a woman posessed," praised Hewelt. "She was driving to the hoop and dishing off. That set up [Mary K.] Nordling and [Jennifer] Shasky for them. We struggled both halves with her — she picked us apart whether we played man-to-man or zone."

Shasky and Nordling, both frontcourt players for the Colonials, led GWU in the scoring column. Shasky finished with 18 points, including the two three-point heaves that effectively ended the game in the second, while Nordling threw in 14.

For the Minutewomen, Kim Kristofik was high scorer with 17. Lisa Ireland add-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10



Collegian file photo

Senior Keyburn McCusker wins the jumpshot for UMass.

Are the Patriots coming to town?

AMHERST (AP)—The New England Patriots are considering moving their training camp to the University of Massachusetts but are leaning toward staying at Bryant College, chief executive officer Sam Jankovich says.

Patriots officials met Wednesday at Amherst, where the university is located, with Massachusetts officials. The club reportedly has been dissatisfied with rising costs at Bryant, where it held its summer camp the past 15 years.

On Wednesday, New England assistant general manager Patrick Forts visited the university, where the Patriots trained before moving to Bryant.

'Patrick is going to visit with the people at Bryant in the near future,' Jankovich said. 'We have to decide which is the best situation in terms of the facilities and the finances.'

Bryant is about 20 miles from Foxboro, the club's regular-season home. Amherst is more than four times that distance from Foxboro.

'Right now we are leaning toward going back,' Jankovich said, 'but it's still under discussion.'

Massachusetts football coach Jim Reid said Wednesday's session 'was only an informational meeting. ... I don't expect they'll make a decision for weeks but I hope we laid a good foundation. We hope they'll be a part of us.'

Dick MacPherson, the Patriots' new coach, was head coach at Massachusetts from 1971 through 1977.

Largest College Daily in New England

THE MASSACHUSETTS Established in 1890

DAILY COLLEGIAN

VOLUME C MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1991 ISSUE 74

A weekend of protest and debate on the Gulf

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

It was a weekend filled with talk and protest concerning the war in the Persian Gulf.

Saturday night at the University of Massachusetts-Boston University basketball game, outside the Curry-Hicks Cage, students waited in line waving the American flag, chanting "[expletive] Iraq," "[expletive] Hussein," "U.S.A, U.S.A. . ."

Inside the Cage, students holding American flags flooded the court during the National Anthem.

Sunday afternoon, pro and anti-war protesters gathered on the Amherst Common and on North Pleasant street holding signs and waving flags at civilians who were passing by.

Sunday night in the Student Union Ballroom, the Civility Commission, Student Activities Office and Office of Human Relations sponsored a teach-in on the Middle East.

"This is not the place to shout slogans," said moderator Barnett Pearce of the communications department at the University of Massachusetts. "If you're into that, we can find a place for you to go."

A popular topic of debate and question throughout the evening was Israel's involvement in the war.

"There is no support for Israel from the Arab world," said Jay Berkovitz, a Judaic and Near Eastern studies professor from UMass. "One would need to be terribly naive to ignore Scud missile attacks on Israel. Iraq is trying to remove the Jewish state from the map."

"Missiles and Patriots are not what Israel needs," said professor Lanier Fahar of Western Connecticut College. "They are not looking for these types of showers, this will not help the irrigation problem."

"Threats to gas the Jews and to turn Israel into a crematorium reminds us that anti-Semitism still exists," Berkovitz said.

Professor Jeff Shepard of the economics department lectured about the economic ramifications of the war. Just before he approached the microphone, professor Pearce asked what would be happening now, if broccoli were the chief export of Kuwait rather than oil.

"We are in a recession," Shepard said.

Collegian photo by Aaron Webster

Jay Berkovitz

"We have an awesome savings and loan crisis, our cities are decaying and we can't fix them.

"The military has been irrelevant in maximizing American wealth. By falling into the illusion that we need to spend on military, we have fallen behind Japan, we are no longer the economic leader of the world," said Shepard. "What we should do and what we could do is reassign resources spent on military to other things such as education, homes for the homeless, etc. But our president has apparently foregone that idea."

Professor Mary Wilson of the UMass history department spoke about the boundaries of the Middle East, Iraq's history and the history of Saddam Hussein, the background to linkage and the U.S. involvement of the liberation of Kuwait.

"The defense department looked foolish," Wilson said. "They were surprised by the attack on Kuwait. [Dick] Cheney went to Saudi Arabia to convince King Fahd that he was Iraq's next victim. We had no reason to believe that Hussein was going

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

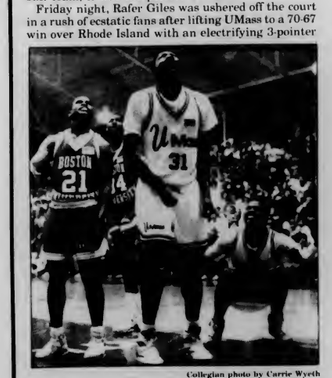
'Perfect weekend' for men's hoop

UMass beats URI 70-67 in overtime; over BU 82-65

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

For the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team, it was the perfect weekend.

Friday night, Rafer Giles was ushered off the court in a rush of ecstatic fans after lifting UMass to a 70-67 win over Rhode Island with an electrifying 3-pointer as the clock expired in overtime.



Collegian photo by Carrie Wyeth

Boston University's Mike Jarvis and Fred Davy await the result of Harper Williams' inside jumpshot as Will Herndon also looks on.

With the shot, Giles became the 18th player in the program's history to score 1,000 career points.

In the earliest hours of Sunday morning, before a coast-to-coast audience on ESPN and a delirious student body that lined up hours before the game's midnight start, UMass raced past Boston University 82-65.

This morning, the Minutemen are 14-6 overall and third in the Atlantic 10 at 7-4. They've won three straight. They've beaten every New England team they've played: BU, URI, Holy Cross, Vermont, Boston College, Dartmouth, Lowell and New Hampshire.

For the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team, it was the perfect weekend.

BU falls short on ESPN There were lights, cameras and action. The Minutemen steamrolled Reggie Stewart and BU Sunday morning at the Cage as Giles followed his Friday night heroics with a 24-point, 8-rebound, 5-assist performance.

UMass trailed 15-13 early, then jumped to a 26-17 lead with a 11-4 run fueled by 7 points from Giles.

Stewart scored scored 17 of BU's last 19 points of the first half and had the Terrier's within striking distance at intermission, down 37-31.

Stewart went cold in the second half, however, and BU's hopes of stealing the scene went with down with him. Overmatched inside, the Terriers yielded 10 unanswered points and fell behind 47-31 in the first 1:45 of the second half.

"The only thing we had on them was depth," coach John Calipari said. "We really wore them down."

After UMass' lead reached 19, at 58-39, with 14:30 to play, BU rallied to within 10 with a 15-5 run capped by a Stewart steal and layup.

But UMass center Harper Williams hit a pair of 16-foot jumpers and Jim McCoy (18 points) had a dunk,

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

'Scud patrols' continue; B-52 ditches in ocean

By MORT ROSENBLUM
Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — American "Scud patrol" jets, in a swift counter-strike, pounced on two Iraqi missile launchers Sunday and may have knocked one out. But the Air Force also lost a big one, a B-52 down in the Indian Ocean.

Three of the giant bomber's crewmen were plucked safely from the sea, and a search continued for the other three, the U.S. command said. It said a mechanical problem was probably to blame.

As ground fire died down for the moment on the northern front lines, the Desert Storm allies pressed their relentless air war.

The U.S. command said their air campaign had passed the 40,000-sortie mark — some 10,000 more missions than were flown against Japan in the final 14 months of World War II.

Most major bridges in the Kuwait region have now been destroyed or badly damaged, the command said, and the Iraqis have had to throw makeshift pontoon spans across rivers — new easy targets, said command spokesman Marine Maj. Gen. Robert B. Johnston.

Air strikes Sunday rocked Iraqi targets from Kuwait to Baghdad. Late in the afternoon, a missile — probably a U.S. cruise missile — slammed into downtown Baghdad, sending up a column of white smoke, according to an Associated Press report from the Iraqi capital.

Fresh reports came in of air attacks on civilian vehicles on the road from Baghdad to Jordan. Egyptians arriving in Jordan said their bus was the only vehicle on the road when it was repeatedly machine-gunned by warplanes. One of their group was killed, they said.

Since early in the 19-day-old war, the rumble of distant B-52 strikes has been heard from across the Saudi-Kuwaiti border. The huge bombers have zeroed in particularly on the dug-in positions of the Republican Guard, the core of Iraq's defense of occupied Kuwait.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

New Englanders cope with war

HANOVER (AP) — Thousands of people sang patriotic songs, waved flags and videotaped supportive messages to U.S. soldiers in the Middle East Sunday as New Englanders sought ways to cope with the continuing Gulf War.

Educators set up a hotline for parents and teachers concerned about childrens' fears about the war and Cambridge officials decided to postpone a contentious vote over banning military recruiters from the local high school.

"It was a kind of melancholy feeling," said Tom Smith, spokesman for the Hanover Mall, where 1,500 people turned out Sunday to videotape messages for the troops. "I can't really explain it. They were upbeat, but they all seemed to be really concerned."

The crowd sang God Bless America and the Stars and Stripes Forever as Navy Reserve helicoptors flew overhead and a huge American flag was raised.

"Everybody cheered and was waving," Smith said. "People were in a real morale-rousing type of mood."

The project was organized by a Norwell businessman and a Navy veteran, Dick Sorgi, with the help of a cable company and several support groups.

"I was growing frustrated by the negativity, by the anti-war demonstrations," Sorgi said. "And I decided I really wanted to make a non-political message of some sort for the troops."

Sue Burge, the mother of an infantryman in the Gulf, said, "We seem to have been kind of waiting for someone to come up with something like this."

Volunteers from Lesley and Wheelock colleges, the Cambridge Guidance Center and Educators for Social Responsability have set up the Gulf Crisis Hotline to help teachers and parents understand their children's fears about the war.

Callers have ranged from the mother of a 12-year-old boy who blamed servicemen for "scaring everybody" to teachers of children who were "playing war" with Saddam Hussein as the enemy.

"Kids will always play war, even in families that don't allow war toys," said Bill Stokes, a developmental psychologist. "It's important for kids to express their fears, and they can only do it in their own way."

The ongoing conflict has put on hold a debate over letting military recruiters continue to visit public Cambridge Rindge and Latin School.

INSIDE:

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1991

Page 3: Two UMass students describe their first hand experience with the Gulf War.

Page 5: Gayle Long sings the praises of teamwork.

Page 12: Women's swimming declaws UNH Wildcats 167-133.

WEATHER

Spring is here! Well, not really - but it will feel like it with tempeatures nearing 50 under partly cloudy skies.

THE MASSACHUSETTS
DAILY COLLEGIAN

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation 19,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Recognized Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Terry Stanner
Managing Editor — Andy Cabin
Editorial Editor — Jeremy Levinson
Sports Editor — Gayle Long
Sports Editor — Allen Yan
Arts Editor — Danielle Deslima
Photography Editor — A.J. Burke
Black Affairs Editor — Sondra Sutton
Women's Issues Editors — Raa Kelly, Monique Tabon
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nauven
Third World Affairs Editor — Pratip Dasvidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Trystan Sheigh
Business Manager — Susan Geogue
Advertising Manager — Dave Melnick
Finance Manager — Beth Patterson
Circulation Manager — Jim Winterbottom
Subscriptions Manager — Stacy Rogers
Promotions Manager — Mat. Pruskin
Production Manager — Nicole Dumas
Day Graphics Manager — Jenn Burns

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Brian Harrington, Lori Black, Maureen Marcowski
Graphics — Rory Evans

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor — Chris Mather
Copy Editor — Preston P. Forman
Layout Assistant — Camille Banowicz
Photo Assistant — Katrie Wyeth
Production Supervisor — Camille Banowicz
Typesetter — Terry Stanner
Production — Mike Atkins, Susan Tomaski, Traci-Ann DiSalvatore

For Your Information

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4

Teach-in — Franklin Patterson Hall, Hampshire College 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Call 549-6502 for more details.

Information Session — National Student Exchange will give an information session in CC 803 from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Senior Portraits — Index will be taking photos in CC178 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The cost is $5 per sitting.

An Evening with Gentle George — sponsored by the Black Mass Communications project in Bowker Auditorium from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Admission is $2.

Colloquim — UMass Psychology Colloquium Committee presents Dr. Travis Thompson and a presentation "Behavior Disorder: Environmental and Neurochemical Mechanisms" in Tobin 521B at 3:30 p.m.

Math Anxiety Workshop — sponsored by Counseling and Advising for Older Students, will be in LGRT 1634 from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Vigil — sponsored by Faculty and Staff for Peace and Justice in the Middle East and Graduate Students for Peace and Justice in the Middle East, will be on the Student Union steps, weekdays, 12 noon to 12:30 p.m.

AEROBICS

MORE NAUTILUS
Computerized aerobic machines than any club in the Valley.
Stairmasters • Lifecycles • Gravitron • Biocycle • Treadmills
New • New • New • Life Rower • New • New • New

BETTER MASSAGE
Special suspended oak wood floor • Certified Instructors
• Bench Step • Low Impact • High/Low • Boxercise • Stretch

KARATE SAUNA
Total body conditioning plus the skill of selfdefense.
Largest full-time Karate studio in Western Mass.

AMHERST ATHLETIC CLUB 460 West St. | KARATE HEALTH & FITNESS CENTER South Amherst 256-0080

University of Wisconsin Platteville

Study in Seville Spain

Emphasis in Liberal Arts International Business

Courses available in Spanish and in English

Fluency in Spanish not required

All courses approved by UW-Platteville and validated on an official UW-Platteville transcript

$3975 per semester for Wisconsin and Minnesota residents
$4225 per semester for non-residents

Costs include Tuition and Fees, Room and Board in Spanish Homes, Fieldtrips

Financial aid applies

For further information contact Study Abroad Programs, 308 Warner Hall, University of Wisconsin-Platteville, 1 University Plaza, Platteville, WI 53818-3099, (608) 342-1726

ATTACK ATTACK

AEROBICS

FREE WEIGHTS

NAUTILUS

CARDIOVASCULAR FITNESS

College Student Special
$99 Membership
reg. $215!!
Daily Aerobics Classes
Reebok Step Classes
Olympic Free Weights
Stairmasters • Lifecycles
Special Rates
Walk-ins Welcome
Tanning • Massage • Saunas
Day Care • Open 7 Days
NORTHAMPTON NAUTILUS & ATHLETIC CLUB
266 N. King Street, Northampton 584-4975

SPRING BREAK
PANAMA CITY BEACH
FLORIDA

• High quality beachfront accommodations for 7 exciting nights
• Round trip chartered motor coach
• Free pool deck parties, activities, & promotions
• Inter Campus Programs I.D./Discount card
• On-location staff for complete assistance
• All taxes, tips, & service charges included

$114 $219

Contact Barbara 549-8156

Council Travel

SPRING BREAK
from Boston
Cancun starting at $489
Jamaica starting at $509
Price includes:
• Round trip airfare & transfers
• 7 nights accommodation & hotel taxes
Low Student Airfares!

CALL FOR MORE INFORMATION
79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst, Ma 01002
413-256-1261
America's oldest & largest Student Travel Agency

WMUA NEW-PERSON MEETING

RADIO CALLING
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4TH, 7 PM
CAMPUS CENTER ROOM 168
• all are welcome •
